The order is there, the spirit is there. The order, the sanction: that is the proper thing. So, the Guru paramparā, the very gist of Guru is śikṣā. Wherever it is to be traced, there is Guru. One who has got that eye, that transcendental eye, the divine eye, he will see the Guru is coming here, Guru there, Guru. One who is possessing that knowledge, that love, of that type, that purity; there is Guru. Otherwise the Guru paramparā means body paramparā, the continuation of so many bodies together. Then the caste brāhmaṇas, the caste Goswāmī's, they will continue, because body after body they are getting that mantram. But the mantram is dead there, so living mantram, living tendency for the service of higher type, wherever it is to be traced, we shall find that there is the Guru. One who has got that sort of eye awakened, he'll see where is Guru.

Devotee: Can the spiritual master change the śāstra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. He can take out the real purpose from the śāstra. There is no necessity of changing any śāstra. It is a question of the inner meaning.

Devotee: How far it is justified, we are wearing this kashaya vastra, which is not in Vaiṣṇava conception?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, then Mahāprabhu not only took kashaya vastra, [the saffron dress of a sannyāsī] but he even also took sannyāsa from a Māyāvādī, but what for? Then Mahāprabhu was a Māyāvādī? What for?

The living man can adjust himself for the cause. A general, he must be up to date, but he may have sincerity and awareness and the capacity, training, and he may be a general and he can mould his army in his own way just as Napoleon did. He must be, it is not an imaginary thing, not a fairy tale, but the practical thing is there, and one who can understand; when Napoleon first began his war against Austria, France and Hungary was at that time when Napoleon was made general. The Austrians were gaining ground. France was going back. Napoleon came and then the whole thing changed.

Then the Austrian king, he called for his generals. “For so long you were making progress, but what is that? Now you are coming back?”

The generals told that, “The new general has come on the other side, and he does not know the real policy of war or battle.”

The king told them, “What do you say! He does not know the laws of war, and he is gaining and you know the rules and regulations of the battle, and you are being defeated. What is this? How is this?"

[They said, "The general] tactics in battle are that one should attack the weak portion, but that man he attacks the strongest point, and so we cannot manage, and so he does not follow the old laws of the war, battle. Such is the matter."

One who can feel what is divinity, for the preaching purpose he may adjust himself with new things. So, the reality must be real thinking, the thought, the spirit must be there. For Mahāprabhu, what was His necessity of taking sannyāsa? He took that red cloth, and took sannyāsa to suit the purpose of His preaching. We have to take that.

Our Guru Mahārāja also took that position. His foresight was that if, "If we are to preach, if I really want to preach, I must take the help of the varṇāśrama dharma. They [the bābājīs] are all imitating Rūpa and Sanātana and doing what is very nasty things in their practice and copying Rūpa and Sanātana in their dress." Guru Mahārāja declared that, "Dress is not so cheap. First you become sannyāsī, varṇāśrama. In varṇāśrama, the fourth stage of life is the sannyāsī, and that dress [of the bābājī] is the dress of the Guru of a sannyāsī. First become sannyāsī and observe the rules and regulations of sannyāsī and keep those bābājīs on your head. And you are all imitationists, you are all debauchees, and taking the dress of that highest position of Guru and dis serving the whole society, degrading his name, and spoiling everything. So the bābājī dress is the purest, is the highest, that of paramahansa. So, first become sannyāsī and practice accordingly under rules and regulations, and try to show your respect towards Rūpa and Sanātana and their dress." That was his idea.

Devotee: For preaching purposes is it permissible; suppose someone started to preach with long hair and a long beard? Under the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava philosophy it is o.k.?

[The devotee asking the question has long hair and a long beard]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Particular - but that was not the custom, neither with the sannyāsī, nor with the bābājī.

Sanātana Goswāmī had a full beard and Mahāprabhu ordered that, “Go take him to a barber and remove the beard and hair.”

And sannyāsa and bābājī both, they do not keep such things, so, we do not like to keep. But during cāturmāsya, for the vrata it is mentioned in the śāstra, we keep hair and beard for the cāturmāsya, otherwise generally not. But still, it is not so that if one keeps long hair and long beard he cannot be a Vaiṣṇava.

There was one Vaṁṣī Dāsa Bābājī, an independent Vaiṣṇava. Our Guru Mahārāja also gave respect to him as a Vaiṣṇava, but he had this big beard and he did not shave at all. He was very negligent, not as a fashion, not fashionable, he did not allow any barber to shave, but he was a respectable Vaiṣṇava. Even our Guru Mahārāja had respect for him; Vaṁṣī Dāsa Bābājī.

As for yourself, if you keep this only to satisfy the Muslims for the purpose of your service, that if you go there you can collect money, and you can render good service to your Gurudeva, and for that purpose you have kept for the safety of your vocation as well as your person...

Devotee: Oh yes, I have kept it only for that purpose.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If someone does that for the time being, suppose for the service if it is necessary, one can have a dress of a gr̥hastha. A gentleman's dress; even in our Prabhupāda's time, the suit was also used sometimes by his disciples. And some was clad in white dress, though they were Vaiṣṇava of high level, but still they were white clad, because they had to approach so many officers and higher things. So that was suitable.

Devotee: Just like Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja in China.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To fulfil the purpose of the Gurudeva of that type, living type, to carry out his orders suitably, he can take any dress. It is the question of purity of purpose, a question of the heart.

Devotee: The purpose of a tridaṇḍī-swāmī is it during the time of Bhāgavat time, there is sannyāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa, we find it was in the śāstra, Purāṇa. Rāvaṇa, when he came to steal away Sītā Devī, he came as a tridaṇḍī. Arjuna, when he met in disguise, he had the tridaṇḍī-veśa. So tridaṇḍī-veśa, tridaṇḍī-sannyāsīs in Bhāgavat also. The Avantī brāhmaṇa he took tridaṇḍī-veśa and Kṛṣṇa is relating the story to Uddhava, tridaṇḍī. Tridaṇḍī-sannyāsīs were well respected in the society at that time. And also from the Jyotiṣa we find that Bṛhaspati when strong, he takes tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa. There are so many sannyāsīns, but tridaṇḍī seems to hold the highest position of all sannyāsīns. And in Rāmānuja sampradāya - the eka daṇḍī we find in the Śaṅkara School - and in the Rāmānuja sampradāya we find tridaṇḍī. And our Guru Mahārāja reasoned that Prabodhānanda he was a tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa. And also here and there, some other tridaṇḍī we see, but extensively in the Rāmānuja sampradāya. And in our sampradāya...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nimbarka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Nimbarka sampradāya tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa, I don't know.

Devotee: They have no sannyāsa in Nimbarka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimbarka. And Vallabha sampradāya also, no sannyāsa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And Viṣṇuswāmī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viṣṇuswāmī, Śrīdhar Swāmī, there swāmī, there sannyāsa, but not tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa as far as we know.

Now our Guru Mahārāja, he inaugurated tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa extensively in our sampradāya. He filled up the gap; the brāhmaṇa's thread and the daṇḍa. After varṇāśrama dharma, varṇāśrama dharma is but a step to Vaiṣṇava dharma. From the scriptures to show that varṇāśrama dharma can only plan to observe sanātana dharma, to carry out that form of theistic life, and then above this, Vaiṣṇava dharma. Brāhmaṇa dharma vanishes, and Vaiṣṇava dharma begins. So, to show that; to preach that position to the society, and to the pseudo Vaiṣṇava, he supplied the gap and filled up another step. And after collecting the qualities of the brāhmaṇa and sannyāsī and then you can aspire to have the position of the bābājī. That is paramahansa, the paramahansa veśa, the dress of the Guru of the sannyāsīs; pañcama-āśrama.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But our Guru didn't accept bābājī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And those bābājīs are not accepted as bābājīs proper. They have deviated. Only physical dress cannot keep them in the position of bābājī.

The mere imitation of Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, the Guru of our Guru Mahārāja, lived very simply in a hut, sometimes in a dharmaśālā, and when he was living in a hut on the Ganges bank, another man he came and constructed a similar hut by his side, and he began to live there. Gaura Kīśora Bābājī Mahārāja gave respect to him and that man he also demanded something like that from the people; in this way. But one day, Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja remarked that, "That if a lady enters into the labour house and shows, imitates some sort of pain, as if giving birth to a child, will child come by that mere imitation?"

Do you follow? Am I clear? She must have some child in her belly, in her womb. Then naturally the pain will come and the child will come out. But without any pregnancy, if she imitates the pain of giving birth to a child, will the child come? That is a ludicrous thing.

So, only to imitate the dress of a bābājī, that cannot give the position of a real bābājī. So before you take the dress of a soldier or a general, you will have to learn what is battle, what is fight, how to handle so many weapons. You must learn them, but only the dress of a soldier does not make one a soldier. So also you must acquire the inner attributes of a bābājī, of a high type of Vaiṣṇava. Only mere dress cannot make you bābājī.

So many bābājīs are in Vṛndāvana, in Navadvīpa, but our Guru Mahārāja did not recognise any of them. He put his hand to his forehead, "Such a sacred land, Vṛndāvana; I came, but it was my own misfortune that I did not see a single Vaiṣṇava here." That was his disappointment. "Not a single Vaiṣṇava in Vṛndāvana I find here. That is my misfortune." That was his statement in Vṛndāvana. So Vaiṣṇava is not by garb first of all, must be by his internal realisation. And those who have got the real eye to see the internal realisation, they won't care for any external dress, only if a man takes the dress of a vidvan, a paṇḍita.

But only the dress of a paṇḍita will not make him a paṇḍita. A real paṇḍita, when we have a talk with him, he will detect whether he's a real scholar or not, and not by dress. So Vaiṣṇava can also be measured by a Vaiṣṇava. Vaiṣṇava can see who is Vaiṣṇava. He has got that eye, what is the criterion of a Vaiṣṇava. He has got the eye; that sort of divya jñāna, divya dṛṣṭi which he can feel that, "This is a Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇavaism." Otherwise only the encasement of a Vaiṣṇava, the outer show; the tilak, mālā and dress, that cannot make anyone a Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa and Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī.

Devotee: I met this guy yesterday, a white bābājī.

Devotees: Hiranyagarbha.

Devotee: Yes, Hiranyagarbha, and he told me that he is a disciple of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is unfortunate that he has gone out of the line...

Devotee: He told me that he is a disciple of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's son.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is making much of the form. But whether this is Ganges water, only about the pot, he is looking after that, but not the thing within the pot.

Devotee: I asked him to come here and talk with Śrīdhara Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He won't come here.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He won't come here; he's afraid.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Formerly he used to come here, so I knew him, so when I heard that he is such and such, I told some of my acquainted persons, "Please request him to come to me." But he does not come. He's afraid of coming.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If our Guru did not take bābājī, then we also could not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to speak of him, he has taken that sort of dress from Lalitā Prasād, we do not recognise Lalitā Prasād also. He is the son of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. We know our Prabhupāda and Prabhupāda has written about Lalitā Prasād that his affection to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is mostly the father and son relation, and not so much of Vaiṣṇavism. He has written an article in Gauḍīya, our Guru Mahārāja, and we can understand that. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's inner purpose, what it was, that was taken out by our Guru Mahārāja, and preached to the world. But Lalitā Prasād was an imitationist more or less. So what to speak of Hiranyagarbha, Lalitā Prasād we do not recognise, Lalitā Prasād.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If our Guru Mahārāja, if our Guru did not, if our Guru was in sannyāsa, then we could not accept a higher varṇa also. That would be forbidden. If our Guru is sannyāsa then we could not...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Imitation is not a big thing, but to have the real thing within, we want that. We came for that. The real teaching of rūpānuga, the comparative study, we are particular with that, to appreciate that, to enter into the depth of the reality within, not so particular about the dress. Dress we shall do according to the purpose of preaching; suiting to the purpose of preaching, and not to show to the public that I am a Guru, I am a sādhū; not for that. We are fighters, soldiers; we have taken such dress of a soldier to fight with the world.

Devotee: In preaching we are practising viddhi bhakti; shall we achieve that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raga-bhakti is far, far above. It is not a very ordinary thing to be sold in the market. Those who say that ‘we have got raga-bhakti’, we hate them; they are enemies of the sampradāya of Mahāprabhu. Ragapatha bhakti is so cheap? There are so many signs of the ordinary man, the scent of the beast is in him, and he says he has attained the raga-bhakti? Only to destroy them, the Gauḍīya Maṭh has come; to destroy those imitationists of raga-bhakti. They are enemies of the sampradāya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So, they also give another false argument that there’s a hundred year difference from Bāladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa to Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, we know it fully well. Swāmī Mahārāja also knew it fully well. It is not unknown to us. But I told that we are followers of the thought, not of the body.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Madhusudhana Dāsa Bābājī, wasn't he after Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhusudhana Dāsa Bābājī had connection with Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He was his Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: Then what is the meaning of initiation, Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That means śikṣā is more than dīkṣā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dīkṣā means to impart the real knowledge and sentiment from one to another. And that must be of the real type.

Homeopathic globule; only the outer, nothing can be known by the outer physical plane, but the potency is within. So, the mantram and other things, the potency within, what type of thought or sentiment is imparted through that sound, that should be the important thing. The Māyāvādīs have same mantra, Māyāvādīs are also taking the Name, but that sort of Name will vanish in Brahmaloka. They won't be able to cross that Virajā. That is throwing the thunder. When the Māyāvādī takes the Name of Kṛṣṇa, our Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura says that his praise, his taking the Name, his devotional characteristics are all just like thunder to the holy body of Kṛṣṇa. Not any soothing effect. Gauḍīya Maṭha, they deal with reality, not with the frame, that is Gauḍīya Maṭha, what is what in the thought world. Step by step, the adjustment; that we want. We are not enchanted, we are not captured by the form, mere form. The development in the thought and the step by step gradual development into the thought. 'Virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi 'paravyoma' pāya.

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

What is paravyoma, tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana', all these things.

karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas tebhyo jñāna-*vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ [tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-

[The gopīs are exalted above all the advanced devotees because they are always totally dependent upon Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the transcendental cowherd boy. Among the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is the most dear to Kṛṣṇa. Her kuṇḍa is as profoundly dear to Lord Kṛṣṇa as this most beloved of the gopīs. Who, then, will not reside at Rādhā-kuṇḍa and, in a spiritual body surcharged with ecstatic devotional feelings (aprākṛta-bhāva), render loving service to the Divine Couple Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Govinda, who perform Their aṣṭakālīya-līlā, Their eternal eightfold daily pastimes. Indeed, those who execute devotional service on the banks of Rādhā-kuṇḍa are the most fortunate people in the universe.”] [Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

[Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swāmī Mahārāja's translation]

This gradation, what is Virajā proper, what is brahmaloka proper, what is Śivaloka, what is Vaikuṇṭhaloka and then what is Ayodhyā, what is Dvārakā, what is Mathurā, the realistic view of the whole gradation.

na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir [na śaṅkaraḥ na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān]

[“O Uddhava! Neither Brahmā nor Śīva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15]

“What is the position of Brahmā? Na śaṅkaraḥ, Mahādeva? Na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na, Baladeva? Śrī, Lakṣmī? Naivātmā, as you are My favourite, Uddhava.”

Step by step. How it is possible? We have to follow the spirit; otherwise from Jāhnavā up to Vipina Goswāmī, from whom initiation was taken by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, from Vipina Goswāmī, from Jāhnavā to Vipina Goswāmī, so many ladies are there, unknown ladies. Through them the mantram came to Vipina Goswāmī and from him, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came. But we take Bhaktivinoda. Should I go to count all those ladies in the paramparā? What was their realisation? The realisation, we are slaves of the truth. What is flowing, the current, the pure current, we are told, we are beggars of that. We have no charm of any form.

You see, I generally quote an instance when Aurovindo Ghosh - you know his name?

Devotee: Aurovindo Ghosh of Pondicherry.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of Pondicherry. He was almost the founder of the revolutionary movement in Bengal. When in nineteen twenty eight or so, when a case was going on in Calcutta High Court against him, a big barrister, one Mr. Norton. Aurovindo he absconded, and Norton, when the case was going on Aurovindo was not to be found anywhere. That Norton told, whenever, however, in whatever paper he found - Aurovindo's English was very good English. He stood first even; his training was in England from the childhood, and he knew English very well, even better than an English man, good English he could speak. Norton said, in any magazine or any paper, or whenever any article, he could detect, "Here is Mr. Ghosh." By Aurovindo's writing, whenever he read, he could say, "Here is Mr. Ghosh. In this writing you are to trace where from this article is coming." So, by the spirit we can judge who has written it; not by the name, whose writing.

So there is an internal thing and those that cannot see that internal truth, they will make much of the external cover. We are not one for that. Ordinarily, so-called Vaiṣṇava's, so-called goswāmīs, they are hated by the general smārta brāhmaṇa section varṇāśrama. And we came from that stock. Because we have some earnest inclination for the teachings of Mahāprabhu, for His personality, we came, being attracted by the purity and the intensity of the śikṣā of Mahāprabhu that we found in Prabhupāda. Only by that degree of intensity of theistic conception we were attracted. We have no charm for the fashion, these bābājīs, the goswāmīs, and other vairāgis; they are hated in the society. And Guru Mahārāja has come; now they have got some position, relatively. But they left Mahāprabhu and indulged in so many debauchery activities and tradery. The goswāmīs are all traders. They are making money. The real spirit we want; so we are not deviated, and these may not touch us. The dogs will bark. We take it like that. Dogs may bark, but it has no importance, a dog barking. Because they make much of the outer thing, they have no real purification of their heart to accept the pure thing, to discriminate what is purity, what is prema, how pure it is. Brahmā and Mahādeva, they also aspire after that thing. First understand what degree of purity is that thing. These fellows, they are not only imitation, but they want to exploit Mahāprabhu and not to serve Mahāprabhu. They are the worst enemies. They are traitors; they have taken the garb of Mahāprabhu's sampradāya, and they are saying something else. This is cheap marketing; they are selling these adulterated things extensively for less money, very cheaply. They have no inner necessity to have the purest thing for them.

[“The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration.”] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura]

Being of such a high order, our Guru Mahārāja never seemed to be so. “I am a servant of the servant of the servant of the Vaiṣṇavas.” That was his claim. And, “They are my Guru, they are so high. First come and practice all these things, and then one day you will hope to reach there. It is not so easy, so cheap.”

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Caitanya Mahāprabhu, He did not give actually mantram, he just gave śikṣā, isn't it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is said that Vakeśvara Paṇḍita was His mantra śiṣya. We find in Gaura Candrodaya, a Sanskrit book written by an Oriyan devotee named Govinda Dās. Prabhupāda also quoted, govinda vacana jani hoi gauranga vani aprakat kali sara katha. There is eleven verses; Upadeśāmṛta and composed in Sanskrit verse by Rūpa Goswāmī. There Prabhupāda has written, and I have gone through that book published by Gauḍīya Maṭha, Gaura Candrodaya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Upadeśāmṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Upadeśāmṛta, Prabhupāda has mentioned one book, Gaura Candrodaya, or something like that. And composed by an Oriyan scholar, whose name is Govinda Dās. By him it is written, a book; Gaura Candrodaya. There it is mentioned that when Mahāprabhu departed, the devotees consulted within them who is to be made Ācārya of the Rādhā Kanta Maṭha, where Mahāprabhu lived. They consulted, and Vakeśvara Paṇḍita was selected. And he was the first Ācārya of the Rādhā Kanta Maṭha there, and his disciple was candra. [?]

[The following is from a previous transcript] In this way it is mentioned.

Devotee: Rūpa and Sanātana Goswāmī, did they have any *mantra śiṣya*s? Wasn't Jīva Goswāmī a mantra śiṣya of Rūpa Goswāmī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, and Rūpa Goswāmī was the mantra śiṣya of Sanātana, Sanātana Goswāmī was the mantra śiṣya of Vidyāvācaspati. Vidyāvācaspati's brother was Sārvabhauma. That is formal.

Devotee: Was that actually dīkṣā or śikṣā? Between Rūpa and Sanātana; they got mantram?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They got mantram from their Guru – mantram; but what mantram? Mahāprabhu Himself got mantram, but according to His order, Sanātana Goswāmī has selected another mantram for the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavas. Mahāprabhu got the dvādaśaka mantram [twelve syllables] from Īśvara Purī, but when ordered by Mahāprabhu to consult the the Vaiṣṇava śāstra and try to preach what the real conduct of a Vaiṣṇava should be. “And I bless you that Kṛṣṇa will guide you to compile a Vaiṣṇava śruti,” and Sanātana Goswāmī did that accordingly, and he has collected the aṣṭadaśaka mantra [eighteen syllables] for us, and that is now in use. It is continuing in the sampradāya, and not the mantra that Mahāprabhu received from Īśvara Purī. But by the order of Mahāprabhu, this mantram came through Sanātana Goswāmī, this mantram came, aṣṭadaśaka, and that is continuing and someone also amongst the Goswāmī’s, they go on with that dvādaśaka mantra of Mahāprabhu.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are depressed and disappointed [?] With what immediate motive you are going to Bombay, Er, America?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: America?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What will be your next program, immediate?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, see, Mahārāja, before I left there were some devotees, they wanted to know the results of my speaking to Your Divine Grace. So I wanted to return to America and meet with my God-brothers and God-sisters, and explain to them some of the instructions that you've given, some of your advice. And find out, move amongst them and find out more specifically what they're interested to do for their own Kṛṣṇa consciousness and to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the present attitude of ISKCON and Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's present feelings? What is the attitude of the present administration towards you? They can't see it with sympathy, is it?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Towards me? Well, I think that they think that I am a potentially dangerous individual.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will, your endeavour may encourage...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Dissension.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the hesitating to go to side with you. Those that are hesitating, they are already disconnected. Perhaps for them if they are organised then there may be a difficulty. And those that are hesitating they will also have got some footing.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Such apprehension is not, may not be imaginary only. But what to do! If you want to save the disappointing element, to enliven them with the words and thought of Mahāprabhu, then of course this dissension is to be tolerated. But unnecessarily; no hitch is not desirable.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What is not desirable?

Devotee: Hitch [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Be very careful. That is the institution founded by your Guru Mahārāja, our revered Swāmī Mahārāja. So we must try our best not to disturb them, as much as possible. But at the same time we cannot be only idle onlooker to those that are going away and astray from the path of Mahāprabhu towards which after life after life they have got the chance, after how many births, innumerable births.

In the words of our Guru Mahārāja, a soul in bondage is in the ocean. And he is coming towards the shore. And again to push him to the ocean, that is most cruel and heinous. After long and long time fighting with the waves of the ocean, one is anyhow coming home, coming to the safe position. And again to push them, or they are going to the ocean to take them in. That should be the great service.

And Guru Mahārāja he came to do that. Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura in his last words he told that, “I have given, I disturbed many, I have given anxiety, created anxiety to many ordinary hearts. But to my best understanding I have done it rightly, because for the distribution of the highest thing to them it was necessary. It was not my personal interest that I gave to many in the world such anxiety. But for the saving of the people I was under painful necessity to give anxiety to a certain portion of human kind, mankind. I could not but do it.”

So with this idea in our heart, we are under painful necessity to save those that came under the flag of Swāmī Mahārāja, to attain the highest peace. With this spirit you will march on. I also approve your going to America for the purpose.

There is a proposal here, as I told previously to you all, that a centre for you may be established on the other side of the Ganges in Madhyadvīpa. In Madhyadvīpa is vacant, no Maṭha has been built there. Prabhupāda had will, wish, to establish in every dvīpa, nine islands, in every island to establish one centre, Mahāprabhu's sevā, pratiṣṭhā, but the Madhyadvīpa still empty. So, if you all agree, then we may try to secure a plot on the other side of the Ganges, in Madhyadvīpa, to acquire some land. And there, perhaps in the beginning it will be given to understand that's in our interest, but really it will be for you. That is the Swāmī Mahārāja people that have been neglected, that cannot; if they're treated harshly they may have an independent centre here. And our, those two gentlemen, our Venkatta Prabhu [Bhāratī Mahārāja] and the Akṣayānanda Mahārāja, and another gentleman, are very eager to do this. So to select land for fitting our purpose, should we go forward? What do you say Caru Swāmī Mahārāja?

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu and yourself, you consider it seriously. Mostly it will be for the, for those that are neglected by the present ISKCON, and have got real interest for Mahāprabhu. It will be a bold step. In the beginning it may be begun in my name, but the object is such. In my connection it may be begun. That may not trouble them. But it is meant for such, they will have got an independent footing here when it is necessary; if you think necessary, whether it will be judicious to begin with now. He has got much enthusiasm in the matter.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We were thinking actually Mahārāja, that foreseeing that in the future some separate place it would be necessary.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It may be.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And if you like, if they come in terms, you may amalgamate also.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have got a respectable position here. If necessary, when time may come, when it may be amalgamated with ISKCON, doesn't matter. But they have got some sort of shelter here. With this object should we move forward? You consult within you.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, actually we've been consulting amongst ourselves quite a bit, and we'd come to a similar conclusion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Discuss among yourselves and...

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Then what about your Bombay meeting? What was the object of the present meeting there?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The object of the present meeting was, actually Mahārāja it was a conference to glorify Prabhupāda; and it was an eight day long, or nine day long program. But just to give it a public appeal, the conference was named as 'Karma, Jñāna, and Bhakti'.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the relation between them, or to harmonise them. Karma means do for Him. Jñāna inquire what is about Him. And bhakti, that karma is no karma. In service the external feature of karma is present. And also when sambandha-jñāna reaching in the comparative study the jñāna's position, the position of the knowledge is also there. It is already spiritual. But a third plane has been invented or discovered, has been discovered where the external conception of karma, or the misconception of karma vanishes. And what we think to be the proper nature of knowledge, that also vanishes and jñāna-sunya-bhakti is discovered - comes in.

Na jñānam na ca vairagyam. Just as in intuition, when one is doing intuitively, a reflex action, without consciousness things are being done. Instinctively in our reflex action no voluntary exercise of any knowledge is necessary, in intuition also. But things are done not less important than the calculation of knowledge, consciousness. Such plane is there, automatic. Just as to push a car or train this oil and gas necessary. So prema, they are trying to get energy from sun ray, today's scientist, more cheap and automatic. So the prema supplies the fuel there. And without calculation and without the weary or tiredness of labour, endeavour, reaction of labour, that is done. No fatigue and neither calculation.

Automatic the _____ is prema love. Naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ, in Bhāgavat, the conclusion śloka of Bhāgavat, what is the gift, the seed? After the whole Bhāgavat then a seed is given. What is here under seed?

śrīmad-bhāgavatam purāṇam amalaṁ yad vaiṣṇavānām priyaṁ yasmin pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalaṁ jñānaṁ paraṁ gīyate tatra jñāna-virāga-bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ

tac chr̥ṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ

[“Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the spotless Purāṇa. It is especially dear to the Vaiṣṇavas; it has knowledge that is especially appreciated by the paramahaṁsas. When carefully studied, heard, and understood again and again, it opens the door to pure devotion through which one never returns to the bondage of illusion.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.18]

In the conclusion Vyāsadeva said, “What I have given here naiṣkarmyam, jñāna-virāga-bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ, we shall have to labour then to produce our desired result, naiṣkarmyam. So the jñānīs they are in search of something disgusted with the life of labour and live. Labour and live, that is a dishonourable life. Always do and then enjoy. That is a dishonourable life. So naiṣkarmyam, the scholars, their request is a life where the previous labour has been eliminated from that life. And also one can live happily. But they come to a destructive position of sāyujya-mukti. They have buried themselves in the conscious world.”

But Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says, “No, I shall give you a life where no weariness of labour, no reaction of labour, naiṣkarmyam, but the act, the result of the labour you will enjoy there, naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ. And jñāna-virāga, they'll be subservient to you. Such a thing I am giving here.”

Śrīmad-bhāgavatam purāṇam amalaṁ. Purāṇa means prehistoric, and also purāṇa means which can supplement, give fulfilment, purāṇam amalaṁ. Make it perfect, anything perfect, filled up. Bhāgavatam purāṇam amalaṁ, amala purāṇa, purest of the pure, things are being distributed here. Yad vaiṣṇavānāṁ priyam, very favourite to the Vaiṣṇava temperament. Yasmin pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalaṁ jñānaṁ paraṁ gīyate, a particular type of knowledge what is accepted and followed and searched by the paramahaṁsa. Haṁsa means sāru-graḥi, who can eliminate unnecessary and collect necessary. That is the nature of swan, who can eliminate the water, if water and milk mixed together, swan will take up the milk and water will remain. So that is haṁsa. Paramahaṁsa is very expert in that activity, paramahaṁsa, sāru-graḥi and the proper necessity, higher thing you can take from anywhere and everywhere eliminating the undesirable, the reactionary. Pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalaṁ jñānaṁ paraṁ gīyate. This is a particular type of knowledge, not ordinary knowledge of the empirical school. But it is a peculiar type of knowledge, pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalaṁ jñānaṁ. Paraṁ gīyate, it is praised by the experts to be the highest type of knowledge, jñānaṁ paraṁ gīyate.

Jñāna-virāga-bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ. Naiṣkarma means to get out of the disturbance of labour, the reaction of labour. That is naiṣkarma, in this sense, naiṣkarmyam, free from the reaction of labour, naiṣkarma. Naiṣkarma means, it does not mean the cessation of labour, but the undesirability in the labour, that is eliminated here. The tedious element of labour, that is eliminated, but not the movement eliminated. Vilasa is not eliminated, but in vilasa the dissipation of energy and so one becomes tired and suffers from a reaction, that is eliminated, the poison eliminated. And the nectar section of the labour, that is retained, movement is retained. Movement retained and weariness eliminated. Naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ, tatra jñāna-virāga- bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

*śrīmad-bhāgavataṁ purāṇam amalāṁ yad vaiṣṇavānāṁ priyaṁ yasmin pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalāṁ jñānaṁ paraṁ gīyate tatra jñāna-virāga-

[tac chr̥ṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ]

How it was possible to get out of the reaction of jñāna, karma? Bhakti-sahitaṁ, because devotion has got the principal part there, bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ, sevā, bhakti sevā bhajan. Tac chr̥ṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ. If one can very carefully attend that, listen to that, chr̥ṇvan su-paṭhan, and makes a regular study, study of that thought, su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro, and he discusses it with the sādhus and any doubt may be removed, vicāraṇa paro. Bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ, and then he gets the real acquaintance of devotion and automatically he has all bondage shaken off. Then what was the beginning?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Karma, jñāna, bhakti. The undesirability in the movement.

Karma will be there. The movement will be there, and the undesirable portion of it is eliminated. Jñāna will be there, that is spiritual. But only by trying to control everything within our fist, this final, impossible attempt: that is eliminated.

And the proper way, praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā, sambandha jñāna, the knowledge which is based on praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā, that is not eliminated to know. That is the proper knowledge which takes us to the final thing, which has got the consciousness that I am finite. I am going to know infinite. And the real principle is there that to satisfy infinite that He will come in me, descend in me and I shall know. This sort of knowledge has been admitted. So the misconception of real karma and real knowledge that is eliminated. Karma means vilasa, movement that is retained. And jñāna also for the regulation of the service activity, that is also to be retained. And service, bhagavān bhajanīya-sarva-sad-guṇa viśiṣṭha [From Jīva Goswāmī's Bhakti-Sandarbha], our fulfilment of life in the service of the Lord. It will reach us in that plane where one will find that by serving we have come to such a great thing, great substance, that by serving Him we shall get fulfilment of our life - at every step we shall feel that, that my life is being successful, getting fulfilment more and more only by serving Him. Such a great magnanimity, noble substance is found. By giving my everything to Him, I'll become a gainer and gainer more and more. In such a plane it will take us. Then everything is good.

Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti).”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

The pure, the real jñāna will lead to the proper place, to the service, that is real jñāna. Jñāna is not to be condemned; karma is not to be condemned in its real spirit. But at the present, the form which has captured us with the satanic idea of enjoyment and renunciation, that should be eliminated. The spirit of renunciation, cutting off connection with everything, cutting off connection with the environment, the knowledge that encourages us to cut off connection with the whole of environment thinking it is all bad, that is eliminated. And karma when it is for selfish, whether small or extended selfishness, any part, that is eliminated. But karma, go on, movement is encouraged and knowledge proper, that's also encouraged. But not leading to exploitation or renunciation. That is two enemies, karma and jñāna. So the elimination of these two we may utilise. Rather, that is necessary. That is replaced by devotion, love, highest fulfilment of life. With the discovery of a particular plane where whatever we do for that higher thing we are benefited, we are improved and we feel at every step the inner fulfilment of inner gratification of our own self. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I heard somewhere, I don't exactly remember where...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it will be, karma can; the looker: at the same time, a greater definition, karma, jñāna, anāvṛtam. The connection must be kept with that, the real definition of bhakti, karma jñāna anāvṛtam.

[anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam

[“One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

Upādhi is selfish, selfish cover. And the two phases, the exploitation and renunciation. Renunciation also selfish. Exploitation is selfish, it is clear. Renunciation also selfish because divorcing the environment. Environment, no connection, so that is also selfish to cut off everything, to seek ones own imaginary comfort. So that is also selfish. So devotion that is only impartial, non selfish, and an organic attempt; and real devotion is the organic function, otherwise also partly selfish. Now, what you were going to say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, so I heard Mahārāja somewhere, that these six sons of Devakī and Vasudeva that was killed by Kāṁsa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Six or seven?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: First six sons, they were representing the sad-darśana, the six branches of Vedic philosophy, that after that [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Well and good. If anywhere it is mentioned I do not know. I think I might have heard somewhere, but I can't recollect where, when, I have heard it. It may be in some tikā, Viśvanātha, or somewhere, may be. I don't remember that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. This is not objectionable.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Kāṁsa is representing false ego, ahaṅkāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ahaṅkāra Atheism.

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja: [?] He pointed out that what Guru does like that the demons that Baladeva is killing one after the other like Dhenukāsura. Dhenuka is symbolising ignorance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Śrī Kṛṣṇa-saṁhita

[?] All of you must go through it. There you will have materials that are based on the present reasoning ground; Śrī Kṛṣṇa-saṁhita, in Bengali and in Sanskrit also, by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, a very useful book. And Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta, to preach in the western countries, Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta is more useful than Jaiva Dharma. Jaiva Dharma is meant for the Indianised people, those that think in Indian way, Indian philosophy. And the western philosophy has been dealt in comparison in Caitanya-śikṣāmṛtam.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Actually Prabhupāda also wrote The Teachings of Lord Caitanya, one book which is giving all the teachings of Lord Caitanya, Caitanya Mahāprabhu's teachings to Sanātana Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī, and Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya. This way like all the teachings of Caitanya Mahāprabhu have been presented in that book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In an English book?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That O.B.L. Kapoor, he was research scholar, got doctorate, and Professor Sanyal, was one of the examiners of three. He was a student of philosophy. And he has based his research only on the direct teachings of Mahāprabhu.

“Goswāmīns there from the śāstra they've collected in support of Mahāprabhu's line.” And he said, “I have given the materials, my materials is what is the direct advice of Mahāprabhu. And where have you got? There is only eight *śloka*s and some other, about fourteen *śloka*s direct come from Mahāprabhu, and some stalwarts of Jagannātha etc.”

Then I told, from Mahāprabhu, Sanātana Goswāmī, and Sanātana Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī, they have given all the philosophical side.

“But no I have only collected from Caitanya-caritāmṛta. That is given by Kavirāja Goswāmī. There he has given this upadeśa to Sanātana, Rūpa, or indirect way you get from Kavirāja Goswāmī. In our line wherever from it may be but when there is mention that Caitanya Deva mentioned, He says that can be taken as coming direct from Him.” In this way he has, this is the basis of his doctorate. That book also you may look over:
O.B.L Kapoor.

[The Philosophy and Religion of Śrī Caitanya] O.B.L Kapoor. [Oudh Bihārī Lal Kapoor, aka Ādikeshava Dās, disciple of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura and Gaurāṅga Dās Bābājī]

And Nisikanta Sanyal's book [Śrī-Kṛṣṇa-Caitanya] of course during the time of Prabhupāda it was written, and Prabhupāda saw it. But there, only one mistake. In Madras, a professor of Rāmānuja School, he, where it is mentioned what is the teachings of Rāmānuja, he perhaps read that portion and he came with, “This is not the conception of Rāmānuja, what you have told.” Then Sanyal has to accept that, “Yes, yes, it is a mistake.” So in some portion he admitted, ‘this is a mistake.’ His distinctive advaita, or something like this, he has given the name of Rāmānuja dāsa. The objection came there, that this should not be the proper translation of Rāmānuja dāsa. It should be like that, the name should be like this.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja wanted to seek for your advice or to have the confirmation from Your Divine Grace about his plans when he goes back to America. He is thinking of working with Atreya Ṛṣi Prabhu who is that Iranian gentleman. He is the GBC of San Francisco and he is very sympathetic to all of Prabhupāda's disciples, those who are not really feeling very comfortable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyone whom you think to help your cause, you may take his help.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And actually Atreya Ṛṣi Prabhu is very friendly with us also, with Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, and he is a very nice devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Well and good anyhow we have got the news of...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, as I have made all these recordings of Your Divine Grace I wanted to know or seek your permission if I could take the philosophical portions and...

During His sacred pilgrimage sometimes the Lord would be carried away by some indescribable, ineffable, divine exaltation and would sing, "Rāma Rāma" and dance gracefully with most charming gestures and rhythms. Regardless of any time, place, circumstance, or personal qualification, He magnanimously delivered all those in South India who came in contact with Him by inspiring them to chant Kṛṣṇa's Holy Names with pure devotion. Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, one other thing. I was wondering, there is a class of devotees who are being produced who have attachments for our Guru Mahārāja and for Your Divine Grace also. So this is kind of a new breed of bhakta who have equal devotion for Prabhupāda our Guru Mahārāja and Your Divine Grace. So is this all right?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Common thing they have got, so many, ninety-five percent or more common.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's that five percent?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In some places he also exceeding my position and thinking also in the preaching affairs, so many tactics he did in his ways, inhuman action. So in that respect he is so great, so big. And I cannot stand before him. In some internal way we have had a little, it is not difference really but little distinction, distinctive. Every man has got his inner distinctive characteristic. Amongst you also there are so many, a little, bedabeda acintya. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It is in His hand.

Supernatural, beyond nature, that is the common sign of acintya. And not to be, that won't come to our own subjective jurisdiction, acintya. That is there but not within our jurisdiction, but as a subject we can control it to make the object our thinking. But when He makes any contact we understand. That is adhoksaja.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...incarnation of Satyabhāmā in Dvāpara-yuga. He [Jagadānanda Paṇḍita] went to Vṛndāvana. Mahāprabhu gave some instruction. "Do this, don't do this. And as long as you remain there you should be under the guidance of Sanātana Goswāmī.” Then he went, and the instructions were like this. Vṛndāvana jaibe nā rahiha cira-kāla. “You go to Vṛndāvana but don't remain there for long time.” Govardhane nā caḍiha dekhite ‘gopāla’. “To have a look of the Gopāla of Madhavendra Purī don't go up over the Govardhana.”

[Śīghra āsiha, tāhāñ nā rahiha cira-kāla, govardhane nā caḍiha dekhite ‘gopāla’] [“You should remain in Vṛndāvana for only a short time and then return here as soon as possible. Also, do not climb Govardhana Hill to see the Gopāla Deity.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.39]

And, vrajavāsī gan dui haite saman koive [?] “You should give respect to the vrajavāsī.”

Tāñ-sabāra ācāra-ceṣṭā la-ite nāribā. “But don't imitate their practices. And as long as you stay there, stay under the guidance of Sanātana.” These were the instructions.

[dūre rahi’ bhakti kariha sañge nā rahibā, tāñ-sabāra ācāra-ceṣṭā la-ite nāribā]

[“Do not mix freely with the residents of Mathurā; show them respect from a distance. Because you are on a different platform of devotional service, you cannot adopt their behaviour and practices.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.37]

And one day Jagadānanda Paṇḍita found Sanātana Goswāmī came to visit him when he was going just to put the pot for cooking purpose into the oven. At that time Sanātana came to know things are from him. And at that time Sanātana Goswāmī had a red cloth around his neck, like a turban. Jagadānanda Prabhu was much delighted to see that red cloth and asked, “It must be of our Mahāprabhu, the red cloth, have you got from Him?”

“Oh, you have put his garment, his cloth on your head, and you are the leading disciple, follower of Mahāprabhu.” He could not tolerate, and with that cooking pot he went to strike on his head.

Then Sanātana Goswāmī with folded palms, “Yes, Paṇḍita Ji, what I wanted to see, your exclusive love towards Mahāprabhu, what I wanted to see by the grace of God, Mahāprabhu, I have seen it now. I have seen with my own eyes the intensity, exclusive love of Mahāprabhu. My life is fulfilled. I am very fortunate that I have got such an exclusive and intense love towards Mahāprabhu.”

Then by this time Jagadānanda could realise, Prabhu could realise that his excitement was too abrupt, and awkward. So he felt shy and kept silent. “No, no, no, I mistook. Who can tolerate this? You are one of the main followers of Mahāprabhu and you have got respect for another sannyāsī, Māyāvādī, whose red cloth you have put on your head as a turban. I could not tolerate, please forgive me.” In this way the things ended.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha, ha.

Touchy. Just as some of us, of our section, cannot tolerate that you say ‘Prabhupāda’ to your Guru Mahārāja. There is a section within us. Though they cannot tolerate, their sentiment does not allow. Because Prabhupāda gave such respect to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he could not tolerate that anyone have that title of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. One gentleman, Priyonath, some gentleman, Priyonath, his Guru gave him the title of Bhaktivinoda. Prabhupāda could not tolerate that, and wrote articles against him. “He is so and so, he is so and so, he’s Bhaktivinoda.” In this way!

So this question of sentiment may be some time, some places; impatience. Although we find that Prabhupāda, an ordinary title for Gurudeva, Prabhupāda Atula Kṛṣṇa, Prabhupāda Pran Gopāla Goswāmī, that is the practice here. The śiṣya and the public in general also they say, 'Prabhupāda Atula Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī, Prabhupāda Pran Gopāla Goswāmī, Prabhupāda _____ Goswāmī, that Prabhupāda title is almost given to all the respectable Ācāryas of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava School, Prabhupāda. And we also called Prabhupāda, but other followers of Prabhupāda they did not take this title, following the sentiment of Prabhupāda towards Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Sometimes Bon Mahārāja, for some days he used to take that title Prabhupāda from his disciples. So there was a voice of protest raised against him. Sakhī Caran, Bhakti Vijaya, who constructed the big temple at Yoga-pīṭha, and many things he did, he told me, “Bon Mahārāja has become Prabhupāda nowadays.” Ha, ha, ha. In a taunting tone he remarked it before me.

And that is an ordinary title. And every Ācārya they use this. But though we are practised in a particular way but we cannot ignore the outside environment totally. Maybe that does not matter. That Guru, Oṃ Viṣṇu Pāda, all these things, Goswāmī, all these things have been applied in the case of the Ācārya. In the beginning it was a terrible thing to enter into initiation for us, after Prabhupāda. Then though anyone ventured to initiate, the others said, “He won’t be, he should not use Oṃ Viṣṇu Pāda.” They came to me that, “He’s using Oṃ Viṣṇu Pāda.”

I said this is śāstra. What you are to do? Before one takes the name of his Gurudeva, he should use Om Viṣṇu Pāda before that. It is the śāstra. So they are doing according to śāstra. You can't prohibit that, protest that. If he's a Guru then the disciple must have such respect. Then gradually everyone, daily, more and more, the number increased and everyone allowed his disciples to use this title and to give jaya. But in the beginning it was a horrible thing for the disciples to hear.

Once after giving initiation Yājāvara Mahārāja came to a place where myself, this Hayagrīva Prabhu, that is Mādhava Mahārāja, and other senior God-brothers, who were senior to Yājāvara Mahārāja, and whom Yājāvara Mahārāja respected, they are leaving. I proposed, with disciples, I proposed that Yājāvara Mahārāja should be given a respectable position amongst us because he has taken his disciples with him. So there was one, in that room, there was one chokie [?] and I proposed Yājāvara Mahārāja should be given his bed on that katiya chokie [?] and we shall all lie down on the floor.

But Hayagrīva Prabhu, that Mādhava Mahārāja, he was then Hayagrīva Brahmacārī, he told, "No. That never be allowed. That one who will make disciples he should consider himself as a servant of all other senior Vaiṣṇavas. In this way he can only..."

That is not possible, there is his disciple. Disciple, they are newcomers. Their sentiments towards their Gurudeva that is our duty to nurture them. That may not be disturbed. So we should give respect to his Gurudeva though he is a colleague and junior to many, still to help the disciples in their devotion we shall try to do that.

And that was done. But Mādhava Mahārāja protested, then Hayagrīva Brahmacārī. Then after, Hayagrīva Prabhu he was pressing me to take the position of Ācārya but I denied. 'No, I am not going to take position, I am not going to give initiation, as long as I do not find an internal urge for that.'

Then Hayagrīva Prabhu he himself began to make disciples. He was Mādhava Mahārāja, before he goes to take sannyāsa from Vaikhānasa Mahārāja he came to me, fell flat, I was in the hut there, and begged permission. “I had a mind to take sannyāsa from you Mahārāja, but I can't leave Māyāpur, Caitanya Maṭha. And you are so much against Kuñja Bābu. So I can't take sannyāsa from you. But you may help to select my name of sannyāsa.”

I suggested two names. Bhakti Dayita I like; Dayita is mentioned in the name of Prabhupāda, so Dayita, Bhakti Dayita. And either Dāmodara or Mādhava, that you ask your sannyāsa Guru, he may select any of them. Then he went away, took sannyāsa and then began to make disciples.

Then one day I went to, Hydrapur, where he was living and I found that a very big āsana he has prepared for himself to take his seat and he is going on with his tilaka. And when we visited that place, we don't find any space to take our seat. Then I asked, what is the matter? I told that Yājñavalkya Mahārāja should be given a preferable position and you refused. Now, what is the matter? You have taken the major portion, you have occupied of the floor with this gigantic āsana and we don't find any space to take our seat anyhow. Ha, ha, ha, ha.

So this is abhimāna, Ācārya abhimāna. Ācārya - relative consideration makes us to adopt in a particular way, Ācārya abhimāna, the abhimāna of a disciple, the relative posing, that is necessary to fulfil our purpose. It is also allowed both in the śāstra as well as in the social custom. The śruti śāstra also says pita mata maha guru, not the grandfather, grandmother; the nearest obligation that should be considered to be the highest. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

A difficult thing to adjust properly with relative and absolute position: consideration; absolute consideration and relative. Generally we shall accept the relative position but keeping at the background the consciousness of the absolute calculation. Absolute calculation is always superior. But that is risky. Relative position generally helps us not to get down. Sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35] this is the type of relative position.

yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānāṁ, yena sarvvaṁ idaṁ tatam svakarmaṇā tam abhyarccya, siddhiṁ vindati mānavaḥ

Wait and see. Don't go forward, don't go forward. Keep up your own position. Just in the battlefield, keep your own position, strongly, mind it. But when you get chance to make any progress you should not lose that. But you must be sure. Otherwise, leaving the former position you are going to take a new position, that is risky. But progress is necessary. It is indispensable that you must make progress. So risk you must take, but the risk you take in such a way that you don't lose your former position.

śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

For defensive necessity occupy the former position, that is helpful. But still we must have our tendency to make progress. So:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

That is our goal. That absolute consideration is our goal. And the relative position, that is for our safety. So, progress is necessary, but very carefully we must go ahead, so that I may not lose my former. When śikṣā Guru. Our Guru Mahārāja's movement was rather revolutionary, more than defensive in character. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writings mainly very sober and slow progress, but slow and steady. What we find in his books that is not any bold step to be taken. That is not recommended there. So grhastha āśrama, grhastha āśrama he has recommended mostly. The āśrama of the tyāgi, that is risky. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's tone through all his books, it runs like that. But our Guru Mahārāja's, that is revolutionary. Take and accept anyone who has got the least attraction for Kṛṣṇa or Mahāprabhu and give help. So this mission, sādhū-saṅga was arranged in so many centres. The sādhū-saṅga is the only most valuable thing that can help us in our progress. So he arranged for sādhū-saṅga, opened different centres, they can live and cooperate between them and go on, march on? Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja. And Swāmī Mahārāja also more risky and revolutionary.

...used this colour, purchased from market. Do not take any trouble of rubbing that red stone and get the colour desired. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I am more of conservative nature. Only, Mahāprabhu took me out from that great ideal.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: What do you think of us?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The lofty ideal of Mahāprabhu has taken me out from my conservative nature. On the strict He has taken me, strict. Many new things had to absorb. But still I think that I have come in the forefront of the liberals.

So, that devotee also try to see things and to deal with them according to the rules and regulations of the scripture, not by their prepossessed sentiment or old saṁskāra.

And Mahāprabhu's ideal impressed me very much. Although born in a very strict smarta paṇḍita family, still I could shake off all these things, because my attraction for Mahāprabhu, by His grace, was very intense.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Translated Gītā in Farsi, who is that gentleman?

Devotee: [?]

Dhira Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Ravanari did it in Arabic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I have got a copy here, I was presented. What is his name?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Ravanari.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ravanari. Where is he now? Not in Russia?

Dhira Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the other day you said something that impressed me very much. You said if we try to thrust something upon higher authorities that that is karma-kāṇḍa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What did I say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The other day you said something that impressed him very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that thing?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That if we thrust something on the higher authority then that is karma- kāṇḍa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The origin of the motive must not be the centre within us. That must come from Hari, Guru, Vaiṣṇava. And we must carry out. We should not be the creator of the wave of command, commanding. But we must carry out the news that comes through the wave from higher, Hari, Guru, Vaiṣṇava. We are only to carry out order and not to make any order. And when one has got the license of that centre of carrying out, he can order. While God that sends license from God, “Yes, whatever you think, I will be at your back. I have got constant connection with you and I supply the wave to your centre, permanently.” Instructions of permanent character and from that capital you will be able to transmit wave to others. Am I clear?

Dhira Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That must come, the command must come from the centre, from the higher position; and the carrying out of that command from the lowers. The nature of harmony requires this system of control, harmony. The centre is one, to command, advaya-jñāna. That is absolute autocrat, advaya-jñāna. Advaya-jñāna means the dictation from a particular quarter and carrying out according to the degree of capacity by different centres. Then the result connected with the absolute.

So I must not venture to command anything to anybody, but if I have received that sort of command from upper region, then I can transmit them only. I may be a transmitter, but not absolute creator of any desire of any will. My heart may be a sub-centre but not absolute centre. There are so many sub-centres; reliable sub-centres. They have got always the capital there and I can draw from them. Maybe in Gurudeva, Rādhārāṇī and Baladeva they were permanently and at present also there may be recognised centres of command and I can communicate with them and carry out their orders. In that way we can keep our connection with the higher authority, the absolute. We are very eager to keep our connection with the absolute harmony. Then we must be always eager to have direction from the up and do accordingly. The thing by its necessity of harmony requires this sort of conduct within us. A Vaiṣṇava must be of that nature.

Amita vaisnava vivad ji haili amanina habe pratistha saji lila dusay [?]

You will have to go down; and to go up, the carrying out of the orders of the higher authority, always that sort of tendency.

Tomar kinkar apane jani sada imam tadi [?]

Setting aside my own sentiment I'll always look up with earnestness what order I may get from the up. That should be my guide, the guide of anyone in the centre. And that will keep up the harmony and unity of the organisation that's part of a particular system, to keep up the health of the system; that is necessary always.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, when a person like, when a very elevated devotee like Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura speaks like that, what should we think?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is setting the example for us. That should be the attitude and he is also of that attitude, that means always hankering, increasing his hunger to get direction from up at every position. And it is infinite. So every centre is with that hankering. And there is also Ācārya abhimāna where some money is already deposited with some condition, spend it for this purpose. Then as if his own money, he is distributing, that is Ācārya abhimāna. A direction, a box of direction, so many slips of direction within a box, we may think like that some deposited direction. 'You do this,' then he is going straight forward with those directions. The insinuation, the inspiration at his heart is always coming, 'do this, do this, do this.' Like an aggressor he is going forward and forward, Ācārya abhimāna, and by doing that he is internally really carrying out the order of his. So rationally he is moving but internally he is connected with the higher. The assertion in one side and the begging in the other side; ha, ha, begging from the higher power and distribution to the lower section; that should be the duty of every man in the mission, kīrtana.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

“If you stick to this business then I will supply the capital to you. You be sincere to your dealings.”

The current is always there, it is a dynamic thing. The current is always, the wares, the dynamo, or all these things, must be healthy, wholesome. No want of current. The mediator must be all right. The current is infinite.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, sometimes we notice that some devotees they are very friendly with us, but their Kṛṣṇa consciousness is not very developed or very strong, in line. But since they are nice to us we tend to become also nice to them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may not be relied upon with work of responsibility but they should be given facility to serve.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But if that kind of persons are in very high authority? If a person like that, if say one leader or some leaders...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, unqualified person in a higher post that means there will be injury in the action, harm in the action, activity. Improper man in a high position that is injudicious and they will have to reap the results accordingly. Weak persons with good will but not steady, not strong enough, not firm, they cannot be relied with permanent responsibility. But short period activity, chance of service should be allotted to them, and under vigilant eye. We can do good to them in that way, help them in that way. Always under vigilant eye they should be kept and they should be helped in that particular way. Their good will should be utilised and their flickering -ness should not be encouraged, relied on. That should be the nature of our help to them. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: When we see that some leaders are like that, then to what extent we should try to rectify them, or should we just wait for the time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally we should try give some time, we must wait. But when we shall find that that is doing a practical mischief in the whole system, then we should try to consult with friends of our own nature and try to evolve some way how to deal with that. We must combine of same thinking, similar thinking. And we shall try. Otherwise that infectious disease, that will spread and that will make harm more to the whole system.

So a well-wisher of the system, he, after waiting for some time he must express it to the persons of common thinking, “That this is the matter. Please examine. I may be faulty, but I have got such suspicion or doubt. You please try to see whether it is true or not.”

Then if he says, “Yes, it is true, we are sorry it is true,” then you may consult, or the two may consult, then the three, four, in this way. Then when sufficiently gaining ground he may ask the person, “My brother, you are doing this, but this is producing bad effect in the whole of the system. Be careful.”

And any higher authority in comparison with him it may be taken to his notice that this poison has entered in this particular part of the body and how to deal with that. As a faithful member of the administration of the system I must have some duty of that nature for purifying the whole, my environment. I must be under necessity to try my best, leaving the result to the Lord. If He wills; otherwise then a good man may be eliminated from the whole thing, whole system.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, sometimes some devotees tend to think that history repeats itself. And whatever has happened to Gauḍīya Maṭha, the same thing might happen to ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. Everyone will die but still we must take the precaution. We call for doctor, we use medicine, that is also not an imagination. That is also reality. If I die, I must die with treatment and taking help I shall die. That does not mean everyone is dying whenever attacked by a disease I shall be idle. That is not the...

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: At times it so happens that even when one brings the doctor but the patient does not want to take the medicine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then the well-wisher will try his best to use the mission, to compel him to take the medicine. And that depends upon the relationship between the two. His nearer persons they cannot, helplessly, only onlooker, that he is neglecting himself, can't tolerate. But a distance related, he may not care. But a closer friend, intimate friends, they won't allow him to die without taking the help of the doctor and the medicine. They can't do so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in mādhurya-rasa they won't approve. They try to force him to take medicine. That should be their nature, nature of affinity must come to such a degree. "We can't allow you to go on without medicine." That is possible only in the case of indifferent school. That is Māyāvādī or renunciationist. They may take such attitude, but not devotees.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: They may become flabbergasted, Mahārāja, then what should we do? We want to rectify the, we want to save the situation. But then again, if we try to do that then immediately they'll brand us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We shall pray to the higher authority and what inspiration we should get in our sincerity, sincere heart, we cannot but do that. We can't give up our own conscience, that inner voice. We should fervently pray to him, "Please guide me properly." Wait, until we get such inspiration, "do this," we may not be very indiscriminate and very rough and very abrupt in our dealings, may not be very quick; a little slow we may be. Hesitation may force us to be slow to take our step.

As Rāvaṇa told, subashya sigram asalisya kala haranam [?] "If I think that this step will create some disturbance into the environment, I shall wait and see. And when I shall see that this is the auspicious result it will bring, then I may be quick in my action."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The other day Mahārāja, I was telling Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja that sometimes a very good chess player, you don't know what move he is going to take. The same way when we ask a question, we don't really know what kind of answer is going to come from you. And when the answer comes we get totally amazed that we never even dreamt of that kind of answer. It is so new, so fresh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja's grace. At his last time, he took me in such a central position and placed me there that standing from that position I look around and I get a clear conception of what is what. Gaura Haribol. I can survey from that position, what is where. Gaura Haribol. That is the secret of my speaking.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He has empowered you, Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Might have been, might have been that also.

When he gave me initiation, he told in such a way, I was asked by one of my senior Godbrothers, "What did he say during the time of your initiation?"

He said such and such thing.

"Oh, you are very fortunate." That was the remark.

Then when I got sannyāsa, Bon Mahārāja was present there, many others also. Bon Mahārāja remarked that, "Prabhupāda has got a high satisfaction by giving you sannyāsa. So much satisfaction we did not find in any occasion of other sannyāsīns. He is highly satisfied conferring sannyāsa to you."

That is one thing. The selection of words: that is something like intuition. When I am coming to Gauḍīya Maṭha, but not enlisted, only negotiating in that condition, they are thinking a suitable term, Prabhupāda was there, other members also, senior English knowing members were there; the exhibition, religious exhibition, what should be the proper name, they are searching for. I am an outsider. Some say 'spiritual', some say 'religious', but Prabhupāda does not accept. I told 'theistic', the word came from me, 'theistic exhibition'. That was accepted. I am a stranger at that time. So selection, it is intuitive, selection of words, got in my nature from previously; the proper selection of words.

Then also in Allahabad, once Prabhupāda was delivering a lecture, I was sitting by his side, a Kanada lecture. Then Prabhupāda used the words, the 'least-common-multiple'. For example, he quoted these words 'least-common-multiple', that may be compared with this. And just the opposite, that may be compared with the other thing.

And I prompted, that 'greatest common measure'. Ha, ha, ha, ha. Least-common-multiple – greatest-common-measure. My pronunciation of measure, that was Bengali pronunciation and Prabhupāda's pronunciation was of English type.

Measure? So Prabhupāda says, "What do you say?" Least-common-multiple, greatest-common-measure.

"Oh, measure, measure. You are very clever. I am collecting this word from you," he told.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Europe is defeated by Asia. Swāmī Mahārāja, in an argument, Bon Mahārāja put so many arguments that, ‘they cannot be answered’. But I like to hear what questions cannot be answered. Then he reluctantly went on with the arguments which he had to face there. And I began to answer them. Then when Bon Mahārāja could not speak anything more, Swāmī Mahārāja was present in that round table conference, myself, Bon Mahārāja, that Madhusudana Mahārāja, [Herr] Schulze, all around the table, then Swāmī Mahārāja told, “Here, Europe is defeated by Asia.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Europe was represented by Bon Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bon Mahārāja, and Schulze was very attentively listening to the argument, discussion. Later on Schulze told, “I was attracted more by the book [Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya] of Nisikanta Sanyal, Professor, than that of Bon Mahārāja.”

And before that he appreciated my articles in Nadiyā Prakāśa, our Guru Mahārāja. And also that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's stotram, that was much appreciated by him. That is the only Sanskrit production during the time of Prabhupāda. And that was highly appreciated by him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Śrī-rūpa-mañjarī-pada [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes we've heard that in the Kali-yuga that the saṅkīrtana movement will be prominent for ten thousand years. Is that correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It may be, might have been mentioned in Purāṇa, anywhere, but always depending on the sweet will of the Lord. And in which kalpa, that is also to be discussed, we must ascertain. There are many things mentioned in the Purāṇa, meaning a particular kalpa, a day of Brahmā. That may not be, that may not hold true in other kalpas. Se Varāha kalpa, Sam Varāha kalpa - there are so many kalpas. And one may hold true in a particular kalpa not to be applied in another kalpa, though we must not be discouraged by that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda said, I remember that, “Satya-yuga will be established in Kali-yuga for ten thousand years.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After, ten thousand years.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I mean, in Kali-yuga, in the middle of Kali-yuga, the Satya-yuga will come for ten thousand years.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as the antadasa [?] within dasagraha [?] antadasa [?] also, so aprantadasa [?] also. So in the Kali sometimes there is also up and down. In some portion of Kali, the less sin, that it may be considered Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali, in that way, subdivision. Just as Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali, so in each yuga there is also subdivision, and then also within that, sub-subdivision. In that way things move. So it may be like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when I spoke to Bhāvānanda Mahārāja yesterday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, about?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he was asking me what I'm going to do about going back to America. So I told him, in San Francisco, I also work speaking in Universities, giving lecture and he approved of this idea of being there.

Then he told me that in terms of dealing with yourself, with Your Divine Grace, that he wanted to be very careful so that devotees in our society would not offend you, that we should not create any situation where they become offensive towards you, because that would be very detrimental for their spiritual lives.

And he had one question that he also wanted you to clarify, was when Jayapataka Swāmī and Bhāvānanda Mahārāja came here and they read you this paper that was prepared by the GBC, at one point you said that if they were to reject a man from being an Ācārya, that they may say that we do not recognise the mercy of our Guru Mahārāja is within you; that we do not recognise the mercy of our Guru Mahārāja within you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Within me?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes: to a man who is a candidate for Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Someone may be nominated to be Ācārya, but he may be rejected by the Ācārya Board. And you said that they may say to him, 'we do not recognise the mercy of our Guru Mahārāja within you.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 'They can't feel that the mercy, that is the grace Guru Mahārāja came to distribute to the world, that is absent in me.' They told like that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 'They can't see the mercy of Guru Mahārāja in me', what does it mean?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. The Ācārya Board, someone may come to be nominated to be Ācārya. So they have to accept or to reject. So there was a point of rejecting someone. And they say that you have said on this tape that the Ācārya Board, they may say to this man, this candidate, the nominee, that 'we do not find the mercy of our Guru Mahārāja within you, so we have not accepted you to be a part of the Ācārya Board'. So Bhāvānanda Mahārāja thought that this is too harsh, it might be too much arrogance for the Ācāryas to tell another man that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have got no mercy of Guru Mahārāja within you.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does Bhāvānanda Mahārāja say? He says that when he is to cancel one continuing Ācārya from his post...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not a continuing, a candidate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Formerly the vote was prepared to cancel two.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When they are to cancel anyone or to accept anyone, then their lookout will be whether he can trace Swāmī Mahārāja's grace in them, in sufficient quantity. Then they can take him. And where they do not find that grace, they should reject. That I told. That is the criterion, the criterion of making Ācārya or rejecting will be that whether Swāmī Mahārāja's grace sufficient is found in him, that he will be able to do the work of Ācārya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Right. So the key word is sufficient. You said grace sufficient.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, sufficient.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because that is all he wanted to clarify.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sufficient to hold the honourable position of Ācārya, that sort of grace, the minimum grace may be any disciple.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right, not that if a man is rejected that he has no grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, sufficient deviation from the grace we received direct from Swāmī Mahārāja. When he has himself appointed Ācārya anybody, as Hamsadutta and Jayatīrtha, then when they wanted to reject them, the board, they must be confident that Swāmī Mahārāja has withdrawn from them the delegating power that he conferred upon them, must be sure about that before they oust them from the board. And also when he will take anyone within the Ācārya Board, they must have to detect that Swāmī Mahārāja's grace is there in sufficient quantity to help him to distribute to the others, keeping proper faith in his holy feet. What is necessary. That I might have said.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, but sometimes they have thought that our Guru Mahārāja's grace is in this particular man. But for the society or the organisation we find certain things objectionable so we'd like him to separate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His external behaviour.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Grace is there but behaviour is so unmannerly that he could not be kept as a cooperating member in the board.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what will be the decision? That is his question?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in that case_ [?] The grace is there, the devotion is there in intense quantity, but his behaviour is such that we cannot tolerate them. That is, his behaviour, his conduct cannot be harmonised in the board. In that case I think...

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

He should be allowed if sufficient grace of Swāmī Mahārāja of an Ācārya is found in him. But his behaviour may not be harmonised in a system, then he should be left to work on independently. Independently you may go on with your help to the society independently. We cannot have your cooperation. There is much difficulty that you can't move with a body, you can go on independently with your service to Guru Mahārāja. That may be the solution, especially in the case where Guru Mahārāja has given direct appointment.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, now this is an important question, that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But there should be some understanding that one party may not abuse another; a spirit of toleration.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. Now, you know Satsvarūpa dasa Goswāmī, his ex-wife, former wife, she was Prabhupāda's first lady disciple. And around one year ago she left the society.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Faith?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not the faith but the society ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because she believed, she was known to be philosophically, she knows philosophy. So she objected to the Ācāryas as appointed Ācāryas of Prabhupāda. Because Prabhupāda, he told us many times that his Guru Mahārāja Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, he never named anyone as Ācārya. So she and many other devotees they think that since Prabhupāda's Guru he did not name anyone, how could he name someone? And if this created so much of a disturbance in Gauḍīya Maṭha, why would our Guru Mahārāja do the same thing, the opposite of what his Guru Mahārāja did? In other words, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta did not name anyone as Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Clearly.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And Prabhupāda told us, he said, "He left word, who is Ācārya he will come out." Those were his words. He once said in a lecture, he said, “Our God-brother Professor Sanyal he was doing very nicely during our Guru Mahārāja’s time. But after his disappearance, his departure,” he said, “Professor Sanyal he became a party man.” And he said, “And he wanted to post one of his pet fellows onto the position of Ācārya.” And then he said, “But my Guru Mahārāja never designated anyone as Ācārya. He said, 'who is Ācārya, he will come out'.”

So the point that these devotees feel very strongly about, they object to the concept that Prabhupāda, our Guru Mahārāja, appointed his disciples as Ācāryas. They do not accept this. They think it is a contradiction.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Ṛtvik, as a Ṛtvik?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Ṛtvik they accept, but not...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So she says that Guru Mahārāja did not make any Ācārya definitely.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he used some as his helper Ācārya, Ṛtvik. Now the question after the departure of Guru Mahārāja will come whether the Guru Mahārāja’s line should be continued or not? Then if the unanimous verdict is that it must be continued, but then continued only informally or in a formal way? That is dīkṣā, mantram, sannyāsa, all these things should be kept up, or all disorganised preaching of his name and other things? Then the question will be solved and known in a particular form in which he used to preach. Then the third question will come, then who will be the Ācārya: one or many? Then if the answer comes, ‘one Ācārya cannot manage the whole thing so we may have an Ācārya Board,' that is to be a serious conclusion we are to take; whether one or many?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But she believes that only a mahā-bhāgavata, an uttama-adhikārī should act in that position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, if it is available, it is well and good. Otherwise, the madhyama-bhāgavata who cannot stop his activity of preaching, by his intrinsic inspiration, his urge, he feels urge to propagate, then he cannot be checked, should not be checked. We are to detect whether that urge for preaching is for to acquire the fame, or some position, that is also fame, or money or something else. If it is true that he wants to spread this Kṛṣṇa consciousness he should be recognised as an Ācārya. Recognition should be given, should be allotted to them who have got sincere enthusiasm to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness in the line of Swāmī Mahārāja. A fair field should be.

If Swāmī Mahārāja's case is justified, Prabhupāda did not give recognition to Swāmī Mahārāja in a clear way that he will become Ācārya, but why Swāmī Mahārāja has taken that interest in himself? Because he had love, sufficiently intense for Prabhupāda, he could not check the urge for preaching and he came in the battle, in the forefront, in a pushing way. If that has got justification, then this Ācārya will feel urge within himself to go on with the work of Swāmī Mahārāja ahead. They should not be checked. They are justified, thereby. Their internal feeling, that is their justification. So they should be left free to go on with their sincere propaganda, their attempt, their enthusiasm. Only we should try to detect whether that energy, the source of energy is something else than Guru Mahārāja, than Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What if there is a mixture?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A mixture? Generally there may be mixture in madhyama-adhikārī, but if the better portion is Kṛṣṇa consciousness then he may be allowed. And if there is urge, then that will be his own certificate; sincere urge for propagation of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That should be the; but the sincerity, that in a fair way that should be judged.

In other words, when one is engaged to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness in the name of Swāmī Mahārāja but he does not cross the limit of good and moral practices, he may be allowed. The sincerity first and the second his formal practices of good behaviour necessary for the Ācārya and the sampradāya: flesh eating, meat eating, wine drinking, and also too much attraction to the ladies, all these things should be considered.

The knowledge of the scripture may not be very, reach everywhere. But the sincere following of Swāmī Mahārāja's dictation must be present there. That is, Kṛṣṇa consciousness should be traced there. That should be the first consideration, then the fair dealings with others.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] ...too much nyāya. The days have changed from that of Mahāprabhu. So in consonance with the progress of the time we may deal with the ladies for their help, but the unfair mixing must not be tolerated, unfair mixing. Whereas Kṛṣṇa kathā between the Ācārya and disciple, it may be lady, or it may be boy, or anyone it may be, the Kṛṣṇa result between them, that is the protection. The dealings will be only about Kṛṣṇa consciousness, surrounding, Kṛṣṇa consciousness surrounding the dealings. So ladies may not be left, excluded from getting the benefit of Kṛṣṇa consciousness and of preaching. They will also, may have chance. But whether the lady Ācārya should be appointed or not, that may come in future. Whether a lady devotee, for the facility to propagate amongst the ladies, whether such qualified lady Ācārya should be accepted or not, that may be a question of controversy. But I think that, for the sincere thinking person wherever there is Kṛṣṇa consciousness, there is purity, and wherever the sincere urge for propagation, the sanction must be there. That should be the fair field. Here also previously Jāhnavā Devī and others, Ṭhākurani, they did that sort of function of the Ācārya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So there were some lady Ācāryas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There were previously.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, very rarely. The number can be counted on fingers, lady Ācāryas.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Whenever this question would arise our Guru Mahārāja he would always quote the verse:

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wherever Kṛṣṇa consciousness is present and wherever Mahāprabhu consciousness, that is to preach:

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

That is not mere Kṛṣṇa consciousness, but that is Mahāprabhu consciousness; Kṛṣṇa consciousness with Guru consciousness, Mahāprabhu consciousness. And Mahāprabhu says that, “Whomever you will find, talk about Kṛṣṇa, nothing else. You won't be lost. You have no fear to be lost. I am there.”

This wide command, but everywhere, the test is sincerity must be there, sincerity, not any imitation. Imitation is the greatest enemy to this, imitation. Anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, there may be so many things of temptation and if we are prey to that we are lost. Madhyama-adhikārī; so higher type of madhyama-adhikārī, no apprehension, because, to preach means to go and mix with those that have the contamination of enjoyment and renunciation in all these things, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna. So he must be strong enough to fight with them.

Anyone may be a general, but he must have the capacity, the merit, to become a general. Napoleon came from the ordinary section. Then Rommel, Hitler's general, he came from the very lower position, and he got much appreciation of his position, appreciated even by their enemies. Achinlake [?] or Montgomery, who was the leader in that war, he kept Rommel's portrait in his camp.

One asked me why he used to keep the portrait of Rommel within his camp.

I answered, the look at the face and to conjecture what policy he may take to draw from it. He kept it that this man in such case, what sort of diplomacy and policy he may accept in this war. To get inspiration from his portrait he used to keep.

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

Where matter is present, form may be sacrificed. When material is sufficiently present, the form may be sacrificed.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One of the questions I've heard devotees ask, they've heard your example of the Guru with one foot in Vaikuṇṭha, one foot here; three categories.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, three, like that; three categories.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But they want to know? Is that your example, or is there some example in the śāstra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Two feet in Vaikuṇṭha and taking, recruiting from here, that is mahā-bhāgavata. When, by the special will of the Lord he's requested to do this service, he does. Mahā-bhāgavata is qualified, there cannot be any doubt.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then generally the madhyama-bhāgavata, the Ācārya appointed from madhyama, madhyama-bhāgavata section mainly. Why? They have got the vision of differentiation. All is not within Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Someone out, outside Kṛṣṇa consciousness, this is; both things in his view, Kṛṣṇa consciousness and non Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And it is necessary. The non Kṛṣṇa consciousness should be converted into Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

So mahā-bhāgavata, when he comes to take up this duty he has forcibly given by Kṛṣṇa some prejudices. “You see there is non Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And do your duty.”

And it is natural with the madhyama-bhāgavata that there is non Kṛṣṇa consciousness and that must be converted into Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That is madhyama-bhāgavata. So madhyama-bhāgavata should get appointment, an Ācārya. It is clear from that.

Then, the madhyama-bhāgavata may be of two types.

One from one leg here, one leg there, he’s also considered to be the madhyama-bhāgavata, in the middle stage. One leg here, one leg there, means he has got realisation of the truth, of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, but not fully acquired the svarūpa-siddhi, on the way to svarūpa-siddhi.

And who has got two legs here, he’s also madhyama-bhāgavata, his attention is drawn towards them. He’s neglectful of his position here. He does not make much of his position here. The attraction is there. But he has not fully escaped from the influence of māyā. Still, though weak, still he may be, his attempt should be laudable that he wants to help others. He’s willing to take others along with him, a laudable position. Now, this is the yukti, and śāstra we may find...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What is yukti? Example?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What I told, when he’s here, he has got mundane touch but he depreciates this completely but he’s fully attending this spiritual realisation, appreciating and engrossed there. But he has not even completely disassociated his mundane nature, but he is conquering, he’s gaining battle after battle and moving towards the Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That is, he has got good will, he’s of goṣṭhyānandī type. When just before we’re finally disassociated with this world, and take leave of this world finally and enter there, two types – goṣṭhyānandī and viviktānandī [aka bhajanānandī]. One class does not care for others. They're very particular for their own release. And there is another class by nature who does not like to go alone but he wants to go with so many associates there. Very particular nature in that stage we find, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written in Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta. In premāruruksu, in that stage, two types, goṣṭhyānandī and viviktānandī. The goṣṭhyānandī type has got a natural inclination not to go alone but to take many with them. And now from the śāstra reference we may find, laukikī vaidikī vāpi, yā kriyā kriyate mune / hari-sevānukūlaiva, sa kāryā bhaktim icchatā

["O great sage! One who aspires for devotional service should perform all activities, whether Vedic or mundane, in a way that is favourable for the service of Lord Hari."]

Whatever duty we may accept, whatever activity we may accept as our duty in the spiritual life, it may be vaidiki and laukiki. It may be, it may, the inspiration may come from the scripture, vaidiki and laukiki, vapi yakriya kriyate mune. And the duties that come from our social life, the problems that come from social life, the both, everywhere he should do according to his own spiritual consciousness.

In the kaniṣṭha-adhikārī, one may not care of his social life. He will go to the temple, worship there, strictly following the rules of the scripture, but when outside temple, he may do anything and everything. To his relation with others, he may not deal spiritual way, any other way. But scriptural dictations have got influence over him partially there. And as regards his dealings with others, he may not have any spiritual principle.

But madhyama-adhikārī is he who applies in his ordinary life also, whom I should make friend, what sort of trade I should accept for my livelihood, and how we shall select friend amongst the public, whether devotee or non devotee or anyone. This is, social life is also affected and controlled by his spiritual principle. Then he becomes madhyama-adhikārī. When he adopts such form of life then he can help others, he's fit to help others. He won't be affected by the foreign unfavourable association because he has already practised and settled in that form of life how to deal with others and keep up his spiritual vitality. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he has practised in that way, so he can be eligible to initiate, to help others, because he has already transformed himself in his dealings to outside environment. He can keep up by fighting with the agents of māyā. He has already proved that he has kept up his spiritual position fighting and adjusting with the unfavourable environment. So he can be relied. And he may be given, may be entrusted with the duty of Ācārya.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You will go?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I am going tomorrow morning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tomorrow morning, all right. So madhyama-adhikārī: the classification of madhyama-adhikārī. Kaniṣṭha-adhikārī cannot be relied to be an Ācārya because his spiritual life is only confined in the temple and in particular, behaviour of himself.

But madhyama-adhikārī there is already a transformation, wholesale, total transformation from ordinary life into spiritual life. So he should be considered fit with dealing the unfavourable environment. And he will fight and he will take in, make progress in his spiritual campaign. And really by such person the world is benefited. Who is above, disassociated themselves from this mundane world, they generally do not come to ache their head, but when specially requested by the Lord they come. Otherwise they do not care for the mundane world.

And the kaniṣṭha-adhikārī has got very little. And he's busy to purify himself and he may not care for the others, for the environment. But it is the duty, general, of the madhyama-adhikārī, that who is transforming his social position in this world into spiritualising, he will be the fittest man to do good to the world.

īśvare tad-adhīneṣu, bālīṣeṣu dviṣatsu ca prema-maitri-kṛpopekṣa, yaḥ karoti sa madhyamaḥ

[“The devotee in the intermediate stage of devotional service is called a madhyama-adhikārī. He loves the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is a sincere friend to all the devotees of the Lord, shows mercy to the innocent and disregards the envious.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.46]

This is in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the description of the madhyama-adhikārī, what is the sign of a madhyama-adhikārī, in Bhāgavatam. Īśvare tad-adhīneṣu, bālīṣeṣu dviṣatsu ca, who has got love and affection for the Lord, for Kṛṣṇa, Īśvare. Tad-adhīneṣu, love for God and friendship with the devotees of the Lord. And, Īśvare tad-adhīneṣu, bālīṣeṣu dviṣatsu ca, and those that are ordinary, simple men, to extend grace to them, and inimical vision towards the atheist, to the enemy of the spiritual thing. These are the items or the factors of his conduct, of a madhyama-adhikārī. That his love towards the Lord, his friendship towards the devotees, and to the ordinary public his attitude is to convert them, to make good to them. So it is only madhyama-adhikārī who holds the fittest position for Ācārya. He abhors the atheistic anti section, and he extends his grace, his kindness to the ordinary people, and he has got friendship with the devotees of the Lord, and he has got extreme love, attention, and obligation to the supreme authority. So that bālīṣeṣa, the ordinary people he's eager to extend his help. So this is madhyama-adhikārī. He holds the fittest position of an Ācārya, and not kaniṣṭha-adhikārī, nor uttama-adhikārī, uttama-adhikārī:

sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam ātmanah

bhūtāni bhagavaty ātmany, eṣa bhāgavatottamaḥ

[“A person advanced in devotional service sees within everything the soul of souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Consequently he always sees Kṛṣṇa everywhere and in everything. He is known as an uttama-bhāgavata, one situated on the topmost platform of devotional service.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45]

Everywhere he sees the connection with the absolute, with Kṛṣṇa. So no room to request anyone, ‘that be devotee’; there’s no room. He sees that he has got that connection with Kṛṣṇa. I am rather unfit to render my service to Kṛṣṇa. That is in the case of uttama-adhikārī, so no question of a general preaching tendency to be there. That is only confined to the madhyama-adhikārī who is established there and also seeing non God area. The non God area he wants to, he's eager to convert the non God area into God area, Godly area. That is the tendency with madhyama-adhikārī. And it is natural. So he should hold the position of an Ācārya. But there is also gradation in madhyama-adhikārī, that sub-gradation, gradation, sub-gradation, and we are to consider it amongst ourselves.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Are there gradations of uttama-adhikārī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or course, gradations, only because that is a positive world. Only get complete liberation from māyā. That does not mean that he has got the highest position there. So a progressive thing is there. There are so many rasa - śānta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya, each rasa they are also groups according to quality, and in the group also the leader and servant succession there is.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: These āśraya-vigraha like Subala...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, the mula āśraya, we may consider them to be in final position.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But they are not jīva-tattva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. They always come from cit-śakti, svarūpa- śakti. The svarūpa-śakti, from the innermost part of svarūpa-śakti has produced them, if you speak at all of their production.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're eternal, but the deeper svarūpa-śakti, more intense, intense. The intensity of svarūpa-śakti is not always the same. Nearer to Kṛṣṇa more intense, and far from, that is less intense. In this way we are to understand. Anyhow they are caring always for Kṛṣṇa. They do not care for the men here in the mundane plane. This is the concern generally with the madhyama-adhikārī devotees. They think that this is good and it should be their intending method that I am tasting, it is very tasteful, give it to others. Preaching means that. I have used this medicine, which has cured me from such disease, I must give it to others, recommend it. "Take this medicine. It will help you."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This Māyāvādī, Swāmī Mukṭānanda, he was in Los Angeles and he gave example that when you eat something very nice, you become silent. So I gave this example that you have said. When you eat something very nice, immediately you broadcast to the person next to you, oh, this is so...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If there is anyone whom you love, you cannot partake, cannot but give it, extend your helping hand. But you are selfish people and so you are punished to enter into the grave, spiritual grave. You like the cessation of the nectarine flow. You have no knowledge that the flow may be nectar. All flow, all movement is mundane; you are suffering from that disease, that hopeless disease like cancer. That wherever there be any movement, more than many, there cannot be harmony. You are seeking harmony, seeking oneness, you have to enter into grave. Outside the grave you cannot find any harmony, any beauty. Your beauty is to be reduced into cipher. In other words, you are an atheist of the highest order because you do not believe in the tastefulness of the highest nectar, sat-cit-ānanda. Ānanda is not to be, cannot be tasted. We cannot partake to taste of that ānanda. The highest position to cut off cessation with the whole environment, with ānanda even...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, once the jīva is atomic cit-śakti, atomic portion of cit-śakti, once the jīva is enlightened by cit-śakti and hlādinī, this ānanda, can he ever give that up?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Give up?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Can he, once he's tasted the full...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So through the sādhū, so sukṛti, or by sādhū association, a slight injection of that higher type of amṛtam he can't forget, and gradually it draws him to that side.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But when he is established in that side?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Established?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the spiritual world, when he is established in his svarūpa, can he give that up? Once the jīva...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are told, very rarely it has been found that even from svarūpa-siddhi one may deviate for the time being.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But what about vastu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But never from vastu-siddhi. From svarūpa-siddhi also, deviation is possible sometimes. But from vastu-siddhi, never, no fall is possible.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right, so the other day you told me that some section of mahā-bhāgavata they view the nitya-baddha jīva, that it is part of līlā that he has come here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is a section...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But that is their vision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deepest vision, they say this baddha also temporary, nitya-līlā. Māyā's function is conditional. The svarūpa-śakti is eternal from His all aspect. But the māyā-śakti; suppose, the hospitals and the prison houses may be closed sometimes, may be closed, no patient, no culprit, so it may be closed, but the government in the country cannot stop. The country, the movement in the government of the whole country that may not stop, but the prison houses and the hospitals may sometimes be stopped. So this māyā may seem sometimes in a non working position. So they say the limit of māyā, māyā and when also it is working, it is working indirectly to help svarūpa-śakti, only for the time being.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But those baddha jīvas, they were not in vastu-siddhi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as when an affectionate mother is punishing a child, and suppose she is putting the child in a room and under lock and key. The temporary onlooker may think that is under lock and key forever. But a wise man, only for a minute or two the mother will come and unlock and take the child in her lap.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So temporary vision, the conjecture, the supposition of temporary vision, that is something else. And long sight, far sightedness may divulge some other truth. So something like that. “Oh, that is suffering in the māyic jurisdiction. That is for a limited time. We will again be allowed to participate in this. Kṛṣṇa is there and He is merciful, so no vindictiveness in Kṛṣṇa.” So none can be reckoned as lost forever, it is only for the time being. Affectionate punishment is dealt to him. When one has got such sort of vision that Kṛṣṇa’s grace is unlimited and His eye is everywhere, so the punishment only can be temporary and not outcome of any vindictiveness. So it may be neglected because he’s in the boundary of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa is attending him. Kṛṣṇa’s consciousness has never separated from him, it is there. The guardian's eye is there. So his suffering may be apparent and temporary. So everyone any way or other serving Kṛṣṇa. That is in his connection, that sort of extension may be in his view. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Giving stress to the particular type of vision. Then why my interest is greater than Kṛṣṇa? He is everywhere. His guardian's eye is present with him. What sort of help he will need from me? Kṛṣṇa is there with His graceful heart, more than anyone? So why should I go to think about him? That may be the type of vision of a particular section and which cannot be eliminated at all. At the same time, and they're seen concerned more with the infinite wave of vision. And those that have got little limited form of vision, "No, no, he is suffering. I must go. Kṛṣṇa will back me to help him. I can't tolerate his suffering." That is of relative wave, madhyama-adhikārī. So nothing is completely to be eliminated. But generally we must do according to our own position. We must be sincere to our own feeling and thereby we shall thrive. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, so our own position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, our duty from our own position, we must not feel that we have got the vision of that mahā-bhāgavata and do accordingly. That will be hypocrisy. From our plane we must select our duty and do accordingly. Am I clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, that's clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And also, the other day you said something, that when we go to analyse the spiritual world it is not like some dead thing, that when you go, it's the same. But each time, it's a living thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Yes a living thing. And it may show infinite character to me, always new thing, ever new. It is ever new, it is independent. I am dependent. As it will disclose to me, I am bound to see that only, not more. If we approach the infinite, the characteristic of infinite truth is such, it is all super consciousness, made of super consciousness element. The element is like that. They are not fixed material. Or even this material thing, that also by analysis may show many phases. That also cannot finish; what to speak of spiritual substance.

So, that I shall know everything, ultimately that is a foolish thing, and that is untenable in the spiritual world where we shall live within the atmosphere of infinite. Only it may be applicable to this mundane world, that also to certain an extent. Analyse the atom, electron, and then again analysis of electron may come sometime after, so no end.

Aṇor aṇīyān mahato mahiyan; [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 1.2.20], the smallest of the small, and the biggest of the big, everywhere He is. Still I must have some earnestness to do good to others according to my standard. And there is gradation also. Consideration of good and bad is there. They are in different planes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Isn't real good to others...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the highest plane, the most fundamental plane of everything is good. Everything is good. And until and unless we reach that plane of thinking, of living, we shall have to deal with all these relative good and bad. Each one in his position in that highest plane he thinks I am, I hold the best position.

Yaśodā won't admit that Rādhārāṇī She holds superior hold, She holds superior hold over Kṛṣṇa. “No, I took Her the other day as my daughter-in-law. Can She cross my control? Never. I have got the complete hold on my child.”

So in this way, in relative position, everyone thinks, “I hold a very favourite position, a most suitable position I have, I have held.” That temperament there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: On Janmāṣṭamī I was reading the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam tenth Canto of our Guru Mahārāja and one place describes the appearance of Durgā, Yogamāyā, but as Durgā Devī, when she appeared as the daughter of Devakī. You know that portion, where...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devakī or Yaśodā?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yaśodā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of Yaśodā, eight handed.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So in that purport our Guru Mahārāja said, “The Lord appears and the Lord’s energy appears, together.” And then he explained in the purport. He said, “Therefore we chant Hare Kṛṣṇa and we are praying to the energy, Hara, Hare, the energy of the Lord to please engage me along with You in the service of Kṛṣṇa.” So he is saying that Hare Kṛṣṇa, we are praying to Kṛṣṇa’s energy, Rādhārāṇī, to please engage me in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Rādhārāṇī. Hara means Rādhā, but not the same with that astavidya Durgā. She may be considered to be a particular shadow of Rādhārāṇī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. But so he was just pointing out that we are praying to Rādhā to engage us in Kṛṣṇa’s service which is being conducted through Her. So it appears, we cannot approach Kṛṣṇa directly. But we can approach Rādhārāṇī directly like that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Also, coming in details, when we go to Rādhārāṇī, we do not eliminate Kṛṣṇa, but to get Kṛṣṇa in a better way we go to Rādhārāṇī. So also when approaching to Rādhārāṇī, then also in a proper channel we must approach Her. So the consideration of the sakhī and the mañjarī comes in front. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You go to Rādhārāṇī to have Her direct approach is not possible for ordinary souls like us. We must go through. And according to Her consent, I should be properly placed, located in my befitted service, amongst the mañjarī, sakhī, etc. I should be adjusted. And from that position only, that my fitting position only, I will be able to draw my best benefit from the whole, of Kṛṣṇa from Rādhārāṇī only, when properly located. And that will be most beneficial to me, my proper location, sambandha-jñāna. From there where I can show my best service, render my best service and I can draw my best remuneration.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then, the best position for the aspiring jīvas is the third position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Third, what is that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not directly to Kṛṣṇa, first position; mañjarī, second position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sakhī, Rādhārāṇī second position is direct potency, second position. And then the sakhī there, and then mañjarī, fourth position, under mañjarī fifth position.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: To assist them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One, two, three, four, five. From Kṛṣṇa it may be generally the fifth position – in mādhurya-rasa, and so also in other rasa also that sort of hierarchy. And according to our innate capacity, the service will be drawn most from me and my remuneration will also go, get, I shall go in a maximum way, in a particular, that is sambandha-jñāna, proper location. Sambandha-jñāna means proper location, consequently.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So sometimes these spiritual personalities like Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, Prabhupāda, they are coming to this world and giving service...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes they are delegated superior power by the will of the Lord.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And then they give so much service to their disciples while they are here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some delegation capacity may come, may descend in any position and can give him the power to do as His representative whose delegation he is, that is possible. Especially in Gurudeva we are to see the highest delegation, we are ordered. And with that capital, Kṛṣṇa is present there in Gurudeva. That Guru also dīkṣā and śikṣā, different types of dīkṣā Guru, vartma-pradarśaka is also considered a Guru. Then Nāma Guru, bhāgavata dīkṣā, then this pañcarātra dīkṣā, then sannyāsa dīkṣā, all these, and rāga-mārga dīkṣā, there may be so many śikṣā Gurus also there. But as special delegation, simultaneous delegation, Kṛṣṇa may delegate power for one disciple to one Guru, and for another disciple another Guru. His special will, delegation may differ in this way, and He will be present there. Of course if the hierarchy is a genuine one, not imitation, not concoction. The genuine place, that should be the policy. That is the policy.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, Pramāṇa Swāmī is coming from Vṛndāvana. Today I came to know, Caru Swāmī Mahārāja came, he told that from Bhāvānanda Mahārāja he heard that you were in Vṛndāvana, you were there. He phoned you to your own seat, but he did not get there. Only yesterday he heard from Bhāvānanda Mahārāja that you were at Vṛndāvana. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee [Pramāṇa Swāmī?]: Viraha Prakāśa Mahārāja he wanted to go and see Bābājī Mahārāja, Niṣkiñcana Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, he wanted to go and see him.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja. He went to visit him? Then, how he is doing? A little better?

Devotee: Nice. Yes, his health is much better now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is writing letters now and then to me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I forgot about Viraha Prakāśa Swāmī Mahārāja.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He came here once, Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His zone is?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's in South America, along, with Pramāṇa Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nearby?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, very near to him. Both of them together, they started initiating disciples. And now they are a little separate from ISKCON, but very much maintaining Prabhupāda's mission.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It seems to be inevitable. Independent enterprise seems to be inevitable gradually. So, though they have taken exception to my remark; that the verdict of the GBC was...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: "Unhappy and injudicious."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Injudicious and unfortunate. Only with a view of such future inevitability, I remarked in such a way. It would have been judicious and fortunate only by expansion, by proper and economic, not very liberal, but considerate expansion, the situation could be saved, at least for years to come. That was my idea, inner idea. So I thought it injudicious: and so division is not desirable so unfortunate. That was the basis of my, foundation of my, that stern remark.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, it is unfortunate that some people cannot understand that a mahā-bhāgavata is tri-kāla-darsī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā-bhāgavata is not very cheap in this plane. In this plane it is not very cheap. One should not have the audacity, ha, ha, thinking in such a way, mahā-bhāgavata. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, Mahārāja, it is not cheap. That is why there is only one in the entire universe.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Let us aspire after the best. First truth, then organisation!

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

The Vṛndāvana utsava ceremony has been performed with great success.

Devotee: Yes, very nice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You did not go to Bombay? No?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What about that Caitanya Pāda, that Italian gentleman?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. He wanted dīkṣā from Mahārāja. Did you ever find him again?

Devotee: He's in Vṛndāvana. He was going to Europe. He's leaving India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's in Vṛndāvana. He wanted to go to France, I was told. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. No news about Jayatīrtha Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not yet. We are going to call Europe. Bhakti Caru Swāmī is calling Europe to find out something.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What about Svarūpa Dāmodara Mahārāja, in Manipur?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He is most probably still in Manipur, Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mostly he is staying at Manipur?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: When he comes to India mostly he's spending time in Manipur because he has started some construction work there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he is meant for other sort of construction, not this brick construction. There are so many for that work. Swāmī Mahārāja wanted him to construct a building over the tomb of Darwin.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Who is he?

Devotees: Akṣayānanda.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, you were just saying that truth first, then organisation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Organisation is necessary only to spread truth to the people for their benefit. Mere organisation has no value. When organisation is distributing something healthy to the atmosphere: that organisation is to be welcomed. Otherwise if any organisation fails to distribute truth, then it fails, it commits suicide, it fails to do its proper duty. There may be so many things, the political organisation, social organisation, there are many. But party are those, understanding, they may appreciate, but we rather want that mission as soon as they vanish, it is good for the country, for the people at least.

Once I, when Prabhupāda was living, something like thirty four or so, nineteen thirty four: in Kulan [?] I told one gentleman follower of Ramakrishna Mission, “Big, big signboards there ‘Sevā Āśrama Mission’, all these things, the signboards are so many, big size. But if auditor goes there, then they will prove themselves to be bankrupt.”

No capital, false capital, big signboard but capital is a false thing, a hoax, not real wealth, welfare. They have got no reality to distribute to the people, but bogus, Māyāvādā. Giving an evil diet to the patients, bad diet to the patient, that is their business. Where is the patient? The patient is within. The soul is the patient. And they are helping the body, independent of the interest of the soul. Without caring for the interest of the soul, they are serving the body. And with that indiscriminate help, the body is going more and more against the interest of the soul. We generally do not organise help for the guṇḍās, but for the students, for the social workers, we organise help. But never for the guṇḍās who are misguided. So generally all souls are misguided, they are living the life of a misguided one. And indiscriminate help to them without changing their direction, that is to push them towards the hell. What is not the proper goal, to push that side, towards the dangerous part; so indiscriminate help in this plane is no help at all. First he must have the sambandha-jñāna, the good direction, the proper conception of the destination, proper. And then help will be of any use to him. Otherwise, no destination, only a whimsical group, a whimsical push may not help anyone in the way of progress, that whimsical push, no progress.

In Madras one Bakil [?] asked me, “That first you help the patients and keep the life and body together. Then you will talk with him about the truth, about Hari, about Kṛṣṇa consciousness. But if he dies, to whom you will speak?”

I told, suppose there is a famine. I have got some food. I am distributing then, and so many surrounding me, innumerable, and I am distributing food. Someone runs away from that place. Should we stop the distribution and run after him to catch him or I shall continue because there are so many, and stopping that should we run after him? So many living souls and some dying, dying, so I must not run after the dying and to bring him back into the body, stopping my distribution of the nectar, so it is like that.

Their first thing, what they conceive to be truth that is untruth, not truth. And the second, the process that they have accepted as the means to help the people: that is also wrong, so wholesale is wrong. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. No diagnosis but very busy for treatment and diet giving. Diagnosis is the most important thing. What is amiss with us, what should be our best interest, summum bonum of life; that should be first settled, and then the question of help will come next. Whether help or not help, where is the guarantee? He’s to settle, this is help and this is non help. Progress must be towards the right direction. And what is that right direction? Maximum exploitation, skilful exploitation, irregular exploitation and regular exploitation: that is karmī. And then renunciation, the opposite thing, renunciation: exploitation and renunciation, two opposites. But a third thing must be found to conciliate the appearance of the both. But really the thing is something else.

Caru Swāmī Mahārāja asked me, “That in Bombay, to attract the ordinary public, we gave the name of our movement that to harmonise karma, jñāna and bhakti, only to canvass the generally public this has been outwardly given, announced. That we want to harmonise karma, jñāna, bhakti, how it is possible?”

I told of course the appearance may be kept, but in spirit that must be a quite different thing. Karma means energising, but not for us but for the Supreme Lord. Jñāna means searching: searching which? Not for Paramātmā or Brahman even. Nor for collective exploitation of nature as by science of present days, and nor for Paramātmā, neither for Brahman. But, even not for Nārāyaṇa conception of the truth, but, not for power, absolute, but for beauty absolute, love absolute. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has: āviṣkṛtaṁ, jñāna-virāga-bhakti- sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ.

tac chṛṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ]

Jñāna, virāga and bhakti, sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ, tac chṛṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ. And ultimately by our sacrifice, our surrender, our devotedness, we attain vimuceta, vimukti, visesa mukti, the highest type of salvation or emancipation, in the positive attainment, not with only the end of the negative conception. Only to get out of the negative side, that is not real emancipation or liberation. To enter into the positive, safest position, that is your real self determination, in term of Hegel. And svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ in Bhāgavatam [2.10.6], mukti, the conception of mukti, hitvānyathā rūpaṁ, what is otherwise, what is not in the inner existence, but, what is not within our elemental existence but a foreign thing thrust on us, upādhi.

[hrṣīkena hrṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate]

So, ānyathā rūpaṁ, that is which is otherwise, which is just like a disease, undesirable foreign thing has come to cover me. That is upādhi. That is ānyathā rūpaṁ. Successfully eliminating that, we must come to our positive, proper position in the world of love and beauty. It is a very important thing, that power is not the ultimate controller, but beauty. The control of beauty is very sweet and that is normal and that is natural. And power, awe, reverence, grandeur, these have all become stale when Bhāgavatam has come with Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. The Nārāyaṇa conception has become stale, so to say. That beauty and love and harmony: that is the highest thing ever discovered.

Śrī Caitanya Deva gave us that, Vṛndāvana has given us that, and Śrī Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Our Guru Mahārāja, Swāmī Mahārāja widely has given to the, announced to the world, the wide world, that Kṛṣṇa conception, that is the conception of beauty, harmony, love, that is at the bottom or the universal cause, the conception of the absolute, not anything else. Not anything else. So, with that fundamental conception we may find a relief. We may feel that we are out of danger, we are no longer going to be a victim of power. The power in Vaikuṇṭha, the grandeur, the power, the awe, reverence, that may not be inner hankering of any substance. The beauty, that is a hopeful assurance of our highest position, charming.

So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura foretold, “That when the world scholarship will be able to understand the worth which has been given by Śrī Caitanya Deva, all religion will: must vanish, cannot stand. When the conception of the Absolute is identified with beauty and love, all sorts of different conceptions cannot stand in competition. All will embrace, ‘I want beauty, ultimate beauty, ultimate harmony, ultimate love, loving each other. If that is possible, then I don't want any other proposal.’ We must run towards there, the general intimation will take us. All other religious conception is compelled to vanish. The scholars, it cannot [but] appeal to the highest thinkers, highest class of thinkers.” He viewed with his divine eye, the eye of his divine knowledge, or sojourn, maybe called. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[Caitanya-Bhāgavata]

This is not a vain declaration. There is basis, intellectual as well as intuitive foundation it has got. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura

Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Govinda Mahārāja

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] One direct disciple of Gadādhara Paṇḍita was Vāṇīnātha. He established that Maṭha, Vāṇīnātha, established that Gaura-Gadādhara. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he was fond of Gaura-Gadādhara worship. In his samādhi, near Godruma, and also Nṛsimha Mandir in Yoga-pīṭha Māyāpur, Gaura-Gadādhara, in two places Gaura-Gadādhara. And Prabhupāda also installed Gaura-Gadādhara, Gadai-Gaurāṅga Maṭha at Balihati Daka, Prabhupāda established there.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, that is a complete mādhurya conception, Gaura-Gadādhara?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, and more than that. That is rather separation, union in separation, Gadādhara Paṇḍita as Rādhārāṇī's bhāva. But though he was the possessor of that wealth, that was taken up by Mahāprabhu and he stood empty. Stood empty and following Mahāprabhu as if his heart has been stolen by Him, but he cannot shun Him, cannot leave Him. Wherever Mahāprabhu is going he is running like a poor man, all his wealth has been stolen. With a vacant bag, not vanity bag but vacant bag he is running in pursuance of Mahāprabhu wherever He goes. That is his position. We are told that service in separation of the both, that has got greater importance than when the party is in union. They are pulling them. But when they are separated, they are feeling a great pain and the service is necessary at that time to its utmost character. So where we find that the greatest wealth Gadādhara Paṇḍita, Rādhārāṇī, Her bhāva, the very purport as if it is told by Mahāprabhu, snatched by Mahāprabhu, that is Kṛṣṇa and She is bereft of all Her property, like the poorest of the poor She is standing. So it is so pitiable and pathetic that it demands service. And the service will be of the greatest value. In that state the service will draw the greatest remuneration, little, small service will earn much of the divine dollar.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura-Gadādhara. Gaura-Gadādhara. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is the outer aspect. Outer aspect, his bhāva has been taken, emptied. Rukmiṇī means dakṣiṇā, not bhāma. Bhāma type, that is little aggressive in nature, and fights with the lover. And dakṣiṇā type tolerates everything whatever comes, only with a defensive attitude he stands. That is dakṣiṇā, that is in Rukmiṇī. So when the spirit of Rādhārāṇī of that opposing nature was drawn out by Mahāprabhu, then the remaining is compared like that of Rukmiṇī, a passive seer, without any power to assert, only onlooker. Onlooker: and bearing everything, a very pitiable condition, to awaken kindness and sympathy from everyone. What is he and what is she and what is her position now? And how her lover has taken up everything from her, looted everything from her, and is a pauper, as a beggar wandering in the street, so, so much looted. Rādhārāṇī when looted to such a degree by Kṛṣṇa, then that becomes Gadādhara, the pitiable figure, to draw sympathy. So, the wealth of course cannot go forever. She is the owner, proprietor, cannot be far off. After a long time, that must come to Her again, one day. And those that are helping Her in Her day of distress, they will get how much remuneration at that time, when She will get back all Her property.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, in that case, Mahāprabhu's relationship with Viṣṇu Prīya Devī and Lakṣmī Prīya Devī as His wedded consorts...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They are Gaura-Nārāyaṇa, that is in Vaikuṇṭha, that is concerning Yuga-Avatāra, not with Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, not of that layer, that plane. It is connected with Yuga-Avatāra, and externally. But Gadādhara is representing the higher layer, higher plane, and they represent the potency of Vaikuṇṭha, of Yuga-Avatāra, but with a connection with that higher thing. But mostly Vaikuṇṭha conception, Yuga-Avatāra. Lakṣmī Prīya Devī, Viṣṇu Prīya Devī.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So Gaura Nāgar is not accepted by the bona fide school of Śrī Caitanya Deva's followers. There is a clash. Gaura Nāgarīs. They think Gaurāṅga as Kṛṣṇa is given in Bhāgavatam. But Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura and others, [Kṛṣṇadāsa] Kavirāja Goswāmī and the Goswāmī's, they have rejected that sort of idea to be thrust on Gaurāṅga. That brāhmaṇa, He's an Ācārya, He has come to do the work of the preceptor so not a nāgara, not an exploiter of the girls, as we find in Vṛndāvana. It cannot tally, cannot be proper, there is a hitch, the position of an Ācārya, and at the same time to play the part of a debauch, that can't come together. The law of rasa won't allow that. It is rasābhāsa.

When one has entered the temple to worship the Deity, his wife may go there to help in serving, the naivedana and other things to help the worship, and not to make any, to cut any joke with her husband in the temple. That will be rasābhāsa. Do you follow? A particular mood, though husband and wife, but when husband is engaged in worshipping of the Deity in the temple, wife may go there but she will help him with the materials and other necessary things. But she won't cut any jokes with her husband, or any merrymaking, cannot be possible there.

So like that, Mahāprabhu has come in a serious mood to distribute the divine love to the world and with the Divine Name of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa consciousness to spread, so He will have to take a position of a preacher, a reverent position. So these two things cannot go together. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But you told us though of Narahari Sakur Ṭhākura and his conception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, there are three sections amongst the devotees. One, looking at, charmed more by Kṛṣṇa līlā, another more by Gaura līla, another keeping the balance. The school of Narahari Sakara, they are more fond of Kṛṣṇa līlā. Their vision, “That we don't recognise you to be a sannyāsī. You are that Kṛṣṇa of Vṛndāvana. We know you better. Here You have only got the garment, You have wrapped the garment of a sannyāsī, it is Your external acquaintance. But really who are You, we know well. So we don't like this forced, this forged identity, we are not going to admit to that.” That is their temperament. Rather they feel much pain, “What necessity that you are practising penances as a sannyāsī doing so much hardships, not taking food and rest, bed properly. Our heart is aching. You don't care for that. How can we tolerate all these things?” That will be their nature and complaint to Mahāprabhu. “It's all sham.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Jagadānanda Paṇḍit had a similar mood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jagadānanda Paṇḍit also Satyabhāma, though in Dvārakā conception. But he could not give up that tendency of reactionary mood against Mahāprabhu.

He, in those days, three hundred miles from here to Purī, a big water pot filled up with candana, what is applied on the head, and keeps the brain cool, he took it, sandalwood oil, he took it from Bengal to Purī. And offered very modestly, “That I have taken it and if Mahāprabhu would graciously accept this.” And he’s appealing to His servant Govinda, “Govinda keep it there and at times you will help by pressing this oil on the head and Mahāprabhu, He cannot sleep and He talks like a delirious man. So this sort of oil will help Him a great deal. I have taken it from Śivānanda, it is a genuine thing and you take.”

Mahāprabhu overheard that, “What is this?”

“Jagadānanda Paṇḍit has got a full pot of candana oil and his request is that You should take it now and then, a smear on the head, then You will have a sound sleep and may help to Your health.”

“No, no, no. This sandal oil, this will emit a good scent and how the people they will remark on Me, ‘That this sannyāsī he has kept a woman. He has got luxury, this good scented oil he puts on his head.’ I can’t do that. Rather it is my advice, take it to the temple of Jagannātha and there it will burn, the light will burn with this scented oil and you will get a good benefit thereby. Govinda, remove it from My room.”

Then Jagadānanda Paṇḍit when it was given up by Govinda, he took it and just coming in the front of Mahāprabhu, he smashed it on the floor. And the whole oil spread there. And then he straight went to his room and closed from inside and took to bed for three days.

After three days when Mahāprabhu heard that Jagadānanda is fasting continuously these three days from the time when he has broken the pot here. Then what to do, after the fourth day Mahāprabhu went Himself to him. “Jagadānanda, Jagadānanda, rise, open the door. Open the door. Today I shall take prasādam cooked by your own hand. I will not take anywhere any prasādam. I am going, and I shall come at the proper time and I shall take My food here today, cooked by your own hand.”

Then what to do, Jagadānanda had to rise up, raise up his body and he cooked.

And Mahāprabhu came with Govinda in time, and took prasādam and remarked, “Oh, very sweet. Dishes are today very, very sweet. The cooking in a hot temper perhaps becomes more sweet.” Remarking this, then, “You must take your food now, I shall go. Before I leave the place, I want to see that you have taken food.”

“No, no, no, Prabhu may go. I shall take food. Of course, I must take food.”

Then Mahāprabhu said, “Govinda, you take your seat there and when he has finished his eating you will inform Me. You sit there, I am going.”

That is bhāma-bhāva of Satyabhāma. Like Satyabhāma it was there.

And Gadādhara Paṇḍita just opposite: when Svarūpa Dāmodara tried to excite him, “Mahāprabhu is so much enraged and He’s remarking on you so harshly, why do you not also repeat the same thing to Him?”

“No, no, no, how can I do that...”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and Kṛṣṇa disappeared. What is this? General heart of devotees he holds there. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given his opinion in this place that, “Kṛṣṇa was little aloof only to enjoy the attitude of Rādhārāṇī at that, under such circumstances, He was enjoying that.” Harmonising things are there. So in Yaśodā and all the first class servitors, there cannot be any fault, they’re perfect in their service. But still if we find any deviation that is to produce some, another rasa for the taste of both the parties. This way it will be seen to be harmonious.

So you are all my very precious friends. Prabhupāda wanted me to preach in the west. But my fault, for some fault on my part, deceived him, but he is so gracious. And also through Swāmī Mahārāja I get you. And anyhow my talk, my voice, my, what little I know about Kṛṣṇa consciousness that is going out [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That also is not fault Mahārāja. That is also to increase the mellow. To make everybody to taste another kind of mellow you have got from the pastimes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The publicity. Ahaitukī kṛpā sindhu. It is in Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, the ocean of causeless mercy, the Vaiṣṇava. So exacting from me the service of Mahāprabhu for the world at large, so very intimately connected friend you are of mine, all of you, all of you, helping my service a great deal. So I am very much thankful. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we are the ones who are very much thankful to Your Divine Grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the nature of this plane, ha, ha, everyone thinks that he will be benefited; he's benefited, he'll be thankful, the very nature. And that is a very peculiar and mystic nature.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That reminds me Mahārāja, during the last Māyāpur festival, Gaura Pūrṇimā festival, when everyone used to come here, so one day you were telling Satsvarūpa Mahārāja when he came, you told him, he said, 'thank you,' and you said, 'why are you saying thank you.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He said, 'thank you,' to you, but you replied, you asked him, 'why do you say thank you? As if by saying this 'thank you' you are creating a distance.' But it is our...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. That is the custom, the courtesy of the society.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But you pointed out that since we are in the same sampradāya, and this is, we must accept it as natural gift. And I also understood that when the father gives something the son doesn't say thank you, usually. But when a distant people give something, then...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then they thank you, it is our custom. But there perhaps...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Even there, they say thank you to the father and mother.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Thank God, no, they will thank God, thank God. In the Brahmo fashion here. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: “We are compelled, or we are obliged to you.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “We are under obligation to give you thanks because you are supplying so many things for our enjoyment.” This is the relation between God and the jīva. It is the Brahmo fashion. I am His, I am His own; I am not a second party that I shall show courtesy towards Him, courtesy. That I am getting some benefit from Him, I am another independent separate party.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. I am hearing, listening to Bhāgavata and kīrtan, everything. I am a slave. The whole profit will go to my master. I am not a party; I am not an independent party. I am His own; I’m His slave. Whatever He wants to do through me the beneficiary is only one, not a second beneficiary, advaya-jñāna means the beneficiary is one. It is līlā, and we are part of that. We are not independent beneficiaries. That should be thought out, advaya-jñāna. This is the pure, harmonised absolute, conception of purely harmonised absolute; that only one beneficiary in the universe. It is His līlā, everything to satisfy Him, every movement, every existence. Existence, movement, and also different expression of satisfaction, all included within Him, the only beneficiary.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. [About 1:50 minutes of Bengali (?) conversation]

Once, to construct a temple in Purī, Goswāmī Mahārāja collected money from the King of Mailbunj [?], the chief of Mailbunj Mahārājah. Estimation at that time was fifteen thousand, and eight thousand, advance he gave. He took the money and gave it to Prabhupāda. But there was, the whole money was expended in the exhibition of Māyāpur. The Māyāpur position for the, one competitor in [blachin?] Māyāpur, he began to propagate in such a way that Prabhupāda felt necessity of showing the splendour of Māyāpur at that time. And the whole money was spent there. And the Mailbunj also inquired, ‘What about the temple?’

At that time Goswāmī Mahārāja explained. “Vaiṣṇava, we have given something for food, but he was so thirsty he has taken a glass of water and not milk.” A glass of milk was offered, milk water or sugar water, but for, he took something else. That was, he was thirsty. More necessity was there. So it has been transformed. And we must rely his heart, his attitude, Kṛṣṇa sevā. He knows his best how to utilise. So we don't have to repent for that, or to get any explanation for that. He's more...

Once, when I came here in the beginning, first I came to Māyāpur. I saw many gentleman has sent money order and Parvat Mahārāja is receiving them for the service of Mahāprabhu. And that touched me very much, that how fortunate they are. At the birth time of Mahāprabhu they are giving some contribution for the service of the Great Lord.

And when I was posted in Kurukṣetra I used to come to Delhi and collect funds, four annas, eight annas, one rupee, two rupee, in this way for the service of Kurukṣetra Maṭha. But that time, the Gaura Pūrṇimā, Mahāprabhu's birth ceremony drawing near, I laboured hard and collected... You are going away?

Devotee: Yes. I'll be coming back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...hard, and collected twenty-five rupees more for what was necessary for Kurukṣetra. And privately I remitted that to Māyāpur.

There was one senior man with me in Kurukṣetra. He told, "This time you seem to be too much reduced, fatigued." Anyhow when the coupon came back, it came to his hand. He said, "Oh, you have sent twenty-five rupees there. You did not say to me."

"I was afraid that without your permission I sent it. So I hesitated to say to you at that time."

Then a letter came from Prabhupāda. And he told that, "What you have sent for the birth celebration of the birth ceremony of Mahāprabhu has been taken for the service of both Nityānanda Prabhu and Mahāprabhu," he told.

Then when I came back there I was told that Prabhupāda told that, "This money has got a very great value. It has come, money is small, the quantity is small, but it has come when the necessity is great; necessity is great."

When one is thirsty, then the valuation of the water increases. So, "Thy necessity is greater," that Sidney case, in the battlefield, Sidney, a big man, and ordinary soldier, when only one glass of water was taken in the battlefield for Sidney. He was a rich man and a good scholar and he is dying in the battlefield. And he wanted a glass of water. And anyhow it was managed only one glass of water. And at that time a soldier more wounded he, "I want water." He gave it to him. It has been an example: Sidney. So according to the necessity: the valuation of water.

So Prabhupāda told that, "Twenty-five rupees is not much, but the necessity for small quantity was very great at that time." So the twenty-five rupees met a great necessity. And Prabhupāda told, "This money, who has sent, with great energy and attention, he has collected this money. So the small quantity satisfies a big necessity. That is to judge." And he told that, "You sent it for Mahāprabhu. I utilised it both for Nityānanda Prabhu and Mahāprabhu." And he wrote it to me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It is for sevā, not for any conditional gift.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, what do you think of Atal [?] Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Atal [?] Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī, a formal Goswāmī, he translated, no, he published one edition of Caitanya Bhāgavata; an ordinary Goswāmī.

Devotee: Yati Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yati Goswāmī. I attended one of his lectures when I was in Calcutta. Rādhā-Govinda Pal, Rādhā-Vinode Pal, one of the umpire in the second great war, after. Rādhā-Vinode Pal, a good lawyer and he was engaged in the committee to decide the international in the and other, the, perhaps this side, eastern war field, three judges, one from India, another two_. He told that Japan has no, he has not committed any crime. If he would have been victorious then he would have tried you as criminal war mongers. For this independent judgement he got international position, the Rādhā-Vinode Pal in Calcutta.

The Kṛṣṇa dasa Pal statue, you know? Kṛṣṇa dasa Pala, Harrison Road and College Street Road, there is a statue Kṛṣṇa dasa Pal. His family, Kṛṣṇa dasa Pal, then Rādhā-Caran Pal, his son was Rādhā-Vinode Pal.

In his house there was a meeting, Ato [?] Kṛṣṇa presiding, and Svarūpa Ghosh and Śyāmasundar Cakravartī, they delivered lectures. I was at that time living nearby. I went to attend their lecture. I heard a sober, mild tempered man delivered lecture, not excited. But his later action has frustrated me totally. When: before his death he gave twenty five thousand or something, or more than that, some rupees for the hospital; not for the propagation of Mahāprabhu's advice.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Ke Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ato [?] Kṛṣṇa Gowāmī.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hari dāsa Goswāmī, a once big scholar, at present living just on the Kaliyadaha, Hari dāsa Goswāmī, a scholarly man.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, he has come from that family. I do not know. I knew Dāmodara, he was a good scholar of Vedānta and Nyāya. He read Nyāya from Navadvīpa and Vedānta, he is a good scholar. He has got a book on Vedānta also, the Rādhā-Ramana Dāmodara.

Another gentleman was Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. He was not a very good devotee but not anti Gauḍīya Maṭha. Another Guṇamali, three, and another Madhusudan, Sārvabhauma. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura gave him the title Sārvabhauma. There was a big meeting in Midnapur and Prabhupāda his Brāhmaṇa Vaiṣṇava that book, the lecture, on the basis of that lecture and that lecture was given where Madhusudan Goswāmī presided. He was a good scholar and also related to Gauḍīya Maṭha. Others, present generation I am not acquainted with.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes we do that in order to force him to listen, and to attract the public. For these two reasons, that he will also get some idea and he will try to correct himself, as well as to take this advantage of his good position and then draw the audience. For two purposes to do it, anukulyasya sankalpa. Test of the people, ordinary people to spread that, that it not much spread. But to convince people of the highest thing, to so many, number. The highest quality, when connotation increases, denotation decreases, connotation increases. And connotation decreases, denotation increases. But the highest connotation has been distributed so widely, the denotation circle is so wide it is almost impossible. So impossible has been made possible by Him. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, do you have any questions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is going for some long time. His separation we shall feel here very keenly; though short association but still impression is deep.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Very sweet also.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes, when I am in the west, I feel your separation very intensely.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Necessarily, because you have got much affection for me, extraordinary affection.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is always singing your glory, Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. He sent a letter; that is one, another point These quotations from the scriptures that showed his position of affection for me.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Their big complaint about Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is that he did not manage. Although he was the president of Los Angeles he did not manage, but he was always sitting in his room and talking about your teachings, talking about Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja's teachings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a paper I saw, perhaps in Ānanda Bazaar, this India sent ambassador to America, but what is that? Swāmī Mahārāja is the real ambassador of India to America. So something like that. What he was doing that was the real management, thinking of the highest topics within him, and the thought wave spreading outside.

Vivekānanda mentioned in one place I heard, I read from when I was in college, in raja yoga perhaps. He of course told about Pariha, one Pariha bābā. That Pariha bābā and such sādhus they bring things from a very, very high plane to the ordinary psychic plane. And the Jesu and Mohammed, all these people they take from the plane of Parhia bābā and then they take those things to the market here in the mundane plane. So from the highest plane to take down to certain level, and from there to spread things to the external world: the mercantile method. So higher thought may come in the higher level, and from there also it may come. So high thinking. That is from the highest quarter to take the thing to the ordinary plane. And the ṛṣis of that plane they may also take them to the public market here. So high thinking, that is also preaching in other words, thinking also preaching to certain extent, to move a particular, to take the wave of movement in a particular layer.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja finishes speaking at about 27:15, then kīrtans]

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the toleration would be the better for me. I can't venture, that does not look well, that I do not like, that is bad that I shall assert myself. I shall make some remark over the advices and the consideration of Mahāprabhu. I can't do that."

In spite of Svarūpa Dāmodara's speaking Gadādhara Paṇḍita did not come out with that temperament of chastising Mahāprabhu.

In the case of Ballabhvācārya it was so. Ballabhva Bhaṭṭa, Ballabhvācārya.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Because he agreed to listen to Vallabhvācārya's bhāṣya.

So Mahārāja, Gadādhara Paṇḍita although Rādhārāṇī Herself, but still had a different mood, but that inlying mood which is not expressed in any līlā, gave Rādhārāṇī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is two corresponding, Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, and when in Gaura līlā, Ācārya līlā, that's the līlā of distribution of the prema. Then Gaura-Gadādhara, converted into Gaura-Gadādhara, both converted. Kṛṣṇa to Gaurāṅga with the bhāva-kanti of Rādhārāṇī, and Gadādhara the man standing by His side, like a niṣkiñcana, who has lost everything. Just like a facsimile, only a cut case, only the pot without the spirit. But Mahāprabhu had so much inner attraction for him that exceeds that of all His paraphernalia, Gadādhara.

gaura prema maya tanu pandit gadādhara [?]

As a love of Gaurāṅga personified we find in Gadādhara, not such a degree of love to Gaurāṅga is found anywhere. And then Svarūpa Dāmodara, then Rūpa, Sanātana, and then that mādhurya-rasa direction, and in other side Nityānanda Prabhu, His vātsalya there, Śacī, Jagannātha and Advaita Prabhu, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit, They also have respect for Mahāprabhu, devotion, but another type. Not so deep from the standpoint of love but respectful attachment, with some colour of love. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So our Guru paramparā is in that line.

I'm told by Dāmodara Mahārāja that this Hiranyagarbha, Nadiyānanda, and also one man who married, Pāṇḍu, they have gone so far that they have left Lalitā Prasād also, and they're very near to that Tinkori Gosai, whose highest qualification is that she had a dress, she dressed in this canvas, not cloth but canvas dress, and canvas dressing has made him so famous to the foolish that they have found everything in the canvas. The canvas dress, that surpasses everything in a Vaiṣṇava sannyāsī.

The foolish people, they have not got the inner eye of appreciation, what is what, they will have to take shelter under external calculation. What is the criterion, standard of vairāgyam, the positive, no idea of positive attainment, what sort of thing it is. Only by external abnegation or wilful self assertion, wilful self assertion by physical privation. These are the charm for the foolish people of those that are born to be deceived. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Physical calculation. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The Nāga sannyāsīs they do not care even for a cloth, they're all naked. Should that be the standard? They should be Guru to this Tinkori Gosai?

He and his truth want of canvas but they do not care even for that, so they should be Guru to this gentleman Tinkori Gosai. Tinkori, the name is also very appropriate.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja, completely impersonal and appropriate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No name, name has got no sign of a Vaiṣṇava dāsa, Vaiṣṇava dāsa. Tinkori.

Dhira Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What does that mean?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three, what is korī?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Korī is, you know, these shells, small shells which were used...

Dhira Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Little conch shells they used to pay money...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right. Tinkori.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The wealth is that three shells, that is satya, rāja, tama.

[?] Fourth part, he he he he, will vanish, will fly away. Nitāi Caitanya. Barbella.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura would, because he being an expert astrologer would calculate certain plans and then go to Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura would say something which might be against, or not corroborating with his calculations, but that Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura would follow the instructions of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He had got respect. The śraddhā is more than calculative truth. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura followed the calculation of P.M. Bachi, he followed. And as an astrologer Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura he held that the Visudha Siddhānta type of calculation, that may be true in the material sense. But still he did not observe that, because Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has accepted that P.M. Bachi, he followed the calculation of P.M. Bachi, in Ekādaśī, Janmāṣṭamī and all other things.

The śraddhā is more true, the mahājana, mahājanas acarān, the practice of mahājana is more valuable than our human calculation. The physical truth, or the material truth has not got so much value, after all it is based on false attitude of mind. So this truth should not be given a greater respect than the arcān, the intuitive practices of the pure devotee. That intuition of a pure devotee should be given preference than this truthful calculation of the ordinary persons here. Faith has got no connection with the actual so called reality of this world. It is completely independent, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. There is a world which is guided only by faith. Faith is everything there and that is of infinite nature, all accommodating, all accommodating; the world of faith. Everything may be true there by the sweet will of the Lord. And here the advait [?] calculation, that has got no value. It is inconclusive, can be destructive in its ultimate goal, so it should be rejected, rejected. Which, the knowledge the materialist that can come under the fallible calculation of the exploiting souls, that has got no value what-so-ever, what-so-ever. But in the world of Infinite, there, faith is the standard only, only standard to move hither and thither. Just as the compass is the only director in the infinite ocean. When they cannot see, the shippers [sailors] cannot see anything else, the compass is the only guide, like that. In the world of Infinite:

svayaṁ samuttīryya sudustaraṁ dyuman, bhavārṇavaṁ bhīmam adabhra-sauhrdāḥ bhavat-padāmbhoruha-nāvam atra te, nidhāya yātāḥ sad anugraho bhavān

[O Self-revealed One, You are bhakta-vāñchākalpataru, the wish-fulfilling tree of the devotee. The great devotees surrendered unto Your Lotus Feet, who have crossed over this ghastly insurmountable ocean of mundanity, have left the boat of Your Lotus Feet in this world (in the guru-paramparā or in the line of Revealed Truth, śrauta-panthā) - because, they are greatly affectionate to all beings.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.31]

In Bhāgavatam, only our guide like compass, the footsteps of those great personages that have travelled on the way, that should be our only guide. That this way is marked by the holy footsteps of those that have gone to the highest quarter, that is our, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ.

[dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ]

[The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate.] [Mahābharata]

So Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja also says, veda vibhina srutaya vibhina naso dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām, the real secret is concealed in the mysterious cave, guhāyām. Mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ, the broad line chalked out by the tread mark, by the foot mark of those that are going to the divine world. That is our surest guide. Only that should be our surest guide. All else may be eliminated because calculation is fallible, and after all, justification comes from the Absolute Infinite, so any form of justification can come anywhere, any time. With that broadest view, that is, Vaikuṇṭha means no limitation. We are in the boat, floating in the boat in the infinite ocean, so anything may come to help and to non help. With this, with good faith, only faith, good faith, only our optimistic good faith, that may be our leader, Gurudeva. Mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, guru-karṇadhāram, guru- karṇadhāram.

[nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ sukalpaṁ guru-karṇadhāram mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, pumān bhavābhdhiṁ na taret sa ātmahā] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.17]

The Guru is the guide. In the infinite ocean I have floated my small boat and the destination is uncertain to me, inconceivable to me, but it is conceivable to my Gurudeva, a Guru, guru-karṇadhāram. And I am going with that faith, sincere faith in me, I'm going. So, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ.

Svayaṁ samuttīryya sudustaraṁ dyuman, bhavārṇavaṁ bhīmam [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.31]. A horrible ocean with so many waves and so many sharks and other, timingila, what is that? Whales and other things full of danger. Bhīmam adabhra-sauhrdāḥ, nidhāya yātāḥ sad anugraho bhavān. That their footsteps are our only hope, we are to depend on that only for our relief, that so many light houses, their footprints, so many light houses in the infinite ocean, to guide us to that place.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Faith, śraddhāmayo 'yam loka. The hope in the Infinite, Infinite, Vaikuṇṭha, Vaikuṇṭha means Infinite. But śraddhā contains within it good faith.

Cape of Good Hope, there is in the bottom of Africa the Cape of Good Hope, took turn, Vasco da Gama or someone.

So śraddhā means surcharged with some good hope in the Infinite. Vaikuṇṭha is Infinite and śraddhā is only, it is to draw the attention of the Infinite to me. The only way is śraddhā, by śraddhā we can attract the Infinite and nothing else, śraddhā. And when it gets a definite form through bhāva it comes to be prema, love divine, śraddhā.

Columbus he floated his ship in the ocean and gradually anyhow went to America, got the land, good hope. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The cosmos there, after crossing Vaikuṇṭha we may find the cosmos. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Spiritual cosmos and śraddhā the light in the darkness, only śraddhā can guide when we are, patik means traveller, we are traveller in the infinite. The hope that I have heard that this is the way to that place, that will keep our heart enlivened, śraddhā, hope. Viśvāsa kahe sudṛḍha niścaya, kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma.

[śraddhā - sabde - viśvāsa kahe sudṛḍha niścaya kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya]

[“By rendering transcendental loving service to Kṛṣṇa, all subsidiary activities are automatically performed. Śraddhā means viśvāsa, faith, sudṛḍha, very firm and strong, unflinching faith. Faith in sādhū-sāstra-guru, faith in Kṛṣṇa. This is faith. If someone develops Kṛṣṇa bhakti, all their activities are finished, kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya. Nothing is left out if you have faith.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā,

No risk no gain, greatest risk greatest gain.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja

[ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

“I am everywhere. Not a room to be afraid of. But only to come to that plane, that I am your friend, I am everywhere, I am all in all, and you are My own.”

These are the, pathiyo means? The money necessary for the journey, what is that?

Devotees: Fare.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fare. This is our only fare for the journey.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: We were just discussing this - in the car we were discussing when Rāya Rāmānanda at times displayed the mood of Arjuna, and also at times he was Lalitā sakhī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśākhā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Ah! Viśākhā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśākhā sakhī. He was more known to us as Viśākhā sakhī. But superficially he had some representation of Arjuna, amongst the... Mahāprabhu could detect that.

Bhavānanda had five sons, and Bhavānanda Pathanayak, and that Vānīnātha and Gopīnātha, Rāya Rāmānanda and another two. [Kalānidhi and Sudhānidhi]

So Mahāprabhu told him that, "You are My eternal friend. Bhāvānanda is Pāṇḍu. And his five sons they're Pañca-Pāṇḍava, of similarity, and Rāmānanda is very close and intimate friend to Mine, like that of Arjuna." That is an external impression of Mahāprabhu was given. But really Rāmānanda's internal acquaintance is that of Viśākhā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is temporary and external, fleeting sentiment of Mahāprabhu, to see him in that manner, Arjuna, closest amongst those five, Arjuna, sākhya-rasa. Mahāprabhu dealt with Rāmānanda a little respectfully, outwardly. Outwardly He used to see him with some respect, some difference, so sākhya; but internally with sakhī, as sakhī.

And Svarūpa Dāmodara and Rāmānanda Rāya, both of them were, used to console Him when the great flow, indomitable flow of love in separation arose in the heart of Mahāprabhu and ostentatiously disturbing Him. These two friends they tried their best to console Him, Mahāprabhu, by diverting His mind towards different directions, and sometimes giving impetus to His own line of thought, and sometimes taking Him towards other direction, as circumstance, according to the circumstance they could read. They tried their best to give Him relief of the outwardly painful gesture and movement of Mahāprabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara, for twelve years continuously.

When Advaita Prabhu almost dismissed Him, "That no longer You have got any necessity to stay in this world." Advaita Prabhu declared to Mahāprabhu, bāulake kahiha - loka ha - ila bāula, bāulake kahiha - hāṭe nā vikāya cāula bāulake kahiha - kāye nāhika āula, bāulake kahiha - ihā kahiyaṅche bāula

[Tell our Prabhu, who acts as madmen do, that everyone has lost their sanity, And rice once high in price has no value.

In love of God, half-crazed humanity neglects this world and all they once held dear; tell Him a madman brings this to His ear."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 19. 20-1]

In a mystic poem he sent it to Mahāprabhu through Jagadānanda Paṇḍit. Mahāprabhu read it and became unmindful. Svarūpa Dāmodara marked it and he took it, "Please hand it over to me." He read through it, Svarūpa

Dāmodara, and Svarūpa Dāmodara told; who was the knower of everything, here Svarūpa Dāmodara is asking, "What is the real meaning of this poem?"

Mahāprabhu saying in a vague way, answering the meaning, "I don't know what is the real purport of this poem, but I guess that Advaita Ācārya is very conversant with the ways of the śāstra, śāstric conduct of the Deities. And in the śāstra generally we find, first inviting, invocation period, and then for some time to keep Him, to serve the purpose. And when that is fulfilled, then departure, no longer can we keep with our general adoration spirit. That is bid adieu. The purpose for which You came here, You descended here, that is finished. Now it is better for us to retire."

sarsad urgam sastra tepavor, avaham, stithi and visajya [?]

"I don't know what is the real meaning, but I may guess something like that."

Then Svarūpa Dāmodara was unmindful, "Oh Advaita Ācārya, he's bidding adieu to us all."

But after that also Mahāprabhu stayed for twelve years more and that mood was not approachable by the ordinary public. That was the high separation mood, with Kṛṣṇa, to the greatest degree and different types is displayed, both physically, showing physically or mentally. Twelve years continuous, like fire, a life of fire, that was exhibited, like fire of separation. That was shown, and what is not to be found elsewhere. So much intense feeling of separation with God, the God separation spirit can be so intense to such a degree to produce so many symptoms in the body and the mind and in the movement, that is unknown to the world.

Somewhat we get it's acquaintance from the life of Rādhārāṇī, Rādhārāṇī we get. But there also we do not find so many, complete evolution, that is to say in the pangs of divine separation, so much degree of evolution we do not find anywhere, for all times, continuous and high intensity. Love; divine love. So much sacrifice, so intense sacrifice at the altar of the All Beautiful. So much appreciation for the Absolute Beautiful! So deep attraction never seen anywhere in the history of the world, not even in any scripture it is mentioned like that, any of the oldest scripture. No witness is found, and that was found the other day, only four, five hundred years back. And that is written in the books and that is verified by so many onlookers of genuine persons, men of standard thinking, eye witness, Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, Svarūpa Dāmodara, Rāmānanda and so many others, all so many eye witnesses.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when our Guru Mahārāja would translate the verse,

*yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ / śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ,
govinda-virahaṇa me*

[O Govinda! Without You, the world is empty. Tears are flooding my eyes like rain, and a moment seems like forever.] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 7]

He would always say that, "Oh Govinda, feeling Your separation I'm feeling a moment to be twelve years or more." So this word yuga he would always translate it as twelve years. So that's not detectable in the Sanskrit as far as I know, so I always took it that it had something to do with these twelve years of Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is also current in vocabulary, baro bature eka yuga [?]

It is told. One yuga, twelve years, in some sort of conception, the yuga has been taken as twelve years. Then this Kali-yuga, Dvāparā-yuga, Satya-yuga, they have got their separate standard, but generally twelve years consists a yuga. That is also current in the society, twelve years. Yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena. Any yuga, any amount of time, nimeṣena, unlimited. Cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ. "Eye shedding tears of rainy season. The rainy season produces so many flood, inundate. My eyes are doing the same thing it seems to Me." Śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ. "The visible are being invisible to Me, absent, so much absent minded to the present paraphernalia I can't see anything. Wherever I cast My glance I see nothing. So much internal attraction towards the centre, the mind is attracted to some other direction in such a degree of intensity.

Seeing I can't see anything, looks are vacant." Śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ. Govinda-virahaṇa me. "Because I feel as if Govinda has withdrawn from Me, withdrawn from Myself, so I experience such a peculiar type of existence in Me. The whole thing is withdrawn, no interest, all interest is drawn towards Govinda to such degree that I am a stranger to My present environment. I have nothing, no consciousness, gone somewhere else towards Infinite."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. When there is a drought, the rivers, the tanks, lakes, all dried up, such a drawn of water towards the gas world, nowhere a drop of water, something like that. The charm is drawn so extensively that all empty, every department seems to be closed and empty. The general attraction drawn from here, attention wholesale taken off, the wholesale attraction of all the senses, mind, etc, everything.

*yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ / śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ,
govinda-virahaṇa me*

And at times when a little slackened, then full of water, flood, yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena. When come in the relativity of His meeting it seems the gap is like so many yugas. "I have lost the meeting consciousness long, long ago, a faint remembrance, recollection. Left so far in the back. I had some union but I have left it so far in the backward direction, come so far off, so far off." Yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, "A gap of time unlimited, a faint recollection I had once, but is then gone forever perhaps." So much degree of disappointment and despair. This is the standard of Infinite world, standard of Infinite. This is rather taking towards, to have some experience of the standard of the Infinite world. Yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ. Just as light years, we measure the distance of the planets by light years, so also here the Vaikuṇṭha temperament is being measured by such standard.

*yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ / śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ,
govinda-virahaṇa me*

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. The audacity to deal with things so great and beyond our jurisdiction.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: You're being very merciful Mahārāja. You are actually drawing us to that platform Mahārāja, although we have no entry into that platform, but by your mercy...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So maybe for the time being for you people, it may be for your benefit I may be handled in such a way. Ultimately I don't know, maybe. You have come from so far and with so much eagerness, that gatney ganga [?] Ganges water will ooze from the wood. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. A cooling atmosphere has come.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I was just thinking Mahārāja that this must be Vaikuṇṭha. You have brought us to such a platform Mahārāja that the material world has completely receded.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Forgotten, ha ha. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, would you like to take some rest now Mahārāja? Of course we are willing to continue further but I was just concerned about you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I come outside on the surface I feel of course of the want of rest. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Hare Rāma. But you are also going tomorrow. He will go, and you are also going. But this friend will remain for some time, to engage us in their service. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: We were listening to that tape on Guru paramparā and there was one question still in my mind which was not clarified, there was that somebody made the mention that the difference between Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa and Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was for almost a hundred years. That's not my question. My question is that Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja and, before Jagannātha Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We shall have to forget the material consideration there in the spiritual line. We see:

*yadā yadā hi dharmasya, glānir bhavati bhārata abhyutthānam
adharmasya, tadātmānaṁ sṛjāmy aham*

[“O Bhārata, whenever there is a decline of religion and an uprising of irreligion, I personally appear, like a being born in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.7]

Pāramparyeṇa and prakṛti-vaicitryāt. Here the spiritual current is always to be disturbed and interrupted by the material flow. So to keep up the chain, to keep up the continued current when an interception is seen between, the truth is coming when it is interrupted by material flow, mixed, tampered, then again from there to reinstate in its former position the purity intact. So that attempt is always being made. It is a living thing, not a dead thing. So, the vigilant eye is always there. Whenever necessary to keep the current pure and in good flow, force, then help comes from upwards.

aparaṁ bhavato janma, paraṁ janma vivasvataḥ katham etad vijānīyāṁ, tvam ādau proktavān iti

[Arjuna said: “Vivasvān, the Sun-god, was born in ancient times, and You were born only recently. Therefore, how is it to be believed that You previously instructed these teachings to him?”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.4]

Arjuna, aparaṁ bhavato janma. Kṛṣṇa told that, “What I say to you today I told it to Vivasvān many, many years ago. Now, by the influence of the material conception that has been contaminated and again I say the same thing to you today.” Kṛṣṇa told.

So here the material consideration is always tampering the spiritual current. The purity is being disturbed. So sometimes Kṛṣṇa has to come Himself, sometimes He sends His person, and in its former and pure state it is again established. So from time to time it is necessary that the purity should be kept up.

So the intelligent person, suppose when we are writing a history, then the main figures in the history we note. And those not so much qualified, they are set aside. And we take the dynasty from number one, then two, three, number four, number six, in this way we record in history: because they are negligible. So we are to admit by the influence of māyā when that is sufficiently covered and disturbed and mutilated, then to rejuvenate it, to make it, to take it to the standard of the previous purity, attempt now and then is made from the spiritually interested people, or the Lord Himself. So the continued thing we cannot expect here without any tampering or interception. It is not possible.

So the real thirsty persons, thirsty for spiritual truth, they like to see the line of pure heritage, where it is to be found. And they connect together and say that this is our current. Not always this bodily succession; sometimes here two, three generation again. Just as Prahlāda and his son, he's a demon, then his son Bali he's a devotee, in the physical line also we see such interception. And in spiritual line also we see some influence affected, affected by the influence of māyā.

So experts, just as - suppose a scientist has researched some truth, then after few generations one comes and takes up that thread of Newton and continues his researches. Then after few generations another man comes and takes up that thread and goes on. Then if we are to understand the real channel through which the particular research is being in progress, electricity or gravitation or any natural law, one has contributed something. After Galileo began and then Newton came, then may be a gap, and from Newton, Einstein took up. In this way there may be a gap, but still that thread is continued here. An intelligent man will see it was begun in a particular person and then it came to here and then came here. That will be the proper line of research, in this world also.

So in the spiritual line, who, they are guided by the saṁskāra, only mental concoction, they do not understand what is real spiritual truth. For them the physical continuation, that is Guru paramparā. But those that have got their spiritual eye awakened, they say, "No, no, what was there in number one Ācārya, and that is not found in the second or third, again that we find the same thing of standard purity we find in the fourth Ācārya." So in this way who has come to contribute that real channel, the channel is one. The Gauḍīya, Mahāprabhu's channel at least one.

Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa's contribution to the sampradāya is not less important. He may be of other sampradāya in the physical sense. But his contribution especially to attract people, the Vedānta-bhāṣya, that cannot be neglected for the students of the posterity. So his contribution has been utilised, considering the degree and the essence of the, and the purity of the thought in the spiritual line.

So they are our Guru, śāstra Guru. Śāstra Guru, śikṣā Guru, dīkṣā Guru, Nāma Guru, all taken together and a real line has been given to us, for our, to save us, to do real work. That is to keep up the flow of the real truth of that highest type to this world, so that policy has been adopted. Wherever we have found any contribution; that is by the will of Kṛṣṇa, the highest contribution to the line, wherever we have found we are taken them together. The śāstra Guru, the śikṣā Guru, the dīkṣā Guru, the mantra Guru, Nāma Guru, they are taken as they are our Guru, they are all our Guru.

Just as we give respect to Rāmānuja and not to a sahajiyā in the physical sense who is in the line of Mahāprabhu, who is mutilating. He's tampering, mutilating and enveloping the real teachings of Mahāprabhu. They are not considered, though physical sense they are in the line of Mahāprabhu and Rūpa, Sanātana etc., but when we go to judge the very spirit of the thing we see that they are nowhere; only a physical imitation, line of imitation, line of physical imitation. On the other hand we find Rāmānuja has got substantial contribution to Vaiṣṇavism. Madhvācārya has given sufficient contribution to Vaiṣṇavism. Nimbarka has done. So we accept them also according to our necessity. And we reject so called physical current keeper because what is found there that is all mutilated and tampered.

There is a proverb, nakay kar nami sesha kar [?] Whether the nose is more useful or my breath is more useful? The intelligent section will say that the breath is more useful than the nose. To sustain the life, the neck may be cut but if the breath continues one may live. So the breath, we consider breath with more importance than the nose.

For the physical form, what should we do with the physical, they'll misguide people to different direction from the truth, away from the truth. So we won't go to consider the body connection in the Ācārya-ship. It is a spiritual current and not a body current. And only the important question that whether a disciple of a true devotee, can he be non devotee? Non devotee we admit that. Because we see it and Lord Himself says that:

["O conqueror of the enemy, in this way, the saintly kings such as Nimi, Janaka, and others, learned this path of knowledge through the divine succession. Presently, after the passage of a long period of time, this teaching has been almost completely lost."] [Bhagavad- gītā, 4.2]

By the influence of this material world that current is damaged. It is admitted. It is admitted. So, yadā yadā hi dharmasya, glānir bhavati bhārata. So some in the line, in the line, some are affected and may be led astray, so physical current continuation is not safe to be accepted. Only the spiritual, the current of knowledge we are to trace. And wherever we get, even Rāmānuja sampradāya, even Madhava sampradāya, Nimbarka sampradāya we take them for our own interest. As much help as we get from them substantially, we accept that, and we reject our own.

A political leader, a son may be a political leader, it may not be. He may collect some successor there; a political leader succession. It may be accepted. And his own son though brought up in the favourable environment he may not be that. A doctor's son may not be doctor.

So in the disciple order also there is possibility, and it is admitted that they all may not come of the same standard, there is possibility. Then if it is possible, they should be rejected. And it is found somewhere else substantially that may be taken in.

After Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa, he was very akin to Madhava sampradāya, but when he came in connection with Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura, he showed much interest towards Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism. And he has also written something on Bhāgavatam and Jīva Goswāmī's Sat-sandarbha he has given commentary. And that enlightened thought we get for the contribution of our sampradāya. That is a valuable thing. We cannot dismiss him. He's our Guru.

Wherever the devotion and the correct consideration about Mahāprabhu, our Guru is there. Who is our Guru? Not in the physical form. But the embodiment of the pure thought and understanding which Mahāprabhu imparted to save us here. Our Guru is to be traced there. Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa's contribution that comes, gives light to help us on Vedānta and Sat-sandarbha and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and so many others: we practically receive encouragement and light to support the line of Mahāprabhu. We can't reject him from the order of our Gurudeva. He's our Guru. Wherever there is devotion, there is Guru, there is our Guru. We must regard. At the same time if my own bodily near person he does not give recognition to my Guru, to my understanding, to the service of Mahāprabhu, I am to eliminate him. So the śikṣā Guru paramparā, Prabhupāda has given in this way.

The light: that extraordinary light of the flow of love and support for the same, where do we find? I must bow down there. That line may be in a zig zag way but still that is the line of my Gurudeva. In this way it is accepted. We want the substance, not the form. We are out of the social and so many other shackles. Out for which? For the truth, for the truth absolute, and wherever I shall find that I must bow down my head. And if a connection is made by any mahājana, that, "This is the line where you will find your thirst quenched, the line is in this zig zag way." I must accept that for my own interest. If I love me I have to love those that have done much for us. We are not worshippers of form, but the substance, the current of the substance coming that way, I must try to go that way to reach my goal. Why? This is jealousy, this is blind tenacity to stick to the physical, to make much of the physical thing, material thing. We must make us free from the material contamination and try to understand the spiritual, the valuation, the value of spiritual truth. That we should be always prepared for that. What is necessary, what way my interest will work I must follow that. I am not a servant of A, B, C, D, etc. I am a servant of Mahāprabhu. In which way, I may have to turn this way, that way, that way, but whatever will be favourable to me I must go through that to my Lord. Wherever I feel the presence of my Lord in intense form I must be attracted from that side. We are out for that thing and not for any fashion or form, formality; that will hamper our cause.

Wherever we shall find Him we must run to that direction. The direction may not be always straight. It may be in a zig zag way. If Kṛṣṇa comes that side I must run. Again He appears this side, I must run that side. My interest is with Him. Not that, “Why Kṛṣṇa appeared here and why He is appearing there? There must be a doubt, doubtful thing. So I must go this side?” If I have got real appreciation, the capacity of appreciating the real thing, proper thing, I must go that side. If I am blind that is another case. Then I must have to suffer for my inability. But ability of any person, capacity of any person who can understand things, so much insight he has got, he will run towards wherever he will get some help. A boat is passing through the current and finds it in danger then from whatever side the help may come he must run to that, in this way. So, it does not create any difficulty in our case because in the beginning we broke the shackle, janmaisvarya sruta sri, and came being attracted by that particular light. So wherever, in the beginning it has been decided finally, charmed by the intensity of degree of divine love, so wherever I am saved there.

We are worshippers of Nārāyaṇa. We are worshippers of Śiva. Then should we stick to that? When we are given to understand the special superiority of Nārāyaṇa and then of Kṛṣṇa, and then from Kṛṣṇa of Gītā to Kṛṣṇa of Bhāgavatam, should we not try to go that ward? I have read Gītā. I like the speaker of Gītā, that Kṛṣṇa. Then when Bhāgavatam is given to me then should I stick to that Gītā Kṛṣṇa or should I try to go to Bhāgavata Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa given in Bhāgavatam? That is our fate. If we have our interest there we must run to that side.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād [vṛndāraṇyam udāra-pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevām vivekī na kaḥ]

In this way Gopa Kumar in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta from his kamaksha mantra, from there how he is leaving something and making progress, this side that side. From there karmī brāhmaṇa, then one king devotee, then from Indra, then from Brahmā, then to Mahādeva, then from him to Prahlāda, then to Hanumān, then Pāṇḍava, Yadhava, how in this zig zag way he is passing. How he is passing - sincerity of his quest. His thirst is not being quenched. He is going this side, that side, that side, that side, and going. So Prahlāda's Guru paramparā, Hanumān's Guru paramparā, Pāṇḍava's Guru paramparā, Mahādeva's Guru paramparā. Where are they? They have got their own Guru paramparā. Someone, he's himself Guru, Brahmā, Mahādeva, they are creator, they are creator of a line of Guru paramparā. Passing them also! Why? The search is not quenched until he goes to Vṛndāvana. So Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta has given us the line of Guru paramparā, of our quest, of our search.

If we are sincerely searching after the truth, real, then wherever I go that may be a contribution to my experience for further preaching in the future. But I am going there with all sincerity that my thirst may be quenched there. But I find that it is not quenched; some uneasiness. Then connection comes. I go somewhere else thinking that here my thirst will be quenched. But gradually I find, no, dissatisfaction, want for something else, then go to some other. So many Guru paramparā traversing, crossing, and I am going ultimately to Braja līlā of Kṛṣṇa as given by Mahāprabhu. So not the fashion, not the form. If we want the real truth then wherever it will be found:

Father may not be my guardian. Sometimes my guardian may be my uncle. My uncle may be my guide, not the father. It is possible. The line of interest, that is to be considered. That has got the most importance. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So śikṣā Guru paramparā. I am thankful to those that are helping my spiritual understanding in the real sense, not in a formal way. In the real sense; who is untying the entanglement and seeing me right and quenching my thirst of inner understanding or satisfaction, he is my Guru. In this way their contribution, I live on their contribution of these all. They are all my śikṣā Guru. And again the main line; so many; all the Vaiṣṇavas are more or less śikṣā Guru. My spiritual life may live on their contribution, more or less. But that is of course a main line. And that should be accepted in a general way, but all the Vaiṣṇavas they are our Guru.

But not the opponents, not the imitationists, they are rather enemy, asat-saṅga. That will take me away from the real path of my understanding and progress. Gaura Haribol. We must ask our own sincere heart from whom I get really the benefit of spiritual life and progress. My heart, my sincere conscience, that will be the best judge, not form.

In an earthen pot there was Ganges water, and in golden pot there was ordinary water. What to select? A case like that, the brāhmaṇa took Ganges water in the earthen pot. Then the contained, not the container, but the contained substance, that should be given real importance.

I am not this physical body. My own identification should be challenged if I am much addicted to the physical Guru paramparā. My identification should be challenged. Who am I? This physical body? This physical ear? So if I am spiritual, then spiritual sphere I shall have to look with spiritual eye, and whoever will come on my front as they are following the path of Mahāprabhu, I must pursue them, pursue them. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja is going ahead mahaprasaṅga. Even Draupadī, Arjuna, Bhīma, they all fell. But the dog is going, following him. So we may see in the path of the journey towards our spiritual goal many may fall down. But still we shall try to go to the goal. And whoever will be new company, with their help I shall go. Some may be eliminated, even he was in madhyama-adhikārī. Madhyama-adhikārī Guru may be sometimes eliminated when he falls down. It is not a happy thing but even it may occur, that my śikṣā Guru going ahead, taking me, but he fell down. Then with fresh energy and invoking the help of the Lord I shall have to go on. Even such disaster may come in the journey. But still we must not cow down ourselves. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Sometimes alone and sometimes with company, anyhow we must go. And the sukṛti, first sukṛti and then my śraddhā, my faith, that will guide me. The faith, the quality of faith; faith is a general term, śraddhā. But śraddhā may be defined into different classes, section. The high form of faith: that will be my fare in the way, śraddhā. Sometimes I may find co-workers and sometimes I may have to go alone. What of that. I cannot but go to the goal, because I shall have the grace of so many unseen Guru. There are others also are working, their ideal will inspire me, though physically I am not seeing any companion, any follower with me, but the inspiration of the unseen Gurus, that will be my fare. They will inspire me to go on in the journey. And my own sincere hankering for the truth, that will be my real guide. Guru paramparā. Who is Guru? Guru is a body or Guru is vairāgya like Tinkori Gosvāmī? Or Guru is only a formal thief, hypocrite, who is showing the appearance of a sādhū and within he is doing something other. Who is Guru? That exclusive guide, devotion, guide to Kṛṣṇa, to Mahāprabhu. He is my Guru, whatever he be.

“Rāmānanda, why do you shrink away? That I am a sannyāsī, you are a grhastha. You are always hesitating to answer, to reply to My questions what I ask. That from your position it does not look well to advise something to a sannyāsī brāhmaṇa. Don’t hesitate. You know it best. So you don't hesitate, you bestow, you confer, you give it to Me. Have courage." In this way Mahāprabhu is encouraging Rāmānanda. Kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya. "By the grace of Kṛṣṇa you have got that capital. Show it, show it. Give it to Me. You are a real capitalist. I have come to preach to the world that you are the capitalist of this high spiritual world. And that must be utilised for the good of the public. Don't hesitate. Don't shrink. Come out."

Rāmānanda said, "Yes, it is Your capital deposited with me and You have come to take it from me today. It is Your thing. I understand. And You press and push me to take it out. All right! I am a mere instrument used by Yourself. Whatever You want to say me I am ready to say." In this way Rāmānanda is going on.

But is Rāmānanda in a line? But still we were so much indebted with Rāmānanda Rāya in one sense. But he's not in Guru paramparā still. But he's more than many Guru of us who are in the paramparā. Rādhārāṇī is not in Guru paramparā. Should we dismiss Her?

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa, Hare Hare. Hare Rāma. Hare Rāma. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Who is Guru? And who is him, the Guru? At first there be Guru and then the question of paramparā. The first question of importance is who is a Guru, and then a chain of them coming down, the light coming down. The support, the knowledge in support of the divine love coming down. Where should we find in support of that? I must bow down my head to those places and make my progress. Not a formalist, but a materialist, substantialist, not a fashionist, not imitationist, but a realist, realistic thinker am I. That should be my temperament.

Alexander [the Great] went to a fair with his father. There was a knot in the rope and there is written, 'Who can cut it, who can untie this knot, he will be the king in the future, a great man.'

Alexander asked his father, "What is it Papa?"

"This is a knot fixed here. And it is written whoever will unloose it, he will be a great man in the future."

"Oh, I do it." He took the sword and cut it off. It is clear? The formality is not kept. The man stood by the side. He came out. "Yes, he will be a great man. It cannot be untied otherwise."

And also in the case of Napoleon, one gentleman, some proposed an egg, "Can you keep on the nail, this egg?" Napoleon pushed it and a portion broken, then he put, "Yes, I have kept it."

This is practical knowledge. The formality shaken off, left off, and the realistic view took and immediately put the egg on the nail. And Alexander also cut the Gordian knot. It is a famous thing. That cannot be untied, unloosed. That is practical thing. And sticking to formality, then he's gone. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yesterday you were talking about Vakeśvara Paṇḍita being the one and only of Mahāprabhu who received...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I got in Gaura Candra Daya, a Sanskrit book written by one Govinda Dāsa, an Oriya poet, perhaps there. And it may be found in Bhakti Ratnakara also. I don't remember. Govinda Mahārāja [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: You were saying that Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura had written one śloka or line in preface or introduction to some book, maybe...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, he gave reference of one book to some other purpose. [?] That is in an introduction to sādhana part, that is Upadeśāmṛta. There the name of that book mentioned. And in that book I think I might have found that reference. That Vakeśvara Paṇḍita was direct disciple of Mahāprabhu and he was given the position of Ācārya, succession of Mahāprabhu there in Rādhā Kanta Maṭha. Or it may be in Bhakti Ratnakara, or maybe Amiya Nimai Charit of Śiśir [Kumār] Ghose. I can't recollect exactly. But I have found. [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Anybody has any questions? Mahārāja is asking!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anybody? Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu has failed.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No. He has a question Mahārāja, but he's waiting, he's giving others a chance before he asks his own questions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So he wants that his record won't be a monopoly of him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... a variegated nature.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, many times when our Guru Mahārāja's disciples have taken to the study of Sanskrit, we could say in most of the cases, that they later became very offensive to our Guru Mahārāja. And in many cases also they came to reject him. So sometimes Prabhupāda, our Guru Mahārāja, said that a little Sanskrit is very dangerous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A little Sanskrit, or a little learning, alpavidyā bhayaṁkorī, scanty learning is always dangerous, alpavidyā bhayaṁkorī.

bahu-grantha kalābhyāsa vyākhyāvāda-vivarjanam [vyava hāreha pyakārpaṇyaṁ śokādyavaśavartitā] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Madhya,

2.79.76]

It is also recommended by Rūpa Goswāmī that only to try to have a taste hither and thither in many scriptures. A slight knowledge collected from many schools of conceptions, to collect that, it is dangerous for our progress because they will draw to their own interest. So, they will create disturbance in the progress.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So curiosity to know. Hankering for the truth, that is laudable. But when one has got the real path, real ideal, if after that he also moves hither and thither to get experience of this thing and that thing: that will of course hamper his cause. Bahu-grantha kalābhyāsa.

We must keep it in mind that the highest thing to go, highest thing that can help us to go to that, our desired goal is service, not knowledge, service. That is to make progress in the realisation of our negative nature. That I am in want, I am in want, I am in want of something. The negative characteristic. So much so that is śaraṇāgati, that is dainya. “I am the most needy.” The progress must be in that line. That is a healthy line. The general feeling will be, “I am the most needy.” And that will attract the positive side. And then only I can know Him. Otherwise by reading, or by searching, or satisfying curiosity, inquisitiveness, that is not the way. Only to try to increase the feeling that, “I am the most needy, I am the most needy.” Then He will be attracted to help you and you will be able to know as much as He likes, and in any way He likes to take you in with Him and you will be able to understand. His nature is such.

Sevāya. Praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. Paripraśna is allowed, sincere inquiry to Guru. But the main thing will be the dedicating tendency, surrendering tendency. That is the real wealth of śakti, the potency. Purity of the potency always consists in its submission to the possessor of the potency.

So for preaching purpose, some śāstric knowledge is necessary. That is another thing. One who feels himself inspiration of preaching, to help that he may consult different śāstras even it may be necessary the śāstra of the Māyāvādīns and others as Śrī Jīva Goswāmī had to do. To refute the Māyāvādī scripture he had to study their scripture, their books also to refute, for the purpose of refutation. But he felt some insinuation within him that he'll have to discharge a duty which will require all this knowledge. A particular service was put on his shoulder. He had to do that.

Otherwise, in the general case of a devotee, self giving through a Vaiṣṇava to that domain: to give up the energy. The energy should be utilised for the service of His interest, for the interest of the Lord, anyhow. Anyhow; that is our real position, that we should be utilised for His sweet will. That is our normal position. And there we live. We live properly there in giving up our selfish tendency to serve the sweet will of the absolute. Our real position requires that only, mainly that. And that may have different colour in different particular positions. But the main thing that is necessary from us that we should dedicate, we should march towards Him only with the help of the attitude of faith that He is my master. I can't do anything independently.

Even when we begin our life: ādaḥ arpita paschad kriyeta. Śrīdhara Swāmī says. We are listening to Bhāgavatā, but if it is to be bhakti proper, devotion proper, that śravaṇa, that hearing of Bhāgavatam, if it is to be bhakti proper, devotion proper, then the idea must be there that what benefit I derive from such hearing, the benefit will go to my Lord, Kṛṣṇa, not myself. That I will be enlightened, and I will do greater service, even not that. Everything, I am doing it on behalf of my master. Wherever and whatever we are doing we get any benefit, the beneficiary is only one. He is the beneficiary. With this idea we move and do anything and everything. The beneficiary is He. So for His interest I must work. What He wants me to do, I shall do that only, and not to fulfil my personal ambition.

But if I got such inspiration within me that He wants me to make a preacher and such equipment. If I am to fight then equipments necessary for that, dress also necessary for that. So when real inspiration I had that I must go on with preaching; of course the weapons I must have to collect. With that spirit we are to read and not read, whatever; to hear from here, there, collect anything, money, for the purpose, but must be for His account. That must be guaranteed first; whether that is on His account or something else. That is the main thing to be judged. For His satisfaction I am doing. It is a plain thing. The tithi, the satisfaction, līlā, requires that everything, every movement should be done, to be normal, for His satisfaction. Whatever it be any form or appearance does not matter. The only criterion: is it for His satisfaction? The criterion of the absolute is there only.

As Hegel says, “For Itself. The Reality must be By Itself and must be For Itself.” We are to accommodate that within us. He is not for any other thing to satisfy. Everything is done for His satisfaction. He is the end. Then it is all right. Then it is in the harmony. Then it is beautiful. Then it is love. Love means sacrifice for the beloved. So the beloved divine, for the absolute. Everything should be done to satisfy the absolute master, my owner, my creator.

I saw in some paper once, a man is designed and destined by God. Designed and destined. The creation and the future: both in the hands of the Absolute. So in any way we belong to Him cent percent. That consciousness must be aroused within us. And all our activity must be guided by that principle. Whether it is to satisfy Him as much as of course

I can conjecture, I can understand, I can feel, I can conceive as much as. Whether I am doing for Him, will it satisfy Him or something else; my country, my society, my parents, my colleagues?

And sometimes when from a distant view we cannot ascertain in a realistic way what is in this position what would really satisfy Him, I may take the help of my superior, similar brother who has got more progress than myself. I can consult him. I take his help when due to distance we can't have real conception what would satisfy Him really. Then we can consult the similar, superior friends. When such a friend he asks me, "You read this book. You will get some material that will help you in your way. Collect fare, the journey is long. Try to secure fare from this, that, in this way." But that will also only to enhance to help me on my way. So service under the direction of a superior Vaiṣṇava is more desirable than to search direction from any book. But when we do not have such guide, then we shall have to consult so many authentic books of the Vaiṣṇavas, to collect energy, fare, in my journey. The mahājana, the śāstra, śāstra is also Guru, a kind of Guru, śāstra.

["If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

To be sure that my activity will be in the line of service. To insure me I shall consult a fair progressed Vaiṣṇava, and if that is not available or not reliable, then the reliable books of Goswāmīs, Gurudeva, to read books from Gurudeva, then Goswāmī, and Bhāgavatam, Gītā, all these devotional scriptures we should have to consult. But with the spirit of service that should be always kept in mind, that sacrifice, dedication. The whole plane is that of dedication. No exploitation, nor renunciation. Exploitation, the self aggrandisement, that is exploitation, pratiṣṭhā. ‘Labha’, ‘pūjā’, ‘pratiṣṭhādi’ upaśākhā.

[‘niṣiddhācāra’, ‘kuṭīnāṭī’, ‘jīva-himsana’ ‘lābha’, ‘pūjā’, ‘pratiṣṭhādi’ yata upaśākhā-gaṇa]

[“Some unnecessary creepers growing with the bhakti creeper are the creepers of behaviour unacceptable for those trying to attain perfection, diplomatic behaviour, animal-killing, mundane profiteering, mundane adoration and mundane importance. All these are unwanted creepers.”]

That must be avoided. That is more dangerous. In the plane of dedication if I want, have tendency of exploitation making myself big; that will be very detrimental. Faithfulness of a servant must always be maintained and kept, protected, very scrupulously. None can deceive me, none can check my progress, except myself. So I must scrutinise, analyse my own inner temple and brush aside any undesirable thing found there. Guṇḍicā-mārjana as Mahāprabhu showed, Guṇḍicā-mārjana. There are many types of undesirability within. So that should be brushed aside. And then we must make progress closer to our Lord for service. Rather He will take me closer, closer for the quality of my service. So generally service must be the spirit of everything, whether study, or collection of money, or collection of men, the serving spirit: that should be kept intact always. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in the Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam there is one verse [1.20] where it says Kṛṣṇa does not distinguish who is yukta or who is āyukta. Kṛṣṇa does not distinguish, discriminate, who is fit or who is not fit. Yukta-āyukta it begins. I don't know the whole verse.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Yuktāyuktaṁ, yajñā-ayajñā parityajya – the full śloka?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I don't remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perhaps Kṛṣṇa is so magnanimous, so generous that sometimes He is seen not to recognise the fitness or unfitness of the devotee. And He lavishly bestows His devotee, He is so generous, sometimes it is seen. Yuktāyuktaṁ parityajya, then next? The context is necessary. Yuktāyuktaṁ parityajya. Sometimes it is a prayer of the devotee. That is also a sort of qualification.

“Oh my Lord if You come to consider whether I am fit or unfit, then I can't stand. So please give up that in my case and accept me in Your service.”

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: It begins viraha-vyādhī-santapta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viraha-vyādhī-santapta.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I can't read it very well. Where's Govinda Mahārāja. You read it, kindly. We don't have the eye piece.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viraha-vyādhī-santapta.

Devotee: Viraha-vyādhī-santapta-, bhakta-citta-mahauṣadham.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! That is one thing.

Devotee: Yuktāyuktaṁ parityajya, bhaktārthākhila-ceṣṭitam.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Bhaktārthākhila-ceṣṭitam.

Devotee: Ātma-pradāna-paryyanta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pratijñāntaḥ-pratiśrutam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ghoṣitam. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The devotees they appeal to Kṛṣṇa, “That there is a department of Yours of causeless mercy. Please enlist my name in that department. If you come to examine me and my fitness I must fail. I have got no hope. So please, jogyatā-vicāre, kichu nāhi pāi, tomāra karuṇā-sāra, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says. The appeal, that, “Take me in that, that ahaitukī kṛpā, causeless mercy. That is my only hope. Otherwise I am undone.” That is the nature of appeal of the devotee. And He does so, Kṛṣṇa does so. It is seen sometimes that He has done like that. So these are the different ways of the prayer of the devotees and the line in which Kṛṣṇa accepts His devotees of different types, in different ways. That is mentioned there. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Ātma-pradāna-paryyanta. Even He has offered Himself, pratijñā. He has promised that, “I can give Myself to the, I can sell Myself to the devotees.”

And Mahāprabhu says about Vasudeva Datta, “The Vasudeva, he has got so attraction for Me that he can make Me a mercantile property. He can sell Me anywhere and I cannot but be sold.” [?] “I am his property. If he likes he can sell Me to others.”

Just as there is one story, Nārada approached Satyabhāmā in Dvārakā. There is a very good vow, that of swami dhan vrata. If one can make a gift of her husband then that is a very great gain she may have. Satyabhāmā was enchanted. “Swami dhan vrata is such a great thing, then I shall do.”

Then that was arranged by the will of Kṛṣṇa. Nārada’s proposal, and there was a function, and Kṛṣṇa was put, no, Kṛṣṇa was the thing to be given up, and Kṛṣṇa took His seat. And Satyabhāmā with mantram she made a gift of her husband. And after the function is finished then the gift must be given to some brāhmaṇa or some other person. Then to whom to give? Nārada is the best person, devotee, brāhmaṇa, devata, given to him.

And Kṛṣṇa is going behind Nārada. “Where do you go? You have given Me, made a gift.

I am now property of Nārada, not of yours any longer. I am going.”

“Oh! No, no, no. That can never be tolerated. I could not understand the meaning.”

In this way: “Then what to do?” She began to cry. “I didn’t know. I am a foolish woman.

You have managed to manipulate me in such a way, I am deceived. Then what to do?” “Then there is of course another way.”

“What is that?”

“If you can give ratna lanka, gems, jewels, etc., of the same weight with your husband then that will do. You can keep Him.”

“Oh, then I am relieved. As much jewels and ornaments and gold necessary I shall collect and put on the weighing machine, scales, and put Kṛṣṇa one side and another side.”

Satyabhāmā puts so many golden ornaments, jewels, etc., but it is up, and Kṛṣṇa is more heavy. Nothing can be done. So everything she had in her possession all put there but nothing. Then she began to cry again. “I am undone. What to do?”

Then attracted by her wailing, Rukmiṇī and others they also came. “What’s the matter in your harem?”

“So and so I have done.”

Then Rukmiṇī came to her help. “Yes, so if you take off all those jewels and other things.

In a Tulasi patra put His name, Kṛṣṇa, this name in Tulasi patra and put it there.”

Then that became heavier. The name is greater than whose name it is. Sound is more benevolent, the sound aspect of the Lord.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. From what point this story came?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: You were explaining that dhan...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ātma-pradāna-paryyanta-, pratijñāntaḥ-pratiśrutam.

To sell, “Vasudeva Datta, he can sell Me in any market if he likes. I am so much his own.”

So Bhagavān is so much dear and near of His devotees, helpless in the presence of His devotee. This is the peculiarity of devotion. So devotion is so great. Śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā. The last and the highest result of devotion is this: they can attract Kṛṣṇa and make Him his own.

Gaura Hari. Big talks in small mouth: so many big talks in the mean mouth. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is the nature of the Absolute, Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. purva sudivi [?]

It is already told by our predecessor and we are repeating that. What harm? It is their greatness. Who are ourselves? Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It is our great fortune that such small souls can get...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, so much hope has been given to us, the smallest creature. So much hope, so much prospect has been shown to us, so mean we are. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Still we do not try to accept that bhakti mārga, that rāga mārga, so wretched we are.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you had mentioned the Guṇḍicā-māṛjana. And in one verse our Guru Mahārāja is quoting Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. And he says that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura explained that even though one may become free from the desire for fruitive activity that sometimes the subtle desire for fruitive activity comes into the heart.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is mentioned in the vivṛiti that Mahāprabhu first collected these bigger pebbles, etc. And then something like sand and others, the small desires, fleeting, of small importance desires; next He collected that, and then washed with the water, that Guṇḍicā. In the mind also: that reflection in the mind. By doing that we can cleanse our mental temple! By cleansing, Mahāprabhu pointed out thereby, thereby physically you are... First He collected little bigger pebbles, conquered, and then this baluka, the sense substance fine, so many fine fleeting desires. Desire maybe, is classified into two sections, very subtle and small, and little bigger and gross. So first the gross elements removed and then the subtle elements removed. And then it was washed. By doing that one can cleanse his own, the temple of his own heart; and the repercussion is there.

And now, so, the karma has been analysed into different stages, prārabdha and aprārabdha. Prārabdha - which is ripe and then attached to be finished in this particular body, life, and aprārabdha - which is deposited to be enjoyed or suffered in future life. And that also divided into three sections: Kūṭan, bījam, phalon-mukam, the very primitive layer that cannot be detectable, cannot be differentiated. All thickly and in very small figure they are as if consisting a sheet, a plane. We can't discern what is there. And then like bīja and then phalon-muka we can understand this is the result of that particular karma, bad karma, this is for good karma. That is only floating. And the next life they will have chance. So the sukṣma and stula, the gross and subtle; generally it may be divided into two. First the gross things should be removed. And then the subtle should be attended to. And they will be cleansed. And then through śraddhā the whole thing will be washed, the temple. And thereby we can help our own temple of our heart, of our soul. It is done thereby. It is mentioned there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So our Guru Mahārāja quotes Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta as saying that one of these subtle desires is that one often thinks...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: One often thinks of conducting business to improve devotional activity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the smaller layer?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pratiṣṭhā. Devotional: that can be?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: devotional activity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

He often thinks of conducting business to improve

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Then, however, the contamination is so strong that it may later develop into misunderstanding, described as kuti-nāṭi, fault finding, and pratiṣṭhā, the desire for name and fame and for high position. Jīva-hiṁsā: envy of other living entities. and kāma and pūjā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They do not want to leave us so easily but they in a very small shape try to remain with us and showing some connection with our devotional characteristic. Though they are not main but they do not leave the bhakti-latā. Bhakti-latā is our main attempt, main endeavour, that we dedicate our self for the Lord. But though not give much resistance to that bhakti-latā still they do not leave her connection.

Upa-saka, that trading of bhakti - pratiṣṭhā, labha, pūjā. He's in the field of devotion, in the field of a preacher. But still he may maintain some little fleeting desires, desires which will hamper the real progress. That is upa-sakha. So that should be cut off. He'll be conscious that though not making much injury, but still they are taking their food from the real latā and making it weak. Upaśākhā means parasites, like parasites in the main creeper of devotion. They suck blood from there and grow. So they should be cut off. So for the healthy growth of the creeper of devotion, that is upaśākhā, should be cut off. That though we are in the field of a preaching agent still some small petty difficulty of exploitation or renunciation, some small particles may still be seen around our devotional activity. So we shall be very careful to shake them off, upaśākhā, cedan.

And the greatest enemy to our progress will be Vaiṣṇava aparādha. So in the case of Vaiṣṇava aparādha we, not only when they are come, then we shall take the step necessary. No. He will give a big fencing so that Vaiṣṇava aparādha, like elephant, if Vaiṣṇava aparādha like mad elephant enters into, it can uproot the creeper even. So be very careful about Vaiṣṇava aparādha. That is the greatest enemy to the progress, especially of a beginner, a beginner of the journey in this domain. So have a good fencing against Vaiṣṇava aparādha. And this upaśākhā they will harm less, but still they will hamper your progress. So shake off them, cut off them, and help the main creeper to make its progress fairly and safely towards the feet of the Divine Lord. That is the meaning there. Kuti-nāṭi, jīva-himsā, the small thing they surround and they won't go unless some step is taken against them. Like parasites they, whatever the creeper draws his food for her own growth, they suck from her body and they live. So be careful of these small undesirable things, anartha. Take care. That is the warning, the warning against the healthy growth.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda is saying that gradually in this way, one desires to become a reputed devotee, or Avatāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pratiṣṭhā. That Balu Brahmācārī, the Jaga Bandu, Ramakrishna. Ramakrishna is not in the path of a devotee, he's a jñāni, and more than that he jumbled together the whole thing in one and says, "This is the highest thing."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Pratiṣṭhāśā, the thirst after fame: that is the worst and greatest enemy of a Vaiṣṇava. And that can be done away with only by the submission in the holy feet of Gurudeva. Pratiṣṭhā, kanak, the owner of kanak is Nārāyaṇa. The proprietor of kāminī is Kṛṣṇa...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pratiṣṭhā, is āśraya vigraha, Baladeva and Rādhārāṇī, pratiṣṭhā. Their property, or, what is it? Their share. Gurudeva, all the pratiṣṭhā, the fame, must go to Gurudeva, because for him whatever I have got only due to his mercy. So, only by strict adherence to the holy feet of Gurudeva one can be victorious over this pratiṣṭhā. All credit, if I have got something, even the smallest, that is due to the grace of my Gurudeva. The Guru Tattva, the claimer, the claimant of pratiṣṭhā. He is, the glory of Kṛṣṇa, he's only distributing to the world. The whole credit is to him, the Guru Tattva, āśraya vigraha, mula āśraya vigraha.

sukha-rūpa kṛṣṇa kare sukha āsvādāna, bhakta-gaṇe sukha dite 'hlādinī'-kāraṇa

[“Ecstasy personified is Kṛṣṇa Himself, and He feels, tastes and enjoys Himself; but only through faith is it possible to transmit and distribute that ecstasy and joy to others. Faith is the very nature of the hlādinī-śakti, the ecstasy potency, which is represented in full by Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. It can transmit total Kṛṣṇa consciousness to the devotees outside. Faith is the halo of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, by the light of which others may understand Kṛṣṇa. When the negative combines with the positive, realisation of Their function is distributed to all other negative parts.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.158]

Rādhārāṇī and Baladeva in different departments, the whole credit must go to Them because from Them only the glory of Kṛṣṇa, the greatness of Kṛṣṇa is being spread to the world. So the pratiṣṭhā must go to Them only. And the kanak, the master of everything, aiśvarya: as under the command of Nārāyaṇa. And the sensual pleasure, so to say, in the divine realm, that is only for Kṛṣṇa conception. That Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, He's the master of this pleasure, or property, or whatever we may say: kāma.

Kāminīra kāma, nahe tava dhāma, tāhāra mālīka kevala "yādava."
Prabhupāda says in his duṣṭa mana! tumi kiserai vaiṣṇava? [From Vaiṣṇava Ke? Who is a Vaiṣṇava?]

[Mahājana-racita gītā, Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] [Gauḍīya Kanthahara, 3.24]

One gentleman came to ask Prabhupāda, "What is the meaning of this part of your poetry? Kāminīra kāma, nahe tava dhāma. What is that?"

"What is written there it is so."

"Kṛṣṇa is the only enjoyer of all the lady conception?" "Yes."

"Then who are we?"

"We are trespasser, and for that we are punishable to a great degree. So it is only, He's the master, He's the owner, the enjoyer, absolute enjoyer, none else. Kāminīra kāma, nahe tava dhāma."

And what we find in Vṛndāvana and others that they are getting child, shedding children, in so different sections of the animals also they are enjoying their wives. But it is so arranged that they are doing that only in heart for Kṛṣṇa, for Kṛṣṇa's sake, to give excitement in Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow, the paraphernalia is designed to promote the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, otherwise they cannot have any place in the Vṛndāvana area.

Yat kinca tina guru matikam gosti samasata lila [?]

Sadvarnam mayarm mukunda daitam lila na kulam param [?]

All planned, designed, to promote the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. And they have composed the paraphernalia, necessary for Kṛṣṇa's pastimes. Otherwise they cannot have the spirit of aggrandisement; have no place there. They cannot get a peep into that transcendental area. That is all eliminated here in the land of exploitation. Then renunciation, then śāstric control area, and then automatic love. But to enter there the criterion is this, that it is only a contribution for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, not for any personal end. That is already left there in this mundane world. This cannot be taken up there. So all in a dedicating mood, it is necessary for the līlā of Kṛṣṇa, to promote. It is planned in such a way in Vṛndāvana.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes a mahā-bhāgavata, because he is a great preacher he may be surrounded by opulence, aiśvarya, very much, but still we know that he is mahā-bhāgavata, because he creates many Vaiṣṇavas, like a cintāmaṇi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If he is a real mahā-bhāgavata then whatever he does, he does for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. These things cannot tie him down.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. My question is, then if his followers also behave in such...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Imitationist will die. Sincerity will save. If it is really for Kṛṣṇa, as Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi; outwardly he showed his life was full of luxury, but inwardly he was wholesale dedication to Kṛṣṇa. So sincerity is the criterion. If he's sincere, true to himself, then he's all right. And if it is an imitation he will die, he'll be killed by that. So:

īśvarāṇām vachaḥ satyaṁ, tathaivacharitaṁ kvachit

[teṣāṁ yat svavacho yuktaṁ buddhimāṁs tat samācharet]

["The instructions of the great personages are always true, but their conduct and their practices may not always be useful to the beginners. So the sober person will accept those practices that are backed by his words, understanding that in his higher stage he may do something which may not be useful to those of a lower stage. He has such spiritual power that what may be seen as a defect in the beginner, cannot harm him in any way. Therefore the fair minded beginners will accept those practices which are in consonance with his instructions, as being useful to their progress."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.31]

In Bhāgavatam it is said, "The great personages what they say, that is always acceptable; but their practice, not always." When, whatever we find their practice and advice consonant, combined, an intelligent person will accept that as price only, that practice only. And not all practices. His adjustment with the paraphernalia may be of higher angle of vision. So his advice to a particular person there is consideration of the position of that man whom he is giving his advice. So that is a safe thing, to accept their advice, but not always their practice. We cannot imitate that. So it is a warning of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam to ordinary persons, seekers after truth. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But as lesser devotees, as general devotees, we may not distinguish. Perhaps we are not fit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, one who cannot distinguish, that is not a credit. If internal awakening is there, the capacity of distinguishing also be present there. And if ignorant, man will have to suffer. For the sukṛti will come to our guide when we are ignorant. Then when that takes to the surface, real śraddhā, that will show us who is real sādhū or not, how to do it. We will be able to understand, to decipher the letters, decipher the script. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He will be able to read when his consciousness has risen above the level. He will be able to decipher the so many scripts that are unknown to the ordinary person.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Śrī Gurudeva. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40] You are bankrupt.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja, I am bankrupt.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. Another phase!

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's only by your association that sometimes some spiritual questions come, out of even a stone. Mahārāja, these verses that you sometimes quote like, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati, we've never heard explanations like this. That was a verse that I would never quote. I would never use that verse. But until you explained and you have used it in so many ways then the whole world of that verse is revealed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Uddhared ātmanātmānam, nātmānam avasādayet. [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.5] God helps those that help themselves, of similar thought, with heart within and God overhead, two sides.

That mārjjāra-nyāya [the maxim of the cat], and markaṭa-nyāya [the maxim of the monkey]. We are rather believer in markaṭa-nyāya. And mārjjāra-nyāya is for the, may be kept for the highest. But in our level the markaṭa-nyāya will be more helpful to us. We want our own cooperation. We must try to find out our own unit, what sort of unit I am. The quest is necessary in our position. Self search, self analysis we can't eliminate.

Daya hrsikesa hrdisthati na yato smi karo me [?]

That is the highest conception of thought. When selflessness final: not only selflessness but self surrendering attained very higher stage. Then one can say, "Whatever You make us to do I do only. I don't know what is good or bad." That is the highest stage. "I don't know anything. Whatever You like to do with me I cannot but do that." That is a stage. But in the sādhaka stage it is always necessary, the self analysis. "Where is my self? What is my self? How can I utilise it for the service of the Lord? How can I utilise it for the service of my Gurudeva?" Always I must be alert to watch the movement of my own self. Can't neglect or be indifferent to it, its existence, its endeavour, its tendency I should not ignore, always must be alert.

We are our own enemies or we are our own friends. And so, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40] who thinks sincerely, he can never be doomed. Who is true to his own self, he must attain victory. He will guide himself in a proper channel. Whether his own or he is the slave of his senses, that is the main question. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā. Whether yourself, your soul is its own possession, or is the creature of the sense pleasure and fame hunter, or in this world popularity seeker and power seeker. Sense pleasure and power, the money, men: men means popularity or fame in this mundane world.

Fame we want, vaiṣṇavī pratiṣṭhā. What is the real meaning of vaiṣṇavī pratiṣṭhā? That the recognition from my guardians that, “He’s a good devotee, he’s a good servant.” I must aspire after the recognition of my real guardian, real well wisher. I must have aspiration that what they like me to be, I must try to be so. According to their liking I shall prepare myself. That sort of pratiṣṭhā, that is some recognition, that will be healthy for us, that recognition from the higher guardians. I may aspire after that.

And nothing, no applause from these mundane, mad persons! What value they have got of their opinion, a mass opinion, or this mass applause? They are already misguided souls, mad. They don't know what is good or what is bad. And their evaluation, and their applause, that is only a negative charm for me, to take me astray.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Vaiṣṇavī pratiṣṭhā, tâte kara niṣṭhā, tāhā nā bhajile labhibe gaurava.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura was saying, Mahārāja that, “What do I care if the entire world rejects me. What do I care if the entire world applauds me, if You do not accept me. And what gain is there in the entire world...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is exclusive devotion, ananya bhakti, no care for anything else but the whole attention hit only one point, Yours. But that is a primary stage. It is a primary stage. When we have more consolidated position there then not Kṛṣṇa in general, but His devotees will be our better shelter. That shows higher realisation.

ye me bhakta-janāḥ partha, ne me bhaktaś ca te janāḥ mad bhaktānām

ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā matāḥ

["Those who worship Me directly are not real devotees; real devotees are those who are devoted to My devotees."] [Ādi-Purāṇa]

"They have got definite position when they are adjusted with My devotees. And when they are only thinking of Me, they are in a hazy position, not properly located."

They are just a candidate outside seeking for some service, but when they're posted in a particular department and at a particular then he's more consolidated and realistic position. Mad bhaktānām ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā matāḥ. More realistic position when they are adjusted amongst His devotees of a particular group. Their position is ensured.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

_____ [?] ...yesterday, that you are already booked, but today I hear to know you have changed your mind.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. I would always like to stay situated at the lotus feet of Your Divine Grace, but there are some devotees...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Not only near me, but what you got from your Guru Mahārāja, you see that in me so you have got attraction for me. So you are sitting tight by your Guru Mahārāja. What do you say, Sarvabhavana Prabhu? Am I not true?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, this is the truth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The charm, a drop of charm you got from your Guru Mahārāja that has drawn you here in search of similar things, similar drops.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In fact, Mahārāja, we can feel the mercy of our Guru Mahārāja at all times. Because it is because of his mercy that we are able to come to your lotus feet and hear you speak. If it was not for him we would be completely worthless.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He had faith in me and he also requested you as well as myself to look after. And by divine dispensation I see that I am in that particular position that I shall have to do something, though my nature is not very...

Devotees: Conducive? Outgoing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, very near adopting. My nature is not very favourable for preaching, but sometimes...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not very social?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not social, but not very pushing, dashing, but always peace loving. As my Guru Mahārāja remarked, “You are ease lover.” Guru Mahārāja’s remark on me was, “You are ease lover. In other words you do not try your best to do away which you have got, to distribute that to the world. You are of reserved temperament, not a very helping temperament, helping to others. That means that you have got qualification but you do not like to extend it to others.” That was his remark.

Anyhow in his last breath he was very congenial, favourable to me, and his last graceful conduct has made me almost unique, unique position. The highest form of divine service he tried to impart to me. But whether I could receive it or not I don’t know, how much I could receive his grace. But he’s sure what he wanted to distribute by his transaction of the service of Rūpa Mañjarī, that is the highest thing in our sampradāya, rūpānuga.

Even Narottama Ṭhākura says, he is aspiring when his Guru Lokanātha, “Will take me by hand and place me in the hand of Rūpa Goswāmī.” Lokanatha mor hateti dure samapan keli [?] “My Gurudeva Lokanātha, when he will be gracious enough to hand me over to Rūpa Goswāmī? That is the highest place of our aspirations, spiritual aspiration.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, you said sometimes that, “You could not go to the mountain, but the mountain has come to you.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, something like that. I am compelled to say so. I did not go. He wanted to send me but I didn't go anyhow. I did not get the fortune of going there but my benevolent Gurudeva, he did not leave me thereby.

“Yes. All right! You may remain here and I shall take them, at least to take my thoughts true, I must take some of them to you and keep my words to be true.”

Gaura Haribol. It's a wonderful thing!

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Many will be coming. We think many more will come to you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May, if I live.

Śrīnivāsa Ācārya went to see Gadādhara Paṇḍita and Mahāprabhu asked Gadādhara Paṇḍita to help study of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. So Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, Gadādhara Paṇḍita was waiting. Śrīnivāsa Ācārya anyhow reached there and Gadādhara Paṇḍita asked him, “Go and fetch a good copy of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. My, mine is lost. The aksara has been hazy by the tears of my eyes. You can't, you won't be able to read it. The letters have been half washed. So, get a fresh book.”

He went away to fetch a fresh book and when he reached there, already passed, Gadādhara Paṇḍita passed away. But though he left the world, but his good will was there. And through Mahāprabhu's command Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, automatically, he was the best scholar of the Bhāgavatam of the day, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita. Because Mahāprabhu willed and Gadādhara Paṇḍita willed it so, anyhow it was effected there.

So, many may come. I may not, I may be withdrawn. Ha, ha. What? He knows it well.

Or if He likes He may keep me for time more.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

All the colleagues are departing day by day. And I am living a solitary life almost, almost a solitary life. Many a time I think of them. These past days were such and such glorious, and now almost darkness approaching. But still, the presence of you all in so many numbers, that has created another form of light and hope that Mahāprabhu is there.

[Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī, after the departure of Mahāprabhu, left Puruṣottama kṣetra, went to Vṛndāvana with aggrieved heart that Svarūpa Dāmodara and Mahāprabhu Himself, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, they all departed, the darkness came down. He went to Vṛndāvana with a broken heart. But there he found Mahāprabhu in Rūpa and Sanātana. “Here is Mahāprabhu. So energetically and enthusiastically they are carrying out the orders of Mahāprabhu.” Such intense way that he found Mahāprabhu is here in a living way. They are distributing Mahāprabhu to the world. So Mahāprabhu is here. He could not die. Though he thought that, “I shall do away with my life,” but he could not do, because, “Here is Mahāprabhu.” In the living, enthusiastic attempt of the direct service of Mahāprabhu he found there. And not only that, the disappointment was removed and he himself began his new life there, and has given, composed so many verses, and given the highest jewel to the sampradāya. Ke?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, when I first came here, you told me to collect medicine and then distribute medicine; not simply be a collector of medicine. So I would like to stay here collecting, but I am feeling that I should also begin some distribution.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, side by side.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, and then I'll return for more collection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Utilise me.

We heard from our Prabhupāda that, “I cannot do it myself. So many friends have come to me to help me in the discharge of my duties. I should do all these things myself, but because I am not fit for that, Kṛṣṇa has sent so many friends to help me in that action.”

That is the real conception of the Vaiṣṇava, at least our Guru varga. They gave us to look at things in this way. When they look to the real plane, then find that everyone has got a separate, sacred soul. By construction everyone belongs to Kṛṣṇa only and none else. So they have come to help under different garb, the different colour they have come to do the service of their Lord. The svarūpa-śakti is engaging them of different status to help her duty, in the discharge of her duty to serve Kṛṣṇa, to serve Kṛṣṇa, līlā, to partake into līlā. Everything is for Himself, Hegelian language, “For Itself, for Itself, for Himself. Everything is for Himself.” So, that is sacrifice. Sacrifice everything for His satisfaction. That is the main current of thought and purity. The highest type of purity is there, the surrender to the Autocrat. And when the Autocrat is the absolute good, beauty, love, harmony, ānandam, and don't be miser to deal with Him. You will be deceived there. Wholesale giving: not giving exactly, realised that we are His property, to see that, to look at that. That He's our master, He can make or mar. He's in a position to do anything He likes with us: such a master.

The surrender of such quality can save us, give us eternal life and healthy life. When we live under such, we breathe in such atmosphere, that He has got full right over us to make or mar, mārobi rākhobi. Such quality, not sacrifice the surrender to realise that we are, we belong to Him. And the realisation must be of such degree of purity. Purity, and that will be the degree of holiness will also increase accordingly, purity and holiness. Purity and holiness: of same order. Ordinary purity is not purity proper. It must come to the standard of holiness, divinity, the purity. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tat paratvena nirmalam. Purity is nirmal. Tat paratvena, as much as we realise that we are meant for Him, according to that degree the purity will increase. Tat paratvena nirmalam. Devaṛṣi Nārada said: Sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, what is otherwise, that must be banished, vinirmuktaṁ. Tat paratvena nirmalam, an innermost understanding that we fully belong to Him, as a type of slave, the purity is there, as much adherence. As much as faith in Him, that is the standard of purity. Tat paratvena nirmalam, whatever thing has got such standard of position; so much that is pure and divine and holy, perfect.

[“Pure devotion is engaging all the senses in service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa who is the Master of the senses. In such service, one is totally free from all relative conceptions of material self interest (upādhis), with senses purely engaged in the service of Kṛṣṇa.”]

[Nārada Pañcarātra] & [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu Pūrva-vibhāga, 1.10]

It does not mean that that realised position is an abstract one. Not that. Hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ. All your constituent parts of your spiritual body: that will be utilised. They are not your enemy. The enemy is in the nature of engagement, not in those that are doing some function, not there. They should not be eliminated at all. But only the nature should be changed. Everything will be gold. From iron it will be converted into gold. From mud it will be converted into gold. But everything will be retained; only the nature to be changed.

bhayaṁ dvitīyābhiniveśataḥ syād, [īśād apetasya viparyyayo 'smṛtiḥ tan-māyayāto budha ābhajet taṁ, bhaktyaikayeśaṁ guru-devatātmā]

[“Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā.

Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipping deity and as his very life and soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

The dreadfulness is only with; the danger is only with dvitīyābhiniveśa, conception of a second interest; conception of separate interest from that of the absolute centre, absolute good. That is to be eliminated; nothing else. Everything will be kept intact and utilised to its fullest satisfaction, fulfilment. Everything has got its fulfilment, real fulfilment, highest fulfilment. Only the connection should be established.

When Prabhupāda went to Madras he found in a list of books there, Long Missing Link and he asked us to gather that book, collect that book. What is this book, Long Missing Link? The very expression is a very sweet one. Then when the book was presented, given to him, after reading two or three pages, “Oh, it is not what I meant. It is not the same thing, long missing link.” Long missing link is a very sweet expression. What in constitution we have got, but we don’t find in our present consciousness of so called real life. The link is very sweet. I am repentant that I have missed it long, long ago. Bearing a hope also: of conciliation also.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Ready.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: at first the selection will be in, of rasa, in rasa also different group, of services. In mādhurya-rasa there are so many groups of service, the cooking department, the bedding department, the ornamental, and so many, the newly department, so many departments. First, the choice of rasa, and then the department of particular service in particular department. Then the leader of that department, hankering for her help: that will come. Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, what did he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That he was honeycombed with faults.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is it mentioned?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That our Śrīla Prabhupāda had mentioned.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I don't know where he had heard that from.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any letter or his prabhandā, essay, article?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: When he was speaking he said.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And recorded by whom? Where have you found? In Gauḍīya?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No. It was just in a lecture he gave.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a lecture?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yeah, he had mentioned that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who has noted that lecture and where you have found it?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: It's on one tape.

Devotee: Tape, tape recording.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda's lectures taped...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Your Prabhupāda. Oh! What did he say? Then Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura, you say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I have not come direct in connection with such expression from our Prabhupāda, but still, I may guess some sort of explanation from this expression. It may be, that in my heart, in my heart, or in me, not a simple cell, one, but variegated nature of sin, or crime, and they have got their own compartment. So many varieties of crimes in me, and with their compartment it is a complicated thing, my heart, the abode of complicated sins, not one, or two or three, so many cells, and they're containing different kinds of sin, crime, etc. That is meant by, may be meant by that expression; that my heart is like a honeycomb. So many quarters, different cells there, and so different types of sin are living in, so encased, different encasement; compartments. So many compartments and different types of sins are living there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol. So the heart may be compared, ones mind may be compared with a honeycomb, a beehive. Beehive, honeycomb means beehive?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Different types of pleasure, there is, madhu means honey, so different types of pleasure is quartered in those cells and my different nature wants to taste of that honey of different infinite nature of sense pleasure, mainly sense pleasure, honey. And of variegated nature and so many; and I am like a bee, I'm tasting them, of different types of sense pleasure. Dharma, artha, kāma: all these things. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara.

Ha, ha, ha. Honeycomb. We read Addison's Spectators. Do you know the name of the author [Joseph] Addison, English man? [1672-1719, essayist, poet, playwright and politician] Addison's Spectator, in I.A. class we had to read that book Addison's Spectator. There, different types of character were mentioned, and one type of character his name was Honeycomb. Roger's, Sir Roger, a small zamīndār, then Honeycomb was a man of seeking very light pleasures, seeker of light pleasures, not, never in any...

...keep it in our mind. The environment is not blind. Ha, ha. His vigilant eye, and the vigilant eye of my Gurudeva, is always there, always there. So I may not be discouraged about my promotion. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Devotee: I heard from Venkatta [Bhāratī Mahārāja] yesterday that you have said that there are a few very difficult subject matters of understanding in Vaiṣṇava philosophy. There is Guru tattva, Dhāma tattva, and Śiva tattva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śiva tattva, yes. Guru tattva, bhedābheda.

*sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, uktas tathā bhāvyata eva sadbhiḥ
kintu prabhor yaḥ priya eva tasya, [vande guroḥ śrī-caraṇāravindam]*

[“In the revealed scriptures it is declared that the spiritual master should be worshipped like the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and this injunction is obeyed by pure devotees of the Lord. The spiritual master is the most confidential servant of the Lord. Thus let us offer our respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of our spiritual master.”] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 7]

In the beginning the Lord is Guru. And gradually when we find differentiative character then we come to conclusion, the most beloved servitor of Him, it is His function in every rasa. In vātsalya rasa the highest ideal, the sākhya rasa the highest ideal: in different departments different ideals also. The highest servitor in the particular department, He really does the function of Guru, in every rasa. That we'll come to know when by our nearer approach. But generally we are to take on the Lord is Guru. That is a hazy conception of Guru, the Lord, sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair.

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guru]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

"I am there, Ācārya, I am your Ācārya. And then it will be found I am in your Ācārya. Then, My particular function is there. And what particular function? According to your inner capacity, the highest member of that department, he will be your Ācārya, you'll see."

Gradually when we'll go nearer and nearer, we have got, we should have, the specific nature of Guru, when greater progress. In the beginning the Lord, including His svarūpa śakti representative. In many places in the śāstra, Bhagavān: Bhagavān means with potency, but that is not mentioned. Kṛṣṇa mentioned, Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, without potency. Then clear vision will disclose that there is the potency. Then further progress we'll see potency's importance, towards me is more important than He Himself. So this is Guru tattva, Guru means God in many places God is Gurudeva. Then again, we are to understand, "No. His potency of higher type is Guru." In this way, the complicated thing.

And Śiva also: sometimes he's a devotee, he plays the part of a good devotee, and sometimes revolting, the master of māyā, and encourages so many demons against Viṣṇu by giving them boons. In this way: binya binya [?] Different aspects, combination of different mentality.

And Dhāma, the full of favourable things for the service, but ostentatiously, outwardly we see so many anti things there, anti things. The Braja Dhāma, or Navadvīpa Dhāma, of our ideal, there will be all serving, loving, serving, concentrated towards Mahāprabhu, Gaurāṅga, _____[?] But here we find so many anti devotional groups, and they are always ridiculing the Vaiṣṇava, in this way, all these things. Still they're Dhāma vāsīs. We are taught to show our general respect for the Dhāma vāsīs. But what, this is the nature of the Dhāma vāsīs? How to harmonise with that? How to harmonise with that? In Navadvīpa Dhāma, of our ideal, how sweet, how generous, how divine it should be, and what we practically meet. Still, we cannot neglect it altogether. We took the dust of Dhāma on our head. But so many men, so many animals are coming, the dog is coming to bite me, and the man is coming to chastise me, the rickshaw wallah always charging, blaming me. This we find ostentatiously is the nature of Dhāma. How to make, how to adjust this Dhāma with that Dhāma? Then what is this? In this way we have adjustment, the adjustment we are to reach. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Just like the swan, haṁsa, he would just...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Haṁsa. Diva vivam bumam yat [?]

From water it will take the milk. When we shall reach in a particular plane, suppose, Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, Guru of our Prabhupāda, Guru Mahārāja, he, half clad in a bearded, nasty appearance, out for bhikṣā, so many children after him throwing some dust and also saying something ill: “What bābājī, where do you go?” In this way belittle him.

And he says, “Kṛṣṇa, You are at the bottom of all these disturbances. I’m going to Yaśodā and I shall file a petition against You.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “That with these games You have come to disturb me. I’m just going to Yaśodā.” So this is harmonised in his statement, how. How?

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam

[hṛd-vāg-vapurbbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk]

[Lord Brahmā said: “One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

That is also eliminated, ātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam, eliminated. Fully established in Braja līlā, and what is coming against him he’s adjusting in that way. “You are at the root of all these things. I’m going just to Yaśodā and I’ll lodge a complaint against You. You have been too turbulent.”

Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. This adjustment we come to know from them.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Nine to nine thirty, that will be the real auspicious time. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Devotee: We have to accept you as madhuri rūpa. (The form of sweetness)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. That is, all rights reserved by Guru Mahārāja. It is his. He may extend, he may withdraw. Everywhere it is the very nature of Vaikuṇṭha sampāda is such. The wealth of Vaikuṇṭha is like that, flickering, so we should be very careful to keep up. That is not mine. This belongs to my Gurudeva: in this way. Then he will extend it in me, it will keep extended in me. Otherwise it will be withdrawn at any moment. So fine, so subtle, so sensitive, this sort of feeling or conception or experience, what you may say, it is very sensitive, very sensitive. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So the safe position is, “No, it does not belong to me, it belongs to my Gurudeva, and he has extended for the time being to me. I am to look after.” That is the key to keep up that position, to keep up us in that level.

Our Guru Mahārāja told, “The highest form of service, our Guru Mahārāja, Bābājī Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, they discharged this sort of duty, of higher type. And we are to follow their direction. Even we do not venture to stay very near. We shall do the service, the allotted service, and then we shall come back, and in some lower position we shall stay. We cannot stay along with them, along with our Gurudeva. So attend our Gurudeva, their highest position in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, and we must come, a lower level, little, or nearby, because we have to attend their command, so we must be at available distance, near in Govardhana.” Govardhana, we shall take our stand and always be eager for the call that may come any moment from Rādhā-kuṇḍa, for particular, to help particular service. But we shall always select our position of living in a lower standard, not in the same plane with them. Them means Gurudeva, our Guru, Vaiṣṇava.

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura]

That is the key to success. Always keep it at respectable distance over our head, rāgapāṭha.

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu [namo 'stu nityam] dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu [raso 'stu satyam] [Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

"I sincerely pray for the servant's duty, not that of a confidential nature which is discharged by the friendly section."

We should understand the real purpose of this attitude. That is a very paying business, very practical solution. Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge, a very happy expression, and a very useful expression also: pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. Very sweet, very, very sweet: pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. The whole tenor of our Guru Mahārāja, of the nature of his service is here. Not only for him, but he has extended to all.

"Come under the banner of such nature of thought about the divinity, and your success is ensured, and your position will be safely secured."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura said, "The divine feet of Rādhā Govinda, the sole object of our service, where is his real position? Just on the head of my Gurudeva. Just on the head of my Gurudeva, above Gurudeva. That non-differentiated Guru from Kṛṣṇa, and inseparably connected also with Gurudeva. There are many. The Māyāvādīs, they worship Guru, but not the Lord. There are many who make too much of Guru, eliminating Gaurāṅga, and others. But ours is the creed that Gurudeva, and on his head; that yugala, or Mahāprabhu there, on his head. He's the highest servitor; Mukunda preṣṭha. The final conception of Guru as Mukunda preṣṭha, Gaura preṣṭha, Rādhā preṣṭha. That is the final conception. He's always on the head of my Gurudeva. Very near, and holding the respectable position. The highest position in Him, or in Her, that is there only I can see that. I want to see that Kṛṣṇa. Not arādhā Kṛṣṇa. Even without Guru, I don't want to see Kṛṣṇa, or Rādhārāṇī, without my Guru. If Rūpa Mañjarī, I am there, without Rūpa Mañjarī I won't approach Rādhārāṇī directly, or Kṛṣṇa without Rādhārāṇī. In this way our thought; that will be healthy thought, a wholesome progress. Otherwise a very hazy and very hurried progress is no progress. One will have to retard, retardation, the prey of retardation, and misfire. We'll miss the object of our adoration. So very carefully, always with the guidance of our Gurudeva on our head and heart, we shall try to move. Just as in Bhagavad-gītā it is mentioned always, "Don't be too hurried, don't be too slow, in every case. Don't take food much, and not also less, so yukta."

yuktāhāra-vihārasya, yukta-ceṣṭasya karmasu yukta-svapnābodbodhasya, yoga bhavati duḥkha-hā

[“For a person who eats, relaxes, and exerts himself in all duties in a regulated way, and who keeps regular hours in proper measure, the practice of yoga gradually becomes the source of dispelling all worldly suffering.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.17]

That is the key to success. Not haste, and not too slow. That should be our motto of life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi, Gaura, Gaurāṅga will keep up on the standard, on the layer, on the plane, by repetition of Gaurāṅga, with the memory of Gaurāṅga, we can float on the plane. And by Nityānanda, by taking His grace in our memory, we can also float us in the jurisdiction of Gaurāṅga. So it is necessary now and then, to invoke Their mercy, so that I may be allowed to float on the surface where I am at present. It is Their mercy that can keep me afloat in this plane of thought, because it is Their property. Jīva vibhinnāśa. As a matter of right, the jīva cannot demand all these resources; a matter of right. That is by Their grace. The adopt-ability is with the jīva. As jīva has got adopt-ability in the māyic world, the world of exploitation and renunciation, so jīva has got the adopt-ability, the jīva soul. And this is extended, and he adopts within himself. Thinking that, "This is the property of my Gurudeva. Any moment it may be withdrawn if I commit any offence; may be withdrawn. By most, by great fortune that I have got the chance of serving this divine personified, of love, beauty, etc."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu says, "Generally the meaning of the *Bhāgavata śloka*s, and its details may not come to Me, naturally. But when excited by the audience, their ruci, then it comes."

So the environment has got a very important part to play, for which Rādhārāṇī hankers. “I have got that Kṛṣṇa here, but I am not satisfied, rather dissatisfied. That Vṛndāvana is necessary. The Vṛndāvana has got his part to play. Without that We are nothing. We are only mourning our past days in Vṛndāvana.”

Vṛndāvana is necessary. The paraphernalia has an important part to play in everything. In our discussion, or meditation, or preaching, or expression, the height of thought all depends on the environment.

It is mentioned somewhere that Kṛṣṇa was requested to repeat His advices of Bhagavad-gītā. He told, “No, I can’t deliver it now. That paraphernalia of Kurukṣetra, that drew out Bhagavad-gītā from Me. And now, it is not so easy for Me to express it again here, to repeat. The circumstance is necessary.”

So, Gītā has got its peculiar paraphernalia, environment, everything, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, all. Kṛṣṇa is not alone. He is with His parśada, His Dhāma. Sva parsada sviya dhama saha avatari. Dham saha. [?]

Raja means His general, His minister, His palace, all these. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Time is up.

Devotees: Śrīla Śrīdhara Deva Mahārāja ki jai!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

...

told you, it is not under my command. It's also above me, transcendental, I also...

Once Prabhupāda told, when he, from Vṛndāvana he came to Gaya. I was with him, and he went to, invited, went to a big man's place there, and delivered Kanada lecture. And so beautiful, new things came out, that I was feeling very much disturbance that I cannot note them. So much so, that I could not attend his lectures also deeply. Only I felt much disturbance to get a pen and paper. Then, I felt very much uneasiness, because I could not note those words. Then I came out.

And Guru Mahārāja told, his word was to me, "You are gober gaṇeśa." That is Gaṇeśa made of gober. Gober means cow dung. Not a real Gaṇeśa composed of earth. (Laughs) Gober Gaṇeśa. "You could not note these things, these thoughts which came. Even I felt necessity of going through them afterwards."

What thought? He gave explanation of that particular śloka of...

That person whose house he went to visit, he was some satya upasak, they're technically known as the section who worship satya. Then what is the conception of satya?

Mahāprabhu, and Rādhā-Govinda, Navadvīpa, that is the highest conception of sattya. Sattya means, not an abstract conception of law and rules of some transcendental type. Sattya is such. What is the relation of Kṛṣṇa and this sattya? That he was to explain. And he told that the thoughts that came at that time, he also wants to see it, what was inspiration, what was revealed in his heart at that time. He wanted to see. That was unknown to him. At least he said like that, told like that. "That they are stranger to me, but they passed through me, and I want."

So fine, then I had both sentiments. I was very much mortified that I could not note them, at the same time, I had some inner satisfaction that I could appreciate those points. Those extraordinary higher points which were delivered then, I was very much disturbed that I could not note them. So, I had the capacity of appreciating the highness of those higher sentiments. That was my satisfaction. There is some inner element in me that can appreciate so much high, what our Guru Mahārāja also wants to have in them, to consult in the second time. That was my satisfaction here, and at the same time I was mourning all through that I could not keep it for the public. And what our Guru Mahārāja also wanted to, I also wanted to see them again, what came through, passed through me.

So, we are an instrument. It is the property. It may not stay in a particular plane always. By our negotiation, it may care to come down, and to particular persons, very rarely to be found, few and far between. Gaura Haribol. That is, in other words, it is the wealth, it is the property of our Gurudeva, and never mine, ours. That should be. Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the ear engagement and eye engagement.

Devotee: ...something about the four nāmābhāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nāmābhāsa, yes. Sāṅketyaṁ, parihāsyā, stobha, helanam. Sāṅketyaṁ, when we handle one thing and another thing comes out of that. That is meant, meaning goes to another place. We hit in one place and the sound is in another; in this way. Sāṅketya.

And that is the famous case of Ajāmila, sāṅketya nāmābhāsa. Ajāmila first hit his son, his last son, he was playing when Ajāmila was half unconscious, in his coma stage. Suddenly he found three awkward and dangerous figures before him, and they had put a thread or a rope around his neck and drawing it. Then he suddenly opened his eyes and found, or in a mental vision. He was frightened, and could remember that a little while ago, his son, youngest son named Nārāyaṇa, he was playing, so his first attention was drawn to his son.

“He may come and save me from the hands of these furious figures.” But suddenly it came to his mind, “What that little boy will do with these furious figures?”

Then helpless, and at once, from the name Nārāyaṇa, the sound, from that sound the God Nārāyaṇa, Lord Nārāyaṇa came to his mind. He began thinking of his son Nārāyaṇa, but, he cannot cope successfully with these dreadful figures, so it took him to the Lord Nārāyaṇa. And as soon as his heart touched the feet of Nārāyaṇa, the sound Nārāyaṇa, the Lord Nārāyaṇa is meant, no sooner, four persons came down, these parśada. They are four deva-dūta, Vaikuṇṭha dūta, from the plane of Vaikuṇṭha, four came down. Their appearance very soothing, and awe-inspiring, and was sympathetic. As soon as those four came down, the atmosphere changed from dreadfulness to a peaceful atmosphere.

They challenged these three representatives of Yāmarāja, “Why are you here?”

They told: “The last moment of Ajāmila drawing near, and he was a very grave sinner, worst sinner, and we have come to take him to our lord so that he may receive proper punishment there.”

“What do you say? Didn't you listen just now to his pronunciation of the name of Nārāyaṇa?”

“Yes, we heard.”

“Still you are waiting here; for what purpose?”

“Yes, he has taken the name Nārāyaṇa, what does it matter? A great magnitude of sin whole life he has committed and of various, serious types, and only once Nārāyaṇa, what is that there?”

“O you fellows, you do not know the śāstra. Do you know what is pāpa, what is puṇya?

Do you know?”

“Yes, we know.”

“Then what is dharma? Veda pranihito dharma. What is written in Veda for us to adopt; that is dharma. Then, have you not found that if one can take the name of Nārāyaṇa, he's absolved from all the sins of his previous life?”

“No, we don't know that.”

In this way, a sort of fight went on between the two, a debate, and they were vanquished. In a commanding tone they told, “Go to your master and inform him, that he has pronounced the word Nārāyaṇa anyhow. So his jurisdiction has changed. Whatever little sin he may possess, even now, the jurisdiction has changed. Now, that will be considered in the court of Nārāyaṇa, not here in your master's jurisdiction, karma-kāṇḍa. It is finished. Go, and tell him, you do not know all these things.” Then they went away and told their master.

Master said, “What they have said it is all right. But such cases are very rarely found, so we did not feel it necessary to teach you all those things, very rare case. If further you find in future such persons, you please show my namaskāra, my respect to them.”

Now, all these things, this talk, the argument, all, this Ajāmila heard. And when the Yāmadūtas were gone, the Viṣṇudūtas also went up.

Then he was left alone, “What is the matter? I was a brāhmaṇa’s son. I used to do these holy practices, but suddenly my mind fell into a trap, and I deviated from my former life, into a life of a debauch. And for a long time I committed so many offences and sins, crimes, that has got no end. Now in my last days only I took the name of Nārāyaṇa, and such a wonderful thing happened. So, Nārāyaṇa is there, religion is there, devotion is there, everything is there. No longer am I to participate in my former life.”

He arose and started direct to Haridwar. Speaking nothing to the family went straight to Haridwar. And there he began [chanting] Nārāyaṇa, Nārāyaṇa.

The emancipation, the liberation by only one Nārāyaṇa, nāmābhāsa, the sinful tendencies of his whole life disappeared, and he got mukti, but not any engagement in the service of Vaiṣṇuṭha, not bhakti, simply mukti, liberation. Liberation from the negative side: but not any positive merit so that he may be taken into the internal portion of Vaiṣṇuṭha. He went to Haridwar, and there began to take the name of Nārāyaṇa and when time came, those four persons, Viṣṇudūtas, came to him with a chariot, and took him there in Vaiṣṇuṭha, it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam.

So nāmābhāsa means this is sāṅketyam. The son was the excitement, the cause of excitement to him to go to Vaikuṇṭha conception of Nārāyaṇa. This is sāṅketyaṁ. And this is liberation, ābhāsa mukti, not bhakti, not sevā prāpti. One may not gain any serving engagement, but only emancipation from the negative side, the sinful, exploiting nature, released, sāṅketyaṁ.

Parihāsyā. One thing I should say in this connection, that nāmābhāsa, if we take any way it will produce nāmābhāsa, there is no guarantee. Sometimes it may be, sometimes may not be. It depends upon the sweet will of the Lord. It may come in a way, or it may not come, maybe crime, offence, nāmāparādha. Because sāṅketyaṁ - parihāsyā, in a sporting mood to, in a mild way, to ridicule any person, parihāsyā, in a laughing. One is going on with Hare Kṛṣṇa, another gentleman may remark, “O you are a great devotee. Suddenly you have turned to be a devotee, and you are taking Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa?” Not out of his own necessity, but only to cut a simple joke to his friend, he says so. “You are a great devotee I see, always saying Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa.” Parihāsyā.

Sāṅketyaṁ, parihāsyā, stobha. Stobha may be an awkward imitation; says Hare Kṛṣṇa [as] “Hori Keeshna, Hori Keeshna.” In this way:

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Negligently imitate, very negligently with figure of awkward shape: “Heri Kisna, Heri Kisna,” very negligently make imitation of a devotee, and despise, may be stobha. Another meaning also is that in music we may sing Gaura Nitāi, Gaura Nitāi; that is also called stobha, sometimes.

And helanam; helanam means without any attention, no attention, only through slack habit. Suppose one is rising from the bed and yawning: “Hare Kṛṣṇa,” in this way, yawning. Not devotedly, attentively, or any spontaneous, automatic without attention, some intuitive, some reflex action. That is helanam.

And also sometimes to take the name hatefully, that is also meant. Because the example is given such: Once a Mohammedan, he was attacked by a boar, a swine, and he suddenly cried out aloud, Haram Haram [abominable, abominable] Haram means that boar, hog, swine.

Haram Haram - Ha means sometimes vocative term. Rām means Rāmacandra. Haram, total, Haram means that hog, but Ha Rama when disconnected it means, “O Rāma.” So by Ha Rama it maybe Ha Rāma. This came to his mind, though hatefully or fearfully Haram Haram, being afraid of the boar, Haram Haram, but there was nāmābhāsa in that particular yavana, mleccha, Muslim. There was also nāmābhāsa. But so many they are saying Haram haram, but it is not always nāmābhāsa. In particular case it so occurred that in that case it became nāmābhāsa, and the Muslim he got liberation. It is written in Purāṇa. They are eye witness. They could see, and they have recorded it, that only by haram, that is for the hog and he got liberation. In this way, sāṅketyaṁ, parihāsyā, stobha, and helanam.

madhura-madhuram-etan-mangalam mangalanam sakala-nigamavalli-sat-phalam cit-svarupam sakrdapi parigitam sraddhaya helaya va [bhrguvara naramatram tarayet krsna nama]

[The holy name of Kṛṣṇa is the sweetest of the sweet and the most auspicious of all auspicious things. It is the self-effulgent and beautiful fruit of the Vedic desire tree. When the holy name is uttered once without offence, either attentively or inattentively, it immediately ensures the deliverance of all human beings from the bondage of illusion.] [Hari-bhakti-vilasa, 11.234] & [Skanda-Purāṇa] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.41]

Either with faith or hela, with indifference, with indolent nature, it might have been pronounced. In such cases we find sometimes that one gets the advantage of nāmābhāsa and attains liberation. Nāmābhāsa-mukti. It can sever our connection with the negative side. But it can give the passport, but not the visa. Not admission to enter into the realm, that is reserved for the agents of Vaikuntha, that is sādhū. It is reserved for them to enlist and to issue visa. This is nāmābhāsa. Stobha, helanam, four kinds of nāmābhāsa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[“One who chants the Holy Name of the Lord is immediately freed from the reactions of unlimited sins, even if he chants indirectly - sāṅketyaṁ (to indicating something else as in the case of Ajāmila who called for his son by the Name of Nārāyaṇa), jokingly - pārihāsyam, for musical entertainment - stobha (to use the Name with some other intention; Jīva Goswāmī has taken advantage of this in his book of Sanskrit grammar, the Harināmāmṛta-vyākaraṇa; when one is playing the mṛdanga drum, using the Names Gaura Nitāi, Gaura Nitāi to represent different drumbeats), or even neglectfully - hela (when we are rising from bed in the morning sometimes, we may neglectfully say Hare Kṛṣṇa; in this way we may cast off our indolence). This is accepted by all the learned scholars of the scriptures.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

Anyhow it must have connection with Vaikuṇṭha, nirguṇa, must come in connection with the relativity of the infinite, of the Absolute. If any connection with this mundane, that is aparādhā. Any achievement, any aspiration connected with this mundane world, the land of exploitation, then aparādhā. But vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam aśeṣāgha-haraṁ, must have connection with Vaikuṇṭha, kunṭhasane. That is infinite, nirguṇa. Some connection anyhow must come, touch of nirguṇa, then it effects liberation. Otherwise it will be aparādhā. Vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam aśeṣāgha-haraṁ viduḥ, and then śuddha-nāma. Śuddha-nāma.

nāmno 'sya yāvatī śaktiḥ pāpa-nirharaṇe hareḥ tāvat kartuṁ na śaknoti pātakam pātakī janaḥ

[“Simply by chanting one Holy Name of Hari, a sinful man can counteract the reactions to more sins than he’s able to commit.”] [Bṛhad-Viṣṇu Purāṇa] & [In Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.7, purport]

The negative side, negative entanglement is nothing to one who has got some taste for the Vaikuṇṭha Nāma, aśeṣāgha-haraṁ viduḥ. Nāmno 'sya yāvatī śaktiḥ pāpa-nirharaṇe hareḥ / tāvat kartuṁ na śaknoti pātakam pātakī janaḥ. One has not the capacity to do any amount, any quantity of sin, which only one Vaikuṇṭha Nāma can wash away. Only a flash of a second of Vaikuṇṭha Nāma can do away with all the charm of this sinful world. The world of exploitation, give and take, the world of to eat on loan, to enjoy on loan, on debt, here. Enjoyment means to incur debt in the world. Aśeṣāgha-haraṁ viduḥ. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

He cut jokes; one brāhmaṇa cut jokes with Haridās Ṭhākura.

When Haridāsa Ṭhākura told that, “The only real consequence of taking the Name, real Name, one gets bhakti, service, in Vaikuṇṭha, and by nāmābhāsa, not pure Name, but only by nāmābhāsa one can attain mukti.”

Then the brāhmaṇa boy, he could not tolerate this idea. He told, “What does this fellow say? Mukti is such a great and high thing.”

Koti janme brahma jnane, brahmasmi brahmasmi vedanta anusidan [?]

[koṭi-janme brahma-jñāne yei ‘mukti’ naya / ei kahe, — nāmābhāse sei ‘mukti’ haya]

[“After many millions upon millions of births, when one is complete in absolute knowledge, one still may not attain liberation, yet this man says that one may attain it simply by the awakening of a glimpse of the holy name.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 3.194]

“Tat tvam asi, I am Brahman. If by crores of lives, if we meditate in this way, hurriedly we can attain emancipation. And this fellow, this Mohammedan chap, he says that only by nāmābhāsa one may get that mukti.”

So Haridās Ṭhākura said, “But it is written in the śāstra, you who are known to śāstra, you have got any knowledge of the scriptures, you may [?]

Haridās Ṭhākura quoted one śloka, and tried to substantiate his own version to prove.

But that brāhmaṇa boy, his name perhaps Gopāla or something, he became furious and abused him very much.

Then Haridās Ṭhākura he felt pain and came away.

And that brāhmaṇa's son was - a great curse came down, came upon him, and within a few days he was attacked with leprosy because he insulted a śuddha-bhakta, Haridāsa Ṭhākura in such a way. It is written there, Caitanya-Bhāgavat perhaps.

So nāmābhāsa, the slight tinge, slight connection, a hazy connection of the Lord and His magnanimous Name may do away with all our sins of innumerable lives. It is possible. So great, and this is so meagre. So the Lord says:

daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te

["This "trimodal," supernatural, (alluring) deluding energy of Mine is practically insurmountable. However, those who fully surrender exclusively unto Me can certainly surpass this formidable fantasy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14]

"In comparison to you, the jīva soul, the māyā is immensely powerful, so you cannot fight with māyā, in direct hitch. But mām eva ye prapadyante, if you come to take refuge, if you surrender to Me, the māyā will be afraid of Me, but māyā won't care for you. If you go to give a fight with her direct she won't care."

But, so it is in Gītā, the direction has been given to us.

"Come to Me, and māyā will automatically go away. I'm infinite, she's finite, and you are a molecule of finite. So, your real way will be to come to Me and not to begin coming in connection with a direct fight with her. That will be your waste of energy. But you take this process, and in no time, and without much energy you will come smoothly from out of māyā, illusion, misunderstanding, misconception, and you will get a proper conception. A little you advance towards the proper conception, misconception automatically goes away, vanishes; can't stand. So māyā means misconception, and the proper conception is with Me, Īśāvāsyam. Īśāvāsyam: that is the very gist of the proper conception. Everywhere, My presence is there. I am everywhere, I am all in all, I am your master, I am the master of māyā also."

So very little of such knowledge is enough to drive away the misconception, the misconceived experiences may vanish very easily. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, are there also different stages of dhāmābhāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as nāmābhāsa, Dhāmābhāsa. Nāma, Dhāma, kāma. Everything may have... ābhāsa means as a hazy connection, hazy estimation. Not a proper estimation, not having a view of anything with differentiation, discrimination, distinction, but a haphazard, vague impression of anything, that is ābhāsa. Dhāmābhāsa. Dhāmābhāsa, which is not Dhāma proper, but has got some remote connection with Dhāma, that may be considered as Dhāmābhāsa. Dhāma proper is where devotion begins, and just this side, the beginning, where the vague appearance or perception of that Dhāma, and not proper conception, that may be Dhāmābhāsa. Brahmaloḥa we may say to be Dhāmābhāsa. Brahmaloḥa may be something like Dhāmābhāsa. Just outside Dhāma, not Dhāma proper. Dhāma means where the divine service begins. Just before we can enter, we are admitted into Dhāma, only the verge, the halo of Dhāma. That may be called – although such term we have not yet found in any place, any scripture, Dhāmābhāsa. But still, Dhāmābhāsa may be told to be located like that in our estimation. Not the proper thing, but a ray, a halo, the outward hazy expression of a particular thing, that is its ābhāsa. Rūpābhāsa, Guṇābhāsa, ābhāsa. Just as the evening may be considered to be the ābhāsa of night, and morning the ābhāsa of the day, sunrise: not the proper beginning, but just before the beginning. This stage: that may be called ābhāsa. Rūpābhāsa, ābhāsa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Lord Caitanya prays: Nāmnām akāri bahudhā nija- sarva-śaktis, tatrārpitā niyamitaḥ smaraṇe na kālaḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Etādṛśī tava kṛpā bhagavan mamāpi, durdaivam īdṛśam ihājani nānurāgaḥ.

[nāmnām akāri bahudhā nija-sarva-śaktis, tatrārpitā niyamitaḥ smaraṇe na kālaḥ etādṛśī tava kṛpā bhagavan mamāpi, durdaivam īdṛśam ihājani nānurāgaḥ]

["O my Lord, Your Holy Name bestows auspiciousness upon all. And You have unlimited Names such as Kṛṣṇa and Govinda by which You reveal Yourself. In Your many Holy Names You have kindly invested all Your transcendental potency. And in chanting these Names, there are no strict rules concerning time or place. Out of Your causeless mercy, You have descended in the form of divine sound, but my great misfortune is that I have no love for Your Holy Name."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 2]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What is the condition?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That my previous activity, that the accumulation of nirguṇa or sukṛti is poor. Bhagya means sukṛti, accumulated previous sukṛti, durdaiva. Durdaiva means the circumstantial nature is not allowing, the circumstance, the environment. 'You are ready to extend Your grace, Your kindness, but the environment, the circumstance as I have acquired by my previous endeavour, previous life, is not allowing me to accept that, to get that. Not any blame can be put on Your side. Your every action is faultless and full. But if I do not get, the fault must be, the defect must be in my part. You are perfect. You are gracious. You are affectionate. There is no defect on Your side. But still, I do not get, it is due to my own defective position.' Must be searched out. Must be searched more accurately, where lies the seed of that misfortune. This should be our guiding star, when we start in the way of devotion, always blaming myself, and none else. Then the dawn of good fortune will come in no time.

*tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, [bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam
hṛd-vāg-vapurbbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya*

bhāk]

[Lord Brahmā said: “One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

Don't try under any circumstances to put blame to others. Not even to speak of the Lord, not even to any persons. The whole charge, whole responsibility, take on your shoulder, your head. And then you will get a short cut road, the shortest cut. In no time you will be absolved from all difficulties. That is the key of Vaikuṇṭha, the key to Vaikuṇṭha. 'The whole filthy things within me, the Vaikuṇṭha vision is very nearer. I am to be blamed. I am surrounded by perfect.' That can help us most, because that sort of experience from four sides will enter me and purify me. And if we are habituated to see blame on the other, that will come again in me. Just as there is a proverb, if we spit upwards, it will come on me. So if we want to put blame on others, the reaction will come within me again. So we are asked not to see anything bad outside, but everything within you: and that will help you the most to purify you. Because He is present everywhere and no mistake in Him. No want of justice in Him. He is perfect. He is all right. If anything wrong, that must be in me.

“Your grace is so infinitely spacious, tuwā doyā aican parama udārā, Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol, Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Who is there? O, Viraha Prakash Swāmī. Nitāi. Nitāi. Vyenkatta Prabhu.
Akśayānanda Mahārāja. Mahāmuṇi has no connection with anyone of you? He’s full in himself!

Devotee: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, once, Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, he had said that he was honeycombed with fault.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Honey come?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: With fault, dosh; honeycombed with fault.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fault?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Honey come?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Honeycombed with fault.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He will honey come?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, he was honeycombed with fault.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Honeycome, what's the meaning of honeycome?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Honeycomb is like momashi [?] momachi [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I've heard the word but I can't remember the real meaning.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...describing them. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Cowardly papers! Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Maybe you could elaborate on one point. If we find fault in another person or in some other personality, if that will eventually come back to us?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that will come back to us. Connection with faults, through that connection the influence, the contamination will come here. But like a guardian if you want to remove it affectionately, it may not come.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I read, Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he had mentioned that para doṣa anu sandan as being one of the parts of prajalpa or unnecessary talk.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally prajalpa or idle talks, the subject matter of idle talks generally becomes para doṣa anu sandan, finding fault with others. That is generally the subject matter of our idle talk, para doṣa anu sandan - finding faults with others, in others. But when a guardian he tries to analyse his affectionate child or disciple, the fault, and to point out it to them for correction and with a sympathetic and graceful eye, then it may not come to him, but he is pure enough. When any nurse is going to attend an infectious disease, patient, the infection may naturally come in us, but if he's well guarded it may not come to him. And he's conscious of the poisonous nature of the disease and he's very careful that he tries to remove that poison from the body of the patients.

And with guarded mind and dress, so the poison, infection may not come to him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there was one thing I heard once, that the chanting of Hare Kṛṣṇa and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, these two things must be taken together. And that the chanting of Hare Kṛṣṇa alone, that will have some effect, but without the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, that knowledge must be there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only Bhāgavatam then that presupposes bhakta-Bhāgavatam also. Sādhū-saṅga, Nāma kīrtana, sādhū-saṅga, want of sādhū, living scripture, then that passive scripture, sādhū-saṅga hari-nāma ei matta jai.

[sādhū saṅga kṛṣṇa nāma ei matta jai, vaikunṭha nāma grahaṇam aśeṣāgham haraṁ vidun]

[“The Holy Name must be taken with the attitude of service to the saints. Serving means die to live; to throw oneself wholesale for the higher existence.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

So with the association of the sādhū: when sādhū is not available then of course with scripture, śāstra. Ke?

Devotee: Paraśurāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paraśurāma. And there are that Kṛṣṇa Balarāma?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. Viraha Prakaśa Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Are they gone to market?

Devotee: Yes, gone to market.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paraśurāma did not go?

Devotee: No, he's here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only those two?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. To take Name under the guidance of a sādhū, a man of higher realisation, then there may be so many obstacles, oppositions, difficulties on the way, and with his help they may be removed. So the guidance of the sādhū has been advised to be indispensable almost. But when sādhū is not available then śāstra comes. Mahāprabhu says:

sādhū saṅga, nāma-kīrtana, bhāgavat-śravaṇa mathurā-vāsa, [śrī-mūrttira śraddhāya sevana]

[“Association with the pure devotee, chanting the Holy Name, hearing the Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, residing in Mathurā Dhāma, and faithfully worshipping the Deity.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.128]

That is dhāma-vāsa. Śrī-mūrttira śraddhāya arcan, śreṣṭha ei pañca aṅga.

[sakala-sādhana-śreṣṭha ei pañca aṅga, kṛṣṇa-prema janmāya ei pāñcera alpa saṅga] [“These five limbs of devotional service are the best of all. Even a slight performance of these five awakens love for Kṛṣṇa.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.129]

And if only one to be accepted then Nāma kīrtana; kīrtana means to chant loudly. That presupposes that with some, with a company, to someone I am saying, or in congregation, saṅkīrtana. Jīva Gosvāmī Prabhu has given the interpretation of saṅkīrtana, bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam tad eva saṅkīrtanam, not alone, but in a group. To talk about Kṛṣṇa, that is saṅkīrtana. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also warns, “Don’t join any type of imitation saṅkīrtana. At least one leading man must be there who is a śuddha bhakta. There is cholera and the great epidemic.

Some people they want to go on with Nāma saṅkīrtana; that is aparādha. Nāma, Bhagavān, they want Hari to remove away all these inauspicious things from the world. Sakām, that is aparādha. A śuddha bhakta, a pure devotee must not associate with him when such a saṅkīrtana is going on. So at least one pure devotee must be in the group then one can join that saṅkīrtana.” In this way Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has warned. The guidance must take place under śuddha devotee, pure devotee, that nirguṇa. Who does not want anything mundane but the grace of Hari. That type of vibration must be present there. And that will help me in my subtle-most plane of self, my nirguṇa aspect, and awaken then.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So, Pramāṇa Mahārāja, may we stop here today? Are you going tomorrow?

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: Tomorrow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When?

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: In the morning, about eight o clock, nine o clock.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine o clock train. So in the morning we can have another sitting.

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. You’ll go to Calcutta direct?

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: Yes, and then to Delhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tomorrow you must go...

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... or you can wait tomorrow also? [Background laughter] Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: My desire is to go so that I can come back very soon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! You'd like to come very soon.

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's hopeful. Ha, ha. Gaura Haribol. That Jayatīrtha Mahārāja also told the same thing, "That whenever I feel any weakness, at least after a month I shall be here, and gather strength and go." But no trace, no letter, no trace. What he is doing? He's a little weak minded man perhaps, as I hear, I am told. Let Mahāprabhu save him. He has taken sannyāsa in the holy place where Mahāprabhu accepted His sannyāsa, Katwa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: I promise you a weekly report.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Weekly report, oh, every week you will send a letter?

Pramāṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right, let us see. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Paraśurāma Dāsa: Mahārāja, can I ask you something?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. Gaura Haribol.

Paraśurāma Dāsa: My Guru is Śrīla Haṁsadūta Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is Paraśurāma?

Devotees: Yes.

Paraśurāma Dāsa: So, in Berkeley I have heard many things against my Guru: statements, criticisms. So my position I feel is very weak. Now my faith has been shaken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, he's a very good man. And devotion I found in his heart, unshakable. So if you have any respect for me, you don't be suspicious about him, he's a good man, and in the line of devotion.

They, Jayapataka Mahārāja wrote a long letter to me. "Such and such things have happened. I consulted Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, he told me to consult with you. And what is your opinion about the things that have happened in this way." Elaborate letter.

I told through a person that I don't like to say anything before I meet him, I want to know what happened. So again I had some world news. "What is your opinion in such?"

"He wanted sannyāsa, and ultimately, we have not forced, but reluctantly we gave sannyāsa."

Still I told that I want to hear from him first without making any remark.

Then anyhow, through Caru Swāmī, Jayatīrtha Mahārāja was taken from Purī here direct. And his wife and child, son, were left in Calcutta. I heard from him and I also wanted his wife and son to be here. And they were also brought here. I consulted, what's the matter?

I had some apprehension that Swāmī Mahārāja as a gr̥hastha delegated him for Ācārya position. So he might have thought that the ISKCON, the present managing committee has thrust on him and in some un careful moment he has accepted that. But that should not be continued. What Swāmī Mahārāja has given, my Gurudeva, I must stick to that. I enquired, I found that something like that there. So I told him, anyhow when once you have taken up this role of sannyāsī, the Ācārya proper, so many Ācāryas mostly are sannyāsīs. And you have, in any way you have once accepted sannyāsa you should not go back formerly. To go back, that won't look well.

So he told, “What is your opinion?”

I said, that you must, once accepted, you must retain that. Then, otherwise it will be to put a bad name in the ISKCON, that is your blaspheme of your illustrious Guru Mahārāja, your Prabhupāda. Then he agreed.

Then I had to convince his former wife also. She's a good lady. She also told in details what happened. And I asked her, did you come before your marriage?

“Yes.”

To come to satisfy him? “Yes.”

You came to get the grace of Lord Kṛṣṇa? “Yes.”

Then you are to, for Swāmī Mahārāja, you are to sacrifice your best beloved object for the cause of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, I think. And Kṛṣṇa will look after you. He's not a bankrupt, not bankrupt, so He will look after you. You sacrifice, give him up for fighting. He's a general, one of the big generals, fighters in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. I heard he has got a good name in his propagation. So it must not be taken back.

In the beginning of course she wept, shed tears. But anyhow felt encouragement through my words and advice. The boy also shed tears, cried. I also encouraged him, and the mother, and they finally accepted my advice.

Then I asked, this came in my mind, that you give a letter to your previous sannyāsa Guru Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja and in anticipation and you go to Katwa where Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa. So Caru Mahārāja and Govinda Mahārāja, I sent them with him, went straight to Katwa. And there after taking bath in the Ganges there in the place where Mahāprabhu took His sannyāsa. The place is located there. It is marked. There he took again his former sannyāsa dress.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja? Oh, I mistook, I'm going in another way. Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is also a good man. He's very sincere and he's very firm in his faith, unflinching adherence to his Gurudeva, Swāmī Mahārāja. But he may not always be of the same opinion with the present GBC or Ācārya. That difference may not be a very grave thing, that he will be undermined. I don't think like that. He's a good devotee. Those that are doing such, so, they are committing offence. You never undermine, think lower about your Gurudeva. He's a good devotee. If you have got any faith in me, you must stick very firmly to him.

Paraśurāma Dāsa: Mahārāja, what is the position of the disciple who has heard blasphemy of their Guru and his faith is shaken? What should he do?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sort of association should be avoided. Some others also came to me beforehand. I asked them not to mix with them. Still they come to spread poison. You must avoid as much as possible, otherwise leave the place.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. Two disciples came here Rahugana, Rādhā Govinda. Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, a great thinker and very bold. He revolted, and Bhāvānanda Swāmī, Caru Swāmī, and Tamal Kṛṣṇa came to me and I gave something on tape requesting him to deal very mildly with these three. And they went there and some compromise was effected, I heard. Gaura Haribol. You may not mind or attend all those criticisms against your Gurudeva. You try to avoid that. And you may write to Haṁsadūta Mahārāja also, “What I am to do here? I am dealt in such a way.” Any other God-brothers you have here, or are you alone?

Paraśurāma Dāsa: There is Mahāmuni, who is staying here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāmuni is here.

Paraśurāma Dāsa: Yes.

Devotee: But with you?

Paraśurāma Dāsa: No, not with me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He does not know you? He's not acquainted with you, Mahāmuni?

Paraśurāma Dāsa: Yes, we are God-brothers, we know each other from Berkeley.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, you know each other. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Paraśurāma Dāsa: I'm wondering now Mahārāja, if I should take up some service in Vṛndāvana with the Gurukula, or if I should stay longer and hear from you, for purification of all these criticisms?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You write to your Guru Mahārāja, and what he directs, what direction you get from him, you do accordingly. You write direct to him, and what he wants you do, you will do that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: According to our imperfect considerations, we think we should leave this morning. What is your consideration?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. You can spare, you can, you have no time, you may do.

Devotee: What about your plane reservation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śravaṇa, kīrtana, both things together simultaneously should continue, to attain the place of propaganda that is also necessary.

satataṁ kīrtayanto mām, yatantaś ca dṛḍha vratāḥ namasyantaś ca mām bhaktyā, nitya-yuktā upsāśate

[“Disregarding the purity or impurity of time, place, and circumstances, those great souls are constantly absorbed in singing or narrating the glories of My Holy Name, form, qualities, pastimes, and paraphernalia. They are attentive to the irrevocable and conclusive definition of My nature, personality, and expansions, and they strictly follow the rules and regulations for taking the Holy Name and observing holy days such as Ekādaśī. Following all the practices of devotion beginning with offering obeisances unto Me, the devotees, earnestly longing for their eternal relationship with Me in the future, worship Me by the path of engaging in My transcendental devotional service.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.14]

To receive and to distribute: both equally important.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The sale of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, to purchase and to sell. To collect and to distribute, the current, the current business of Kṛṣṇa consciousness; that is what is necessary. Preaching makes us fit to hear. While preaching we face many new problems and then hearing will be more perfect, to enquire especially on those points and newly regard.

So constant thing, śravaṇa, kīrtana, śravaṇa, kīrtana, the rolling business, that is more fruitful, rolling business. Take and give, take and give, be mediator. The river with current, the current water is more pure, more pure, current water. So the current should be kept always. Not stagnant but current. To listen, ever new, and to distribute also, to preach, to speak, if it is current, it is a living thing, and it will show its ever new characteristic. Prati-padaṁ pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanaṁ.

[ceto-darpaṇa-mārjanaṁ bhava-mahā-dāvāgni-nirvāpaṇaṁ śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā-vitaranaṁ vidyā-vadhū-jīvanam ānandāmbudhi-varḍhanaṁ prati-padaṁ pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanaṁ sarvātma-snapanaṁ paraṁ vijayate śrī-kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtanam]

[“The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa cleanses the mirror of the heart and extinguishes the fire of misery in the forest of birth and death. As the evening lotus blooms in the moon’s cooling rays, the heart begins to blossom in the nectar of the Name. And at last the soul awakens to its real inner treasure - a life of love with Kṛṣṇa. Again and again tasting nectar, the soul dives and surfaces in the ever-increasing ocean of ecstatic joy. All phases of the self of which we may conceive are fully satisfied and purified, and at last conquered by the all-auspicious influence of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 1]

Always it will seem to be a new thing, thing of new colour, never stale, never stale, nava-yauvana, always showing new phases, new phases. It is not a finite thing. The infinite characteristic will be maintained.

Ānandāmbudhi-varḍhanam, almost antagonistic, Ānandāmbudhi, the ocean of joy and again that is increasing every moment. And then, prati-padam pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanam, at every step we experience new joy. New type, ever green, ever new, always progressing: as if always progressing. How infinite can make any progress, where is the room? But still its nature is such, always progressing, showing new and newer phases, always. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal.

So divine, for preaching, that is also not to be ignored. We must do that. That will help us again to collect capital. The kular, the need, the hunger, should be kept up, should be maintained, hunger, to hear, to indent, hunger, to indent goods. And preaching, the distribution, that will help us a great deal for indenting new goods. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: If we can engage them at least in nāmābhāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nāmābhāsa. His will, we don't know. We must attempt our best. This is in our side. We look to our faith and leaving the rest to Him. He's infinite, and He is benevolent, gracious. He will look after that. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchatī]

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If we are sincere, the backing must come. We don’t know, none, no Vaiṣṇava says that, “I am chanting śuddha Nāma.” They’ll all say, “This is nāmāparādha.” Not always nāmābhāsa even. “What capacity I have got? I am the meanest of the mean.” Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

avatāra nāhi kahe – ‘āmi avatāra’, muni saba jāni’ kare lakṣaṇa-vicāra

[“An actual incarnation of God never says, ‘I am God,’ or ‘I am an incarnation of God.’ The great sage Vyāsadeva, knowing all, has already recorded the characteristics of the Avatāras in the śāstras.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.354]

Avatāra, the incarnation of the Lord, when He comes here, He does not say, “I am Avatāra,” generally. But the ṛṣis are there according to the calculation of the śāstra. “This time one Avatāra should come, we find in scripture, so He’s Avatāra. These are the signs of Avatāra found in Him.” It is the duty of the Ācāryas to say that one is Avatāra or not, from the śāstra. It is already given by the Lord.

A Vaiṣṇava does not say and cannot say that I am a Vaiṣṇava. He says, “I am trying to become the servant of a Vaiṣṇava.” So much he can assert, practically, “I want to be a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇava dāsa. My aspiration, my highest end to become a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, I want that, nothing else. So many disturbances in mind, they are opposing me to reach my goal that I shall be a servant of Vaiṣṇava, so many obstacles there.” That will be the real line of thinking of a true Vaiṣṇava. We are told also like that and we feel also like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. We will always keep in mind that we are going to deal with the infinite, the absolute. Absolute. So whoever will assert that, “I have got it,” that is a very doubtful, bogus thing, we may take it safely. Those that assert themselves to be big, we must be suspicious about him. Because the very nature of things requires:

sadā hariḥ*

[“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

[ayi nanda-tanuja] kiṅkaraṁ, patitaṁ mām viṣame bhavāmbudhau kṛpayā tava pāda-paṅkaja-sthita-dhūlī-sadrśaṁ vicintaya

[“O son of Nanda Mahārāja, I am Your eternal servant, yet because of my own karma, I have fallen into this terrible ocean of birth and death. Accept this fallen soul and consider me a particle of dust at Your holy lotus feet.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 5]

“Just consider me, very kind of You to consider me the dust in Your feet. Vibhinnāṁśa.” mamaivāṁśo jīva-loke, jīva-bhūtaḥ sanātanaḥ

[manaḥ-śaṣṭhānīndriyāṇi, prakṛti-sthāni karṣati]

[“The soul is a part of Me (as My separate fragmental particle or potency). Although he is eternal, he acquires the mind and five perceptual senses, which are parts of material nature (as creations of māyā, My deluding potency).”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.7]

“Not direct part, vibhinnāṁśa, taṭasthā-śakti, I am a particle in Your marginal potency. So like a dust in the feet. Not even the similar, an atom of the flesh, not that. Not the flesh of the feet, not sajatiya, but vijatiya, vibhinnāṁśa, as a dust of the feet. Please consider me to be so. My highest ambition is there.”

That is the direction we get from our masters. Try to think in this way if you want to approach and make a real progress towards the absolute. You must couch your endeavour in such a way. Then you will be able to hit the point. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. But imitation always should be avoided. Without sincerity everything is bogus. Sincerity must be there, whatever [?]

Be simple, be unassuming, be sincere. Then everything will be bogus, to imitate that I am a sādhū, then it's gone. Don't try to imitate, copy. But really try to be so and don't try to copy the external movements of a sādhū. The inherent, the inner thing try to reach and try to acquire the innermost thing. Try to enter into the heart of a Vaiṣṇava and not his figure nor dress. It is difficult of course to enter into the heart of a Vaiṣṇava. There is the temple of the Lord. And try to connect with and get a drop of nectar which is within the heart of a Vaiṣṇava, that rasa, a drop of that rasa of high quality and divinity. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Raso vai saḥ, rasam labdhānandī bhavati.

[raso vai saḥ. rasaṁ hyevāyaṁ labdhānandī bhavati

ko hyevānyāt kaḥ prāṇyāt yadeṣa ākāśa ānando na syāt eṣa hyevānandayati]

[“Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the embodiment of all ecstatic bliss; He is the reservoir of all pleasure. Having derived ecstasy from Him, the individual souls become blissful. For, who indeed, could breath, who could be alive if this Blissful Lord were not present within the hearts of all souls. He alone bestows ecstasy.”] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 2.7]

After all we want pure rasa, ānanda. That is our quest. And we are told that is in the service of the rasa Himself. Rasa is a person, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. Everyone is in quest for rasa. The status of rasa is the highest. So if we are person, we have got subjective existence, rasa has got His super-subjective existence. He is a person. He is akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. He is Kṛṣṇa. Rasa is Kṛṣṇa. There cannot be rasa in any other place but in Kṛṣṇa, the highest conception, the source. The fountain head of all rasa of different type is only in Him. So, by nature of our construction, we have to search after Kṛṣṇa, kṛṣṇānusandhāna. That will be the type, the nature of a normal person here, kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Just as brahma-jijñāsā in Vedānta, in Vedānta-sūtra we find brahma-jijñāsā, enquire after the supreme cause of this world. Search what is the supreme cause.

yato vā imāni bhūtāni jāyante, yena jātāni jīvanti yat prayanty abhiṣamviśanti, [tad brahma tad vijijñāsa]

[“The Supreme Brahman is the origin and shelter of all living beings. When there is creation, He brings them forth from their original state, and at the time of annihilation, He devours them. After creation, everything rests in His omnipotence, and after annihilation, everything again returns to rest in Him.”] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 3.1]

Where from all has come and where it is maintaining its existence, how, by whom, and ultimately where do they enter after death. That is Brahman, the most fundamental plane. Where from everything is springing up and remains and then enters. That is Brahman. Enquire after the prime cause, the all-accommodating, athāto brahma-jijñāsā, the bhrihatama, the biggest thing, all accommodating.

And Mahāprabhu replaced that, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam replaced that with kṛṣṇānusandhāna. That brahma-jijñāsā, that is a dry thing. That is only the exercise of your thinking faculty, jugglery of reasons. But leave that away! Begin kṛṣṇānusandhāna, your heart's thirst quenched to try to quench the thirst of your heart, kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Rasa jijñāsā. Raso vai saḥ. The things acquired by your reason won't satisfy you. The jñāna, the knowledge cannot quench your thirst, really. The rasa, the ānanda, that is a separate thing. So instead of brahma-jijñāsā, you accept kṛṣṇānusandhāna.

vrajendra-nandana*

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “Where is my beloved Kṛṣṇa? I can't tolerate His separation. Where is the Lord of My life who is playing His flute? What shall I do now?

Where should I go to find the son of Mahārāja Nanda?”] [Caitanya-

caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.15]

That should be the way of our march, slogan. “Kṛṣṇa, where is Kṛṣṇa? I want to...

My real want has been discovered and it is to get the service of Kṛṣṇa, and no brahma-jijñāsā, nor Paramātmā ānusandhāna. The yogīs, they’re trying to enter into the details in the minutest part of the world, aṇor aṇīyān, what is controlling the whole from within. That is the object of quest of the yogīs, what is controlling from within, Paramātmā. And the jñānīs, from where everyone is coming, and everything is coming, and everything maintained, and again everything enters, what is that thing? That bhuma vastu, Brahman. And devotees, they want, what my heart, what is the demand of my innermost heart? I want to satisfy that quench. I do not care to know where am I, and what is controlling, but I really want to quench my thirst for rasa, for mādhurya, sweetness...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...search after rasa, ānandam, beauty, charm; and not calculative knowledge like Paramātmā. Nahi gopi yogesva pada kamala tomar dhani kori paibe santosh [?]

The gopīs are saying to Kṛṣṇa in Kurukṣetra: “Anyhow You want to control us by quoting the scripture which is meant for the jñānī and the yogī, but we are not that type. Please excuse us. You know it fully well we’re not that type of jñānī and yogī. We’re servants. Service is our life. So if you kindly manage to come within us and accept our service, then only we may be satisfied. No other alternative for us. So if You like to save us then You must come to our – in close connection and to accept our hearty service of Yourself. That is the remedy. No other remedy we have got. You are recommending of course we are hearing. But that is all outer ear exercise. Something like that. It is not hitting the target, real point.”

So they’re, kāhā kṛṣṇa prāna nātha [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.15], the search after rasa, and neither for knowledge, nor who is the controller of this world, to know that, kṛṣṇānusandhāna. And also to teach others to come in the same camp of kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Don’t misdirect you. The proper direction of the śāstra is this. Mahāprabhu, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has taught us what to beg, what to pray, what to want. They have taught us, “You want this thing, pray for this. If you beg, beg for this thing, not for any other thing, kṛṣṇānusandhāna.” We want nothing but Kṛṣṇa, nothing but Kṛṣṇa, even not Nārāyaṇa.

When the gopīs were wandering in search of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa to play a particular mood He took the shape of Nārāyaṇa. The gopīs gave respect to Nārāyaṇa. “Oh, He is Nārāyaṇa, yes we respect you. We honour you Nārāyaṇa. Please be gracious and grant our prayer that we may get the grace of Kṛṣṇa. By Your grace we want the association of Kṛṣṇa and not Nārāyaṇa.” When they find Nārāyaṇa, they give their namaskāram; namaskāram - outward respect and prays from Him that, “Be gracious and grant us our company, association with Kṛṣṇa.”

So the Vaiṣṇava, the student of Bhāgavat, and the followers of Mahāprabhu, their fate is sealed only to go in a particular direction in search of Kṛṣṇa. They won’t want anything else but Kṛṣṇa. This is the...

Bhāgavat has been described as the ripe fruit of the tree of Veda. The Veda has produced out of own accord, the fruit. What is that? Rasa. Bhāgavat Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, Brajendra Nandan. That is the ripe product of the tree of Veda. Veda means revealed truth embodiment. And its inner current is producing the fruit. And the fruit when ripe it is Bhāgavatam. So the natural gift of Veda is Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ Bhagavān, natural gift.

But we out of our own prejudice we try to get something from the Veda, the tree. The animals they try to chew the leaf, someone they will cut the wood. But the real natural product of the Veda is producing akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. Ānandaṁ brahmaṇo vidvān, na vibheti kutaścaneti.

[yato vācho nivarttante, aprāpya manasā saha

ānandaṁ brahmaṇo vidvān, na vibheti kutaścaneti]

[“As one gets subjective realisation of the transcendental blissful aspect of the Supreme Divinity, he sheds fear completely for all time. Such a realised man of wisdom is freed totally from negative thoughts. Having his thoughts fully attentive to the All-Blissful Divinity, he is spared from such torture. Such is the secret doctrine.”] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 11.9.1]

The natural gift of the Veda they’re giving, the highest revealed truth is Kṛṣṇa, raso vai saḥ, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. Through your faith you can get that rasa of the highest order. That is the gift of all the Vedas. And Veda Mata, Gāyatrī, she also aims at that very object. I have tried my best to show that sort of meaning from Gāyatrī, gānāt trāyate. By chanting which we can get liberation. And what is the definition of liberation? Svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ, and to engage ourselves in our innermost duty. That is what Gāyatrī is directing towards. And the Kṛṣṇa vamsī, that is also doing the same thing. In the highest place we find proper adjustment.

“Be ready for My service. That is the sound. The sound gives impression or inspiration to anyone and everyone. Come to My sweet service, engage yourself to My sweet service.”

That is the call of the flute of Kṛṣṇa. And Gāyatrī, Veda Mata who has produced the Veda, there also the same thing in the seed; and that is in the fruit. What is in the seed, that is in the fruit, and in the middle the Veda, Smṛti, Vedānta, and Bhāgavatam at the top.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

nigama-kalpa-taror galitaṁ phalaṁ, [śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam pibata bhāgavataṁ rasam ālayaṁ, muhur aho rasikā bhuvi bhāvukāḥ]

[“O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarine juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.3]

Vyāsadeva says in the introduction of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. “What is this? What is the necessity of this new book you are giving to the society? This is nigama-kalpa-taror galitaṁ phalaṁ. Nigama means Veda and that is compared with a tree. And this Bhāgavatam, its natural ripe fruit comes of its own accord. Not anything pressed, forcibly attached with that. But of its own accord the tree is giving the fruit and the fruit is ripe and it is Bhāgavatam. So the juice you drink, bhāgavataṁ rasam ālayaṁ. Muhur aho rasikā bhuvī bhāvukāḥ. Oh! If you have real thinking capacity, a normal hankering, you must come to drink this rasam. This is the natural product of the Veda, kalpa-taru.”

We say this Gāyatrī, gānāt trāyate. If you chant the Gāyatrī mantram, trāyate, you will be liberated, emancipated, and the positive conception of liberation is svarūpa siddhi, self-determination. And in self-determination you must come in connection with Kṛṣṇa in different rasa to get your assured and attached service. And thereby you can imbibe the real juice to make your life fulfilled. Your fulfilment of life is there. Everyone’s fulfilment is connected there. All your attempts otherwise they are all fruitless labour, fruitless labour only. Only utilise your energy in the proper way to make your life successful. It is for all; this advice from the revealed scriptures to all of us.

Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ. Oh you sons of nectar, of nectarine ocean, sea, please listen to me. You are born in amṛta, you were born to taste amṛta, and you must not allow yourself to be satisfied by anything but amṛta. So anyhow, misguided for the time being, but awake, arise, and search for amṛtam, that nectar; that satisfaction. Om, a big yes. Yes, what you are searching, that is! Don’t be disappointed. Don’t be disappointed. What, the inner search in you all, that exists, the Vedas say, the revealed scriptures they say, they assert, declare, announce, that is existing. What is the common search of all your hearts, that is existent, surely that is existing, and your thirst will be quenched, Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ. You are really meant by construction, you deserve. So don’t be afraid, don’t be cowed down, amṛtasya putrāḥ. In your being that thing is given, already it is there. You can never be satisfied anywhere else but with this thing. So prepare yourself to take your, to receive your long search, long missing amṛtam. In the full form, full quality. No other business, no other engagement should we have but kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Kṛṣṇānusandhāna.

Our Guru Mahārāja declared total war against this māyā. He used to say one thing. “The māyic reason, what strength is there?” He used that murgi tang [?]

The leg of a cock, apparently seems very strong, the leg of a cock, but how much strength may be there? Only the cock moves in such a gesture, posture, that his leg is very strong. So the māyā is also moving with that sort of vanity. “I have got much power.” But in comparison with Kṛṣṇa consciousness what power she may possess? So don’t be afraid of māyā.

Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ. With that grand tone, divine tone, the call comes from that quarter, from the divine quarter. “Awake, arise. Search for your fortune, and you cannot but have that. It is your birthright.” Svarupa gata sampat. It is the wealth of your own soul. So it is there, the relativity of the highest divinity, it cannot but be within you. You are His creature. You exist in His connection and relativity. So you must have some connection or other within you. So don’t be afraid of your present position. Don’t be disappointed! In this way you are to preach to the world at large. All come, you all want rasam, ānandam, ānandaṁ brahmaṇo vidvān. All the ānandaṁ differentiated, personified in Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, and that is very magnanimously being distributed in Navadvīpa. So come, it will be better to come and flock together in Navadvīpa. And we get the ticket, then we may go to Vṛndāvana, and in Navadvīpa also we’ll find that there is the Vṛndāvana rasa. The diet with some medicine applied, it is given here, easily digested.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you were talking about sajātīya and vijātīya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sajātīya, sagata and vijātīya, three sorts of distinction. Sagata means Kṛṣṇa, Balarama, then Nārāyaṇa, the Avatāra of sagata. Sajātīya, the svarūpa-śakti jīva, and vijātīya is jīva, vijātīya māyā. Just as tree sagata, the branch, the trunk, the leaves, the different sagata. Sajātīya, difference from any other trees, and vijātīya, the stone, earth, distinction from that of a tree: in this way sagata, sajātīya and vijātīya. These three class of difference we are living in the midst of.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, maybe you could elaborate on how it's necessary to get the mercy of Navadvīpa Dhāma before Vṛndāvana Dhāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First we must try to approach Nityānanda Prabhu. He's the Lord of Navadvīpa Dhāma. To secure any ticket, His permission is first necessary. And there are others also. Advaita Prabhu, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, so many others. There is another group who comes from Narahari Sarakara Ṭhākura, but mainly Nityānanda Prabhu.

nitāiyer koruṇā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe, [dharo nitāi-caraṇa du 'khāni]

[“It is by Lord Nityānanda Prabhu’s grace that we may be allowed to worship Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana.”] [From Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura’s Manah-śikṣā, from Prārthanā]

Who is the real conception of Mahāprabhu here. Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa combined in Navadvīpa, Śrī Gaurāṅga. Only Rādhā-Govinda combined, distributing Themselves, engaged in distributing Themselves, that is Gaurāṅga. The innermost existence of Gaurāṅga is that. And the outer and partial representation of Him, that gives Hari Nāma, Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Yuga Avatāra and this is Avatārī. Avatārī Gaurāṅga and Avatāra Gaurāṅga. Avatāra Gaurāṅga who distributes Kṛṣṇa Nāma, the Name to the world, and every Kali-yuga He comes once. And Avatārī Gaurāṅga combined, Rādhārāṇī, only once in the whole day of a Brahmā, not every Kali-yuga of the jīva section; that Svayaṁ Bhagavān. Kṛṣṇa also comes once in one day of Brahmā, Hare Kṛṣṇa, which is known as kalpa. Yuge yuge kalpe kalpe. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, that’s the same personality, Avatāra and Avatārī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Partial representation, limited function; there cannot be any cut-up, separate connection, separate existence, functional limitation.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there was one statement in Gauḍīya-patrikā, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, he had mentioned that one has to go through the medium of Tulasī Devī to enter into Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti Devī.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Tulasī Devī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tulasī Devī. That's general. In the mādhurya-rasa, in all rasa also, the relation will be that of respect, reverence, but in mādhurya-rasa that will be very intimate in another way. Tulasī Devī, her general help, that is most expansive, expanding. Nārāyaṇa, Gaura, Kṛṣṇa, all, Nṛsiṅha. The general help we can have from Tulasī Devī, and particular in Vṛndāvana, mādhurya-rasa. She is naturally connected with Nārāyaṇa. And the relation with her was established in the nature of Kṛṣṇa. The Kṛṣṇa within Nārāyaṇa accepted her. Because she had her husband but she was accepted by Nārāyaṇa, in her intimate service, and that is possible only in Kṛṣṇa, parakīya. So that sort of connection within, and external acceptance of Nārāyaṇa and His boon towards her, that, “Your grace will spread My devotion to anywhere, everywhere. Who will have respect for you, he must get passport in My domain.” Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Tulasī is like aṅgas prakāśa of Lakṣmī Devī, plenary portion of Lakṣmī Devī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be. Lakṣmī Devī, and more than that is some respect. Lakṣmī Devī could not enter in Braja līlā proper. But Tulasī Devī could do so. And it is mentioned in some Purāṇa, Rādhārāṇī Herself says, when She's questioned by someone, "How have You got so much attraction for Kṛṣṇa?"

Rādhārāṇī told, "For a long time I served Tulasī Devī, for a long period of My life, even in different lives. So by her grace I have come in connection with Kṛṣṇa."

That is spoken by Rādhārāṇī Herself. You will find in Garga Saṁhitā or somewhere else.

So Tulasī is given that respect also by Rādhārāṇī. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Her fortune that circumstance forced Kṛṣṇa to enjoy her, demand her inner service.

Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there seems to be a contradiction in Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam that in one sense it says that one does not have to be perfect in the different aṅgas of bhakti, but if he surrenders those different aṅgas will automatically be attained.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is it in Sanskrit?

Devotees: Śravaṇa-kīrttanādīnām [Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 1.40]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śaraṇāgati. No other process of service can be perfect. Without śaraṇāgati, there cannot be real entrance into the domain. So it will be all more or less show. Śaraṇāgati is the very life, very essence of devotion, so that must be present in every form of services. Without śaraṇāgati that would be mere imitation of service and not devotion proper, it will be a lifeless activity. Śaraṇāgati is the first condition.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the Sanskrit says:

śravaṇa-kīrttanādīnām, bhakty-aṅgānām hi yājane akṣamasyāpi sarvvāptiḥ, prapattyaiva harāv iti

[“Everything is accomplished by surrendering unto the lotus feet of Śrī Hari, even for one who is unable to execute the integral practices of devotional service based on hearing and chanting.”] [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 1.40]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the Bengali?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If one is not able or has not the opportunity of doing other services, different forms of service to Kṛṣṇa, but only you have got śaraṇāgati, you will get everything in the future, śaraṇāgati will give everything. Śaraṇāgati is the basic thing, substance in devotional world, the most fundamental. The whole structure of devotional school is on śaraṇāgati. Śaraṇāgati may produce them, but without śaraṇāgati they may not stand, ātma-nivedanam. Without ātma-nivedanam, Prahlāda Mahārāja: svātmārpaṇam nigamasya satyam.

[dharmārtha-kāma iti yo 'bhihitas tri-varga, īkṣā trayī naya-damau vividhā ca vārtā] manyate tad etad akhilaṁ nigamasya satyam, svātmārpaṇam sva-suhṛdaḥ paramasya puṁsaḥ

[“Religion, economic development and sense gratification — these are described in the Vedas as tri-varga, or three ways to salvation. Within these three categories are education and self-realisation; ritualistic ceremonies performed according to Vedic injunction; logic; the science of law and order; and the various means of earning one’s livelihood. These are the external subject matters of study in the Vedas, and therefore I consider them material. However, I consider surrender to the lotus feet of Lord Viṣṇu to be transcendental.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 7.6.26]

The whole gist of the Vedic advice is svātmārpaṇam, you give yourself wholly, dedicate yourself to the Lord. And that is the substance of all the devotional activity, give yourself, ādaḥ arpyeta paścād kriyeta.

[sā cārpitaiva satī yadi kriyeta, na tu kṛtā satī paścād arpyeta]

Śrīdhara Swāmī also in his commentary about:

śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇaṁ [pāda-sevanam arcanam vandanam dāsyam, sakhyam ātma-nivedanam] iti puṁsārpitā viṣṇau, bhaktiś cen nava-lakṣaṇā [kriyeta bhagavatya addhā tan manye 'dhītam uttamam]

If it is already dedicated to Him then this śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ they will get recognition as bhakti, otherwise everything is bogus. The śravaṇa kīrtana, if I hear to fulfil my own mundane purpose then it is no longer bhakti. If I make kīrtana, chant, preach, tell Hari kathā to make some money, then it will not be bhakti. Whatever I shall do it is for Him. That sort of bond forced aside will be accepted then whatever will be on that basis, that will be recognised as bhakti. It is the foundation where bhakti stands. Without śaraṇāgati all karma, all jñāna, all yoga, anything else, not bhakti. Bhakti means the result will go to the Lord, to my Lord. I am His slave, nitya-dāsa. I am His slave. I have got no independent personality, to keep any independent property. I am wholly His servant. Whatever I shall acquire, everything, the owner is He.

Jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108] Nitya dāsa means eternal servant; that is slave. He can, He has got the right to make or mar, to do anything with me as He likes, according to His sweet will. So with this feeling, whenever we shall make a kīrtana or śravaṇa, or smaraṇaṁ, pāda-sevanam, that will be devotional activity. But if that is withdrawn everything gone to the hell. The plank of the stage where the dancing stage, if that is taken off, the whole thing gone. So ādaḥ arpyeta. Śaraṇāgati means self-dedication. And then the activity of the man of dedicated self will become bhakti, will be reckoned as bhakti. Whatever he'll do, he does on behalf of Kṛṣṇa. He must cite Kṛṣṇa, not separate interest.

*bhayaṁ dvitīyābhiniveśataḥ syād, [īśād apetasya viparyyayo
'smṛtiḥ tan-māyayāto budha ābhajet taṁ, bhaktyaikayeśaṁ guru-devatātmā]*

[“Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipping deity and as his very life and soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

Conscious of separate interest has made us different from Kṛṣṇa. And the common interest that He has all interest with Him then only it will be bhakti. And if that is gone, everything is gone. Śravaṇa, kīrtana, they are only mere forms, not life. But in order to have a living devotion, śaraṇāgati must be there. Śaraṇāgati means exclusive connection with Kṛṣṇa, exclusive identification with the interest of Kṛṣṇa. And if Kṛṣṇa is not seen, so Guru, Vaiṣṇava, in this way, self abnegation to the extreme and then self surrendering according to the degree, one will be benefited. Gaura Hari. And that will have peculiar different characteristic also.

Śanta rasa, dāsyā, sākhya, and in different rasas also subdivision, in this way they will be located there. So it is mentioned that without śaraṇāgati, all the formal activities, they will lose the very life of therein and it will be something else than bhakti. Self-dedication, the land, plane of dedication that is that. Plane of exploitation, plane of renunciation and plane of dedication. The land of devotion. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we feel that if we surrender unto you, if we can please you in some way; that our spiritual master will also be pleased.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Yasya prasādād. Not only in my case; it is written in śāstra.

yasya prasādād bhagavat-prasādo, yasyāprasādān na gatiḥ kuto 'pi dhyāyan stuvaṁś tasya yaśas tri sandhyaṁ, vande guroḥ śrīcaraṇāravindam

[“By the mercy of the spiritual master one receives the benediction of Kṛṣṇa. Without the grace of the spiritual master, one cannot make any advancement. Therefore, I should always remember and praise the spiritual master. At least three times a day I should offer my respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of my spiritual master.”] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 8]

It is found in śāstra. The criterion is there, here in this world the criterion will be there. By satisfying our Gurudeva we will satisfy Him. And if Gurudeva is dissatisfied with me, then He is surely dissatisfied. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

In the Purāṇa, there is; I don't remember where it is mentioned; a good example has been given. The Lord is the sun, Kṛṣṇa is the sun. And the Guru is the water around and the śiṣya is the lotus. If Guru withdraws, then the very sun will dry, will burn the lotus. And the lotus will be cheered as long as the water is supporting and circumambulating the lotus. The sun's rays will cheer the lotus, will help, will grow, will give vitality to the lotus, but as long as the lotus surrounded and posted in water. But water withdrawn then the very sun ray will burn it; on the land. That is the position of Gurudeva. It has been depicted nicely.

*yasya prasādād bhagavat-prasādo, yasyāprasādān na gatiḥ kuto 'pi dhyāyan stuvāṁs tasya yaśas tri sandhyaṁ, vande guroḥ śrī-
caraṇāravindam*

But Guru may be seen in different rasa of different types. So no, not much differentiation should be made. According to the awakening of my heart he is infinite potency, he is changing his mood, figure, etc. The Guru is there, my guide to the Absolute, who is my guide to the Absolute, to Kṛṣṇa, Guru is there.

Isvara tattva bheda na haya aparadha [?] Within Nārāyaṇa there is Kṛṣṇa, we may think, but difference in function. Nārāyaṇa, Lakṣmī, gopī, distinction and non-distinction bhedābheda, acintya is there. Isvara tattva bheda na haya aparadha [?]

Lakṣmī, the gopī, when they are in the form of Lakṣmī serving Nārāyaṇa, and the Lakṣmī in her inner heart when they have got the position of the gopīs, they are serving Kṛṣṇa in a particular way. So there is a continued connection between them, a different distinction and non-distinction. Both should be maintained, simultaneously. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But to the formal we should have our respect, but not that we should ignore the inner substance. Relative and the absolute, going all together: consideration. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyah, and sarva- dharmān parityajya.

*[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme
nidhanaṁ śreyah, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ]*

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

*[sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām
sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]*

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

We have to harmonise both of these great teachings.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we are feeling that by rendering some service to you, that that inspiration will increase.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you feel it sincerely within your heart, automatically it will be done. None can resist. If the feeling is real none can resist. Internally it will function, always not to show externally. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You feel it within you; your sincere heart will be the guarantee there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So now, today, we stop. Again we hope we shall meet again.

Devotee: We'll be meeting every day Mahārāja, and every night, I'll be watching this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Internally you may do. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Yes. Physically I have to go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anuraga annamaya ca [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Only to return again.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Your grandfather is there. Though I breathe my last here, don’t be discouraged. Your grandfather is there to back you.” That was the assurance of Swāmī Mahārāja to his disciples at the time when he thought that he was going away from the world. So much seriously his assurance was like that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Grandfather is always much more merciful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes more merciful. Raghunātha [dāsa] Goswāmī found Mahāprabhu again in Rūpa, Sanātana. Mahāprabhu departed and highly disappointed he left Jagannātha Purī and went to Vṛndāvana. “After having a darśana of Vṛndāvana I shall finish my life.” So much so he was in severe pain by the departure of Mahāprabhu. But he could not do so, but more energy he found in himself to live and to work. He found Mahāprabhu is there in Rūpa, Sanātana, in His advice, in His command. Mahāprabhu is there, he found. He could not die. But not only lived, but lived and produced so many things for us, as he has been selected to be the prajojana Ācārya. The goal, he has expressed, given us the highest destination. The summum bonum of our life has come from him, Rādhā-kīṅkarā.

[jagannātha-mīśra-ghare bhikṣa ye karila,] apūva mocāra ghaṇṭa tahan ye khaila

[“As soon as Śrī Raṅga Purī recalled Navadvīpa, he also recalled accompanying Śrī Mādhavendra Purī to the house of Jagannātha Mīśra, where he took lunch. He even remembered the taste of an unprecedented curry made of banana flowers.”] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 9.296]

One sannyāsī of up country he was guest in the house of Śacī Devī and he tasted that mocāra ghaṇṭa, the preparation of the plantain flower curry. And he got such extraordinary taste there. Then when he was in Pāṇḍarpura in Mahārāṣṭra and he met Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu went wandering through the southern countries and went to Pāṇḍarpura and there met with that Raṅga Purī who told that, “Your elder brother Śaṅkarāraṇya, he breathed his last here in this place.” Mahāprabhu got the information there, Śrī Raṅga Purī. And he told, “Once with our Gurudeva Mādhavendra Purī, we were guest in the house of that Jagannātha Mīśra. And Śacī Devī, Your mother, she prepared, cooked that curry of that plantain flower so nicely that we can’t forget that taste.” Apūva mocā-ghaṇṭa tahan ye khaila. Śacīr aṅgane kabhu, mādhavendra-purī prabhu, prasādānna korena bhojan, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura writes in his divine fashion: [In The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Gītāvalī, p 76]

) [“O brothers! Whenever Mādhavendra Purī took prasāda in the courtyard of Mother Śacī, he became overwhelmed by uncontrollable symptoms of ecstatic love of God. O assembled sannyāsīs, just listen to this.”]

“Sometime Mādhavendra Purī with his disciples was guest in the house of Jagannātha Mīśra and they were taking prasādam in the compound. And when taking that prasādam some wonderful flow of divine love awakened in his heart. Khāite khāite tā’ra, āilo prema sudurbār. He could not check so the divine prema rushed in his heart. Sudurbār, bale, śuno sannyāsīra gan. Then they began to address the sannyāsī disciples there.”

Seeing her pure devotion, Lord Kṛṣṇa Personally ate all the different vegetable preparations which were just like nectar."]

"What are you taking here, that has been prepared by our Mother Śacī Devī. Tā'ra śuddhā bhakti heri', bhojana korila hari, sudhā-sama e anna-byañjan. And because it has been cooked by her, and showing her heart, the heart of the cooker: Hari is attracted. And He has taken the first taste of all these things. So I feel that it is more than nectar. So sweet I have never experienced in my life; sudhā-sama e anna-byañjan."

All the results that the mystics obtain by executing yoga will be obtained today by taking the Lord's prasāda. The entire universe glorifies the prasāda of Lord Kṛṣṇa. Lord Śiva dances in great joy on obtaining that prasāda."]

"What the great yogīs, what is their attainment, yoge yogī pāy jāhā, by only enjoying such things by our physical senses we can attain that thing. By great austerity and self control and directing him, pushing his mind towards the higher substance, higher inquiry, the attainment of the yogī, that can be easily had, got by us, only if we can enjoy the taste of this transcendental prasādam, substance here. And yoge yogī pāy jāhā, what they do not get with so much austerity you will get by enjoyment. It is such. Āj ha'be tāhā, 'hari' boli 'khāo sabe bhāi. So go on chanting the name of Hari and take prasādam.”

Nachi agai akaila suna [?] There is another, Vasudeva Gosh, he said that, “What should we speak about the greatness of Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanya Deva? He simply asks us to sing and dance, with all our heart and we will be turned into gold from iron. What a new method and wonderful method He has introduced here that only by rejoicing we shall reach the goal and no penance, nothing of the austerity and all these things we are to undergo for our great goal. Only by singing and chanting and this praying and dancing we shall go, we shall walk to the Goloka. What a new form and sweet form of sādhana the great Gaurāṅga has introduced in this world.” Nachi agai akaila suna [?] “Everything, all the iron will be converted into gold.”

yoge yogī pāy jāhā, bhoge āj ha'be tāhā, 'hari' boli 'khāo sabe bhāi kṛṣṇera prasād-anna, tri-jagat kore dhanya, tripurāri nāce jāhā pāi'

“Be fully conscious to this fact. That Kṛṣṇa prasādam we very rarely find the mention of the greatness of the prasādam of Kṛṣṇa. Tri-jagat kore dhanya. It is not only my version, but it is broadly accepted. Only I am drawing your attention to that. And tripurāri nāce jāhā pāi'. And Mahādeva himself, Śiva himself, he once danced getting the taste of this prasādam once in Kailāśa he used to dance. Such a fortunate thing we have come across here. If we can only be awake to the fact. Śrī Rāṅga Purī told it to Mahāprabhu. “That mocā-ghaṇṭa we tasted there, we can't forget that taste.”

Gaura Haribol. So Navadvīpa has got its special charm that He can dance you and through merrymaking it can help you to reach the highest goal of your life, from the most ordinary plane. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And I have selected especially the aparādhā-bhañjan-pāṭ where Mahāprabhu has been most magnanimous, magnanimous to the extreme for the fallen, and absolved them from all sorts of offences. This is the place.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Here I stop today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... to attend it.

Devotee: In London.

[Pranams]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In London_forty five minutes, at most one hour, they can't tolerate the theological lecture and thought, etc., in London. The first information came from there to here, to Prabhupāda.

Devotee: [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: We can sit here for hours. We are thinking all day, when will we be able to sit the next time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The whole time, your thirst is not being quenched at all. But it is increasing, progressing. [?]

No theology and no conception for any religion has given out, that twenty-four hours engagement with God. It is never to be found anywhere, but in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, aṣṭa-kālīya-sevā. The aṣṭa-kālīya-sevā that has been designed, or that has been rather brought to light, that twenty-four-hours engagement in service of the Lord is possible for the jīva. It is never to be found anywhere in any theological conception of the world. That was told by Herr Schulze. [aka Sadānanda Dāsa, a German disciple of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] Perhaps he's no more. His father was a monarchist, he told. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He was master of eight languages, he told. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: There's one śloka you mentioned yesterday, that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura had mentioned explaining satyam, satasya jonim [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Brahmā is chanting praise of Kṛṣṇa just before His birth there perhaps this śloka occurs. Dasamas kandha bhagavat [?] Just before the appearance of Kṛṣṇa, Brahmā with other gods had come and going on with the hymns in praise of the Lord. There the first śloka, that is this śloka. [?] What do you ask about this?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: What was the – yesterday when you were explaining that there are some persons who are worshippers of satya, are they impersonalists?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That particular section, there are, and found in Gaya. They are not very particular about their creed. So he invited Guru Mahārāja to his house. And there, what is the true conception of satyam, satasya satyam. Satya is the basis, so we have to know much more about the proper conception of satyam, truth, what is truth. Vedyam vāstavam atra vastu śivadam [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2] Vāstava-vastu, reality, truth; the truth is personal. Truth is autocrat. Truth is absolute good. These things to be added to understand the real nature of truth, vedyam vāstavam atra vastu śivadam tāpa-traya, vāstava-vastu: satyam means vāstava-vastu. Reality, vāstava-vastu, two kinds: the substance of two kinds, the existence of two kinds. Vāstava, real and unreal, that is māyic, misconception, finite aspect of the truth. That is also truth. Māyā is also nitya. The vāstava-vastu, there conditioned and unconditioned, means absolute. Absolute according to Hegel, Absolute conditioned and unconditioned, finite, infinite combined, Absolute. Not infinite in itself is sufficient. There should be finite also in relativity.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Rta satyam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rta satyam, two kinds of truth. One truth, rta, according to me, which can be deduced from the truth. [?] The data is there, and in geometry the theorem is there and there may be deduction. The truth, different conception of truth: that can be deduced from the data of the basic truth. That is also satya. Which can be deduced from the basic truth: that is also true. Rta satya, rta is also satya but a particular kind of satya. Rta means gata [?] which we can go, we can reach, which can be gone. Or in other words which can be produced from basic truth, which can be deduced from the basic truth; that is also true. rtam satyam param brahma purusam krsna pungalam [?]

_____ visvarupa rta satya netram [?]

Two eyes of the Lord, rta satya netram [?] He sees through, that is, He comes to our contact with these two processes, and the consideration of finite and infinite. Through these two aspects we come into His connection; not only through finite, finite and infinite both, the deduced truth and the fundamental truth. Because the fundamental truth is there, and also what He creates, the variety, that which is created by Him: that is also truth. The truth created, anything created by truth, anything constructed in truth, the vilāsa; that is also truth. And different differentiative characteristic over the fundamental base, that is also true.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Netram here is meaning observing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Netram, yes, netram means observing. The instrument process by which we observe, we come to have a conception of a thing, understanding of a thing. A particular instrument through which we can come in contact with the outside world: netra.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That was also in Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura's commentary. He was giving that rta satyam as being priya vani. [?] priya vakyam [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Priya vakyam ? rta satya ?

_____ [?] Rta means priya, he says?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That synonym was given.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is there?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I don't have the book; it's downstairs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rtyam satyam param brahma purusam krsna pungalam [?]

I understand that the meaning of rta is also satya. Rta means satya, satya rta. But when the two simultaneously produced, then two different kinds of satya, truth, two kinds of truth, one satya and another rta. That Cakravartī Ṭhākura says what is priya, what is sweet, truth as well as sweet, is ānandam. Satyam ānandam, rasam, satyam ānandam. And cit, rta satya netram, netra mano buti cit [?] Satya, netra, netra means conception by which we conceive, and rtam ānandam. Also what I like to say, rta, what is deduced in satya. The structure which we find on the foundation of truth, that is sat-cit-ānandam, that may go, vilāsa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Foundation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The structure which is standing on the foundation. Substance, then knowledge, and then ānanda; it may come to similar conception.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: As a background.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mere impersonal, not its impersonal foundation. Rta satya netram

In other words it may be rta satya netram, R̥g Veda, sound. Vede pasyanti panditah. So, our vision and destination will be through Veda, revealed truth, rta satya netram. Satya netram and rta netram can be seen by one who sees, has got two eyes. Rta satya netram, two eyes, one through Veda, śāstra, and one direct perception, a sādhū. Sādhū, śāstra, who can be approached, who can be seen by two eyes, or who has got these two eyes: he sees by these two ways or instruments. Vede pasyanti panditah, rta satya netram. Satya netram and rta netram. Satya, sat, sādhū, we can see Him through sādhū. And we can see rta as if it is śāstra, Veda. Both sādhū and scripture, these are the two ways by which He can be seen. Rta satya netram. We can approach Him through scripture as well as through sādhū direct, sādhū śāstra, rta satya netram. That may be another interpretation.

And Cakravartī Ṭhākura says rta satya netram. He has got two eyes, one really the justice, another mercy. Both justice, He sees us not only with the conception of justice, with the attitude of justice, but also He has got another eye, that of mercy. That also may be a good interpretation. Rta satya netram, which can attract mercy, deduced from the fundamental truth: which can attract mercy by deduction, which can produce mercy in Him. So, not with the eye of affection, but the eye of justice, according to the circumstance He's to distribute justice. That is not with vindictiveness but with mercy. And rta, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ.

[dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ] [Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja said: "The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate."] [Mahābhārata, Vana-Parva]

The real conception of the heart of the sādhū that is the fundamental conception of truth, and what has been produced by it as śāstra. That is also, through that also we can see Him. Through the practices of sādhū, sādhū-ācāraṇa, and śāstra-upadeśa, who can be seen by these two, rta satya netram. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And also justice and mercy, He sees everything with justice and affection. That is mercy. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nihitam ca satyam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nihitam ca satye. Who is accommodated in satya. Sat-tasya-satya, Who is the foundation of reality and who also has got his basis, has accepted satya as his basis. Nihitam ca satye. Standing on truth, the support of the truth in one side: at the same time he's standing playing on truth, nihitam ca satye. Sat-tasya-satyam. [?] That is taking a stand, placed on satya. He has accepted satya as his āsanās, as the plane where he is standing, or playing, support: in this way. Satya cannot stand without him and he has also taken stand on satya, on truth. That is the cause and effect of the truth, he's cause of the truth as well as he's the effect of the truth: both sides. Nihitam ca satye [?] means the pot: satya is the pot, and the substance within the pot is he: in this way. Nihitam ca satya, placed on truth. He's placed on truth. He has got; He has taken His seat on truth. Nihitam ca satya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Śrīla Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura gives a synonym as being antaryāmī, because nihitam is meaning hidden, gupta, as Paramātmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā rupena, anyhow, nihitam ca satye. Then satya, what is satya here? Paramātmā has been placed where?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: As nihitam, nihita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nihita means placed, has taken position on. Where? Satye, what is the conception of the truth there? He's not in this body.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Hidden.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hidden in satya, He's hidden in truth. What has Jīva Goswāmī said there?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I'll have to bring the literature, the book, from downstairs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Śrīdhara Swāmī?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: There's only the Viśvanātha Cakravartī edition I have, here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He of course consulted both Śrīdhara Swāmī and Jīva Goswāmī.

Nihitam ca, nihitaṁ guhāyām: [?]

[dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ]

[Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja said: “The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate.”] [Mahābhārata, Vana-Parva]

It is placed, it is reserved in the cave of mountain. So Cakravartī Ṭhākura said that it is in the cave of the heart of the jīva. Who is nimita, who is placed there as Paramātmā. All right. He’s there, but he says, “In the shape of Paramātmā, in the guha, rdaya guha. The cave of the heart as Paramātmā He’s there, nihitaṁ guhāyām. Dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām, so, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ. Nihitaṁ guhāyām, placed, guhāyām, nihitaṁ guhāyām. And here, nihitam ca satye, secretly placed in truth. What will be the explanation? Nihitam ca satye, means He’s placed over truth, satye, truth. Satya-vratam, what He says He keeps it, satya-vratam, He keeps His vow of truth. Satya-param, He’s above truth, satya-param. Tri-satyam, He’s truth in [?] three ages. He’s true for all ages, the past, present, and future, tri-satyam. Or in three guṇas, satya, rajas, tamas; everywhere He’s truth, tri-satyam, tri-loka. Tri-loka, that is this mundane world, and the spiritual world, and the taṭasthā-loka, everywhere is true, tri-satyam. Deśa, kāla, pātra, kāla-vibhāva, deśa-vibhāva, pātra-vibhāva: pātra and pārṣada, nitya-pārṣada, and nitya-baddha and mumukṣu. Everywhere is available and true for all, tri-satyam. Tasya-param, satya-param, tri-satyam. Then?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Satasya-yonim.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satasya-yonim, He's said to be even the cause of satya. Satya is springing up from Him, satasya-yonim. Nihitam ca satye, again He's deposited with truth, He's moving the truth as the ground of His play, nihitam ca satye. And satyasya-satyam, again, satyasya-satyam is the very gist of truth, the very life of truth, satyasya-satyam, saresa-saram, truth of the truth, the very essence, the very gist about truth, satyasya-satyam. And rta satya nitram, then two kinds of eyes He has got: ordinary meaning, rta and satya, these two are His eyes, rta and satya. One I think one of justice and another of mercy, that may be rta and satya, as impartial estimation, and another, the possible, equity and [bosence ?] Justice and equity and [bosence?], practical, impartial and practical, theoretical and practical; two kinds of, in two ways He sees things...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke? Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we see that when we read, that Navadvīpa Dhāma is a more merciful aspect than Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So, in the case of Jagannātha Purī, how is that adjusted?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jagannātha Purī that is compared with Dvārakā and Kurukṣetra. Mahāprabhu in Navadvīpa is more magnanimous.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yesterday you told that story how that man had a previous saṁskāra, bad saṁskāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Baddha, yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That he was thinking to enjoy with Durgā. He was trying to enjoy Mother Durgā, that man, that story you told.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: O yes, that Brahmānanda Bhāratī. Māyāvādī sort of that type, Sanātana Gosvāmī has written that when one has just attained his freedom from the clutches of māyā, then Durgā Devī in a very beautiful form comes and prays to him.

“Why are you going away? You stay here. I shall try to serve you, to satisfy you.” So that sweet charm is the last snare of māyā, and when one can cross that then he can enter, eligible to enter Vaikuṇṭha. The last trap of māyā; the māyā personified in a beautiful figure offers her service, charming service of exploitation, of enjoying mood. “Why do you go? I’m ready to supply all what is necessary for your enjoyment. Why do you enter into the land of service?”

The last, the last bullet: sweet bullet.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our saṁskāra is also very bad, our saṁskāra. Jagāi Mādhāi. So we could come here we are very fortunate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Yes. And I selected anyhow this position. The most extended form of mercy was shown here in Kuliya Prakash in this Govardhana area. I anyhow with this consciousness I took my position here to come within the greatest circumference of His magnanimity. May be included where it is most extended.

Devotee: Magnanimity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aranyata, audārata, dayā, mahā-vadanyāya, Mahāprabhu. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Where can we refer to that about Sanātana Goswāmī, mentioning about Durgā Devī coming?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Hare Hare. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, there's various types of Gurus, formally; Nāma, dīkṣā, sannyāsa, maybe śikṣā Guru, so many different types. So how is respect adjusted to these different personalities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is both formal, that is relative, another absolute, that is material; that is independent. We cannot but according to the capital we get we should be indebted according to the quality and quantity of what knowledge of devotion we shall get. We cannot but go on in that way with that calculation of our gain. The degree, the quality, the quantity of our acquisition of our gain, love, we cannot but be forced to give our recognition, our thankfulness, our gratitude, our whole heart. We cannot be insincere. Whenever we'll get, I must,

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guru]

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

It is His will. According to the gradation of dispensation, and according to the gradation of my higher light and acceptance and practice, that will come, informally. Formal structure also we may give formally, and the informal recognition will be there, that is the absolute consideration, cannot but be. Especially in the parakīya Goloka, the formal respect to the ordinary married husband. And the whole heart that is a show: the whole heart drawn towards Kṛṣṇa cent-per-cent. But still some shackle. That is another thing. That is a special (leansed?) in sādhana also.

What our previous saṁskāra, previous tendency in the mind; that may be considered with the married husband. They have got some demand on us. The soul is there and his mental impulse is there, on the whole, and the mental impulse that is forcing the soul to abide by his direction. Then the whole mental impulse maybe considered as husband, the external demand. But soul is free. His transaction with the Supersoul, Kṛṣṇa, Paramātmā, Kṛṣṇa, there is freedom. But the saṁskāra, the tendency acquired by the previous lives they won't allow the soul to go away.

“First clear the debt to this nature as a whole and then you'll go out. You're within debt. You have enjoyed so many things from this plane and you are going out, deserting us. We have many things to realise from you as you had loan here.”

So that may be compared with the formal, the husband. “Husband, he has got that claim over me.”

But parakīya internally they say, “Oh!” Establish connection with the Lord: “Outwardly you possess everything in me, but my inner self you can't see. You can't have any demand there. I'm going on with that connection.”

In this way also there is an adjustment in our sādhana. In our sādhana that is also a process. The saṁskāra allows him to do anything he likes, but he may not get the very internal substance what I am, really I am. That I know. Offer to Kṛṣṇa, the innermost of my heart. There Kṛṣṇa will come. And I am under bondage. I'm their prisoner, prisoner of this house, because I've got so many debts here. I was an exploiting agent. So much debt I've already incurred and they won't allow me to go out of this, of that jurisdiction. So ostentatiously I'm in their possession, but I take my inner soul's separate through ruci, through my inner intention I connect with the Lord, the subtle-most of the subtle. I sign that side. And external man may be in the obligation of māyā.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That means not by sādhana but by attitude.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By the surrender to that by attitude, attitude of the inner-most attitude. And externally, hypocritically, “I am Yours. I’m at Your disposal. You may do whatever You like with this external form.” But the inner man is absent there. He’s in another place. And the formal things are going on. “Whatever You like You may do with this body. And I’m also doing some duty to You, all these things.” But all absent-minded activity, all dead, the machinery movement. The soul is gone elsewhere. That is also. And for the śaraṇāgata he’s most like that, surrendered soul.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There’s a question. If we may be a preacher, we may be so called para-duḥkha duḥkhī, can that also be material?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, the spiritual consciousness cannot be material. Para-duḥkha duḥkhī means this fasting cannot, half clad, half fed, that is not para-duḥkha duḥkhī. Para-duḥkha duḥkhī in its real sense that, “He’s apathetic to Kṛṣṇa.” That is the source of all his sorrow. So that sort of duḥkha is recognised here, para-duḥkha duḥkhī. Not that, “He’s a poor man so give some money. Or, he’s a diseased man give some doctor.” Not that sort of duḥkha. It is meant that, “He’s devoid of Kṛṣṇa, in the clutches of māyā. Sometimes he’s becoming an Indra, Chandra, Vayu, no position, sometimes the lowest, trees, creatures, all these positions.” That inner poverty of ignorance and misuse of his own self - that is the disease there. And that draws the sympathy of the sādhus. That sort of misery, para-duḥkha means that type of duḥkha, separation of Kṛṣṇa. That is the duḥkha and sādhū is attracted by that plenary misery and not the external consequences there. So not like Ramakrishna Mission, they’re going to do away with the misery externally without caring for what is the real cause of all these miseries.

And para-duḥkha duḥkhī is, even a king who is master of so many things, he's also duḥkhī. Sanātana Goswāmī's diagnosis of misery will be in him also, though externally he's a very rich man, wealthy man, he's a big scholar, he's master of many things of this māyic world, he's also a poor man. So that sort of duḥkha he wants to remove, that devoid of Kṛṣṇa consciousness that is the real duḥkha. Everything, he has got in svarūpa everything, but little disturbance in the brain, and that disease in the brain that should be removed. Then he'll find everything there under the holy feet of Kṛṣṇa. Everything is there in māyā, all wealth is there, only the disease in the brain, wandering in the street, sometimes in a cool garden, sometimes in a desert place, does not matter. The real misery is in the brain, that duḥkha. Sanātana Goswāmī felt sympathy for that duḥkha, that want of Kṛṣṇa consciousness; that is the misery, and his heart cried only for that. Not for this external, ordinary opulence of māyā, etc. Devoid of Kṛṣṇa consciousness they're duḥkhī, they're sufferer. We may be king, or a scholar, or anything, everyone else, a leader, and with great glory, but still he's a man suffering from misery of [lack of] Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That sort of dosa, or sorrow, and he wanted to make remedy of that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā, na ca tasmān manuṣyeṣu, kaścin me priya-kṛttamaḥ

[bhavitā na ca me tasmād, anyaḥ priyataro bhuvī]

[“There is no one in this world of human society more dear to Me than he (who explains the secrets of bhakti to the devotees), nor will there ever be one more dear.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.69]

He says, “Who tells this kathā to My bhakta, he is most dear to Me.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Bhāgavata also, bhūridā janāḥ. “Who is the best giver, or giver of enough, who talks about Me.” Bhuvi grṇanti ye.

tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanaṁ, kavibhir īḍitaṁ kalmaṣāpaham śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ śrīmad-ātataṁ, bhuvi grṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ

[“O Kṛṣṇa, the nectar of Your words and the narrations of Your pastimes give life to us, who are always suffering in this material world. This nectar is broadcast all over the world by great souls, and it removes all sinful reactions. It is all-auspicious and filled with spiritual power. Those who spread this message of Godhead are certainly doing the greatest relief work for human society and are the most magnanimous welfare workers.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.31.9]

“The great givers are those that give My connection, My relation, who can distribute to the people, they’re the real givers, benevolent.”

Who can give the whole, He’s the infinite, infinite beauty, infinite ānanda, infinite rasa; those that try to give Him, Kṛṣṇa, to the world, they’re the best, the maximum givers. Otherwise all poor persons things, all hypocrites, hypocritical transaction, “No, no, no, what is good and he’s giving and taking,” all mechanical matter, mechanical, transaction of the machines. Without knowing what they are themselves, the earth, what is really good or bad, as engaged by māyā, a slave of māyā, and making transactions of this thing and that thing, agents of māyā. And māyā means devoid of truth, and where there’s no truth there’s no ānanda, no rasam. The real givers are those that can distribute Kṛṣṇa consciousness to the world. They’re the real party. Transaction is also here, otherwise all sham and all false, false giving. [?]

Who are making transaction of different things other than Kṛṣṇa consciousness, both of them will go to hell, one who is giving, one who is taking, both will go to hell, to the lowest position of suffering. Kṛṣṇa is the substance, vāstava-vastu, others are avastava, false dealing. They who are dealing with Kṛṣṇa they're dealing with right things, true things. All else, their transaction is all false, concoction, so that is māyā. The land of māyā is misery. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In the Gītā Kṛṣṇa says: “He who tells this to My devotee is most dear to Me. He who tells this knowledge to My devotees is most dear to Me.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. “I’m the Ācārya.”

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Why does He say, “He tells it to My devotees?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “To My devotees” of lower order, and who tells he’s of higher order...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...madhyama-adhikārī. He’s telling to the madhyama-adhikārī to help the kaniṣṭha-adhikārī. Where is it in the Gītā? Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. te ‘pi yānti parāṁ gatim.

*[mām hi pārtha vyapāśritya, ye 'pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ striyo vaiśyās
tathā sūdrās, te 'pi yānti parāṁ gatim]*

["O son of Pṛthā, low-born persons of degraded lineage, women, merchants, or labourers - they also attain the supreme destination by taking full refuge in Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.32]

kiṁ punar brāhmaṇāḥ puṇyā, bhaktā rājarṣayas tathā anityam asukhaṁ lokam, imaṁ prāpya bhajasva mām

["So who can doubt that the pure devotee brāhmaṇas and kṣatriyas will achieve that supreme goal? Therefore, surely engage in My devotional service, since you have attained this temporary and miserable human body after wandering throughout many births."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.33]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.33]

*[mac-cittā mad-gata prāṇā, bodhayantaḥ parasparam] kathayantaś ca
mām nityam, tuṣyanti ca ramanti ca*

Gaurasundara.

[From this section of the recording it is uncertain who is speaking to Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja due to the gradual increasing speed of the recording]

...

Devotee: Mahārāja, sometimes there's a feeling that I'm going to preach but I don't have enough weapons. My weapons are very limited.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But when a superior Vaiṣṇava wants me to do that, then with that, whatever capacity, whatever weapons, whatever I shall do his, I shall obey his order, and gradually I'll get the next higher stage, position, by the higher Vaiṣṇava's command. That will be the test here. What should I do? I may ask from whom I have reverence for, "What to do?" He may say begin in a mean way, in a poor way, but by His will the equipment and capacity will come in no time if He really wants me to do the service. He's everywhere and He can do anything. I have got my limited capacity so I must give that to Him.

patraṁ puṣpaṁ phalaṁ toyaṁ, yo me bhaktyā prayacchati

[tad ahaṁ bhakty-upahṛtam, aśnāmi prayatātmanaḥ]

["Certainly, if one offers Me with devotion a leaf, flower, fruit, and water, I partake of that whole offering from such a pure-hearted and affectionate devotee of Mine. With heartfelt love, I graciously accept.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.26]

Whatever you have you give, you offer that for Him, whatever you have. You begin from there. Whatever capital you have got you begin with that trade. You begin your trade with whatever capital you have got. Then by divine will it may reach to be great, like Himalaya.

Of course, wait for some favourable circumstances, wait and see. What is the purport of the śloka you are searching for?

Devotee: I have some trouble reading the Bengali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any Sanskrit?

Devotee:

na ca tasmān manuṣyeṣu, kaścin me priya-kṛttamaḥ bhavitā na ca me tasmād, anyaḥ priyataro bhuvi

[“In human society there is no one who pleases Me by his actions as does he (who preaches the glories of this Bhagavad-gītā: the Hidden Treasure of the Sweet Absolute), and (in the future) there will never be one more dear to Me in the whole world than he.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.69]

Before that there's also one śloka.

ya imam paramam guhyam, mad-bhaktesv abhidhāsyati bhaktim mayi parām kṛtvā, mām evaiśyaty asaṁśayaḥ

[“One who recounts the glories of this most hidden of all hidden treasures to My devotees - such a person, attaining supreme devotion for Me, will reach Me without a doubt.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.68]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “This is My secret advice, or instruction, and who will distribute it to others they’ll be much benefited and come to Me very soon.” That is the purport. “There is also something; that the high secret in the sādhana, the gradation there is in the sādhana. So what I say here, the śaraṇāgati muna sādhana. This basis of surrender through sādhana, that is most efficacy it has got, and who will say to other class of devotees the śaraṇāgati is the very soul of all services. You’ll get impression about that to other class of devotees, by distribution, by doing good to others, he’ll get promotion very soon to My inner most quarter, inner most.”

Kīrtana, just as when we swim in the water we push the water back and go ahead; kīrtana is something like that. In jet plane also I’m told that devours air, wind, in the front, and with some petrol or something it pushes in the back very forcibly and goes ahead. So kīrtana, to imbibe from Guru and to give a push to the outside world it can get us some progressive energy. What I get I also, then more we get more we can eat from there and more we can push this side. The higher capitalist; we are middle capitalist, middle trader, as much as I can sell the higher capitalist he will give supply. “Yes! He’s selling in a big way, extensive way, so give, supply him.” That is the process: kīrtana. Whatever you get you caste it aside. That pleases the capitalist. The original capitalist is very much pleased when He sees that, “What I’m giving to him he’s_”

There’s another story in Purāṇa. Once Nārada he’s going, roaming through a place. Some beggar, perhaps a poor brāhmaṇa, he’s suffering very much from poverty. He came to Nārada. “You please Devaṛṣi, I’m suffering very much from poverty. My karma does not end. With a family I can eat one day and another day I cannot eat. What to do? Can you manage one thing for me? You are going to Vaikuṇṭha always seeing Nārāyaṇa. Please ask on my behalf that in my life whatever, in the whole life whatever amount of money has been allotted for me, may be given in one day in a fashion. In one day may I not get the whole allotment of my life. Then please try to do that. Then I shall finish the whole life’s resources and then fast and go away.”

Then again Nārada met him. “Have you asked on my account and told the Lord?” “Yes. He said something like five rupees in the whole life you are to get.”

“Yes, yes. You will get that. Whenever you’ll awake in the morning you will find under your pillow that five rupees.”

He took it. And the day after he removed his pillow and found five rupees. He took that thing, and marketed, the whole money was spent. And he invited many of his neighbours and finished the whole thing, by marketing, and wife cooking. And in this way he finished the whole capital.

Now the next day, “Now we have to fast, my whole life’s income finished, now I have nothing to do but fast.” But with some curiosity he removed the pillow, saw again that five rupees. “What is that?” That also he took and went to the market and finished the whole thing, invited the neighbours. Next day also he removed another five rupees.

Then people in the locality thought, “This man, living from hand to mouth, could not collect even his own food, and he’s [?]”

Anyhow he’s going on, happy with that. Then another day he met Devaṛṣi Nārada. “How are you doing brāhmaṇa?”

“Very well: very well.” “Why; how?”

“Whatever I get I distribute to the others, and these things I cook and Then again I find I can’t understand how it is possible.”

Then Devaṛṣi says, “Oh! I have understood. It was meant for you, but you distribute to others. So for that labour, you and your wife you can get food, because she cooks and you market, some labour, and you distribute. So as a wealth of that work five rupees constant [?]”

Whatever we get from the Guru we’ll distribute to others. So the capital continues to come, it’s such a thing.

“He’s a proper appreciator of My nature. So much so it cannot check him to give it to others. In his appreciation for Me is such genuine and intense, he cannot but distribute to the environment.”

So by that pushing the water, or the air of the jet plane The current, the understanding: that is pushed aside, behind. Śravaṇa, kīrtana, so not only śravaṇa or only kīrtana, but kīrtana means śravaṇa. One who will attend śravaṇa, kīrtana is compulsory for him. When he’s going to preach he cannot but feel the difficulties of preaching. Many things will come. New problems will come. So he’ll have to face new things. And then when he’ll hear from the higher source [?]

So when we do kīrtana, it is of a particular knowledge, practical knowledge, we’re out for the collection of money. And the collection of money, that is also a constituent part of kīrtana. Because people won't care to hear you, but if they're to pay money then they're attentive to listen to you. And then they're benefited because their energy will be used in the service of the Lord. And when money, to part with, they cannot but give some attention to you, and thereby kīrtana, and then gradually enquiry will come from them. "Give some dollar. You have got less in your understanding. At least you're in the consciousness of your inner want." And whenever anyone comes to read Bhāgavatam, or to hear a sādhū, then that one day that truth will be attempted, that, "I could not answer that person really, but outwardly I gave some answer, but my inner self was not satisfied with that answer. But what is the real answer of that? I'm Your expectant. And when sufficient will come You'll just scatter that thing..."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I heard this story, perhaps in nineteen twenty one.

Another gentleman, one day he gave lecture, we attended, he came back from Haridvar and Hṛṣikeśa also. He's also standing on the bench in the square addressing students and so many are talking. Many men standing on the bench, then they began to deliver lecture, and so many students out of curiosity they flocked there. So one day, that man is full of that white leprosy, coming back from Udbard [?] and other tīrtha. He told, in quest of whether the God is or not, whether the Lord is or not. With this idea he went to consult some sādhus there, a mile or two off, up there Udbard I met one sādhu coming down from the hill. And I fell flat under his feet and then asked him, "Have you seen God? Can you see Him?" This was my question.

"Yes. I have seen. Yes. He is." "Can I see?"

"Don't you see?" In this way he cried aloud. "Don't you see Him?" In such a tone he cried aloud, "Don't you see Him all around? A flash of light came within me. I thought your unity in the consciousness of the birds, trees, everything is within one common flow of ātmā, I found in my heart. Then I was a little calmed."

And he went on in his own way. One gentleman gave a lecture like that. So many lecturers they're of different types.

Another gentleman, perhaps a Brahmo, he's delivering lectures, ridiculing sanātana dharma, the sandhya, vandhana, all these things. I used to perform sandhya, coming from a brāhmaṇa family, used to do that.

Then he referred to some Viṣṇupādi. “Viṣṇupādi is a place there in Haridwar, Viṣṇupādi. And the founders of the sandhya mantra they say ganga tui viṣṇupādi. They say that the Gaṅgā is coming from Viṣṇu Pādapadma, from the sweat of the foot of Viṣṇu the Gaṅgā is coming. But they do not know that there is Viṣṇupādi, there is a place near Haridwar and the Gaṅgā flowing nearby. And only for that Gaṅgā's name is Viṣṇupādi. But not from there, not she had her birth in Viṣṇu Pādapadma. But it is for that place and coming by that Viṣṇupādi place so its name is Viṣṇupādi and she does not come from the sweat of the holy feet of Viṣṇu. This is all ornamental. This is lie. It is false.” In this way he gave.

But I put a question to him, ha, ha, ha. The Gaṅgā, the Bhāgīrathī is passing, and it is known as Hoogly River. From Hoogly, the lower portion is said to be, the river's name is Hoogly. So should we mean that that is the, that should be the name of that. Because Hoogly is there so we say Gaṅgā to be Hoogly River. But should we think that Ganges has no other origin far above? Then what is the matter, it is passing through Viṣṇupādi so Gaṅgā will be... Some people may think that Viṣṇupādi. From Viṣṇupādi the name of Gaṅgā may not come, but from Gaṅgā the place may be Viṣṇupādi. That also may be. That gentleman did not say anything. He did not reply. There is a place on the side on the banks of the Ganges whose name is Viṣṇupādi. And how can state that he's coming up from Visnu pādapadma, that cannot be. The Hoogly name, from Hoogly downwards it is Hoogly. But on the upward Ganges is that also Hoogly?

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So, I retire now. Gaura Haribol. You are making tape? No?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. We are told often that the Guru and śiṣya, if the śiṣya is not successful in this life we are told that the Guru will return by taking another janma, another birth. So I want to ask does he personally take another janma or does Paramātmā rūpa manifest?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow the relation will continue, continue. And whether that particular soul who was delegated in the previous life he will come, he will be sent or not, no guarantee. But anyhow the disciple will have consciousness of that. He will see that my former Gurudeva may be in different forms. Not unknown. He will see that I am known, not unknown, to my master. He was my Guru. He knows everything. But external form may not be similar, similar.

Suppose a disciple may come in a particular country, in a particular sect. The Guru may also come in a particular country, in a particular sect, particular education. That may be, may be. The śiṣya will come, the disciple will come to exactly the same position? That may not be. And the Guru will also come in that fixed position? That also may not be. But they will be able to recognise one another, each other. My Guru, he knows about my previous life. And the disciple will also feel that he knows everything about me. I am beginning in the same place.

So, with such broadness we are to look at our Guru Mahārāja, so in this way it is sākṣād-dharitvena, not only the person but plus something else, Guru tattva means. And that manipulation is by the Lord or His svarūpa-śakti. But anyhow no disturbance will be about the past.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They say, I don't know if it is correct, but they say that the Guru, because his disciple was not successful he may not return to the Dhāma, to the back to Godhead. But he may remain in this, in the brahmāṇḍa. That question...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They say that the Guru may not return back to Kṛṣṇa. He may not go. He may remain in this world. In that way...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If that is the case then no Guru can return to Kṛṣṇa any time because the continuation of the disciple will remain.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he will have no leisure any time in his life. But it may not be so.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. That is why I was ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He may be, sometimes he may be deputed himself, or others also may be deputed in that case.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the inner instruction and inner feeling will be such, the paraphernalia, that they will have no trouble for that. Officer may change but the function will go on smoothly. [?]

...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: You were saying he doesn't necessarily, the Guru doesn't necessarily remain. The Guru may return back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Guru may return. The Nāma Guru, mantra Guru, sannyāsa Guru, they're all Gurus, but we must see something common in them, and so the expression, so the statement about the ontological aspect of Guru, the sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 7] "I Myself."

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

"You should consider, you should look for there Myself. I am there. I am your Guru. In My different types of śakti or general recruitment in any way, I am Guru. It is My function to take you up. In different place but still I am there. I am there. I am there in My mādhurya-rasa śakti or sākhya-rasa śakti, vātsalya-rasa śakti, or dāsya-rasa śakti, in a general way also."

Sometimes one may be recruited by Rāmānuja sampradāya, then maybe again converted into Kṛṣṇa sampradāya, Gauḍīya sampradāya. It is also possible. So internal link we are to...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then if they say that, 'he will come back, come back,' that is a mundane conception, a wrong conception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The main thread, the main thread. Not always, almost, to the beginners it is safe to say that he will come back. But ultimately we see that even that one may be transferred into another section, another section. This zigzag way also may reach according to the detection of his inner, unfolding of his inner necessity the departmental change may occur.

Or he will see the change in his own Guru. In the first sight he saw his Guru of one type. Then again in progress he will see the same Guru, he may be another thing found in their new thing, new thing. 'I could not detect so much depth in my Guru in the beginning. I saw him such and such, but now I find that he's something more and more.' In this way unfolding, here unfolding and there also unfolding.

So āveśa, śaktyāveśa, Guru is something like śaktyāveśa. But is it chance coincidence all these śaktyāveśa? And that is permanent śaktyāveśa, always, the śaktyāveśa. According to the necessity of the situation and by the will, by the dispensation of the Lord, they will be connected but they won't feel any disturbance, due to His presence within.

Who will quench the evolved progress of one's heart, unfolding of heart, a new demand, new thirst, and that will be quenched by whom? He's Guru, he's Guru, and he will have not any scrupulousness or anything else. The internal thirst is being satisfied. And there is my Gurudeva. The unfolding, gradual unfolding, and the attendance of the same from the upper side, there is Guru, there is Guru. Guru, guide, with my progress, guidance of different type will be necessary for me. New guidance, new guidance, with the progress I shall be taken into different planes and new types of guidance, new life will be acquired, in this way.

But the main thread, the raso vai saḥ, the pure rasa, pure ecstasy, and that will, hrdaye nābhya nujñāto, my inner heart will approve. Heart will approve, cannot but approve, cannot but approve. 'Yes. I want this. I want this. This is my fate, this is my fortune,' in this way. Otherwise, if any soul, madhyama adhikārī, he's once appointed as Guru, and so many disciples, and he will come again and again, he can't enter into nitya-līlā any time.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That cannot be. But anyhow, who will be connected, here, both parties will be satisfied, because of His presence. So He says ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān. It is not meaningless. It has got sufficient purpose, ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit / na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ. Don't go to limit the Ācārya, don't limit Ācārya. So He says ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta. "You have come up, so the Ācārya whom you first meet perhaps you have surpassed him, first meeting of the Ācārya. Nāvamanyeta, don't see less in him, don't see him of lower position, nāvamanyeta. I was there, I was there. In a primary teacher I was there. As a schoolteacher there also I am, college teacher, so nāvamanyeta, don't see outside. I am your guide, in different forms I am your guide." So, ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit / na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ. "He has got special characteristic than an ordinary general Vaiṣṇava, Ācārya. For you, I am there." Hare Kṛṣṇa. "Mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, backing so many Ācārya, so many Ācārya, I am at the back, working through them, mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, pumān bhavābdhiṁ na taret sa ātmahā."

[nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ sukalpaṁ guru-karṇadhāram mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, pumān bhavābdhiṁ na taret sa ātmahā] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.17]

"They're like helmsmen in different boats, Ācāryas. And I am the favourable wind helping so many boats to make progress."

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Don't limit the Ācārya, don't limit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Don't limit. Try to see him in the same level with Me."

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In the Bhāgavatam our Śrīla Prabhupāda, he wrote something in the purport in connection with the story of Dhruva Mahārāja, the third canto. He said Dhruva Mahārāja was very, very strong and he could take his mother back to the Dhāma, back to Godhead. So our Prabhupāda wrote, "If I have one strong disciple then he can take me back to Godhead." So we find this statement very mysterious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Dhruva's Guru was his mother, his mother was vartma-pradarśaka, first guide. Just as Cintāmaṇi in the case of Bilvamaṅgala, so through her also that Kṛṣṇa, that Ācārya, vartma-pradarśaka. Then Dhruva came out pressed by his mother, first start from mother. Next from Nārada, then by dint of his bhajana when he attained the place, then again he took his vartma-pradarśaka Guru, mother. She was still left perhaps. So vartma-pradarśaka Guru, a very rare case we find that also, the vartma-pradarśaka, who gives the first start, to the kaniṣṭha-adhikārī bhakta, gave first start. But we are to consider the past life of Dhruva and also his mother. Dhruva in his past life he had some more progress and now in this life his mother, who was arranged by the Lord to give some starting, and then he adopted the path of bhajana. Nimittam, his mother was nimitta, starting. But both of them have previous life and previous progress in the proper direction.

Primary teachers, first they may deal with an extraordinary scholar in the beginning. Then he passes, and again have - the other day I told to someone that in [Edmund] Burke [1729-1797] we read that the grandson was so much qualified that he was conferred the title of lord. And to make him lord his grandfather was also to be made lord. So lord, the title comes from up to down, but here, from down to up. The grandfather, he was given recognition of lord and then father and grandfather. But first the grandson, he got the title of lord by the dint of his capacity. There was a case we read from Burke Conciliation, that American war. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Impeachment of Warren Hastings, these are the American Taxation Conciliation, in the Parliament, the Burke was a very good player, advocate, or barrister, something like that, he pleaded. And in B.A. class we had to read those things.

So it may be because by previous arrangements the less qualified he may give push to a more qualified person, when young. And then, in return he also may help him, help him. So Guru, he, he means that God consciousness in different sections and different places. From different directions one may receive help.

[Śrī Guru-vandanā, 3] [He who has given me the gift of transcendental vision is my lord, birth after birth.]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whenever any difference we are to see the common thread, sometimes. Absolute will have the better consideration than the relative position. Both Absolute and relative consideration, and without that, then no progress is possible. Absolute and relative, both considerations must go side by side, side by side. Absolute has the primary position, and relative temporary, suiting to the purpose of time, space, and person. So in the longest journey of my life, and my greatest interest, we are already given, the keeps, the connection of the Absolute, always, always. So there is unity. Even in a Guru when he says, this ordinary Guru. The śāstra also has kept up that link.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, [bālānām anuśāsanam karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

It is unable, if I say that don't eat fish, meat, etc, he won't come into the fold. But our policy is that they must come, so give some laxity. In the śāstra and Guru also there, similar Guru, similar śāstra is there, but hoping that they will take the way of that progress. So, so much generous, the śāstra, the śāstra is in the lowest, to the lowest generation, lowest section, and the Guru also similar is there, similar Guru and similar śāstra, similar sādhū. In this way the śāstra extended to the lowest plane to take up in the gradual process. The śāstracar, he has got in his mind that in this gradual process some provision they must be given, otherwise they will fly away. So they should be taken up in the gradual process. The universal mind is there. And that sort of consciousness is in the mind of the Ṛṣi that has prepared that śāstra, and Guru, lakham, all these things.

vyavasthitis-teṣu vivāha-yajña-surāgrahairasu nivṛttiriṣṭhā*

["Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions for people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one's lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramaṇi sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licences for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and to encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make a person abstain from these activities."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

You take wine, but under some condition, if you offer it to the particular devata and then take. You take meat and fish but don't take all sorts of meat, all sorts of flesh. And try to keep up without animal food on such day, and such day, such day. And by instalments they're taken up. Vivāha vyavaya, don't go freely to the women but you marry a wife and try to keep your enjoyment there only, in this way only restricting. Then, when he'll be a little grown up, no more, my son, enough has been done.

The real progress awaiting you from such position and its nature will be such and such. When grown up little then that sort of duty will be attached to him. The śāstra, and sādhū, that is Guru, and is going to the extremity of the sinful area. Otherwise they will have no chance of coming up. But the disciples of sādhaka, in general they'll take up from their own plane and to go up. And there also they will find such Guru, such śāstra, all in the middle. Just as we see our jurisdiction of the light, very much intense we can't see, and very meagre we can't see. Sound also, very intensified sound we can't hear, and very less we can't hear. So we work in the relative position. But we are told to stick to the Absolute thread contained within, to understand the whole thing.

Ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit. Don't undermine. Na martya- buddhyāsūyeta. Though you see some mundane characteristic there, sleeping, eating, all these things, but don't undermine, undermine. Then you'll be loser. Just as in the Ganges water, in the Śrī Mūrti, no stone, no wood, no watery substance, but it can purify, Ganges water can purify what, the water aspect? No. Another aspect, and that analysed ultimately we see the order of the Lord, His order that it will purify. The will, the purifying power, comes from His will, His will backing. So Absolute backing we shall try to find everywhere, and also the relative position we can't sacrifice, then we'll have to go to nirviśeṣa. He, with all His system, paraphernalia of different nature, characteristic, we want to have both, śakti and śaktimān. In no case we can sacrifice śakti, either of them.

When [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī says that, “I do not want Kṛṣṇa if Rādhārāṇī is not there. I want rather Rādhārāṇī.” Then who is Rādhārāṇī? Who is Rādhārāṇī? She's full of Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. “So I want Rādhārāṇī?” So Kṛṣṇa is there, and in different relative positions He becomes, to the particular persons, sweet, sweeter, sweetest, in this way gradation is there.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: We are feeling our Guru Mahārāja's presence within you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It maybe for you. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There are five principals for devotion, for bhakti, and one of the principals is residing in the Dhāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is that for general devotees or just fortunate devotees?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: General means madhyama-adhikārī, who can discriminate.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaniṣṭha adhikārī cannot discriminate the various positions. Hare Kṛṣṇa [?] Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

“Religion is proper adjustment.” Our Guru Mahārāja used to tell now and then, “Proper adjustment.” Proper adjustment, sambandha-jñāna, then the function will come accordingly, and the necessity, the destination, will be fixed on that, sambandha-jñāna. Sanātana Goswāmī is the Ācārya of sambandha-jñāna. Who is who, who is who, who am I, where am I, what am I? All these things, why I am troubled, what's the real purpose of my life?

Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The adjustment with the Absolute and the relative, nothing can be sacrificed, adjustment of the Absolute and the relative. And one thing we must always keep in mind, that we can't investigate all these subtle, higher knowledge as a subject. But according to the degree of our, our śaraṇāgati, surrender, the truth will come down to make Himself known to me. That thing we must always remember in our mind. Otherwise there will be some imitation, imitative spirit will be created. It is not under the jurisdiction of intellectualism. That is rather dangerous. Intellectualism is dangerous. That will help us to think that as if we have got the thing. It will be negligence to the infinite characteristic, the infinite aspect of the Lord. Adhokṣaja.

Sometimes I asked Prabhupāda, that Rūpa Goswāmī, he closes Braja līlā in one way, and Sanātana Goswāmī in another way. And both of them got their instruction from Mahāprabhu. Why this difference? Guru Mahārāja told, “Why it has been called adhokṣaja?” Ha, ha, ha. Adhokṣaja cannot be harmonised within our intellect. Acintya bhedābheda, acintya bhedābheda, both may be true simultaneously, acintya.

Vāsudeva-nandana, Nanda-nandana, the Ācārya harmonised the two children and then one entered into another. Baladeva is having rasa. The Ācārya explained the Baladeva made rasa of Kṛṣṇa in His heart. Externally He's seen to participate in the pastimes of the gopīs direct, but internally He's enjoying, He's making Kṛṣṇa to enjoy that rasa in His heart. He's not the enjoyer Himself. These are the harmonising instructions of the upper house. This is the way we shall harmonise. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the different animals, and trees, insects, in the Dhāma...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're wholesale cinmaya, they're not under bondage, but posing, difference of posing. Particular type of service and they have got fullest satisfaction in that plane of their service. They imbibe the best blissful internal feeling thereby and do not want any other. In their relative position they are fully satisfied there, fullest aspect. Just as in other rasas, sākhya, vātsalya, yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

[kintu yāñra yei rasa, sei sarvottama / taṭa-stha hañā vicāṛile, āche tara-tama]

[“It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.83]

He thinks that, “What I get, this is the best. I do not like to interfere in another. What I draw, this is the best position I have got.” yei, in vātsalya, sākhya, etc, śanta-rasa is also like – there’ll be different types. The trees are there, the baluka, the sands are there, so many animals and beasts are there, the birds are there, trees, creepers, but still the qualitative difference.

Uddhava, Uddhava, Dwārakā, the highest, he wants to aspire after the birth of a creeper in Vṛndāvana. Qualitative difference in śanta-rasa, Dwārakā also there is śanta-rasa, but the sākhya-rasa, highest type of sākhya-rasa in Dwārakā aspires after the śanta-rasa service in Vṛndāvana, when he has got a little peeping in the atmosphere of the type of quality of service in rendering in Vṛndāvana. He's the highest in a particular plane but he has got this absolute consideration. Though relative position, he's satisfied there, but absolute always supersedes, otherwise the unity, the connection of the whole, so everything will be dislocated and disorganised. So absolute consideration is possible from every position, from their own position they realise the supremacy of Vṛndāvana though he's satisfied there. A taṭasthā-vicāra, that is also there, yei rasa, sei sarvottama. Taṭa-stha hañā vicārile, āche tara- tama [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya līlā, 8.83]

So it's a difficult thing, relative and absolute, and the absolute has always got the better hand, superior hand. Sarva-dharmān parityajya, everywhere, absolute consideration, this Guru, śikṣā Guru, all these things.

Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura has his Guru Lokanātha, but still he aspires after, “When the day will come when Raghunātha will take me by my hand and will guide me to Rūpa Goswāmī? You give some engagement here in your camp. You will surrender me to Rūpa Goswāmī.”

The absolute consideration underground!

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the animals here in Navadvīpa are liberated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Liberated? Yes, liberated, and one who can see that in his Navadvīpa eye...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu.

[“I offer praṇāmas unto the haughty Śrī Lalitā Devī who is charmingly endowed with many beautiful, sweet qualities (sulalita). She has natural expertise in all arts (lalita), thus her sevā self-manifests. She wipes away the glittering drops of perspiration which appear upon the lotus feet of Śrī Rādhā and Mādhava when They meet; and she is perpetually immersed in the most elevated mellow of sauhrda-rasa, or undivided absorption in fulfilling the heart's desire of her intimate friend Śrīmatī Rādhikā.”]

Her nature: rādhā-mukunda-pada-sambhava-gharmma-bindu, if a drop of sweat is found in the holy feet of Rādhārāṇī and Govinda, she can't tolerate that. And with the earnestness of million times intensity she comes to remove that drop of sweat at the feet of Rādhā-Govinda. That has been shown to be the direction where and in what intense degree of service and love she is living, her abode. Her abode is located where? It is the domain of love. And according to the intensity the gradation is there, and her quarter located in such a place. Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu gives a glimpse of that. That so earnest, so eager in her rendering service to the Divine Jewel, that a slight necessity makes her a million times expansion, expanded, to do the service, to attend the service, small service, and so much eagerness for a small service, such a magnitude of eagerness. That is Lalitā Devī.

Rādhā-mukunda-pada-sambhava-gharmma-bindu-, nirmmañcanopakaraṇe kṛta-deha-lakṣyām, uttugga-sauhrda-visesa-vasat pragalbham. She's a little aggressive in her nature, but that is due to her too much intensity of love towards Them. A little forward, more forward, as if she's less modest, a little haughty it may seem. But what is the reason? She can't tolerate any drawback or any mistake in rendering the service. So sometimes her humility seems to be crossed, but that is due to the infinite intensity of the love towards Them, pragalbham. Devim gunaih sulalitam. But Rūpa Goswāmī says, “Gunaih sulalitam, we do not see the roughness, but that seems to us very mild and soft. Her little haughtiness seems to us to be softness. So humility, such is her internal wealth. Lalitam namami. Let us show our obeisance to her.” Today is her birthday we are told from the scriptures. Yam kam api vraja-vanī.

[yam kam api vraja-kule vrsabhanujayah-, preksya sva-paksa-padavim anuruddhyamanam - sadyas tad ista-ghatanena krtarthayantim-, devim gunaih sulalitam lalitam namamī]

["I offer praṇāmas unto the supremely charming Śrī Lalitā Devī, the treasure house of all good qualities. Upon seeing any young maiden anywhere in Vraja and discerning that she is inclined towards her priya-sakhī Śrīmatī Rādhikā, Lalitā immediately tells Rādhā that She must accept this person in Her own party (sva-paksa). Rādhā obeys Lalitā, who thus fulfils that maiden's desires."] [Lalitāṣṭakam, 7]

When she's roaming about the streets of Vṛndāvana, so many are coming with petition in hand, "Please enlist my name in the service of your group. I want to have admission in your group." Not only that, she's taken immediately and also canvassing wherever she goes, canvassing, "Come, join our group to do service to my Lord and Lady." So everywhere, she's also requested, and she's also requested, and she's also requested for the service of the Divine Pair. That is the nature of Lalitā Devī.

More we are told about her that she's a little more inclined towards Rādhārāṇī than Kṛṣṇa. Rādhārāṇī She sometimes cannot represent Her side out of Her humility, but before that, Lalitā Devī, she goes ahead to get the superior understanding for Rādhārāṇī's party, from Kṛṣṇa. Of course, that is the very deeper layer, deeper plane, of the Divine love affairs between Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. That is too high for us. Still, we are told like that.

pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura]

Our direction from Guru Mahārāja, "Don't tackle all those fine things of the domain of love roughly. Stand a respectable distance and try to view them with greatest, with utmost respectful reverence." Very fine, very subtle, very soft and susceptible is the plane of the divine love of such high degree. So fools rush in where angels fear to tread, keep always in your mind. Otherwise in the name of real love you will acquire something else.

guru-gaṇa-śīre punaḥ śobha pāya śata-guṇa

["All desirable objects, when offered to our Gurus, become glorified one hundred-fold, as Their crown-jewels."]

The very key to have entrance into that plane, to try to see, to look at them on the head of one's Guru Mahārāja. Then it will see that thing very brightly, "It is on the head of my Gurudeva." This is the secret that has been given to us by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Try to see it at the head, over the head of your Guru Mahārāja, then it will shine very brightly to you, guru-gaṇa-śīre punaḥ śobha pāya śata-guṇa. So don't be very aggressive in nature, there in that spirit you will be loser. Pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge.

Lalitā Devī is a very beloved of both of Them, the Divine Couple, but she's a little more tending towards Rādhārāṇī, Rādhā-dāsyā. And our line of devotion goes through that. Different lines to approach Kṛṣṇa, even in mādhurya-rasa also, different. But through Rādhārāṇī, if we want to go to Kṛṣṇa we approach Kṛṣṇa in the side of the service of Rādhārāṇī, then our desired leader we can try to have Śrī Lalitā Devī. And then next position, Rūpa Goswāmī, from Rūpa through Lalitā towards Rādhārāṇī, that should be our, that way has been demarcated for us by our well-wishers. And we must consider it very soberly and sincerely and we shall try to learn how we should deal with them. They are all our Guru or guide, they're all our guide. If we have aspiration for a drop of that divine nectar of that intensity then we are to follow such course in our life.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Then any question? Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: What is Viśākhā Devī's position in our line of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśākhā Devī's a little inclined, she's impartial mostly, more sober and sometimes a little inclined towards Kṛṣṇa. That is her position. And she's very expert in playing music with musical instruments and also singing, all these things. Viśākhā Devī.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rūpa Mañjarī, Lalitā's line is.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahāprabhu līlā to Svarūpa Dāmodara Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, Lalitā Devī, Svarūpa Dāmodara. Lalitā Devī's avatāra is Svarūpa Dāmodara.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, why didn't Rūpa Goswāmī take initiation from Svarūpa Dāmodara Prabhu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu asked Svarūpa Dāmodara Prabhu to connect with Rūpa Goswāmī. Rūpa Prabhu, Rūpa Mañjarī has got direct connection also with Rādhā-Govinda in particular service. We are told when Rādhā-Govinda are alone the sakhīs may not have entrance there, for their grown up age, capacity. But the mañjarīs they are of less age so they have got free entrance in that position. At that time they get the chance of direct service. And the leader of the mañjarī class is Rūpa Mañjarī. So Mahāprabhu, rāga-mārga, the rāga-mārga He direct made connection with Śrī Rūpa, and also asked Svarūpa to be connected with him, "Whatever you know you please favourably distribute it to Śrī Rūpa." That was His request. So in Guru paramparā also we find:

mahāprabhu śrī-caitanya, rādhā-kṛṣṇa nahe anya rūpānuga janera jīvana viśwambhara priyaṅkara śrī-swarūpa dāmodara, śrī-goswāmī rūpa-sanātana

[This is the sixth verse, of eight, from Śrī Guru-paramparā, by Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 90-2]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, the other day I was just wondering, Rūpa Goswāmī and Sanātana Goswāmī had a brother, Anupama, and Anupama was a Rāma bhakta. So what is their relationship, like in the spiritual sky, what is the relationship between Anupama and Rūpa Goswāmī and Sanātana Goswāmī? They are in Mahāprabhu's līlā and he's in Ayodhyā līlā, Rāmacandra's līlā, so do they have the same brother relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That external relationship of brotherhood. Just as Murari Gupta he was also amongst the pārśada, paraphernalia of Mahāprabhu, but still he maintained his natural serving function to Rāmacandra, but with some tinge of Gaura līlā. So, some influence of Kṛṣṇa līlā had in Anupama, but mainly his attitude towards Rāma worship. Rāmacandra means niti, too much addicted or...to morality, scripture, vidhi-bhakti, maryādā. That is something, some want in the quality of surrender. Kṛṣṇa līlā demands maximum surrender, especially in Vraja līlā, maximum surrender. And Kṛṣṇa also, ye yathā mām prapadyante, [tāṁs tathaiva bhajāmy aham mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ]

["As a person takes refuge in Me and surrenders unto Me, I respond and reward accordingly. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the objective to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, everyone follows My various paths in all respects."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11]

The corresponding grace of Kṛṣṇa comes also in that intensity. So that is Svayaṁ-Bhagavān and the paraphernalia also must get that benefit that they're more wealthy, they also receive the most.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Can we also look at it this way Mahārāja, that from Rāma līlā ... they...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Murari Gupta also had some connection with Gaura līlā and he has described Mahāprabhu's līlā also. But Mahāprabhu graciously showed him that He's Rāmacandra, so abheda. But still he's seen to stick to that Rāma līlā of Gaurāṅga knowing it fully well that Gaurāṅga is not less than Rāmacandra. Just as the relative devotees, yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

[kintu yāñra yei rasa, sei sarvottama / taṭa-stha hañā vicāṛile, āche tara-tama]

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 8.83]

The vātsalya-rasa group thinks that, "I am gainer of the highest type." Sākhya-rasa group they will also think that, "What I get, the bliss in my service, and that is the highest. Kṛṣṇa loves me most." This is a relative position and that can be applied here also.

siddhānta-tas-tva-bhedo 'pi śrīśa-kṛṣṇa-svarūpayoḥ resenot-kṛṣyate kṛṣṇa-rūpameṣā raṣasthitiḥ

["Although Nārāyaṇa, the Lord of Vaikuṇṭha, and Śrī Kṛṣṇa are one and the same, on the basis of the fact Śrī Kṛṣṇa exhibits the super excellence of conjugal mellow, He is considered to be superior. In Him alone do all rasas find their final and absolute expression."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.32]

Though it is not quite different, the same in different pastimes, the particular affinity, or yogyatā, ability, to serve in a particular position, that is the call. And the great hierarchy of adjustment, everywhere there should be some servitors or other, must be, advaya-jñāna, the harmony, the adjustment with different stages and different nature of servitors. But there is the gradation. And though that taṭasthā-vicāra, the absolute consideration is there, that does not mean that it should encourage us to be particular about the, or indifferent about the services of the lower order. We should not, we should be careful against hating and undermining the other servants, servitors in their respective position. That will be an offence to my Lord. We must not disregard those that are engaged in the services of different layers. That will hamper our own cause. Rather, our tendency will be opposite. We shall be hankering after the services of the lower nature. That is the nature and law of that.

Rādhārāṇī, She says, "By the grace of Tulasī Devī I came in contact with Kṛṣṇa." Though She's in the best eternal contact with Kṛṣṇa always, but still She says, "By Tulasī Devī's grace I have attained such position." That sort of,

sadā hariḥ*

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Mahāprabhu, this primary statement has got a very deep and deeper, deepest value. That pride cannot take us to hold a high office. But always our tendency and sympathy will be for lower services.

Rādhārāṇī Herself says, "My hankering is always towards the service of the divine feet. I want to serve like a maidservant. But because Kṛṣṇa wants to enjoy Me in another way, only to be the fodder of His earnest desire, I offer Myself in any way He likes. But My tendency is to serve His feet." That is Her nature. And that is the nature of the whole hierarchy. And that is the beauty.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, that we must aspire for the lowest service, so does it mean that we should aspire for the śānta or the dāsyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will, easy jurisdiction, that is from a particular position to come to a relation, and easy as itch. That will be their aspiration, confined to. And sometimes even they say about vaṁśī, "That we are jealous of the position of the flute." So it goes like that sometimes. That is the key to success. Humility, with tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, that is śaraṇāgati, that is the key to success. That will enhance the negative character of life, which can draw Kṛṣṇa maximum. Always towards, the tendency to go to, sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu raso 'stu satyam

["I won't allow myself to become fascinated by the proposal of the higher level service as a friend, sākhya. Rather, I shall tend always to do the lower service, dāsyā, the service of the servant. I shall not consider myself to be a high-class servitor and I shall always tend to go towards the lower class of service. But He may forcibly take me to a higher service - "No, you are no longer to serve there; now you must serve in this higher category."] [Vilāpa- kusamāñjali, 16]

That nature has been expressed in [Śrīla Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī. "Dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu, my real internal sincere tendency must go to the lower side. I'm unfit." And that increases the yogyatā, qualification, that increases, the qualification, this quality. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu's śikṣā is that, tṛṇād api sunīcena. A long-standing prospect is there. Tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ. That attitude will make you; will draw for you the greatest benefit. Don't try to go up but try to go down. And that is the key to success of that domain. Humble of the humble, humility of humility.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, we see that Nārada Muni is going everywhere. Sometimes he's in Vṛndāvana, sometimes he's in Vaikuṇṭha. Sometimes he's here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everywhere.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: What is Nārada Muni's original position? What is his relationship with Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ [established in non-calculative devotion], that has been, there his position is located. Jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ. He has crossed...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Jñāna platform.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the utility of knowing that the subjective tendency, as a subject we shall make Kṛṣṇa object of our knowledge. That has been crossed. And devotion, service, is the only thing by which we can really come to His connection. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti [non-calculative and knowledge-free unalloyed devotion], and with some connection with Vraja rasa but from a respectable distance, as shadow.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Is it somewhere between śanta and dāsyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śanta, dāsyā, a different, śanta, dāsyā, and with a tinge of sākhya, mādhurya and vātsalya. He can approach those, but his real position is śanta dāsyā. Dāsyā somewhat, not compulsory, but free, and having connection with broad jurisdiction he can approach anywhere and everywhere with some particular purpose. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It's so difficult to make out these transcendental relationships of the devotees of Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, it is of infinite character. So we must not forget that we are going to deal with infinite, adhokṣaja, infinite as well as adhokṣaja; our master hand. We are in the position of their objective existence. They're subject type, super subject. It is our audacity that we go to discuss about Them. But only being an instrument in the hand of our Guru or our guides that we venture to do so, to give some glimpse of the upper realm to attract people of fortunate type.

Atikrāntaṁ akṣṣajam, indriyajam. Avāṇ-manaso gocaraḥ, [the mind is full of misconception], we must not forget all these things, then everything is gone. Adhokṣaja, Śrīmad-Bhāgavat is very fond of using this expression adhokṣaja. Why? The Bhāgavat has come to deal with aprākṛta rasa which is very similar to this world, these things. So this warning has been repeatedly used there, adhokṣaja, adhokṣaja. adhaḥkṛtaṁ atikrāntaṁ akṣṣajam, indriyajam jñānaṁ yena. Don't mix with your sense experiences. By very careful, very particular care you should take. Don't mix this with your worldly incidents. Warning here and there always repeated, adhokṣaja. Yato bhaktir adhokṣaje:

[sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje ahaituky apratihātā, yayātmā suprasīdati]

["The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendental Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6]

Be fully conscious that what you are going to deal with, that is not māyā, it is a fifth thing, a thing within the four walls, it cannot be limited, never. It is independent nature, it is vague, it can show you in variegatedness. So, you are seeing in a particular way. Don't think He's confined there only. He may take another shape. In this way, so be very careful that you are going to deal with a thing who is independent absolute. Ha, ha. So you can't make you forcibly enter into the cage of your knowledge, any particular concept you can't catch Him. He's independent and absolutely independent nature and infinite in nature. Still, tomāya cākhāite tāra kahi eka 'bindhu', - pārāpāra-śūnya gabhīra bhakti-rasa-sindhu.

[prabhu kahe - śuna, rūpa, bhakti-rasera lakṣaṇa / sūtra-rūpe kahi, vistāra nā yāya varṇana pārāpāra-śūnya gabhīra bhakti-rasa-sindhu / tomāya cākhāite tāra kahi eka 'bindhu']

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "My dear Rūpa, please listen to Me. It is not possible to describe devotional service completely; therefore I am just trying to give you a synopsis of the symptoms of devotional service.] [The ocean of the transcendental mellow of devotional service is so big that no one can estimate its length and breadth. However, just to help you taste it, I am describing but one drop."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.136-7]

“No limit. Like an ocean of rasa, only a drop I am try to introduce to you, with a drop, eka-bindu jagat ḍubāya.” [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19] A little after He says, “This one drop is sufficient to cover the whole world, to inundate the whole world.” It is a drop of infinite. A part of infinite is also infinite. So with this respect, this, the primary stage, this sort of conviction is a plane where we are to stand and then to enquire. This data, the deduction must come out of such data. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

When the devotee beholds Him he is freed from lamentation, and by the grace of the Lord [Dhātṛ] he realises the superiority of the Supreme Soul.”] [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 1.2.20]

In the primary stage all these things to be dealt with: unknown and unknowable.

avidya avikema pasup tavi vasam vita [?]

The scholars have described Him like this and that is not lie, false. But still, a construction on the opposite side is there whose imitation we find in this side. Vilāsa, cid-vilāsa, like jara-vilāsa the cid-vilāsa, a great structure stands on the other side and it is only approachable through serving attitude, dedicating, surrender. The positive, the world of service, that is the real plane, svaṛūpa-śakti. And this plane, of aggrandisement, of exploitation, that cannot be the be-all and end-all of the existence. Exploit others and live, that is suicidal in itself. The civilisation, the science is increasing the circumference daily of extortion of power from the nature, making loan from the nature and that must be paid back to the farthing. To every action there is equal and opposite reaction. The civilisation wholesale is a negative one, negative one, it is on debt, debt from the nature, and it must be paid back. Every action, reaction, the exploitation, jīvo jīvasya jīvanam.

["Those who are devoid of hands are prey for those who have hands; those devoid of legs are prey for the four-legged. The weak are the subsistence of the strong, and the general rule holds that one living being is food for another."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47]

To keep up one body, thousands of bodies are to be sacrificed; then only one body can stand. This is a filthy conception of life, it is suicidal in itself. This is no civilisation, no life, a hateful aspect of the life that at the cost of other beings we are to maintain us. Whatever we shall go to maintain, thousands of lives to be sacrificed for that: a hateful conception of the life.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The land, the plane of exploitation, then the plane of real renunciation, a negative reactionary plane, and then the positive plane of serving, of dedication, that is really civilised position, civilised position, to serve and live, serve and live. And in the beginning, the lower part, with consideration, but spontaneous and unconsidered enterprise in the service of love, that consequently holds the highest position in our conception. And that is Goloka Vṛndāvana. That is Kṛṣṇa consciousness, exhaustively, everyone is exhaustively, finishes himself, as if, in the service of the paraphernalia with Kṛṣṇa as the king. And that is most laudable and most higher form of life. Without any consideration, exhaustively to give one's own whole towards the Absolute Good, Absolute Adjusting Principle.

so if you can gain knowledge of the prime cause, Brahman, then you can know anything and everything."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.31.14]

To put food in the stomach, that is real health for the body, and not to put food in any part of the body. To pour water into the root of the tree, that is proper service of the whole tree, and not to pour water on the branches and the leaves, ignoring the root. That is anti harmony, anti existence, sat-cit-ānanda. Satyam-śivam-sundaram, the real conception of the truth is such, and to cut off the root of these fundamental principles, if we do not accept the plane of dedication, and dedication spontaneous. And that is real interest of our, of every unit in the organic whole is there. The real fulfilment of every unit, whatever we'll find, and wherever we find it, the fulfilment is in its highest sacrifice, and thereby it thrives also highly. That is the teachings of Mahāprabhu and Bhāgavatam. Give more and have more, not only in quantity but in quality, must be conscious of the quality. Ahaituka, causeless, without any calculation of any gain, give yourself, desperately, be desperate for giving yourself, giving yourself, and you'll be gainer also in that line. Give and have.

“In the common place books of Hindu religion in which the raja and tamas guṇa have been described as the ways of religion, we find descriptions of a local heaven and a local hell. The heaven anything on earth, and the hell as ghastly as any picture of evil. Besides this heaven we have many more places where good souls are sent up in the way of promotion. There are eighty-four divisions of the hell itself, some more dreadful than the ones which Milton has described in his Paradise Lost. These are certainly poetical and were originally created by the rulers of the country in order to check the evil deeds of the ignorant people. We are not able to understand the conclusions of philosophy. The religion of the Bhāgavat is free from such a poetic imagination. Indeed in some of the chapters we meet with descriptions of the hell and heaven and accounts of curious tales. But we have been warned in some place in the book not to accept them as real facts but truth as inventions over all the wicked and to improve the simple and ignorant.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Misconception, the whole thing is false. It is a part of that false, illusory, and that has got also its efficacy in the illusion world. But when we are dealt with the real truth, we are concerned to deal with the real truth, everything is like a dream. In that way we are to harmonise.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Then what is the position of Yāmarāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yāmarāja, his position in this world that has got that sort of reality. The whole world is like a dream, a misconception. The part also will be misconception, but the real truth will be here when it has got anywhere any connection with the real world, sādhū-saṅga transaction, that is concerned. That is real in unreal. That has got connection with the real self of the soul. Soul is consciousness in the world of pure consciousness and this mind in the mental world of false ego, whatever is connected with that, in this aspect, that is all false.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And that's why it is said that one who has taken shelter of the Absolute Truth, for him there is no question of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No question of jurisdiction changes. Not under the jurisdiction of Yāmarāja, who has come in slight connection with the Absolute. A part of the false, that is also false, extremely false. But that has got its negative utility, so you can say.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Does it mean that the whole description of the universe by Śukadeva Goswāmī in fifth canto is imagination?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is imagination in this way. That he is saying about this world and the whole world is like that. That is in one way. If we are connected with this enjoyment or renunciation, exploitation and renunciation, that is false. And the Infinite has got accommodation of everything in Him. In that sense it is true. Everything is true only when having connection, everything is there. That is infinite. So finite cannot produce anything which is not in the infinite. It is rather a shadow, or a perverted reflection of the whole truth.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, I remember once you pointed out that the description of the universe, the basic description is that it is chotada bhuvanatha markana [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then I shall come to the foundation. When Mahāprabhu said that Śaṅkara has already denied the existence of this perverted reflection, but Mahāprabhu told that, “We cannot dismiss it summarily, because if it does not exist, then why you have come to preach, that this is not that?” In that way it has got its existence. But in consideration of the real world which is created by the help of svarūpa-śakti, there it has got no place. But in the relativity the conditioned has got a position with the unconditioned. So māyā is existing. In that sense it is true, but it is false in that it cannot give you the desired result you are searching after, is all false.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda used to say that, “This material nature is real, as a reflection, but it is not real as the reality.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Reality, avāstava-vastu, [?]

Unreal substance and real substance, if we are to say like that. Misconception, I think it is mine, but really it is not mine, it belongs to the Absolute. Everything belongs to Him. But we say, this is mine, and we are quarrelling with each other. This is mine. Really this is another’s property. And we are fighting with each other. And so many things are coming out of that fight. And the difficulty is that the soul is connected with this mock fight. Otherwise it has got no value. But the dust of spirit very infinitesimal part of the spirit reality, that is entangled, so we are concerned with this mock fight. Otherwise nothing remains. All based on misconception. Just as magicians play, it is false, but still we are perplexed by his tactics. That is also true, in that way, magician, the hypnotiser; that proves they can show what is not real, and we cannot deny that for the time being.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the basis of our realisation of any particular thing that is within our consciousness. In other words, we make the material world real for some reason, we make Kṛṣṇa real for some reason. What is that basis?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's saying, "We make the material nature real, and we make also Kṛṣṇa real. But what is the basic criterion that makes sometimes the material nature real and sometimes makes us feel that Kṛṣṇa is real?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only everything is Kṛṣṇa and His belongings. But we, and including our own self, but when we say something other than Kṛṣṇa, the difficulty arises thereby. Separate interest. The growth of the, consciousness of separate interest, that is at the root of all these evils. Advaya-jñāna, we are one with Kṛṣṇa, and whenever the seed sprouts that I have got some separate interest and not included in the interest of Kṛṣṇa that is the root of such mal conception, mal view.

[“Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipping deity and as his very life and soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

This has been; the diagnosis has been given in this way. This universal disease of concoction of false conception: fool’s paradise. We are living in a fool’s paradise. And the very seed, very beginning as we can trace is at the inception of a separate interest. The first deviation from advaya-jñāna is the conception of separate interest, the necessity of separate interest, takes me off. And so many, including Mahādeva, Śiva: wholesale, if we deal it in the character of wholesale, then Mahādeva is the first rebel. From whom this ego of separate interest is to be seen, separate interest, the master of the māyāic world is Mahādeva, sometimes voluntary submission and sometimes revolting temperament.

So in that way we are all atomic Mahādeva. We want to be master of something. And because that is not true, be possible in fact, so in our concoction only, in our dream only we can satisfy the hankering of that lower self in us.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Śiva means auspicious, śiva mane mangal, so his rebelling is also auspicious?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two aspects he has got, one other side, another lower side. The whole taṭasthā-śakti has been covered by him, Śiva. He has got that aspect of a devotee and also as a supporter of the demonic power. The two aspects we find in him. And we may have a good compromise there, that after giving indulgence to the demonic power he creates their confidence in him and ultimately he may try to lead towards the devotion of Nārāyaṇa. He's giving indulgence to the demonic power at the bottom of his heart maybe his good will. That these demons will have confidence in him and ultimately he will lead them to the Vaikuṇṭha, to the service of Nārāyaṇa. Maybe it is at the bottom of his heart. So Śiva from this side, he's master of māyā, not servant of māyā like us, master of māyā. But still he has got connection with māyā. Most of his engagement is with māyā. So that is not a very happy position. He also sometimes complains to his master, "Why You have granted me such a position? Sometimes I have to go against You to encourage the demons. But this is my fate. This is my fate that You have given me such nasty service." He mourns sometimes. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I don't know if you have answered my question exactly as I was asking it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is Mādhava?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mādhava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your question?

Mādhava Mahārāja: My question was; what is the element that makes us perceive something as real?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What's real, what is the element? That is, the śāstric name is śraddhā, faith, and that is the developed stage of sukṛti by sādhū-saṅga. Those that are in the real plane, in the nirguṇa plane, guṇātīta, beyond creative world, world of creation, the guṇātīta nitya jagat, the agents of that world have come to establish some connection in our soul. The deepest element, what we think to be us, our soul. The connection with sādhū it produces something which is faith and that faith can see. Śraddhāmāyo 'yaṁ loka, there is a world which is only approachable by faith. Just as colour by eye, sound by ear, so there's a world only faith can see; faith can feel it, and no other senses. So that faith, that is the real function of soul and that is awakened by the agent of Vaikuṇṭha, of the infinite world, that is sādhū. That is sukṛti, ajñāta sukṛti, jñāta sukṛti, then śraddhā. And by śraddhā the sādhū-saṅga, the association with the sādhū increases, and transaction of the culture of the reality that takes place, and gradually makes us to be fully conscious that where we are living this is all transient, this is of enemy type. And friendly element, my home, is elsewhere, that is located to be in the world of pure consciousness and pure bliss.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Is that the same process by which the materialist, material person, sees this world as real?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no materialist. Independent of all material, that is done by the; that injection is given by the Vaikuṇṭha, by the Viṣṇu paśada, in our soul proper, and that arouses śraddhā in us. That is the function of the soul, not of this material ego or senses, independent of that. When a patient is in a swoon the doctor sees him and he injects, and then consciousness comes, and then he can cooperate with the doctor. “That I have such and such, and such and such.” But before one patient can cooperate with the doctor, the doctor has got also something to do, when the patient is unconscious. So when one is fully engrossed in our material engagement the *sādhū*s from other plane, like doctor, injects something. And that is the cause of our reawakening in our soul interest and consciousness of the soul.

Mādhava Mahārāja: [asks Akṣayānanda Mahārāja] Can you ask the question a little differently?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The question I think Mādhava wants to ask, he says that as a devotee we have śraddhā, faith, but the materialist...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The first awakening in a soul in bondage that is named as śraddhā and that is outcome of sukṛti. And sukṛti, that help, independent of him comes from outside, from the Vaiṣṇava. Vaiṣṇava sādhū creates sukṛti, independent of the individual and when that is sufficiently accumulated it produces śraddhā. Then cooperation with the doctor begins.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But those who do not cooperate, they may say...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At that stage the help may come only from the doctor's side by his own knowledge. No cooperation with this patient, but still the doctor through his śāstra, the knowledge of his books, he begins treatment.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We accept that, but the materialist will say that we have got faith in something else. We have got faith in this world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everyone may have some faith. The guṇḍās will say that we have got faith in dacoiting. The mere statement has got no value. Anyone may have given any statement, what is that? The innocent persons, the mad may be of different type, but that is madness.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, another type of madness.

Mādhava Mahārāja: One time Śrīla Prabhupāda asked us to prove that matter comes from life, using chemistry. I didn't know how to start.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, matter comes from life, that Berkley's theory that everything is concept but nothing. The conception of matter, that is within consciousness, not that the mind is in the world, but that the world is in the mind. Before you assert anything, the consciousness, it presupposes consciousness. They say the fossil, what is fossil? It is hard, it is black, it is so. But that is only a stage of consciousness. Consciousness pre-exists everything. Whatever you'll say that this is there, what is that? That is a concept. This is black, this is white, this is hard, this is soft, all these, that is mental stages only.

If you press the eye you will see something else. What does it come from? Is it existing outside? So not this fossil evolution of Darwin, but we say just the opposite. Evolution from inside of consciousness is the cause of showing different things of the world. The evolution within and not outside evolution, what we ordinarily think: this is Vedānta. Not from imperfection to perfection, but a part of the perfection seems to be imperfect. Imperfect is producing perfection, this is a ludicrous thing. Rather it is more reasonable and easy to conceive that a part of the perfection is anyhow imperfect. We see, it is shown by us to be imperfect. That will be easy, more reasonable thing. We have to accept something, data of some type or else, the stone, the fossil, where does the fossil come from? And then fossil can produce the infinite. What is this foolish idea?

The fossil, the body is showing so many wonderful things to the doctors. How it has been built. How the brain has been built, it is producing consciousness, intelligence and wonderful genius is in the brain. The producer is only a material thing. But that wonderful thing which we find in the brain, the thought of a genius, that cannot remain independently. We say that really exists, that wonderful thing, the source of all wonders; that is existing. We must take data. The starting point must be the wonderful thing. And then so many things are sprung, if we analyse the atom we will be in wonder. Everything is wonderful. Only we give limitation to a particular atom. This is this, this is wood, that cannot be that. But again analyse the constituent parts of wood or a stone, you will see wonder. So Infinite is everywhere. Perfection is everywhere. Only we have produced a thing, our mind, and that is the trouble. The limited thinking of limitation, the nature we have acquired, that is the puzzle. And how to meet that question, that is to be solved.

Devotee: That's a very nice concept Mahārāja, that in everything there's perfection and eternity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But we are not ready to admit that, that is the puzzle. Wherever we are, from the biggest, from the lowest, everything is wonderful. But we won't admit that. We'll go to the fossil only, the fossil is producing everything. What is that fossil?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Mahārāja, these are philosophical arguments. But how can we prove to the scientists that matter comes from life?

[Group Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: philosophical topics.

You see, the Faraday told, when in the beginning of the electric generation, one lady asked after a few pieces of paper was moved by a wave of electricity; when it was generated first by Faraday, the lady asked, “What will be the utility of this Faraday?”

And he said, “Mother, do you say to me, tell me, what is the utility of a new born babe?” What was your question? I forgot.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He said, “These are all philosophical arguments.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Philosophical, but death, is that philosophical?

[?] The death is there to frustrate your all other things if you don't go to take shelter in philosophy. The philosophy can only face the greatest enemy death. The death on not a particular thing, of the whole world, the sun, the moon, the globe, everything will vanish. Science also tells us so. Still if we want to live, philosophy will help you to live, to have an eternal life and eternal peace, only philosophy can give you. And never all these sciences and all the glamour of this life, they're all enemy, deadly enemy, all leads but to the grave, the Gray's Elegy.

The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power, And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave, Awaits alike the inevitable hour;

The path of glory leads but to the grave.

[Elegy written in a country churchyard, 1751] (Thomas Gray, 1716-71, English poet)

A grave is true and to deal with the grave's problems philosophy only will relieve us. Otherwise, all finished. Philosophy also gives us hope that you live a peaceful life. These are false enemies around us, tempting, "Live. I shall help you." This is māyā.

[Laughter]

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja: Mahārāja, once you told me how to convince the scientists. You once pointed out that the material scientists are simply concerned about the objective nature. They don't care about the subjective nature, but the Vedic philosophy leads them to the subjective nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is transcending death.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Transcending death, yes, and then ultimately the Vaiṣṇava philosophy leads them to the point when the so called subjects become the object in relation to the supreme subject. The living entities, the subjects, the living entities, the ātmās, they become objects to the supreme subject, Paramātmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Supreme subject, yes, it is taṭasthā and that is over, over jīvātmā -that is super-subjective realm, and we are to take shelter in that world. Just as when there is war in a particular country, he's taking shelter of another. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Any more questions Mādhava Prabhu?

Mādhava Mahārāja: When you said that the world is in the mind, isn't that idealism?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Idealism, Berkley's idealism, not that we are in the world, but world is our mind. Of course mind here we are not concerned. The mind is also the world. The soul is living in the soul region, and the mind, ego, everything, that is there, the basis is there. The soul withdrawn, nothing remains. Here also, life gone, the body will perish. So this neutron bomb or something, you'll take off the life, the structure will be there. This atom bomb will destroy the structure of everything. But we are to death-ray that will only suck the life out. And the whole structure will not be disturbed. So, soul withdrawn, nothing will remain. The party is soul. That is reality. And this is in the misguided soul, a misconception like a dream in a person, so example like that. The party is the soul, he is in concern. And if the soul is returned, the consciousness nothing remains, all darkness. And that cannot exist independently. So that is created by his revolting attitude, his unhealthy attitude.

Just as a man who is in a diseased condition he pronounces so many delirium. The disease is the cause of delirium, and not that delirium is existing outside. The cause, if you want to remove delirium, you must deal with the patient. His brain needs medicine. The world of delirium vanishes. So soul has got some disease and his world has come as delirium, and collectively also this world. Just as in our dream we may meet our friend and also our foes, with hard substance and water in a dream, so also collectively so many misguided delirious persons are being connected or disconnected.

Suppose, before this creation; as the scientists say, what was the first thing, where this concrete world was living? According to us this concrete world and where it was living before creation. First there was a sun, or ether, then it sprang up from the fossil everything has come, the consciousness has come, the same thing again.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, the other day I was listening to a tape of Śrīla Prabhupāda and Prabhupāda was pointing out that the way the dream is a reflection of the reality. Like when you are awake we're collecting many, many informations from this nature, and during our sleep, in dreams, those reflections are projected and we experience the dream. The same way when we analyse this nature we see that this nature also is like a dream and this nature is a reflection of the absolute nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And much more. I met one Vedāntist he says, just in a dream, we see in a dream that I have entered a garden and so many trees standing, and it seems to be that trees are standing there from long time: it is already existing. But really it is only created by the brain only at that time. But we think that we have entered a jungle or hills and everything or water, but previously they were existing; in dream we feel that. But that is created then and there. From the mind it is created then and there. But we feel already existing, we have come in the garden, we have come in the tank. That was already existing here, we think in our dream, but really it was only created, creating its own atmosphere, environment. It is like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So Mahārāja, then one question came to my mind, is that who is actually supplying the informations of the spiritual sky? Like we're...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādhu, śāstra.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the beginning Kṛṣṇa told:

kālena naṣṭā pralaye, vāṇīyaṁ veda-saṁjñitā mayādaḥ brahmaṇe proktā, dharmaḥ yasyāṁ mad-ātmakaḥ

[The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: “By the influence of time, the transcendental sound of Vedic knowledge was lost at the time of annihilation. Therefore, when the subsequent creation took place, I spoke the Vedic knowledge to Brahmā because I Myself am the religious principles enunciated in the Vedas.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.3]

“I transmitted through Brahmā the nature of real truth concerning Me. And from Brahmā, śrauta knowledge is knowledge, so the knowledge of revelation that is accepted. All this is false, a product of false experience, they have been rejected. So only pramāṇa is śrauta pramāṇa, that is coming from outside this illusory region. That should be accepted as pramāṇa, revealed truth. And never any knowledge which is based on any experience of this false world that cannot be reckoned at all as pramāṇa.”

From outside the knowledge of reality was transmitted from Kṛṣṇa to Brahmā, Nārāyaṇa to Brahmā, and from Brahmā then it came but it was mutilated in many ways for the unfair nature, different nature of the disciples it was mutilated. And some inductive method also sprang up like mushrooms, so there is a jungle now. But if we want reality, the help must come [from] outside this illusory world. Mayādaḥ brahmaṇe proktā, dharmo yasyāṇi mad-ātmakāḥ.

“I first told to Brahmā, the creator of this world, that this is truth. And he wanted to preach that. Gradually it was modified by the ignorance of the locality, and now so many variegatedness there.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, I was thinking, I mean I had one question at the time that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Light can remove darkness, but darkness cannot create light. On the whole, this is the line of thought.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, in our dream we have all the experience, information in our mind, or in our brain of this nature. Now when you consider this nature to be a dream, then where from the informations are coming? Is it Paramātmā is supplying the information according to our desire? Our experiences in this mundane world is actually a dream. But the informations of these dreams are coming from the spiritual nature or the absolute nature?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] I draw the conception about Him, that is to be blamed. And not that the tree will exist.

The ideal of tree, ideal of difference in our experience, that is not to be blamed, that is not faulty. Only with what attitude I am looking at them, that is false and so the whole thing is false. My world of experience is false. My experience of a tree is false. But tree has got its utility. Just as in Dhāma, we see so many trees, beasts, human figures. But when our real eyes will be awakened we'll have the darśana of a real Dhāma. Just as a map, a world map, and with map we are to study about the world, of the country, or a village, map...

So according to the interest we draw the apparent interest, compelled by local interest; another vocabulary, our vocabulary of enjoyment we thrust into the creation of the Lord. The spectacle is to be blamed, not the thing. It may show me in different ways.

[“Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong.”] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]

Only difference in the stages of our interest of different kinds, Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, Tapar, Satya, and different sub-planes in the plane of enjoyment or exploitation shows different colours of the things around. And the wholesale māyā removed, everywhere it is He and He only. And the conception of the law removed... ..everything is receiving his impetus of activity from Kṛṣṇa consciousness, it is Vṛndāvana. No consciousness of this body or the mind or the country conception, the nation conception, the globe conception. All crossed: soul to Supersoul all deeper soul enters there. Everything you will find there.

Yaḥ kaumāra-haraḥ sa eva hi varas, [Śrīla Rūpa Gosvāmī's Padyāvalī] goes to Vṛndāvana, Rādhārāṇī and Kṛṣṇa. Is that false? Is that poetry? This is a poetry, this imagination. Only our deeper nature, only our self identification, everything depends self determination, who am I? Hegel's language, self determination: that is the end of all of us, self determination, svarūpa-siddhi. Who am I, my deeper self? My mind, or my intelligence, or more than that? Where am I? Who is my real self? Who is the real party in me? Whose interest? My eyes interest, ears interest, or mental interest or the interest of my intelligence? Going inner, inner, then self interest, self determination, svarūpa-siddhi. That is to be attained. I must enter, I must get back my proper self. And in His connection I will come in the environment and see the world, what is it?

I am given some wine or some poison then I am besides myself and I am seeing things. And no sister, no mother, actuated by my animal motive, I am seeing a thing all for enjoyment. The crude tendency of lust, that is mustering everything, then I'm seeing what? Then when sober I am seeing so many things changed. In this way go deeper, deeper, and find who you are, what is your interest, and try to see the paraphernalia according to your interest. Self determination and you'll see things opposite as you are seeing it now. And that how, that may be affected. How can I go back to my self determination, proper? How to find out my own lost self, long missing link, long lost self? We may talk like that. How to find, or get back? And by His interest then we shall try to go back to home, back to God, back to home.

For a madman, only his brain disease should be removed, and he will find his home, his wealth, his everything is there. Only disorder in the brain, so disorder in the mind and the self diseased, bhava roga, this is a kind of disease. The central disease is bhava roga, the spirit of enjoyment. Spirit has made, separate interest has enticed me and has made me mad, and I'm roaming. And that disease should be removed. And the doctors must come outside. And by result the disease removed I'm quite at home: self determination. So many entanglements, questions, questions, all will finish at one stroke. When the brain disease is removed I am quite well. Everything is there. Like such nature.

["This is Vṛndāvana, Vṛndāvana is so friendly, so sweet, so near to us, and such a well-wisher of ours. We are quite at home there, sweet, sweet home. In our innate and innermost existence, we are members of that plane."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6]

Mayi dṛṣṭe 'khilātmani, with my interest: first with me and my first environment, then different environments; with all. How? God save me from our friends. Our charm for this material world of enjoyment should vanish. That is the trouble, to save us from the friends. That is the question. We love them. That is the enemy within. The enemy is within, that I have got attraction, I love this paraphernalia, I like them, that is the enemy. And those that do not like to enjoy there is also another mania of renunciation. They do not admit the reality, that a part and parcel of the whole, he has got respective duty for the whole organic, service, a life of service. Mere renunciation, dharmagat, a strike: that is no solution.

The real engagement we must have got. And all engagements are not bad. The engagement in the positive side, that is life giving. The whole thing may be conducted but the standard is sukha, rasa, quantity and quality. The quality of rasa, that is to be judged. Raso vai saḥ. Here also rasa, and there also rasa, but the difference in quality of rasa. By stealing also we can get a sort of pleasure. And by making gifts to all, we also feel a sort of pleasure. But there is a distinction. This is also rasa that is also rasa. This is extraordinary; this is gross, filthy. Then qualitatively rasa will be improved, it will be purer. Then it will reach to the acme of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, surrendering everything for Him and spontaneous service reinstated. That distributes the highest type of rasa in quality and quantity. That is the main conception underlying all this. Akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. All different types of rasa is harmonised in that Personality of beautiful goodness. Our goal will be that. This Bhāgavatam says and Mahāprabhu says. And our heart will also approve when we shall have the touch of that thing in any way or other.

Hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata, Manu says. Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ, which is not current in the ordinary person, but those that are well experienced in Vedic śāstra, Vedic knowledge, that the knowledge which is transmitted from outside for our help, for our relief. One who is experienced in that sort of knowledge, vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ, and they follow the rules of life, that sort, sevitaḥas. Sadbhir, and those that have accepted those Vedic rules practically in their life, not only the exponents of the Vedic truth, but also those that are practising that truth, that advice of the Vedas, sadbhir. Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ, and their external nature will be that they do not care much for the duality of this jay para jay, the sukha-dukha what we meet in the ordinary life, they do not care for that, adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. Hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, and what will get the approval of the innermost heart, of your innermost heart's approval, that thing you should know as real religion.

hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata] [Manu-saṁhitā, 2.1]

That is also lakṣaṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nītāi Caitanya. Nītāi Caitanya.

[Bengali (?) conversations for about nine and a half minutes]

...

Mādhava Mahārāja: Someone asked me a question about the Bhagavad-gītā. In the eighteenth chapter Kṛṣṇa says: Īśvaraḥ sarvva-bhūtānām, hṛd-deśe 'rjjuna tiṣṭhati, “That you surrender,” Kṛṣṇa was telling Arjuna that, “You surrender to the Supreme.” In the next verse He tells him that, “The Supreme is controlling everyone and that Arjuna should surrender to the Supreme,” as if Kṛṣṇa Himself were not the Supreme, as if He were speaking of a third person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

Īśvaraḥ sarvva-bhūtānām, hṛd-deśe 'rjjuna tiṣṭhati bhrāmayan sarvva-bhūtāni, yantrārūḍhāni māyayā tam eva śaraṇam gaccha, sarva-bhāvena bhārata tat prasādāt parām śāntim, sthānam prāpsyasi śāśvatam

[“O Arjuna, the indwelling Supreme Lord, by the potency of His deluding energy, causes the living beings to wander hither and thither (in many postures), as though each were merely a puppet on strings, riding on a carousel. Verily, that Lord is dwelling within the heart of all living beings.”]
[“O Bhārata, surrender unto Him in all respects. By His grace you will attain the supreme peace and the eternal abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.61-62]

That is Kṛṣṇa’s function. Paramātmā we may think represents one of the functions of Kṛṣṇa, and the immediate superior to jīva, in the rank of Kṛṣṇa, rank of Nārāyaṇa. So He asked him, “Try to find...

*upadraṣṭānumantā ca, bhartā bhoktā maheśvaraḥ paramātmetyi cāpy

[Bhagavad-gītā, 13.23]

“Your immediate Master is there in your heart to guide you. You try to connect with Him... “Surrender to Him. Then He will... “Rightly... “With the concern of these worldly affairs, so come, go through the proper channel. My connection with you is something else. I say you go. He is also My representation, representative, but rather try to find Him and His direction. Then you will find peace. That local God who deals with local affairs, go to Him; that is entailed. I as a friend advise to you go and follow His direction and you will get your peace thereby. Tam eva śaraṇaṁ gaccha, sarva-bhāvena bhārata, tat prasādāt parāṁ śāntiṁ. [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.62] Then you will have a peep into a particular world which is independent of this world of good or bad, superior or inferior, as you say. Droṇācārya Ācārya, Bhīṣma, my Guru, and you are not feeling encouragement to hit them. So you will come over the surface of this world duality if you can have His direction. It will give you immediate relief of this duality of good and bad in this world: take you above the calculation of good and bad of worldly sense. Accept His guidance that will be safe to you.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Tam eva śaraṇaṁ gaccha, sarva-bhāvena bhārata, tat prasādāt parāṁ śāntiṁ. “You’ll be able to rise above the consideration of good and bad of this world and exclusively devote yourself to His direction. That will be helpful to you to get out of this worldly entanglement.”

upadraṣṭānumantā ca, bhartā bhoktā maheśvaraḥ paramātmēti cāpy ukto, dehe 'smin puruṣaḥ paraḥ

[Bhagavad-gītā, 13.23]

“His function we can experience in these different forms, upadraṣṭā, He’s observing everything you are doing. He is deputed there, by Me it may be called, for that purpose. Anumantā, and willingly or unwillingly He can check you but little indifferent in His, indifferently He’s watching your movements in every detail. Upadraṣṭā, anumantā, and He is indifferently giving approval, not always very satisfied or dissatisfied, anyhow approving your free actions. Bhartā, and He does not leave you but He accepts, continues in your guardianship. That position He has got. Though you do not obey always inner direction but still He does not leave you. He continues to be your guardian, bhartā. Bhokta, and also He has to feel something about you. If you follow His direction, He will be happy and if you ignore Him, He will be little disturbed, bhokta. Maheśvaraḥ, but He has got His special power to force you to do anything and everything, but still He does not use that special power over you. But still He’s there within your heart. That is My particular function in every jīva. Just as the sun, without considering any gratitude or ingratitude of the world, he goes on giving light. So hṛd-deśe ‘tiṣṭhatam, that is My one function who exists in all the hearts of all the jīvas that are to be found anywhere, Īśvara.”

aṇor aṇīyān mahato mahīyān, [ātmasya jantor nihito guhāyām tam akratuḥ paśyati vīta-śoko, dhātuḥ prasādān mahimānam ātmanah]

[“Smaller than the atom, greater than the greatest, the Supreme Self secretly resides even within the core of the atomic individual soul [the jīva]. When the devotee beholds Him he is freed from lamentation, and by the grace of the Lord [Dhātr] he realises the superiority of the Supreme Soul.”] [Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 1.2.20]

All-pervading aspect, aṇor aṇīyān, the smallest of the small. Everywhere He’s residing inside. “The highest plane where everything is standing that is Brahman, and the smallest all-pervading space, that is also My aspect. That is also Myself, the smallest of the small, aṇor aṇīyān. All-comprehensive and all-pervasive aspect, Brahman, Paramātmā: the infinite of the infinite and the knower of the knower. This is My two aspects in the relativity of the world thought.”

And there is another, bhajanīya, a new awakening in the soul. Here we are accustomed to enjoy anything and everything, to utilise anything and everything, whatever we come across, to our interest. How I can utilise this thing for my purpose, of such pleasure. Whatever we see, we connect with that.

But the Lord’s nature of existence is just opposite. Whenever He’s seen by anyone, he wants to sacrifice for the pleasure of Him, bhajanīya, guṇa-viśiṣṭha, that is Bhagavān. The conception of that substance when we come in His connection we want to give us all to produce His satisfaction. That is the characteristic of Bhagavān. And that is developed to the highest in Kṛṣṇa, bhajanīya. Here whatever we see we want to enjoy, the excitement we feel for enjoyment, but the God’s position is just the opposite. Whoever comes in His connection he wants to make Him enjoy. That is just the opposite aspect of this world.

Bhajanīya guṇa-viśiṣṭha. He's my Lord and I am to supply His enjoyment. Such nature He has got, attractive in all respects. That is just the opposite aspect of the world: bhajanīya guṇa-viśiṣṭha, Bhagavān.

And Paramātmā is like this, indifferent guardian, everywhere in every jīva He's there dictating, not forcing, but He can force. Prakṛtis tvām niyokṣyati ["By your nature, you will have to be engaged in warfare."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.59] Kartuṁ necchasi yan mohāt kariṣyasi avaśo 'pi tat ["Compelled by the work born of your own nature, you will act all the same."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.60] "With a special power He will come and engage you in this fight, if you fail to cooperate in the last moment. But you can't avoid, the force is there. But it would be better for you to obey Him consciously. You ask your inner guide."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Today we may stop here. Jai Om Viṣṇupāda...

[“O Rādhē, Your transcendental love and beauty are so powerful and attractive that they captivate even the heart of Mādhava who is eternally self fulfilled and the unlimited source of all divine ecstasy and charm. By Your own natural excellence You are the most adorable of all young beautiful damsels of Gokula Maṇḍala, therefore Your glories remain ever unequalled.

O Rādhē, Your elegant countenance, decorated by coquettish moods and captivating dress, ever increase the love ecstasy of Your beloved Dāmodara. Manifesting such unique loveliness, You forever remain the beloved queen of the beautiful forest groves of Hari, who is expert in stealing away Your heart by creating an irresistible love attraction.

O Rādhē, from the ocean of Vṛṣabhānu, You have risen like a full moon of exquisite beauty that ever delights the heart of Mādhava.

O Rādhē, You are very fond of Lalitā and Viśākhā who stand out amongst all other damsels of Gokula, due to their charming beauty and expertise in prema sevā. They are also deeply captivated and overwhelmed by Your super excellent qualities which enchant Kṛṣṇa, the divine monarch of all loving mellows and so they accept You, with all adoration as their beloved Goddess and exclusive shelter of life.

O Rādhē, Your transcendental glories are described with unending joy by the exalted saints like Sanaka Ṛṣi and Your intimate servitor Śrīla Sanātana Goswāmī. O magnanimous Goddess! Your heart is full of compassion, therefore please bestow Your mercy upon me.”] ] Beyond the Virajā River lies the pure spiritual sky, or the Vaikuṇṭha world, and above that Vaikuṇṭha realm lies the divine abode known as Goloka Vṛndāvana.

] The land of Vṛndāvana is made of spiritual gems and is therefore likened to a mine of fully cognizant and beautiful jewels. This transcendental realm is certainly a wonderful and extraordinary sight. Within that abode, where everything is fully conscious, resides Lord Kṛṣṇa, who is compared to a charming tamāla tree (which is considered to be the best of trees and possesses colour like that of a sapphire).

-] Upon that blackish tree has appeared a beautiful golden creeper. Her name is Mahābhāva, due to being the essence of the pleasure-giving hlādinī potency. She is the conqueror of all realms, the supreme purifier, and the enchantress of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, who is Himself the enchanter of all the worlds.
-] She is also known as Rādhā, whose friends, headed by Lalitā, are compared to Her leaves and flowers. The creeper, meeting with all Her friends, firmly embraces that blackish tree named Govinda, and having satisfied His heart, remains there in great ecstasy.
-] At the touch of the creeper, the tamāla tree blooms; but without Her embrace He can no longer exist.
-] The creeper, without the company of that tamāla tree, is also unable to live. Therefore She always prays for Their meeting.
-] Bhaktivinoda desires nothing else but the meeting of this divine couple, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.

ጊ Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is the crest jewel of all the young women. She is the beloved daughter of King Vṛṣabhānu and is very fond of wearing blue coloured garments. Her very pleasing complexion conquers the beauty of cut gold, Her locks of hair are nicely arranged, and She is the life and soul of Lord Kṛṣṇa.

ጊ Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, who is very learned in the science of rāsa, is artfully adorned with jewels, nicely decorated with tilaka, and covered with a beautiful corset. Her breasts are adorned with valuable gems, and Her eyes are anointed with black collyrium. Thus She appears as sweetness personified.

ጊ At Her feet the good fortune of Śacī, Lakṣmī and Satyā is defeated.

"If your desire to worship Śrī Rādhā is not awakened, worship of Kṛṣṇa is ultimately useless.

Just as the sun is not perceived without sunlight, similarly I cannot accept Mādhava without Śrī Rādhikā.

One who worships Kṛṣṇa alone has imperfect knowledge and one who disrespects Śrī Rādhikā, is simply conceited and full of vanity.

Never associate with such a person if you at all desire the transcendently delightful pastimes of Vraja, to appear within you heart.

If you consider yourself to be a maidservant of Śrī Rādhikā, then you will very soon meet Kāna (Kṛṣṇa) the Lord of Gokula.

Even Lord Brahmā, Lord Śiva, Devārsi Nārada, the personified Vedas (Srutis) and Lakṣmī-Devī honour and worship the dust of Śrī Rādhikā's lotus feet.

The Vedic scriptures (āmnāya) declare that Umā, Ramā, Satyā, Śacī, Candrā and Rukminī are all the expansions of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī.

Bhaktivinoda whose only wealth is the service of Śrī Rādhā Ṭhākuraṇī

Mahārāja

Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...we went to the Sonar Mandir and we met the pūjārī. Very nice man! And he has proposition of raising one lākh and then they would give the Mandir for our usage... One lākh and they would give us the property there, Sonar Mandir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They'd sell?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. So he proposed that we raise between us one lākh rupees, and then he could use that, that could be used for purchasing temple and property.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What about the money that was deposited in the bank more than a lākh?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That he does not know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Vinodini wants to sell the mother's temple?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. I think it's mainly her sister's husband is interested.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Her sister's husband.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He left with that intention, of raising funds for that purpose.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For that golden plate covered temple?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. Very beautiful: very beautiful place.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is very cheap, one lākh, very, very cheap.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, very cheap. Mahārāja, maybe you could describe the history of those three temples the Anu Prabuj Mandir and Sonar Mandir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On the northern side of this temple Ranu Temple there is Anu Maṭha temple; that is old. And on the eastern side of this Ranu Temple there is the King's Temple; Ranu's husband's temple. Three Manipuri Temple's there.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the King of Manipura he first came to Navadvīpa. Then he built for his Queen later, the Rani Mandir was built later.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes; latest. First Anu Mahāprabhu then Queen's temple, then Rani when the King married again the Rani came away from the King and she wanted to devote her whole life in the worship to the Deity. And with her own fund she constructed this temple. The King gave some opposition but could not oppose successfully. Anyhow Rani established.

_____ [?] These ordinary things in Vraja, then to cultivate the religious conception in other place: outside Vraja.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura when he first discovered the birthplace of Mahāprabhu, according to the divine dream, in order to establish it in the public opinion he organised fairs with many shows and display and plays and festivals. And there the dancing of the birds etc, was shown, and many other things.

Then one man asked him, “Have you discovered this birthplace of Mahāprabhu to show to the people the dancing of the birds?”

He told, “Yes! To be fortunate enough to see the dance of the birds in the Dhāma of Mahāprabhu, that is a great fortune, we consider. That I am there with the consciousness of the Dhāma to remain there as an ordinary resident, inhabitant, that is considered to be a great fortune.”

And also [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī told in Vṛndāvana: “In Vṛndāvana, to speak ordinary things of the family matters that is more high, higher and higher, than to talk about religious things in other parts of the country. Adjustment, the deepest adjustment, I am one with the Vraja vāsīs. I am one of them. I have a permanent resident here.”

This consciousness: all the talk:

Yat kinca tina guna tikatham gosthe samasthan rtam [?]

sadva nanda mukunda dvaitam lilam purnam purnam [?]

“Whatever has got any accommodation in the area of Vraja, Vraja Dhāma, automatically everything in a serving mood, in serving force. Otherwise they cannot have any entrance into that plane at all. Anyhow to secure a position within that area must be the greatest fortune. Otherwise none can never secure any position there. Everything there, consciously or unconsciously engaged in the service of Kṛṣṇa, supporting His līlā somehow or other, in Dhāma.”

And our deepest position can help us to feel that, the truth underlying. No , no wave will have any clash. Maya santusta manasa sadva sukham maya desa [?]

All the waves that will come to us they will bring only good news. Only we fail to understand we are in such a plane of contest, but if you dive deep, nirguṇa-bhūmikā, then the nirguṇa plane, satya, raja, tama, three waves, that is clash of interest. Separate interests are engaged in clash, in different planes. Guṇḍā, guṇḍā, and the ordinary politician, politician and the sādhū, sādhū: contest in the three planes satya, raja, sādhū, sādhū satya approximately; politician, politician, raja. And the guṇḍā, guṇḍā, rowdy, rowdy, boisterous, that is tama. But if we dive deep, in the deepest plane if we can take our stand, then we shall see that everything is bringing good and auspicious news to us, the harmony. Then all this fight will seem to be business mockery like play, mock fight. These fights will appear to us as mock fight, not real fight. Because the interest for which the fighting is going on, that is baseless. And the suffering that is also temporary and not intense, not any permanent value, so the ātmā is not damaged by any external fighting. All this will help us to think that this is mock fight going on so we won't feel any disturbance for that. Kṛṣṇa is enjoying, all these mock fights, are enjoyed by Kṛṣṇa. And we also must partake into, take share in His enjoyment. It will come in that light. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes we see that three things are mentioned together. Sometimes we see that three different tattvas are mentioned together. That is Śrī, Śrī tattva, Bhu, and Līlā tattva. So what is the siddhānta of the Goswāmīs on those three?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Śrī, Bhu, Līlā is considered in the case of Gaura Nārāyaṇa. Śrī Lakṣmī, bhu śakti Viṣṇu Pṛīya and by līlā Dhāma: in this way they are serving Gaura Nārāyaṇa. It is told like that. Śrī, Bhu, Līlā. Sandini, saṁvit, and hlādinī; general līlā by hlādinī. Jñāna bala kriya ca in Upaniṣads. Samvit, jñāna, thinking, bala, willing; and bala kriya ca, hlādinī, feeling: thinking, feeling, willing; three potencies generally we find in the relativity of the infinite existence. Three phases - sat, cit, ānanda. Satyam, śivam, sundaram. The basis, the foundation, and the enjoyer and the enjoyed; the background and the pastimes of enjoyer and enjoyed. Predominating and Predominated Moiety, negative, positive, predominated, predominating: and the background Baladeva. In this way everything is analysed. Advaya-jñāna, when first we, for our, asvadam means for our understanding, when we want to see by analysis, then we come to analyse Him in three aspects. Thinking, feeling, willing, jñāna bala kriya ca; sat, cit, ānanda, satva representative of fossil, and the background. Though all conscious and he thinks of the enjoyer who wants to enjoy, and what is to be enjoyed, what he is searching for, the enjoyment, rasa, raso vai saḥ, three aspects of the one absolute whole. First division we find it in three ways, three forms to understand. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śrī, Bhu, Līlā. Śrī Lakṣmī, Bhu Viṣṇu Prīya, and by Līlā śakti for the pastimes the whole paraphernalia has been... Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śrī, Bhu, Līlā.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Bhu is taken as Lakṣmī Prīya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viṣṇu Prīya, as far as I remember the Bhu śakti represented by Viṣṇu Prīya. Śrī, Bhu. Līlā, the ground on which the play is shown, paraphernalia, the environment, comes from Līlā, the environment. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Viṣṇu Prīya's help is in which way; assistance in what way? The Bhu śakti's assistance is in what way? These three are assisting, so Bhu śakti - the assistance there is in?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, assistant, to help in direct, indirect way, for the propaganda work. By separation, by accepting the show of the pangs of separation she helped a great deal for the propaganda. Her attitude, her ideal helped a great deal. Her penances, melted the hearts of many and did away with the jealousy or antagonistic feeling about Śrī Caitanya Deva, especially in this locality in Bengal, and thereby facilitated the preaching of Nityānanda Prabhu possibly here. So her character contributed much to propagate Mahāprabhu's Mission. Gaura Hari.

As a sannyāsīn He wandered the length and breadth of India and she pained up in one place was so intensely she used herself in the worship of Hari Nāma, Mahāprabhu. That also had a very valuable contribution, especially to the locality which was fully surcharged with anti spirit of Śrī Caitanya Deva. The whole tantric, the furious type of tantric upāsanā was in vogue here in this locality. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

So in order to understand that Dāsa Gosvāmī's words that, "Speak ordinary words with the ordinary rural people of Vṛndāvana that will give us much more, draw for us, collect for us, much more spiritual wealth than to be engaged in other parts of the world with deep engagement in the talk of religious thoughts and others."

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That's very encouraging.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes! Very encouraging, encouraging and also very far reaching knowledge is necessary, far reaching, aprākṛta. Prākṛta vat no tu prākṛtam. It is like very low nature of the creation world, but still it is the acme of the highest position of the theological world. Very rural, ordinary, prākṛtam, prākṛta vat, but not prākṛtam: the opposite. The highest reflected in the lowest position.

So much so that Mahāprabhu, He's advising Jagadānanda when he's going to Vṛndāvana. "Go there, always remain under the guidance of Sanātana Gosvāmī. Don't try to mix with the Vraja vāsīs very intimately. From a distance you will show honour to them but don't go to mix with them very intensely."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

[Bengali (?) spoken until 04:08]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa, guṇātīta, the most important thing to realise. What is nirguṇa, guṇātīta, play, the subtle-most plane in the conscious world. Nirguṇa positive, and this is the negative aspect we are getting experience of, negative side. Only to take our stand in the positive plane and that is nirguṇa. No complaint whatsoever, difficulties all superficial. And all what we are taking so seriously, that will be seen in the spirit of play, no sting. When we shall get the touch of that plane, this is such a truth of such characteristic that all these fighting ways should appear to us like play, līlā. Because the loss which are counting in so seriously here by the fighting, by the clash, we shall be able to see that there is nothing, futile, equating to zero, which is so grave to us;

Jai para jai mana [?] This duality... Mana praman jai para jai sukha duhkha [?]

That is of zero power, of zero effect, so it is all play. That will come in comparison with the reality of the plane where we took our stand, and according to the comparative study of own soul's real interest. When we shall find our real interest this will be almost negligent, to the utmost. So both loss or gain, that will be like a play, a play value, nothing else, so meagre, so ludicrous. These serious things, one country is devouring another country, so many wailing, and perhaps the whole globe will vanish, then again created. Then all will be like a play, no value, no importance. We are giving much attention to the object for which the fighting is going on so we are serious here. But having a stand in that plane, in comparison with that, this will be nothing, compared to this, ludicrous. So that nirguṇa-bhūmikā, the plane of that guṇātīta, the plea of all subdivisions, the play of satya, raja, tama; the creation, the sustenance, and destruction. When we shall come in connection with a matter which is free of creation, maintenance, sustenance and destruction, then this will seem to be a ludicrous thing, to partake with serious heart in these matters. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, to get our position in that plane. That is so sure, so true, so friendly, and so life giving, and so beautiful, charming, that this will be like trash. That is what is necessary for us. Gaura Haribol.

[Bengali [?]] spoken for about three minutes nineteen seconds]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there's one question that came up...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Tell the question.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: The question was, we know that Gaura-Gadādhara was Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's favourite Deity. So the question was, what is the relationship: or we may say rasa, between Gaura and Gadādhara, is there some relationship there, or is that symbolic? [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prema-vaicittya [?] Separation, union: union in separation. Physically [?] Not physical but in the physical sense. Though both of them present, wife and husband together, but some vow is there so they cannot enjoy mutually. Something like that.

The vow, They're separated, but still Gadādhara stands in the position of the spirit of Rādhārāṇī, spirit of Rādhārāṇī, in separation. But They're avowed here not to, that sort of sambhoga. Pure spiritual sambhoga that is as pure as anything. Highest purity is there. No filthiness, no filthy character of any enjoyment is there, but still the līlā vilāsa, it is like that. Sometimes in the case of Rādhārāṇī, Kṛṣṇa also, prema-vaicittya, both of Them closely existent, but still some memory of separation is so intense that They are feeling, though They are together feeling so much pain of intense separation. That is prema-vaicittya.

Once it is mentioned Kṛṣṇa is there, Rādhārāṇī is there, sakhīs are there. Rādhārāṇī sees Her image in the body of Kṛṣṇa. It is so transparent, the body of Kṛṣṇa. Rādhārāṇī's image is being seen there. And Rādhārāṇī thought, "Oh, there is another lady who's boldly connected with Him." So She is very much enraged in jealousy and Her attitude is like that.

Then Lalitā comes and she said, "That is not another sakhī. That is Your reflection on His body."

Then She became satisfied.

Separation in union that is prema-vaicittya is Gaura-Gadādhara, may be something like that. Mādhurya-rasa, but the vow has been taken. Just as in the temple, both husband and wife they are engaged in the worship of the Lord in the temple. What is their attitude? Not husband and wife, but one engaged in worship, another is giving supply of the materials of worship, with another mood. Something like that, Gaura-Gadādhara.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Lord Caitanya's pastimes, were there any parśadas which were sādhana-siddha? [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is told Sārvabhauma [Bhaṭṭācārya] and some others.

Sārvabhauma has been accepted as sādhana-siddha, and a few others, Prakāśānanda [Sarasvatī] also, those that were converted, in His sannyāsa līlā.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Haridāsa Ṭhākura?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Haridāsa Ṭhākura maybe, but he's told as Brahmā, some devotion he had. Only through curse he came in the Yamunā Kula because he stole away cows in Braja līlā. So he had to come to the [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But his avatāra, his incarnation as Haridāsa Ṭhākura seems more glorious than Brahmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, more glorious position he held.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Although he came as a curse, but it was more glorious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Higher. Just as in the case of Nalakūvara and Maṇigrīva. The trees tamil arjuna, there was curse and they came to be tree and then gloriously came out, by connection with Kṛṣṇa. [?] So many instances are there. The curse has become boon in connection of Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... from there, and these two with atom bomb and the General pressed ahead, German, Hitler's Germany. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In the seventh canto Prahāda Mahārāja says, "We cannot have any enemy. I have no satru." So in the real sense, it is impossible to have an enemy. As in nirguṇa there can be no enemy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No enemy, but still there may be some conception of enemy that is for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Enemy consciousness is also there, antagonistic, but the conclusion is to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. Rādhārāṇī's greatest enemy is Chandravālī, the competitor. And amongst the rasa there is also a spirit of animosity, vātsalya rasa and mādhurya rasa; vātsalya rasa is always jealous that mādhurya rasa people are capturing my son, taking Him away from me. They have conquered a major portion of the heart of Kṛṣṇa.

_____ [?] But now there is separate interest and that interest is better so they are by nature the vātsalya rasa and mādhurya rasa [?] it has been told, like that, but that only to fulfil the desire of Kṛṣṇa, for the interest of Kṛṣṇa. So it is pure, purest of the pure.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So when Lord Caitanya told Jagadānanda Paṇḍit, "Do not come too close to the Vraja vāsīs. But that is there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Superficially, though He is advising to Jagadānanda really it is for us. To warn us that they may not be scrupulous to keep their physical practices but we should not imitate them externally.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Prabhupāda has written that the Vraja vāsīs have a relation of vātsalya but Jagadānanda Paṇḍit's relationship was different. Therefore close association would have been unfavourable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not all vātsalya, but mainly vātsalya.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Meaning generally. Would that have been in the enmity of different rasas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the Vraja vāsīs section many times they are not all followers of Caitanya Deva. Nimbarka, Viṣṇuswāmī, other people also are there, followers. So Jagadānanda was very much intolerant as he went to strike Sanātana Gosvāmī with the cooking pot. Intolerant that Sanātana Gosvāmī would associate with any Māyāvādī sannyāsī, could not tolerate; so very eccentric.

“So he would create some havoc. No spirit of toleration. He quarrels with Me here, he won't care anybody there. For his own interest he will create quarrel there. So always be under the guidance of Sanātana. He is a sober man. He knows how to deal with whom in that place. So he is My entrusted leader there. You must remain under his guidance. And generally I ask you not to mix closely with the Vraja vāsīs. Then your intolerance will pick quarrel there.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nītāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja where can we find the reference to that about, you said that Rūpa Goswāmī had said it is higher to speak about ordinary matters in the Dhāma than religious matters outside?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī. “To talk about ordinary matters in that atmosphere, that is greater to me than any religious talk outside. And that will help us to couch, to form our mentality in a particular way, will make us intimately connected with a particular form there; that will come, will be of great help.”

The pot will be good and the substance within we may keep it. The pots, to secure a good pot, to keep the butter and something else, that is a great achievement, something like that. And if we have got that deep vision then we can see Kṛṣṇa in them. But if not so, still that adjustment, that environment to be acquainted with, that is a great gain. That must be the spirit of his talk, ordinary talk. And also it gives the peep into the eternal līlā of Dhāma. The background if you may feel or may not feel, but in the background there is the Braja līlā, the nirguṇa plane, there is backing, this prapañca līlā. There is that thing. So anyhow after all this would be.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja when you say Dhāma vāsī do you mean the general residents or the residents such as the Six Goswāmīs?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It includes everything, that is we want to try follow the ideal, giving away the surface of our experience. When we use that word, really, the meaning underlying is that we shall try to find out who is Dhāma vāsī, what is Dhāma vāsī, what is Dhāma? Dhāma vāsī that means trees, creepers, the animals, the human, all, Dhāma vāsī:

Yat kinca kita kum [?]

Everything Dhāma vāsī, that is to remind us that in the real plane, we are showing the mask, the real plane, to hit the ideal conception of the deepest plane, the word is used for. We shall try to find out Dhāma vāsī. Not superficially, my mind, my senses may not allow, but the consciousness must be in the background of my experience with the surface. In the deeper position there is that Dhāma, that corresponding vision is there, but I can't see. But still according to śāstra, according to the words of mahājanas, I am to see that underground there is such thing here. At least with this idea, with this respect we must approach them. Everything, even a dog, even a jackal, even a bird, what to speak of human beings there: the ideal in the background; to remember that we are told of Dhāma vāsī. I may not see, I may not have immediate experience, but still this is surcharged with such atmosphere.

[?]

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nītāi. Nītāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He is adjusting Hanumān also.

Mahārāja, it seems to be from our previous saṁskāra there are different impressions left in the mind. So the hardest impression to cross over is the impression which was left from strī saṅga. That is the hardest impression. So when that impression comes and one is reminded then one should immediately take the Name? Or what is the..

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? I don't follow.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: From previous saṁskāra there are different impressions which are left in the heart, in the mind. So the deepest impression of the baddha-jīva is sex desire.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Attraction for sense desire, yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So to cross over that should one simply...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

jāto-śraddho mat kathāsu, nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān, parityāge 'py anīśvaraḥ

[“He who has imbibed heart’s faith in the tidings of My Name, nature and pastimes; who has become indifferent to all kinds of fruitive work and its rewards; who has learned that all forms of enjoyment of sensual passions ultimately transform into misery, yet he is unable to fully abandon such passions - such a faithful devotee, being determined that his shortcomings will be dispelled by the potency of devotion, gradually comes to abhor those evil passions that enslave him, knowing the havoc they wreak - and he serves Me with love: When his object is pure and sincere, I give him My mercy.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.27]

Regard has awakened of Kṛṣṇa. Nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu, indifferent to all other activity. Veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān, he really realises that all the activities of this world ultimately they produce the fruit of misery, duḥkha, or sorrow, affliction produced by all activity here, veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān. Parityāge 'py anīśvaraḥ, but cannot be master of the situation, parityāge, cannot give them up fully, parityāge 'py anīśvaraḥ, he's not master, he can't control the situation, parityāge 'py anīśvaraḥ.

tato bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ juṣamāṇaś ca tāt kāmān duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan

["But the śraddhā or pure attraction he has acquired for Me is of eternal nature. It cannot be subdued or cut off by any mundane or ordinary attempt. Despite undergoing so many sufferings, he goes on remembering Me. His thinking, aspiration and earnestness is for Me, and the more he is compelled to suffer from the pressure of the environment, a firmness in Me becomes more and more sure, and finally, invulnerable. And by standing the test of all these trials, he will stand - stand and grow beyond the jurisdiction of these mundane forces. The more pressure comes from outside, the more firmness he feels in the necessity of My help to him."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.28]

"Then what should he do at that time? Tato bhajeta mām prītaḥ. He'll try, he should try his utmost, as much as he can gather with maximum affection, attraction, he'll try to direct towards Me, bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ. And more firm and firmer determination he will attend to the cause, to come to Me. Duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan. This should be the attitude. He will abuse himself to the highest degree, intense degree. 'What I have done? I am trying to achieve the purest of the pure, and such filthy things continuing in me.' He will abuse himself like anything. 'I am a beast. I am a hypocrite.' In this way the fire will be burning, fire burning within him, duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan, blaming, abusing himself, to the utmost. duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan."

Proktena bhakti-yogena _____ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.29]

To pass under such circumstances for the time being, for the span of time that burning stage, helplessly he is doing something, a misdeed. And then a reaction comes. Again doing such thing a greater reaction is coming of painfulness within repentance, in this way. But he won't give up the position of going up. Just as: Bhau astkrta padanam bhau [?]

A child when he begins to walk sometimes he falls down. Still again with the help of the barrier where he falls, with the help he again comes up and begins walking and again falls and again come up and begins walking, in this way.

[“When an intelligent person engages constantly in worshipping Me through loving devotional service as described by Me, his heart becomes firmly situated in Me. Thus all material desires within his heart are destroyed.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.29]

Then very soon he will find that all those evil tendencies have been done away with.

They're gone. They are finished. When?

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30] He will come to such a stage.

*tadā rajas-tamo-bhāvāḥ, kāma-lobhādayaś ca ye ceta etair anāviddham,

["As soon as irrevocable loving service is established in the heart, the effects of nature's modes of passion and ignorance, such as lust, desire and hankering, disappear from the heart. Then the devotee is established in goodness, and he becomes completely happy."]

After a great fight they will have to retire if in this time with the association of the good, of the sādhū, and those books. Anyhow the bhakti practices must not be given up or slackened. With more attention they will follow that system of practices. And gradually one day, gradually he will find that they are retiring, those enemies they have accepted their defeat and going away. And then he will find peace.

_____ [?] And when he will come to see the presence of the Lord _____ [?] The tidings of the Lord coming, surrounding him from every direction, and they will vanish. They are strangers after all. They are not rightful residents of the place, of the heart or mind, so they will have to go away. Such a broad and wide conception of the faith, of śraddhā, Kṛṣṇa is there, devotees are there, and they are not a product of imagination, but reality. And when they come to realise the position, the reality of the reality, when they come in touch with the reality of the soul, Super-soul, Kṛṣṇa consciousness proper, then they will go. But it is not very easy to get out of their contact. So;

[syāt tato niṣṭhā ruciḥ tataḥ athāśaktiḥ tato bhāvas tataḥ

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

A stage, first sādhu-saṅga, then śravaṇa, kīrtana, guru karan, varaṇa-daśā, in bhajan śravaṇa, kīrtana etc, sādhu-saṅga, bhajana-kriyā, tato' nārtha-nivṛttiḥ. And the result of that bhajan the anārtha, undesirable things, will go away. This is the consequence, inseparable consequence or result of our bhajan. And our bhajan will take the realistic characteristic. Śravaṇa kīrtana and other duties which we are to undergo now, when it will come to realise its real position, touch the reality, the region of imagination [?] the reality, then anārtha-nivṛtti. Niṣṭhā, the next higher stage is niṣṭhā nairantaryya which means continued memory of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, continuous Kṛṣṇa consciousness. [?] Just as when oil is poured, a continual flow, not drop by drop but a continual flow. So the Kṛṣṇa consciousness will remain always in some form or other. Then anārtha-nivṛtti, the complete retirement from the hands of undesirable feelings. Then ruci, niṣṭhā, ruci, then real taste of Kṛṣṇa consciousness will grow. After continuing anārtha-nivṛtti, then niṣṭhā means continued Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Kṛṣṇa feeling, then the real taste for Kṛṣṇa consciousness will grow. It will grow into āśakti. When even sometimes it is of less intensity we shall be very much disturbed. “Oh!” Then asakti, then bhāva, then prema, then sneha, mana, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva. In this way it’s developing in the spiritual relationship excluding the plane of body consciousness, or mind consciousness, or reason which is applied in the loss and gain of this transient world when all gone.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Very difficult.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Not very light.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[“O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150] It is very rare.

*manuṣyāṇām sahasreṣu, kaścid yatati siddhaye yatatām api siddhānām,

It is very difficult of course. Very, very, very, very, very difficult, otherwise, sahajiyāism, the imitation school, they imitate Kṛṣṇa līlā, Vṛndāvana līlā within their flesh and blood, in the region of flesh and blood. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sometimes it is seeming almost impossible.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dāsa Gosvāmī has said, (bart path?), those thieves that fall on the way, what is the name? Thieves or dacoits that fall on the travellers, when a man is travelling from one country to another there are some thieves or some dacoits that jump on him and snatches his wealth, bandits, plunderers? (bart path?) means street, who jumps on the street, who jumps on the travellers; kāma, krodha, they are like (bart path?). He is walking towards the road to Vaikuṇṭha. And they are waiting here and there and sometimes jump on the stranger. When such danger will come, Dāsa Gosvāmī he asks us to cry aloud for the help of the sādhus.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...then one should cry for the help of the sādhus because they're posted to protect, the sādhus that will come from the spiritual world to the mundane world, to spiritual world coming and so many sādhus are given charge to protect the travellers. So he will cry aloud, "I am going to be plundered, please protect me. Give me protection!" With utmost fervour there, he's with all his nerves to the extreme, "I won't be allowed to be plundered by you. Oh, you saviours on the street, come, I am a prey to all these plunderers of the nasty type. Please protect me, give protection." And the kāma, krodha, the lobha, they are jumping. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. There are so many artificial ways also.

yamātibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, kāma-lobha-hato muhuḥ

[mukunda-sevayā yadvat, tathāddhātmā na śāmyati]

The practices of prāṇāyāma and the other āsanas they may help us to a slight degree, but ostentatiously, superfluously. But the deep seed will be eliminated, that can be done only by taking Mukunda in the throne of our heart, taking Him, taking Kṛṣṇa, feeling Kṛṣṇa in our heart. Mukunda- sewayā yadvat, tathāddhātmā na śāmyati. But with artificial means if you go on prāṇāyāma for the time being this kāma, krodha may seem to be of little less power, but that is not a permanent cure. Then when that is gone again it will come. It is temporary relief it may give us from the hands of this kāma, krodha. Yamādibhir, yama, niyama, āsana, etc, the yogīs, the jñānīs they accept this as to quench the inner thirst of the material world, and go on with and go on with dhyāna, dhāraṇā, āsana, samādhi, etc, and with some outward practices, they guard here. But the devotees, they have no faith in that. That is artificial. They only want to invite Vasudeva in all phases of life, and permanently set away with them.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in the beginning we are supposed to follow. But it seems that there is a point when there is imitation and then following because we have no qualification; then if we try and follow then there is actually some type of imitation there. So what is the difference between the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: At what point does anukaraṇa become anusaraṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anusaraṇa means sincerity and anukaraṇa only for pratiṣṭhā, to copy, to imitate, to copy anukaraṇa, to imitate. Without inner purity only to imitate things outwardly, to get the glory of a sādhū or something like that, to imitate. And anusaraṇa means to attain it from within the heart, sincerely, anusaraṇa means sincere progress, and anukaraṇa means artificial.

So it has been practically experienced that responsible services can help us from falling to the prey of those kāma, krodha etc. The faith first, śraddhā, sādhū-saṅga and śraddhā, and deep engagement with the duties attached by the master, deep engagement: especially engagement for the mind, not only for the body. Mental engagement only you can get by responsibility. Some responsible service is given to the disciple. He takes it up in his brain, and he cannot but think that 'my mind is engaged there, generally.' So no chance the mind gets for thinking about the other world. So, deep engagement and with the responsible service, that in the physical sense that helps us a great deal. Sādhū-saṅga, sad-grantha really they will be of help.

But practically serving, paripraśnena, sevāya, as much as we are able to engage ourselves in the deep responsible services, they will come and peep and go back. "No time, he is deeply engaged, he has no time to be enticed to give attention towards us." In this way they will have to retire, then coming twice, thrice, five times. "Oh, no time, no attention he has got to spare towards us. He is very deeply engaged," they're flying away. So sevā, and also not even physical but mental sevā. Mental, that means responsibility only can capture the mind. With responsibility, the mind is compelled to think about that, otherwise mind may be free and the body is working, labouring, to engage the mind in intense service that is responsibility. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In an ordinary country there is the country and also capital. The capital where the existence and the position of the king is more fortified, more intense, more strong, than in the ordinary country. So the Lord is everywhere and concentrated existence in Dhāma, like capital. So with our eye opened, we can feel that, the special characteristic of Dhāma. Everywhere we shall see His presence, and especially in Dhāma with particular intense strength. That should be the calculation, with the awakening of the real eye, we can feel, we can appreciate, otherwise those that have got no eye, no question of Dhāma. And in the Dhāma, there is also already the hierarchy. They're all in serving attitude. Whether birds, beasts, the worm, insect, trees, everything, their contribution is towards the divine pastimes. They are all contributing unit and nothing in their heart or their gesture, posture, their movement; nothing but to help the pastimes of the Lord. Dhāmera svarūpa, sphuribe nayane.

["I will see no difference between the inhabitants of Vraja Bhūmī and those of Navadvīpa, and I will be transformed into a resident of Vraja. The true nature of the Lord's abode will manifest itself to my eyes, and I will become a maidservant of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī."] [Siddhī-lālasā, 1, in Śaraṇāgati, from The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 54]

Otherwise it may apparently seem to us like anything, like a jungle, like ordinary things. The Ganges water, the purity is only with them who have got that śraddhā, otherwise to other's eye ordinary water. Vighraha, Śrī Mūrti. Śrī Mūrti of Jagannātha in Purī, the awkward figure, half hand, half feet, the eyes like that; but Mahāprabhu hours and hours standing and He's shedding tears. None could take Him back from the place. What He used to see there, Mahāprabhu? That figure to our eye. So according to the depth of the vision of our inner eye we come to that plane where the Dhāma is, Vighraha is, Gaṅgā, purifying Ganges water, only śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. Just as, ? No eye, what will do the glass? [Without eye, what good is a mirror?] In glass we find the reflection but the eye is absent. What you will see in the glass?

So the eye, the śraddhā, is necessary. According to the śraddhā the differentiated character of Dhāma with other places will come, will manifest in his sight, disclose its real acquaintance. Everything depends on śraddhā, faith. Faith is the effective thing, no other. To have our connection, if we want to have any link with the moon, or the sun, an ordinary instrument won't do. But some plenary thing, something like electricity or so, that can give connection with the sun, with the moon, all these things. In that plane we are to approach. So only by the help of the plane of śraddhā we can approach the infinite. If we want at all then by the help of the eye, or the nose, or ear, or mind, or even by intelligence, reason, we cannot hope to come in connection with that finest plane, the fundamental plane of the existence of this world. The finest plane which is underlying this creation, if we like to have any connection, then only through śraddhā, we can hope to establish any connection, or investigation, or of anything of the kind, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, through faith. Then there is a question against it, that credibility, blind faith, faith may be blind, yes. When there is the qualification of blind, then non blind faith is also there. By the help of that healthy faith...blind faith is diseased faith, but by real faith, healthy faith, we are to connect with them.

On the one hand, we are limited, what experience we may have, that is also limited and how much faith we can accumulate, to have. Infinite, when I am going to establish any connection with the infinite, there is infinite possibility, but faith, can be how much. Its source is a finite thing like me, and how much more he can imagine. His imagination must also have a limit. But the infinite even crossing the limit of any sort of imagination it exists. Infinite is so spacious, so great, so big, that our imagination also fails there. How much we can imagine? We are born and brought up in a cell. Our experience also limited. Our imagination is also limited, so imagination also cannot be so much extended, cannot take infinite character. We must be conscious that we are going to connect our relationship with the infinite, and our greatest imagination is only a point there. I cannot finish it. So imagination should not stand in the way. How much we can imagine? We are atomic existence. How much may be the length and breadth of our imagination? That is also very poor in comparison with the infinite, so we must not be allowed to be afraid of our imagination. More than imagination we cannot have any conception, cannot imagine so broad, so big the infinite is. So we must not be cowed down by that blind faith or all these things.

More than that, infinitely more than that there exists. So faith can only help us to that direction. And when we have some connection then it is told, the key is with Him. To know Him, the key is not within us, within our hand. The key to make Himself known is in His hand. And when He will open the door we can enter. And as much as He likes to make us see, we can see that much only. So we have to first accept before we approach and expect to know Him, we must prepare ourselves with this attitude. Adhokṣaja, because He does not allow us to enter into His domain He is not existent? Maybe! What harm He has got for that? We are loser, so adhokṣaja realm.

Rāmānuja introduced this to Śaṅkarācārya. “Because you cannot enter as a subject and make it an object of your investigation so you are refusing that I don’t accept such thing to be existent. What does it mean? You foolish, you may be satisfied with your imaginary tendency. But really there is a domain and when He wants to take us in within His jurisdiction we can have some sort of experience. That is adhokṣaja.”

Śrīmad-Bhāgavat has always warned us with this expression, adhokṣaja. He is adhokṣaja, transcendental, supramental. We cannot enter that domain as a subject, as knower, as an investigator. But as much as He allows us, how much knowledge He allows us to know, we can know that only. Still we have to admit that there is such a realm. That is super subjective, we are subject and that is super subject. The jīva caitanya, the soul is not the final existence.

Socrates he told, "The soul is immortal. The soul can live independent of matter. It is an independent unit, soul," Socrates told. It is independent of matter and not production of matter. And the soul is not the final substance. Just as in comparison with matter the soul's position, so soul is considered like matter and his knower Supersoul is there, Paramātmā, and onward, subjective realm, onward, more and more. They are masters. We cannot be master there. We can be servant only. If we want to enter into the highest position we shall accept the position of the slave of the slave. Then only we can get the chance of entering into that domain. It is not unreasonable. The matter, the gas, the sky, the ether is the limit of existence. Some people may think like that. Some people may say, earth, water, ether, some say ether and electricity that is the limit of the existence. "But no, soul is there," Socrates told.

Soul, existence transcending matter, of all its phases, so also that human soul that is only a particle of the gross side of the absolute: more finer, Supersoul is existing, and so on. Just as in the material creation so many stages there are, earth, water, also stone, the wood, so many things, the gold: so there also in spiritual substance, there is also gradation in that.

Generally too in the lower part Vaikuṇṭha, and the higher sphere is Goloka, the land of love. Knowledge, that may be divided into three classes, sat, cit, ānanda. The objective existence, the subjective existence like caitan, jīva soul, and another fundamental categorical different thing ānandam, or happiness, or ecstasy. That is not only cit, not only subjective, but fulfilment of the subject. That is ānandam. That is full in Himself, ānandam. And that is the main element to be found in Goloka. The knowledge is rather subservient there. The knowledge, jñāna, anubuddhi, perception, experience, may be transcendental, but that is also subservient, subdued. And the automatic flow of ānandam that is the real characteristic of the Goloka section, the beauty, the harmony, jñāna sunya bhakti. Jñāna does not play any part there. Something like intuition. Intuitively they move and full of ecstasy. No movement by calculation. Sambhanda jñāna, intuition. Sambhanda jñāna. How and where from it comes they may not care to know. They are an instrument in the hands of that ānandam, ānanda mayo vilāsa. That is Goloka.

This we are told. If we have got faith, then we shall take the trouble of making a journey towards that. The faith should be the guide. The greed, laulyam, our attraction, our feeling of necessity for that thing, śraddhā: that goes ahead. “Yes, I want that,” then I begin. Just as Hegel said, “The idea approaches first, then the action.” So śraddhā, “Yes I want that thing.” Then I shall take the trouble of approaching towards that. So there is, we are told that the highest position is such that is intuitive labour of love there, vilāsa. And that is the conception of the highest quarter where one can find the best happiness, or ecstasy. One who has got attraction for that then he will take the trouble of accepting and going to that place.

That is given by Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu, this is the satyam śivam sundaram, the land of beauty, satyam - the conception of existence, śivam - the land of good; and sundaram - the land of beauty. Śivam means maṅgalam - that is which is safe of mortality that is śivam, unassailable existence. Assailable existence, mortal existence, that is also that energy, the material energy that also exists. But there is a land where no death, that is considered to be śivam, maṅgalam. And sundaram, the positive life of attraction. One aspires to live such life.

Life worth living that is sundaram. The land is there in the highest quarter.

Mahāprabhu He called us for that, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam also. There is a soil and you may be a child of that soil if you find yourself, analyse yourself deeply, you will find that you are a child of that soil. You are not created for this land where you are always suffering from apprehension of this and that uncertainty; apprehension and uncertainty always troubling you. You must cross, go up, and you will find the śivam, no apprehension. But the positive life, if you really like to have then you are to go, to enter into the area of Goloka, the land of beauty, the land of love. No consideration of calculation, no necessity of any reasoning, nothing else. No fraud, no deception can ever be dreamt of there in that land. So calculation, reasoning; they have got no place at all there, automatically all good, all beauty, all fulfilment there. It is the general conception. Then for His satisfaction Yogamāyā has designed it in such a way that they are also afraid of missing Kṛṣṇa; Kṛṣṇa also afraid of missing Rādhārāṇī, or Yaśodā, all these things. This is designed to maintain the pastimes there. Not out of necessity, but as a fashion it is maintained, for the purpose, not for want.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Just now, what we heard from your lotus mouth that Kṛṣṇa līlā is not a necessity but an actual fashion. This is a most revolutionary concept. It's so wonderful! That actually Kṛṣṇa is not in need of anything, not even the pastime, actually.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

*aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet ato hetor ahetoś ca,
yūnor māna udañcati*

[“Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.”] [Ujjvala-nīlamanī]

Rūpa Goswāmī gives this example: the serpent goes by crooked, zigzag; that is nature. So in the land of prema, the māna, abhimāna, all these, that is the nature, a fashion, and not out of necessity, that is the way, that is vilāsa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, the last time that you commented on Lalitā Devī’s appearance day you were saying that how Lalitā Devī goes out in the streets of Vṛndāvana, like with her pen and paper and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Canvassing right and left. “Come and join my camp. I shall give you engagement in the service of Rādhā-Govinda.” That is infinite. Ha, ha, ha.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So Mahārāja, for an aspirant, for somebody whose aspiring for devotional service with such a thought that, “Yes, I can enrol myself in that particular...?” Can he have such an abhimāna, that does he...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, otherwise why that exists. That is infinite, no limited room that says, “All the vacancies fulfilled. No, don’t force any new servants.” It is not like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, but I was thinking that if it is on the part of the aspirant...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh yes, only...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Drstam, whether he's, precocity, drstada.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Drstada, that is audacity, impertinence.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Audacity, yes. Is it an audacity for him to aspire to go and ask to be engaged in this mādhurya-līlā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cannot but, necessity_, necessity, do not care all these things. Internal necessity has no law. When anyone finds in him, mechanically, unconsciously he will go and appeal, "Enlist my name," can't resist. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: This question was actually troubling me a lot Mahārāja. After hearing that it was such a wonderful idea. How wonderful all these great devotees of the Lord are, actually wanting simply to take them to the engagement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No want of facility on that side. Caitanya Mahāprabhu said, tuyā dayā aichena parama udārā, atīśaya manda nātha bhāga hāmārā

["Whatever may be lacking is on My part. There is no defect on Your side."] "The want, whatever it is in My part. In the other side there is no fault."

It is said by the Ācārya.

nāmnām akāri bahudhā nija-sarva-śaktis, tatrārpitā niyamitaḥ smaraṇe na kālaḥ etādṛśī tava kṛpā bhagavan mamāpi, durdaivam īdṛśam ihājani nānurāgaḥ

"I don't find any taste for You. It is hard like rock. No taste. So unlimited grace on Your side. But I am so mean, so low, so hard."

But these things also cannot come without the relativity of that. Such thought cannot come. When really in the relativity of that world then also such thought comes, "Oh! So much grace." He is feeling that grace. And feeling unqualified in himself and the fortune has begun there, we may take it. Necessity is the mother of invention. The śraddhā has come, śraddhā showing on his front, such a great prospect and he is very eager to attain that but he fails. But that failure is also in one sense participating in a particular position. He is already in the relativity, otherwise he cannot say such statement, make such statement. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is infinite, whatever you want to attain but still unsatisfied because that is infinite.

*na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam [prakāśitum vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanam vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-
pataṅgakān vṛthā]*

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

Very successful in His attainment: no. “I have not got it in My possession, because it is impossible to get Him in possession.”

But possession also is there in the negative sense. Negatives possession of the positive, that is of that nature. “I am so negative, and so much positive She can attract. As much negative characteristic is found in a particular place, the attraction for the positive is so much there. That is the underlying truth.

So Rādhārāṇī says, “I am in the highest need of Kṛṣṇa.”

So much feeling of the necessity of the absence of Kṛṣṇa not to be found anywhere as in Her heart. And that satisfies Kṛṣṇa. He wants, setting aside all demands He comes to satisfy the demands of that heart where it is in the highest degree. Is it natural or not natural? Dedication. We are the unit of the aspect of the Moiety of dedication and not of fulfilment. Fulfilment is a stagnant thing. That is a qualification in the limited world. With the unlimited such attitude that won't go, can't go, with the unlimited. There fashion is like that. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṣudhā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Unquenchable thirst.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unquenchable thirst, and a drop very sweet, very, very sweet, a drop, very, very sweet, unquenchable thirst.

In Madras one gentleman put question to me. "Your highest ideal is Caitanya Deva but He has a dangerous conception. Always mad with want of something and crying and rubbing face in the wall. So intense madness for the want of Kṛṣṇa: that is a dangerous thing to us. We are rather afraid to take that ideal for our life."

upadiya visala hai vitara ananda maya krsna premi adbhuta carite [?]

That the extreme hankering for the truth, that in itself, that is ānandam. That I want only truth, nothing else, that is ānanda, not possessed by any unessential thing, that is the negative characteristic, that is nature. And there is the highest fulfilment there, the negative aspect, the intense feeling of negativity. That is the highest attainment in its fullest position. Fulfilment of life is there, śakti, necessity, negative.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, that negativity means humility?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Humility begins from humility.

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, [kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ] ["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Produced goes to that negativity, humility, but not humility in the relativity of the, this exploiting world, but in relativity of that dedicating world. Not clear?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: What is the highest concept...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Humility not measured by the standard of the misguided souls, but by the standard of the Vaiṣṇava, humility. Whatever it be it must come from the normal standard, the measurement, and never by the standard supplied by the misguided souls, so many patriots, so many politicians, so many humanitarians, no. Not by their standard, but the standard must come from the normal position, from the land of dedication. Not by land of renunciation or exploitation or extended exploitation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ke? [?]

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Also Mahārāja, humility in the spiritual world means that I am the person who needs Kṛṣṇa the most. Is that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Humility, that I am nothing, I am nothing, humility. Why should I seek honour? What quality I have got that I shall think that I have got a position? What position I have got? No position.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, “The tṛṇād api, the [?] the grass has got its some position, but I am vikṛta, I’m misguided. Not any real position of a straw I have got, vikṛta, misguided, that is...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Perverted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perverted, and mad, I’m aside myself. The grass has got some...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...negative value, not any positive value of a straw, because vikṛta. With my intelligence I'm going against my interest. The intelligence is there but this is misguided, going opposite, but ṭṛṇā is there, cannot move, but I can move in the negative side, so I'm in more humiliated position than a straw in fact. What I have got that's only to misguide me, but ṭṛṇā has got its fixed position there, he's not going in the wrong way, so I'm lower than that ṭṛṇā. In this way. Whatever I got as my property that is all to harm me. In the worldly sense I may hold a superior position than a grass, than a tree, but what of that? They're all misusing, rather, used for my injury, benefit, against me, against my interest. So I'm in a lower position than the ṭṛṇā, than the straw.

I have got weapons and I am armed, but armed to suicide, to commit suicide. It is better that arm should not have its – a mad man if he's got a dagger then he's dangerous. He will be saved if the dagger is snatched away from the mad man. Any time he may put on his head, on his eye, he's mad.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What does Śrīla Bhaktivinoda say about taror api sahiṣṇunā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

ṭṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ] ["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

That also may be seen in that same light. That taror, he is to forbear his former action, to have guard against result of his former activity. But we, must have guard, we must be alert, not only of the former but also present. In the present moment also I may commit some wrong, so my position is more dangerous than a tree. Tree is only reaping the result of his previous action, but my position, not only previous to tolerate the bad reaction of a previous life, but also to guard myself against my present mal activity. So more forbearance is necessary, position is more dangerous than a tree. Am I clear? Do you understand?

Devotee: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I asked the question, what did Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura say that was regarding tṛṇād api, and what did he say again regarding taror api?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taror api sahiṣṇunā.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja said that the tree is suffering on account of its past activities. I may perform sinful activity now, so I'm worse than a tree.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The present activity I also have to forbear, to check them, so more careful in my attitude of forbearance, more dangerous position. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. We are in such a position, what is my preference, what is my special attainment, that is going against me.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīla Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura he says that smaraṇam is of prime importance as a devotional service to the Lord, above even kīrtanam. Or is it subservient to kīrtanam?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are some of the opinion because smaraṇam is exclusively connected with consciousness, concerning subtle part of our existence, so that should be the most effective form of sādhana, the means. But our Guru Mahārāja, and Jīva Gosvāmī Prabhu, and also Kavirāja Gosvāmī Prabhu, laid stress on kīrtanam, especially for the beginners. Guru Mahārāja says in, duṣṭa mana! tumi kisera vaiṣṇava? [From Vaiṣṇava ke? 'Who is a Vaiṣṇava?']

kīrtana prabhāve, smaraṇa haibe, se kāle bhajana nirjjana sambhava

[Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 3.24]

Nirjjana bhajan, smaraṇ, exclusively devoted to one's own self, unconscious of the environment one may go on with his smaraṇ within, but that is not at all possible for the beginners. Kīrtana prabhāve, smaraṇa haibe, se kāle bhajana nirjjana sambhava.

And Jīva Gosvāmī Prabhu says: Anyangam yajane ke [?]

kirtanakhya bhakti-samyoga-naiva [part of verse 13.41 in Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra]

If other forms of sādhana, śravaṇam, kīrtanam, smaraṇam, pāda- sevanam, all these, but they must be subservient to kīrtana. That is the purpose, and the preaching of Mahāprabhu, because in Kali-yuga especially kīrtana has got its own characteristic. Śukadeva Gosvāmī says:

kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya mukta-saṅgaḥ param vrajet

[Śukadeva Gosvāmī tells Parīkṣit Mahārāja: “O King, the age of Kali, the repository of all evils, has but one glorious characteristic: in this age, those who simply chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa are liberated and reach the Supreme Lord.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.51]

[dvāparīyair janair viṣṇuḥ pañcarātraś ca kevalam] kalau tu nāma-mātreṇa pūjyate bhagavān hariḥ

[“In Dvāpara-yuga, Lord Viṣṇu is exclusively worshipped by the people according to the principles of Deity worship delineated in the Pañcarātra scripture, but in Kali-yuga, the Supreme Lord Hari is worshipped only by the chanting of His Holy Name.”] [Muṇḍakopaniṣad]

kṛte yad dhyāyato viṣṇum, tretāyām yajato makhaiḥ dvāpare paricaryāyām, kalau tadd hari-kīrttanāt

[“Whatever result was obtained in Satya-yuga by meditating on Viṣṇu, in Tretā-yuga by performing sacrifices, and in Dvāpara-yuga by serving the Lord's lotus feet can be obtained in Kali-yuga simply by chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā-mantra.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.52]

When it is mentioned about the incarnation of Mahāprabhu in Bhāgavatam: kṛṣṇa-varṇaṁ tviṣā 'kṛṣṇaṁ sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair [yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ]

[“In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the Names of Kṛṣṇa. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Kṛṣṇa Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.32] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 3.52]

Yajña means sacrifice, dedication, which is saṅkīrtana-prāyair, the principal thing which is saṅkīrtana. Yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ. So in this Iron Age kīrtana has got its own special privilege granted by the Supreme Lord, so kīrtana. And Mahāprabhu's speciality is there, by preaching, by kīrtana. He conducted Hari kīrtana, inaugurated Hari kīrtana. So kīrtana has been accepted by our Guru Mahārāja, Jīva Gosvāmī and others. And to write, that is also kīrtana. Writing is also within the jurisdiction of kīrtanaṁ, assertion, to preach, to take it to others. So, just as to be engaged in answering the questions of the environment, so there is automatic concentration which is very rare in this yuga. Concentration, when one is making kīrtana he cannot but be all concentrated, all attentive, automatically, otherwise he cannot talk irreverently. So intuitively he must be all attentive. And for that, kīrtana has been recommended to be the highest form of bhajan, especially in Kali. All ages, especially in Kali. Mahāprabhu also said, and five forms, just as nine forms in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam:

*śravaṇam kīrtanam viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇam pāda-sevanam arcanam
vandanam dāsyam, sakhyam ātma-nivedanam. [iti puṁsārpitā viṣṇau, bhaktiś cen nava-lakṣaṇā kriyeta bhagavatya addhā tan manye 'dhītam uttamam]*

[“Hearing about Kṛṣṇa, chanting Kṛṣṇa’s glories, remembering Kṛṣṇa, serving Kṛṣṇa’s lotus feet, worshipping Kṛṣṇa’s transcendental form, offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa, becoming Kṛṣṇa’s servant, considering Kṛṣṇa as one’s best friend, and surrendering everything to Kṛṣṇa - these nine processes are accepted as pure devotional service.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.23-24]

Mahāprabhu says five amongst them principal.

sādhū saṅga, nāma-kīrtana, bhāgavat-śravaṇa mathurā-vāsa, śrī-mūrttira śraddhāya sevana

[“Association with the pure devotee, chanting the Holy Name, hearing the Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, residing in Mathurā Dhāma, and faithfully worshipping the Deity.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.128]

bhajanera madhye śreṣṭha nava-vidhā bhakti, `kṛṣṇa-prema,' `kṛṣṇa' dite dhare mahā-śakti tāra madhye sarvva-śreṣṭha nāma-saṅkīrtana, niraparādhe nāma laile pāya prema-dhana

[“Of all forms of Divine Service, nine forms are superior, which with great potency bestow upon the devotees Love for Kṛṣṇa, and their personal relationship with Him; and of the nine, the best is Nāma-saṅkīrtana. By offencelessly taking the Holy Name, the treasure of Love for the Lord is attained.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.70-71]

So Nāma-saṅkīrtana has been considered saṅkīrtana, kīrtana has been considered to be the best thing. It is decided by the Ācāryas. And especially that is given by our Guru Mahārāja and the basis is also in the śāstra. But Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura, if he has mentioned anywhere that way that will mean only that this kīrtana has got the relativity of the material environment, and the smaraṇam is independent of the material consideration. From that point he might have recommended that smaraṇam is the highest. But that is not accepted in the general way; his special opinion.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, at the time of Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa there was one person whose name was maybe Kavirāja Purī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kavirāja Purī?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't know, there was one Rūpa Kavirāja.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ah! Rūpa Kavirāja. Yes. I'm sorry. He had that misconception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He had some: I don't know much about him. I am told that he has been discarded from the line of mahājana. He has been stamped as boti-bari, he considered himself to be very big and so eliminated from the sampradāya, in general, boti-bari. There was another, Rūpa Kavirāja, and there was another in Orissa, one Jagannātha, boti-bari Jagannātha. They thought themselves too much, than the general Vaiṣṇava of the time could think that. Boti-bari Jagannātha, he was a contemporary of Mahāprabhu Himself. And his tendency goes towards māyāvādā. Thought himself too much, and had no respect for the existing Ācārya of that time. Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: This Rūpa Kavirāja was placing more stress on smaraṇam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Viśvanātha Cakravartī he was called to defeat him on these points.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He quoted Rūpa Kavirāja?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No. He did not quote him, he quoted from his commentaries on the Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who, Rūpa Kavirāja?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, no. Viśvanātha Cakravartī quoted from the third canto Bhāgavatam, tikā, and he defeated him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whose tikā?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: His own tikā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has quoted whom?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Himself. Viśvanātha Cakravartī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Has quoted from where?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: From his own tikā of Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where has quoted?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, this Rūpa Kavirāja was claiming that smaraṇam was on a higher platform of service than kīrtanam. So then the assembled Vaiṣṇavas they requested Śrīla Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura to come and defeat Kavirāja Purī on this point. So when the discussion was going on Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura he defeated Kavirāja Purī by quoting from his own tika of the Bhāgavat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I don't know what...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What was his point?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He did not divide them. He showed that they were a process, they could not be divided.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Kīrtanam and smaraṇam cannot be separated at any stage. It is at different stages.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aruduhkha and aruruha [?] When just attempting to climb up to the highest plane there are two kinds; one goṣṭhyānandī, another viviktānandī [aka bhajanānandī]. Those that follow the course of viviktānandī, separate bhajan, exclude, secluded bhajan, they take to smaraṇam. Without mixing with the environment they keep a secluded life and go on with their smaraṇam. And another goṣṭhyānandī, who are engaged always in kīrtana: two divisions there.

But it doesn't prove that one is superior to another. Two types, just before attaining the highest plane of paramahansa: that is the uttama-adhikārī. The pracāra, the kīrtana confined in the madhyama-adhikārī. And just before attaining to that plane of uttama-adhikārī where all activity stops, two sections, goṣṭhyānandī...

In Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta perhaps Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has clarified in this way, premārurukṣu, two sections amongst the premārurukṣu, who are just climbing up to the final position, crossing the madhyama-adhikārī and reaching to occupy, or to be introduced, or to be placed on the plane of uttama-adhikārī. 'Everyone is going on with his own bhajan. Only I cannot do that.' He's busy about himself. Just before that two sections are bhajanānandī and viviktānandī. Viviktānandī they generally like secluded life and go on with smaraṇam. And those that are of goṣṭhyānandī type they go on with kīrtana, preaching, and also attain the highest position without coming to the school of exclusive smaraṇam.

And Guru Mahārāja clearly said that smaraṇam in lower position that is injurious. We should take to kīrtana. Kīrtana prabhāve, smaraṇa haibe, se kāle bhajana nirjjana sambhava.

And the Sahajiyā School they are more fond of smaraṇa than of kīrtana. They are followers of smaraṇa. Lives a secluded life and within their mind they go on with recollecting their own age, their identification with a particular sakhī, her duty, and how her place of attendance of a particular līlā under the guidance of a particular sakhī, in a particular place in Vṛndāvana, all these things. They are required to go on meditating by their so called guru. That is the process amongst the Sahajiyā School.

But we do not admit that. It is all false imagination, like that. They are not fit for the plane. They have not got real sambandha-jñāna, what is what. Only they go on with the habituated repetition of a particular mental speculation. And anartha-nivṛtti, other progress based on that cannot be affected by it. What they think is their achievement that is mere concoction. They are not aware of the facts, this Virajā, Brahmaloḥa, Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka, all these. They are, pukura-curiwāle [pond thieves] pukura-curi,_? Just as to steal away a tank, pukura-curi,_? That is self deception, something like, we think it to be so, smaraṇaṁ.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Trying to steal a pond, you know it's not possible, because it doesn't belong to anyone. How can you steal a pond?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So just as Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja told when he went on with smaraṇaṁ, and there was another bābājī who constructed a kuṭīra, cottage nearby and he also went on imitating Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, mādhukarī, and sitting, and meditating, and wearing such cloth, in this way the imitation. Then once Bābājī Mahārāja remarked, "That one, if a lady enters into the room of pain, labour room, she cannot produce a child. Only by imitation, simply entering into the labour room a lady cannot produce a child. There are many things before that."

So only imitating the paramahansa bābājī the bhajana cannot come, cannot be effected. Śuddha-sattva, must have connection with the real plane. And then all those speculation like things may come in.

nā uṭhiyā vṛkṣopari, ṭānāṭāni phala dhari', duṣṭa-phala karibe arjjana

[Kalyāṇa Kalpataru, Upadeśa, 18]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura said, "That without taking the labour of climbing in a tree, if one wants to draw the fruits then what sort of fruits you'll get there? You must have to go up through the tree and then you can touch the fruit."

Otherwise it is only your imagination, a mad man's feat. So śuddha-sattva, there is really so many planes. Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satyaloka, Virajā. Brahmāṇḍa bhedi yāya.

[upajiyā bāḍe latā 'brahmāṇḍa' bhedi' yāya, 'virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana', 'kṛṣṇa-caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

[“The creeper of devotion is born, and grows to pierce the wall of the universe. It crosses the Virajā River and the Brahman plane, and reaches to the Vaikuṇṭha plane. Then it grows further up to Goloka Vṛndāvana, finally reaching to embrace the wish-yielding tree of Kṛṣṇa's Lotus Feet.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

Mahāprabhu says that creeper of bhakti, that grows and rises up to Goloka and she had to cross these planes, first to cross Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satyaloka, Virajā, Brahmaloka. 'brahmāṇḍa' bhedi' yāya, 'virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya, tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana'. They do not care to know what is the conception of Paravyoma, what is Virajā, what is Brahmaloka and what is brahmāṇḍa, they do not care to know. But only whenever they go to such guru they get some mantra and go on meditating. But in such stage, if he goes on meditating Rādhā-Govinda līlā, instead of Rādhā-Govinda līlā he will rather entangle with the ladies and gents of this world and he will be entangled into the domain of lust and will have to go to hell instead of going up to Goloka.

Charma mansa maya kama prema chid ananda dhama [?]

So imitation is not success, it rather degrades, imitation degrades.

Devotee: Mahārāja, kalpanā [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kalpanā is something like imagination.

Devotee: Kalpanā, imagination [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] kalpanā [?]

Devotee: Kalpanā, [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kalpanā [?] imagination. Ideal, thinking, meditation, mental exercise, kalpanā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mental exercising [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Mind is another thing. Mind is not, śraddhā is connected with soul, and mind with matter - ātmā - mind is material, khaṁ mano buddhir eva ca, part of material potency.

bhūmir āpo 'nalo vāyuh khaṁ mano buddhir eva ca

[ahaṅkāra itīyaṁ me bhinnā prakṛtir aṣṭadhā]

[“My deluding potency in this world is divided into eight ways: earth, water, fire, air, ether, mind, intelligence, and false ego.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.4]

This is the production of the material potency and jīva is the production of parā-śakti; the principal potency and svarūpa-śakti is higher than jīva. And mind manodharma, mental speculation, that has got nothing to do with truth. That is drawn from the material world, the world of misconception, so mind is full of misconception, no truth. Avāṇ-manaso gocaraḥ, mind cannot reach to the stage of feeling the truth, of the perception of the truth proper. It is only related to mundane things, as exploitation.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But pure mind is a product of śraddhā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mind cannot produce, just as fossil cannot produce life, so mind cannot produce śraddhā. Śraddhā is original, fundamental thing. When he awakens, mind vanishes. Just opposite in relation. Just as darkness cannot produce light, light comes darkness vanishes. So truth comes, real pure consciousness comes, mental speculation vanishes. It is concerning to misconception, mind. It is an element of the aparāśakti. Khaṁ mano buddhir eva ca, subtle and gross. Gross is vaicitra mano bhaum, and subtle man buddhir ahaṅkāra. They are of material. And the soul is transcendental and svarūpa śakti bhajana goloka vaikunṭha, that is supra transcendental, on the other side of the soul. Not in the lower side where the mind is to be located. Mind comes out of the false ego and it is made of exploitation, exploiting tendency. Aher rday mora mana vrndavana. “My speculation is on the other side.” Mahāprabhu says. “Not this mind.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. There’s another mind, Mahārāja, which is the pure mind which is produced...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pure mind, that should not be told by mind. Mind words should not be used in that way. Then everything will be there. The senses also there in the Goloka, so many things, but this thing is not that thing.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, because this is a product of śraddhā. But the other is a product of sense exploitation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sense exploitation. So this mind we have to get relief of, the exploitation, we are surrounded by such poisonous thought.

Tato bhava mano nasa sadve mano nigraha loka nanta [?] (In Tiranya Upakan?) All the *sādhana*s are common in this, that the mind should be destroyed.

Mano nigraha loka nanta [?]

There may be different phases, forms, types of sādhana, the means to end, but they’re one in here that mind should be finished, mano nigraha loka nanta [?] Should be checked!

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you were talking about kīrtana. In kīrtana Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura shows in the Śikṣāmṛta there are different types of kīrtana, five types. So one type is japa. So then Rūpa Goswāmī showed that there are three types of japa: mānasika, vācika, and upāṁśu. So which is proper for us, and which has the greatest effect?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Upāṁśu means only no sound, but movement of the lips, that is upāṁśu.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Whispered, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And there is sound and upāṁśu and the lips also not moving: three kinds of japa. Which is the superior, you say? If it is real then what goes to the internal side that will be superior. But that must be of genuine type, must be japa, not imitation. Our attention should be always to the lower side. If we can perform that in a real way, then the promotion cannot be checked. But without being qualified if we are very eager to go upward there is tendency of fall down, falling down. So:

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam, dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu raso 'stu satyam

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, the greatest exponent of the faith of servitude to Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, Rādhā-dāsyam, wrote: “I won’t allow myself to become fascinated by the proposal of the higher level service as a friend, sākhyā. Rather, I shall tend always to do the lower service, dāsyā, the service of the servant. I shall not consider myself to be a high-class servitor and I shall always tend to go towards the lower class of service. But He may forcibly take me to a higher service – “No, you are no longer to serve there; now you must serve in this higher category.”]

[Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

That sort of temperament should always be followed in the case of bhajan. Dāsa-dāsā nehudāsaḥ dehinam. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80] Always try to stick to the lower duty. Promotion is inevitable. But eagerness for promotion: that is enemy. That is for pratiṣṭhā and pratiṣṭhā will undermine the whole thing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Prabhupāda says that is only, the imitation comes from the attraction for pratiṣṭhā: that I want to hold the superior position, to get some name. But that is the great enemy. Don't be the prey of that type of pratiṣṭhā, eagerness to hold the higher, superior position. Dainyam, rather to go down, that is the healthy sign of a devotee.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we see in the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa that sometimes the mahata of chanting silently is there. Then we see in other places that the mahata of chanting very loud, as in the case of Haridāsa Ṭhākura is very great. So what is the adjustment?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what do you think?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Loud.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only to know the meaning theoretically that won't help you much. Try to carry the spirit of the thing, the spirit of the truth. When it is real, it is laudable. We are to differentiate between imitation and real, the sham and genuine. That is the main thing. And how to trace that, whether it is genuine or it is adulterated? We must always be very attentive, all attentive towards that, the genuineness of the thing. So when it is backed by the sādhū, by Guru of very high type, then you can do anything and everything, by his support, whatever you do, kīrtana etc. And when this meditating has been praised, has been called more efficient, maybe in a particular case, if you go to chant, the opposition will be so great you'll be nowhere, you'll turn to be an atheist, if you have got no sufficient support to fight against the odds. In that case it may be so. Don't venture to attack the enemy when your position is weak, in that case. But when backed by so many generals, so many ammunitions etc, you must march on. That will help, kīrtana. But sādhū-saṅga, the real thing is sādhū-saṅga, the association with the higher power. Otherwise nothing has got any value. Sādhū śāstra, your stand must be on the real plane, and the cultivation of real thing, that is the importance, always. And to keep up the reality of the bhajana, whatever is necessary as sādhū-saṅga for the weak for the sādhaka and for the scripture and knowledge. Sādhū śāstra, krpā, then kīrtana, that will be the best preaching.

So Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura says one feeds himself, another feeds thousands and feeds himself. Who is the greater? Kīrtana means he is cultivating himself as well as at the same time he is helping so many to cultivate. But when you have got no capital of your own if you go to preach then you will meet such opposition that will be asat-saṅga, and the bud will be nipped. In that case only kaniṣṭha-adhikārī without backing you do not go to attack others. Kīrtana means to preach, to attack others, in another way. So you will be turned into an atheist, don't venture, kaniṣṭha-adhikārī.

Āpana-daśā, śravaṇa-daśā, varaṇa-daśā, sādhana-daśā, āpana-daśā, then prapanna-daśā, then you can preach independently. Otherwise only with the help of some prapanna-daśā you can go to preach. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Our connection with the reality, and we have some absolute conception of the reality, and from that from that position we can never be moved, removed. Some such stable position, that is what is necessary, invulnerable, sure position, what is what, sambhanda-jñāna.

Then the differences that we find in the writings of the Ācārya, what will apply where, we shall be able to understand and harmonise. Under what circumstances has this been advised to be taken up, and under what circumstances the other thing has been advised to be taken up: some practical knowledge. Everything about Him is good so we must not make ourselves very busy to understand technical things, the smaraṇam, the bhajan. What is really necessary - we must do the bhajan, śravaṇa, smaraṇam, kīrtana, and sitting here and to know every details, then we shall begin bhajana, this is all idle talks. Mainly kīrtana, that has been given in the age of Kali, inaugurated by Mahāprabhu, by Bhāgavatam, and many other things. Go on, kīrtana but sādhū-saṅga.

sādhū saṅga kṛṣṇa nāma ei matta jai, vaikunṭha nāma grahaṇam aśeṣāgham haraṁ viduh

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

[“The Holy Name must be taken with the attitude of service to the saints. Serving means die to live; to throw oneself wholesale for the higher existence.”]

Because we are weak, and when one is irresistibly placed in a position, and can never be removed from his position, he can go on with himself alone, and he will create so many helpers and march in a batch, just as our Guru Mahārāja did. First he began to chant himself alone, almost, then gradually so many gathered nearby, and the whole batch marched on in different ways.

One day he told to an attorney [?] in Calcutta, “First I began singly, myself, and now five hundred men have come to talk the same thing on my behalf, within this ten years or so.” Hare Krsna.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Krsna. Hare Krsna.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, this morning you were talking about humility. So what is like the perfection of humility in our practical devotional service? Practically, what is the perfection of humility, for the kaniṣṭha-adhikārī ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. May be of different type in different persons, so he has to think out his own way, the humility. And not to encroach on the rights of others, humility, and also he should not be such as to kill one’s own self, humility. It must be natural.

Once when we entered the present Bagh Bazaar Maṭha, there was a festival from the hired house. The Deities came in the chariot, and singing and dancing, then Deities were removed in the temple and then mahā-prasāda distributed. At twelve or at one o’clock we went to take, went to bed, and my bed was just nearby the bed of Professor Sanyal. He was very humble.

Then in the morning that Professor says to me, very slowly that, “Last night I felt so much weakness that I thought that I was dying. I thought that I shall rouse you.”

I was just on his side.

“Then I thought no! Why should I disturb Vaiṣṇava? He is so tired today, and taking rest, let me wait. And when I waited a little then I got, I gained some strength. And then I did not disturb you. But now also I am very weak.”

Very slowly and very sober, he was speaking these things. He was dying and he did not rouse me, only being afraid of disturbing my rest. When I heard in the morning from his lips, of course very gently he put it, but it came to me like thunder.

I at once went to Prabhupāda and informed him that such is the case. “That gentleman was dying last night but he did not disturb me.”

They also knew, Prabhupāda and other Vaiṣṇavas they also knew that that man was of such type. So at once they took attention and they called for a doctor, took serious steps.

So sometimes that sort of humility I think it is dangerous. Because his life is a valuable property to Guru Mahārāja, not only of himself, he is not concerned with only his interest, but he should live in the interest of his Gurudeva. So I could not relish that sort of, appreciate that sort of humility. So everything must be of real characteristic, with some connection with reality. I am thirsty. I won't request any Vaiṣṇava, “Please help me with a glass of water.” Or something like that. Then my disease may continue and there will be penny wise pound foolish. So common sense should be utilised always. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: When our Guru Mahārāja was in Vṛndāvana,

Śrīla Prabhupāda, he was lying on the bed, before he left he could not eat anything. Practically not even one glass of water. But I marked anyone who came, any visitor, he would always say, “Give them prasāda.” Even in that condition, he himself could not eat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wanted to travel the whole of Vṛndāvana, parikramā in bullock cart. But Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja’s help was sought and he came and anyhow he could stop him from that dangerous campaign in that serious condition of health.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, you said that we should always take the humble...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everything, bhajan of different forms, everything is good, śravaṇa, kīrtana, smaraṇa, anything in connection with the Lord. We are not blaming anything. But according to our capacity, our position, what will be most effective, the consideration and discussion only about that. But we must remember that we should not neglect: that will be to, committing offence. ‘The smaraṇa and other bhajan, pāda-sevanam they're of lower order.' We must not be, boast proud enough to condemn them in such a way. But still very cautiously and not only to satisfy curiosity, but when necessity will arise, then only we shall have to approach to test the superiority of looking about Śukadeva, about Ambarīṣa, all these things. But we must not venture to take it up as a play. They are all serious things. To take one Vaiṣṇava over another, to consider, that is not a very light thing; very subtle points. They are devotees and to place one above another with our rough necessity, we must not try to do that. It is not an academic thing. As a professor we shall coach the students with some theoretical knowledge of these things. It should not be accepted in that line. The practical side we shall always be conscious of. They are all great. And where am I? And I am going to make decree and dismiss over whom? There should be some limit to our adventurous audacity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sarvabhavana Prabhu was relating last night that you had said once that humility is accepting no position. Humility is also seen in not being willing to accept position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is all right. What do you say now? I am still sticking there, no position, because a servant has got no independent position. His position is always under the command of the master. His position is of infinite possibility, humility. He is most humble to his master, not to the guṇḍās. His main position is humility, humility must be towards whom? I am humble, I am lower than the lowest, to whom? Towards my master, towards his own, Vaiṣṇava, I am humble there.

So Hanumānji when it is necessary to burn Laṅkā his humility is not disturbed. He is as humble as anyone in carrying out the order, the interest of Rāmacandra. Wholly given, wholly surrendered. Humility in other words is surrendering. Humble, otherwise no opposition to the instruction, to the command of the master. He's related to Vaikuntha, to the upper section. Humility: not to the ordinary street drone or tiger and serpent. Humility does not mean, does not drag them into relativity, the serpent, the tiger, the jackal. But relativity to the Vaiṣṇava, that is the real plane where he takes his stand. So he's concerned with them. And humble means he does not resist. Whatever comes he only goes to carry out the order. He's humble. He possesses humility, without opposition he knows to carry out, sunīcatā.

No prejudice, not sitting on a seat of prejudice; humility. Generally we think humility to the outside world, but the meaning is not that. To the standard thinking person, they are misconceived, they are mad. Not humility in the standard of madness, to the mad people, the mad man has got no standard of his own. These are all misconceived to be mad. So humility means, has got a standard, and standard we must have from a standard world. Do you follow? No?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda has interpreted humility. The humility is absent where there is enjoyment, the spirit of enjoyment, aggression. Enjoyment, exploitation means aggression. There cannot be humility. Do you follow? Only cent percent service: there is humility. There is no humility when there is exploitation and renunciation. These two are in opposition with the normal nature of the world. These are all misconceived. They are enemy. They are a challenging element to the normal reality. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. That brings another – we understand that line...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the spirit of exploitation and spirit of renunciation, both of them are revolt against the proper, smooth working of the truth. So they are all misconceived. And real humility must be in relativity with the truth, full aspect, and not with the misconceived world, the standard not of the misconceived, the madman. Follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. What about spiritual aggression, for competition? There is a competitive spirit amongst two persons who are doing the same thing, then where is the place for humility there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is humility if it is really service: because its object is the centre and inspiration, cooperation, direction from there. As he feels he does so. He is connected with the Absolute Centre. So they can be arranged by Yogamāyā. He is not responsible. The necessity from the centre, as he told in the morning: fashion, not necessity.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati] [“Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.”]

[Ujjvala-nīlamanī]

It seems to be crooked. But it is not crooked. It is very nature. It is necessary only for the variegatedness of the services of Kṛṣṇa. From there: designed from up. They are not responsible for that.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa.

[?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So we must not infringe on the property of others. There may be competition but we should not infringe on the property of others.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our duty will always be to dedicate ourselves more and more intensely and as we shall be interfered with the higher agency we shall do. We must keep ourselves ready always for that. The handling from the upper house we shall obey cent percent. No; without any hesitation. That is our duty. Whatever will be asked of us to do we shall do.

In a war field if the general asks a particular battery to go in the first battle, they say, “Why not the second one should be ordered, commanded to go, why should we go first? We shall die and the last battle they will rejoice the victory. Why should we go first?”

What do you say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is not dedication.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The military will shoot you then and there. Ha, ha, ha. That is my consideration of the above, decision from the above. And it is not left on you, battalion number one, two, or three, or four who will go, it is not... Only the highest brain, they have the command. The complaint against that highest command, that means to die, to be done away with immediately.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So Mahārāja, then when the Pañca Pāṇḍavas were on the mahāprasthāna Arjuna had followed the instructions of Kṛṣṇa ditto, whenever Kṛṣṇa said shoot, he shot, whatever instructions he received. But we have seen in one case Yudhiṣṭhira did not follow the instructions ditto of Lord Kṛṣṇa. But all these people fell before Yudhiṣṭhira. Why did Arjuna have to actually fall down?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not the criteria of the highest devotion. Yudhiṣṭhira's achievement that was for another thing; and the devotion proper is not connected there. That is some sattva-guṇa mundane affairs. The Yāmarāja, the dog went on, but Arjuna had to fall, Bhīma had to fall. The test was something else, connected with mundane world. And they went to Sarga, what is that, not the highest thing of achievement. That is only a show of the outer case of the Pāṇḍava. But real Pāṇḍava as sakhā to Kṛṣṇa, that is separate. They already saw there Duryodhana and others they're there. What are they? After death they are all having their good position, honoured position there; they met. Yudhiṣṭhira went with his own body and found what, that sattva-guṇa deho.

To die in the battlefield for a kṣatriya he is rewarded by heavenly life, and they were there. And Yudhiṣṭhira went to that place keeping his body, and others could not, already reached. But the plane was sattva-guṇa, somewhat like that, Sarga, and not Vaikuṇṭha, nor Goloka, nor Dvārakā, nor that Mathurā etc. That is aprākṛta, not, it is sattva-guṇa.

Double, that Keśava Avatāra, the white and the black hair of Brahmā he gave it, “This will go and save you from the horrors of the sinfulness you are suffering from.”

_____?

But Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma came. They took up those two robes but they are only...

Bhuvalankar Avatāra not Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Avatāra of Vṛndāvana, that is another thing.

So also it has been seen in many cases, the outer case is something else, and the inner man is another thing. He also absorbs the lower personality. Just as when the viceroy comes, the rasapati comes to Calcutta, then the rajuphal's function absorbed in him, if he likes. When the king comes to visit the colony, all the officers, their power really vanishes in him. Whatever he wants done that will be done, by everyone, their own respective personality dead. So when higher power descends in the lower case, the lower case has got no value. Then when retires the lower case has been left, and the higher case goes up. Ke?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi... Vanquished; ha, ha, ha.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Mahārāja, sometimes you speak very sweetly and then other times it seems very cutting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very harshly, sweetly and harshly, enraged.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: As soft as a rose petal and as hard as a thunderbolt.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

It is of course mentioned, harshly, when some attack is on the person of a Vaiṣṇava, some injustice on them, temper may be hot. And I am also being a party to that. I am entangled. Committing some offence against them, so easily irritated. Why should I not stop in the beginning? I am carried so far as to disturb their honour. That is the cause of irritation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And the responsibility is mine and I am dragging you up to that distance.

We want to come to an adjusted position, former position, that if I have committed any offence when dealing with so many subtle things about the great personages, any offences, Nityānanda Prabhu, please take those off and keep me in my normal position as I have got from you all: aparādhā. Aparādhā naho kama [?] Perhaps Kavirāja Goswāmī. “I’m dealing so many great things...

The siddhānta, apa-siddhānta, that hits, that strikes, any apa-siddhānta taken to Mahāprabhu He felt much disturbance. So Svarūpa Dāmodara heard first, then he would send it to Mahāprabhu. Otherwise Mahāprabhu was disturbed in a very cruel way. Apa-siddhānta hits the final cause of the higher thinking persons.

That is more injurious to me; that break in the law of grammar. That is a great shock to me, and not the pain from carrying you on my shoulder. That pain I do not care for.”

So subtle beating is there in the high sphere; in the higher sentiment they may be offended. So this is not curiosity and necessity, and with all humility, with all respects to them we shall try to enter into that plane without disturbing any plant or any person who is roaming in that sphere. Otherwise it will be pure intellectualism and not Hari kathā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So that will be the authentic history of his life, especially the earlier, the major portion of his life. Last days may not be mentioned there. But he came in a big family, famous family, in the kāyastha family, Datta, Upadi. And the Vivekānanda also came out of the same family, Hartcolla Datta, Calcutta, famous family of substantial name and fame. But his maternal uncle's house was at Ula where Lalitā Prasāda has constructed Maṭha, Prabhupāda's younger brother Lalitā Prasāda.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Bir Nagar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bir Nagar, near Bir Nagar there was a big village named Ula and the Mustafi were the landlords there. And they were the mother connection of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. His father became poor and he was born and brought up in Ula. And he studied in Kṛṣṇa Nagar College, School, College, in Kṛṣṇa Nagar.

Then, of course he had some exceptional talent. He came in connection with the then educated society amongst the students. And especially there was one Mr. Da, Christian missionary who established Scottish Church College. He remained in his connection. He was encouraging the young Bengalis at the time, attracting most of them towards Christianity. And many, [?] and others, they became Christians.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura once, there was some association and some journals were also published from that association. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also contributed one essay, but Da Sahib [?] was displeased with him. He told that, “It is atheistic temperament, so I don’t expect it from a young man of your type. Here we have tried to prove that everything is coming out of blind nature. There is God.”

Anyhow, gradually he had close association with the Brahmo Society. They are supposed to be advanced in culture, followers of Ram Mohan Raya. And his first friend was the eldest brother of Rabindranatha, Dajendranatha Tagore was his very intimate friend, in this way.

He had to accept some service for livelihood, and government service he got, and posted in Orissa in the position of SDO, in charge of some sub-divisional officer. And sometimes he was also posted as an inspector of the Purī Jagannātha temple to supervise so that there may not be any corruption, all these things.

At that time he came in connection with Bhāgavatam when he was engaged in the service of the Jagannātha temple. And tried to read it, then he was gradually captured by Bhāgavatam, and the life of Śrī Caitanya Deva and Caitanya-caritāmṛta, all these things, from Purī, came in connection.

The Brahmo Association expected much from him because he was of scholarly character; could write well, argue well. But coming in contact with Bhāgavatam when he was serving in Dinājpur he gave his speech on Bhāgavatam. There he separated himself completely from the Brahmo School and he was seen to side with the Vaiṣṇava School of thinking, Vaiṣṇava, Mahāprabhu. And gradually he read these śāstras also and wrote many books of the Vaiṣṇava śāstras.

Then after retirement when he wanted to go to Vṛndāvana, to live there, to pass the rest of his life there, he got a dream, and repeatedly, to find out, to discover the proper birth place of Śrī Caitanya Deva. He could not neglect that dream. And again he entered into service in Kṛṣṇa Nagar. And there the records of the local place he used to consult. And then by the help of the records, as well as inspiration, he discovered the birth place at Yoga-pīṭha, Māyāpur. Then, more interested, he visited the whole Navadvīpa Maṇḍal and from the old scriptures also he gave a description of the old and modern of the whole Dhāma of Mahāprabhu. And established a sabhā, a committee, association, committee, so that the sevā pūjā of that place may continue: and lastly he handed it over to our Prabhupāda.

Prabhupāda was his: his first son was one Anada Prasād, the second was Rādhikā Prasād. Anada Prasād by first wife, he had two wives, married twice, Anada Prasād only one son and first wife died. Then by second wife Rādhikā Prasād, then Kamala Prasād, then Bimala Prasād, our Prabhupāda, fourth. Anada Prasād, Rādhikā Prasād, Kamala Prasād, Bimala Prasād. And then Balada Prasād, Lalita Prasād, Virya Prasād, Prasād, eight sons and two, three, four daughters, perhaps.

But Bimala Prasād from the beginning had given to the devotion of Mahāprabhu and was of very independent spirit, did not mind to read, continue his study systematically. Went to Sanskrit College, up to Sanskrit College he continued his study, but he had a spirit always to fight in favour of Vaiṣṇavism with anyone and everyone. And that sort of fighting spirit was the cause of leaving his college. And then home study, including jyotiṣa also. And whenever any opportunity he had he used to discuss in favour of Vaiṣṇavism with anyone and everyone; could not tolerate if anyone says anything against Vaiṣṇavism, as Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism.

So once he challenged Ísvara Vidyāsāgar [a famous Sanskrit scholar of the time], then Rabindranātha [Tagore], in papers also, and through writing, and Charan dās Bābājī: in many places.

So, so much so, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura felt little disturbance: “What will be your future?

You’re aggrandising, do not follow a particular system in your life.”

He answered: “Don’t be anxious for my future. I will manage anyhow.”

Then he went to visit the South, places of pilgrimage in the South, just as Mahāprabhu did, and gathered many ancient Vaiṣṇava information, and in Anubhāṣyam [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura’s commentary on Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta] he recorded...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... service of Māyāpur, and hesitatingly he accepted that in the beginning, but to his last moment he conducted the service very faithfully. And in that matter, from the physical standpoint Kuñja Bihārī Vidyābhūṣaṇa, lately [Śrīpād Bhakti Vilās] Tīrtha Mahārāja, helped him a great deal. And gradually many scholars also came around him and with their help he started this movement. He got inspiration to preach and he did so up to the last moment of his life.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's other sons, they're not, Lalitā Prasād somewhat inclined towards Mahāprabhu's line, others indifferent mostly.

Then, when Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura passed away, Bimala Prasād, he arranged a condolence meeting in a public hall and many respectable gents were invited. Amongst them Vipin Pal, then the Principal of Metropolitan Schools, some Scottish [?]

The leading personages of that time spoke very highly about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. "He gave new thought to the society in general. His articles were of original character, not stereotyped things. His investigations about Vaiṣṇavism have exceeded all the modern Ācāryas."

Śīśir [Kumār] Ghose, "The seventh Gosvāmī. We heard of six Gosvāmīs in the time of Mahāprabhu but Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writings have proved that he holds the seventh position amongst the Gosvāmīs. So extensive and original writings he has left for us about the teachings of Śrī Caitanya Deva."

In this way Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura left the world. And his literature, he's in his literature, present forever, systematic. On scientific basis he has delivered suitable to the modern age, his writing has given us about the teachings of Mahāprabhu and Bhāgavat. Our debt at his holy feet has got no end.

Prabhupāda was, though Prabhupāda took initiation from Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja as suggested by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, but still he held Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as his real Guru, substantially. Formerly only by the order of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he took Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja as Gurudeva. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura selected for him. But what we have found in him he knew that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is Guru from the internal consideration, we find. His outside and inside was filled with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura not in the physical sense but in the spiritual sense.

He installed many Maṭhas with the name of the Deity as Vinode Vilāsa, Vinode Rāma, Vinode Ānanda, Vinode Pran. So he saw through his Gurudeva Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. His attempt to approach Rādhā-Govinda and Mahāprabhu is inconceivable without Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's intervention in him. He was full of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

I think I attempted to write something about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and that was the key of his affection towards me, I thought. Because I tried to give publicity of the greatness of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's character to the public in a systematic way, so his attention was drawn to me. It is my own feeling.

One who is a little attached to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he can give him everything for that. That was his spirit. So he thought to be indebted in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's holy life, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

So much so he saw Rādhārāṇī and Gadādhara in him, the highest ideal of Guru tattva. In Gaura līlā Gadādhara in mādhurya rasa; and in Kṛṣṇa līlā Rādhārāṇī.

He also told once, "That if we rise a little higher and look up, then we shall find Rādhārāṇī in Gurudeva. If we raise our head a little and try to find, then we shall find it is the Rādhārāṇī who is doing the function of Gurudeva from the back, channels, position of instrumentality. But really, the source of grace, the Guru is coming from the original source of service, of love. So he used to see Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in that light.

*sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, [uktas tathā bhāvyata eva sadbhiḥ]
kintu prabhor yaḥ priya eva tasya, [vande guroḥ śrī-caraṇāravindam]*

[“In the revealed scriptures it is declared that the spiritual master should be worshipped like the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and this injunction is obeyed by pure devotees of the Lord. The spiritual master is the most confidential servant of the Lord. Thus let us offer our respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of our spiritual master.”] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 7]

We are asked to see Gurudeva not opaque but transparent. Transparent to such a degree that through him in the highest end first conception of service, can be seen, can be had there, we can get there. If we are earnest then we shall find the highest link from the very source, original source. So we are requested not to see Guru as limited, limited in his ordinary personification, but transparent mediator of the highest function in his line. If only our vision is deep we can see that, according to the depth of the śraddhā, our vision, of the disciple, the Guru's will, the Lord is there. The Guru tattva is a peculiar thing, very peculiar, very noble, very broad, wide and very deep. So we are warned against thinking Gurudeva was with mortality. So Prabhupāda used to, in his ideal conduct he has shown it to us, how much earnestness one may have for Gurudeva. We have seen in his practices and ways, advices. (Goodbye kaniṣṭha?) Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was wholesale awake in him, everything for Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nine o'clock?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura would openly criticise Íśvarachandra Vidyāsāgar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Vidyāsāgar, though he was a young boy. Vidyāsāgar wrote in his book, “Īśvara-nirākāra-caitanya-svarūpa, Īśvara-nirākāra, without any figure and He’s a mass of consciousness.”

So he went to him, the boy, he was a boy, went to him, “What have you written here? You say Īśvara and then say nirākāra. Where have you got it? Īśvara, the creator, the master, and He is nirākāra. Where have you got Īśvara is nirākāra? He has got some sort of ākāra [form], cidākāra [transcendental form], nirākāra caitanya svarūpa. Only mass of consciousness but without any figure, and He’s the creator. Where have you got?”

In this way challenged. But he was very young. Vidyāsāgar may not care. But still he did his duty. That was his temperament. He will give some challenge. Without that, whenever there is something wrong against the creed of Mahāprabhu, he must go and give some challenge. Otherwise he could not find peace in him.

“That I have done my duty, I have given up position. When it came to my consciousness, I have done something; that is satisfaction, that I opposed it.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No compromise.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No compromise, protest. “Whatever you say I protest it. I represent a particular party that does not recognise your thought.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Rabi [Rabindranātha] Tagore wrote articles in some book, in disguise, and Prabhupāda also protested that in a name that also in disguise, protested, went on protesting his writings. Gaura Sundara.

Gaura Sundara. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, where did you spend most of your time with Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura? You spent some time with him, personally?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura? Yes. In the later portion of my life I got chances to live with him, now and often. Perhaps he used to like to take me with him. Many persons used to come to visit him, and to talk with them in a respectable way, to represent his teachings to them, he used to keep me with him. And when he used to, later in his life, he used to speak something, his memory faded, so some appropriate *śloka*s from the scriptures in what line he is going, saying, that should be supplied. Very few of us we could do that; one, Vasudeva Prabhu, myself, and sometimes Śrautī Mahārāja; very few. That one, he's going on in a particular way and he's searching some śloka in support of his speech. So we used to supply that, what is necessary to help his speech in the line in which he is going on. The appropriate proofs from the scripture, that is to be supplied to him. In that case Vasudeva Prabhu, then next myself could help him in that way in his later days.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura when he began the service of the Dhāma and Mahāprabhu, to attract the people, attract the public to accept his discovery that this is Dhāma, he had to do many things. Sometimes, that was a lonely place at the time, in a meadow is a temple, not temple, then the pukha building and there Mahāprabhu. And generally cooks, brāhmaṇa cooks, did not stay there for a long time. In a lonely place they were afraid, and the Mohammedans are very nearby. So to continue the service he had to undergo many undesirable things. That is this gangica, sometimes he had to prepare gangica by his own hand for the cook, gangica, that intoxication, he had to prepare, otherwise the cook would flee away. So many things, respectable persons had come. He had to make arrangement for their tobacco, and many other things.

Our Guru Mahārāja also did, to the extreme. When [Sir John] Anderson, the Governor [of Bengal], he was invited to Māyāpur, at that time, of course the arrangement was made with the Calcutta Hotel to bring appropriate food for him, including meats and other things. The hostel man was invited to make arrangement for the dishes of the Governor and his paraphernalia. Anyhow he had to do.

And in foreign preaching also when he told about that, I modestly protested, that the meat dishes, non vegetable dishes, if served in the Maṭha compound, then there will be a blame on the mission.

“No, No. Thousands of births ago I have decided all these things. We have to do anything and everything for the service of Mahāprabhu.” That was his answer. “Vaikuṇṭha vṛtti, no kuṇṭha, no limitation. Anything I am prepared to do for the service of Mahāprabhu, for the propagation. The grace of Mahāprabhu should be distributed in the length and breadth of the whole of the world. And for that anything should be done. No stone unturned. Physical connection is no connection. We shall try to save our internal purity. That is all.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

And Swāmī Mahārāja also did the same thing, took the risk of external contamination with filthy things to save so many souls from that habit of impurity, impure diet. He had to go to the place of that atmosphere, anti atmosphere, to save them. The house is on fire so if one likes to deliver them, to save them, the inhabitants, then he must take some risk, of some abscess, some boil in his body, if he wants really to save them, to enter the house which is already on fire to save the inmates of the house. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Śrīla Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda he was also, he had a great vision for the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He saw in his divine eye that prema dharma, the religion based on divine love, that is so self evident in character. “That the intelligent people cannot keep them away from such conception of pure religion as the highest love, prema. The fine intellect cannot but detect the purity in the love in the religion in its highest conception. So the western thinkers if they are not much prejudiced, they cannot but appreciate the doctrine of divine love as given out by Śrī Caitanya Deva. So I’m sure that in the near future many of the western scholars they will come under the flag of Śrī Caitanya Deva.” And he delivered such lectures here and there.

One gentleman Hiran Datta, was a good scholar, a theosophist when he came to preside over a meeting in Bagh Bazaar Temple, some public meeting. When one Mr. Barchard came with [Bhakti Saranga] Goswāmī Mahārāja while returning from England, Hiran Datta was president of meeting. He told, “When we were students of City College, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura delivered a lecture there to this effect. That in near future the western scholars will come and join with the saṅkīrtana under the banner of Mahāprabhu. I see it plainly, clearly.” He told that, “I am the witness and I am seeing the beginning of that; that the western scholars are coming. I heard the lecture in my young days. And in my older days I saw the evidence. It is going to be true. I am very much glad for that.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: You had the darśana of Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda at that time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. He left the world nineteen fourteen. I joined the mission nineteen twenty six. After twelve years. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

There was one Parvat Mahārāja who lived at the next house where Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in Godruma he used to pass his old age. He told there was only a partition wall between the house of Parvata Mahārāja and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura at Surabhi-kuñja at that time he was living. From about three o'clock he woke up, in his last days, and took the Name of Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa, this mahā-mantra at the top of his voice. He told that as if he's calling some man who is far away. He's calling a person. With this spirit he was pronouncing the mahā-mantra as if he's calling a person, calling someone. Hare Kṛṣṇa, at the top of his voice. But we could think how a human being can do such things continuously? And wandering in the garden, and there was a cement chair and when he could not stand, he took his seat there for some time. And then again walking and chanting at the top of his voice, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa, just as calling some person with such animation in the voice, life-full voice, the person he is calling, with this spirit. Not in a formal way but a material hankering he is calling for the Lord.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

And I heard from another source, Rāma Gopāl Vidyābhūṣaṇa, an M.A.P.L. [?] He told, “Once we went to visit him, that a government officer, an educated man, he has become Vaiṣṇava Bābājī. We went to see him. And some amongst us asked him, ‘please speak something about Kṛṣṇa Nāma.’”

He stopped for a little, “Oh, you want to hear about Kṛṣṇa. You want Kṛṣṇa Nāma?” In this way he continued for some time. “Kṛṣṇa! You are so fortunate. You have come to hear Kṛṣṇa Nāma.” Then the consequence of such inquiry had such influence on his body and mind, that as it is written by him in the poem:

[Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya, The Glories of the Holy Name] [By Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura]

(1) kṛṣṇa-nāma dhare koto bal viṣaya-vāsanānale, mora citta sadā jwale, ravi-tapta maru-bhūmi-sam karna-randhra-patha diyā, hṛdi mājhe praveśiyā, variṣoya sudhā anupam

[What power does the Name of Kṛṣṇa possess? My heart constantly burns in the fire of worldly desires, just like a desert scorched by the rays of the sun. The Holy Name, entering the core of my heart through the holes of my ears, showers unparalleled nectar upon my soul.]

(2) *hṛdoya hoite bole, jihvāra agrete cale, śabda-rūpe nāce anukṣan kanṭhe mora bhaṅge swara, aṅga kāṅpe thara thara, sthira hoite nā

[The Holy Name speaks from within my heart, moves onto the tip of my tongue, and constantly dances on it in the form of transcendental sound. My throat becomes choked up, my body shivers again and again, and my feet cannot remain still.]

(3) *caḡṣe dhārā, dehe gharma, pulakita saba carma, vivarna hoilo kalevara mūr̥chita hoilo man, pralayera āgaman, bhāve sarva-deha [Rivers of tears flow from my eyes, perspiration completely soaks my body, all my skin thrills with rapture, my hairs stand on end, and my complexion turns pale and discoloured. My mind grows faint, I begin to experience devastation, and my entire body is shattered in a flood of ecstatic emotions.

(4) *kori' eto upadrava, citte varṣe sudhā-drava, more ḍāre premera sāgare kichu nā bujhite dilo, more to' bātula koilo, mora citta-vitta

[While causing such an ecstatic disturbance, the Holy Name showers liquid nectar on my heart and drowns me in the ocean of divine love of Godhead. He does not allow me to understand anything, for He has made me truly mad by having stolen away my mind and all my resources.]

(5) loinu āśroya jā'r, heno vyavahāra tā'r, varnite nā pāri e sakal kṛṣṇanāma icchā-moy, jāhe jāhe sukhī hoy, sei mora sukhera sambal

[Such is the behaviour of Him in whom I have taken shelter. I am not capable of describing all this. The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is independent and thus acts on His own sweet will. In whatever way He becomes happy, that is also my way of happiness.]

(6) *premera kalikā nām, adbhuta rasera dhām, heno bala karaye

[The Holy Name is the bud of the flower of divine love, and is the very abode of astonishing mellows. Such is the power He manifests that when His Holy Name starts to blossom a little further, it then reveals His own divine form and qualities. Thus my heart is abducted and taken directly to Kṛṣṇa.]

(7) pūrṇa vikaśita hoīyā, braje more jāya loiyā, dekhāy more swarūpa-vilās more siddha-deha diyā, kṛṣṇa-pāśe rākhe giyā, e dehera kore sarva-nāś

[Blossoming fully, the flower of the Holy Name takes me to Vraja and reveals to me His own love-dalliance. This Name gives to me my own eternal spiritual body, keeps me right by Kṛṣṇa's side, and completely destroys everything related to this mortal frame of mine.]

(8) kṛṣṇa-nāma-cintāmaṇi, akhila rasera khani, nitya-mukta śuddha-rasa-moy nāmera bālāi jata, saba lo'ye hoi hata, tabe mora sukhera udoy

[The Name of Kṛṣṇa is a transcendental touchstone, a mine of all devotional mellows. It is eternally liberated, and the embodiment of pure rasa. When all impediments to the pure chanting of the Holy Name are taken away and destroyed, then my happiness will know its true awakening.]

[Thus ends Śaraṇāgati by Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda, translated by Dasaratha-suta dasa]

Cakṣe dhārā, dehe gharma, sweat, pulakita saba carma, vivarna hoilo kalevara, mūrchita hoilo man, the mind unconscious. Pralayera āgaman, bhāve sarva-deha jara jara. Kori' eto upadrava, creating so much disturbance. Citte varṣe sudhā-drava, nectarean current in the heart, more ḍāre premera sāgare, and puts me into the ocean of ecstasy of love. Kichu nā bujhite dilo, more to' bātula koilo, could not make out anything, can't feel about the circle environment, bātula koilo. Mora citta-vitta saba hare, I lost myself in that sort of thought.

premera kalikā nām, adbhuta rasera dhām, heno bala karaye prakāś īṣat vikaśi' punaḥ, dekhāy nija-rūpa-guna, citta hari' loya kṛṣṇa-pāś more siddha-deha diyā, kṛṣṇa-pāśe rākhe giyā kṛṣṇa-nāma-cintāmaṇi, akhila rasera khani, nitya-mukta śuddha-rasa-moy, nāmera bālāi jata “Many things I can’t remember. All these stages were displayed in his body and mind. I saw with my own eyes.” Simply he inquired. He came to hear. “You are so fortunate. You have come to hear Kṛṣṇa Nāma from me. Kṛṣṇa! Kṛṣṇa!” In this way he entered into another domain. And so many feats and expressions came in his body and mind; convulsions, tears, all these things.” That I heard from an eye witness.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Hari.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Before Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's appearance the Vaiṣṇava tradition was very much neglected.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very few śuddha Vaiṣṇavas were to be found before Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. But he came and modernised, and adjusted the religion in a modern garb and so it was easy for many regardful students to come and accept the śuddha Vaiṣṇavism. It was molested, widely, in a wide way by the so called followers. The real ideal was eclipsed and so for the inquisitive it was difficult to have real entrance and real attachment for Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism. Especially the bābājī, the Vaiṣṇava from any caste and they could marry. And only taking Name and no other practices or real earnestness for the truth. Anyhow dragging on with their life and mixing with no pure practices, nor pure habits as especially in the name of religion, mixing with women. That brought in return a hate for them in the society. And those goswāmīs that took up the initiation as their trade because they had such low connection, low association, they lost their honour in the general society of the gentleman. The goswāmīs, bābājīs, they lost their prestige in the society because of their imitative character. But Gauḍīya Maṭha came out with the real spirit of the religion and also pure practices subsequently following. So the attention of the educated inquirers after truth, their attention was drawn by Gauḍīya Maṭha and they flocked together.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: After one hears about great personalities like Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda we feel very insignificant. We have no existence. After hearing about his life we feel as if we have very little importance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Which was insignificant?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, we feel [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! You think yourself very insignificant?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not insignificant but useless.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We can utilise, we can do our might, contribute our might as much as possible for the service of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. That means the service of Mahāprabhu, and that means the service of Kṛṣṇa, and that means the service of the whole universe, wherever there is life, and that service to my own soul, my Gurudeva, everything. It includes within its harmony, everything remains. What Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura gives us, we shall find:

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati / yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati

[“By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained.”]

The broadest thing, broadest conception of our duty, including myself, the whole of the world, the Lord, everything.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: ... but we are told that when Nanda Mahārāja comes that Droṇācārya enters into him, enters into the personality of Nanda Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We are told that's stated in Gaura-gaṇoddeśa-dīpikā that the same personality of Droṇa enters into the personality of Nanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what for?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We wanted to ask that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why does the ultimate come to such idea? But what does he want to prove by it? What is the necessity that Droṇa will enter into Nanda?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: This idea came from possibly the Kṛṣṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The necessity to prove that Droṇa was in Nanda. Some reference there must be. What is that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Must be from Kṛṣṇa-Sandarbha, something there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why it was necessary to prove that. What is the circumstance? I want to know that; with Droṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Well Mahārāja, sometimes before Kṛṣṇa's appearance...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is he that Droṇa, Dron means that fighter Droṇa?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now dron means a kind of crow. What is Droṇa?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, the personality Droṇācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Droṇācārya, it is mentioned?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I want to see that portion. Droṇācārya entered into Nanda, why it was necessary to prove, where it is mentioned. I want to know that and then I can answer. Droṇa. I recollect some sort of expression I came in connection, not very important, but still maybe Droṇa, Nanda; Droṇācārya, Aśvatthāmā.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Well Mahārāja, before Kṛṣṇa appeared there were many prayers which were offered to Kṛṣṇa and weren't...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Like?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I think He heard Lord Brahmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Brahmā-stava: all the devatas with Brahmā, their leader.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. So some of the demigods were instructed to take birth so that Kṛṣṇa's līlā could begin, or making arrangements for that, so did some of those demigods enter into other personalities? Yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. They were asked to enter into different personalities to help His līlā. So the general Kṛṣṇa līlā is of sweet nature, not of fighting. So where there is fighting that is to: opposing with the environment. Then the gods, the demigods in those, they came out with their function, to discourage the disturbances, to rid the disturbance, opposition. It was the function of the demigods. And the Kṛṣṇa līlā with His mates that was always playing, singing, dancing with the sweet side of the līlā, pastimes, that was in Vṛndāvana. But the āśura killing and the other meeting with the unfavourable circumstances, that is all done by the demigods.

You don't remember the reference of Droṇa and Nanda?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nārāyaṇa Mahārāja had mentioned that coming from the Kṛṣṇa-sandarbhā. So I would have to find the reference.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa-sandarbhā it must be but in what occasion it came? Why it was necessary? What aspect of Droṇa was found in Nanda? That is to ascertain first, why it was necessary that Droṇa entered in Nanda. [?] Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, when the demigods...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: What would be the relationship when one personality would enter into another personality: that would be, they would reside within the heart? [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is just as one light absorbs another light, something like that. No physical, the mental, greater thing absorbs the lower thing. Just as the air or fire can absorb; a small fire is absorbed in the bigger fire, something like that. Just as in a particular idea. A philanthropist when he takes the position of a politician for some time, that politician is present in a philanthropist. A learned man he accepts the position of social work for some time, that dedication, something like that. That idea is present in the greater idea; a smaller idea has been accepted for the time being. Such way, it is there.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, how do we adjust that we see that Arjuna and Prahlāda Mahārāja they comprise Haridāsa Ṭhākura personality?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prahlāda Mahārāja and Haridāsa Ṭhākura they are in the case of forbearance. Prahlāda had to undergo, to demonstrate the, our submission to the Lord. The external punishment, his external torture may come and that was accepted. So in that case we see similarity between Prahlāda and Haridāsa Ṭhākura who was also tortured by Kazi and others in different ways. But in spite of that torture, he stood firmly in his position. So the ideal that the devotees of Kṛṣṇa, of Hari, sometimes they are to pass many worldly torture. In that aspect Prahlāda Mahārāja and Haridāsa Ṭhākura in that point they're one and the same. They firmly stick to their principle of devotion in spite of the unfavourable environment, so much so to the torture of the highest degree. In that respect they are one, Haridāsa Ṭhākura and Prahlāda. And Arjuna, Prahlāda is compared with Arjuna, where?

Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. What Nārāyaṇa Mahārāja mentioned about Droṇācārya and Nanda, what was the necessity to mention that Droṇa was within Nanda, what was the necessity there?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He was giving different examples of different personalities who entered into others during Kṛṣṇa līlā. So the question arose, what was the relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The example.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And relationship, what would that be?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as the function of lower officer is absorbed in higher officer, something like that, functional, a functional question, a function.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And then he had mentioned in the Gaura-gaṇoddeśa- dīpikā that Arjuna and Prahlāda, those two personalities contributed to Haridāsa Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prahlāda is represented there. And Arjuna, Arjuna is found in Rāmānanda Rāya, Viśākhā and Arjuna, the two functions were seen in Rāmānanda. But Arjuna in Haridāsa Ṭhākura, that's a new idea coming to me, Arjuna. Who is that? Haridāsa Ṭhākura, Arjuna, Haridāsa Ṭhākura rather Brahmā, Brahmā and Prahlāda, not Arjuna.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I think that's a mistake.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Brahmā was there. Brahmā Haridāsa. He is known as Brahmā Haridāsa. It is said that the Brahmā stole away the cows and the calves and the cowboys to test who is Kṛṣṇa. So for that offence Brahmā had to come in the Muslim School to take birth. But a formal, but materially Haridāsa Ṭhākura's position is not lower than Brahmā.

A fallen stage: just as Yamal-Arjuna. Two sons of Kuvera they were engaged in merry making after drinking and cursed by Nārada, "Go and be sthāvarā." Which means non moving life, trees. And came as Yamal-Arjuna in Kṛṣṇa līlā, and they cried, wailed, repented, and tried to pacify Devarṣi Nārada, and blessed with that curse was blessing for them.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Hari.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, at the end of the Yadu dynasty when the Yadu dynasty was to be destroyed, after the destruction also some personalities returned back and the divisions within were seen. So, like you said, it is a matter of function, some purpose there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Function means that idea and that sometimes takes form in a subtle plane or sometimes in the gross plane, as is necessary. They may stay in their formal position, also their function may be transferred. The gods that entered into them, they are present in their position also, when their function was extended there. It does not mean that the gods that entered into them, they disappeared here. Not always like that. Sometimes when curse or something, obeying. So their function is also there and also their spirit, their function is transferred there. The particular type of function is transferred, a representation.

Gaurasundar. Here we end. Try to finish that translation.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... our consciousness, that will help a great deal to do away with the anomalies we have got. It will help to proper adjustment, consciousness, relativity, that can come, new addition, new light, new progress, new self analysis.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But we could not get that without Vaiṣṇava, sādhū-saṅga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To be awake in search of our real self, real interest, that is what is the most urgent necessity of everyone, self determination, the attitude of self determination, the intuitive search for self determination. The peace, the love of peace, without self determination, that is a drawback, disqualification. There must be difference in quality of peace, the gradation. What is the ideal of real peace? Ordinary peace conception is a stagnant one, śanta-rasa, only finder of peace; they're followers of śanta-rasa, peaceful life.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But no service, service?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Service is another thing. Die to live. Something like that. Dedication. It is in the appearance of giving something, giving the whole thing. But really he becomes a gainer in that risk. A risk, a risk for the absolute; that is the capital for gain, that I shall risk everything for the Absolute cause, for His satisfaction. And that reaches acme in Vṛndāvana. They risk everything for the satisfaction, for a slight satisfaction of the Supreme, they are ready to sacrifice everything they can conceive to possess.

Oxymoron, what is oxymoron? A rhetoric expression! Apparently what seems to be injurious, it seems to be wrong, but really we find there is the truth. Oxymoron: a sort of alaṅkāra, rhetoric expression, oxymoron.

When in I.A. class we had to read Milton, Stopford Brooke's Milton, criticism on Milton's works by Stopford. Then we were required to read out all this.

[Stopford Augustus Brooke (1832 - 1916) was an Irish churchman, royal chaplain and writer. He was born in the rectory of Glendoen, near Letterkenny, Donegal, Republic of Ireland]

Oxymoron. Bhauma means jyotiṣa, the outward expression of the pure conscious world, spiritual world, a hazy view of the spiritual cosmos. Then after we cross the threshold we shall find the cosmos. But with the nature and intensity of our sacrifice, our degree of our dedication, we'll be allowed to enter into the internal nectarine movement.

When we eliminate that idea we become imitationist, sahajiyā. So we must be very careful about that. The mundane, this is a reflection, perverted reflection. Here also we can get everything but it is perverted reflection. Even Māyāvādī they may not have any aspiration of the worldly enjoyment, but taking the Name of Hari, Kṛṣṇa, Rāma, and have some sentiment, feeling, shivering, then that tears etc, may have. But that is also a kind of reflection, not the real plane because he has already committed himself to the creed that Nārāyaṇa or Viṣṇu or Vaiṣṇava everything this side Brahman within the jurisdiction of mundane area.

In Hari Nāma Cintāmaṇi we'll find that they may also show some sorts of devotional signs in their body and mind, but their creed has sealed their entrance into Vaiṣṇava proper. Vaiṣṇava is this side, Brahmaloka nirviśeṣa, that is their creed. So they're fixed, though sahajiyāism may not be there, but still their devotion is not of pure type. Because sattva-guṇa, it may be in the jurisdiction of sattva-guṇa at most. That is within misconception. They have not real faith that across the conception of Brahman, on the higher, deeper vision, there is Vaiṣṇava, Goloka, etc. They can't understand about the real nature of dedication, self dedication.

By dedication we come in the relativity of another perfectly different world. And dedication is better than abnegation or renunciation. Renunciation of the evil that is good, but that is destructive, that will lead us to the zero conception of everything. And by accepting and searching and attaining our inner self as unit of the world of dedication we find a new world before us, new land. That they can't believe. The Māyāvādīs cannot put faith in that, that if we are wholesale converted, our innermost self is a member of the plane of dedication, they can't believe that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, can the Māyāvādīs be - in some cases they cannot be converted to Vaiṣṇavas, never?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Very rarely, very rarely, and there's the two cases seem to be clear, in Śukadeva and Bilvamaṅgala. Their future was bright. Śukadeva almost he was lost in the Brahman conception. He had a real touch of the spiritual world. Connection with spiritual world was a reality in him. But he could not believe there may be any further progress within that. He was satisfied with that.

pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, [uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā grhīta-cetā rājarṣe, ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān, tad ahaṁ te 'bhīdhāsyāmi, mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān yasya śraddadhatām āśu, syān mukunde matiḥ satī]

[“O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses.”] – [“That very Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam I shall recite before you because you are the most sincere devotee of Lord Kṛṣṇa. One who gives full attention and respect to hearing Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam achieves unflinching faith in the Supreme Lord, the giver of salvation.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9-10]

Then by the gracious and incident, intention and helping attitude of Vyāsadeva anyhow he was converted. But he was a good student, bona fide. So Bhāgavata came through him specially to have a position, to give position Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam to the scholars including the Māyāvādīs and yogīs etc. Śukadeva was accepted as the proper medium to place it properly over the Māyāvādā thought. He was well versed in Māyāvādā vicāra, he was rather settled there. And anything coming, passing though his consciousness to this world, that cannot but be approved by the Māyāvādī arguments. So he was chosen to be the deliverer of Bhāgavata view, of Bhāgavata School.

And Bilvamaṅgala also started his life with the Māyāvādī conception. Then by the sudden inconceivable grace of Kṛṣṇa we see him converted suddenly into pure devotional life. So one of his names is Līlāśukha, Bilvamaṅgala's another name is Līlāśukha, a type of śukha. His pastimes, the example in his life was shown as that of śukha, Līlāśukha.

Just as if enemy has got a very close relation he can partly play of the greatest enemy, like Vibhiṣana, like ordinary brothers come from the same womb, same mother. The closer person if he is opposed, he can do the greatest mischief. So jñāna, the karma, the energy of the enjoying world cannot oppose devotion so much as jñāna; almost child of the same plane can stand in opposition of bhakti.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: There's one verse in Upadeśāmṛta describes the different gradations in the Dhāma: vaikuṇṭhāj janito.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, two comparative gradations, one in respect of the place, another person.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udāra-pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt [kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevām vivekī na kaḥ]

[“The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”] [Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

That is one. And another is:

karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktim yayur jñāninas tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dṛśas tābhyo 'pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tām nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī

[“There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places.”]

[Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

Concerning person and concerning the place, side by side, development in the worker and the place of working; a devotee and the plane of devotion. The gradation has been given there. By such adjustment we come to know what is what in the world of devotion, if we can properly adjust ourselves with these advices, Upadeśāmṛta. Then another is: yat preṣṭhair apy alam asulabham kiṁ punar bhakti-bhājām, another śloka:

kṛṣṇasyochchaiḥ praṇaya-vasatiḥ preyasībhyo 'pi rādhā- kuṇḍaṁ cāsyā munibhir abhitas tādṛg eva vyadhāyi yat preṣṭhair apy alam asulabham kiṁ punar bhakti-bhājām tat premedaṁ sakṛd api saraḥ snātur āviṣkaroti

[“Of the many objects of favoured delight and of all the loveable damsels of Vrajabhūmi, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is certainly the most treasured object of Kṛṣṇa’s love. And, in every respect, Her divine kuṇḍa is described by great sages as similarly dear to Him. Undoubtedly Rādhā-kuṇḍa is very rarely attained even by the great devotees; therefore it is even more difficult for ordinary devotees to attain. If one simply bathes once within those holy waters, one’s pure love of Kṛṣṇa is fully aroused.”]
[Upadeśāmṛta, 11]

So the highest praise of Rādhā-kuṇḍa. But here it is mentioned snātur, one who has taken bath in that Rādhā-kunḍa. But our Guru Mahārāja he gave light that snāna means not to dive this physical body, but your soul must have got a bath there, in that kunḍa. So physically you are to honour. Don't jump into the water you see. But you can take a drop on your head and think yourself you are purified. The snāna means not physical bath. It is the bath that is to be coloured with that tinge.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our Guru Mahārāja forbade it, to jump in. Our Guru Mahārāja said it is forbidden to jump in. He would not allow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. He said it would become nāraka-kunḍa, if we go there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not to consider it to be of physical utility, Rādhā-kunḍa, Vṛndāvana.

rādhā-padāṅkita dhāma vṛndāvana yāra nāma [tāhā yena āśraya karila]

[“He who has failed to carefully worship the Lotus Feet of Śrīmatī Rādhikā, which are the abodes of all auspiciousness; who has not taken shelter in the transcendental abode known as Vṛndāvana, which is decorated with the beautiful Lotus Flower named Rādhā; who in this life has not associated with the devotees of Rādhikā, who are very wise and whose devotion for Rādhā is very deep - how will such a person ever experience the bliss of bathing in the ocean of Lord Śyāma's sublime mellows? Please understand this most attentively.”]

[Śrī Rādhāṣṭaka - from Gītāvalī, The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Thākura, p 118 – 9]

Whose name is Vṛndāvana? Where there are the footprints of Rādhārāṇī. The conclusion of everything goes to the highest consciousness of spirit as well as service. All the meaning, analyses, commentary, must go to that one direction; anyhow the direction will go to that side.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Rāma Rāma.

Whatever is done, for whose interest? Not the form of the practices but the object for which it is being done. That will purify, that will justify, or act. It may be thieving, it may be murder, does not matter. But for what purpose, having connection with the happy pleasure of the Absolute Sweet Will, or have connection with some lower plane? Whose agent you are? That is to be considered. That you are working as an agent, that must be first condition, and not for your interest. And whose agent you are; king’s agent or queen’s agent? The queen’s agent surpasses even the king’s agent. Rādhā-dāsyam, whose agent you are. That will be amṛtam and that will be poison, some agency of māyā senses, the poison producing, an unproductive Māyāvādī. And a nectar producing devotion. Reaction, what reaction will bring, the movement you are starting, the wave you are starting, what will be the reaction? It will be ascertained that you are connected with whom? The conception of Absolute; what is your conception about the Absolute? That will come in question.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there were two points you made yesterday which I thought I will ask again today. And one of those was that you were describing the śloka, mām hi pārtha vyapāśritya:

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

mām hi pārtha vyapāśritya, ye 'pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ striyo vaiśyās tathā śūdrās, te 'pi yānti parām gatim

[“O son of Pṛthā, low-born persons of degraded lineage, women, merchants, or labourers - they also attain the supreme destination by taking full refuge in Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.32]

Anyone from any place however deplorable position he may be considered to hold anyhow...

End of 81.09.15_81.09.19.A

81.09.19.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...prove himself to be sufficiently strong.

“My slight connection can dissolve the all filthy... It does not matter anything. Only My connection is enough. My slightest connection is enough to remove the most filthy environment.”

That is the inner meaning. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is disinfecting, of such high quality that no dirt can stand if it comes in His connection, cannot but be purified.

mām hi pārtha vyapāśritya, [ye 'pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ striyo vaiśyās tathā śūdrās, te 'pi yānti parām gatim]

["O son of Pṛthā, low-born persons of degraded lineage, women, merchants, or labourers - they also attain the supreme destination by taking full refuge in Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.32]

"In any way: by constitutional method or unconstitutional method, in any way. If he has slight connection of Mine in any way."

So broad-hearted, He says. And again we are told:

'kṛṣṇa-nāma' kare aparādhera vicāra, [kṛṣṇa balile aparādhīra nā haya vikāra] ["There are offences to be considered while chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Therefore, simply by chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa, one does not become ecstatic."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 8.24]

That what about Gaurāṅga, and what more about Nityānanda? Then will it transform ourselves to be atheist, that none can purify me? What will be the answer? That Kṛṣṇa says such. Then we are told that Gaurāṅga is more generous. Then again we are told that Nityānanda is infinitely more generous. But still we are left impure.

What is the solution? Only one answer is given hither thither.

Durdaiva vilāsa, amara durdaiva nami ihājani nānurāgaḥ [Śikṣāṣṭakam,2]

“The slightest cooperation that is demanded of me I am in lack of that.
Still I am under trial.”

That is the general conception of the servants of the Vaiṣṇava.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there was one conception which yesterday you were talking about how the strī can become the most qualified servant.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Strī means the conception of negative self. Strī with the conception of women, the negative relation is there. But if it is used for a filthy thing that would be more filthy, and when it comes in the connection with a higher agent then it would be more.

That is a, suppose there is a student who is very credulous, whatever is said to him, he takes it as truth. But when he's under a bad teacher, then easily he will swallow up all the erroneous advices. But when he comes into the connection of a higher educated man, he will easily accept the advices that come from the higher professor. So credulity, earnestness is good, but earnestness misplaced that is disqualification, and if properly placed it is high qualification. Something like that. The negative attitude is good, but negative to a bad positive, then negative is in a most deplorable condition. And when the negative relativity is a higher thing then it will benefit more, than ordinary hesitating receiver. That is the purpose.

Striyo vaiśyās tathā śūdrās [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.32]. In this world that strī mentality, the credulity, easily, the tendency which easily falls to the prey of anyone, that sort of mentality when it comes in connection with the rogue, that is a very deplorable condition. But when again that comes in connection of a higher agency, then it will be benefited that much. That sort of mentality: that easily they can accept; striyo vaiśyās tathā.

Śūdra also, śūdra, serving mentality, cannot have no independent thinking, śūdra. Generally who are of such nature that when they are given some work, they do that. But cannot, whether bad or good, they cannot ascertain. Only you order, they can do that. He is ready to do his labour and not direction. That mentality, śūdra mentality, only labour and not director. But when director, the mentality of dictator that though apparently seems to be superior, but in Vaikuntha where service is necessary, the dictatorship mentality, that will hamper his progress. Rather the mentality of serving, following the direction of dictator, that will help him there, as a servant. So śūdra mentality will be helpful, because there we are not to master but to serve, we are to obey and not to command. That will be their general temperament, to serve, to obey. So śūdra mentality will be. But this śūdra mentality is not that śūdra mentality. Not same but similar. Just as kāma and prema similar, not same, opposite, but similarity they have got, in that way. Service, śūdra means service giver, and strī means only the mentality to make herself object of enjoyment, not enjoyer, that sort of thing. Similar not same, rather the opposite.

[“Therefore lust and love are quite different. Lust is like dense darkness, but love is like the bright sun.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

One holds the highest position, surrender to the highest. And surrender to the lowest; that is most miserable. Surrender is good but surrender proper. Surrender to the high. That is appreciable. And surrender to the low that is deplorable. Kṛṣṇa, Rāma, and indriya, the satisfaction, to follow the dictation of our base sense pleasure; that is the worst type of life. And at the same time to be subservient to the highest pleasure of Kṛṣṇa's sweet will, that surely will be the highest position. Kāma - andha-tamaḥ, prema - nirmala bhāskara, opposite, this is the bitterest and that is the sweetest, most filthy and most pure. Opposite, Sumeru, and Kumeru, southern pole and northern pole.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in śānta-rasa without service there is a danger of Māyāvādā contamination, or are there some very elevated devotees in śānta-rasa?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyāvādī almost similar or sometimes same.

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nāḍṛṭa-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

[Lord Brahmā and the other demigods said: “O lotus-eyed Lord, although non devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

Whenever it is found there a Māyāvādī is going to take as if the position of the throne of the Lord, for that crime he is hurled down with a great force and he comes to be in the lowest position of this created world. Like a hill or earth, something like that.

In Rāmānanda discussion, Mahāprabhu, Rāmānanda Rāya:

‘mukti, bhukti vāñche yei, kāhāñ duñhāra gati?’ ‘sthāvara-deha, deva-deha yaiche avasthiti’

[“And what is the destination of those who desire liberation and those who desire sense gratification?” Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu asked.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.257]

Who aspires after enjoyment, that is sagar, deva-deha, and mukti vāñche, and one who aspires after salvation, mukti, liberation, his position is to go sthāvara-deha. Very similar, in samādhi no conception of environment, and in the fossil also no conception of environment, so similar thing. Sometimes he actually goes there. The reaction is such. To abhor, to try to frustrate the līlā of the Lord, to go to the concentration camp, the rebel. The rebel is sent to the concentration camp. “Go, live in the fossil, as a fossil. No consciousness there, whatever you want, no consciousness of the environment.”

Ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, that thinks himself to be liberated of the highest type. Vimukta-mānina, viśeṣa mukta, not ordinary liberated but liberated, the highest among the liberated, thinks themselves. Tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ. But there is great error, great misconception, very big misconception of the very wide type, like that of a criminal, aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ. Āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ, by dint of their free activity and energy with great labour they come up to the highest position of liberation, paraṁ padaṁ. Tataḥ, patanty adho, from there they are forced to come towards the lowest position.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna

[mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Go to the highest, if you cannot catch the current higher then you will have to revert; come down. And a big you are to come down, little later it may be. But you can't catch the inner current. The external current won't allow you to stay here and to create stagnancy forever. So some sort of move will come and you will be hurled down. And that does not matter for you. You do not like any consciousness of environment, so deep sleep, and to become a fossil, similar thing. And the underlying object is that such a, the revolt, the rebel of such a highest type cannot be tolerated. They should be put by the universal administration in the cell, in concentration camp. “I am Lord of everything.” That is a crime. Ultimately they have come under the jurisdiction of type of crime. “I do not care even their administration. I challenge the administration. I am all in all.” This is a sort of crime when it is viewed from the respect of the whole. They are considered to be criminals, the rebels. So they have got some sort of punishment for the wholesome of the Absolute.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when you say they approach the throne...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So ham, when this audacity comes to this so ham, “I am the Absolute,” then in subtle consciousness that is a great offence, a great crime. And so the punishment in that form comes on his head. And he’s sent down to be fossilised. So that is not unreasonable if you consider from the standpoint of the goodness of the whole absolute region. So I am not master but I am only enemy of recognition of the real master. That also comes within the jurisdiction of crime. Do you follow? I don’t like to encroach on the right of anything else. At the same time I do not care for any higher authority. So from the absolute standpoint, that is also a crime, and crime of the high order. And so the punishment is due. And they are sent to the concentration camp to become fossil. Activity totally stopped. Begin your life again, your chance again given to you. Go, begin from there. This is not injustice. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja. What is the force which causes them to fall?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nature, māyā, prakṛti.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If kaniṣṭha, neophyte devotee...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahādeva, Śiva, they are the master of the buffer state.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Buffer?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Buffer state, no man's land. Buffer is an English word. Between two countries there is a space, no man's land or buffer state that is called, the marginal position which is not under the control of anyone. Just as between France and Germany there was a land which was under some international control for some time.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Something like the iron curtain. That's a division between West and East Germany. There's a division. No man's land.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now Berlin, crossing the Eastern Germany portion, they're to enter into Berlin, the westerners. The Berlin has got, in demand of both the parties, but the area around Berlin that is under Eastern Germany. So there is a road through which one is to pass Eastern Germany and then enter Berlin. Berlin also divide into two now.

But before this there was one, after first great war the shar [?] was between France and Germany and that had some international control. And it was mentioned after ten years or so there would be privy sight, vote, and the people, both French and German both population is living in that area. Then after ten or fifteen years there would be a privy sight, that is vote, and if you vote for Germany it will be under the rule of the Germans, but if you vote for French then it will come under the rule of France.

But when Hitler came in power, when England was busy for the coronation of George the sixth perhaps, in that time Hitler occupied Rhineland which was arranged to be under German administration but no military will be posted there, Rhineland. But he entered military into Rhineland.

Then next he came to handle the shar [?] and the vote came on his favour, Hitler's favour. That also came under him. Then he took Austria, he himself and one Sulsnik. Sulsnik went to see him, Hitler, and he was made prisoner. Then Hitler stood for the vote in Austria, he was an Austrian, Hitler. Then he got the vote himself. Then Austria was added to Germany.

Then he came to interfere with Yugoslavia. The portion of the German population was given to the Yugoslavian after the first great war. Then they had a wall against Germany but through Austria no defence wall. So Yugoslavia at that time most reluctantly Chamberlain came to understanding and a portion of Yugoslavia was given to Hitler.

Then he came to the Danzig question. "The Danzig is my harbour and I want a corridor through Poland to reach that harbour." At that time they came to interfere, "That we can't." Then Hitler attacked Poland, and Poland lost. There was a treaty with Russia at that time. Russia took eastern portion of Poland and western portion came to Hitler.

And then the world war began. France was very eager to declare war previously but England only kept him stalled, then came and they were crying for America's help but America did not come very easily.

Then Hitler one by one - first Poland, then he took next summer through Denmark and Norway he captured. Next month war of Flanders: the whole Belgium as well as a part of France. That was taken up within a month by blitzkrieg, and the next year perhaps he came to capture France. And there was one Mister Peinte, military general. Then Peinte naval general, they met and made peace with Hitler, "That don't devastate our land." To perish France from the eminent destruction, they came to some understanding.

And there that British was in a very clumsy position because French navy and British navy side by side in different harbours to release the Germany. Now France ordered the French navy to separate himself from the British, a very peculiar. Churchill ordered, "Destroy, if French navy does not come to combine with us, destroy them." In some ports the destruction came in some port. They flew away.

Darla [?] he went to South French Africa, and there he was murdered by some British.

_____ anyhow some he wanted to have his visit and put his dagger into the neck of Darla and Darla was killed instantly.

Then Peinte was there, the general of land soldiers. Hitler captured but not disturbed. Then England thought, "Now my turn..."

The grand horse, great mercy of America come but was too late, getting too late. If you do any we'll be lost. Hitler knows the value of time," Churchill told, praised his enemy, "He knows the value of time."

And at that time, First World War there was Wilson, President. And this time Kennedy, or who was the dictator, President of America, I forgot?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Churchill came later no?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Churchill was in England. Roosevelt. Churchill wanted to meet Roosevelt in the Atlantic. And at that time he didn't find any man in England to be his successor for a few days when he'll meet Roosevelt in the Atlantic privately. Then he called one Mr. Smuts from Africa, Southern Africa and placed General Smuts in his place, in his position. Churchill was the dictator of England at that time. No law, all laws were withdrawn, only the absolute rule of the president. Smuts was installed in place of Churchill. And Churchill, we wondered, that not anyone was found in the whole of England to replace Churchill only for few days. But General Smuts he was taken in from Africa to take the position of Churchill. Anyhow, they met. America of course came to save England.

But there was another, perhaps the greatest mistake in Hitler's life. One of his generals was Hess. He was cultured about this astrology. He told, "If we go towards western side we'll be victorious."

But Hitler told, “Though we have got a pact of non aggression with Russia but they’re _____ we can’t trust them, can’t believe them. So if we jump over England with all our powers then if Russia comes from the back side we’ll be nowhere.” So Hitler decided to attack Russia and that was the greatest, the grave decision and dangerous decision in his life.

Hess, at that time Hess in a plane he jumped in England, and tried to make any peace. But Churchill was strong enough. He put him straight into the prison. “I don’t believe Hitler.” So no truce was possible. But anyhow Hitler thought that, Russians also at that time they were going on increasing their air positions just in the western frontier. So that also excited

Hitler. “And if we jump to conquer England then Russia will suddenly jump on us.”

...

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: You were saying Hitler was excited seeing the Russians were increasing their air? History class.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then Hitler wanted that Crete. There was one island. He wanted that his supremacy over that island Crete which was in the mouth of Dardanelles [Strait]. “The British will, if I attack Russia, then the allied force will go through Dardanelles Channel to help Russia.” So Crete was in the possession of the allied power. So he had to take risk to capture that island Crete. And through gliders, that was a wonderful thing. They’re in full possession. The British holds, the French and all, in full possession of that in military power. But Hitler wanted to go to the Crete shore, he had to come to Greece, to conquer Greece, and then Crete. So he ordered for the conquer of Greece, this side. Grecian soldiers fought bravely but they fell before the mercenary warfare of Hitler. Hitler honoured the Greece generals. He allowed them to keep sword with them.

At that time also he used one expression, "Napoleon in his time he told there will be no walls, but if walls comes in your way you cross over something like Napoleon told: But I say if walls stands in your way, you blow it out. We are in such haste we can blow up the house." In this way anyhow he came, sometimes blown over.

Then attacked Crete. Crete in fullest. When Greece was captured then they put all their forces in Crete. But Hitler wanted to capture that. And first gliders and this wax man, from the human figure but made of wax. That parachute coming down. And they think that soldiers are coming so they began to shoot. And then in the middle of wax man one or two gentleman, real men came down. In this way so intensely he sent planes that are shot, again coming, and shot again coming, wax man, and real men and in this way he landed and from the navy also from this side captured Crete. And allied party had to retire wholly.

Then Crete captured then he attacked Russia. In the beginning he could not but blitzkrieg Russia, vast country. His blitzkrieg failed. Within the first week of the month he's to arrange, mobilise, and the second week, third, fifth, sixth of the month he attacked. And he finished almost within two weeks. This Norway, this Belgium, the Flanders, and France attack, all was of such characteristic. Within two weeks, war finished, in such a way. But Russia was a vast country. The generals failed, the blitzkrieg failed. And they had also used defensive arrangement, Russia, big tanks and many weapons. And their factories, on the eastern side near so beyond the reach of Hitler's planes. In this way they could not break through the defence line.

Then next year, one year lost, next year the general was changed, and one Mr. Bock he was given the responsibility of breaking the line of Russia. And Bock I noticed, he anyhow broke the line. And immediately two hundred miles he marched in the inner country, that General Bock.

Then Russians were disturbed. Stalin cried aloud, "The hateful enemy has entered our homeland and we must, all of us must oppose him." In this way I found that Stalin cried aloud.

And Hitler told, "I want Stalingrad." Perhaps that was a good centre of weapon producing factories. "Stalingrad I want." But Stalingrad far off from Germany, so to capture Stalingrad all Hitler's resources were spent away. He tried his best, he captured Yugoslavia, Greece, Austria, and all the factories. They were producing ample ammunitions for his purpose.

But still, and Americans came. They came to supply Russia with everything, even shoes, dress, food, and everything.

And Japan, he joined Hitler only in the fight with British and Americans in this side. With America and British, Japan came to fight with, but he did not, he was silent about Russia.

According to me that was one blunder. If at that time when Hitler went to Stalingrad, if Japan also attacked Russia from the other side, then Russia succumbed altogether. Then the direction of war might have been changed. But Japan was aloof, in that side.

There was an understanding that, "I shall only keep the British and Americans with my resources. I won't be able to, at the same time, to disturb Russia."

Anyhow, then came, Japan was very strong, and he declared, Japan declared, "That I am prepared for a war of hundred years. I have got so much resources and ammunition." And Japan's word, that was also marvellous. In the Philippines every small island, they are capturing like reeds, Japan soldiers are, one by one reeds and they are destroyed like anything. But still they are going on capturing one island after another and in this way the whole Philippines were dispossessed, Americans were dispossessed.

And the two British big navies were destroyed with a suicidal army with bombs in their armpits direct jump from aeroplane into the chimney, and two big navies they were destroyed in this way. So British had to withdraw from that portion.

Hitler told, "I have got to learn something from Japan..."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perhaps his quarters are at Chanchilla, Chanchilla Hospital, Misra, Dr. Misra, eye specialist. Chanchilla has got a Maṭha, there is a centre in Chanchilla, Devānanda Maṭha has got a centre there, Chanchilla.

Devotees: Oh! Sounds the same!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Trivikram Mahārāja he's in charge, he lives there in Chanchilla Maṭha.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Then, how far your translation?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Well, we are waiting for Govinda Mahārāja to come, so we can use those books in the room.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise? Bhāratī Mahārāja: Otherwise it's finished. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The whole?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The whole is finished?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Everything is done, yes, it's completed, I have some questions I'll ask you when they come, we're proof reading, as we type, when the questions arise, then I will ask.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any question?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Um, I was just doing translation of the Sat-sāra-kriya-dīpikā and Gopāla Bhaṭṭa he's showing very nicely, he's discarding pitr and devata worship. In the beginning he's showing that. So what is the, we still see in Vṛndāvana that persons are doing pitr there, doing śrāddha to the *pitr*s.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally the gṛhastha Vaiṣṇava, for the social cause, formally they perform those rites, but not, this is for the Vaidantic Vaiṣṇava. Ānanya saran, those that have taken refuge exclusively, taken shelter under the holy feet of the Lord, they do not do anything else, but everything for the service of the Lord.

ananyāś cintayanto mām, [ye janāḥ paryupāsate teṣām nityābhīyuktānām, yoga-kṣemaṁ vahāmy aham]

["I personally assume the whole responsibility of acquiring and protecting the necessities of My fully dependent devotees who are always absorbed in thought of Me alone, and who worship Me exclusively in all respects."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.22]

But those family men who are feeling obligation for their sons or their wife and other things, only pitr deva should be eliminated, that will be hypocrisy. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They cannot give up, those that are:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇam vraja

[aham tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

It is for them that they will leave other gods, pitṛ devo, everything. But one who has got his attraction towards the son, towards wife, towards society, and he gives up pitṛ devo, that is a hypocritical action. So he should, a man of that status who is providing for the wife and he should also contribute something to pitṛ devo, generally the grhastha he does so. Prahlāda Mahārāja did śrāddham for his father and everywhere it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam, Purāṇam. But pulasaya, niskama, as a social duty he observed. But materially I am feeling obligation for my children, for my wife and only about pitṛ devo I have got no duty; that is anomaly. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That comes under the pañca mahā yajñā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But as much as one can avoid, so those that have given up everything and devoted themselves for the service of Kṛṣṇa, and Kṛṣṇa and kāṛṣṇa, Vaiṣṇavas, they should not do all these things.

devarṣi-bhūtāpta-nṛṇāṃ pitṛṇāṃ, na kiṅkaro nāyam ṛṇī ca rājan sarvātmanā yaḥ śaraṇaṃ śaraṇyaṃ, gato mukundaṃ parihṛtya kartam

[“Anyone who has taken shelter at the lotus feet of Mukunda, the giver of liberation, giving up all kinds of obligation, and has taken to the path in all seriousness, owes neither duties nor obligations to the demigods, sages, general living entities, family members, humankind or forefathers.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.41]

Who has given up all obligations for all sorts of discharge of duties, he who has eliminated, deva, deva ṛṇī. A man is born with five or six kinds of debt, deva ṛṇī. We are indebted to the air, to water, to rain, so many natural things, that is deva ṛṇī. We are from childhood, when from our birth, we take help from the environment, that is deva ṛṇī, we are in debt to the nature.

Devarṣi ṛṇī, we from our very birth, we take the advantage of the knowledge which has already been given for us to the society. The rṣi, the research scholar, this electricity and others, the scholars have discovered many things and we get the facility of that, and the knowledge, the letters, all these things already given by the society. Society means especially the scholars, rṣi ṛṇī, that is rṣi ṛṇī, devarṣi.

Bhūta, bhūta ṛṇī, we get from plants, the vegetable kingdom, the animal, the milk, and so many other things, the dog protecting, so bhūta means ordinary animals.

Devarṣi, devarṣi bhūta, āpta, especially the relatives, nears and dears, they also we cannot but accept their help, the relatives, āpta, āpta means relatives, kinsmen, bhūtāpta.

Nṛṇām, and generally from the human society we get something, this rice producing, cloth producing, and these things.

Bhūtāpta-nṛṇām pitṛṇām, and we get something also from the pitṛ, the fathers they have left some property for us, and gave birth to our body, in this way, pitṛṇām, pitṛ matr ṛṇī. In our childhood they bring us up, in this way we are indebted to father and mother.

Pitrñāṁ, devarṣi-bhūtāpta-nṛṇāṁ pitrñāṁ, na kiṅkaro nāyam ṛṇī ca rājan, he, na kiṅkaro, this is the general obligation, but a man who is exclusively devoted to Kṛṣṇa, he is not indebted to anyone. Na kiṅkaro nāyam ṛṇī ca rājan. Who?

Sarvātmanā yaḥ śaraṇaṁ śaraṇyaṁ, gato mukundaṁ parihṛtya kartam.
One who has given up all his duties and taken up refuge under the holy feet of the Lord, he is not liable to any debt to anyone. Only he who has completely surrendered to the feet of the Supreme Lord, he is not indebted to anybody. Otherwise when we are living we are awake in the social position, the jīvātmā, he of course is obliged, he has got obligation to so many. But when one has dived deep, to see only that all superficial agents of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa is the all in all, He's all in all, and they are all His servants, so the whole energy he can devote, he will devote to the master, won't care for any devata or anyone from: they should be considered as agent of Kṛṣṇa. So he does not feel obligation to anyone, but only to Kṛṣṇa, when one has gone in the plane of deep understanding.

devarṣi-bhūtāpta-nṛṇāṁ pitrñāṁ, na kiṅkaro nāyam ṛṇī ca rājan
sarvātmanā yaḥ śaraṇaṁ śaraṇyaṁ, gato mukundaṁ parihṛtya kartam

This is one thing, that what we should do, if we do not do that, the devotee, then he does not commit any sin, ananya-bhakta. There are viddhi and niṣid, two sections in the duty, some say this we must do and this we must not do. Viddhi, the ordinary, we should do all this duties, and niṣid we must not do all these things. So this is about viddhi, generally we should do this, but the ananya-bhakta Kṛṣṇa if he does not do that thing, he is not to be blamed, no charge can come on him. And that is niṣid.

sva-pāda-mūlaṁ bhajataḥ priyasya, tyaktānya-bhāvasya hariḥ pareśaḥ vikarma yac cotpatitaṁ kathañcid, dhunoti sarvaṁ hṛdi sanniviṣṭaḥ

[“One who has thus given up all other engagements and has taken full shelter at the lotus feet of Hari, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is very dear to the Lord. Indeed, if such a surrendered soul accidentally commits some sinful activity, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is seated within everyone’s heart, immediately takes away the reaction to such sin.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.42]

What one should not do if Kṛṣṇa bhakta does that, then no penance for him, no punishment for him. There are two aspects, two sides. Do you follow? What we should do a bhakta is not doing that, if he is ananya-bhajan-bhakta, exclusive devotee, then what one should do, if he does not do that, he’s not to be blamed, no charge can come. And another side these should not be done but ananya-bhakta if he commits that thing, outwardly, but he cannot be punished. What is that? Sva-pāda-mūlaṁ bhajataḥ priyasya, tyaktānya-bhāvasya. Ananya bhakta, he has given up everything, sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. Tyaktānya-bhāvasya hariḥ pareśaḥ, vikarma yac cotpatitaṁ kathañcid. But if anyhow any wrong deed is found in him he is not to be punished, because what is to be his jurisdiction changes what punishment is to be given to him or not, that is on the hand of the Absolute. But the society, the king, and the law of the country must not go to interfere with him. This is more difficult. So:

*api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāḥ sādhuḥ eva sa
mantavyaḥ, samyag vyavasito hi saḥ*

[“If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non-devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

“If anything to do I shall do it. He has exclusively taken refuge under My feet and I have taken his charge. If he commits something wrong, it should be taken generally by My inspiration, insinuation, so none should come to interfere with him. It is My duty to look after him. Api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāḥ, sādhur eva sa mantavyaḥ. When I have accepted, things does not belong to anyone, everything belongs to Me. So if he commits any wrong in the eye of the society, the society thinks that, that thing belongs to ABCD, so they are wrong, he’s doing all right. And that may be in two stages, one in the stage of a sādhaka, and another in siddha, when he’s siddha he’s committing the perfect thing. Who is he that he’s doing wrong? But he does not wrong, make any wrong. And the sādhaka may commit but that may be forgiven by Me, and you have nothing to do, to come and interfere in the matter.”

Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not completely.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: What is that in relationship to niyamāgrahaḥ, niyamāgrahaḥ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, niyamāgrahaḥ, two fold meanings, niyamāgrahaḥ, too much, too much affinity to abide by the law, and that is one side. And another aspect, niyama āgrahaḥ, does not accept any law at all, not willing to abide by any law, niyama āgrahaḥ. Niyamāgrahaḥ - both bad, two aspects bad: the middle side, yuktāhāra-vihārasya.

[yuktāhāra-vihārasya, yukta-ceṣṭasya karmasu yukta-svapnāvabodhasya, yogo bhavati duḥkha-hā]

We should go, follow, the middle path, the easy path, not extreme. Niṣiddhā, one should not steal it, but the ananya-bhāḥ devotee he's seen to steal it. He's stealing some flower and taking away and offering to his Deity, but he's stealing flower. Then how should he be dealt with? Stealing, that is crime, the society, the śruti law that we will come to accuse him, "That why you have stolen?" Then he may say, "I have not stolen. It all belongs to Kṛṣṇa. For the service of Kṛṣṇa I am taking it." That is his vision, if sincerely, then he's not to be punished.

"One who is stealing because for My purpose, if he steals something for My purpose that is not stealing, because his vision is so deep he sees everything belongs to Me. He is doing rightly. So niṣiddhā koronay what is forbidden by law, by social society, and even by the śruti śāstra, but if he's really sincerely exclusive devotee to Me, none should come to

Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “From the absolute standpoint he’s seeing and the relative standpoint cannot come in clash, and if it comes cannot stand. That is nirguṇa, his movements are nirguṇa, true from the sense of nirguṇa plane. But this saguṇa, there gradual from tama to raja then sattva, then going nirguṇa, if they encroach upon the right of the nirguṇa, who are My direct servants, then they are wrong, their relative vision is wrong. He’s in the absolute plane, whatever he’s doing considering Myself to be the unchallenged master of everything, he’s right and they are wrong. That this thing belongs to A, that it belongs, this woman belongs to that gentleman. This is all contract amongst you, but from the absolute sense that has got no position.”

Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Everything belongs to Me and one who does work only, only backed by My consciousness, he’s doing right.”

So that is little hard thing to digest for the society! Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. They also try to find fault in Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa stealing...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, “Kṛṣṇa stealing, and Kṛṣṇa coming to the wives of others, that is wrong, He should be punished.” Eh ? (laughter)
They are more than Kṛṣṇa.

The Mary, the mother of Christ, she was the wife of Joseph someone, eh, but it is told that Mary got child from God’s inspiration, not from the husband.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. So in the, practically to digest all these things; of course such devotees are very rarely to be found, and generally a devotee should not venture to do all these things because it will create disturbance in the society.

Bhagavān, Lord says, Kṛṣṇa: loka-saṅgraham evāpi, sampaśyan kartum arhasi.

[karmaṇaiva hi saṁsiddhim, āsthitā janakādayaḥ loka-saṅgraham evāpi, sampaśyan kartum arhasi]

[“King Janaka and other learned personalities attained to perfection in devotion by performing their prescribed duties. Therefore, it is proper that you perform your duty for the instruction of the masses.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.20]

Only looking at the welfare of the ordinary people, one should not go to do that, generally, then there will be chaos in the society and they will be doomed.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

[“Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

yad yad ācarati śreṣṭhas, tad tad evetaro janaḥ sa yat pramāṇaṁ kurute, lokas tad anuvartate

[“Whatever action is performed by a great man, the general masses imitate and follow. And whatever standards the great personality sets by exemplary acts, the whole world pursues as the right conclusion.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.21]

utsīdeyur ime lokā, na kuryāṁ karma ced aham saṅkarasya ca kartā syām, upahanyām imāḥ prajāḥ

[“If I do not perform duties, then, following My example, all the inhabitants of these worlds will renounce their duties and thereby come to ruination. Thus I will be the cause of social turmoil due to unvirtuous population, and in this way, I will be responsible for spoiling posterity.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.24]

Loka-saṅgraham evāpi, sampāśyan kartum arhasi [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.20]
To save the ordinary society, we sometimes abstain from doing lawless things. Looking at the benefit of the ordinary people we should go according to general law. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: This morning we were talking about you had said, one day before that the devotee can even murder, murder and steal for Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Anything because the centre, the vibration coming from the Absolute, if it is so.

prakṛteḥ kriyamāṇāni, guṇaiḥ karmāṇi sarvaśaḥ ahaṅkāra-vimūḍhātmā, kartāham iti manyate

["All the various activities are in every way carried out by the (senses activated by the) modes of material nature. But a man deluded by identifying himself with his body and its extensions thinks, "I alone am accomplishing this."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.27]

They should be punished. So sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66)] Yudhiṣṭhira did not accept the direction of Kṛṣṇa, to tell a lie to Droṇācārya, 'that Aśvatthāmā is dead,' he hesitated.

When Droṇācārya told, "I don't believe You, but if Yudhiṣṭhira says that Aśvatthāmā is dead, because I know that Aśvatthāmā is immortal, but if Yudhiṣṭhira says that Aśvatthāmā is dead then I'll believe."

Then Kṛṣṇa asked Yudhiṣṭhira, "Say it, tell!"

Then he hesitated, then again pressed, "Yes! Aśvatthāmā is dead, but it is an elephant." There was one elephant named Aśvatthāmā.

Aśvatthāmā means who cries like aśva, means the horse. The horse, what is the technical word, the sound of the horse?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Neigh, neigh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Neigh.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Uh huh.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Whinny.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Whinny, neigh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That one Aśvatthāmā when he was born, he gave sound like the horse, so Aśvatthāmā. So one elephant was also named in that way, he cried like a horse, that elephant, so Aśvatthāmā. “Aśvatthāmā is dead, but it is an elephant.” And Kṛṣṇa arranged in such a way, “Aśvatthāmā dead, it is elephant,” and at that time the drum was sounded loudly, and that could not enter the ear of Droṇācārya. Only first portion he attended, “Aśvatthāmā is dead, Yudhiṣṭhira said,” then he was besides himself. And in that position Arjuna cut off the rope in the bow, and that bow one end was here and another in Droṇācārya’s head, was disturbed.

And at that time Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna approached and beheaded Droṇācārya. He was born to kill Droṇācārya, Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna, in a sacrifice by Drūpada. Drūpada and Droṇācārya they are perhaps class mates, but somehow or other they had some antagonistic feeling. Droṇācārya when he was training to the Kauravas and Pāṇḍavas, Guru dakṣiṇā, at the time of Guru dakṣiṇā he wanted, attack Drūpada, and Drūpada was attacked, disturbed.

At that time Drūpada he also managed to arrange a sacrifice, yajña, “That Droṇācārya, this retaliation I shall take.”

So from the yajña Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna came out, to kill Droṇācārya, Draupadī’s brother. And Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna beheaded Droṇācārya.

Arjuna was very much displeased when Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna was going to kill him, to behead him, Arjuna cried out, “Take him, take the Ācārya to my side, capture.”

But he did not care, he beheaded. And Arjuna was very much enraged and began to rebuke Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna. Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna was also excited and went to attack Arjuna. The disciple of Arjuna was Sātyaki, he came from the Yadu vaṁśa, Kṛṣṇa vaṁśa, he went to attack Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna.

Then Kṛṣṇa told, “What you are doing? Still the enemy party is strong enough and you are quarrelling within yourselves.” And He cast a glance to Bhīma, “Separate them.”

Bhīma came between separated them, Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna and Arjuna, forcibly.

And then Sahadeva came with a serious lecture. “What are you doing? The enemy is at your head and you are mad in your internal quarter, you are so excited, and all these things.”

Then everything was calm again.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

When an exclusive devotee, he will cross the social law and do something wrong, so if he takes any advantage from the society he also must be prepared to get the punishment also, without any grudge, from the nirguṇa plane. Not only ostentatious in our eye, that is an enjoyment, he will approach that, but punishment also, which is in our eye, he won't avoid, he will with a smiling face he will accept the punishment. Jai para jai mana paman [?] Even death with smiling, that is given by Kṛṣṇa. The death offered by Kṛṣṇa, everything coming from Kṛṣṇa. When sweet meat is here ‘that is Kṛṣṇa’ and when a bitter thing, ‘oh no,’ that is hypocrisy. Hare Kṛṣṇa, Gaura Haribol. Everything comes from Him and that is sweet, whatever the formal valuation of it may be in the misconceived world of māyā. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Rāmacandra, when the proposal came that He will be installed tomorrow morning, His temper is sober, not very much cheerful. And when He got the news that His father has entered into an obligation, an understanding with His stepmother, already committed, then also in that if He wants to oblige, obey His father's will, then He will have to go to the forest. His temper is also just as it was when He had the proposal of sitting on the throne, the temperament is not disturbed. He's only following the duty. "The father's will I am to observe." To sit on the throne or to go to the forest, banishment, the temperament is same. Only:

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

[mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇī]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

"I am only come to discharge My duty, in the face of duty in the worldly sense it may be very joyous and it is maybe very sorrowful, it does not matter, it is My duty, is to obey My father, obey the law. I'm doing that." He's only present there, "How to ascertain what is My duty and to do the duty."

And whatever, in the eye of the people, ordinary, ordinary people in the world of misconception, it is laudable or deplorable, we may not care about that. Jai para jai. What is the value of a mad man's dancing or crying? They are mad, under misconception, sometimes crying, sometimes dancing; no value. So he's in relativity of something else, we are to take it. He's in the relativity of something great, so these things matter very little to him. Raso 'py asya, param dṛṣtvā nivartate.

[“Although the person of gross corporeal consciousness may avoid sense objects by external renunciation, his eagerness for sense enjoyment remains within. However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.59]

He does not, the ordinary, this worldly rasa has got no value in him, he’s mad in another type of rasa, transcendental rasa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaurāṅga. Nitāi Gaurāṅga.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I have one question Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Some devotees say if you take Kṛṣṇa Nāma at the time of death then you can go into Goloka Vṛndāvana, and if you take Rāma Nāma you cannot. So I want to substantiate that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The inner conception that is responsible. The Rāma, when he’s pronouncing the word Rāma, if he means for Dāsaratha Rāma his attraction will be there, Ayodhyā, if Paraśurāma he is attracted to another place, and if Rāma means Rādhā-ramaṇa Rāma he will go to Goloka, the inner meaning.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Of the devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of the devotee, that will guide him.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Very nice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

When I had my... my name was Rāmendra Candra, so he gave Rāmendra Sundara. I asked, “What should be the meaning of Rāmendra?”

Then he told, “Rādhā-ramaṇa Rāma. Rāma means not Rudhi, Dāsarāthi Rāma.” So I asked him, “What should I think of this, about the meaning of Rāma?” Then he told, “Rādhā-ramaṇa Rāma.”

And then it was again transformed into Rāmānanda dāsa, when I was selected, when we go to discover the place on the Godāvarī, where Mahāprabhu and Rāmānanda met. Bon Mahārāja, myself, Hayagrīva Brahmācārī, etc, five, we five, in the first party went to discover that place, and pādapīṭh, to establish, install footprints there of Mahāprabhu. Then my name was changed from Rāmendra Sundara to Rāmānanda dāsa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That’s wonderful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. So I am very much attracted in the divine discourse of Mahāprabhu and Rāmānanda. I find everything there. The whole teaching is covered in that talk. From the lowest varṇāśrama, from varṇāśrama up to the highest Rādhā-dāsyam, we find there, and even Mahāprabhu in His full fledged conception. Rasa-rāja mahābhāva, this aspect of Mahāprabhu was never expressed anywhere, only there in the Godāvarī. On the banks of the Godāvarī He showed to Rāmānanda who was He, Both combined, the highest, two halves combined, rasa-rāja mahābhāva. We don't see anywhere, that sort of revelation, self revelation of Mahāprabhu. Godāvarī, sometimes it is called Gotami Gaṅgā. Some say that Kṛṣṇa River after Godāvarī, there is one big river, on the perhaps, there is Kṛṣṇa. Some say that is Gotami Gaṅgā, or some says this Godāvarī is Gotami Gaṅgā.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: How did you find the place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Huh?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: How did you locate that place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes that place was located, approximately; we enquired there, on the banks. When Mahāprabhu met Rāmānanda, Rāmānanda was the Governor of that province, deputed by Pratāparudra the Emperor of Orissa, who was ruling that province, Andra Province, under Rāmānanda. And when he came to take bath thousands of brāhmaṇas followed him. We thought from that that must have been some big festival from the nature of Rāmānanda's taking bath in Godāvarī. And that place must be some holy place, holy ground. Then we found that there is Gospada Ksetra, the holy place detected on the bank. There is an embankment, by the government, they did not allow any construction inside, so just on the side of the embankment, we tried to find one land.

Then one gentleman came to, made a gift of a small land there, one Rāma Candran, on other side of river, from Raja Mahindri. Whose land is nearby we went on in our enquiry, and found this is a small plot, this belongs to a particular gentleman, his name is Rāma Candra, he lives at Raja Mahindri. We approached him, and he, out of his own accord, he came to make a gift of that land to us.

And there the small temple was constructed and installation of the footprints took place. Prabhupāda accepted that and he made the first worship there, and that was open to all. Then again that was declared a Maṭha and the Śrī Mūrtis were placed there. In that small temple first, only footprints, then now some other temple they have made for the Deities.

And then nearby there was one acre, or two acres of land perhaps. I was in charge of Madras Maṭh at that time. I had some money in the temple fund of Madras. And when I was told that the nearby land is going away, it is being purchased by another gentleman, then with that information I came there and anyhow managed to get the half portion of that and add it to the small plot. Now perhaps that area is in the possession of Rāmānanda Gauḍīya Maṭh. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And also one small building with veranda, that was constructed by me, the first building there, from some collection of the Ello, the district town of Godāvarī, West Godāvarī District Ello, from there I collected funds and constructed one room. Before that we lived in a hut there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in the mahā-mantra the Hare, Hare is a name of Rādhārāṇī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is according to your adhikāra. When one is firmly established to conceive Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa at the back of everything, svayaṁ-rūp and svayaṁ-rūpa, They are at the bottom of all sorts of conceptions of all things good, then only that sort of meaning will come, and nothing else. Otherwise for the beginners, for Hare one may take Nṛsiṁhadeva, Rāma, this Daśaratha Rāma. And the Kṛṣṇa that Kṛṣṇa also, of different type, there is one Kṛṣṇa in Vaikuṇṭha, Who is the vaibhava, about twenty-four, first Nārāyaṇa, then four, Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha, four vyūha, and everyone has five again. Then there is also one Kṛṣṇa in Vaikuṇṭha, then Kṛṣṇa, Dvārakā, Mathurā, all these things, this type, but the highest type, highest...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the side of Rādhārāṇī. That is the highest conception of Kṛṣṇa. When one cannot come below from that plane he will see only Hare Hara, nothing else more, Hara Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā Kṛṣṇa. Rādhā Kṛṣṇa completely, perfectly installed in mādhurya-rasa and holding the highest position of that darśana, they cannot come out. He comes out only for the interest of that party, he can come anywhere and everywhere, but his interest is under lock and key there, on the behalf of his service of that quarter he may come, he is there, he represents that plane. Then Hara means Rādhā, who can even snatch the attention of Kṛṣṇa, Hare Haran, Haran, Haran means to steal, to steal, one who can steal, the most expert in stealing. Who? Who can steal the mind of Kṛṣṇa even. She is Hara, the Haran, the stealing in its highest capacity is Rādhārāṇī, and Kṛṣṇa who can attract most, eh, in the absolute sense They're Both represented there. They can't deviate from that consciousness, they go on Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā Śyāma, cannot think, cannot but think anything but that that level, he can't come down from the interest of Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, he cannot allow himself to be out. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is the position of our highest aspiration. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Hara can, you said, according to adhikārī, according to adhikārī one is perceiving.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sort of meaning will, will awake in one's mind, it will be awakened. It is in the inner function and it will be discovered by sādhana. The cover will be removed and it will spontaneously come up from the core of our hearts in the spiritual sense. He can't contain, he can't but, he can't help, in such a way the meaning will spring up from the fountain of our heart, won't be able to avoid. That is the root of the highest source of the meaning. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At the same time I feel that I cannot express myself correctly, fully.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja you were saying there would be, according to ones adhikāra there would be different conceptions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: According to ones adhikāra there will be different conceptions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So is that conception also there for Rādhārāṇī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Uh?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Different conceptions of Rādhārāṇī are also there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, differs. Lalitā Devī looks after the interest of Rādhārāṇī more than that of Kṛṣṇa. Viśākhā, almost neutral position, there are others who are more interested with Kṛṣṇa's interest. In the highest section it's like that. And from different section also different rasas, the conception of both always, difference is always, bhedābheda, acintya, acintya bhedābheda, continuing all through. No two things is one and same, congruent, bhedābheda, and that is acintya. That should be, that should run all through everywhere, distinctive, differentiated, always. Even Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana, Rādhārāṇī outside in Kurukṣetra, different: Kṛṣṇa also, in Dvārakā, in Mathurā, all different mood, nature. But in comparative study, the highest conception we are to enquire and understand. Taṭa-stha, yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya līlā, 8.83]

Everyone in his own position, he finds that, "This is the highest. I do not want more." But sometimes when there is any clash, then they come to realise under the painful necessity, they have to realise, "No, he, his position is greater than that of mine." But not always, temporarily to admit! So the tara-tama, superior and inferior in rasa, śānta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya. But the general conception, even of the śānta rasa, "That we hold the very happy, we hold happy position, the happiest, because I don't want another position."

The Yamunā, baluka, the trees, the creepers, the birds, they are all full in their own position, they conceive like that. That is the arrangement of Yogamāyā, by the will of Baladeva and Kṛṣṇa, for the interest of the līlā. But bhedābheda always, that is the absolute standpoint, acintya and it must not be harmonised within our brain, but some sort of remote idea we can have.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So whenever we shall venture to talk about those things with very carefulness, and respect, we shall try to approach. And we must think we are going to deal with a living thing, not with a dead body, that we are analysing in the, in the, what is, the anatomy?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Laboratory?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Laboratory, we are analysing and being a subject there, object there analysing, not with that spirit. But we are going to talk about our masters. I do not know whether I shall be taken in any time in future. But only because I have heard from a source which I respect most sincerely, only I go to that. And what little taste I can derive I do, that is my wage; that is my wage.

What is unthinkable we are engaged to talk about that, what is unthinkable, un-knowable, unthinkable, we are engaged to talk about that thing; unthinkable.

mukam karoti vācālaṁ [panghum langhāyate girīm yat kṛpā tam ahaṁ vande śrī gurun dīna-tāraṇam]

["I offer my respectful obeisances unto Mādhava, Who is the Personification of transcendental bliss. By His mercy, a blind man can see the stars in the sky, a lame man can cross mountains, and a dumb man can speak eloquent words of poetry."]

[Śrīdhara Svāmī's Bhavārtha Dipikā, maṅgala stotram, 1]

When he's not qualified to speak anything through his mouth, but he's transformed into a vācā, means who speaks much.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Talkative.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Talkative, he is transformed into talkative one, his internal inspiration made a dumb talkative. Mukam karoti vācālaṁ panghum langhāyate girīm. One who cannot walk, he jumps over the mountain, made to jump over the mountain. Ghāyate girīm, yat kṛpā tam. The central energy in the form of grace can do anything and everything.

Mahāprabhu Himself says, "What I tell you Sanātana I do not know what is that thing. Only this much I feel that something is passing through Me to you. And I'm also feeling simultaneously that you are very fortunate to be recipient of that flow, Sanātana.”

Kṛṣṇa is such. Vyāso vetti na vetti vā.

[aham vedmi śuko vetti, vyāso vetti na vetti vā bhaktyā bhāgavatam grāhyam na buddhyā na ca tīkayā]

[Lord Śiva says: “I know the true purpose of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; Śukadeva, the son and disciple of Vyāsadeva, knows it thoroughly, and the author of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Śrīla Vyāsadeva may or may not know the meaning. The real purpose of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is very difficult to conceive and can only be known through bhakti.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 24.313]

Whatever He wants to do, that is done. Śukadeva was the great exponent of Bhāgavatam, but it is not found that he is in the highest position of Kṛṣṇa līlā. What he is delivering through his mouth, through tongue, so many high things have been transmitted through his tongue, but he may not have his stand in that plane. We don’t find that Śukadeva has got his permanent position in Rādhā Kṛṣṇa līlā, in the mādhurya rasa, in a particular sakhī also.

And also we find in the Caitanya-Bhāgavat, when Mahāprabhu asked Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, “What type of devotee, you think about Advaita Prabhu, My Advaita, My Nara?”

Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita said, “Like Prahlāda and Śuka.”

Mahāprabhu was excited. “Eh! What do you say? The Śuka and Prahlāda, they are child of the primary school, the student. You compare My Nara, My Advaita, who has got connection with the high līlā of Mine only you compare to Śuka and Prahlāda.”

But what Śukadeva has given to us through his mouth that is unfathomable. He’s delivering acintya bheda sa, he’s going on, if things were coming through him flowing in a natural way. What he has got delivered through his nectarine tongue, that has no comparison in the world ever, anywhere. But still he’s considered in that way, from the general position of his previous consideration, Śukadeva. Yagamo vikra visatam [?]

After giving delivery to all these things he went away along with the beggars to nowhere. He did not care to meet Vyāsadeva his Guru, his father and Guru, and his Guru Nārada, they’re in the meeting. He did not care for that. He chose to be unseen. He came from unseen and entered into again, untraceable, solitary life, but there was his Guru, Param Guru, he did not care. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So he was selected as some machine, loud speaker, something like that. Inspiration came only to help, that Bhāgavata is above Vedānta, above jñāna. The jñānīs, yogīs, they formed the major portion of the audience, so Śukadeva was necessary. Śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam.

Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.3]

To them, to the audience at large, and it was proved that Bhāgavat is more than this non differentiated nirviśeṣa-vādī. Śukadeva was necessary, Śukadeva was necessary. That must come from him then those fellows will have some regard. At least they won't care, “Oh, we know all these things, from Padma-Purāṇa, from Brahma Vaivarta Purāṇa, we have seen all those things. What is there more?” But when coloured by the brahma-jñāna of Śukadeva Gosvāmī it was delivered, with rapt attention they gave their hearing, ears, to Bhāgavatam. So:

[“O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9] Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Sūtadeva Gosvāmī also was brahma-vādī?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sūta?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, Sūta, later.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not so much.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Not so much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He had no such position, a big position in the society, only his father, he was entrusted by Vedavyāsa, Vyāsadeva, with the Purāṇa. The Purāṇa section was given to his father. He read the Purāṇas and he was expert in the explanation of Purāṇa, his father. But it is not found that he had any particular creed, he was included in the particular creed of nirviśeṣa, brahma-jñāna, or yoga, or anything else, but Purāṇa. But his special characteristic was as śrutidhar, once heard fresh he could keep it in memory, ugraśravā. Whatever he heard he did not forget that, that was his qualification. He attentively heard, kept the whole thing within him, and again he vomited the whole thing there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Caitanya līlā, who is Śukadeva Goswāmī, in Caitanya līlā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The persons of the parśadas have said Kavirāja Goswāmī. But he is of another type. Just as Arjuna, Rāmānanda, is combined of Arjuna and Viśākhā sakhī, so Kavirāja Goswāmī is Kasturi Mañjarī there and also Śukadeva's work. Śukadeva's specialty was the rasa and philosophy, ontology and poetry, of course spiritual, combined. And in Kavirāja Goswāmī we find those two, ontology, tattva vicar philosophy as well as poetry, the alanka, the kabha, rasa.....caritāmṛtam. In Caitanya-Bhāgavata rasa may be there of some order, but no ontological aspect represented there about Caitanya. Ontology as well as rasa.....that we find in Caitanya-caritāmṛta and Bhāgavat. Rūpa Goswāmī also we find rasa and philosophy, poetry and philosophy, ontology. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in the different tikās, the different tikās, like Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa, and Viśvanātha Cakravartī, they are also representing a different...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, little difference there, Baladeva tending toward Madhva School, more connection with the Madhva School. Viśvanātha Cakravartī he of course in the Gauḍīya School. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has detected some anomaly in Viśvanātha Cakravartī when he praised much the Māyāvādā Ācārya, author of Advaita Siddhi, that Madhusudan Sarasvatī. Outwardly he accepted Bhāgavat but in the conclusion on the basis of Bhāgavat he wanted to prove Māyāvādā. So he is more dangerous and a greater enemy. But Cakravartī Ṭhākura has mentioned his name with some respect. That Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura could not tolerate. “Ultimately he is a Māyāvādī, jīva and Bhagavān are one and same, and outwardly he is enchanting so many devotees of lower order towards him. He’s more dangerous, vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda.”

[veda nā māniyā bauddha haya' ta nāstika, vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda bauddhake adhika] [“The Buddhists do not recognise the authority of the Vedas; therefore they are considered agnostics. However, those who have taken shelter of the Vedic scriptures yet preach agnosticism in accordance with the Māyāvāda philosophy are certainly more dangerous than the Buddhists.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.168]

So he should not be given any recognition. But Cakravartī Ṭhākura has given some respect to that Madhusudan Pada, Sarasvatī Pada. Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura, he did not, perhaps he has left it for his predecessor and successors, that work for Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, to detect that fine point.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was very keen in his analysis of the previous exponents, Tulasī dās, Mira Bai, they are rejected from śuddha-bhakti school. But generally people think that they are devotees of the higher order. But they are not accepted by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Prabhupāda. They want to cross, to ignore the whole svarūpa-śakti department, and want to connect themselves direct with Kṛṣṇa, which is impossible. That is concoction, cannot but be concoction. Ignoring the whole eternally existing svarūpa-śakti system, the whole system ignored, and they want to have direct connection with Kṛṣṇa, which is impossible. So they are in māyā, misunderstanding, misconception, there. That is maybe sattva guṇa, not nirguṇa. Nirguṇa, who has got real śuddha-bhakti connection, they must be awake to the real fact that the hierarchy is there, the eternal servitors of different rasas there. And there is the hierarchy and he must have some position, location there, anywhere in that system. The system, but the whole system ignored by these fellows, so this cannot but be concoction. They're deceived. With all these feelings, dancing, etc., they are all baseless, baseless, ignorance, the non recognition of the svarūpa-śakti and so it is fictitious, cannot but be fictitious.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, where is Viśvanātha Cakravartī giving recognition to this Madhusudana, which place is it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't remember. Some Bhāgavata tikā or his tikā maybe. I found in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, in Jaiva Dharma, Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta, somewhere perhaps it may be mentioned by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Madhusudana Pāda in his Gītā tikā, in commentary in Gītā and Bhāgavata somewhere he has mentioned perhaps.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Some people in Vṛndāvana, they were saying that this Madhusudana Sarasvatī was the same persons as Viśvanātha Cakravartī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: They were saying he is exactly the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Never, their words are there, and who can eye, who can read, who can understand the meaning, it cannot come from them, an ordinary imitationist bābājīs, who are not concerned with the real thing, but a process of imitation only.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The general people are mad for Mira Bai, and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was one Ramakrishna bābājī, he's considered, by all the Vraja vāsīs in general that he's siddha mahātmā. But only Prabhupāda discarded him.

Then he had one disciple, I met both, Ramakrishna bābājī also, and when I went to Kadivan, Kaila [?] the place of Lokanātha Goswāmī's bhajan stal, Sakhī Bābu gave money and I constructed the bhajan-kuṭīra, for which one bābājī came to our Prabhupāda in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, "That the bhajan-kuṭīra of Lokanātha Goswāmī Prabhu is ruined and please reconstruct the same."

And Prabhupāda gave him hope, but Prabhupāda departed in the mean time.

Sakhī Bābu reminded me, "That when the man in charge of bhajan-kuṭīra of Lokanātha Goswāmī, some came to Prabhupāda and Prabhupāda gave consent to rebuild it. If you do," he asked me, "I shall give you the money."

I consented, I went there and reconstructed the building and put also a marble in the name of Caitanya Sarasvata Maṭha and mentioning the name of Sakhī Bābu, who supplied the money. That place, at that time was under some direct disciple of Ramakrishna bābājī, Rādhāramaṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: In Bangladesh? Bangladesh, this place is in Bangladesh?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Maimansing [?], his birth place was Maimansing, he's perhaps B.S.C. Past or failed I do not remember, perhaps he could not pass B.S.C. examination, but anyhow he was a good scholar and he had got variegated capacity, he could capture men, by talking and so many qualities. That gentleman, that Ramesh dās Bābājī, he was in Kaila, in that bhajan sthali when I reconstructed the place. Then they are generally apathetic, we are red clad.

rakta-vastra 'vaiṣṇavera' parite nā yuyāya, [kona pravāsīre dimu, ki kāya uhāya] ["This saffron cloth is unfit for a Vaisnava to wear; therefore I have no use for it. I shall give it to a stranger."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.61]

So we were red clad. They were reluctant to accept us amongst them, and we also did not care for them as the imitationist. Anyhow the reconstruction of the room, the bhajan-kuṭīra should be done, we are going on. Then I told him one day that, "We take this red cloth, the sannyāsī varṇāśrama and to prove that bābājī they are more than that. They first become sannyāsī, and then he may be promoted to the position of bābājī."

He was highly satisfied.

"The Prabhupāda our Guru Mahārāja, filling the gap, from any position, don't venture to accept the position of a bābājī. It is the position of the Guru of the fourth varṇa, that is sannyāsīns. So bābājī we consider to be the position of the Guru of the sannyāsī."

He was highly pleased.

And at the same time I told him when, “But we do not consider the present imitationist, that they are holding the proper position, they are false, hypocrites.”

Then he was infuriated, and then he was, he told me, “You are an atheist.”

“Yes so called atheist we are, as regards the bābājī’s position of the present Vṛndāvana area.” Then I came out finishing the work.

Then I heard from Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī, he was there in Nandagrama, that, “That gentleman, one, the varnie, the sweeper, a sweeper’s girl of very young age used to come there to sweep and all these things, and this bābājī he used to help her with some cloth or this that. And outwardly he showed himself that he’s a girl, it’s his girl, he’s the father and she’s the daughter in that way outwardly, he anyhow that was the act, his propaganda. His propaganda was that, he is the father and that small girl is his daughter, and she comes and sweeps the place of Gosvāmī Mahārāja, Lokanātha Gosvāmī’s place, so I beg from some and other man a cloth to her or this to her, this. At last that gentleman was caught red handed there with that girl. Then he was forced to leave the place.”

But that gentleman he could not tolerate that we are sannyāsī, bābājī is our Guru, higher rank, but at the same time we do not consider you to be worthy of that position.”

He was very much infuriated. Then he left the place and went straight to Mathurā, and he was an educated man, he began coaching students, a private tutor. He took the vocation of a private tutor, gave up begging, as bābājī, he was in such a position.

And I am told that at that time he met Keśava Mahārāja, he met Keśava

Mahārāja and the same question arose and Keśava Mahārāja told him that, “Whether you complain that we give this sacred thread to anyone and everyone.”

That was their complaint. “That anyone and everyone will come and the Gauḍīya Maṭha will confer sacred thread on them, and the red cloth.”

Then Keśava Mahārāja put a question to him, “Whether sacred thread is superior or the kaupīna is superior?”

Whoever comes to them, they give kaupīna, and makes him bābājī.

So Keśava Mahārāja put this question, “We are lavishly giving this sacred thread to anyone and everyone, we admit that. And you give kaupīna to anyone and everyone, without much consideration. What is the superior?”

Then he cannot but say the kaupīna is superior than sacred thread. He’s compelled to say that.

“Then we give sacred thread, that is of inferior quality to anyone and everyone lavishly, and you give that higher symptom, that kaupīna to anyone and everyone, then who does greater wrong to the society?” He could not say anything.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Trapped, he was trapped.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “The kaupīna, we consider kaupīna to be the higher. What Śrīmad Mahāprabhu gave to Sanātana Goswāmī that is the highest thing. Anyone should venture to take that garb, but first become brāhmaṇa, get the, acquire the qualification of a brāhmaṇa, that you come really to give your importance to the caitan, to the consciousness. Then in the higher, more high position, he will get exclusive remembrance of Rādhā-Govinda, that is the highest thing. The kaupīna is only for that form of life. And for the ordinary, that spirit is above matter. First accustom yourself to think like that, the spirit's importance is always above that of matter. Come to this stage, consolidate your position there, and from that position you try to go up in the highest position of spiritual conception. Without omitting this then it will be imitation, the material things you will mistake as spiritual; that means to imitate. That is the highest position of the spiritual, not material. And you are smearing mud on the body and say that it is nectar. That we can't admit. It is a wholesale false forgery." So:

brāhmaṇānāṁ sahasrebhyaḥ satra-yājī viśiṣyate satra-yāji-sahasrebhyaḥ sarvva-vedānta-pāragaḥ sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate vaiṣṇavānāṁ sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate

[“Among many thousands of brāhmaṇas, a yajñika brāhmaṇa is best. Among thousands of yajñika brāhmaṇas, one who fully knows Vedānta is best. Among millions of knowers of Vedānta, one who is a devotee of Viṣṇu is best. And among thousands of devotees of Viṣṇu, one who is an unalloyed Vaiṣṇava is best.”] [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 10.117]

The steps we are to cross consciously, these are the steps on the way. And from here, and you are dreaming of that thing and thinking you are all siddha mahātmā. We hate it. You are blasphemy. You are all blasphemy to Mahāprabhu and His sampradāya, kalonka.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I was feeling, I was staying in Vṛndāvana, and it was like desert because there is no sat-saṅga. In Vṛndāvana I could find no sat-saṅga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Prabhupāda told once, “That I came to Vṛndāvana,” in this way, he pushed his forehead, “I came to Vṛndāvana, such a great place. My fate, I could not see one Vaiṣṇava here, I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava here, it is my misfortune.” In this way he struck his forehead.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...that his loving temperament is also old, so something is being snatched. Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I had one dream. I met Prabhupāda and I was telling him about you. And he was enjoying. I told him, in my dream I told him all my life I have used the word 'thank-you', thinking it was very great. And then I told him what you said, everything in detail, and he was laughing. He said, "You know Brahmo-Samāja?" I said I heard from Śrīdhara Mahārāja. It was a very nice dream, very vivid. I was reporting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I was so shocked to learn about this, to learn about the meaning of 'thank-you.' I got a shock.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Shocked? Why?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Because I thought it was such a good thing, and I didn't understand previously. Everyone will say. In our country... It's not proper, not nice, I had never thought in that way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a custom, but I don't hear it. Because it seems to me underlying position the thank giver is such of separate party. He gets something, in place of some sacrifice he's getting, trading, a business. But this benefit to me, I am not included in you. Sambandha-jñāna [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: When I went to England it reminded me that if walking in the street by accident somebody will collide and then collide, that was premeditated. So I expected we will collide and then say excuse me. But they will say first excuse me and then I am going out of my way, this attitude. It reminded me of that. In our western countries people are so much violent actually. The nature is so... Sometimes we cannot imagine how we could come to this path because our background is so bad.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cover of independence, freedom. Freedom is a thing which seems to be above God, some slave mentality, very afraid of slavery. But we preach rather slavery. We are in favour of slavery. Really we preach for slavery, but not slavery to anything else but the whole, not for any part, but slavery, faithfulness to the whole.

In the military department faithfulness perhaps the first thing required, is it not? No independent consideration. In the military department blind obedience, blind obedience. Only hesitation bas bullet, in military department. There we can appreciate slavery.

But conscious, not blind, jñāna-sunya-bhakti blind, slave of love, not of impotency, is the acme of higher realization. Rather that is the highest fulfilment of freedom, highest fulfilment of proper freedom, slavery, to the Lord of love.

What to speak of jīva soul. Even the Absolute love is so enchanting and so peculiar substance that Kṛṣṇa also, the Absolute is also eager to become slave to the devotee, bhakta-parārdhīno [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]. The most charming thing that svarūpa- śakti, hlādinī-śakti, specially the śakti, the potency, the negative. The negative means some respect is lord of the positive. But ways and means is separate. Positive is aggressor and negative is attractor. Aggression is a type of energising and attraction is also a type of energising, but opposite, opposite, acintya bhedābheda.

Nimāi, He has got highest appreciation for acintya bhedābheda. A very strange expression. Anything can be backed by acintya bhedābheda and the dignity is maintained. Dignity of the highest is maintained there, and the expression is given. Not to put the unlimited in a limited cage, in the cage of limitation, not to put the unlimited. Respect is fully maintained of the Absolute, acintya bhedābheda, all most comprehensive at the basis of sambandha-jñāna. Sambandha-jñāna, who is who, what is what, where I am going, all these fundamental questions, if we are to solve. The most accommodating ground is acintya bhedābheda, bhedābheda and acintya. There's the rub, acintya, all right reserved. Gaura Haribol. And it is very wholesome, healthy for the soul. Whatever you say, your statement whatever it may be, but acintya is reserved for the Absolute. So you may be saved from committing any offence when you are making any statement. By making any statement you are going to make infinite finite. You are making a statement and you say about infinite, but what you say that is a finite thing. But the acintya that will save you, the honour is given to there.

Once in Bombay Maṭha I got a Mohammedan book written by one Mohammed Ali, erudite scholar, I heard his name for years. He's, in that book now and then he's mentioning the name of Mohammed. And whenever Mohammed this name is mentioned, "Peace be unto you," all the time. Mohammed, "Peace be unto him. Peace be unto him." Whenever, wherever taking the name, "Peace be unto him." To take his name means to disturb him. The underlying thought is that such a low person is audacious to take the name such a great person to dishonour him. So, "Peace be unto him." I may not disturb him, to take the name.

One gentleman from Navadvīpa Dhāma, a good scholar, a graduate, a high officer from Calcutta, company; he came to complain to me against his elder brother. “He always takes the name of Rādhā, Rādhā, Rādhā, every now and then always Rādhā, Rādhā. Rādhā, She may not be disturbed thereby? Always taking, if anyone takes my name always then I must feel very disturbed. But Rādhārāṇī does not feeling disturbed?” He came to me to lodge a complaint against his elder brother.

I told him, Rādhārāṇī’s permission of course to a limited circle and Hare Kṛṣṇa for the wider circle it is for the benefit of them it is already sanctioned.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, svarūpa-śakti is the same as hlādinī-śakti, same thing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa-śakti is a combination of sandhīnī, saṁvīt, and hlādinī, but some aspect, some leading, predominating. In some rasa sandhīnī-śakti predominating, somewhere saṁvīt predominating, and somewhere hlādinī predominating. But in the comparative study when we can understand the predominance of the hlādinī we appreciate that to be the highest thing in śakti. Everything is accommodated there if we are to have a very subtle view then śanta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya, everything is included there, presupposed.

Ānanda pradhana, asundara pradhana, classified into three phases, sat-cit-ānanda, sandhīnī, saṁvīt, hlādinī, satyam, śivam, sundaram. One whole may be classified into three sections. But if we enter into ontological discussion in details then we shall have to admit that saṁvīt is greater, is better than sandhīnī, because the sat, satyam existence is there. And something more than it is spiritual cetan, conscious. And mere saṁvīt may not be conscious, something like fossil, mere satya, existence. Mere existence does not give any full acquaintance of the thing. But when conscious, the existence is presupposed and some feeling is there. It is more added, connotation increases. Then consciousness may be there but satisfaction may not be present there, existence there. When in consciousness existence is presupposed. But ānanda, or satisfaction, ecstasy may not be present there. But in the layer of ecstatic joy, beauty or love, hlādinī, they are both, the other previous two phases, existence and feeling, consciousness is presupposed. And something more and that is ānanda. Ānanda presupposes both things, consciousness as well as existence. But existence may not include consciousness, or consciousness may not include joy. So in that sense hlādinī occupies the first position. But anubhāva, the feeling, the experience, want to experience that beauty, that must be there, must be there. In that sense Kṛṣṇa, the saṁvīt, He has got His position. Without consciousness no feeling of ānanda is possible. But ānanda means already consciousness. Kṛṣṇa is consciousness, main consciousness feeler, feeler, and is satisfaction from hlādinī, full. And the arrangement of the platform of the paraphernalia, environment favourable, that is arranged by sandhīnī. The stage and the player and the stage and for which the play is meant, that ānanda, three things are necessary in the play, the environment, and the player, and the object of play, necessity for play.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, maṅgalam and cit?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally, because generally satyam, śivam. Where is mortality there we cannot feel side by side maṅgalam. Where there is death, death cannot go together with maṅgalam. So transcending death, existence transcending death, there we find maṅgalam, satyam, śivam. Śiva means maṅgalam. And maṅgalam if properly followed we can find there that maṅgal is beauty, love, prema, in its full feature. Not only not death but positive ecstasy! Maṅgalam is via media transcending death but may not have overflow of love or beauty. But it is above death so it is considered maṅgalam. Śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā- vitarāṇaṁ.

[ceto-darpaṇa-mārjanam bhava-mahā-dāvāgni-nirvāpaṇam śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā-vitarāṇam vidyā-vadhū-jīvanam ānandāmbudhi-vardhanam prati-padam pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanam sarvātma-snapanam param vijayate śrī-kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtanam]

When we are independent of the relativity of the mortal world, we acquire the position of śiva, that is maṅgalam. Then there's, Śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā-vitarāṇam vidyā-vadhū- jīvanam. We are in a position to contact with the higher sphere, to be gainer from that company. So śiva, that is emancipation from death, from the jaws of death, that is śiva, in general. Unassailable existence, permanent foundation, then there we have a structure of our life, entrance into the svarūpa-śakti and everything is there, sundaram. Sundaram is the capitalist real and others are beggars, more or less. The worst of beggars he cannot arrange for his own food. Then the second class of beggar though they have amassed much money, they again want more and more. Crores and crores they wants these, he's also beggar. And sundaram of course he's also a beggar, but beggar of the positive immediate transaction. Always begging, unsatisfied. He's getting and unsatisfied. The satisfaction in the process of begging itself, that is sundaram. They don't say that we are satisfied. That is only rather possible in Brahmaloḥa, in Śiva, satisfaction, and not that we taste that. Śiva is also in want, in want.

Then the question is, if everyone is in want but in want of what thing? That will come into question. Everything in want. In an organic whole every part is in want, in demand of the cooperation of the other. So it is natural, every part in an organic whole, a living organism, every part wants the cooperation of the others. But healthy organism and unhealthy, dying organism or no organism: by renunciation no organism. And this perverted organism, the hankering and dependence on the other parts, but motive is bad, exploitation. And the higher section pure organism is there, but the nature of dedication. That will be the difference. Perverved reflection, the organic whole for selfish thirst, to quench selfish thirst of exploitation, or there, the noble thirst for dedication. Every part wants to dedicate for others. That will be the main difference. Or in the middle nothing, no consciousness, sāyujya-mukti.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes svarūpa-śakti is also considered bhakti-śakti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Svarūpa-śakti, bhakti-śakti, same, mahābhāva, the negative, the attraction for dedicating to the central whole, the nature will be such. Bhakti means that. Svarūpa-śakti means that. But the nature of the whole system is that of dedication. Dedication, and there the key of fulfilment, dedication, that is natural. Exploitation, the opposite, that is artificial and injurious. And real fundamental life should be that of dedication. That should be the normal. We are cast towards the abnormal section of the negative existence. That is the consideration.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti, bhoga, bhukti and bhakti. Bhukti, mukti, bhakti. Bhoga, tyāga, sevā, three phases, abnormal, normal, and marginal, between the two, abscissa; positive, negative, and abscissa, margin, anyhow. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Happiness not in taking but in giving. By giving we thrive, and by taking we die, we perish. That is the principle. If we are to live in a cooperative society, everyone should be contributor, then the cooperative society will thrive. But in a cooperative society if everyone is drawer, that will perish no time, very soon. So healthy life is that of dedication, contribution: not of absorption. That is bhakti cult. Bhakti cult is based on such consideration. More you give, more you have. And more you take, more you lose. Is it not?

You are told that I am speaking neither Bengali nor English. What I say you please listen to. What does it mean? That the wave that is coming, it is hitting direct your heart, the soul. So independent of the language it can work.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Many times in India Prabhupāda would speak Hindi and most disciples would go away. He said, “Do not go away; stay.” I would always stay. I could not understand but I got greater satisfaction just to hear the sound, although I could not understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Some power is generated, electric generation. And that spreads itself. And it touches, works in its own plane independently.

Mahāprabhu when in Jhārikhaṇḍa path from Vṛndāvana, the tigers, the elephants, the deer, they began to dance and chant Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa. The medium was language? When Mahāprabhu danced and chanted Kṛṣṇa and so many animals also began to dance and chant Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa. No language. Independent of the language. It can work in another plane, the innermost heart, who has not come in connection with any language of the sort.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja told when he was first recruited, the chariot is going and circumambulating the chariot chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā-mantra.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa met him, “What is the matter? Do you know Kṛṣṇa?” “Who is Kṛṣṇa?”

“Have you come across Gītā, Bhagavad-gītā, Bhāgavatam?” “No, no, what is Bhāgavatam? What is Gītā?”

Whatever he says, “No.”

Have you heard the name India?” “Yes I have heard.”

“There Kṛṣṇa came as God,” in this way was talking.

Then, “But I could not understand anything but the chanting is going on, and enthusiastically. And I entered into that circle and began to dance and chant. And then I fell down, fainted. When I awoke I was taking Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then with some water perhaps on the face and some nursing I awoke and I found that I am going on with the chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. I was converted.” Bhāvānanda Mahārāja meeting program. He told this in the meeting there.

Hare Krsna. Hare Krsna.

When Mahāprabhu was in Vṛndāvana, one Rajput young man came to Him in Imlitalā perhaps. “I have come.”

“What do you want?”

“I want to be a servant of the Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇava dāsa, Kṛṣṇa dāsa. My inner tendency makes me to come out in search of Guru. I want to offer myself at his feet. I come for that, and I think You have attracted me. Please accept me as Your slave, Kṛṣṇa dāsa.”

We are told that he preached in the Murdarn [?] district in Punjab. There are many Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, the Kṛṣṇa dāsa he preached that side.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Union in separation, that is proper union with the infinite. And to come in concrete union, that depends upon Him, that is very rare. So jīva, jurisdiction of the reach of the freedom of the jīva is union in separation. Not the question of intensity. In sādhana also union in separation, bhāva bhakti also, prema bhakti also, union in separation; this is a common ground for the sādhaka. But if gone deeper found when real union takes place at least once, then the separation will be very, very intense, very, very intense. It'll also have no limit, type in different rasa. The degree depends on that classification of union. The deepest union is possible only in mādhurya-rasa. That makes one mad, almost mad, mahābhāva, a madness in the highest sanity, mad insanity. In the highest form of sanity, there is madness. It is opposite, mahābhāva.

[Bengali (?) for approximately thirteen and a half minutes.] “Please take me along with Him. I can’t tolerate Your separation.”

When Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu was taught in Allahabad, in Prayāga, confluence of Yamunā and Ganges [?] “Please take me along with You. I can’t tolerate Your separation.”

Mahāprabhu told, “You are always with Me and what I say you do that then it will really be your presence with Me.”

It meant that to be physically near is not properly near; nearness in the mentality. If we want to have association with a superior then only by obeying them we can retain our position nearby. Not by any other physical or mental way. Only as a waiting servant, whatever the instruction comes, ready to do that. That is the means to be in the association, spiritually, nearness of distant, not in the sense of miles in the physical plane. That is calculated by anugātam, submission. Submission is the way of measurement whether he’s near or far. The measurement is, the unit is of such character.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Physically far away, spiritually very close. And physically very close, but physically near, but spiritually may be far off. To live in the same plane! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I have one question from the Caitanya-Bhāgavat. So in the pratha madyai [?] there is descriptions of Madhya-kaṇḍa. So in one verse it is being described about maha-laki [?] So it says:

madhya kanday rukmini veshay narayana nachilin sthana pilo sarva bhakta gane [?] So in the vibriti, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura he has written:

Rukmiṇī devī maha laki ar sri krsna vaidhi padi mahishi, then, tini jagat mata [?] Now the question is, then Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura writes:

Darana poshen lila moy paramata, atta tatta armatri tatta armatrito vitra parkas kori [?] So I couldn't really figure out how to express that into English. He says:

Darana poshen lila moy paramata [?] That's all right, then the next line:

Atta tatta armatri tatta vitra parkas kori [?] So exactly what that implies?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A mixture of two planes. Generally Rukmiṇī is connected with Dvārakēśa. But Paramātmā is Kṣīrodakaśāyī. Gaura-Nārāyaṇa when He came to preach the yuga dharma, Hari Nāma, that is the duty of Kṣīrodakaśāyī, Paramātmā. Paramātmā is always in connection of the jīvātmā, to supervise his activity, and watch, and inspect him as guardian, though indifferent. But always the guardian's eye, vigilant eye is there, and that is Kṣīrodakaśāyī.

And Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura he has expressed his opinion that Mahāprabhu was Avatāra of Kṣīrodakaśāyī. That is Gaura-Nārāyaṇa. But Kṣīrodakaśāyī Viṣṇu is Paramātmā. And for the nurturing, for the sustenance of the jīva's interest Kṣīrodakaśāyī is entrusted, His function. So Kṣīrodakaśāyī and Paramātmā have got some interest to help the jīvātmā. This is the general rule, general way.

Now, how Rukmiṇī who is connected with Dvārakeśa comes in this field that is the difficulty. And there is of course, Nārāyaṇa came with His own potency. But they should not command any respect in that līlā. Viṣṇu Prīya, Lakṣmī Prīya already gone, disappeared, Viṣṇu Prīya was there. But she was not in position to become mother to all these parśada devotees, for the purpose of this, for the interest of the līlā. It was not possible to take her, for her to take the position of the mother ostentatiously.

And because Mahāprabhu had some connection within from that Kṛṣṇa Avatāra, so from there some delegation came from some higher level. It was not practical for Viṣṇu Prīya to do the part, to play the part of the mother of the devotees. So because she was connected with Kṛṣṇa līlā in this special Avatāra, special Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, so for necessity the potency from the higher level came to help.

And vātsalya cannot be traced in Lakṣmī Devī in Vaikuṇṭha. Lakṣmī Devī, she has got not any son or daughter, so no filial affection is displayed there, in Nārāyaṇaloka. So necessity in Dvārakā; Rukmiṇī is mother of Pradyumna etc., so that potency of Kṛṣṇa had to come down to play the part of Viṣṇu Prīya because circumstance did not allow her. She was too young, and the ordinary environment was not favourable to accept her as mother in this play.

So to give a divine characteristic, crossing Lakṣmī Devī because no filial affection there, so Mahāprabhu had to connect with the Dvārakā potency and Rukmiṇī Devī had to appear in that arena. And Mahāprabhu Himself took her garb and also some display of her majestic affection, affection mixed with having the body of some aiśvarya so that people in general have some respect for the same.

So Rukmiṇī, is shown that though He's playing the part of Gaura-Nārāyaṇa but unconsciously, consciously sometimes yet He's more than that comes to the field. Unknowingly, only following His sweet will, the potency of higher plane are coming to help Him in His līlā. He wanted to perform a particular type of līlā. And it was not possible within the jurisdiction of His present form of the order of Nārāyaṇa, so Kṛṣṇa līlā had to give, supply some potential energy to come down and perform the līlā smoothly.

And also Mahā-Lakṣmī is superior to Lakṣmī Devī. Sometimes Lakṣmī Devī in Vaikuṇṭha also is called Mahā-Lakṣmī, but still Rukmiṇī Devī's position is higher than that of Lakṣmī in Vaikuṇṭha. It is aśvarya and that is nearer approach to Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. Dvārakā position of Kṛṣṇa is superior to Vaikuṇṭha.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād

*[vṛndāraṇyam udāra-pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam

sevāṁ vivekī na kaḥ]*

[“The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”] [Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

Madhu-purī, Vaikuṇṭha and Madhu-purī midway there is Ayodiyā and Dvārakā. So as Mahāprabhu is concerned with Kṛṣṇa and not with Rāmacandra so much, so Dvārakā potency came to help Mahāprabhu in His Gaura-Nārāyaṇa līlā where vātsalya-rasa was thought to be necessary. Vātsalya-rasa is not to be found in Vaikuṇṭha. Vātsalya-rasa begins from Ayodiyā, Dvārakā, Braja, for necessity of vātsalya-rasa. And so it is not found in Vaikuṇṭha. From a higher region it had to descend to help His līlā for the time being. So it was the function of Paramātmā for the welfare of the jīva.

Rukmiṇī Devī is above Kṣīrodakaśāyī and Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa, Mahā-Lakṣmī. Or she may be called Mahā-Lakṣmī. But vātsalya-rasa is there which is not found in Kṣīrodakaśāyī, nor in Vaikuṇṭha Nārāyaṇa. So vātsalya-rasa means to go higher. And when that higher connection will come to this lower by the special will of Śrī Gaurāṅga who is within Kṛṣṇa and without, yuga Avatāra, Kṣīrodakaśāyī. Do you follow the ontology?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you are to adjust. King came to visit a place of a district magistrate. Local people gave an application to the king which is under the function of district magistrate, “Please help us in this way.” But the king found that magistrate jurisdiction is not here. So he used some special power. And above magistrate, from above function, he, because he’s a king he is not limited to the power of magistrate so he utilised his free will and what is not in the jurisdiction of the magistrate he did that for the application of the local people. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something like that, because he was king. So Mahāprabhu as He was Kṛṣṇa, He easily could invite Rukmiṇī in the field where Rukmiṇī was not necessary. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this way it was managed. Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So He's showing two functions, potion...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dharana potion - that is to look after the welfare of the jīva. And that is the function of Kṣīrodakaśāyī, the Paramātmā.

Where māyā and jīva is concerned the function of Paramātmā is there. Here Mahāprabhu what He is doing there, that is with the connection of jīva and jagat, māyā. So it is the function of Paramātmā. But He came to help the jīva in the function of Paramātmā, but what He wished He did not find in the jurisdiction of Paramātmā. So He went to Vaikuṇṭha but Vaikuṇṭha has got no filial affection, so He had to go to Dvārakā and from there invite Rukmiṇī within Him; and to finish the function. That was anyataka, that was a drama He was playing. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the atta tatta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the spelling? What is the meaning?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I think it means extensively on a wide spread way. It says...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Extension; atta tatta means extended. It extended itself, Paramātmā, extended himself to and so it was not found in Vaikuṇṭha, He had to go to Dvārakā. Atta tatta for His extensive characteristic When _____ that extension was necessary for motherly affection to foster them, so He had to go to Dvārakā, next nearest vātsalya-rasa. To take vātsalya-rasa from the store of Dvārakā, because it was not in Vaikuṇṭha, nor in Kṣīrodakaśāyī, Lakṣmī Devī. That is Lakṣmī and she has got not vātsalya, no son, no child. So, because vātsalya-rasa is necessary towards _____ it was extended to and so in the nearest store was in Dvārakā so Rukmiṇī had to come. Really the function of Paramātmā, but when was necessary towards nurturing, sustaining, so He had to go beyond Vaikuṇṭha to Dvārakā, the nearest store of vātsalya-rasa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So we can, in the English, in the second line it says: Nachilan stana pilo bhakta gan [?] So Lord Caitanya enacted as if He was feeding them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the form of Rukmiṇī Devī, in the dress of Rukmiṇī Devī, He danced there. And whether His form of Rukmiṇī was genuine or not, to prove that perhaps, “Yes! I’m really Rukmiṇī.” And to prove that He invited the devotees to take, to suck the breast. “I am Rukmini.”

Bhāratī Mahārāja: But He kept His own form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this is not only a show. There is substantial reality there, to produce confidence, to arouse confidence and strengthen in the heart of His devotees that He has got that supernatural position. When Caitanya Mahāprabhu, Gaurāṅga willed, He really, He could take the body of Rukmiṇī herself and not an ordinary imitation show.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, why is Lord Caitanya sometimes referred to as Gaura- Nārāyaṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally Gaura-Nārāyaṇa because of the Yuga Avatāra. Every Kali-yuga there comes generally one Avatāra to preach Kṛṣṇa Nāma saṅkīrtana, at every Kali-yuga. But in twenty eighth yuga, once in a day of Brahmā, that Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa combined comes in that order. And Yuga Avatāra absorbed in Him.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: There’s one other thing that came up here Mahārāja.

There is one līlā here where Caitanya Mahāprabhu, He accepts the tandula [?] So two types of rice are there, there is siddha and also atta. So atta means hot but heated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Siddha means_, atta means which is not boiled. From the paddy, the white rice is taken up, and the husk removed, without boiled. And the siddha means what is boiled once, then it is dried in the sun and then the husk removed, it is siddha. Generally here in Bengal and Orissa and perhaps Sind, they accept this boiled rice, siddha chal. That is more easily digestible, and also a little bigger in size, easily digestible. And the atta, which is not boiled but un-husked rice, small in figure and that is little, gurupak, not very easily digestible. So, but that is considered to be the purer type.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So this is in Bengal, they use mostly siddha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Siddha.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I saw they're boiling before.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But in U.P. and others, other parts in Madras, they use atta. They hate this boiled rice siddhajal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So there's one other thing that came up here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is the letter? It's with you?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I gave it to him, Nimāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimāi?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. There's another thing here, it says:

madha kande caitanyer avasese patra brahma durlava narayani paila matra [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu, out of His own accord gave some uchistam perhaps tambul, chewing gave Nārāyaṇī, a small girl of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita or his brother. Nārāyaṇī was his girl, daughter of perhaps Śrīvāsa of Śrīvāsa's brother.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: His brother, bratris patri.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brother yes, mother of Vṛndāvana dāsa, Nārāyaṇī. Mahāprabhu out of His own accord gave some uchistam to her. Not very accessible by Brahmā himself, Nārāyaṇī got that fortune.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. The only trouble was avasesa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Avasesa means uchistam, remnants. And out of His own accord Mahāprabhu gave her that uchistam, a small girl.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the Rāmānandi sampradāya? That is a branch...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of Rāmānuja. Deviation is there. Rāmānuja sampradāya, they are strictly worshippers of Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa. But the Rāmānandi they select the Sītā-Rāma the most revered Deity for their worship. Ayodhyā is the centre of the Rāmānandi, and they are more given to some vairāgya, and they're opposed especially to Śaṅkarite.

Śaṅkara School also created some naga, sannyāsī, when necessary to fight first with the Buddhists, then perhaps with the Vaiṣṇava. And the Rāmānandi they have got also naga, half-soldier. And they are also very eager to fight with Śaṅkara School, or others, to establish the dignity of Rāmacandra, Sītā-Rāma.

But Tulasī dāsa is considered to be a member of Rāmānandi sampradāya who are especially a devotee of Rāma-Sītā, they are called Rāmānandi. They have also Vedānta tika. From bhāṣyam Rāmānanda perhaps, or someone in their generation, composed from bhāṣyam on Vedānta.

But I did not read it direct, but I saw in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura perhaps from Jaiva Dharma that they foster within their heart mukti to be the highest, mumuka, want mukti. Whenever through worship anyone attains mukti, mukti is superior than bhakti. So their bhakti is gone. It's not śuddha-bhakti. But ordinary people they may not think like that. But still some of the Ācārya of that sampradāya has connected the sampradāya with that, mumuk, mukti, wants mukti. At least they want mukti for the service of Rāma-Sītā. That also may be.

But the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava doesn't care for mukti even. "Whatever You like, wherever You want, You like to post me doesn't matter. I want Your service, bhakti. And service of You or Your devotee. Wherever You place me, it matters little." That is Gauḍīya sampradāya.

paśu-pakhī ho 'ye thāki svarge bā niroye, taba bhakti rahu bhaktivinoda-hṛdoye

"You may put in hell. I won't care for that. But Your connection through devotion, that is my only demand, not for any local posting."

But there are some who want that after liberation, "I must have Your, liberation, after that Your service." Conditional, that is also to be found somewhere.

But the gopīs, the Vraja bhajan, there's no room for any condition: unconditional dedication to the Lord. "Yes, hell, I'm ready to go for Your service if it is necessary. I'm ready."

Service, serving spirit of that degree is to be found only in Vraja. In Gauḍīya sampradāya, not any condition.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So they are originating from the Rāmānuja sampradāya, the Rāmānandis?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmānuja. And from Rāmānanda another sakhā as kavis, the disciple of Rāmānanda. "We were by caste and he created another sampradāya." There are so many.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's very popular.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] So many branches mixed with Śaṅkara and Vaiṣṇava together, Tukaram in Maharastra, so many divisions, subdivisions, prakṛti-vaicitryād, pāramparyeṇa.

[evaṁ prakṛti-vaicitryād bhidyante matayo nṛṇām pāramparyeṇa keṣāñcit pāṣaṇḍa-matayo 'pare]

["Thus, due to the great variety of desires and natures among human beings, there are many different theistic philosophies of life, which are handed down through tradition, custom and disciplic succession. There are other teachers who directly support atheistic viewpoints.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.8]

Cannot but deviation to accommodate their forced to accommodate deviation.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What was Tukarama's position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pāraṁparyeṇa and prakṛti-vaicitryād. Due to the variegated nature of disciples and then successors and disciples, disciples, disciples that is also prakṛti-vaicitryād. So the Lord has to come down here to set right what is already modified, polluted. To set right, to put it in its former glory and purity, He himself comes.

*yadā yadā hi dharmasya, glānir bhavati bhārata abhyutthānam
adharmasya, tadātmānaṁ sṛjāmy aham*

[“O Bhārata, whenever there is a decline of religion and an uprising of irreligion, I personally appear, like a being born in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.7]

And sometimes sends His own man, “Go and set right everything there.” Already polluted, prakṛti-vaicitryād and pāraṁparyeṇa, so again to put in its pristine purity, original purity He had to come now and then.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the position of Tukarama?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tukarama we are told that he was the disciple of a Mahārastrian brāhmaṇa who was connected with Śrī Caitanya Deva at Benares. Not any authentic report, but from outside we gather that Tukarama took initiation from a brāhmaṇa and he heard from him about Caitanya Deva. That is mentioned in some, in some song of Tukarama. Caitanya the name is found in his songs. From there some research. The elder brother of Rabindranatha, he was the first ICS of India, Satendra Tagore. He wrote a book about that, that Tukarama was in the line of Caitanya Deva. It is mentioned in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writings that Satendra Tagore mentioned that Tukarama was in the line of Caitanya Deva. It is found in Satendra Tagore's writings, who was the first ICS and elder brother of Rabindranatha Tagore. I found it in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writings.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Rabindranatha Tagore had many brothers which were famous writers?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he is the fourteenth amongst his brothers and sisters, he is last. And the first is Dvijendra, and second was Satendra. In this way there were so many brothers and sisters and the last, and fourteenth was Rabindranatha. So Rabindranatha once opposed, some said that in the last days, in the old age, the son may not be so fit. An old man's son may not possess good health, a good brain. So Rabindranatha opposed, "I am the last son, my father's fourteenth son, but am I am less qualified?"

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So it depends upon brahmacārī. Gaura Haribol. Gaura

Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: In Rabindranatha Tagore's family, there were also many other famous poets, within his family?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, somewhere among brothers. One of his sisters Sadnukumari, she wrote many things. Then Dajendranatha also wrote some articles, eldest brother, and Satendranatha also. Then one brother Savandranatha he had more artistic endeavours, making dolls, artist he was to produce some dolls etc.

His father was Davendranatha and Rabindranatha's grandfather was Darukanatha, Prince Darukanatha. He was very favourite to Queen Victoria. So much so that there was a talk I heard from Swāmī Mahārāja that Edward the seventh, the son of Victoria, his face cutting and Darukanatha's face cutting was very close. The face cutting of Darukanatha's figure and the Edward the seventh, the son of Victoria, most very similar, and Darukanatha had very closer connection with Victoria. So some have got, in a particular section there was rumour that Dharukanatha had very closer connection with Queen Victoria. I heard it from your Swāmī Mahārāja Prabhupāda.

Prince Darukanatha, in a very high style he moved, a moneyed man, and in England also he holds great respect and his company was [?] A big man of England at the time, aristocratic family, his style was also like that, Prince Darukanatha.

His son Davendranatha he was religious minded, and he entered Ram Mohan Raya's Brahmo-dharma, mixed Hindu and Brahmo, mixed we find in Davendranatha, and in later days more Brahmo than Hindu. And then Rabindranatha, all came, Davendranatha, the founder of Balpour [?] Davendranatha, Rabindranatha's father. And sometimes he went there and he sat in penances in Amala Kuñja. Many things he did in the type of previous ṛṣi tapovana.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: What was it satyam, maṅgalam, advaitam, who had said that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Their mantram is santam, śivam, advaitam. Rabindranatha told, the other day I found in paper, in his last time he requested some of his brother's wife or something like that, "You please, in the last moment help me to recollect the mantram, santam, śivam, advaitam." That was their mantra, santam, śivam, advaitam, advaitam is the last, and śivam not sundaram, charming.

Advaita, that is merging in advaita, means whether an organic whole or non differentiated whole? Whole, advaya jñāna, it is admitted by all spiritual thinking men, advaita. But what is the proper conception of that advaita? Other things remain or everything vanishes into a non differentiated oneness? Then how from that position have all these things sprung up? That is also like a fossil, spiritual fossil; advaita. If we do not admit that this organic whole, it is nitya, non differentiated static, the nitya, the eternal is only static. Why it should not be dynamic, why the eternal substance should not be a cosmos, a harmonised whole? Advaita means organism, one organic whole, a dynamic harmony. That should be the conception otherwise the dynamicity springs up from staticity. That is the original where from the motion comes, and that as if no consciousness. Where from this consciousness comes? The same difficulty, the fossil then this Brahman.

Why shouldn't I accept that what they say this is product, but that productive characteristic is eternal? If we want to something eternal we must have to accept. But why shouldn't I accept that the dynamic organic whole, what is produced, why that is not eternal? And higher things, the product is of higher nature and the lower nature can produce higher things, and this is permanent, and the higher things cannot be permanent? Things of higher conception that cannot be permanent, that cannot be eternal? Only when the question of eternity will come we must have to go to the static conception, either to fossil or to Brahman, the spiritual fossil. From equilibrium the movement comes. Why not movement is eternal? In the present day, rather I find that nothing can remain static in the sky, higher sky. Everything is moving. If a sputnik is to be sent, that is always moving, cannot make it fixed, difficult to make it fixed. So dynamic character, that is natural, outside the world. So dynamic characteristic: that should be the eternal thing, the essence of everything, and the static rather a diseased condition, paralysed condition of the dynamic. Dynamic is the original. And static is a paralysed condition of the dynamic. It is artificial. It is the disease. And the dynamic is health. That is the basis of Vaiṣṇava dharma.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. The original thing must have to be static, and must have to be of very lowest order, and whatever good, whatever higher, that must have sprang up from that fossil. This is a bad type of mentality.

But the revealed truth always helps in this. There is God. “Let there be water. Let there be light.” There was light, there was water. The truth rather, in this way, the truth lies. By His order things come into existence. Not that this is producing God, fossil is producing God. God is not producing fossil. [?]

Replacement by God, self-sufficiency, that is not laudable, kudha, hunger is necessary. I am full fed, full belly. That is not a healthy sign. Hunger is healthy sign. Always we want more progress. That presupposes progress. Hunger means progress. “I’m unfit, I’m unsatisfied. I want more and more.” Spiritual thirst must be traced within. Not stagnant. Hare Kṛṣṇa. “I’m hungry, I want more food, from Your grace. Mahāprabhu, I want more and more.” Eho bāhya āge kaha āra [“This is superficial; go further.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.51-313] More and more.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So today I like to take leave of you. Nitāi Caitanya. So are you satisfied to hear the news that came from Dhīra Kṛṣṇa, or it is disturbing? What do you think?

Devotees: It was expected.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is going to establish an independent centre there for the activity independent of ISKCON. That means a battle is being created there, going to be created.

...

What type of ghost?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I don't know. It came and putting pressure, holding me very tight on the floor, against the floor, holding down. I could not get up.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You laid down perhaps on the back?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Maybe, possibly yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe, and your hands on the breast.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the cause.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, I mentioned that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ah, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This weight, in the dream that is mental body, this consciousness of this weight on the breast, on the heart, that gradually develops into that thing pressing. When you'll awake you will find that the hand is there. So you are to be careful about the habit of putting any weight of the hand even on the breast when sleeping. Better to sleep on the side, left side after food, of course on the right side then heart is under relief. The heart is left side, left side pressure may come, of course when old and when right side heart is in the upper position, no pressure. But we are told that on the left side after food, the digestion becomes easier, becomes easy. I also experience sometimes that hand on the back lying and with hand on the chest, then some sort of dream that someone is pressing. Then when awake found the weight of the hand, and heard also several times such stories. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So that's not ghost?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Never, in the area of Mahāprabhu, what ghost can enter. He would be afraid of coming. Of course there are ghosts in the Dhāma also of different type. When I came here to live, the cluster of the bamboos that was a notorious place for the ghosts. Even the wallah they were much afraid to pass under this bamboo cluster. They used to say that bamboos are lowered and when passing over it suddenly jumps up and cast him in any way the ghost is arranging all these things, so many stories. I came, I never found anything.

Our Maṭha also, in Dacca Maṭha in a hired house very easy rent, get a ghost haunted house in [?] only fifty rupees monthly rent. That was a notorious place for ghosts.

Even the college hostel, the college students accepted that as their hostel. But one night found that they were boiling meat in a cauldron. And they found that the cook's head is pushed into the cauldron, in the boiling cauldron, and they left all.

But our party rented that very cheap, no ghost. But, something, a ghost haunted place because outside the broad jungle road of the town, city and the other side so many houses around and in the middle dilapidated condition, jungles, so many rotten things were there, dilapidated, a very favourite place for the ghost to live there. Such was the thing, we the other side. So many houses around, and the middle portion is the more nasty of the nasty, so very favourable position of the ghosts who lived there.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, jeansies?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jeanie and the ghost also same thing is it not?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Jeanie is not a female?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When guṇḍā, independent of this physical body, that is ghost. That type of mental person, free of this physical body, flesh and blood; that may have that position. And sometimes the yogīs of the bad type, they also have got some siddhi, and when they leave this body and for some punishment, cannot enter in any high place they remain as ghosts.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Māyāpur I saw something very strange. There was light close by coming down to the ground. Not so fast, but relatively fast, and then after some distance from the ground, disappeared. I saw several times.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be some un-extraordinary feats of nature. So many gas, so many rays, so many animals there are who emit a sort of light, all these things generally found. A kind of jackal when they open their mouth, the saliva that is like light in the night, so many beasts like the jackal type if they open their mouth there is light. And when close the mouth, no light. There are so many types of insects and animals that can emit light, just as this glow worm. So there are many similar things. Even there may be some creepers that show light in darkness. That is to be mostly found to be in the hill area. The creepers can emanate light. In the Gandharbas it is mentioned śāstra Kavya Kalidās, that from the light of the particular creeper the gandharba they utilized that for their own friendly purpose. The creeper emanating light, phosphorous. From the ground also sometimes phosphorous things are seen in a particular way, in the form of light, phosphorous. So in most places we are misguided by the peculiarity of natural incidence. But still there are ghosts, I don't deny that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: But in the Dhāma the ghosts are fewer?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of different types.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I saw there was one Muslim man and this Muslim he said some mantra and he held one stick and the stick was taking him to one, to find a thief, to find one chor. There was a chor who had taken some money.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, to catch, some stick, yes, that is also possible. It is also shown in our Maṭha. I was not eye witness, I heard. There was one God-brother. He could show all these things. By mantram, he fasted the whole day and in the evening, Mādhava Mahārāja and so many others bold and cunning persons they were present when those feats were shown to the Maṭha people. Two bamboo sticks were given to a gentleman and they put it in this way, bamboo stick, and he put mantram and some offering, in this way, and do this, do this, he began to order and these two gentleman were forced to go to a particular side, to find out the man and where the thing is hidden. He forced these two persons. They were unwilling but they were drawn forcibly towards a particular place and found that that thing was there and he took it in the public. Then he asked the man who placed the thing there, “Go fetch him, catch him.” He went to them. That I am told, they’re reliable, this Mādhava Mahārāja, and so many others they were eye witness there. [?] does not matter. Subservient, so many things, nothing is impossible. Everything, whole power is there of different type and different nature and there may be subsidiary, so many, this hierarchy. Samantra tantric, what is it in English?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Samantra tantric?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The lower, the master over them, zamīndār, zamīndār, in this way the samantra emperor. The emperor under him so many chiefs, under them so many land owners, under them so many big ranks, in this way, by gradual process the power is also distributed in that way in various lines. Amongst soldiers also there are ranks. Amongst the police there are also ranks. Amongst CID there are also ranks. So in every phase of creation, good or bad, there may be some hierarchy: system, and of variegated nature. That under māyā, and under ordinary god, under some sādhū, this is siddha. Śaṅkarācārya etc, they also wanted seeker of power, prākāmya, īśita, aṇimā, laghimā, vyāpti, all these siddhis necessary for them to display over the society and to get some special benefit for that. Only real Vaiṣṇava hate them all.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: ... maybe can be elaborated on with Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura bibriti, so it will be clear. Some things are not so clear. So I was wondering.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So there's one thing I would like you to say. Last night you were talking about the social lineage, Nīlambara Cakravartī and his relationship with Śacī Devī, then Vasudeva Sārvabhauma, if you could give a synopsis of their family. If you could give a synopsis of their family social positions that would be very helpful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What of that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Nīlambara Cakravartī, he was an associate of Vasudeva Sārvabhauma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nīlambara Cakravartī was classmate of Viśārada, who perhaps father of Vasudeva Sārvabhauma. What is written here?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, that he's the father. Shistine mahesh, maheshvara, visharader putra o gopinatha bhatta acharya shallok chillan [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vasudeva Sārvabhauma, Vasudeva Sārvabhauma.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was brother-in-law of Gopīnātha Ācārya and he was son of Mahesh Viśārada.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, and Nilambara Cakravartī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was classmate of Viśārada, Sārvabhauma's father, Mahesh Viśārada.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Acha, I see, so Śacī Mātā in relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nilambara Cakravartī's daughter.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Acha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śacī Mātā.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ah huh, I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Sārvabhauma told that, “Nilambara Cakravartī is classmate of my father, and Śacī Devī, Nilambara Cakravartī’s daughter is in social relation, my sister, and Nimāi is my sister’s son, my sister’s son. I am His maternal uncle. He’s my nephew, maternal nephew, my sister’s son. And He’s very beautiful, and He looks like a genius and I have much affection on Him.

But you Gopīnātha, you tell that he is the incarnation of God. He’s a good boy. You are making some conspiracy to eat his head.” (chuckle) “He’s a good boy, a young genius and very beautiful to see, and I have got much interest on him because in my father’s connection, social connection, he’s my sister’s son. I want to look at him in the eye of a guardian. But you fellow, you are making too much of him, that he is incarnation of God, and you want to spoil his life.” (chuckle) That was the nature of the audacious statement of Sārvabhauma to his brother-in-law, to his sister’s husband, Gopīnātha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, there is another thing here which...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Huh?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: In English what this would be? It's describing Svarūpa Dāmodara before Svarūpa Dāmodara his brahmacārī name is given here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Puruṣottama Ācārya, Puruṣottama Ācārya was his previous name, before, Svarūpa Dāmodara, Puruṣottama Bhaṭṭa Ācārya. In Navadvīp, he had much appreciation of Nīmāi Paṇḍit, Mahāprabhu. Puruṣottama Bhaṭṭa Ācārya, his previous name. But though in his early līlā of Mahāprabhu, we don't find much mention about Puruṣottama Bhaṭṭa Ācārya, but later on we are told that Puruṣottama Bhaṭṭa Ācārya was closely, perhaps from a distance with some awe and respect, he was watching the līlā of Mahāprabhu, Nīmāi Paṇḍit, bālyā-līlā. When Nīmāi Paṇḍit took sannyāsa then he could not tolerate it. He ran to Benares and took sannyāsa, but he was half mad, after the whole ceremony of sannyāsa finished he ran away, so his name remained as Svarūpa. Svarūpa is the title of brahmacārī. Prakāśa, Caitanya, Svarūpa, Ānanda, these are symptoms, prefixes are added in the name of a brahmacārī, Prakāśa Ānanda, Nitya Svarūpa, Kṛṣṇa Caitanya and Prakāśa Caitanya, Ānanda, Prakāśa, Caitanya, Ānanda, Svarūpa, these four, these are part of the name of brahmacārī.

Sometimes Nityānanda Svarūpa also told, Nityānanda was not a sannyāsī, but He was a brahmacārī. But He performed Vyāsa pūjā in Śrīvāsa Aṅgan. There some say that He was a sannyāsī, but there He had no special garment either for sannyāsī or brahmacārī. He was very independent spirit. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, it says here that, before Svarūpa Dāmodara met Lord Caitanya, he had desired to take, what is called yoga-pata, yog-pata.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yoga-pata.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a sign of a sannyāsī, yoga-pata, he did not accept, before that he fled, so the name Svarūpa remained, that of a brahmacārī, the sign of brahmacārī, Svarūpa. Yoga-pata means kaupīna, vaiba, the sannyāsa, a form of formality of a sannyāsī, he did not accept he fled away, half mad. Because his heart was burning for the separation of Mahāprabhu, he was not normal thinking. So when sannyāsa function half done, he ran away. (chuckle) His Guru was some, is Caitanyānanda, or someone who is Guru, where he was taking sannyāsa in Benares, but he couldn't stand the whole function, he ran away.

And he met Śrī Caitanyadeva after two years, in Purī. Mahāprabhu welcomed him, “You have come Svarūpa, I have got two eyes back, I see through your eye.” Bhāla haila, andha yena dui netra pāila.

[tumi ye āsibe, āji svapnete dekhila / bhāla haila, andha yena dui netra pāila]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said, “I saw in a dream that you were coming, and so this is very auspicious. I have been like a blind man, but your coming here restores My vision.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 10.122]

“I feel that I have regained My two eyes, lost eyes, I have got, you have come.” Sākṣāt mahāprabhura dvitīya svarūpa. Just a double: facsimile of Mahāprabhu. [kṛṣṇa-rasa-tattva-vettā, deha — prema-rūpa] / sākṣāt mahāprabhura dvitīya svarūpa

[Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara was the personification of ecstatic love, fully cognizant of the transcendental mellows in relationship with Kṛṣṇa. He directly represented Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu as His second expansion.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 10.111]

saṅgīte — gandharva-sama, śāstre bṛhaspati [dāmodara-sama āra nāhi mahā-matī]

[Svarūpa Dāmodara was as expert a musician as the Gandharvas, and in scriptural discussion he was just like Bṛhaspati, the priest of the heavenly gods. Therefore it is to be concluded that there was no great personality quite like Svarūpa Dāmodara.]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 10.116]

His scholarship can be compared with Bṛhaspati, the highest, biggest scholar in heaven, Bṛhaspati. And the saṅgīte, in singing line, may be compared with Gandharva, who are very expert and notable for their singing capacity. So in song and in, as well as in scholarship, he was unique, in the sampradāya of Mahāprabhu. And in Mahāprabhu’s parichay in the fourteenth śloka, which is the basis from which we know who Mahāprabhu was, that comes from Svarūpa Dāmodara. It is quoted in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, the whole structure, steel frame of the Caitanya līlā supplied by Svarūpa Dāmodara.

Kavirāja Goswāmī has quoted, who is Nityānanda tattva, who is Gadādhara, who is Caitanyadeva, who is Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, all these things, Advaita. The whole structure is given by Svarūpa Dāmodara, and that is followed by all, Sanātana, Rūpa, then Kavirāja, Lokanātha, they have accepted that. Advaita was such and such, Mahā Viṣṇu, Nityānanda as Baladeva, Caitanya, Rādhā-Govinda-milita-tanu, Gadādhara, Rādhārāṇī emptied, the whole thing. The basic acquaintance of Caitanya līlā comes from Svarūpa Dāmodara. And the structure has been formed on that foundation: that is Svarūpa Dāmodara, everything in Gaura līlā.

And Lalitā in Kṛṣṇa līlā, who is the guardian, who thinks herself the only guardian of Rādhārāṇī. Even she does not care for Kṛṣṇa, her affection, blind affection towards Rādhārāṇī. Even sometimes she gives stricture to Kṛṣṇa. “You don’t know how You should treat my mistress, how great She is, how great affection She has got for You, You do not know that. You come to compete with Her? Who are You?” (Chuckle) In this way she chastises sometimes Kṛṣṇa Himself, such position she holds, and such great affection she bears for Rādhārāṇī, her guardian. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So it says here that Svarūpa Dāmodara, gaudiya vaisnava sampradaya ek matra mallik. [?] For this reason, you’ve explained. It’s very nice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśwambara priyaṅkara, śrī-svarūpa dāmodara.

[mahāprabhu śrī-caitanya, rādhā-kṛṣṇa nahe anya rūpānuga janera jīvana viśwambhara priyaṅkara

[“Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya is non different from Śrī Śrī Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa and is the very life of those Vaiṣṇavas who follow Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī. Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī, and Sanātana Goswāmī were the givers of great happiness to Viśvambhara (Śrī Caitanya).” [From Śrī Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura’s Śrī Guru-paramparā, 6] [From Songs Of The Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 90-3]

Then comes in the routines. Ya mitra rūpa sanātana eho gaurāṅga, svarūpera bhāṇḍāra. It is also, Śrī Gaurāṅga līlā, the store, that is in the store of Svarūpa Dāmodara. Teṅho thuilā raghunāthera kaṇṭhe. He extended something to the throat of Raghunātha. Tāhāṅ kichu ye śuniluṅ. “Whatever I have got, a few drops from my Guru Raghunātha, I am going to describe it, elaborate that here.” Kavirāja Goswāmī says. Gaurāṅga svarūpera bhāṇḍāra. “Gaurāṅga is in the store of Svarūpa, and from his bhāṇḍāra, the storehouse, he gave something to Raghunātha. And from Raghunātha, my Gurudeva, I got something, and now that, oh my beloved listeners, readers, I am going to contribute to you a part of that.” So svarūpera bhāṇḍāra. Svarūpa Goswāmī, he knows everything about Gaurāṅga, he is the master, the master Ācārya.

[caitanya-līlā-ratna-sāra, svarūpera bhāṇḍāra, teṅho thuilā raghunāthera kaṇṭhe tāhāṅ kichu ye śuniluṅ, tāhā ihāṅ vistāriluṅ, bhakta-gaṇe diluṅ ei bheṭe]

[“The pastimes of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu are the topmost of jewels. They have been kept in the storehouse of Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī, who has explained them to Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī, who has repeated them to me. Whatever little I have heard from Raghunātha dāsa Gosvāmī I have described in this book, which is presented to all devotees.]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.84]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja what was the, Rāma, Rāmānanda Rāya, Svarūpa Dāmodara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśākhā, sākhya-rasa, they are friends.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Says that the father of Rāmānanda Rāya, Bhavānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Son.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Father.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Father was Bhavānanda.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Paṭṭanāyaka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhavānanda Paṭṭanāyaka, kāyastha, Orriya kāyastha. Bhavānanda had five sons, the second perhaps is Rāmānanda, second or third, something like that. Vānīnātha he was, like a servant he attended Gaurāṅgadeva, in many ways he served, Vānīnātha. And Gopīnātha, he was a manager of a particular state of Pratāparudra. Gopīnātha, Rāmānanda, then that Vānīnātha and there are another two [Kalānidhi and Sudhānidhi]. Nitāi Gaura-Gadādhara.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what, if one compares the Caitanya-caritāmṛta with Caitanya-Bhāgavat, I had read in Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura's Vibrti that the Caitanya-Bhāgavat is like the first half.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First half, generally the Adi līlā the first half has been given by Caitanya-Bhāgavat elaborately, and the second half, he did not describe. That was mainly Purī centred, and he remained here, so he did not get much information, he did not like to interfere with that Śeṣa līlā. Only what short sketch he heard, he only gave, he only wrote about that. And his conception about Caitanyadeva and His līlā, of course he has given a statement very fluidly and very emotionally, but as regards the siddhānta, the ontological aspect of Śrī Caitanyadeva's teachings, it is not to be found very accurately there. But Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find the real siddhānta, the ontological aspect of Śrī Caitanyadeva, we find there. That is more valuable to us.

There is another book, Caitanya Maṅgala. That is also a little more sentimental. And sometimes going to help, so much so that, it was to help that Gaura Nāgarī vada. So he eliminated that portion.

And there is also Bhakti-ratnākara, which was written after two hundred years of Śrī Caitanyadeva. There also we find a tinge of Gaura Nāgarī vada. So we are not to follow that side there.

Gadādhara. Nitāi.

Very hot huh, in the morning sweating, body sweating.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there was one word here which Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura has used, he is describing Nityānanda Prabhu, it says, sesa kande nityananda maha malla raya.

So this malla?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Malla, wrestler.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Wrestler, achar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He does not care for anyone, a very desperate follower. He's roaming half mad here and there, and requesting people to take refuge under Śrī Caitanyadeva, to join the camp of Śrī Caitanya. Bhaja gaurāṅga, kaha gaurāṅga. And fearlessly, the smārta-panḍit they were very inimical to Him but He did not care. He showed that, "I have got infinite strength. I won't care for you, or a fig for you." Very boldly He used to wander through the length and breadth of Bengal, especially on two sides of Ganges defying the smārta-panḍit and the tantric. So mahā madhurai, He was just as a big wrestler does not care for anybody, fearlessly He roamed everywhere. So Nityānanda without caring, the great enemies of the smārta and tantric, the two sections influential in the society at the time. They were very much against Śrī Gaurāṅga, but Nityānanda cared fig for them. With fearless look He used to roam here and there and preaching, “Give up everything and come to join our camp. And don’t be afraid of the society, and those social leaders, you need not care a fig for them. I am here.” In this way, with such attitude He preached.

Mahāprabhu sent Him to Bengal. “Nityānanda You don’t remain in My company, Bengal is there. The worst place, I also failed, I also ran away from Bengal. But without You no one will be able to help the Bengalis, so You select that as Your zone.”

The most atheistic, the nyāyaics were there, nyāyaics means atheist, mostly atheist, the nyāyaics, and Navadvīpa was the capitol of the nyāyaics, of whole of India at that time. Nyāyaics as logicians, logicians, “Yes there may be a maker of this world, someone, some Īśvara, but what are we to do with him? [?] “When we find this world, must have, there must be one who has created this world, this much we can admit from logic, but nothing more. There is a creator, when the created thing we see, someone must have created. Then there may be a creator of this world. That much, no more we find from our logic.”

The nyāyaics they are a kind of atheist, intellectual atheist, and the tantric the oppositionist, direct oppositionist to Vaiṣṇavism. “The potency is everything, māyā is all, and your Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa, all created by, they all come from māyā’s womb, from the womb of māyā.” Māyā is everything; that is the tantric.

And the smārta, the karma-kāṇḍi: “The karma is everything. As we shall do, we shall reap the result. What devotion will have to do here? As you do, you will get the results accordingly. So don’t go hither thither, stick to your karma, duty. We have come to discharge duty, and strictly adhere to that duty. Wherever you have come you have got some duty, in relation with the paraphernalia, and go on discharging your duty, that is all. And if there be any God, he is bound to give you fruit according to your karma, so karma is everything.”

Isvara the karma phala prayojan [?] “He gives, he joins particular result to particular karma, that is His duty.”

Karmanga bhuta [?] “But you will be dealt according to your karma, so be attentive about your duty, nothing else, more concerned, your highest concern is with your karma. If you do good karma, Īśvara is bound to give you good result, if you do bad karma, he is bound to give you bad result. So he is a secondary position, karma is the primary thing.” This is smārta vāda.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: The Tantrics, they use agama what is their śāstra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes agama, that is Tantra śāstra, agama, Veda. That mainly comes from Śiva, the plane of renunciation. “If we secure power, acquire power, then who is my mother, she will be my wife, come under my control.” Bhama, ma bhama, Bhama means wife.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Bhama meaning which...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wife.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “When I shall become Śiva, by following the path of yoga and this tantra, I shall attain the position of Śiva. When I shall attain the position of Śiva, then the prakṛti, the māyā, will be my wife, my servitor, master of māyā, Śiva. When I shall attain liberation, then māyā will be subservient, her position will be subservient. Now I am fallen in a trap, in her trap she's interfering, handling with me like anything, like mother, I come from her.”

[From 31:10, Mostly Bengali (?) spoken, with a little English]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is nature of the healthy body, to be hungry, satisfaction is māyā, limited, connection with infinite means more and more, _____ [?]

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: _____ [?] I can't ask you to go away with your _____ [?]

You are a sādhū, boy minor, mother crying and family?) crying. I'm also much disturbed. And being a sādhū you say you won't ask me to go away, to come to us.” But this is your vision. But my vision is this, that a jīva is in the ocean, up and down with the waves, and going down gradually. And anyhow he has come to the shore. And again I shall push him into the ocean. We consider his eternal life. This time he has come to you, but he has his eternal chain of life, birth and death and only he can be saved. Back to God, back to home, he's coming home and I shall push him into the ocean of this death and birth. _____ [?] I can't be so cruel. Do you feel?

Devotee: Hmm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So who wants to come under the banner of Mahāprabhu but cannot put faith in the present Ācārya. We are not going to take away, to entice that are going to ISKCON. But that won't go to ISKCON but wants Kṛṣṇa consciousness and Mahāprabhu, we want to help those souls if possible, if necessary. He may come. How can we say, "No, no, we won't." That is the spirit. Kṛṣṇa is above. Mahāprabhu is above. Swāmī Mahārāja is also above. Let them judge. Whatever will come we shall have to do. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So yesterday in the second chapter of Caitanya-Bhāgavat there was one explanation about Lord Caitanya's older brother, Viśvarūpa. So I was wondering, Viśvarūpa is also taken as a non different form of Balarāma? How does that coincide with Nityānanda Prabhu? What was Their relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Balarāma means His function was not exactly so high as that of Nityānanda, so He was absorbed by Nityānanda, He entered into Nityānanda. Nityānanda's activity and importance in the service of Lord Gaurāṅga was great in magnitude, and Viśvarūpa's connection is less powerful. It may be of the type of Saṅkarṣaṇa. Nityānanda Prabhu and Balarāma of Vṛndāvana, Balarāma of Dvārakā, Balarāma of Vaikuṇṭha, the Saṅkarṣaṇa, different division, have got difference also as in the Personality of Kṛṣṇa. So that is of a little lower type and He entered into Nityānanda, finished His function.

Here also He had some connection with Bala Gopāla, not direct. That Kasi [?] vipra case, for the third time his arrangement was to cook and again to offer it to Bala Gopāla. But He did not have the chance of looking at these pastimes, arranged from distant. And then when the vipra offered to Bala Gopāla they were all very eager and busy to keep Gaura Gopāla in a confined room. But without their notice Gaura Gopāla came out and took the prasādam. And _____ vipra when he came, Gaura Gopāla showed him His position, that of Kṛṣṇa in Vraja, all these things, and he was benumbed with joy. That his īṣṭa-devata, the ideal of the Lord for which he is passing his days has come before him, and in this present vision and he found his mission is successful.

But Viśvarūpa's function was to connect, but He could not present Himself in that area, so little distantly He arranged this. We do not find He has got inclination, intense inclination towards Kṛṣṇa upāsanā, but we do not find any clear shape of that upāsanā, nor in the line of Śrī Caitanya Deva, as He inaugurated. Only He wanted that Nimāi may not stay at home and go on with household life, but He must come out and become a sannyāsī. In a dream He appeared before Nimāi and asked Him to follow Him in the path of sannyāsa. But not any positive instruction that, "You must engage Yourself in eternal bhajana or kīrtana of Kṛṣṇa." That we don't get from Him in a definite and positive way. For the negative side He is helping Him. So the lower phase of Nityānanda we may find in Him, in Viśvarūpa. Śacī Devī, She got a vision, in Nitāi She saw Viśvarūpa once, Viśvarūpa the elder brother of Nimāi.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So Viśvarūpa is Saṅkarṣaṇa but Nityānanda Prabhu was a little higher, holding higher position. Anga angsi, in this way, angani. Anga, Nityānanda angi and Viśvarūpa is anga.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Viśvarūpa stayed in the background, most of the time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, background, not in direct help in the direct līlā of Mahāprabhu.

Kṛṣṇa.

To help the spiritual, subservient, must be subservient to the spiritual ideal, socio-political. Of course we cannot avoid society and a sort of politics, but that must be subservient to the pure spiritual ideal. And it is difficult to stick to that principle throughout the life. We must be a bona fide student, otherwise we are influenced by the environment and enters into the socio-political life of the structure by personal or in the group. That is a danger. And the cause is pratiṣṭhā. That is the greatest enemy to a devotee. The greatest enemy of the devotee is pratiṣṭhā, self consideration, pratiṣṭhā, so ham vicāra, pratiṣṭhā. "I want to establish myself in a separate glory."

My glory is in my surrendering in the slavery of Kṛṣṇa, Guru, Kṛṣṇa. Surrendering in slavery, in promoting the negative aspect of my life, and never any positive. And who is established there, in the normal, negative feeling of his highest ideal, he can, on the behalf of his master, he can interfere with the positive activity of this world. But his head already one with his master. Only he can assert, he can chastise, he can control.

That is considered to be pralāpita vakra, that is madness in Gurudeva. That is not, Gurudeva says, "I am not normal here. When I am inspired by my Lord to control, to correct, to assume the subjective activity, I am abnormal. My normal identification is only in the service, cent percent. But when I am to take some pūjā from the disciple, to assert in a particular way, to chastise and to fight with the society, that is all abnormal function. That is not mine. That is only by inspiration. I cannot but do that, and that is not my action, power, from up." That is the idea, pralāpita vakra.

Mahāprabhu Himself said, “Sanātana, I am teaching you so many high things, but this is not Mine. They are only passing through Me I feel. What I say I am just like a delirium, what I say to you. But I can’t check, He’s passing, Kṛṣṇa is passing through Me. Apparently I am speaking, but in fact it is not so. What I say I don’t know. I’m talking deliriously.”

And our Prabhupāda also mentioned in a letter to our Kuñja Bābu [Bhakti Vilās Tīrtha Mahārāja], pralāpita vakra, when he is giving advice to Kuñja Bābu in a particular way, “I am pralāpita vakra,” to a disciple, to correct him, to chastise him, pralāpita vakra. “I am asserting myself. I can’t serve Kṛṣṇa. I can’t follow the advice of Mahāprabhu. I am burned wholesale inside.” That is the normal position, the negative position, crying, burning. “I can’t get service. I can’t do it to the point.” The burning desire for the service in connection of the infinite; such should be the attitude of a servitor. “I can’t do, I can’t. I am helpless. How I shall be able to do?”

The hankering in the background to do: but the unfitness on the surface. “I am unfit.” That will be the inner feeling of a true servitor of Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. “I want more, I want more.”

*na prema-gandho 'sti [darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam prakāśitum vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanam vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-
pataṅgakān vṛthā]*

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

“Not even a speck, a particle of prema in Me, a particle of divine love, not yet I have got.” The highest ideal is of such nature. “Not even a drop of that nectar of divine love I have in Me. And I am going mad. All is imitation. All these feats that I show as a player that I have got love for the divinity, this is all play, a false play.”

Gaura Haribol. That is the road we are to make progress for. On that road we are to walk.

No tinge of satisfaction, no possibility. Burning for, burning. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, once you were explaining the nature of bhakti. You said that bhakti is such that we can see it in others but we cannot detect bhakti in ourselves.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In two ways we can conceive. We can see that it is there in others, his activity, his nature, his practices, shows that he has bhakti, confidence in Kṛṣṇa. But I don't feel that in me. But he can see in others. That is one thing.

Another thing, in him from the negative side, whenever he's asked, "Why do you go on in the false chase? You're engaged in a false chase, wild goose chase. When you don't get, why do you go that way?"

Then he will be furious. "Don't talk with me, to leave this." Visaya kathā. What is not connected with the Lord, if any topics, he won't be able to tolerate that, "But say about Kṛṣṇa." If you talk about any other thing he can't tolerate. "No! I want to hear about Kṛṣṇa." That will be - in that way if you think that you have got no love for Kṛṣṇa then you hear all these things what is not Kṛṣṇa. "No, no." Then he'll be furious. "I won't You say about Kṛṣṇa." That is the point of measurement, something from the indirect side, indirect evidence. And direct you feel, "Oh, there is bhakti here, but only I failed to achieve."

habe krsna bhajan kore ei mātrā... [?]

He sees that everyone, they're obeying Kṛṣṇa. Only I am the rebel. As much as he approaches the mahā-bhāgavata-adhikāra so selfish that, "Everyone has got, I can't get." That sort of selfishness good in indirect way, "I can't." He wants more and more. So much is given to him but still, "I am earnestly in demand. I want. I can't live without more food." That is the nature, mahābhāva. "I can eat so much and you are giving only this, a point. How I can be satisfied?" But your hunger has got no limit.

Foodstuff is very small quantity. They are satisfied with a little morsel of food. They are thinking that, “Yes I have got enough.” But you want more and more, unquenchable thirst you have got. That is the peculiar thing of mahābhāva _____ [?]

Hungry, in the infinite, hungry, to eat everything. Eat means serving, we must not forget, that in the form of service. “I want to serve everything, the whole service it is my responsibility to offer, to actually do the whole service of Kṛṣṇa, otherwise I can’t live. The whole service must be given to me. If you want to allow myself to You I can’t.”

The ant and elephant, the difference must be observed between ant and elephant. If in elephant standard you give to ant standard food, if you distribute to the elephant, elephant will go on, he’ll be finished.

So Rādhārāṇī is elephant standard eater and all else almost ant standard eaters, so sevān, small. One lākh of elephant food, one lākh of ant may be fed by that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

But in the soil of infinite there is no question of any want. No want. As much as you can you take to be satisfied, your fullest thirst, or hunger, so to hanker more that is the qualification. No question of want there. So increase your hunger, thirst. Go on increasing hunger, thirst, go on increasing thirst to drink nectar. No question of want. Eka-bindu jagat ḍubāya [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19] “One drop is sufficient to quench the thirst of the whole world,” Mahāprabhu said. This is a partial acquaintance of the infinite, that the one drop is enough to satisfy the whole. And the most voracious eater is mahābhāva svarūpini.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Qualitative dependence?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Qualitative difference must be there also quantitative difference in Rādhārāṇī. The lower quality food and the less quantity may satisfy ant, but in the case of elephant not only quantity but quality should also be improved. The comparison of an elephant may not be of such type but in the case of the Vaiṣṇava world both quantity and quality. Higher hunger is not in quality but in quantity also, otherwise higher earnestness can't come, only not quantity but quality, quality. To maintain hunger of that standard, high standard not only quantity but quality is also necessary. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Just as if you want to have a big construction. Small construction may be earthen, or maybe wooden, but big structure if you are to construct then the quality of the stuff is necessary, some iron or other hard stuff is necessary to have a big construction. The earthen construction may break down, wooden construction may stay for some time. In this way, the greater, the higher, both quality and quantity, otherwise it cannot be, durability will be challenged.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja that taste is according to sukṛti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, sukṛti. Normally the sukṛti begins, but in the way it may be changed, modified. In sādhū-saṅga, Bilvamaṅgala started with some sukṛti. That in the beginning was not very good quality. But on his way he came across the greater ideal when he was on the way, walking, it came.

So law is there and also sweet will is also there, not only of the Supreme but also of His servitors. They're free. It is difficult to chalk out any final line of action when so many free agents are concerned about that. Otherwise their freedom will be checked.

So it is difficult like in a mathematical way to calculate that this rocket must reach the moon; in such a way by calculation. But when hampered we are to detect another planet in particular sight. Oh, attraction for that, there was a fault in our calculation. Another body is attracting so the paths were not straight. By method of residue they are to find out another planet. It must go this side. The attraction, this that, calculation must go, chalked out the way, in this way. But when we see that it is not gone in that way then another body is attracting, interacting in the way.

So also there are so many sādhus, they have got their independent will. They come across and from there they, the passenger may get some more help. The quality may be improved. So the material final calculation is not possible in the case of the spiritual independent world where so many good spirit wills are travelling, wandering hither, thither also and their motive is to help the passengers always, Kṛṣṇa travellers.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja you often describe that the diseased condition is when one considers he has already attained the object; this is a diseased condition. One's hunger has already been fulfilled. So you said that is the unhealthy position. Just like this man came, he said, "I am paramānanda." And you were saying that this is a diseased condition, to think you are filled up, satisfied.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Satisfied, not in want. Who came here? "I am paramānanda. I am fulfilled." Oh, this Batchi, "I am in full ecstasy." That is a diseased condition. "I am hungry." That is rather a healthy sign, a sign of health.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Bhāgavatam there is that one verse:

vayaṁ tu na vitṛpyāma, uttama-śloka-vikrame

[yac-chṛṇvatāṁ rasa-jñānāṁ, svādu svādu pade pade]

[“We never tire of hearing the transcendental pastimes of the Personality of Godhead, who is glorified by hymns and prayers. Those who have developed a taste for transcendental relationships with Him relish hearing of His pastimes at every moment.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.19]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. vayaṁ tu na vitṛpyāma, uttama-śloka-vikrame. No end of satisfaction. Not that we are disgusted, vitṛpyāma does not mean that we are disgusted with all these topics, but our thirst increasing more and more, as much as we hear about these things, thirst increasing. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So without sādhū-saṅga we could not get that taste. They say svādu svādu pade pade, but we could not get...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svādu svādu pade pade, as much we taste so much we hanker and again supply again the new taste, new taste, prati-padaṁ pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanaṁ, [Śikṣāṣṭakam 1], ever new, not stale. Svādu svādu pade pade. At every point we are having a new satisfaction; a satisfaction of new type.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Without sādhū-saṅga we cannot get that? It's not possible.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādhū-saṅga, grantha-saṅga, sometimes within when discussing about the śloka or any word of sādhū within also maybe evolved. Sādhū-saṅga, not only externally but internally also we can have sādhū-saṅga, or caitya Guru as you may say, sādhū-saṅga may be internal. I am saying of a sādhū, I am thinking, a new light may, one may permit. And then śāstra also, I'm thinking about the meaning, new revelation may come.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, once you described that caitya Guru, he is the impression which the spiritual master has left within ones heart.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be the guide. My Gurudeva said so. I could not understand that, but by recapitulating within me, now unfolding new light, caitya Guru. The Guru when I am associating him in my mind, internally. Caitya Guru - Guru that is within me. When I am having association of my Guru, a thought of relativity. This is so then it must be so and so. In this way out of the law of relativity many things will come from within. In our inner nature also we pray to Gurudeva and he also may send new light to me. The śāstra also can do so.

Citasta, that is within. Cit means pure consciousness. From there it comes, not through eye, not through ear. Without the help of the external senses, from within, from higher self, it may come down to me, verify the further advices of our Gurudeva when he delivered it to you, in book or his talk. In this way so many things we realise. So many new things we may realise in the line. But we must be cautious also that it may not spring from any mundane desire.

bhukti-mukti-sprhā [yāvat, piśācī hṛdi varttate tāvad bhakti-sukhasyātra, katham abhyudayo bhavet]

["How can the joy of holy devotion appear in the heart as long as it is haunted by the ghosts of desire for exploitation and renunciation?"]
[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 2.22]

Neither from exploitation, nor from renunciation stage, it must be serving plane. And that also not conditional serving, not very worshipful and awe inspired service of Vaikuṇṭha, but spontaneous, automatic, for love, for sacrifice, not for any gain in return. All the stress must be put there. Which I got from my Gurudeva and śāstra that test must be there. It may spring from my lower nature, how to differentiate from them. So sometimes I may put to our confidential associates, "I got this sort of insinuation, revelation from within. It is revelation or it is some old remnant of any sleeping desire? What do you say my friend?" We can test it, if there is any doubt there, any suspicion, any hesitation, you may put to test to those whom we rely on, so sādhū-saṅga. Bodhayantaḥ parasparam.

mac-cittā mad-gata prāṇā, bodhayantaḥ parasparam

[kathayantaś ca māṁ nityam, tuṣyanti ca ramanti ca]

["My devotees mix together, talk about Me, and exchange thoughts that give consolation to their hearts. And they live as if this talk about Me is their food. It gives them a high kind of pleasure, and they find that when they talk about Me among themselves, they feel as if they are enjoying My presence."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.9]

They'll say what is dadāti, guhyam ākhyāti prcchati.

[*dadāti pratigrhṇāti guhyam ākhyāti pṛcchati bhuñkte bhojayate caiva
ṣaḍ-vidham prīti lakṣaṇam*]

[“Offering gifts in charity; accepting gifts in charity; revealing one's mind in confidence; enquiring confidentially; accepting prasāda; and offering prasāda are the six symptoms of love shared by one devotee and another.”] [Upadeśāmṛta, 4]

By that it will be consolidated, purified, and the journey will be a safe one.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So then you said when the quality increases then the quantity will decrease.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Decreases, quality increases, bodhayantaḥ parasparam, same cycle will be limited and more limited, the quantity will decrease. And the scripture also, not ordinary, higher scripture only can help you in that stage, and a few friends only can help you in that stage. So quantity decreases in this way.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Have you taken anything, pāraṇa?

Devotee: Little.

Devotee: I was reading in Bhagavad-gītā the karma of the living entity has no beginning, so how something that is temporary, is not eternal, can be without beginning?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Karma has got its beginning but that does not come within the jurisdiction of the world of limitation. Because when jīvātmā by the exercise of his free will out of curiosity he first enters into this māyāik land, from then he came as a factor of this limited world. So his participation is beyond the beginning of this limited world. So it is said, anādi. Anādi means it does not come within the jurisdiction of this limited world, thought of limitation. First participation then entrance into the world of consideration... ..form of thought. First participation and then come within the calculation. Calculation is not possible in the eternal world, in our way. So he came within the jurisdiction of our calculation after participation. So it is, beginning is before, anādi, before this finite relativity, the conclusion of this mundane sphere. The eternal thing is entering into a final area. So anādi means it could be traced previous, previous history unknown in this mundane world.

An American enters into India, and the CID is keeping his history, directions, and his report to the government. From his entrance when he landed here from that we can give his history, but he may have his history beyond entrance into India, in America. That is unknown. Something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you say, “In this world,” you mean in this janma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this janma?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, in this lifetime.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The history may begun _____ in Bengal, and in Punjab can be traced, but in Russia it may not be traced, something like that. This janma, the sūkṣma-deha that is within the book of Yāmarāja it may be found. In his previous life he was there, there in this way, under jurisdiction, this life of flesh and bone, and this mental body, from one body passing into another body. That is within the record of the provincial secretariat. That is also mundane, but subtle and gross, and different grosses. The birth number one, birth number two, three, four, but that is within the jurisdiction of the material agents, inspectors. And only the soul, the eternal soul which has entered here and getting so many dresses, before entrance into the jurisdiction of India, what was his nature of life or activity that is unknown. So that is anādi, his entrance is...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...Comet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Comet. Coming within the vision of the scientist, their telescope, and again passing away? So only looker acquaintance we may have with anything and everything.

bahūni me vyatītāni, janmāni tava cārjuna / tāny ahaṁ veda sarvāṇi, na tvam vettha parantapa

[“O Arjuna, chastiser of the enemy, both you and I have passed through many births previously. Due to My position as the supreme controller, I am able to remember all those births, whereas you, a living being of finite consciousness, cannot.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.5]

“I know everything, but you do not know Arjuna. I know everything. I’m everywhere. I know everything. But it is not possible for you to come to My level and to know anything and everything. Bahūni me vyatītāni, janmāni tava cārjuna, tāny ahaṁ veda sarvāṇi. I know everything always. Na tvaṁ vettha parantapa. You may think that you can control so many enemies, but still you are not above limitation. You don’t know everything.”

Nitāi. Nitāi.

“Infinite is in My own part. I transcend infinite. That is My position, I can transcend infinite.”

[athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjjuna] viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam ekāṁśena sthito jagat

[“But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā-Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

“No limit can be imagined in My concern, or consideration, so don’t, so namanta eva, jīvanti.”

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, [jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavadīya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vāñ-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

“The enquiry must be stopped and only submission, submissiveness that will help you most. You have been given your quota, your sphere. You utilise your energy there only. That will be the best production you will have. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva. You surmise towards infinite good as I transmit to you about the outside knowledge. Submit; accept that and go on with your duty in your own sphere. You will have maximum benefit there, only if you confine within your limit. And placing confidence in Me or in My saying, My statement. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā, hatefully give up to measure anything and everything, to swallow everything to put in your own belly. It is impossible. Why you will fight with your own shadow? Loss of energy! Give up that impossible attempt. Submit, put faith and go on with your duty. And then you will come in contact, you'll be calm and you'll feel My presence. And that will satisfy you enough. Namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavadīya-vārtām. Through the agent of Mine, try to be in My connection and that will be the maximum attainment to yourself.”

Don't forget that you are limited, and there may not be many unlimited. Unlimited is one. All limited, but their progress according to their submission, is faith, śraddhā. Not by their audacious attempt to know anything and everything. In a particular sphere that may work in the material sphere. But in the sphere of soul, Oversoul, Supersoul they are left, they cannot enter, they cannot enter even, cannot conceive even of such fine planes where so many wonderful things are existing. Impossible for them to guess, to imagine even, in the subjective, in the higher plane, plane superseding reason, there are so many wonderful things.

Through the eye experience, ear experience, nose experience, and tongue experience, touch experience, in this jurisdiction you will plod, in the clay, in the mud. You may make any progress you like there. But if you keep in your heart the existence of the higher types of world, region, subjective, super-subjective, super-super-subjective; this method won't be of any action there, can't even imagine. Only through submission you may get touch. That is the way, when, yam evaiṣa vṛnute:

[nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

[Kathopaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

When the higher existence will call for you, you will enter, dancing. Dancing you will enter the call, when come for you, from that sphere. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas. You won't be able to know how can you go there, how can you climb up there. Or the whole sphere, the whole court come to you, to your house. Or, you are crossing so many barriers of foolish protection, all these things and you are passing there. You won't be able to conceive even, if call comes from higher region. Your connection with them will be so easy, that no difficulty. And that can be done only through faith. So many qualities have been given in ordinary soul and the faith is the most qualified for the higher form of capacity, or vṛtti.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Medium?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The faith is the highest endowment in you through which we can come there in the connection of the finer and finer type of _____ [?] By mental speculation, or by engaging your reason, your reason only drawn from these material experience, what more, if pressed, what more you can produce. But only faith, you are very much afraid that faith may be blind. But in the infinite it is impossible to have any blind faith. You may not even conjecture even a point of that. So many things may exist there. So don't think that your faith will misguide you. And faith does not mean that ordinary credulity. Faith has got also its qualification, its definition. To accept, to understand, to feel, that there is one by whose connection everything can be connected. It comes to have a conception of a central truth of the highest controller, that sort of faith. There is not only plural, but there is one and many. Not only many, but there is one also, that sort of faith, a general thing. Innumerable absolutes cannot exist. Absolute must be one. And He must harmonise all this polarity and diversity. So to be conscious about the one, of oneness, and that must be central, that must be the highest, it is automatically everything. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Sraddha mayam loka. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati, yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati [“By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained.”] [Upaniṣads] Then: asato mā sad gamayo tāmaso mā, jyoti gamayo mṛtyor mā amṛta gamayo.

[“I am mortal, make me eternal. I am ignorant, filled with nescience, take me to science, knowledge. And I am threatened with misery, guide me towards bliss.”]

[Bṛhad Āraṇyaka Upaniṣad, 1st Adhyaya, 3rd Brāhmaṇa, 23rd mantra]

This should be the central point of our search, not disorganised anomaly, or aimless search, to go towards centre, centre. I am a part, I have got my connection with the whole. And what is that connection? I want to know for my own interest. Otherwise I am self forgetful, self negligent. I shall be of suicidal type existence, I shall have to admit. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: The absolute within the relative truth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The absolute must have some connection with the relative. Absolute and relative, relative not outside absolute, is it not?

Devotee: It's part of the absolute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When you say that it is absolute then anything and everything must have got connection with the absolute. So a connection is there. Absolute covers everything, nothing outside absolute. So some connection is there. Partial representation it may be called so, for the Absolute, āṁśa, svāṁśa, vibhinnāṁśa, in this way svāṁśa, vibhinnāṁśa the shadow of the Absolute. Svāṁśa the Avatāra of the Absolute, vibhinnāṁśa jīva and the reflection is the world of the Absolute. In this way it has been continued. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: How can we relate to the Absolute?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our relation through His agent, through the agent of the Absolute we can only have connection with Him.

Once I went for preaching in Karachi. One Ārya Samāj leader came to me and told: “If finite can know infinite, then He’s no infinite.”

I also answered, “If Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite, He’s no infinite.” He got a handshake.

So that is our direction. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas. We cannot approach, but He can come down. We cannot go up but He can come down and take me up. That is the principle underlying the path of devotion. The main idea is that. He loves me, He may take me in that domain but I can’t go independent of Him. That is the idea. Maintain always that goal. Everything within His hand, but He says that He’s my guardian, He’s my friend.

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca [na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

And then:

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, [jñātvā mām śāntim ṛcchati]

["I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipping Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

"I am friendly to everyone, to anyone and everyone I am friendly relation so don't apprehend your harm from My side. You can have faith in Me." That is His general direction. "I am not your enemy, nor your antagonistic, nor your evil wisher, but your well wisher. You take it, then you will find peace."

Wherever you'll be, my guardian is represented in the highest quarter of the administration. He'll look after my interest so I have got no trouble in my life. He's there. Everything in Him and He's my friend. So I shall not have fear for anything wrong about me, I can go on cheerfully discharging my duties.

yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānām, yena sarvam idaṁ tatam svakarmaṇā tam abhyarcya, siddhiṁ vindati mānavaḥ

[“A man achieves perfection by the performance of the appropriate duties prescribed for him according to his qualification. By the execution of his duties, he worships the Supreme Lord from whom the generation and impetus of all beings arises, and who permeates and pervades this entire universe (exercising His Supreme qualification of Lordship over one and all).”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.46]

And by gradual process I will make progress towards the right, towards the truth. Then one day I feel within me sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. I am very eager to meet Him. He’s so near, He’s so great, He’s so loving. I can’t wait but to be united.

“Give up all your duties and surrender towards Me and I am everywhere. I shall trace that sort of mentality in you. I’ll come down for your help or send some agent to take you up towards Me.”

That is His attitude and declaration. Gaura Haribol. [?] I feel tired. Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja and aprakṛta. Knowledge of experience, sense experience of one’s own and the knowledge not by experience, not by own but by other's senses, parokṣa. Knowledge recorded from the experience of others than the person who is concerned, parokṣa-jñāna. There was war, the atomic energy, all these things, by, through newspaper we come to understand many things, which is not our direct sense experience, but the sense experience of others than ourselves, second class. Third class, aparokṣa anu buddhi, just as in sound sleep. Almost no experience but still a sort of experience is there. When one comes down from that stage he says that, "I slept very happily." Sukha moha satsam, in Upaniṣad. "I slept happily," so a sort of experience gathered from that region, aparokṣa anu buddhi.

The yogī and the jñānī when they enter into samādhi they also have similar experience, vague, non differentiated, un ascertainable, a sort of experience very, very vague, but still that is a sort of experience. It has been recorded in the Upaniṣads. Aparokṣa anu buddhi. Neither the product of one's own sense experience, nor the product of any other sense experience; independent of sense experience.

Śaṅkara School says that, "Here is the limit of knowledge. Not beyond that."

But Rāmānujācārya says that, "No, there is the fourth, the turiya, the knowledge of the fourth plane is possible, adhokṣaja realm, by the realm super subjective. We cannot be a subject in that plane. But when the subject has got some experience on me I can feel that the higher type of knowledge has descended in me, in my conscious area, and I can feel some strength, strange feeling, which cannot be experienced in this world. A new type of knowledge we come in connection with. When that withdraws, the final subjective experience, that is withdrawn, we are nowhere, can't help. That is adhokṣaja, Vaikuṇṭha jñāna. That can descend in our area of knowledge, and that can withdraw out of its own accord. So we cannot but admit possibility of such knowledge, that is transcendental knowledge. Transcendental means not non differentiated always. It is knowledge of differentiated character. But it supersedes all our efforts. According to its sweet will it comes down to the knowledge of our area and withdraws. Very subtle, very fine, very independent in its nature: but still it is there. It is a part of the truth, we can't deny that. So that is adhokṣaja."

And Śrī Caitanyadeva from Bhāgavatam says there is a fifth class, fifth plane that is aprakṛta. This adhokṣaja, this character is grand and wonderful, not similar to knowledge of this world of our experience. It has got a peculiar, dignified position, master of the movement, and showing many astonishing symptoms, and independent symptoms of its own. But aprakṛta is very similar to this mundane, but still above that, the fourth dimension, Vaikuṇṭha, Paravyoma, the power, show, grandeur, awe, reverence, such dignified movement is not there. But very similar to this mundane knowledge, but that is the supreme most quarter.

avajānanti māṁ mūḍhā, mānuṣīṁ tanum āśritam paraṁ bhāvam
ajānanto, mama bhūta-maheśvaram

["Unable to comprehend My super-excellent divine form of human features, ignorant men blaspheme Me - the Supreme Lord of all beings - by considering Me a mere human being."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.11]

Aprakṛta: that is found in Vṛndāvana, humanly. The līlā of the Lord.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

["Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

And the human section has been created only after that ideal. That is the highest quarter, very simple and very plain, and no dignity, awe, reverence, power showing, all these things, command. That is the highest position of the world. From that position the whole movement is commanded. That is love and beauty, no grandeur, no awe, reverence, no forcing rules, regulations, all these things. Very similar to this human life, aprakṛta, and the process to attain that, that is also very simple. Only attachment, only greed for that, only want within us for that, hankering, earnestness, that is necessary only to have that position.

Lohita janme pai uttisya jahi pai [?]

Only genuine search and genuine earnestness, that you want that, only qualification. That is śraddhā. So it is very difficult on one side to put our faith that that is the highest position, jñāna-sunya-bhakti. No grandeur of the constructive world, nor subtle vanity for the renunciationists. But very plain, homely: only living ordinary life of ordinary style. Only the viewpoint is just the opposite, is changed, rather the opposite. Sense centred and that is centre centred, God centred. Interest is different. Central interest and extremity interest, that is the difference, the opposite, everything always very plain, simple thing, so: kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa.

To understand this, to have real attraction for this, it is very rarely we can have faith in such things. Awe, reverence, grandeur, power, it is easy to put our faith there. But ordinary simple things, to put faith there it is difficult, aprakṛta, kevala. Kevala means non differentiated, differentiation and non differentiation, kevala. That knowledge is so spacious that everything is harmonised there. That can, that understanding will work at every corner, everywhere. Just as gold may have its value in every country, every province: something like that. In all detail, even stealing, and fighting, snatching, all these things are also harmonised with the highest purity everything can be... Not only selflessness is there. It is a play, it is a show. The selfish object is not present there on one side, on the positive, the God, the absolute interest is to be traced everywhere. Only that is the difference.

So dirt is not in the form, but all filth, filthiness is in the spirit, in the object. The form is not to be blamed. The form of our movement is not to be blamed. Only the object is to be blamed. The object is pure, is all pervading nature, then the form also must, cannot but be pure. Stealing is bad because one party is becoming loser and another party gainer, apparently, so it is bad. But if stealing is for the interest of the whole, then the poison is removed. So, every action, good or bad in our consideration, in the standard of our present calculation, that is eliminated. Whatever is done if that is for the benefit of the whole, and if possibly more than that, then all the activities are stainless, no poison there. No suffering, no reaction. But still the whole detailed characteristic of every movement is maintained, aprakṛta.

So Kṛṣṇa He's stealing, He's doing so many things which would be apparently objectionable to the social law, to the interest of that. But that is only not bad but that is the greatest thing for all, to understand that. That is Vraja līlā, Kṛṣṇa līlā, to enter into Vraja līlā, to be accommodated with this sort of knowledge and spirit and habits and aspiration. If we can adjust with that, then we are fit to have entrance into Vraja līlā. Otherwise laboured imitation, that will bring its reaction, a reaction, aparādhā.

laukiki vaidiki vapi yakriya kriyate mune / hari-sevanukulaiva sa karya

[O great sage! One who aspires for devotional service should perform all activities, whether Vedic or mundane, in a way that is favourable for the service of Lord Hari.]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Purva-vibhaga, 2.200, from Nārada-pañcarātra]

It does not matter what type of work I am doing. Every work may be for the service of the Lord. Everything may be utilised, only the standpoint of such heart. Our centre going feeling is what is necessary, through śraddhā, faith. [?] To throw one's own self into that sort of wave of knowledge, Vraja līlā. Sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. We are very busy with rules and regulations and generally that is calculated on the limited consciousness, limited experience of good and bad, of some extended area. The laws and the rules they're product of our local experience, a little less or a little extended, mainly, but not Absolute.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Laukiki vaidiki vapi. By form calculation, it may be a śāstric activity as arcanam, vandanam, all these things. Or laukiki, to deal with another person to purchase a thing and so many troubles on the way may come, some quarrel with rickshaw wallah, and quarrel with the seller. Everything may be recorded in the jurisdiction of devotion, everything. It has been said, the mahā-bhāgavata he's passing urine, passing stools, that is also bhajan within. That is also not waste of time. It is possible. It is possible, the wholly harmonized person whatever he does that has got relation to his bhajan. Taking food, why? To make him fit for service. And going regularly to the latrine, that will also be helping, have contribution to the health. That will be utilised in the service cent per cent. In this way, everything, no loss of time, no loss of energy, cent per cent on His account. It may be possible. Not to reject a portion and dedicate another portion to the God and some kept for him or others, not that. Wholesale conversion: cent per cent time utilised in service, laukiki vaidiki vapi yakriya kriyate mune.

Then he's no longer in bondage. “All the efforts of him meant only to satisfy Him.” Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you said on the spiritual plane that jñāna plays a more as in the background, jñāna. There is no calculation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jñāna means automatic, sambandha jñāna. A child when he's dealing with his father or mother, he always does not bring the knowledge that she's my mother because she's feeding me, I came from her womb, all these calculations are not present. It is in the background. And as the result of that background he's treating with his mother in a particular way. And the brother another way, father another way, the sambandha jñāna. Not to calculate that movement, it is already adjusted in such a way, the result of adjustment, the knowledge is in the background. And actuated by knowledge he's dealings are being conducted. Sambandha jñāna, jñāna, not every movement that he's calculating. That is left in the background, and his position is rather in the intuitive position. Just as the digesting, we are not conscious of the stomach affairs, how it appears, the heart affairs, they're going on with their work that is in the background. And in the forefront so many other things are to be thought and done. So sambandha jñāna, what is what, and accordingly the function between them will work automatically.

Automatic knowledge will back the activity, the movement, spontaneous.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Yaśodā, she is seeing her child, small, so many ṛṣis and gods, demigods, she's seeing, looking with great veneration, greater veneration, and asking many things from them so that her child may not be endangered in any form, in this way. But the centre of her affection, the whole affection is concentrated to the child, and that is the valuable thing. Not that the respect is going, given to Śiva, to so many ascetics, "Give some grace so that my child may go on, may live long, may have good health." So there are so many gods, so many sādhus, she collects benediction from them for the good of her child. But that misconception that they're bigger than my child, they're holding bigger position than my child...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...is intense, most intense here. Everything, all her movements are controlled by that feeling, the centre of interest, centre of interest. Centre of interest that is the highest thing to her. So what is our centre of interest, that should be changed; centre of real interest. Or to give position to this, that, one, two, ABCD, that is very trifling thing. Interest, heart's quench, heart's thirst to be quenched, the thirst of the heart, where located. That is all important. We may give respect to so many outsiders. That has not got much value.

Sonhood of Godhead, Sonhood of Godhead, so also consorhood of Godhead, that is rather our centre, the consorhood of Godhead. We're closest, we're nearest, and we get most in the consorhood of Godhead. Less than that, Sonhood of Godhead. Consorhood not husbandhood. Husbandhood in Dvārakā, and consorhood may be rather used for Vṛndāvana, consort, parakīya also included in consorhood. And husbandhood in Dvārakā. And Sonhood in Mathurā, but that is also having parakīya touch.

“Some say the Gopāla is not my child. I don't like it. I know fully well that He's my child. There are so many, there's a rumour, 'No, no. Devakī's child is He.' And they're my enemy. I can't tolerate them. The Garga Ṛṣi came, as sent by Vasudeva, to make, to give name to my child, and the words he said something I don't know. A rumour has been spread that Vasudeva sent his child here. What are all these things? I don't like. Why do these people, they're very envious of my position, they can't tolerate that I've got such a beautiful child, so all these rumours and speculations are roaming about the environment.”

This sort of parakīya, not with apprehension that, “He may not be mine.” That draws the affection more intensely, parakīya.

And in sākhyā also in Vṛndāvana, “Some say that Balarāma and Kṛṣṇa, They have connection with Mathurā. They may not stay with us. How shall we pass our days if Kṛṣṇa Balarāma They may not remain with us? I shudder for the scene. No, no, that we don't admit. They're our friends.” Climbing on the shoulders and sometimes giving a slap and getting slap. So closely connected how can they?

Kṣatriya Mathurā, what to speak of God, etc. Though they see that Govardhana was carried over and supported by His finger, sometimes they tend to say, “The Hill You did not keep up alone, carry alone. We also supported so it was possible for You to keep that Hill up. You alone could not bear the, bear so much burden, so much weight. We also helped.” In this way.

And what is false, what is real? We must say that this is the highest form of reality. How? How? That this is the centre, this is the highest plain of truth, this parakīya, and not that svakīya. Only through mantram, or only a particular form, that cannot make anything of one’s own. The highest degree of affection, that should be the real criterion to judge who is who’s. Who is who’s nearest friend, that is to be judged by the degree of the intensity of the attraction between _____ [?] and not by any form. The law of gravitation, the law of attraction, that should be the highest consideration if we go to explain the nature of cosmos. The cohesion, integrity, solidarity, the attraction, that should be given the most importance in our calculation, all others subsidiary. Gaura Haribol.

Whom I love, he’s my own. Whether formally I get him or not does not matter. That is the nature of Vaikuṇṭha dealings, infinite relationship. In the infinite that should be the measurement of our closeness or nearness or farness, distance, whom I love best, whom I have got affection for most intensely. That should be the criterion of our judgement. Who is who, near or distant?

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And the transaction between them will also be only through their affection. By a form I may be near to England, to America, but a village one mile off that may be far to me, distant. I get the form through relationship with something else I immediately can connect with the distant place, that is near to me. And the village, a man, I shall have to arrange a rickshaw, and two hours time it will take, that will be far. So the affection, that is, that makes us near. In that plane we are nearer. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, that’s a very high platform, advanced. Very advanced platform you’re describing. You’re describing a very advanced platform.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Advanced, philosophy.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So what is, when we're praying to Kṛṣṇa in that way, where is the spiritual master? What is his position? We're praying through him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Through – actually it is in a general way, but when we shall come to particular things then of course here Kṛṣṇa means Kṛṣṇa's group, whole system. Then when it will come in details to our personal question for a man of our stage, or workers for the unit of our stage: then the mediator. Direct approach and connection is not possible, so only through mediator we can get Him nearer. Otherwise we cannot feel Kṛṣṇa, what is Kṛṣṇa.

Kṛṣṇa in His group, the mādhyura-rasa He has got His paraphernalia, otherwise Kṛṣṇa is nowhere. Kṛṣṇa is seen always in a relative position, either in the friendly circle, or in the consortherhood, or in the filial affection. Kṛṣṇa means, presupposes His own group, for us. We cannot have any direct connection with Him. In sākhyā-rasa also the Śrīdam, Sudam, so many must be there. Then the rasa is playing there and we can taste there. In vātsalya-rasa Nanda, Yaśodā, the first group, and the transaction is there and we can feel. We have got secondary position. In mādhyura-rasa also, in all the rasas, the group, the first group always there eternally, otherwise not a full play of His pastimes is to be found. It presupposes in particular rasa He's, it presupposes that so many others to make that rasa, that līlā possible, is already there within Him. That is also calculated within Him in different rasas.

And we are onlookers and we are order carriers of them, in this way we can. Our approach must be always through some. And Kṛṣṇa in every rasa that is in His own group, not alone, never alone. So if we want to have alone then we shall have to see Him as a master, far away, not easily approachable. It is not approachable by us independently, always through Guru on different times.

And sometimes also it will be better to get a hierarchy of Guru, according to our position it will be best for us. So it has been said rūpānuga-sampradāya, the Rūpa, Lalitā, Rādhārāṇī, and then Kṛṣṇa. In vātsalya, in all the rasas, something like that. Our interest will be best dealt when we, according to our position we shall approach in a proper channel to a particular post, not exerting. Sometimes of course we may have to connect with the first agent, but there is a hierarchy of agency and generally second or third position we shall connect, then our interest will be best represented, so rūpānuga. And in other rasas also something like that.

The eternal agent is there and to see we shall select some other by whose recommendation we can go to the first agent of a particular rasa. So our Guru, our immediate agent will be our Gurudeva who has been sent to recruit us. There we must go and gradually we'll be able to see that what I saw in him first he's not confined there, but according to my development I shall see that Guru is also developing, developing to me, or rather, I am getting more improved position so that to find his higher self.

My eyesight that was under cataract and the eyesight is improving and I'm seeing the doctor more as he is. And when my eyesight was not very clear, vaguely I used to see him. So also with Guru, first I thought rather just as a student he sees his teacher in the beginning very small acquaintance, and as much as he gets more education he can understand how much education his teacher has got, he can appreciate, in this way. According to our internal development we'll be able to see the higher and higher position and aspect of Gurudeva. In different births also it may continue. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So rūpānuga-bhajan, ours is rūpānuga. Narottama Ṭhākura he says: "When my Gurudeva Lokanātha Goswāmī he'll be propitiated with me and take me by my hand, take me to Rūpa Goswāmī, 'that please give some engagement to this girl,' Rūpa Prabhu, to Rūpa Mañjarī. When my Guru will hand me over to Rūpa Prabhu, ‘please give engagement to this servitor,’ when he’ll take me there?”

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. So śraddhā, faith: automatic attraction.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you said once that one should not limit the Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing is limited. Ha, ha, ha, ha. Nothing is limited. The part of infinite is all infinite. Limitation is māyā. Sand has got no limit, a particle of sand, analyse, analyse, analyse, atom, electron, proton, neutron, again go on analysing, no end. So to see limited that is in illusion. So see everything as infinite, so everything is greater than you. Ha, ha. Or everything representing infinite. The part of infinite is infinite. So don’t go to analyse in the way of knowledge, then no end of enquiry, be asāadhan vṛtti.

The function of taste will have no chance in any time. You’ll go on enquiring and enquiry will go to infinite, so the taste function that won’t get any chance. So give up enquiring habit and begin your tasting sense. Through faith, engage yourself in your tasting, department of taste, ānandam, not much of cit, sat-cit, not much of consciousness, but consciousness, what consciousness wants to show. Consciousness wants happiness. Wherever there is feeling that is hankering for happiness, pleasure, ecstasy. So try to have connection with ecstasy as soon as possible. Don’t lose your time, much time with consciousness. Sat-cit-ānandam, hlādinī. Try to approach as much as possible direct to hlādinī. Then sat-cit in the existence and the consciousness of the existence they will waste your time [?]

You go to study the nature of fossil, the fossil will keep you engaged life after life. You won't be able to come out of the fossil fashion, fossil idea; mania, so give up fossil. Come to consciousness, spirit, and if you go to make research in the spirit only that will take you lives together, no end of searching. So you will have no time to utilise, to come in association direct with happiness, that is the hlādinī, ānandam, or beauty, or hlādinī. So as much as possible

_____ [?] Try to have closer connection with the third, satyam, śivam, sundaram, the very central existence, the central substance of the whole existence, the very gist that is sukham, ānandam. And then surrounding it there is conscious, cit, and surrounding it there is solid existence, something. Enter into that as soon as possible, directly, keep direct towards that through śraddhā, through faith. Approach as quickly as possible towards the centre, satyam, śivam, sundaram. Sat-cit-ānandam. Willing, thinking, and feeling, through feeling we get ānandam. Ānandam is the raso 'py asya, raso vai saḥ.

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ

[Prahāda Mahārāja says: "Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or Guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

Those unfortunate sections they do not diagnose their own heart, that it is hankering for happiness, maximum happiness, and where it is located. They make much of the cover of things than the substance within the cover. They’re very unfortunate people, Prahlāda Mahārāja says. Ye bahir-ārtha-māninaḥ, makes much of the over cover. But what is within most valuable, go and search, connect with that. That is very difficult here, the apparent side attracts us and we don’t find any leisure to go leaving and find the higher substance, real substance. That is the difficulty in this world, making much of the coating, the dress, the garment, and not within [?] reality [?] Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the quotation you often use, satyam, śivam, sundaram, who has given that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Upaniṣad, I forget in what Upaniṣad it is, but it is a famous expression in Upaniṣad, satyam, śivam, sundaram: and sat-cit-ānandam. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ānandam, sundaram, and prema, the love, beauty and ecstasy all similar thing, same almost: third plane in the general calculation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Charm, real charm is there.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de [Vasudeva Ghose]

If Śrī Caitanyadeva did not appear, then what would be about our fate? We could not know the real purpose, the real gist of it. There is Rādhārāṇī, there is Vṛndāvana, Vraja, Kṛṣṇa. Then how could we live if once connected then how could we live if we did not have connection with these happiest things? And that Śrī Caitanyadeva has brought out.

Oh, you're feeling disturbed. Should we go inside the room?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No problem.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No problem. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: It's very difficult to start to taste. The propensity is there to always enquire; enquiry, that is always there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: But then afterwards, to make the taste come about it's always difficult. Sometimes the taste is not there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taste?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ruci.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. It's not coming. Lower taste comes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I asked Prabhupāda, our Guru Mahārāja, once when I came newly, one evening about seven, eight, I went to his room and found alone. With my praṇāmas I asked him, 'How, eliminating the undesirable things within me I can approach as much, as quickly as possible towards the goal. Anartha-nivṛtti, the elimination of the undesirability, anartha, no artha, no prayojana, which is not necessary, to eliminate the unnecessary elements within us, how it is possible, to go on, to advance quickly?'

Then he told, replied: "Anartha-nivṛtti, the successful elimination of the undesirable elements in us; that is the result of a particular action. What is that?"

ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nartha-nivṛtṭiḥ syāt [tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati

sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramaḥ]

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

So sādhu-saṅgo, bhajana, tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ. So we are to give our more attention towards bhajan, sādhu-saṅga, Guru karan, then bhajan. Bhajana means śravaṇa-kīrttanādī, under the direction. Everything may be karma, everything may be bhakti, everything may be jñāna.

When Bhāgavat explanation is going on I am attending, but my listening to Bhāgavat may be many things. Variegated result it may bring for me. Suppose if I've got any aspiration for any worldly things, "Oh, I'm attending Bhāgavat class. Bhagavān will be propitiated and it will be easy for me to get that." With this spirit if I attend Bhāgavat class it will be karma-kāṇḍa.

But if we want to have knowledge, the tattva, jñāna, the ontological side there, I'm satisfied and I shall be able to distribute amongst the scholars and I shall get some position thereby, with this idea if I listen, attend the Bhāgavat class I shall acquire jñāna, the knowledge is my objective.

But devotion, it will be under the category of devotion, the Bhāgavat-śravaṇa, only when whatever benefit I will derive from this action it will go to Kṛṣṇa, not to myself in any way. He's the receiver. He's the master. Just as an animal, a cow, or a horse, whatever he has got, he can earn, by his health, or by any way improvement, it brings something for the master, not for him.

Vikṛta viśar vasho [?] I am slave. Whatever I shall earn my master will get that thing. I have not got independent separate interest or existence. I'm totally his property. So with this idea one should attend Bhāgavat class. And whatever he'll do this should be the underlying attitude or spirit, that whatever I do the benefit will go to my master, my Guru. Kṛṣṇa means, Kṛṣṇa is distant. My Guru will be the owner what I acquire. So nothing, no result I should digest, karma-phala, the phala is only – belongs to Him.

[mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

It is a general thing. Clear, general advice is given in Bhagavad-gītā, but it is very, very difficult actually to observe. Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana. "So I won't work," that is renunciationist, jñānī, māyāvādī. And the devotee they feel encouragement, "Oh, the result for Kṛṣṇa and work for me." They will feel encouragement with this idea, with this principle. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. Not as a reaction he'll become idle, not that.

"Karmaṇy evādhikāras, You are My slave. You must work. Because you are not the owner so you will, karma [?] that is strike, that will be reactionary. So karmaṇy evādhikāras te, I am bhokta, you are My potency. I am enjoyer, and you are energy. Your position, your constitutional position is to satisfy Me. And My constitutional position is to be satisfied by your labour. This is the constitutional position."

It is very difficult to be adjusted in such an intrinsic position, so bhakti is there, it is to be found, sudurlabhaḥ. Who will run to sign this bond? The whole – I am to labour and He's to enjoy the fruit of the labour. Such sort of abnegation, such sort of sacrifice, sacrifice I'm giving something and He will give gratitude to me, and I shall feel proud, "I'm giving things so much." But to sacrifice his own position eternally, "That I am none, I am only to labour, and He's to enjoy." To sign such a deed, such sort of emptiness, such type of sacrifice, abnegation, that is very, very, rarely to be found. That is the very rare plane.

muktānām api siddhānām nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā koṭīṣv api mahā-mune

The degree of such type, sacrifice of such degree of such type, is very rarely to be found in the world. The wholesale, and that is the truth, that is constitutional position of everything, so that is natural. All diseased condition, all has got reaction. But this has got no reaction, being health promoting, this position. But who will come to admit such position in the constitution, in the whole? Sacrifice of such nature, and broad heartedness, such sacrificing spirit, where should it be found?

Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana, mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr. So never entangle with the consequence of any action. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. There is the ditch, the danger, that when such fact will come to your notice about the environment you will stop working. "Why should I labour?" Don't - such curse may not come down on your head, I'm afraid. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. Never approach that dangerous pit, akarma, that, "Because I'm not to enjoy why should I work?" That dangerous alternative, never allow you to go that side. Then the māyāvādī, "I'm not master."

"There's no taxation without representation." That was the Washington, slogan of Washington during the American Independence War. “No taxation without representation.”

“If I’m there in the highest position I shall pay tax. And another he will manage and I shall give money for his management, his power mongering, one is power mongering and I shall give food to that power mongering of a particular person, never.” So māvādīs are of such nature. “If I am so ham, if I am at the highest position then I can admit that sort of philosophy of the world. But if I’m not represented in the highest position, I’m only a slave, I won’t accept that. I’ll never accept that philosophy.” That is the trouble. I won’t call a spade a spade. I shall call a spade a hoe.

So we must approach towards that sort of knowledge, that whatever I shall do, my master will be owner of that. With this creed we shall do anything and everything, and that will be devotion. And there will be degree also, intensity. The prema comes out of that. And this sacrifice, die to live, Hegel says, “Die to live.” Don’t be afraid of dying. You’ll be able to live there, real life, die to live. I like Hegel very much. “Reality is by Itself and for Itself.” A very liberal world: Reality, that must be by Itself and for Itself. He’s not for you. You are for Him. This attribute you must have to give to the Reality. He exists to fulfil His own purpose, then what sort of Reality He is. He’s self existent and exists for Himself, not subservient to any other. This must be in the prime cause, otherwise it is not a doll of your play, reality. And die to live, self determination means die to live. Learn to die, then you’ll find that you are to have a proper life, real life. Don’t be afraid to sacrifice. Die. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...small thing that to become a slave to Him, that will go to hell. “It is better to go to hell,” Milton says, “It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven.” The Satan told, “Better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven.” As opposite, Kṛṣṇa dāsa, the real dignified position, that is real position of yourself, the most dignified, that is to be one with Kṛṣṇa, of one interest. He’ll look after you. As much as you are given to Him, His concern is to look after you, to that degree. This is really theism. The nature of theism is such. There is faith, but faith in what? That is all imagination. When it comes in reality, in transaction of real giving, the self will shudder. “Oh!” Then what degree of faith you have got for Him? It’s a fashion, a faith of a fashion of faith. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, [mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

Don't entangle with the result, because it is in the hand of the Infinite. Your contribution is infinitesimally small, and you want to control the whole infinite by your small contribution. That is so foolish. Remove this folly from you forever, that your smallest contribution that will control the whole infinite. Such a fool you are. So never think of the result. The result is the resultant of so many forces in the world. So karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana, never in the consequence of your contribution of the point of labour. Mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr. Never connect yourself with the result. Do your duty. Never connect with the result. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. That does not mean that you'll disconnect with karma, with contribution, with your duty, because the result is not within your fist. Never go that side; great danger. This is devotion. The very basic principle of devotion is here.

[“-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

“It is Me who is the enjoyer of everything in this world. I am that principle who can absorb the whole production of the whole infinite. I am so and so. But I'm your friend. Don't be afraid that an injustice may come to you.”

["I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipable Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

Only when in this attitude you can live in peace, can find peace, appropriate to your position you'll get the maximum. That is the clue; that is the key to life. Do you follow? Any unreasonability?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No. Sometimes the Maṭha Commander will use this; he will say that, "You are slave and you have to do what we say, no questions asked." So what is the case there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that is a relative and absolute consideration always. If he's in a right superior position then it is all right, but if he's a bogus then we are to avoid. We must appeal to my clear conscience, with my sincere understanding within, my master within, caitya Guru. Something, if he's a hypocrite, he's not sincere, true to his thought and word, then I shall avoid. And if we find that he's true then of course I shall approach more intensely towards his direction that this is the nectar. Where shall I go to get such guidance to take me up to the higher sphere? That is a boon if I go to get guidance, real guidance, proper guidance. That is to be very fortunate in our life to get a proper guide. No other higher fortune can be conceived than to have a good guide, real guide. That is our best wealth in life, sādhu-saṅga. Sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām. Saṁsāre 'smin kṣaṇārdho 'pi sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām.

[ata ātyantikam kṣemaṁ prcchāmo bhavato 'naghāḥ saṁsāre 'smin kṣaṇārdho 'pi sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām]

[King Nimi asked the nine Yogendras: “O sinless ones! We therefore enquire from you about that which is supremely auspicious for all living beings, for in this world of birth and death, association with saints - even for half a moment - is the most valuable treasure in human society.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.30]

For a moment if we can come in contact with a real sādhu it is like jewels in this world. It is a jewel if even it is for a moment [?] very rarely to be had. Śevadhir means jewel. Sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām, kṣaṇārdho 'pi, proper guidance, the trace of my home. I'm wandering like a madman hither thither. Proper direction towards my home: one who can give, he's my real friend. That is the real jewel in the world, that intimation for my home. To take my own real position, desirable position, that guide. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the proper conception of kartabya buddhi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will, the responsibility is in him according to his stage. He will gather from scripture, from sādhu, all these things, and adjustment. Otherwise what can be there? He's responsible ultimately for him, his free will, his previous experience, his sincere hankering, that is acquired by previous activity, that sukṛti, knowledge, bhakti. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31] Bhakti produces bhakti. Nothing else can produce bhakti. Bhakti can produce bhakti. So whatever little experience you have got in every point of life we are facing such problems as you are. In whatever line you'll want to approach to make progress, what you say that will be the common difficulty, and you cross.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If I'm sincere to myself none can do any harm to me, for long time. And a small time also because something was anomaly with me so I'm detained for some time, my progress is detained for some time, you take that way. I want, if I'm sincere, none can oppose in this world. He's there, His vigilant eye is everywhere. So bad agents, good agents are also there, under Him.

Dāsa Goswāmī says: "When we're in grave danger cry aloud for the help of the Vaiṣṇava, the sentinel appointed by the Lord." Ata padi beti kori [?] The going, travelling through your way and there are so many [?] Who falls on the travellers and robs them?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Thieves, rogues.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The other day you told. Not only rogue, rogue indifferent, they're plunderers on the way. When plunderers come to rob you they will cry for help from outside. So kāma, krodha, lobha, moha, mada, mātsarya, and so many other things to disturb the traveller one is going towards the domain of Kṛṣṇa. Then he'll cry at the sentinels, the Vaiṣṇavas are there and they will come to help, the Vaiṣṇava, the Guru, Vaiṣṇava. By their: if we cry aloud for their mercy they will at once, their ideal will come within our heart and help to do away, to drive away all those undesirable elements that hinder our progress.

Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati. [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]
That light should always be kept in our heart. If I don't like to deceive me none can deceive me. There is the Lord for every party. That free will is given to me and the misuse of that is in the bottom of all sorts of danger. Otherwise He's there, He won't allow others to rob me unlawfully. With my participation, cooperation, whatever little it may be, that is at the bottom of all defects, free will.

So, the sādhus, in advanced stage, they only blame their own self. They don't waste their energy to blame others, no time, only blaming his own self. "You are so magnanimous, so great, but I am so low." That is the tenor of their thought, general tenor. "I am lowest of the low, and you are greatest, noblest of the noble." That is the royal road to approach for the Vaiṣṇava, sādhu.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

... for the satisfaction of departed generation. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, they're usually considered mādhyura-līlā. So Caitanya Mahāprabhu audārya-līlā, so what is the specific difference or characteristic?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhyura-līlā means pastimes within a limited circle, and when that is planned for distribution on the outside then the colour of audārya comes. The mādhyura within and the attitude of distribution, that is outside, added to that, audārya. Audārya not independent of mādhyura, the mādhyura is there, distributing what? The highest thing, when the attitude of distributing the highest thing that is audārya. And that is also eternal, every pastimes eternal. With the eternity everything is eternal, not bound in particular time. It's coming from eternity and will go on for eternity. Only limited circle we are very inquisitive to know the birth and death because we are accustomed with that thought. But in the land of eternity it is astonishing that how a thing is born and again dies. There is no question, that everything is eternal, no question of death. Death is a strange thing there – end, beginning and end unknown to that land, that plane. We are very eager to cast in it our historical experience within the history.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Our Guru Mahārāja told once that, a boatman in ancient time, generally they are trading, walks with the big boats that are used for trading purpose. So those that are in charge of that sometimes they had to, with the rope, with the help of the rope tied with the mast, they used to draw, two or three drawing when the boat is passing against the current, they were engaged to draw the boat. Then one of them has got some thorn within his foot. He thinks, 'If I become rich then I shall pave the way, make the way pukha so that no thorn can penetrate in my sole. I shall arrange to for the pavement of the road where we are to draw.' But he can't conceive that if he becomes rich then the drawing won't be necessary at all. The drawing of the boat, this sort of labour would not be necessary if he becomes rich. No question will be of drawing but in his present position he thinks, 'If I become rich once then I shall construct the ways by which to draw the boats, so that no thorn can enter into the sole.' But he can't conceive that if I become rich then no necessity will be. So there are so many problems here, when we attain that position these questions won't arise at all. This is only meant for this mundane.

Another he told that one who is born in the darkness of a prison house, then when grown up he's there in darkness, everything to be seen with the help of light. Then a man coming from outside, "Oh you come, I shall show you the Sun."

"Yes, let me take the lantern."

"No, no, to see the Sun no lantern is necessary."

"You are fooling me. Nothing can be seen without the help of the lantern. What do you say, fool? I don't like to be fooled by you."

Then will snatch him from there and forcibly take him. "See the Sun."
"Oh! Is it so?"

Something like that.

[One party says: "God exists!" The other says: "God does not exist!"
Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says that the ātmā is self effulgent, but still we find that one class of men say, "He exists, we see Him, He can be seen," and another says: "He has never existed." This quarrel has no end because one of the parties hasn't got the eye to see what is self evident. This quarrel is a useless waste of time, but still it will never stop; it will continue forever.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.22.34]

Ātmā parijñāna-mayo, full of light, self effulgent ātmā, it does not require the help of anything else to study, to understand that, him. Parijñāna-mayo [?] A mass of light, mass of consciousness, parijñāna. Vivādo, hy astīti nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ. So the ātmā exists, soul exists, and some say not exist. Why this question is here? Hy astīti nāstīti. Surely it is absent, it does not exist. Another says it exists surely. Hy astīti nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ vyartho 'pi. This is useless. Why? Because it is confined in a particular section, vyartho 'pi naivoparameta, this is useless, still, this sort of contention, quarrel, won't cease. Why? Vyartho 'pi naivoparameta. It has got no end, it will continue. Some say, 'No, it is.' And some say, 'No, it is not.' It will go on. Mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt. Only for those, that section, who has deviated from My consciousness as well as his own consciousness, self consciousness: God consciousness as well as self consciousness. To them the question of whether it is or it is not. But those that are in self consciousness they will be conscious that ātmā is there, and those who are in God consciousness, they will also see that there is God and there is soul. Just as those that have no eyes, so many insects without eyes... [?] Lengthy, has got no sense, only touch, no eyes...

Devotee: Earthworm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Earthworm. For them no Sun, there is no Sun for them, no eyes no Sun, no eyes no Sun. Mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt. Deviated from God consciousness and necessarily self consciousness: for them the question, the doubt. But those who are already in God consciousness and self consciousness there's no question, no quarrel amongst them, within that society. So a particular group, they're quarrelling, those that have no idea at all, no experience.

So a man who is born and brought up always in darkness and habituated to see everything with the help of the light, to him the Sun he'll say, "Oh, we must take the light to see the Sun." It will be in his case. But those who are already there it will be ludicrous to those who are in that self consciousness or God consciousness. They feel Him, experience, direct experience.

ātmā parijñāna-mayo vivādo, hy astīti nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ vyartho 'pi naivoparameta puṁsām, mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt

Jīva Goswāmī has quoted all these things in Sandarbha. This is the medicine for the atheists.

If the atheist has come to argue and make argument then this is the weapon.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt. "Deviation from Me first, and the effect of that, consequence of that, deviation from self consciousness, sambandha-jñāna, eliminating Me to see one's own self that is not the complete estimation or vision of him, partial, not proper."

So by the light of the Sun we can see ourselves also, and the outside. Knowing is possible. If He withdraws Himself then nothing can be seen, nothing can be felt. No experience is possible if He withdraws. If Sun withdraws everything is dark, of course if there is no Moon or stars or any other light. And also, other lights, the source is the same, that of the Sun. One, I have produced the candle light, I have produced such light, but light as a whole can only show us. So light can show.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally jīva comes from Brahmaloka, taṭasthā-śakti. You have read in Bhagavad-gītā? “Jīva soul is My paraśakti and the world is aparāśakti.” The combination of both has given us this world. Within the jīva-śakti and outside the aparāśakti, combination of two potencies has made this world to us.

apareyam itas tv anyāṁ, prakṛtiṁ viddhi me parāṁ jīva-bhūtāṁ mahā-bāho, yayedam dhāryate jagat

[“O mighty hero, Arjuna, this worldly nature known as external, is inferior. But distinct from this nature, you should know My marginal potency, comprised of the individual souls, to be superior. This world is accepted by this superior conscious potency as an object of exploitation for sense enjoyment, by the agency of each individual’s fruit-hunting actions and reactions. The divine world emanates from My internal potency and the mundane world from My external potency. The potency of the living beings is known as marginal, on account of their medial adaptability - they may choose to reside either in the mundane plane or the divine.”]
[Bhagavad- gītā, 7.5]

This material world is meant, the paraśakti, the principal potency has entered into the lower potency and making it moving, has made it a moving one.

Devotee: Brahmaloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! Its original position is Brahmaloka, taṭasthā-śakti means.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇaloka is far above. Brahmaloka and Śivaloka, Vaikuṇṭhaloka, in this way, Ayodhyā, Dvārakā, Mathurā, Vṛndāvana, gradation, gradually up, up, going up. According to the degree of rasam, ānandam, it is measured. What is high, what is low, it is measured by the standard of ānandam, both in quantity and quality. Raso vai saḥ, rasa, sukha, ecstasy, ānandam, the utility of anything, or the superiority of anything should be measured by that standard only. It is universally admitted that we all hanker after ānandam, rasam, sukham. None will say that, 'I don't want happiness,' no one. Everyone is trying hard to get maximum joy. This is admitted by the extensive section. So in whatever way one is moving he thinks that, 'Joy I shall Better joy I shall get from here.' But they're erroneous, may be error, and so the reaction. Proper guidance is necessary how we can get the joy of highest quality and quantity. And the measurement, measure has been considered accordingly. This material happiness is trifle so it is rejected, and spiritual only pertaining to jīva soul of the lower type of spirit, that is also limited. And higher type of spiritual existence can emanate highest quantity of joy and of higher quality also. So the question of Brahman, the Paramātmā, Nārāyaṇa, Vasudeva, Rāmacandra, Dvārakeśa, Mathureśa, Yogeśa, Nandanandan, Rādhikāramaṇa, in this way it goes. Those that are exclusively given for scientific search of rasa, they come to flock together by the expert of that department. “I want rasa. Raso vai saḥ. I want rasa, pure, purest rasa. Highest type of rasa I want.” So the elimination and acceptance; sādhana means elimination and acceptance of the new and rejection of the old, the progress of sādhana means that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the jīva-śakti is from taṭasthāloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So what determines what rasa the jīvātmā develops?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīvātmā by his free adopt-ability he can develop while entering into māyā, this plane of exploitation, a lower type of rasa, that is vikṛta, that is a rasa: vikṛta means? What is vikṛta?

Devotees: Perverted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perverted, yes, perverted, and with the cooperation of his own free will if he moves with that of renunciation then some weak self experience of his own soul, and when merged into that then nothing remains. And similar, just as he has got adopt-ability he – plane of exploitation, he can adopt the serving attitude also, get the influence of the plane of dedication, and thereby if he goes he will thrive. A different type of rasa he will feel and make progress, in this way. Adopt-ability, the consent, first participation is only consent, and then he's helped by the upper or the lower agents. In this way the connection and development, and once entered lives together goes on in that wild goose chasing here and proper search there.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So the jīvātmā is normally śanta-rasa in Brahmaloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not considered śanta. Śanta means positive association with the higher; that is śanta. But no such association he has got in Brahmaloka. In Brahmaloka almost like sāyujya. Self consciousness not awakened there, very feeble, not workable: only through push, very few self consciousness freedom, very meagre. Anyhow there is the two opposite things, exploitation and dedication, and the meeting place is there, very fine, the marginal potency. And we are told that from there general jīva comes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we also hear that the spiritual body is eternal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So when does that - that means that it is already developed also in Brahmaloka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. Brahmaloka as a whole is eternal.

Here also māyā is eternal, the particular potency undeveloped, that is also eternal. The possibility, finite is eternal, infinite and finite both combined makes absolute; that is eternal. Māyā is eternal, the śakti, but the development is not eternal, in one sense, that is changing, but this changing is also eternal. So in that sense everything is eternal: limitation within unlimited.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: The spiritual body which the living entity develops, does that begin from Brahmaloḥa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Real spiritual body does not depend on the development of the jñāna. It depends on the real development in the eyes of dedication, real jñāna is almost impossible. For a speck, for a drop, to get the knowledge of the whole, that is impossible. Only it can give its own quota to the contribution in the activity of the whole, participation, so jñāna-sunya-bhakti. That is a futile attempt. That is also a disease. That is also a tendency of a particular disease. Jñāna is also a class of disease to the soul, because he runs after phantasmagoria. What is impossible he's running after that. Being a particle he wants to hold the whole within his mouth. It is impossible - wild goose chasing. So jñāne prayāsam udapāśya, hatefully we must cast away our spirit of searching about knowing about the whole. That is useless attempt. It is impossible. So don't waste your time in quest of the whole knowledge. Whatever little is necessary you get that and go on with your service. By service you thrive, not jñāna, seeks to be master of the environment, but it is not possible. You cannot be master of your environment: never.

End of 81.09.26.B_81.09.27.A

81.09.27.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...that much, and beyond that if we try that you'll be subject and everything will be your object, that is impossible, and that will be considered to be a disease that cannot be treated, that has got no treatment, jñāna.

So the devotees are much afraid and cautious about jñāna than karma. Karma is already self contained, ordinary labour; that is self hated. Easily that can be eliminated, that position is exposed very sure. But jñāna holds the dignified position over karma, so jñāna is the powerful enemy to bhakti, so we must be very careful about the enemy named jñāna.

Jñāna means tyāga, jñāna-tyāga, it becomes, wants to be master of the environment, everything, wants the key in his hand, everything, does not care for anything else but only for the key. Something like that. He does not want anything but the key, the master, he's indifferent.

"I have finished you, to know you, the objective side, the lower aspect of the world. I have finished, I have nothing, no charm for you." Infinite is untouched, and finishing only hateful part, where he boasts, "I have finished everything, nothing to do." So that is suicide. Knowledge is suicidal, most pessimistic, pessimism, nothing good. "As a subject I have examined everything in the environment. I found nothing with whom I can associate." That will be the conclusion, and then finally retires, again entering that Brahmaloaka. But if any opposite connection will be higher then he's hurled down to go to the lowest position. Jñāna, so jñāna is not our friend.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a finer enemy, gross enemy and fine enemy, subtle enemy, knowledge. I am, I shall, the karmī also, “I am monarch of all I survey.” And the jñānī will also say, “I know everything. Nothing is there. I know everything, no charm is there.” That is, the super charming world is there and we can only participate there through bhakti, through serving attitude, by dedication. That is eliminated, the reality is eliminated, that is, the higher existence is eliminated, and by examining lower existence they finish their campaign and there is nothing, there is nothing. But really, the higher aspect is eliminated and the knowledge cannot but do that, because as a subject we cannot have any entrance there, so it is as nothing. I maintain my subjective characteristic. The jñānī wants to maintain his subjective characteristic everywhere. “I must know, then I shall admit, whether it is or not.” That sort of attitude is a bar for the entrance into the higher super subjective sphere, so he’s deceived thereby. The tendency to know anything and everything that is a bar for higher standing.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Praṇipāt, that is the worldly knowledge finished. “I have come to you for something else, new, what is not in the world of experience. I have finished the world of experience, there is nothing charming, so praṇipāt.” If then with all attention I have come, with eliminating all sorts of hesitation I have come with full attention whether to enquire whether there is anything, and paripraśnena, honest enquiry. And the real thing is sevā, through sevā we can only enter into the domain of higher knowledge, sevā. Adjust to die, to die as we are, not die by fasting by the belly as the jñānīs do, commit suicide. But die, why, what for? To live, die to live, sevā.

“That’s so charming I want to become, I can’t but be in the connection of that. For that I want to be a slave, to banish my liberty forever. At last history finished. I want to die. I want to die, why? I want to live. And the jñānīs death that is a physical death, artificial death of the worldly life.”

The ahaṅkāra, the ego, the gross ego must be dismissed forever. The ego, to live, that ego, the ego of a slave of the highest authority: that is what is necessary. So much faith, so strong faith that service is better than enjoyment, it is possible. It is possible practically that service is more paying than to become king of this material world.

No narka vristam no narkarestam no sarvabhauma no sadi patram [?]

No proposal of any supremacy of any type, no service is so sweet. You’re so sweet and Your service also is so sweet that nothing can come in comparison with that. I have no charm with that any offering of this world of experience but only my mind is mad to taste the nectar of the service of Your holy feet, the Divinity. And there we can live. After dying the living will come in their gradation, śanta, dāśya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyura, classification and then progress. That is the real world and this sort of world of misery cannot be all in all and any perfect conception it may have. It is suicidal. Any attainment of here that has got end, it’s suicidal.

There was one good scholar, Rajen Sing [?], a good philosopher. In the last days he was mad. Intellectualism led him to be mad; the intellectual achievement for the jñāna. I told that one philosopher in Germany, Nietzsche, he was something like half mad.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. This is the Vedic knowledge, or the knowledge of Upaniṣad, Veda, which is revealed, which comes from up down here for the help of the jīva. Always:

tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham

[“One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source.”] [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

Then in Bhāgavatam, tasmād gurum prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam

śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam

[“Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

In Gītā:

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ,
jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Here in India the Vedic Institute they imparted education with serving spirit. The students used to come to Gurukula, they used to make service to Guru, including his family.

Even Kṛṣṇa went to fetch wood from the forest by the order of the wife of His Gurudeva Sandīpanī. “Get some fuel for us.” And she used to cook for the students.

So service, imparting Vedic education, the Guru he takes that as a service. He begs from rich men but doesn’t take anything as remuneration for imparting the knowledge. Out of his own accord he’s giving the knowledge what he has acquired from his own Guru. In the similar way he’s also delivering that knowledge to the disciples – not anything in return. The śiṣya, the student, they will also go, they will take food from the Guru’s family and the Guru’s wife as mother she will feed them. And whatever is her requirement she asks as her son, “We need fuel. You will have to get some fuel my son from the forest.”

Kṛṣṇa and Sudama went and in that day rain profusely and a river between the Gurukula and the forest, there was a river so overflowed They could not come back to their [Gurukula]. For the night they had to pass in the tree anyhow. And then when the morning came, next morning, then Guru went in search of them and he's calling, "Kṛṣṇa, Sudama," and then they came out with so many bundles of fuel on their head, coming.

Kṛṣṇa asked Sudama, "Do you remember My friend?"

When in Dvārakā He's a King, Sudama went to see Him and Sudama thought, "He's making so much, showing so much affection, He must not have recognised me."

Then to remind him, "Yes I have recognised you My friend. Do you remember that night when we went in search for fuel and passed in the tree the whole night. And in the next morning our Gurudeva Sandīpanī went in search. Do you remember?"

Then he thought, "Oh! He has recognised me. Still He's making so much for me, showing so much affection, so much care for me."

So even the Lord when He was in Gurukula there He showed that the study should be made along with the serving spirit, otherwise Vedic truth won't come down to you. If you want really to have, to study the Vedic knowledge, want to get, then service must be with the search, then that will come down within you. Satisfied by your serving tendency, that higher knowledge will come down within you and you'll be able to get that, otherwise not. Intellectual feats, that won't allow you to enter into that holy domain. Intellectualism has got no entrance into that domain. Only the gentlemen can have entrance, passport there, gentlemen. Who? Who won't go to exploit that land, rather to serve the interest of that land, they will be given passport there, not otherwise. The guṇḍās are not allowed to enter that domain. Automatically they can't.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there was in the second chapter of the Chaitanya-Bhāgavat, there was a mention that Lord Nityānanda Prabhu that He would serve as the servant of audārya-līlā. He would act as the servant to propagate Caitanya Mahāprabhu's audārya-līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So that was to benefit everyone in a general way, one of its functions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, according to their capacity or fortune. He will – the professor is delivering lectures, but the students will receive according to their capacity. He in general wants to distribute through his writing, but according to their respective capacity they will, some will read it to write a thesis and to get some name in the university. And some only to criticise against his writing. And some fortunate souls will find light and dedicate himself for the whole of his future. So many class sections of students, of hearers, prakṛti-vaicitryāt and pāramparyeṇa, prakṛti-vaicitryāt – the section of the same will be taken differently.

Brahmā, he explained that, “You are Brahman, you are that soul, that ātmā.” There was one āsura he understands this body, he says, “You are, this body is that ātmā.” Some say, “Oh! He's meaning my inner self. I am that ātmā.” In this way amongst the students the understanding of different type: it is a general fact.

So Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura he's distributing that nectar of Caitanya's life, but, Amara durdaiva nami nahi anuragah [?]

When Bhagavān comes down here Himself so many seeing Him in different ways, the Śiśupāla, the Kaṁsa, and the Nārada, the gopīs, their vision of different ways. We can’t deny that, the realisation cannot be same, and should not also be same. By nature, the gradation, the hierarchy should be there, so no injustice, no partiality. Die to live, ātma-nivedana, ātma-nivedana fully, give yourself fully, give and take.

One gentleman told me when I joined the Maṭha, he’s my elder brother, God-brother, I’m making praṇāma daṇḍavats to him, he’s also returning daṇḍavats.

I asked him, “Why you are showing hypocrisy?” “Why?”

“I think you to be superior so I’m bowing down to you. And you certainly do not consider me to be holding higher position than you, so your daṇḍavats towards me that will be hypocritical, artificial.”

“No, no. It’s not so very easy to bow down,” he told. “It’s not a very easy thing to bow down.”

I was silenced. I saw the object, the meaning within I detected. Yes. Namaskāra is not a very easy thing, to give one’s own self by daṇḍavat surrender it is not an easy thing. Really it is the greatest thing to offer one’s self to the higher. Only who can make that offering, the degree of offering.

A man, he gives his word, he can’t take it back, rather he can give his life, but can’t take his word back. There are so many even, “Oh! I did not, at that time I did not calculate that this will be the result so I withdraw.” For this excuse me – that will be in ordinary case. But there are cases when word once given that won’t be broken, rather he will give his own life but won’t go back, such type is there. So giving is very difficult thing, self giving. We can give what belongs to us, but that is false giving. Nothing belongs to us. Īśāvāsyam. Only self giving is giving proper, self offering is proper offering. Otherwise all that I falsely think that this thing belongs to me, nothing belongs to me, what should I – this is all false. The false ego, that is also difficult to give away, what to speak of the real self within. “I’m Yours!”

kr̥ṣṇa, tomāra haṇa’ yadi bale eka-bāra, māyā-bandha haite kr̥ṣṇa tāre kare pāra

[“One is immediately freed from the clutches of māyā if he seriously and sincerely says: ‘My dear Lord Kṛṣṇa, although I have forgotten You for so many long years in the material world, today I am surrendering unto You. I am Your sincere and serious servant. Please engage me in Your service.’”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.33]

The simple thing, to die to live, simple thing, “I am Yours, Kṛṣṇa I am Yours.” Then the māyā, the illusion will run away from you, run away. “I am Yours!” The depth of this expression it depends upon. “I am Yours! I belong to no one, but I am Yours wholesale my Lord. Please accept me.” Kṛṣṇa, tomāra haṇa’ yadi bale eka-bāra. Only once: “I’m Yours, I surrender unto You.”

“Yes, I accept.”

Only that is what is necessary within us, nothing else, sakati, prapatti, prapanna, surrender; that is necessary.

Devotee: Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That was a big thing in me at that time, that this is the key to heaven, key to heaven, so I shall have to deal this. I searched where anything is written about prapatti, Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, Śaṭ-Sandarbha, and other books, and collected those in one place, as much as I could, that this will help most the prapatti. That was my idea, the entrance to the Divinity, the gate is surrender. With this idea I collected. Hare Kṛṣṇa. This is the necessity, the only necessity of every one of us, conscientiously, the śaraṇāgati, nothing else is necessary, everything:

yaṁ labdhvā cāparaṁ lābhaṁ, manyate nādhikaṁ tataḥ yasmin sthito na duḥkhena, guruṇāpi vicālyate

There is such substance that when we get that we don't want anything, no necessity of any aspiration for any other thing. There is such thing. Yaṁ labdhvā cāparam lābhaṁ, manyate nādhikaṁ. No gain can be considered superior to that. This is the highest, the positive insinuation, feeling is there. And if we are placed there in that, in connection of that, then no misery of, however greater degree it may be, it can disturb me. No misery can disturb me. And no happiness can take me away, can move me away from that, and no misery can trouble. There is such kind of gain possible.

yaṁ labdhvā cāparam lābhaṁ, manyate nādhikaṁ tataḥ yasmin sthito na duḥkhena, guruṇāpi vicālyate

There is such a thing.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ kṣīyante cāsyā karmāṇi, mayi drṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

All doubts, suspicions, solved, removed, no doubt, all solved. The wholesale solution, all the entanglements are untied. I want nothing. So many ties already existing, "I want this, I want this, I want this," all untied. I want nothing. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. Our heart is full of so many ties with so many aspirations, but all untied. I, by mistake, I made connection, I wanted, made a tie between me and that thing, that if I get that, if I can tie him to me then I'll be satisfied. No, no. These are not necessary, all redundant, all the ties untied. Bhidyate hr̥daya-granthiś, chidyante sarva, all doubts finished, removed. No. This is the truth. This is the what I wanted, what I am searching, all through this is the thing. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, and the previous activities, reactions, that is all also exempted. Mayi dr̥ṣṭe 'khilātmani.

“No necessity, I am everywhere.”

Everywhere, the fulfilment, the perfect, is seen everywhere, so no duty, no feeling, no perception of any duty to anyone. He's there. The guardian is everywhere to take care of everything. Only what is necessary, I must connect me with the guardian. The guardian is everywhere. He's taking care of everybody. So I have nothing to do, only that I may not be detached from this knowledge of this position. The relationship with this knowledge or this association I may not be detached again, so I must go deeper and deeper into that. No other business, no other engagement is necessary. That will be the only - to enter into. And then when under the full complete direction of Yogamāyā I will play in her hand. I will have to play in her hand. There is also vipralambha, there is sambhoga, all these things, but that is all Yogamāyā. Everything is supplying that highest, higher type of rasam there.

It is possible. And the Gauḍīya Maṭha stand is here. Bhidyate hr̥daya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. No mundane wealth is necessary, and no alternative proposal of religious conception may be, may exist, than that of Bhāgavatam or Mahāprabhu, Caitanya. This is the unique. Nothing is necessary. All else eliminated. This is the standard.

Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] the Absolute call, the Absolute call to all, not to the particular section: Absolute call to all. “Come! Mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja – Not more absolute than Myself.”

And no repentance, no reaction. I thought, is it possible? The Gauḍīya Maṭha people they are their own canvasser. They do not care for anybody. What they say that is the Absolute Truth. Is it possible to think that this is Absolute and no other alternative? It is impossible almost. Then the Bhāgavata śloka already I had connection came to my mind. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. Bhāgavata says that it is possible. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. The most dangerous thing, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, all the doubts are cleared. How revolutionary! Is it possible? The whole doubts, so many infinite doubts may exist in one's mind, and all will be cleared, is it possible?

The Gauḍīya Maṭha people say like that. I can eliminate them, I can deny them, but I cannot deny Bhāgavatam. There in an authentic tone Vyāsadeva is giving proclamation, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, it is possible, no doubt will remain. There is such a stage. Oh! They're one with that standard of Bhāgavatam, that Badarikāśrama, that Śukadeva Goswāmī told at Naimiṣāranya, the very gist of all the Veda and Gītā etc. The same standard they're representing. So entered with more confidence and gradually imbibed that sort of slate and now I am speaking on their behalf, as agent, converted fully.

The personality of Mahāprabhu and that Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the last product of Vyāsadeva. Śrīmad-Bhāgavata is the last gift of Vyāsadeva after Gītā, Mahābhārata, Vedānta, Purāṇa, everything. Still there was some want, and Nārada came and gave the final touch, and Vyāsadeva came with Bhāgavatam. And Mahāprabhu took that and inaugurated practically in the world. And Gauḍīya Maṭha is trying to, with knowledge or nectar of the highest type, to distribute to the world. And Swāmī Mahārāja went throughout the length and breadth of this world and attracted people like you all to such faith. It is a great pride to us.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The Upaniṣads are also there. “There is something, if we get that everything is got. If we know that everything is known. If we get that everything is got.” In Upaniṣad we also find the same echo: tabe brahma jijñāsa. So enquire after that most universal and most general thing, not any part, this part, that part, that part, that part, innumerable parts. That is waste of energy, chasing after so many partial things. Try to catch the centre. What is that?

The key, the one who represents the whole, the central, the commanding figure, try to get that person. And when such faith grows within us it's called śraddhā, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka [Bhagavad-gītā, 17.3]. The senses of your experience, the erroneous things are supplying your eyes, nose, ears, that are supplying to you, all false information. False information and that is stored in your mind, a depot of false information. Dissolve that thing, the bureau, the depot of false information must be dissolved. It is possible, the whole in one, and one in whole, through śraddhā.

The universe of mundane and divine flow, every attempt and movement, the Vedas and allied scriptures which guide everyone's

“To this particular section I give a particular type of highest attainment of Me, and that is in Vraja, crossing the morality and other so called truths of this world, anything else. And Absolute connection with Me, even crossing the śāstra, the scripture, and the samāj, the society, and the tradition, the usage, give up everything. I am overall. Vaikantic. Exclusive devotion to Me, that is the highest. Not dependent on the scripture, or the society, or the so called Guru, guide, etc. Absolute connection with Me, not actuated by innate connection, not actuated, drawn by any quarter, it cannot be useful. The source is Mine only. Myself is the source, and get that independent connection. Not any dependent, that by scripture, by the advice of a particular gentleman, by sādhu, not this type which is dependent on any other source that is very favourite to Me. Direct connection with Me. Come to this section that is parakīya is what is called in Vṛndāvana. If you cross here, if anything, if any conception of so called religion stands in your way give up that religious idea. Come to Me. My connection with you is such, no law can enter between My connection of you and Myself, no law.”

In a particular family, law enters when the unity is slackened, and when unity in a family is there, no law. Who is eating more, and who is earning more, no question. But when the love, the tie, the affection is slackened, then, Oh! You give only this amount, but your wife and so many children are taking food. I’m giving so much amount, but only myself and my wife, so you will have to go, the law will request, the question of law will come. But when there is unity no law.

“So no law between the relation between you and Myself,” the Lord says. sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja

“He’s the saint of the saint, the king of saints. Who? I have My order in the scripture, and sadācāra, it is by My will it is done. But still if one crossing that law comes to Me he’s My greater devotee. That is meant, that law is meant for ordinary persons, gradually to take them in. But one who has understood Me and his innermost connection, then the law is useless for him. That is to promote ordinary public to take Me. It is meant for that lower necessity.”

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

[“Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

It is for the child of the spiritual warning the laws have been, different types of law there are, that is for the child. But for the highest grown up no law, rather, they’re rather, their practice, that should create new law to the world. [?] I’m doing real service to that domain, otherwise I’m wandering at my sweet will. That is a particular outcome within my mind, from within my mind. May not be too much selfishness there. But what is the guarantee of service? The domain of service is something positive thing and this is also the negative or positive something, māyā, error, the world of error, māyā, and the world of truth. And between the two the withdrawal from the world of error that is qualification, but neglecting the world of service to go on visiting then that is punishable, according to the law of Vaiṣṇava, but we’ll be loser there. So what is necessary, not only to cut off connection with our mundane tendency which we find in our mind, but also to be reinstated in the positive service of the Lord. That is the all important thing, to be engaged in the real service of the Lord. And not we should take a French Leave from both the sides.

[“O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

And that is very rarely to be had, only through the connection of a real sādhu, a real agent, otherwise I can't help to, I can't have any connection. Where is the guarantee that what I shall do that will be for the satisfaction of the Supreme Lord? What is the guarantee? I may, in my mental concoction I may think, 'Yes, I have got, I am doing, it is for the satisfaction of the Supreme Lord.' It is not such an easy thing. That is a positive thing. That does not depend upon my imagination. So to have the company of a real sādhu, the real agent, who is cent per cent established, installed in that plane, and whose wholesale activity is for the Supreme Lord, nothing else, to secure his order, his will, how we can serve him, that is the very most precious thing in the life, only to become a slave to that real agent of the Supreme Lord. Because it is a positive thing, it is not a thing of our imagination at large. A positive and fixed thing with fixed law, fixed nature that can be known and considered, and felt, it has got its peculiar nature, peculiar existence. It's not mere concoction, not mere opposite of the world life. So a positive connection of the real life I must ... Mahārāja says... ...the gist of all the advices given in Gītā and in different times and places of śāstra can be summarised in one: Svatmam pranam

.....nigamatsaram..... [?]

All the, the whole substance of all the advices given in different places in different times, it is this, he has to sacrifice one's own self, that is to die. Die to live, self abnegation, self offering; but self offering where? It must be guaranteed that it is for Kṛṣṇa, not any other thing. That is very rarely to be found, rarely to be found, sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām.

[King Nimi asked the nine Yogendras: "O sinless ones! We therefore enquire from you about that which is supremely auspicious for all living beings, for in this world of birth and death, association with saints - even for half a moment - is the most valuable treasure in human society."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.30]

And without that door, that is the only door of Vaikuṇṭha, to go through sādhu. Prahlāda Mahārāja in Bhāgavatam says, in two places:

Mahīyasām pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekam, niṣkiñcanānām na vṛṇīta yāvat
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.32] Rahūgaṇaitat tapasā na yāti [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.12.12]

There was one king by the name of Rahūgaṇa. He went to see Kapiladeva in a palanquin, and the palanquin bearers, one was sick, and Jaḍa Bharata, Bharata Mahārāja – the King Bharata, when he had affection for a small deer at the time of his death he thought that, "If I die, the cub, _____ this deer will be devoured by some jackal or so," and just at that time he died. And with that thought he died he got the body of a deer. Then he, as his previous penances he could maintain the memory of his previous life.

“I am so and so, in my previous life. But just at the time of death because I died with the memory of the deer cub so I got the birth of a deer.”

This memory he had. So he did not mix with other deer, and he kept him close to the āśrama of the rsis, and he used to hear the Vedic explanations and all these things, and used to take the (utistham? Remnants?), of the yajña. Then he became a brāhmaṇa, Bharata by name, and he could remember his past lives. And here also, for fear of mixing with others at the time of death if their memory again comes and determines his future birth he did not make any association with any of their environment. [?] So he kept himself silent. He did not talk to anybody. Ordinary people used to think that he’s an idiot.

Once he was used to keep vigilant eye to their lands, so many crops, “You go and stand and try to drive away the crows and the birds and other beasts that come to damage the crops.”

He was standing there, and when one of the carriers of the palanquin of the king was sick, that man was taken from the roadside. And palanquin going on, and he’s particular not to disturb any animals on the way, so here and there ants and other insects are there and he does not put his foot on them so that they’ll be killed. And he was very strong also. So he’s not putting his steps regularly, and the palanquin is also moving up and down, this side, that side.

And the King told, “What’s the matter? Why don’t you carry smoothly my palanquin? So much jerking.”

“Oh! This new man, he’s responsible for this.”

Then to this Bharata Mahārāja, “Do you feel any pain on your shoulder, gentleman, new man. Do you feel pain for carrying me?”

Then he answered in another way. “Who carries whom? You are carrying me or I am carrying you?”

Then the King was puzzled. “What sort of answer comes from him? Physically he’s carrying, in other ways, by engaging, by taking his energy I’m getting debt to carry out. So this is not normal. He came down from the palanquin. “Are you that Kapiladeva whom I’m going to meet?

“No I’m not.”

“Who are you [?] And then Jaḍa Bharata came out with this:

rahūgaṇaitat tapasā na yāti, [na cejyayā nirvapaṇād grhād vā na cchandasā naiva jalāgni-sūryair, vinā mahat-pāda-rajo-‘bhiṣekam]

[“O King Rahūgaṇa, the perfectional stage of devotional service, or the paramahansa stage of life, cannot be attained unless one is blessed by the feet dust of the great devotees. It is never attained by austerity, Vedic worship, acceptance of the renounced order of life, the discharge of the duties of household life, the chanting of the Vedic hymns, or the performance of penances in the hot sun, within cold water or before the blazing fire.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.12.12]

“Which you are searching after, that cannot be had by all these methods. What are they? Tat tapasā, not by penance. Na yāti, nirvapaṇād, not by shaving one’s head, that is taking the sannyāsa āśrama. Grhād vā, or managing the household affairs strictly according to the direction of the Vedas. Na cchandasā, neither by continuing the study of the Vedas and scriptures. Naiva jalāgni-sūryair, or there are persons who make penances with the relation of Sun, the fire, or water, just as Vidyadeva did sometimes in winter, or to make, dived under water. Then sometimes when the yogīs on the fire at noon under the heat of the Sun, and also lighting fire around their body in some acute stage they try to maintain their attention towards the desired end, jalāgni-sūryair. Vinā mahat-pāda-rajo-‘bhiṣekam, only one gate, and that is the service of the mahat, the proper agent of the high. That is the only way.” This was said by Bharata.

And you know that in Kurukṣetra, in tanistha, Mahadeva’s tanistha, and Badra Kali is Devī there, tanistha there in, very near, close to Kurukṣetra, Badra Kali. And once the dacoits they wanted to sacrifice a human being and then go to dacoit, to plunder, so that the deity will be in favour of them and they’ll get, exploit much money, much wealth.

So Bharata was taken to that Badra Kali and to be sacrificed there. Bharata did not resist. He’s established in the absolute movement of the highest plane. “The will of Kṛṣṇa, He’s the Absolute. He’s seeing everything. And if He’s ordained then I shall have to face such death, so why should I resist.” In this way.

Then when they just, the dacoits just put the sword on his neck, then Badra Kali, she came out from her figure and snatched the sword and killed the dacoits and he was let lose.

rahūgaṇaitat tapasā.

Our attention towards Kṛṣṇa it is very, very rare. Matir na kṛṣṇe parataḥ svato vā, how it can be effected - to take our mind, our attention, in the feet of Kṛṣṇa. It is a very, very difficult thing. It cannot be done by others, nor by one's own self, even not by the combination of one's own self and other outsiders. Matir na kṛṣṇe parataḥ, by the help of the public - other than one's own self, parataḥ. Svato vā, or by dint of his own capacity, svato vā. Mitho 'bhi, or by the combination of the two – self and outsiders. Mitho 'bhipadyeta gr̥ha-vratānāṁ, if they're all classified under; they're labouring under the jurisdiction of gr̥ha.

Those unfortunate souls they make much of the coating, the cover, and not the substance within the coating, they can't hit.

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmni baddhāḥ

Just as one blind man cannot guide another blind, andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmni baddhāḥ, so their fate is like that.

naiṣāṁ matis tāvad urukramāṅghriṁ, sprśaty anarthāpagamo yad-arthah [mahīyasāṁ pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekaṁ, niṣkiñcanānāṁ na vṛṇīta yāvat]

[Prahlaḍa Mahārāja states: “Unless they smear upon their bodies the dust of the lotus feet of a Vaiṣṇava completely freed from material contamination, persons very much inclined toward materialistic life cannot be attached to the lotus feet of the Lord, Who is glorified for His uncommon activities. Only by becoming Kṛṣṇa conscious and taking shelter at the lotus feet of the Lord in this way can one be freed from material contamination.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.32]

So long one's mind can't come in touch of the holy feet of Urukrama, of that wonderful stride, one of wonderful stride, cannot come to touch that holy feet, so long, naiṣāṁ matis tāvad urukramāṅghriṁ, sprśaty anarthāpagamo yad-arthah, for which the removal of the undesirable element in him is necessary. Anartha, which is not necessary that is within him and as long as that part is not being removed he cannot come to the – near the feet of the Holy Lord. Naiṣāṁ matis tāvad urukramāṅghriṁ, sprśaty anarthāpagamo yad-arthah, for which this is necessary, artha means necessary, to remove the undesirability in him, undesirable elements in him, anarthāpagamo yad-arthah. Mahīyasāṁ pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekaṁ, niṣkiñcanānāṁ na vṛṇīta yāvat. And what is the positive thing required? Mahīyasāṁ pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekaṁ. As long as he does not come to the holy feet to take bath in the water or the dust of a person of the holy feet of a divine person, pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekaṁ, niṣkiñcanānāṁ na vṛṇīta yāvat, he cannot meet his guide, surrender himself to the feet of a real agent of the Lord. That is the only way to enter into Vaikuṇṭha.

So to get guidance, to secure guidance of a person who is living cent per cent life of devotee, and from him the – whatever order will come, only that, and to gather Vaikuṇṭha energy into him and to do away with his previous acquired energy from the mundane world, to destroy that, this is the only process to go into the higher realm. So leaving that chance, that disconnecting the order of his – disregarding the order of Guru which the direction through him is so valuable, neglecting that he's going, this stereotype fashion of tīrtha when travelling into here and there, that may be satya guṇa, not very intensely filthy, but that has got no connection with the Vaiṣṇava vastu. That is for the lower, for the, one who comes to learn a language, ABCD, something like that tīrtha varṇam. But neglecting the guidance of the professors and teachers to go on in such excursion, that is punishable. I had some sort of awakening of search from that event and gradually I found that it is such. It is really valuable thing to engage one's own self under the direction of a man who has got no other motive but wholesale converted into the Kṛṣṇa consciousness, cause of Kṛṣṇa, service of Kṛṣṇa. That is very rarely to be found, and to disconnect that, or to slacken that, that is misfortune for the person.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So practically we find that under the direction of a Vaiṣṇava to go on with our activities disassociating ourselves with our own propensity, internal or external, so long acquired by us of unlimited type. Birth and death, birth and death, we have gathered prejudice and colour from this mundane, subtle or gross, it is very difficult to get out of that. Only by indenting fresh and divine energy within us that we can drive them [?] No other way. By coming in connection with the positive we can get out of the negative. And by entangling or by dealing with the negative side in many various ways we cannot get out of the negative. We may deal with the negative side in various ways, but that won't give us any escape. Only the connection of the positive can get us out of the entanglement of negativity. This is told by the whole of the Vaiṣṇava śāstra. So, tasmād gurum prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyasḥ uttamam

śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam

[“Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

Tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, and not to go for the purpose of trade, to give and take, ābhigacchet. Finally you'll go there for final, and not to come back. With this idea you must go to Guru to be effective in his campaign. So, gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham.

[tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham]

[“One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source.”] [Mundaka-Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

And not a Guru in the fashion of the day. But he has got his quality as given in the śāstra, śrotriya, must have knowledge of the śāstra as well as he must be established in both practice and knowledge, both, śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham. He must have his own conduct, his own practice, what he says, what he preaches, śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham. And in Gītā also:

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ,
jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

That jñānī and tattva darśi, he has felt and he knows and he has got feeling – direct touch of the same thing. To such person we must go and surrender, not to come back again, with this idea. Then gradually we shall be taken in the transcendental realm. There we can live. Yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama]

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

“And very beautiful and worth living is My dhāma, My domain, My abode is very healthy and beautiful and sweet, to live there. And none can come back from such place. None have got any desire to back out if once they can enter into My abode. It is so beautiful, so sweet and so pleasing, from all directions.”

That is theory of the theory, imagination of the imagination. Who will go for this wild goose chasing in these days of scientific realistic view? Ha, ha, ha, ha. Only the mad!

āmi - eka bātula, tumi - dvitīya bātula, ataeva tomāya āmāya ha-i sama-tula [Mahāprabhu said to Rāmānanda Rāya: “I am insane, mad, bāula - pāgala - eccentric. I am one eccentric, and you are another. Therefore, we two are of the same class.”] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.291]

“I am mad and you are also mad, so we are getting on with this transaction.”

Otherwise so many conscientious, so many judicious people, they’re living in the world of reality, and going to the Moon, and taking news from the Sun, and so many planets, Saturn etc, and so boastful there. Who will care, “Where is God?”

The Yuri Gagarin, the first man from Russia who went into the sky, space, beyond the attraction of the earth, and when he came down one old woman asked him, “My son, you went so, so high. Have you seen God there?” According to her saṁskāra, her mental tendency, she asked like that. “You went so high, so high, you must have seen God there.”

Then Gagarin answered, replied, “God is the horse that draws our carriages here.” That was his answer, the Gagarin’s answer. “The Bhagavān – the God, the force of your imagination, we find here that that His force is only drawing our carriages.”

That was his answer. I got it from the paper. So atheistic is the present age of this ugra scrutiny, they’re boasting, but, aliti patanai jo mati picchai [?]

But death is standing there firm and devouring everything. And also which they can’t refuse that, “Not only I shall devour you, but your Sun, Moon, your Earth, everything I shall devour.” And they can’t, they’re silent there. They’re silenced by their threat, by the threat of the time, “That I will devour everything.” But yes, you will devour everything, we can’t deny. But the fools they won’t try to find out a plane within him which is free from the jaw of death. It is within. Just as eye, the mental eye, the eye of the reason, they’re different, so also the soul is there which is untangle able, which is free from the sting of this material mortal world. That element within and that is ourselves subject, but this won’t enter the brain of these fools.

And if slightly touched in any scientist, they’re also helpless, repents, “Why have I helped, I have given the atom bomb in the hands of so many demons?” Einstein repented. “I have, by my research I have given the atom bomb into the hands of these demons. God forbid.”

But what of that? Soul is immortal, Socrates he paid for that, simply he told that soul is immortal, that was his, that was against the religious conception of the time, so he had to give up his life. And Christ also...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sat saṅga. sādhu-saṅga Kṛṣṇa-Nāma. If we take the Name the serving attitude must be there. Serving means die to live, to throw ones own wholesale for the existence of that.

Mr. Gandhi, he risked his whole life in every point of his action, but he did not die. But his attitude was such, “Whatever I told, I am to maintain that.” The whole of his life was something like that.

So we shall take the Name. What for? I am taking the Name of the Lord, what for? To get some name and fame of a sādhu, no! Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, not for money, not to attract any women, never to attract the popularity. But I am ready to give, to sacrifice myself wholesale for whom I am searching, for whom I am taking the Name. With that much attitude we shall take the Name. It is not lip deep. But the whole life within the fist I shall give, for the satisfaction of whom I am searching. The whole of my energy, the whole I shall take the risk of my whole thing for the satisfaction of the Name. Now we must approach with this attitude. Whole thing is guaranteed. The pursuit, the attempt is backed by my whole energy, whole life, whole prospect, everything. With this attitude I shall have to search for a drop of Vaikuṇṭha nectar. Otherwise it is useless.

Die to live. Sacrifice, sevā. Sevā means death. Sevā means to give ones own self to a particular purpose. The sevā of Kṛṣṇa means this. This mal self, this mundane, this concocted self, it is very valuable? It is not valuable thing. You'll be saved. Try to be saved of your, this sham self you are in. This is not a very laudable thing. It is a mortal thing, and the depot of many reactions. So get rid of this centre, as soon as possible get out of it, and enter into the land of confidence and goodness and fairness and sweetness. Try to enter that. You must be sincere and wholesale. Your campaign must be wholesale not partial, taking one step ahead and three steps back, not such hesitation. Clear. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise you are a finite and you want to get the advantage of the infinite. No shame. You are very small and only a part of that small you will sacrifice and your aspiration, I shall get the whole. It's a fun, a very good trend. It is not so easy.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. So:

ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ [sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

[Therefore, the name, form, qualities, associates, and pastimes of Kṛṣṇa are beyond the realm of sense experience. When, however, a devotee engages the senses, beginning with the tongue, in the service of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee.]
[Bhakti- rasāmṛta-sindu, Purva-vibhaga, 2.234]

If only our superficial senses is engaged in Kṛṣṇa's cultivation, this is nothing. Sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ. That is not Name, that is only nāmākṣara bahiraya batu, [From Jagadānanda Paṇḍita's Prema-vivarta] only mundane sound. Your tongue can produce mundane sound. That is not Kṛṣṇa. The Name to be Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa has to come down there. Don't be self deceptive, 'that taking Name I am a great sādhu.' It is not like that. Kṛṣṇa has to come down in the form of the sound on you. He is spiritual, He is transcendental. So sevonmukhe - your surrender, complete surrender towards Him will attract Him, and He'll graciously come down, come down to grace you, in the Name, in your arcana, when performing your duties. And in every step He will come. When you are wholly giving yourself in Him, then He will accept you. He will embrace you. He'll be within and without you.

Sarvatya krsne ute kali yanmar seva kita bai ja rakhita mor [?]

He's everywhere, but those that can see Him only whose eyes are clear, not captured by any prejudice from selfish end or ordinary things. Not captivated by the prejudice. All prejudice cleared. Eye will directly see the highest power or highest principle underlying all, whatever things.

Sarvatya krsne ute kali yanmar sevā kita janma rakhita mor [?]

The tendencies for exploitation and renunciation so many units of that plane like so many dust has blinded our eyes and we can't see Him, can't see Him.

Karma karvasya karmini mayo jagat [?]

Those that are most lustful they find where is beautiful lady. They only reckon that. The world of their knowledge is revealed through ladies.

Bu pasyanti dana mayo jagat [?]

And greedy people they are always busy in their minds, "Oh, there is there is Bilva, there is Tata, who are the moneyed men, the Ford, and this in the world. They are only thinking about the moneyed men because they love wealth most. They are always engaged with the money people.

Dhira pasyanti narayana mayo jagat [?]

And those that are out of their outer influence, they're liberated from other influences they'll find, "Oh, this is the kingdom of Nārāyaṇa, who is the support and who is the guardian of the whole of the world. We see His hand everywhere. Without His direction nothing can move. They may boast that I have got such power, I have got beauty, I have got wealth. All false. The real backing spirit is Nārāyaṇa, all pervading, all knowing principle, all good. This is temporary, the vision, the feeling aspect. Our prejudices of so many types captured us.

Gaura Haribol. So whatever process you do the most important tenor of our movement should be that if we want a guarantee that it should be for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa then the agent through him I am doing. It is his genuine character. It depends on that. If the agent, he is a false man then my whole energy is lost. But real agent then I must be gainer through him. Connecting through him if I connect with Vaikuṇṭha then my actions will be valued. Otherwise we may be the loser, aparādha. Nāma aparādha, sevā aparādha, arcana aparādha, so many aparādhas. It is also written in the scriptures. Service not properly done, then we are sure to commit some offences against the Deity, either satisfaction or giving some trouble.

Aradhana aparadhana apa krista [?] A hateful type of handling that holy process, aparādha. Nāma aparādha, sevā aparādha, it depends upon the satisfaction for whom we are doing. So we must be careful, must not be over confident in our previous acquisition. So much I have acquired. My progress is so much and I must not be satisfied my self-certificate, I should not be satisfied with self certificate, success, satisfaction, certificate of my own.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu Himself said, “I am taking the Name, I am showing so much feats, shedding so much tears, in the Name of Kṛṣṇa. But why? It is all false.”

na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam prakāśitum [vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanam vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-
pataṅgakān vṛthā]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 2.45]

“My shedding tears, that is only to show, to canvass others that, you see, I am such a great devotee.”

So much so, you are to disbelieve your own self that you are a devotee: and very careful, very, very careful. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Koṭiṣv api mahā-mune.

[muktānām api siddhānām nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā] koṭiṣv api mahā-mune

[“O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

In any way, Kavirāja Goswāmī, Narottama Ṭhākura they also – “We see the whole world is absolved from the sin, but I am neglected, I am left, I am the exception. I am so low, I am so ill fated. I am rejected from such most benevolent infinite līlā, I am rejected. I could not utilise this great fortunate wave.”

This should be the real tendency of a real Vaiṣṇava who has come in real relativity with the infinite. Whenever finite as much as he comes in connection with the infinite his temperament cannot but be so. It is not imitation, imitation won’t do, the real feeling, cannot but be.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

“I am empty. I don’t get anything.” That will be the temperament. “I feel emptiness within me. I can't get, my life is frustrated. My life is going to be frustrated. Neither I get a drop of the grace of the Lord and the world of course I have left, both sides gone. I have no alternative. Lord, if You don't accept me, I am undone. Please make me the servant of the servant of the servant of the servant. Give a remotest connection to me. Graciously give some remotest connection of You. And don't leave me my Lord. I can't tolerate."

The craving, the heart felt, heart rending prayer must come to the Vaiṣṇava for the Lord. Onlookers, they will find that he has got the peep of the fortune. The charm for the world outside fully eliminated from that person, from the heart, fully empty. And very near future that will be filled with the nectar of the grace of Kṛṣṇa.

bhukti-mukti-sprhā yāvat, piśācī hṛdi varttate

[tāvad bhakti-sukhasyātra, katham abhyudayo bhavet]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Pūrvva, 2.22]

The desire for enjoyment and also for renunciation, mukti, no engagement, free liberation; they are compared with two ghosts, piśācī, two types of ghosts. So long how you can dare to expect that bhakti, real heart of Kṛṣṇa will descend in your heart? Those demons are there, and the noble lady of devotion, she will come to here, to sit on, lie on the same bench with these demons. How can you expect that? Have you freed yourself from all these nasty things that you dare to invite the lady of Kṛṣṇa bhakti to come here? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Today, here I stop.

...

Devotee: Mahārāja, how important is vānaprastha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa bhajan is independent of any form of life. Mahāprabhu says: nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī (brahmacārī) na ca gṛha-patir (gṛhastha) no vana-stho (vānaprastha) yatir vā (neither sannyāsī, fourth āśrama) kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

[“I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gṛhastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy.”] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80] eta saba chāḍi’ āra varṇāśrama-dharma / akiñcana hañā laya kṛṣṇaika-śaraṇa

[“Without hesitation, one should take exclusive shelter of Lord Kṛṣṇa with full confidence, giving up bad association and even neglecting the regulative principles of the four varṇas and four āśramas. That is to say, one should abandon all material attachment.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.93]

Very beginning, varṇāśrama dharma is just the beginning. Then gradually improvement and we are to go up to the absolute service of Kṛṣṇa, without consideration of any law or any form; only service, Kṛṣṇa saṁtoṣa.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, [yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat / yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam] [“O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

Whatever we'll do, we think, we speak, everything should be for the service of Kṛṣṇa. That is the standard of devotion. And mere form, that may be favourable a little, not always. So the spirit, even crossing every formality what is required of us, our absolute attraction for the service, for the beauty. No law has got any status there. In the beginning they have got some sort of utility. But when a little advanced, we do not care for it, for anything. But only sādhu-saṅga, this adherence to the saint of similar type, a little better than me, guide, that rāga-bhajana, who are in that path, that divine love and attraction, that is the only way. That is the only thing which can guide us. Laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, the only price is our laul, means our earnest desire, nothing else.

kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatām yadi kuto 'pi labhyate [tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate]

[“Pure devotional service to Kṛṣṇa cannot be obtained by performing pious activities even for millions of births. It can be purchased only by paying one price: intense eagerness. Wherever it is available, one must purchase it immediately.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.70]

Rāmānanda Rāya says to Mahāprabhu, “Kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatām yadi kuto 'pi labhyate, anywhere you find it but try to purchase with any price. What is that? The pure inclination towards the service of Kṛṣṇa, the innermost tendency to want Kṛṣṇa, to get Him, to have Him: the earnest desire to have Him, that desire; a point, a drop of that desire of the divine attraction anywhere you find it, try to purchase with any price. Kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatām, you acquire it. Kuto 'pi labhyate, anywhere, it may be from a bad, or a brāhmaṇa, or anyone, does not matter about the form.”

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

[“Whether a person is a brāhmaṇa, a sannyāsī, or a śūdra, if he knows the science of Kṛṣṇa, he is to be accepted as Guru.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

Wherever there is a drop of that love divine. Only try to get it. And what is the price? Earnest desire for it, no other price, only earnest desire, laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ. Only price is earnest desire. Mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate. It is not to be purchased by any money, anything which is acquired by so many formal practices by crores of births. Substance is necessary and not the form. Form is; we can adore, only that much as it may connect me with that thing. That is not necessary, so:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarvapāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

"All phases of duty you perceive, perfect, give up. At once try to jump in Me, rsabdi, in the ocean of nectar. I'm the ocean of nectar. Try to jump."

That is the direct teaching. So our addiction to this or that, the vānaprastha, the sannyāsa, and the gr̥hastha, that very little value they have got for that. Earnest desire. Earnest desire: that is to be acquired anyhow. That is bhakti proper. Bhakti proper is this.

Otherwise the jñāna to know about Kṛṣṇa, just as Ramakrishna said that in the almanac there is written that this year so much rain is expected. So much rain will come this year. It is written in the almanac. But he says if we squeeze the almanac, does a drop of water ooze out of it?

So the śāstra is like that. Something like that. The śāstra says this, this, do this, do this, do this. That does not mean that the śāstra will give us. First the direction will be so much better, but we practice, we are to do, do actually. So helpless when one is by searching this method, that method. In practically come in connection with the service of a Vaiṣṇava, service, but where? Whom to serve? I can't come in connection with Him direct. Whom I can serve? The Vighraha is there, then the śāstra, all these superficial. More real we find in Vaiṣṇava, in his heart. The Kṛṣṇa conception, the Kṛṣṇa as He is, knowledge or love whatever that may be, we find in living condition in the heart of a Vaiṣṇava which is regulating all his activity towards Him, towards His service. So there is animated more than the Vighraha, than the tīrtha, than the śāstra. Direct connection of Kṛṣṇa we find in the consciousness of a Vaiṣṇava. Where from he's regulating all his activity, withdrawing him from the worldly attraction and guiding him towards some direction what is unknown and unknowable. Towards that direction he's moving. He's making him move in a particular direction what is not to be traced by any loss or gain of this world. What is that thing? What is that thing?

nāhaṁ tisthāmi vaikuṇṭhe yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyante tatra tiṣṭhāmī nārada

[Kṛṣṇa says to Nārada Muni:] “I am there. I am even not in Vaikuṇṭha, even not in the heart of the yogīs. Tisthāmi vaikuṇṭhe yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā. But where My devotees are singing with pleasure about Me, I am owner, I am there.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.2.41 & 4.30.35, purports]

mac-cittā mad-gata prāṇā, bodhayantaḥ parasparam kathayantaś ca
mām nityaṁ, tuṣyanti ca ramanti ca

[“My devotees mix together, talk about Me, and exchange thoughts that give consolation to their hearts. And they live as if this talk about Me is their food. It gives them a high kind of pleasure, and they find that when they talk about Me among themselves, they feel as if they are enjoying My presence.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.9]

In Rāmānuja sampradāya there is an incident, in one night three Ālvārs, three devotees, parṣada devotees, descended their contemporary, in a temple for some occasion perhaps they have gone. But they do not know each other, know one another. In the darkness one talking, another also hearing, it is very sweet to him. Then the third also joined there. And they are talking but they do not know one another. Might have heard the name, that devotee, this devotee, this devotee but in dark night they have met, three met together, natha yogī, buddhi yogī, and someone. Then after talking between them, one questioned.

“We are three here, but do you feel the presence of a fourth person?”

“Yes, I feel the presence of a fourth one.”

Then it is meant, about whom they are talking, that the Lord is here.

“In our talking, in our conversation, He has come here and He’s hearing our talk. The fourth person has come here.”

So only attraction, pure spiritual attraction, nothing can be pleasing to one but Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī, the gopīs, all this. The very innermost part of the heart is taken possession by the thought of Kṛṣṇa and His group, and His līlā, His name, His paraphernalia. That is what is necessary.

man-manā bhava mad-bhakto, mad-yājī māṁ namaskuru mam evaiṣyasi satyaṁ te, pratijāne priyo 'si me

[“Think of Me, serve Me, worship Me, offer your very self unto Me, and surely you will reach Me. Sincerely, this is My promise to you because you are My dear friend.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.65]

“You Arjuna, you are the most favourite devotee. I promise at least I won’t deceive you. You are My friend. I won't deceive you at least. So I say clearly that I am everything, I am everything. I won't deceive you My friend. Man-manā bhava, so always mind Me, mad-bhakto, be My devotee, serve Me, man-manā bhava mad-bhakto, mad-yājī, if you sacrifice anything, do it for Me. Mad-yājī mām namaskuru, or at least you may show respect to Me. Man-manā bhava mad-bhakto, mad-yājī mām namaskuru, mam evaiṣyasi, so you are sure to enter into Me, to come to Me, you may think it well, mam evaiṣyasi, Myself alone you will come to. Satyaṁ te - this is the truth, pratijāne - I promise you; priyo 'si me - you are My favourite. The truth is this - do everything for Me, attend Me, always think of Me and you are sure to come to Me."

This is the plain truth. The thinking, the engagement, the life of engagement is attraction for You, attraction for Him, how to, where to get, how to secure it from the devotee. Superficially from the scripture, but substantially from the devotee. The influence, the catching, from the devotee, recording. Within their heart, within their endeavour, but all though, all pervading through all their activities, there is a particular attraction that is divine thing and I want that, the subtle of the subtle, the structure, the nerve structure within. That can move the bodily activities. That can help to do, the body to do its function, that inner energy in the devotee, what makes him to do it what we do not find in the world, no attraction for the sense pleasure, no attraction for fame, name, money etc., but something else. Kṛṣṇa. We must follow their path. So He says: Mad bhaktanam ca ye bhaktas, te me bhaktatama matah.

[ye me bhakta-janah partha, ne me bhaktas ca te janah] mad bhaktanam ca ye bhaktas, te me bhaktatama matah

["Those who worship Me directly are not real devotees; real devotees are those who are devoted to My devotees."] [Ādi-Purāṇa] & [Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 2.6]

“Who comes to serve Me direct, they are not real devotee to Me. But who is really devotee of My devotee they are My real devotee.” What’s the meaning? “If you love me, love my dog. His love for Me is so intense that wherever you find any external connection of Me he engages himself fully there, fully there.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Bhakta sevā, Vaiṣṇava sevā, Bhāgavat sevā, Guru sevā, then Vighraha sevā, Nāma sevā, the Name. In Kali-yuga especially the service of the Name has been recommended in a general way. But it is mentioned:

sādhū saṅga kṛṣṇa nāma ei matta jai / [vaikuṇṭha nāma grahaṇam aśeṣāgham haraṁ vidun]

[“The Holy Name must be taken with the attitude of service to the saints. Serving means die to live; to throw oneself wholesale for the higher existence.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

Sādhū saṅga, to climb up the real plane where we can take the Name proper - Vaikuṇṭha, vaikuṇṭha nāma grahaṇam aśeṣāgham haraṁ vidun. It is true that infinite magnitude of sin maybe removed by one Name, but that must be vaikuṇṭha nāma aśeṣāgham haraṁ. Unlimited sin may be dispersed, dismissed, but vaikuṇṭha nāma grahaṇam, that Name must have its characteristic of Vaikuṇṭha, that unlimited, eternal, plane of eternity.

Not only the physical sound. So sādhu-saṅga, Name must be taken from Gurudeva, and with the sādhu it should be chanted. Nāma saṅkīrtana, that is to preach the Name. To preach the Name, and what is the Name? The ten offences against the Name, and the four ābhāsa means something shadowy expression of the Name that should be eliminated and the real Name which is one and same with the Lord, that Name should be taken. Nāma bhajana that is a sādhana, means kīrtana, going on, the greatness, the magnanimity of the Name. Name Himself is so charming. Name is the Lord Himself. In this way you go on. Nāma kīrtana. And thereby we can be saved from the external contamination of the forces of the world of karma and jñāna, exploitation and renunciation, the bhukti mukti sprhā - two kinds of great enemy to devotion, the tendency to exploit and the tendency to renounce, the opposite. A third thing is necessary and that is constructive. And that is full in itself, perfect. Neither these two, the negative and the renunciation of the negative, that cannot be a real positive. Positive is not mere withdrawal from the negative side. That is not positive. Positive has got its own characteristics. So we must come in connection with the positive. Positive, sat-cit-ānanda, satyam, śivam, sundaram. We must connect ourselves in all phases, whatever is possible for us. That is vānaprastha.

gr̥he vā vanete thāke, 'hā gaurāṅga' bo'le ḍāke narottamo māge tāra saṅga [Songs Of The Vaisnavas Acaryas, p 75-80]

It does not matter much whether one is a householder, or one is a sannyāsī. It does not matter much. But how much he has intensely engaged himself in the service of the Lord: that is to be seen. Even a gr̥hastha he may be above sannyāsī. During the time of Mahāprabhu so many gr̥hastha devotees were also there but gaura may, tan may, that is a form. But the real spirit is all Gaurāṅga, something.

We found in our young days when joined the non cooperation movement of Gandhi, there are so many volunteers who have left everything, but when police raid is coming they are flying for fear of their life. But we found gr̥hastha like C.R. Dasa, and others, with all the whole of their families they are giving resistance to the police attack. He's a gr̥hastha. He sends his only one son to the prison. His daughter, his sister and his wife, all gone to police custody. And Gandhi - 'I envy your situation.' But he was a gr̥hastha. He was living with all. But when in working out the program he's not less than one who has left everything and dedicated wholly to the cause. He's afraid, but a family man is not afraid, not getting back. So service is necessary. In whatever position he may be, does not matter much. So the gr̥hastha he's in that posing, but when necessity will come he will sacrifice the whole for Kṛṣṇa.

There is Haris Chandra. In his plane he was a king but for the truth as he could conceive he left everything, everything, for the cause he loved. So wholesale dedication, preparedness for the dedication of the whole, it does not matter in what posing he is living there. The internal hankering, the fire within, the dedication within, that is necessary. May not be found in a sannyāsī, but may be found in a gr̥hastha, or vānaprastha, brahmacārī, anyone. The substance we want and not the form much. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

The fire within, agor, the fire burning for the separation of Kṛṣṇa...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...can't sleep, can't take food, in this way, so intense, the separation is so intense. Dead of night He's trying to get out of the house, all closed. How He jumped unconsciously the walls of the house and He came and fell in the front of the temple, Jagannātha temple, and fainted. What degree of separation? It is not possible for us to conceive what degree of separation, feeling was there. Sometimes rubbing His face against the wall, can't get out of the door.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Rādhārāṇī, Her separation with Kṛṣṇa. Her separation: Acinam nayanam bhavanda sukrtam tapasya ksayatu [?]

Some sakhī is representing the separation pain of Rādhārāṇī to Kṛṣṇa in Mathurā. In this way, acinam nayanam bhava [?]

“Previously continued flow of tears we found in Her, in Rādhārāṇī for Your separation, Kṛṣṇa, continuous flow, no gap. But now it is not found in Her. Anyhow She had managed to distribute to Her friends. They are weeping like anything. But it is not to be found, not to be traced in Her any longer.”

nayanam bhavanda tapasya ksayatu [?]

“And She got some temperature in Her body but now that is gone. That is transferred to Her inmates, sakhīs, friends She has [?]”

Danyam nasta nasesa tattva purijane [?]

“And His attendants they are now saying many things. What is our ill fate? We are to see all these afflictions, all these things. Undesirable talks of mourning is found amongst Her attendants. It was in Her previously but then She has managed to leave them in Her now.”

Cinta guru bopita [?]

“She had also deep thought, what will be about His fate and Kṛṣṇa will never come, He's doing there, so many thoughts within Her we found, but no trace. That is Her superiors are burdened with that cinta. Oh! That the girl won't live. She will pass away very soon. What will be the fate of this Braja? If she passes away Kṛṣṇa won't come here again. This sort of thought has been distributed to Her superiors."

Badya sa kidoney vrati braja te sa sarsay baram kidyate [?]

"Only little what is remaining in Her we see that is a hard breath in Her, bleeding heart. And only day or two and that will also disappear. Now, you remain happy here for your misdeed. Your misdeed is the cause of all these things, but She has managed to relieve You. No complaint will come against You any more. Silently She's passing away, keeping You safe. You remain and enjoy with Your own, and She is silently passing away." Her pangs, pains of separation, Rādhārāṇī.

Prahlāda was requested by his father, “Please tell me what progress you are making in your Gurukula study. What have you learned to be the best?”

Prahlāda answered. “I think the best study is this, to know, the best knowledge is this; that to hear, to chant, to serve, all these to Viṣṇu, that is the highest utility of the time of everyone in this world.”

tat sādhu manye 'sura-varya dehinām, [sadā samudvigna-dhiyām asad-grahāt hitvātma-pātaṁ gr̥ham andha-kūpaṁ, vanaṁ gato yad dharim āśrayeta]

[Prahlāda Mahārāja replied: “O best of the āsuras, King of the demons, as far as I have learned from my spiritual master, any person who has accepted a temporary body and temporary household life is certainly embarrassed by anxiety because of having fallen in a dark well where there is no water but only suffering. One should give up this position and go to the forest (vana). More clearly, one should go to Vṛndāvana, where only Kṛṣṇa consciousness is prevalent, and should thus take shelter of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.5]

“That I considered. This I have learned.” And the trouble began from there.

“Yes, Viṣṇu is my enemy eternally. And who has taught you that to cultivate love of Him in different ways that is the best understanding of human life?”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The torture began. So we should also be prepared for that torture. Torture, that will increase our enthusiasm in indirect way. Anything may come. Anything may come. Go on. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. But where is that to be found, that impetus? That intense tendency to serve Kṛṣṇa is very rarely to be found. Nowhere! Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Unknown and unknowable, in this way transcendental.

Aurobindo says supramental. [?] Began to construct the figure of Śiva, Mahādeva. But the product we see that he has constructed a figure of a monkey instead of Mahādeva.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has said that, “India is the best place in the world. Within India Bengal is the best. Then in Bengal, Navadvīpa is the highest.”

And Aurobindo also has imitated him. Aurobindo says, “India is the best in the world. And Bengal of course is the best amongst the place in India, and the Hoogly district is the best in Bengal.”

Then I thought, why he selected this Hoogly? Eliminating Navadvīpa why he selects Hoogly? Then I remembered, recollected the birthplace of Raja Rāma Mohan Rāya the founder of Dāmodara Maṭha. I thought, oh, only for that he has selected Hoogly to be the best, Hoogly district, best in the world, because the birthplace of Raja Rāma Mohan Rāya.

C.R das [?] made a good cabin to Rāma Mohan Rāya as well as Rabindranatha, C.R das [?] His father was a Brahmo but he returned to Hinduism and he told his friends, “If you write something about me then please describe me as a servant of a Vaiṣṇava.” That was his temperament. Good man, sincere man. But not a Vaiṣṇava of the gosha, pure type, but ordinary type, some respect for Vaiṣṇava.

And Bipin Pal was revolutionary, extremist, and the first in the violence. He could not accommodate with Gandhi movement but he was closely connected with C.R. dāsa. And C.R. dāsa he published a paper admiring name Nārāyaṇa. And Bipin Pal was engaged as the editor of that Nārāyaṇa Patrikā. When as college student we read that Nārāyaṇa Patrikā, we found Bipin Pal's explanation of Bhagavad-gītā etc. And Bipin Pal gave a lecture in the viraha meeting in University Hall Calcutta. There he mentioned that, "Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā made by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has taken my faith back in Vaiṣṇavism, Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā, when I read Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā." He was pure Brahmo type, "but that Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā has created faith in Vaiṣṇavism. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's book Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā. I came back to Vaiṣṇavism."

That was the lecture of Bipin Pal. We appreciate that, that he had appreciation for Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writing, to certain extent, anyhow.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's spiritual conception, a very scientific as well as deep, and simple and fervent, accurate, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, modernised, so many things we find in the writings of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā, that was written after Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura retired, after his retirement?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I can't say. Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā. May not be, I don't know exact, Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā. What conception, the high type of realised conception Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given to us, we should not conceive him that this knowledge is acquired by him in his present life. Though it may seem from the ordinary events of life, but that we shall take that this is the natural growth of the jñāna sunya bhakti. A fashion, that is a fashion that in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in the childhood he had some other tendency, this, that, he married twice, all these things, that should not stand in the way of his being the eternal servitor of the Lord. That is, as a fashion that has been. Otherwise such intensity and such depth of the feeling cannot come abruptly. So Prabhupāda has seen him as the facsimile of Gadādhara Paṇḍita. Gaura Kiśora, Svarūpa Dāmodara, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as Gadādhara. So graphic, spacious, all comprehensive and deep knowledge and experience has been given by him, is impossible. At least śaktyāveśa; that means inspired, the inspiration of that type, that quarter.

Nitāi Gaura-Gadādhara. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

[Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, 41] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.58]

Bilvamaṅgala says, "How can I pass these barren days my Lord?

[?]

Adhanyāni dināntarāṇi, hare tvad ālokanam. "Without Hari, without having a peep of Your vision I can't stand, adhanyāni dināntarāṇi, these unfortunate days it is very difficult for me to pass. Adhanyāni dināntarāṇi, hare tvad ālokanam antareṇa, anātha-bandho karuṇaika-sindho. But You are friend to the helpless and You are ocean of kindness, grace. Karuṇaika-sindho, hā hanta hā hanta katham nayāmi. Consider how I can pass my days my Lord without You." Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The normal temperament of a normal person will be here, such. This should be the stage of a normal person here. Separation of course, that is encouraging. That will be encouraging if we find such person always feeling separation of the Lord. Anything else, that should be considered abnormal and dangerous, abnormal and dangerous.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes when you talk about the absolute and relative consideration you say that the relative consideration must be there, but one must not become influenced by the environment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The environment of the mundane world. That does not mean that we won't seek any environment of the spiritual realm. In the spiritual plane the environment contributes much.

Even Rādhārāṇī She says that only Kṛṣṇa cannot satisfy Her without the environment, "So I don't want such Kṛṣṇa."

The devotees of Rādhārāṇī they say, "Only Kṛṣṇa, that is nothing to us if we do not find Rādhārāṇī on His side."

So environment has a great contribution. And there everything, every unit of environment will help me to promote my attention towards Kṛṣṇa. That is all desirable, that is very desirable. But here just the opposite, the perverted reflection, the environment takes to take me away from Kṛṣṇa here in this plane. This is the opposite. This is perverted reflection. Environment always tries to take us out of Kṛṣṇa. And there, all pushing me towards Kṛṣṇa, so environment is healthy there. But here just the opposite; in the plane of exploitation and renunciation.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Here saṅga means asat-saṅga and there sādhu-saṅga means promoting towards my cause. And here taking me away from the cause, saṅga, asat-saṅga - just the opposite here. Perverted reflection, reflection of the above but perverted.

Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar.

So must not be maladjusted. The expression should be properly adjusted. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal.

asat saṅga tyāga - ei vaiṣṇava ācāra / [śtrī saṅgī - eka asādhu, 'kṛṣṇābhakta' āra]

["A Vaiṣṇava should always avoid the association of ordinary people. Common people are very much materially attached, especially to women (and women to men). Vaiṣṇavas should also avoid the company of those who are not devotees of Lord Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.87]

The practice of a student of Vaiṣṇava School is only one. What is that? Asat saṅga tyāga, to renounce environment. That does not mean that the sādhu is also eliminated if he's found. Śtrī saṅgī - eka asādhu, 'kṛṣṇābhakta' āra. Two types of ācāra; one is śtrī saṅgī, that is saṅgī that are attached for sensual pleasure, and another, kṛṣṇābhakta, who has not attraction for Kṛṣṇa but engaged in any other errand. Bhukti kāmī, siddhi kāmī, devata kāmī, all these who are not devotee of Kṛṣṇa, that is to be eliminated. This is the only practice. We shall be careful about our practice, the caution against these two, that is the sense pleasure and also those that have no inclination towards Kṛṣṇa. He may be a scholar, may be a yogī, may be a tyāgi, all these things, but not a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, they should be eliminated.

Anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, fleeting desire, organised desire and jñāna means who are busy to know Kṛṣṇa, to finish Kṛṣṇa, busy to measure Kṛṣṇa. Jñāna always wants to measure Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa or environment, they may not say the word Kṛṣṇa, but measure the environment jñāna, to know, to be master of the acquaintance of everything. That is jñāna, the false errand, that I shall be the subject and everything should be the object of my knowledge. The wild goose chasing, impossible, to run after phantasmagoria, in the expression of our Guru Mahārāja, to run after phantasmagoria. Will o the wisp, phantasmagoria, will o the wisp, and there is another expression for that. It is impossible to be master of everything, to know everything. Only one knows everything, there is only one.

[bahūni me vyatītāni, janmāni tava cārjuna]

tāny ahaṁ veda sarvāṇi, na tvaṁ vettha parantapa

[The Supreme Lord said: “O Arjuna, chastiser of the enemy, both you and I have passed through many births previously. Due to My position as the supreme controller, I am able to remember all those births, whereas you, a living being of finite consciousness, cannot.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.5]

It is not your business to know everything by constitutional position. It will be your folly if you to attempt to know everything, bring everything within your consciousness. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā.

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, [jīvanti san-mukharitām

bhavadiya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vāñ-manobhir, ye

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: "Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3] hatefulness, and [? ...which expresses far away, two adjectives given for dismissal of the knowledge.

Namanta eva, through faith only to submit, through submission, with the nature of submission. tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, amāninā mānadena, [kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

It is very difficult to conquer ones fame here, above faith, prestige, it is very difficult, pratiṣṭhā, position, love of position. Easily this attraction for the females, attraction for the money, that can be easily dismissed. But hankering for ones own position, to give up that, that is the very difficult thing, the prestige, the position: that is innermost enemy. And you cannot offer him so long the service of the Vaiṣṇava.

“Yes I may accept somewhat, hesitate in the service of God at least, but the service of the Vaiṣṇava, that is to come to such a lower settlement. To become a servant of a Vaiṣṇava that would be the be all and end all of my life? I can’t accept that idea, can’t accept that idea. I may accept service under the Supreme Lord anyhow I may manage. But to become a servant of the servant of the servant of the servant of the servant, what is this? A fun? Should a man stoop so low as to become the servant of the servant of the servant of the servant, what is this?”

Gaura Haribol. Pratiṣṭhā, position, prestige, the consciousness of prestige and position, the greatest enemy. Rādhā-dāsyam, slave, to embrace the idea of a slave, ludicrous thing, that can be an ideal of the hope to become a slave, to classify oneself in the position of a slave, to Kṛṣṇa. And this does not end there. Become a slave of the slave of the slave of the slave. This is most ludicrous thing. Gaura Haribol.

“Let them accept this mean settlement. I won’t. So ’ham. I am biggest of the big. I am biggest of the big. I am he, so’ham. Śivo’ham, I’m the master of māyā. Śivo’ ham, the master of māyā.”

Once Jawaharlal [Nehru], I saw in paper, went to Haridwar and found a sādhu coming, approaching. And the sādhu told, namaste śiva namaste, no śivaya. And Jawaharlal also pronounced namah śivaya. Both of them are Śiva, master of Pārvatī, Durgā, Māyā, both of them are master of māyā, śiva. Namaste, namah śivaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A good fellow, good in comparison with the world of mortality, the first reach, or the first place beyond the limit of mortality, that is Mahādeva, Śiva, all these things. But then Sadāśiva, from Śiva we have to pass to sundaram, the land of sundaram. This is only Śiva, śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 1], because out of mortality. This present enemy is devouring, śiva, the middle position, maṅgalam. But what is maṅgalam? That is not differentiated in its full characteristic there, only out of danger. Then, to be out of danger does not mean that it is in the highest safe position. Not only safe but engaged in the most desirable thing, relative, śiva.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Once one of my God-brother was, one Kumar Sudendra Nārāyaṇa Rāya, M.A., Pragu [?] Pragu title was given to him by Punjab University. He was a rich man, annual income was, net income was three lākhs, zamīndār of Darmpur [?]. He took Hari Nāma from Guru Mahārāja. Once Guru Mahārāja went to Ceylon, upper side, and that gentleman already he also went there but When Guru Mahārāja was passing with his inmates in a car, of course the rainy season there, the mud, and the Sudendra Nārāyaṇa Rāya he was out for a walk and he met on the wayside Guru Mahārāja and he at once fell flat in the road in the mud.

Then the inmates of the motor car of Prabhupāda they told, “What do you do in the mud, the hole?” He has got rich dress, this shawl and other rich dress, “and you fall flat smeared with mud, what do you do?”

He told, “Only we have only one thing, to make prostration, praṇāma to the Vaiṣṇava, we can’t do anything else. But there I shall be miser? Only praṇāma is our wealth, everything. And there if I shall be miserly and quarrel what will be my fate, so praṇāma, namanta eva, that is our only resort.”

...

When Mahāprabhu had a talk with one Mathurā brāhmaṇa, Raghupati Upādhyāya, on His way back from Mathurā, Raghupati Upādhyāya, perhaps in Allahabad or so, in their talk, one śloka we find there, śyāma eva param rūpaṁ.

“What is the highest conception of the figure?”

Then the answer was, “Śyāma, śyāma eva param rūpaṁ.” “And what is the highest place of His worship?”

Purī madhu-purī varā, “Mathurā maṇḍala is the highest place where to worship Him.” Vayaḥ kaiśorakaṁ dhyeyam, “What is His age we should, will be befitting for our service?” “Kaiśora: that new youth.”

Ādya eva paro rasaḥ, “In what sort of rasa we shall try to serve Him?”

“That is ādya, in mādhyura rasa.”

śyāma eva param rūpaṁ, purī madhu-purī varā vayaḥ kaiśorakaṁ dhyeyam, ādya eva paro rasaḥ

[“The form of Śyāmasundara is the supreme form, the city of Mathurā is the supreme abode, Lord Kṛṣṇa’s fresh youth should always be meditated upon, and the mellow of conjugal love is the supreme mellow.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.106] [From Padyavali, 82]

Mahāprabhu said that, “You have taught me a good lesson, kaiśora, the new youth of Kṛṣṇa.”

Nitya kaiśori nitya kasyiti [?] We are not going to worship old Kṛṣṇa, of Mathurā or Dvārakā. We are fond of worshipping Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, a new youthful life, kaiśorakaṁ dhyeyam. And kaiśori, all His companions are also of new, new youth. That is the highest point of beauty. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is new youth, kaiśori, only the idea of eternity is akin to that conception, nava-yauvana, everywhere, in māyā also. What is eternal, the idea is like that, nava-yauvana sankar, new youth, progressing, not full-blown, blossoming.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Hari. Gaurāṅga Sundara.

We should not be afraid of our youth, but we should adore our youth, but that will not be engaged in pleasure seeking, but supplying pleasure to the Lord. Utilisation not renunciation our end, utilisation of the highest good, so energy in its fullest command we want to have. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. All youthful in Vṛndāvana, youthful, but well planned, well managed, and well aimed. Well idealed. Where to do it? Fading, a dying thing, never, worshipper of full energy, to the extreme, but it is absolute good.

Our Guru Mahārāja told there is one proverb: Aparay guru sedi me dukhi se dolay [?]

When a cow or a bullock he is out of hut, when it is in fire, the cow shed is in fire and the cow has come out, out of fear of the fire, seeing that red colour there. And when the cow sees that a red cloud is in the sky, she's afraid. "Oh! Perhaps that is fire. It will come to attack me, to burn me."

So he told the māvādīs are suffering from that disease. That red cloud: that is fire. So energy, opulence, they are afraid of, the renunciation. Wherever there is opulence, there is youth, there is beauty, they are much afraid, because they are the worshipper of the negative side. They are afraid. If they go to enjoy, then the reaction will come and kill him. But Vaiṣṇava they know the utilisation of everything for the service of the Lord. So they are not afraid of anything good. All good, all beauty, all attractive, have everything and they will be...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the memory of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Himself is master here. So everything must not attract us, but attract us for the service of Kṛṣṇa. In this way we must be adjusted with the environment. That is necessary. Not to eliminate beautiful, not to eliminate anything which is good in our consideration, but from the bottom of the heart the foreign element of exploitation and renunciation will vanish, and the innate tendency will be awakened to utilise anything and everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa.

vana dekhi' bhrama haya – ei 'vṛndāvana' / śaila dekhi' mane haya – ei 'govardhana'

[When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu passed through the Jhārikhaṇḍa forest, He took it for granted that it was Vṛndāvana. When He passed over the hills, He took it for granted that they were Govardhana.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 17.55]

Wherever a mountain, “Oh, Govardhana.” Wherever a jungle, “Oh, this is Vṛndāvana.” Excites Him. That is what is necessary. Everything will remind me, excite me in the service of my Lord. Viśvam purna sukhāyate. The whole world will be of the highest pleasure to us when we shall get such adjustment in our soul's position, such adjustment; no reaction.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi.

No elimination. Religion is proper adjustment. Our Prabhupāda always used to say this word. We are maladjusted. We want to be properly adjusted. That is what is necessary. Not to renounce anything and everything. That is not the solution. Adjustment is solution. It is created for nothing? It is not, it is created for fulfilment. Only maladjusted we are, so we suffer. But we are properly svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ, Śrīmad-Bhāgavata's [2.10.6] definition of the answer of mukti, muktir hitvānyathā rūpaṁ, to give up what is otherwise with us, like a disease, foreign thing has come, muktir hitvānyathā rūpaṁ svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ. Hegel's theory, self determination, mukti means self determination. What is my proper location in this world, to get that, that is mukti, svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ, firmly settled in my proper...

...undesirable forces of nature and to move freely without caring for anything else, that is artificial. There are so many like me. There must be some relation, mutual relation, and that is something which will represent the whole, what will be my relation with that whole, absolute whole. I am a part. That is all their silenced, the salvationist school are silent there. After mukti so many, what will be the relation between those mukta souls, and what will be their relation with the absolute environment? There they are silent. So it is not final solution, mukti. Final solution we must have to be our position in the relation of the absolute whole. Then it will be final. We cannot divorce us from the absolute whole around us. We must have some position in relation to the Absolute. That must be founded and subtle understanding and it must have some position in relation. Self determination, we cannot eliminate the environment. The Absolute, that means Lord, God.

In reality the slavery to the Absolute, that it should be our real position. Otherwise we are not so meagre, we cannot come to such a helpless position. We are connected with the Absolute. We can't deny that. At the same time our position is not very desirable, then we cannot come under such unfavourable environment forces. So if I get a post of a slave there, that will be the maximum for us. And there I can enjoy. My maximum fated enjoyment I can get there only. Not very big, then why should I be here? If I was a big position then why should I be here? And so many insects, so many worms, so many in the creation, they're all absolute, so many absolute, so many infinite? Ludicrous! All right, today I want to leave it here.

Proper meaning of the sound, of the word, that is necessary, the substance, the spirit. Only the physical aspect is represented there in nāmāparādha, but not the real Name. That is all spiritual. So this was misunderstood as nāmākātari ?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Nāmākṣara bahiraya comes out, bahiraya comes out, nāmākṣara, the letters in the Name, the sound of the letters in the Name, but nāma kabu naya, it is never the Name real. It is in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writing Prema-vivarta, made by Jagadānanda and edited by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. That is full of Gauḍīya siddhānta, that booklet, Jagadānanda Paṇḍit. The notes collected by Jagadānanda Paṇḍit that is been given the shape of a book. The name is Prema-vivarta. Prema-vivarta is the name of the book. There this passage you will find, nāmākṣara bahiraya batu nāma kabu naya. It should not be thought to be the Name, should not be thought to be the Name proper in any time, ever, kabu. Rāma Rāma.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, even in nāmābhāsa, it's depending on Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is also ākṣara to somewhat, to some extent, the sound aspect, the outer aspect, but the inner representation of the Name is not there. Nāmābhāsa, this side the mukti, it can give us mukti, liberation, the emancipation for the negative side. But there also we cannot trace participation in the positive, so Name is not present there. Name is a positive thing. And to get the touch of it we must enter, have admission in the positive world. And when we are already in the negative side how can we get the touch of the Name? So mukti, may give liberation but not participation in the devotional realm. So proper Name is not to be found there also.

Mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ. "A particular group of the liberated souls they want to worship the Name, not all. Mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ, paritas. So many liberated souls are found to worship Him, to respect Him around all the sides of the Name." Rūpa Goswāmī says. Rūpa

nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna mālā, dyuti nīrājita-pāda-paṅkajānta

ayi mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ, paritas tvām hari-nām saṁśrayāmi

[“The acme of all the Vedas, the Upaniṣads, are like a string of transcendental jewels. The tips of the toes of Your lotus feet, O Holy Name, are eternally worshipped by the radiance emanating from those jewels. You are constantly worshipped by the great liberated souls (headed by Nārada and Śuka, whose hearts are reposed in complete absence of worldly aspirations). Therefore, O Name Divine, I surrender unto You in every time, place, and circumstance.”] [Nāmāṣṭakam, 1]

Sanātana Goswāmī's śloka: viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujoyadhi yatna [Bṛhad- Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9], that is by Sanātana Goswāmī.

Nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna mālā, dyuti nīrājita-pāda-paṅkajānta. Rūpa Goswāmī says nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna, not in all the śrutis the Nāma-hatta, the greatness of the Name may be found. Not in ordinary śruti. Nikhila-śruti, the whole of the śruti if you study then you will find the very spirit of it. Nikhila-śruti-mauli, mauli means the head, mauli ratna. Ordinary people may not find when they will study the śruti. But there are sāragrāhī, those that can collect the real substance, the real purpose from the vast writings, they will be able to detect.

The whole purpose of all the main śruti, the principle sūtra in the śruti, they are giving hints. Śruti means śabda, śruti, that can be grasped by the ear, śruti, śabda. So the śabda, all the sounds, the revealed truth sound, sound that has come from up, there they naturally say to us that through sound only you can approach the reality. Otherwise they are suicidal.

If śruti does not say by sound only you will get the thing, then what is the necessity of Veda? That is only sound embodied. So if we can trace the very real characteristic of the śruti, we shall say the principle śruti are saying that by sound, by the cultivation of sound you can get the Lord. So we have come only through sound, śabda-paramāṇam. The sound can give deliverance of the reality. Śruti cannot but say so, otherwise śruti will be ineffective. They're only a jungle of sounds. Śruti means Veda which we can receive through the ear; that is sound only. The sound is Absolute. "So we have come to declare to you that through sound only you will attain the highest end."

So the main sūtras of the śruti informs us nikhila-śruti-mauli, mauli means from the principle śrutis, ratna-mālā - and there like so many gems or jewels and that is forming a necklace and by the lustre of the principle śrutis it is shown the feet of the Holy Name. Ratna mālā, dyuti nīrājita, nīrājan means ārātrika, just as by the light we make nīrājan, the ārātrika to show the ordinary people more clearly the figure of the Lord. So the principle śrutis they are helping us to have this conjecture of this perception that by sound only we can have the Supreme Lord. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rūpa Goswāmī says that, "It is the business of the śruti if we give more attention then we'll find the principle śrutis are only trying to show, just as like ārātrika, the pañca-dwīpa is trying to show you the figure. Generally you can see the Śrī Mūrti but with the help of the dwīpa you can have a particular conception of different parts of the body of the Lord. So the principle śrutis we will find that they are trying to show, nīrājan, to show by their shika, by their flame, their light, flame of light the nīrājita-pāda-pañkajānta, the lower portion of You, the Name. That is leading us to help, to have a conception of the remotest part, the vague conception that Name is everything." Dyuti nīrājita-pāda-pañkajānta, ayi mukta-kulair upāśyamānam. "And those that are really liberated, they are all around and adoring You, and pleasing You, we shall see.” Paritas tvām hari-nām saṁśrayāmi. “And I take refuge to the conception of the figure of Hari Nāma in this spirit, this spirit. Kṛṣṇa Nāma is not found in Veda. Why should we take Kṛṣṇa Nāma? Is it in Veda? Some will come and say. Rather sometimes it is mentioned as the name of āsura is Kṛṣṇa in Veda. So Kṛṣṇa Nāma is not in the Veda. Why should I take the Name?”

śyāmāc chavalam̐ prapadye, śavalāc chyāmaṁ prapadye

[“By the help of black (śyāmā), we shall be introduced to the service of the white (śavalā); by the help of white (śavalā), we shall be introduced to the service of black (śyāmā).”] [Chāndogya Upaniṣad, 8.13.1]

Śyāma is there. Śyāma and śavalā, śavalā and śyāma. Śyāma is considered to be Kṛṣṇa and śavalā Śrī Rādhikā. In Veda we find śyāmāc chavalam̐ prapadye, śavalāc chyāmaṁ prapadye. By the help of Śyāma we shall be introduced to do the service of Śavalā and by the help of Śavalā we shall try to be introduced in the service of Śyāma. We shall take help of both the parties, śakti-śaktimān, Śyāma and Śavalā. Śavalāc chyāmaṁ prapadye. Śavalā means white generally, śyāma means black and white, black and white Kṛṣṇa-Balarāma and also Kṛṣṇa-Rādhārāṇī. That has been interpreted by the Ācāryas. So śyāmāc chavalam̐ prapadye, śavalāc chyāmaṁ prapadye, we find there.

And Rūpa Goswāmī says that, “Only superficial study of the Veda it will frustrate you. But if you with a positive mind by the grace of the sādhu, Ācārya, mahājana, you go to look out then find the principle śruti is there, they are only persuading us, or leading us towards the conception that the whole object of all the sounds are towards that central sound. They are all so many parts come to distribute the tidings of the absolute realm but their centre, there must be a centre, the higher centre. And the principle sounds they are all emitting light like torch to show that we have got a central centre, central sound and that represents the whole and it is Kṛṣṇa. And so many liberated section they are sitting all around to show their respects to that central sound from which all the mantram of the Vedas has emanated to give some idea of that absolute centre, sound aspect of the centre. There cannot but be.” This is Rūpa Goswāmī’s argument.

“All these branches of śruti, sound, they are all sound, so many sounds they must come from a central position. And they cannot but direct to a proper eye that we have got a centre, fountain. And go, start, run towards that direction. You will find everything is there. In our source you will find everything. We are all representing things partly, we are so many branches, we represent so many parts. But we have got a centre, we have got fountain. And the reading of them you go in this direction. And you will find that sound is sufficient. Sound can sufficiently satisfy you, the sound aspect. And through that you may be introduced to other aspects of that sound. So Name first, first important, and Name is not less, it can represent the whole, the Name, Kṛṣṇa Nāma.”

ayi mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ, paritas tvām hari-nāma saṁśrayāmi

[“The acme of all the Vedas, the Upaniṣads, are like a string of transcendental jewels. Therefore, O Name Divine, I surrender unto You in every time, place, and circumstance.”] [Nāmāṣṭakam, 1]

“I take refuge under You, that grand central sound who has given cohesion to all the sounds in the revealed scripture.” That is the meaning.

And Sanātana Goswāmī says: viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujoyadhi yatna. jayati jayati nāmānanda rūpam murarer, [viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujoyadhi yatna katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prānināṁ yat, paramāmṛtam ekaṁ jīvanam bhuṣanam me]

[Sanātana Goswāmī says: “Let ecstasy in the service of the Divine Name be victorious. If somehow we can come in contact with that sound, nāma rūpam murāreḥ, then all our other activities will be paralysed; we will have no necessity of performing any other activity. Our many variegated duties will have no importance to us at all if we can achieve the service of the Divine Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Bṛhad-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9]

Let the ecstasy in the service of the Divine Name be victorious. Jayati jayati nāmānanda rūpam murarer, viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujoyadhi yatna. Anyhow if we come in contact with that sound nāma rūpa murarer then all other activities are paralysed, have no necessity, viramita nija dharma. First, all the duties, sense of duty paralysed, they’re abandoned, no necessity. So many variegated duties they have no necessity at all if I can get the service of the Name, viramita nija dharma. Dhyāna, and meditation, dharma means this business engagement of the karmī in the world, and dhyāna means retired from this physical world and making meditation within. Trying to exploit anything in the internal world: that is also stopped, paralysed. Cessation puts a stop, dhyāna, viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujoyadhi rūpam.

And the Rāmānuja section they are making arcana in the Vaikuṇṭha, Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa. That will also be stopped, no necessity. If you get the real grace of the Divine Name then you will have to retire from all the phases of these different types of worshipping, the dharma, dhyāna, pūjā.

Dharma means this duty, varṇāśrama dharma. Dhyāna means the jñānī, yogī, covering them, and the pūjā covering also Rāmānuja sampradāya, after mukti in Vaikuṇṭha.

The Name will take to the perception of the Goloka, and you will have to retire completely from all these phases of your life divine. To do any work, even it may be for Kṛṣṇa, then the dhyānam, the internal meditation and calculation and other things and pūjā, we respect the service of them. Only the Name can stop all these. You will have no other mind. You can't give any attention to any other thing. So much sweetness you will find in taking the Name. When you really come in contact with the sound aspect of the Absolute then all other endeavours, enthusiastic and endeavouring attempts in you will be paralysed, they can't do.

All other functions paralysed. You can't attend them, you are only taking the Name. Then when again that Name will allow you to do other services you'll do that. Name has such power, potency, such high degree of potency that it will stop all other branches of services and charm you.

Our many variegated duties will have no importance to us at all if we can achieve the service of the Divine Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Bṛhad-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9]

In Rūpa Goswāmī we find tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī, “When it comes down and captures the tongue, the lips, so strongly it controls and engage them in the movement by taking Name, like a mad, tongue is mad, lips are mad, so much has power descended in them. Tāṇḍavinī ratim vitanute tuṇḍāvalī. And there comes also a feeling that only one tongue and one mouth is not sufficient. Thousands of mouths are necessary. One mouth is not sufficient to take the Name. Tuṇḍāvalī- labdhaye, karṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī. When it captures, enters the ear and captures it, in such a great force the current comes in the ear, one thinks that karṇa-kroḍa, only two ears are not sufficient. Crores of ears I want to attend the current that is coming, the sweet current that is entering into my ear. Two ears that is nothing, crores of ears are necessary. It is like a flood it is coming, pushing within me through the ear, so sweet, so sweet. Karṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām, cetaḥ-prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāṇāṁ. As it goes to capture the heart, the centre of all the senses; then whole thing paralysed, paralysed.

Pralayera āgamana, bhāve sarvva-deha jara [Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya, 3, from Śaraṇāgati]

Karṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām, cetaḥ-prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtiṁ. Wherever it touches, that sweet aggressor, wherever it touches, the whole thing captures in such intensity that all others are ignored. Prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtiṁ, no jāne janitā kiyadbhir amṛtaiḥ kṛṣṇeti varṇa-dvayī. I can't know, I can't say, I fail to express by how much and what sort of quality of nectar is in the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Only these two letters. If these two letters can contain how much and of what high quality sweetness there that it plays like this, wherever it goes its nature is like that. So aggressive, sweetness is so aggressive in its nature. Wherever goes captures it, whole thing, nothing remains.”

That is in Vidagdha-Mādhava perhaps. Rūpa Goswāmī writes.

[tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratiṁ vitanute tuṇḍāvalī-labdhaye karṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām cetaḥ-prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtiṁ no jāne janitā kiyadbhir amṛtaiḥ kṛṣṇeti varṇa-dvayī]

[“When the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa appears on the lips of a devotee, it begins madly dancing. Then the Name takes over and handles him as if the person to whom the lips belong loses all control over his lips, and the devotee says: ‘With one mouth, how much can I gather the ecstasy of the Holy Name? I need millions of mouths to taste its unlimited sweetness. I’ll never feel any satisfaction by chanting with only one mouth.’”] [Vidagdha Mādhava, 1.15]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in maybe Śaraṇāgati there is one śloka, a song, where he describes how the Nāma comes from inside and then comes...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

hṛdaya haite bale, jihvāra agrete cale, śabda-rūpe nāce anukṣaṇa;

[kaṇṭhe more bhaṅge svara, aṅga kāpe thara thara, sthira haite nā pāre

[“The Holy Name speaks from within my heart, moves on the tip of my tongue, and constantly dances on it in the form of transcendental sound.
My throat becomes choked up, my body violently trembles, and my feet move uncontrollably.”] [Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya, 2, from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s Śaraṇāgati]

The whole thing is described there very beautifully. Viṣaya-vāsanānale, mora citta sadā jvale, ravi-tapta marubhūmi sama.

[kṛṣṇa-nāma dhare kata bala viṣaya-vāsanānale, mora citta sadā jvale, ravi-tapta marubhūmi sama;

karṇa-randhra patha diyā, hṛdi mājhe praveśiyā, variṣaya sudhā anupama]

[“How much power does the Name of Kṛṣṇa possess? My heart constantly burns in the fire of worldly desires, like a desert scorched by the sun. The Holy Name, entering within my heart through the holes of my ears, showers unparalleled nectar upon my soul.”] [Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya, 1, from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Śaraṇāgati]

“Just like a desert, hot with the sun ray. This is my, my internal mind, condition is like that, a desert and the sun ray connection. So my heart is like that, my whole mind.

Viṣaya-vāsanānale, mora citta sadā jvale, ravi-tapta marubhūmi sama. Because by the desires of mortal things by nature they cannot satisfy, because by their nature they are mortal, they are death producing, separation producing, death producing. It is their nature. And not one or two, thousands of such death producing things have taken shelter in my mind. And so it is always burning in the subconscious region.

Viṣaya-vāsanānale, mora citta sadā jvale, ravi-tapta marubhūmi sama; karṇa-randhra patha diyā, hṛdi mājhe praveśiyā, variṣaya sudhā anupama. When this is my condition, anyhow through my ear from sādhu, Guru, the Name of Kṛṣṇa entered into my heart, Kṛṣṇa, with its infinite prospect. Karṇa-randhra. Anyhow entered through the hole of the ear and entered into, and reached the plane of my heart, my consideration. And there with the hope of some peculiar nature with infinite auspicious possibility, with such news it touched my heart. Karṇa-randhra patha diyā, hṛdi mājhe praveśiyā, variṣaya sudhā anupama. A nectar of new type, new hope is aroused by that sound.

Hṛdaya haite bale, jihvāra agrete cale. Then by force it comes from the heart towards the tongue, forcibly comes. I am not to make any attempt for that, that in the tongue by my endeavour I am producing the sound. No. From the heart, what came from the heart of the sādhu through the ear entered my heart and that forcibly came to my tongue and began to dance. That is Name proper. It descends from higher regions. It cannot be produced in the material form of this tongue. Its source is above. And through the agent it comes and the way through the ear to the heart. And from heart it gets some sympathy, and then forcibly it comes out on the tongue and begins to dance. Hṛdaya haite bale mena balapool bak. With great force, hṛdaya haite bale, jihvāra agrete cale, it comes to the end of the tongue.

And śabda-rūpe nāce anukṣaṇa, and that sweet sound began its dancing. Kaṇṭhe more bhaṅge svara, aṅga kāpe thara thara. The real feats of the Divine Name have been described, how it should do. If a living Name, a real Name, then its ways should be such. Kaṇṭhe more bhaṅge svara, the voice choked sometimes. Then shivering in the body, sthira haite nā pāre caraṇa, the legs cannot stand idly. Cakṣe dhārā, sometimes tears flow in a current. Dehe gharṇma, sweats on the body. Pulakita saba carṇma, the hairs stand on their end.”

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Goose bumps, stands on their ends.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Vivarṇa haila kalevara, sometimes changes of colour is found in the body of white, red, etc. Mūrcchita haila mana, pralayera āgamana, sometimes no trace we can get of the mind, or consciousness, a fall in swoon. Mūrcchita haila mana, pralayera āgamana, bhāve sarvva-deha jara jara, and the whole body and mind is as if it is being attacked and troubled in the shivered influence in variegated nature.

Kari' eta upadrava, citte varṣe sudhā-drava, those apparently it may seem that so many troubles are created in the body and the mind, but in the real heart it is pouring a particular kind of strange juice, sweet juice in the very centre of our conception, consideration. Citte varṣe sudhā-drava, more ḍāre premera sāgare, and sometimes he thinks that I am in the ocean of nectar. My whole feeling, the feeling of my existence just within an ocean with nectar in it, liquid. More ḍāre premera sāgare, kichu nā bujhite dila, more ta' bātula kaila, mora citta-vitta, I am besides myself, can't understand where am I, what is this, what is about me. Kichu nā bujhite dila, more ta' bātula kaila. Almost made me mad. Am I a madman? Where is my past experience, my sober seriousness, sobriety, gravity, where are they, what am I? Wholesale converted by a foreign thing, a doll in the hand of so much a great force and also very affectionate. I can't ascertain how it is possible by the great in this unknown environment, inexperienced before. Kichu nā bujhite dila, more ta' bātula kaila, mora citta-vitta saba hare. And at last I found that I am captivated, of inner out, whole thing has been captured by a particular sweet force. I can't help but be a prey to such a sweet force or power.

Lainu āśraya yā'ra, hena vyavahāra tā'ra, balite nā pāri e sakala, I can't give any description properly. Whom I came to take shelter under as my guardian and at His hand I'm dealt in such a mercilessly and some despotic way, but still I feel that everything is very pleasing beyond my experience. What is this? Balite nā pāri e sakala; kṛṣṇa-nāma icchāmaya, yāhe yāhe sukhī haya, sei mora sukhera sambala. I can't stand any more. I am fully captured and let my fate go anyway. I can't come out. I am fully captivated in the hand of a sweet friend I think but my whole independence gone. I've no way but to surrender. I'm under such condition. Balite nā pāri e sakala. I cannot give, unable to give any description of what is my position really. Kṛṣṇa-nāma icchāmaya, yāhe yāhe sukhī haya, sei mora sukhera sambala. Now I found that He's autocrat, whatever He likes to do He will do. No help. Icchāmaya, yāhe yāhe sukhī haya, and now in ways when it is not possible for me to give any resistance then to surrender, in whatever way He's pleased let me also cooperate with that, otherwise what can I do, I am helpless. Sukhī haya, sei mora sukhera sambala.

Premera kalikā nāma, adbhuta rasera dhāma, hena bala karaye prakāśa, sometimes I find that is very love concised like a blossoming flower. The love is in a very suppressed and condensed form I find, kalikā. Adbhuta rasera dhāma, and very wonderful streams of sweet approach coming from its current. It contains so many sweet variegated nature of current within it. Adbhuta rasera dhāma, hena bala karaye prakāśa, and wonderfully expressing Himself in different ways...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...introduced their word extensively, and spaciouly, and necessarily, and that is the key. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

nitāiyer koruṇā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe, dharo nitāi-caraṇa du 'khāni [From Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura's Manaḥ-śikṣā]

And those that neglect Nityānanda they can't come to Mahāprabhu with real heart. And it is my thinking that Narottama Ṭhākura he wrote this poem against the followers of Advaita School. They're puffed up with their śāstric knowledge and did not give importance of, to Nityānanda. And this is written, sei paśu baḍa durācār, vidyā-kule ki karibe tāra.

The trace of high dynasty, high lineage, and also scholarship of the scriptures, they're all futile if they do not have real attraction for Nityānanda. The scholars who recognise Mahāprabhu Caitanyadeva, but do not recognise Nityānanda, there was a section at that time who could not appreciate Nityānanda Prabhu but he had respect for the bhakti cult, scripture, and also came from high family, so many. And Nityānanda Prabhu was more concerned with the different fallen so called lower classes of varṇāśrama. He was more connected. So Nityānanda Prabhu had much respect then from the society. Narottama Ṭhākura especially wrote these pastimes. Without Nityānanda Prabhu's grace, your scholarship, your lineage, high family connection, won't be of any use. I warn you. And Nityānanda's grace, that is the real foundation to have Caitanya līlā. And then of course Gadādhara Paṇḍita and the others, that Rūpa, Sanātana, Svarūpa Dāmodara, and the central figures in Mahāprabhu's līlā. The master of all the Ācāryas of the great Gauḍīya family is Svarūpa Dāmodara. He has given the steel frame. Fourteen points he has given, and that is the steel frame on which the whole Gaura līlā tattva has been described.

Kavirāja Goswāmī has quoted in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, who is Nityānanda, who is Gadādhara, who is Śrīvāsa, who is Mahāprabhu? All coming from Svarūpa Dāmodara, and Sanātana, Rūpa, Jīva, everyone has taken, has accepted that, very substance, all important śloka he has given, he has acquainted us, who is and who is Nityānanda, Gadādhara, Śrīvāsa, Advaita, who are they. That is universally accepted by mahājanas of Gauḍīya sampradāya.

Svarūpa Dāmodara, posterity in descendants of Advaita varṇśa, they're half and half, six sons, half came to Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, half to smārta. The first half went to smārta. And the last half, the Acyutānanda, the last son, youngest, and Kṛṣṇa Miśra Gopāla, they came under the flag of Mahāprabhu. And the others they left, they accepted [?] the greatest scholar of smārta section at that time. They were also qualified men but followed the cause of smārta karma-kāṇḍa. And many of the Advaita

School, whether you have come to know or not, they think that Advaita Prabhu is Kṛṣṇa, and Mahāprabhu is Rādhārāṇī. Their conception is something like that, a particular section. There are so many scholars they, of course in taking the name of Mahāprabhu they get so many disciples, but still, when they begin to explain Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam they do not give any respect to Mahāprabhu, but Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa direct. This Ānanda Gopāla Goswāmī and other renowned explainers of Bhāgavatam, they used to go on in that way.

And Narottama Ṭhākura warned them, gave warning. “If you don’t have any recognition for Nityānanda Prabhu, rest assured that you’ll be lost.” Sei paśu baḍa durācār. He’s an animal and he must be pronounced as a culprit in the garb of a follower of Mahāprabhu Caitanya Deva. So Nityānanda Prabhu’s sandhinī-śakti, Baladeva, representing Baladeva. And crossing Him it is not possible to have entrance, admission in that layer, in the sphere of Mahāprabhu as well as Rādhā-Govinda, Vṛndāvana. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

nitāi-pada-kamala koṭi candra-suśītala, ye chāyāya jagat juḍāya hena nitāi vine bhāi rādhā-kṛṣṇa pāite nāi, dṛdha kari' dhara nitāir pāy se sambandha nāhi yāra bṛtha janma gela tāra, sei paśu baḍa durācāra nitāi nā bālila mukhe majila saṁsāra-sukhe, vidyā-kule ki karibe tāra ahaṅkāre matta hoiyā nitāi-pada pāsariyā, asatyere satya kari māni [nitāiyera karuṇa habe braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe, dhara nitāi-caraṇa du'khāni]

[nitāiyer-caraṇa satya tāñhara sevaka nitya, nitāi-pada sadā kara āśa narottama baḍa dukhī nitāi more kara sukhī, rākha rāṅgā-caraṇera pāśa] [Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura's Manaḥ-śikṣā]

["The lotus feet of Prabhu Nityānanda are most pleasing, like the combined calming radiance of millions of moons. By receiving the cooling shade of His transcendental shelter the whole universe, scorched by heat of material existence, can be fully relieved and soothed. O dear brothers, without the grace of such a magnanimous personality as Prabhu Nityānanda, it is very difficult to attain divine loving service to Śrī Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa in the groves of Vṛndāvana. Therefore firmly take shelter of His lotus feet with all sincere respect and love so you may reach that nectarean goal.

A person who has not strived to receive any blessed connection with Nityānanda Prabhu or His invaluable wealth, which is ecstatic love of Godhead, becomes materially entangled and his intelligence is misused for animal propensities. Compared to the higher life of divine taste such a life is considered wasted. Those who do not know the great fortune of taking the Name of Nityānanda as well as those who deliberately ignore Him become more and more intoxicated and addicted to mundane happiness.

Without a connection to the eternal blissful nature of Nityānanda Prabhu what real protection can the satisfaction of mundane education or boast of heritage give in this insecure mortal world? Being maddened and bewildered by false pride, such persons forget their eternal relationship with Nityānanda and do not attain the great solace of His lotus feet and thus accept illusion as reality. My friends, if Nityānanda Prabhu gives you mercy, only then can you attain the service of Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, the Divine Couple of Vraja, therefore firmly embrace His lotus feet and beg Him for it. Please know that the shelter of the lotus feet of Prabhu Nityānanda are eternally true and the giver of transcendental fulfilment. One who engages in the loving service of Nityānanda with perfection is understood to have attained that plane of eternal truth and fulfilment. Therefore always pray and hope for the shelter of Śrī Nityānanda Prabhu's lotus feet.

Narottama says: “O merciful Prabhu Nitāi, I find myself very unsatisfied because I have an endless hankering for more of the taste of Your nectarine grace. So please satisfy this need of mine and make me very happy by keeping me close to Your lotus feet, ever smeared with the hue of divine ecstasy.”] [Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura's Manaḥ-śikṣā]

In this way the song is progressing of Nityānanda's kṛpā, His grace. It is indispensable, at least in its first stage, and after sākhyā within Him, and in vātsalya, and in mādhyura rasa He's withdrawing friends from that sort of rasa, for the necessity of the rasa, confidential, heart's confidential.

Gaura Haribol. Any question? Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you said two days ago that the Guru can only be defeated by his son, or I think it was his father. What was it? Disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. There is a saying: Sarvatya vijayam ichet sisyat utyat para jayam [?]

It is desirable that one will attain victory at every place, but only defeat to his own son, and to his own disciple. That is, the disciple will be greater, greater merit and resources and prospect, all these things. The glory, that will enhance his position. It's also said that one's merit is of past lives is just by his son. But what type of son he has got, that will show the merit of his previous birth.

So the Guru sincerely wills that his disciple may surpass him even in his serving to his Lord. He will expect more than himself, more service, that he may be, may have greater position in the circle of the eternal servitors than he. That is the, such affection the Guru has towards śiṣya, such well wisher Guru is of a śiṣya, of a disciple. He gives him.

Mahāprabhu gives everything what He knew to Rūpa Goswāmī. And again He's asking, while in Purī, "Yes, he's a proper person to propagate devotion, so I have given My everything to him. And I request you also to, whatever you have got, to transmit, to give it to him."

So Guru loves his disciple, empties, self emptied, he makes him empty and feels pleasure by giving everything to the disciple. Such is the nature of the affection what Guru feels to his real disciple. This is the principle, and it is true. The disciple, then how the disciple will take it in his turn? He should give more respect to him than the Lord, Kṛṣṇa. He's abiding by the order of Guru. So Rādhā-dāsyā comes from that. He'll be servant to his immediate master. He does not know the real purpose of his Absolute Lord, Kṛṣṇa. He's more faithful to his master, the well wisher, the greatest well wisher. Whatever he will require him to do, he'll do that. Because through him he can expect that, not by crossing Guru one will go to Kṛṣṇa. Never. By the principle of Guru, personally change according to his own progress. And by outside figure may think that the Guru's position of his construct, the vision, conception of Guru, will always be of that type. Make him vacant to give his all to the disciple, and disciple also in his turn will give wholesale on his divine feet. That should be the highest conception of the pure divine relationship with the Guru and śiṣya. And in the physical world also, son and father. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And in the case of Kṛṣṇa also He says:

aham bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra iva dvija [sādhubhir grasta-hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

“I can do anything and everything for My devotees.” It is also mentioned in many places of the scripture.

Sisya lagi bhakta lagi akarya karam [?]

Even what is blameable the Lord does it for His devotees, it is mentioned.

Bhakta lagi akarya karam [?]

In the case of breaking His own promise to keep up the promise of Bhīṣma. And Bhīṣma leaving the fighting, with folded palms he seeks to praise Kṛṣṇa. “How, what sort of devotion and affection You have got for Your devotee? I am a lowest type of devotee, or even not so. But to keep my prestige, my promise, You have left Your promise that You won’t take any weapon in this war of Kurukṣetra. But You have taken it because I promised that I shall force You to take weapon today in my fight. And You have kept my promise and left that of You. So merciful, so affectionate, to a mean, so called servant of You.” That was Bhīṣma’s statement.

Bhakta lagi akarya karam [?]

This is the nature of love. Love is such. [?] The great and small, their relation of love, great and small, no distinction. High and low, no distinction. That is the peculiar nobility in the substance of love. That is real love, no distinction. The biggest comes to be servant of the lowest. Gaura Hari. This is bhakti, this is love.

[17:10 - 19:00, Bengali (?) conversation]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So today I stop here. I have come to the acme of the talks today.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The answers come, without asking question you give answers, even if we do not ask a question. If we think, we still get the answer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. These questions have taken me to such a position, such a plane, that Kṛṣṇa is all in all, and He's represented also in everywhere to the extreme. So we need not be afraid of risking everything for His service. Whatever small we risk, but what we get that is infinite, and infinite to such a degree. To such a degree, being finite we can have, as if, the possession of the infinite in such a degree. This is given by Mahāprabhu and His servitors to us. This news, such hope has been given, has come to our door. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

By the grace of Mahāprabhu, Mahāprabhu says, He Himself, that entity, He says that, "I am in such position. Ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno. I am dependant on My devotee."

_____ [?] He has this sweet relationship between the servant and the master, man and master, such sweetest and sincere most relationship what Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu gives us. This sort of, the most highest prospect of jīva is where slavery, outwardly, but mastership of the absolute in reality.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra. In Prapanna- jīvanāmṛta [1.21] I have mentioned perhaps the last achievement for the jīva of the prapanna, ātma-pradāna-paryanta-, pratijñāntaḥ-pratiśrutam. He has given understanding. He has promised that, "I dedicate wholly to the interest of My devotees." This assurance is there, so much, those that surrender to Him, for them, His assurance is, “That as I am, I give it wholesale to you.” Ātma-pradāna-paryanta-, pratijñāntaḥ-pratiśrutam. Those that have surrendered themselves they get the promise of such prospect, so much. So much promise they get in return of their surrender. Surrender is so powerful. Apparently, for the time being, feels that I’m self effacement, but really it gets in return the Absolute in its contribution. So much powerful thing this surrender, śaraṇāgati. And this is the only medicine that can be applied on the absolute, which can bring us to us, to cure our disease. What more? Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. I may not commit offence on the feet of the Lord, forgive me.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: We are always coming with empty vessels and you are always fulfilling.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our Prabhupāda, when there was Parvat Mahārāja, when after rasa līlā, when Rādhārāṇī left that and Kṛṣṇa when found that Rādhārāṇī is absent in the rasa, suddenly He found and then He left the rasa and went in search of Rādhārāṇī. And when He met Her then following Her for some time and then Rādhārāṇī told: “I am too much tired. If further I’m to go You must carry Me. I can’t walk.” Then Kṛṣṇa disappeared, for the time being.

And Parvat Mahārāja, one of his old disciples, of Prabhupāda, asked: “What is this, why Kṛṣṇa left Rādhārāṇī when She asked that take Me wherever You like I can’t walk any more? Then He disappeared. This is showing negligence.”

Then Prabhupāda was enraged. “What point of devotion you find here that you have come to ask question.” He was enraged.

I was nonplussed, that Prabhupāda without trying to give some answer to this question he flew into a temper, what’s the matter? Then he stopped. Then I thought, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura when explaining the meaning of this passage he must have given some point of understanding. Prabhupāda avoided totally, he could not tolerate that any disregard from Kṛṣṇa towards Rādhārāṇī he could not tolerate at all. He just dismissed the point of discussion, so much excited.

Then I found Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written, “Only to enjoy the situation that if Kṛṣṇa disappears at that point how Rādhārāṇī will move. And what sort of nature comes in Her, to enjoy that, Kṛṣṇa was just in the background, to enjoy. He did not leave Rādhārāṇī, it is not possible, but only He hid Himself to satisfy His curiosity that what She does when suddenly abandoned. That was His meaning, and not to neglect Her, and this is the meaning. But Prabhupāda could not tolerate the idea. Also I found when, there is a song of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

āmi to svānanda-sukhada vāsī.

[Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura sings, “I am a resident of Svānanda-sukhada-kuñja.”] [From page 32 of The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura]

That that song that is a point that, “I can’t tolerate the participation, I can’t look with pleasure the servitors of the camp of Candrāvalī, Śaibyā, etc. Because their sight excites in me the idea that they want to take Kṛṣṇa from the camp of Rādhārāṇī making it dark perhaps.”

rādhikā-kuñja āndhāra kori’ loite cāhe se rādhāra hari.

Whenever that was, twice it was sung, rādhikā-kuñja āṇdhāra kori', they want to snatch away Kṛṣṇa making the kuñja of Rādhārāṇī dark, Prabhupāda receives a shock, electric shock, just like he's receiving a shock. It is intolerable that Rādhārāṇī's kuñja, camp, is dark, and Kṛṣṇa is absent and He has gone to please another than Rādhārāṇī. It is intolerable, inconceivable to him. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written in his taṭasthā statement, impartial statement what was the fact. But he cannot, in his relative position he can't tolerate thus he receives a shock. Rādhikā-kuñja āṇdhāra kori'. Such is the sentiment of the devotees.

Here I stop. Jaya Om Viṣṇu-Pāda...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja told: "No. When there is a fight with the outsiders we are one hundred and five brothers. We five and Duryodhana hundred. When any fight, any...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Disagreement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...any quarrel with the outsiders we are one. And when there will be quarrel within, amongst us, we are five, they are hundred.”

So when the fight with the atheist we shall encourage the demigod worshipper. There is fight with the karmī and jñānī we shall encourage the jñānīs. And then where is fight with Śaṅkara and Rāmānuja we shall encourage the Rāmānuja, we are one with them. And when a fight with Gauḍīya and Rāmānuja we shall eliminate Rāmānuja, fight with them and we shall go to keep the prestige of the Gauḍīya. In this way.

Even the fight is between Rādhārāṇī's camp and the camp of Chandrāvalī, there is also a fight. But that is a loving fight, and that is to please Kṛṣṇa, not useless, nor selfish. The object is to please Kṛṣṇa, otherwise none can stay in that plane. That is the selfish, that the jealousy is already eliminated, jealousy as we understand, that is already eliminated before we enter Vaikuṇṭha. And that is another type, like, similar to jealousy, but not jealousy of this type that is found in this plane. That is devised, designed, by Yogamāyā for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, to create more intensity in the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa, that has been designed and devised.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: I have a question. Our Śrīla Prabhupāda, Swāmī Mahārāja, he used to speak very much about varṇāśrama dharma and even he would speak of his vision of establishing it in the West, in the Western countries. And sometimes it's difficult to see it in relationship to the bhakti mārga. Can you comment in this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as seen, the safe basis in the discussion of Rāya Rāmānanda when Mahāprabhu put a question, “How Kṛṣṇa, what is, what should be our end of life? And what should be the means to attain that end?” The beginning of that, first question of Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva was of this type, that, “What should be our highest end, and how to attain that?”

Rāmānanda came with his answer, inspired by Śrī Caitanyadeva.

varṇāśramācāravatā puruṣeṇa paraḥ pumān viṣṇur ārādhyate panthā nānyat tat-toṣa-kāraṇam

[“The only way to please the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Viṣṇu, is to worship Him by properly executing one’s prescribed duties in the social system of varṇa and āśrama.”]

[From Viṣṇu-Purāṇa, 3.8.9]

yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānāṃ, yena sarvvam idaṃ tatam svakarmmaṇā tam abhyarccya, siddhiṃ vindati mānavaḥ

[“A man achieves perfection by the performance of the appropriate duties prescribed for him according to his qualification. By the execution of his duties, he worships the Supreme Lord from whom the generation and impetus of all beings arises, and who permeates and pervades this entire universe (exercising His Supreme qualification of Lordship over one and all.)” [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.46]

“The first approach beginning of a theistic life is here, that we should adopt the physical fashion of our life in the model of varṇāśrama. On that basis we shall try to discharge our duty, what is recommended in the varṇāśrama, connecting it with the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. That should be the first beginning.”

Then Mahāprabhu told, “Eho bāhya, āge kaha āra.” This is superficial, go deeper.”

[prabhu kahe, — “eho bāhya, āge kaha āra”

rāya kahe, “kṛṣṇe karmārpaṇa — sarva-sādhya-sāra”]

[The Lord replied, “This is external. You had better tell Me of some other means.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]

Then Rāmānanda came with next step, next higher step. “One who is fully conscious of doing everything for Kṛṣṇa, not a captive of, or not being a prey for the local duties. The interest of local duties will be given less importance, and more importance should be given to the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, kṛṣṇe karmārpaṇa.”

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

[“O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

“To devote the result of everything to Kṛṣṇa, that must have the principle characteristic in one’s character.”

Then Mahāprabhu told, “Eho bāhya. This is also superficial. Go deeper.” Then he came with karma-tyāga.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ [śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

“Take risk, give up all sorts of duties surrounding you, and exclusively devote for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Eho bāhya, āge kaha āra. Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja. He has taken refuge in the feet of Kṛṣṇa and left, disregarded all sorts of duties entangling him. Eho bāhya. Because still he’s in the relativity of this mundane world so his attempt is not pure so much.” Then he says, this karma-tyāga, then:

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām

[“The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me.”]
[Bhagavad- gītā, 18.54]

“Then jñāna miśrā bhakti, the bhakti must come above from the relativity of this mundane world and it will take the shape of meditation. That is the main materials will be of consciousness and not these material things. It takes the shape of conscious type, jñāna, dharana, yoga, etc, Brahma-bhūtaḥ, he has come to know that I have no interest with this world of matter. I myself am a part of consciousness, so whatever I’m to do I’m to interfere, handle with this consciousness. And the material interest is fully eliminated, brahma-bhūtaḥ. Prasannātmā, and now he’s little calm in his temperament because his charm for the material loss and gain is forever left. But he will have to enter into the domain of devotion. He’s still, his position is in Brahmaloḥka, only a conscious unit independent of matter. He’s nothing to do with matter but he’s himself a conscious unit, and, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām. From there he will have to go to the realm of, domain of devotion.”

Mahāprabhu says, “Eho bāhya, āge kaha āra. This is also superficial, go ahead.” Then Rāmānanda Rāya came:

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva jīvanti san-mukharitām
bhavadīya-vārtām

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

“In whatever position materially, outwardly, he may be, but if he has got some taste, real taste in the words of the real sādhus who are in communion with the personal God, a devotee, any connection and any attraction for him, and he likes to keep their company and hear from him: whatever his external position in this material world does not matter.”

Mahāprabhu says, “Yes, here you are. Here it begins. The positive connection is present here through the sādhu of the Lord. Not the withdrawal from the negative side by method of induction or deductive way, ascending way. But if he’s got some connection, some attraction, passed transaction through the real agent of the Lord. Yes it is. I see the speck of devotion here, whatever, neglecting his external conscience. Then, yes, it is, and go further.”

Then he came to dāsyā bhakti, and that is Nārāyaṇa, this Gaura bhakti. And then He told, “Yes, it is, go further.”

In this way he came to sākhyā bhakti, to vātsalya bhakti.

And, “Yes, it is good.” First, “This is superficial.” Then He says, “It is.” Then says, “It is good. Go further.”

Then he came to mādhyāsa, and then to the special type of service as is found in the camp of Rādhārāṇī.

Then He said, “Yes, it is the highest. Can you think anything more than it?”

Then Rāmānanda was astonished. “I have got something in mind but I don’t find there will be anybody to ask that stage. But it peeps sometimes in my mind there maybe another higher stage.” And saying this Rāmānanda came with his own poem.

[“ ‘Alas, before We met there was an initial attachment between Us brought about by an exchange of glances. In this way attachment evolved. That attachment has gradually grown, and there is no limit to it. Now that attachment has become a natural sequence between Ourselves. It is not that it is due to Kṛṣṇa, the enjoyer, nor is it due to Me, for I am the enjoyed. It is not like that. This attachment was made possible by mutual meeting. This mutual exchange of attraction is known as manobhava, or Cupid. Kṛṣṇa’s mind and My mind have merged together. Now, during this time of separation, it is very difficult to explain these loving affairs. My dear friend, though Kṛṣṇa might have forgotten all these things, you can understand and bring this message to Him. But during Our first meeting there was no messenger between Us, nor did I request anyone to see Him. Indeed, Cupid’s five arrows were Our via media. Now, during this separation, that attraction has increased to another ecstatic state. My dear friend, please act as a messenger on My behalf, because if one is in love with a beautiful person, this is the consequence.’] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.194]

That the hint of the incarnation of Śrī Caitanyadeva Himself.

And He put His hand on his mouth, “No further, stop here.”

Union in separation, that is more powerful. This sort of devotional service requires compulsory condition that milan is the end and who even cannot care for that, who is trained in his separation he can be combined. And that is only found in Mahāprabhu. Then He put His hand, “Stop there, it is there.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told, after finishing his pilgrimage, I heard from the lips of Prabhupāda, when he put me in Kurukṣetra Maṭha and then planned to show an exhibition of Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī during solar eclipse there. He told, most astonishing, and very earnest I attended. “Ordinarily, those that are, that love Vṛndāvana, they’re all buha, empty minded.” That was, I with very earnest care I found that in. So long I hear that Vṛndāvana is the highest place, and even the milan, those that are emancipated, that are liberated. Without liberation none can aspire after to live in Vṛndāvana. And now he says, “Only,” the buha means empty, “only the spiritless, gist-less persons they have hankering for living in Vṛndāvana. A real devotee wants to live in Kurukṣetra.” With all attention I tried to hear. Then he told, “Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura after travelling all through the places of pilgrimage, he came to conclusion that, ‘I’m planning that I shall construct a cottage near the bank of Brahmā-kunḍa and I pass the last days of my life there.’” Why? “That is the most important place to render our service. So we shall try to develop our heart for the service fitting to that place.” Why? “Where Rādhārāṇī met Kṛṣṇa during solar eclipse.

“I am that Rādhā and He’s that Kṛṣṇa, but the environment is unfavourable.”

So She was at Her highest degree of separation. The separation reached to its extreme stage. “He’s there, I’m here, but We can’t come together.”

So Her disappointment and hankering reached the highest stage at that time. And when the Āśraya Vighraha is at the highest, in the prema of highest degree, service is more important, value of service increases to the highest degree. The servitors of Rādhārāṇī, they, Rādhārāṇī wants nursing at that time, maximum, so when Rādhārāṇī is in such condition the valuation of Her service reaches to the highest degree. So I must cultivate that in me, taking my position in Kurukṣetra, vipralambha, in its highest degree. We must prepare ourselves to console our master, Rādhikā. She's in most need of nursing there in that service. In this way things are going on.

Perhaps I'm not clear very much? Gaura Haribol.

Water's valuation increases according to the necessity of the thirst. So service also, more valuable when the necessity is in its highest degree. Our master is Rādhārāṇī, and She's in highest need, in highest degree of pain. So service at that time will fetch more value for us.

Do you follow, no?

The Sidney, there was one Sidney, in the battle of France, he was a gentleman coming from rich family. An English man perhaps came to fight in the French line. He was wounded, and he wanted a glass of water, before dying. Anyhow one glass of water was managed to take for him, to be taken for him. When he's going to take that glass of water, another soldier, "I want water."

"Thy necessity is greater than that of mine." He handed over the glass to the ordinary soldier.

And he was perhaps General and honourable soldier, and he died.

I studied in English when something like... "Thy necessity is greater than mine.” So value of water is calculated according to the necessity. Otherwise what is the value of a glass of water in the ordinary time? The necessity increases the value.

So the Āśraya Vighraha in Her highest need, if anyone can render a small service that is much valuable, most valuable thing. So we are to prepare ourselves for that, to help in that condition. Highest type of fighter in the time of the greatest need they will come to relief, trained in such a way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. What’s the time?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Nine fifteen.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine fifteen. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Any more enquiry? Thirst quenched?

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

nitāiyer korunā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe [From Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura’s Manaḥ-śikṣā]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says that Kṛṣṇa appreciates, Kṛṣṇa has appreciation more for our affection. But we should try to follow His orders. Our attraction should be towards the rules and regulations. A fine point to detect. Kṛṣṇa's appreciation for rāga, anurāga, of love and affection. But we should think that I'm not in such a position that I have got love for Kṛṣṇa. I shall rather take to observe the rulings that are given in the scriptures for our conduct. Our attraction, our tendency will always be that we don't hold that high position. We're of lower order, and we must try, go and weigh, the directions of the scriptures so that that high thing of love and attraction may go for Him. That is very rare. We can't hope to possess that thing within us. So viddhi, the devotee will always try to adore the viddhi that is given in the śāstra, to do the service of the lower rank. But they will come, and the higher agents they will come and demand, "No, no, no. You must not attach yourself with the lower thing. You must come up, and you must take up your charge and duty in this higher rank."

[Raghunātha] dāsa Goswāmī says:

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso
'stu raso 'stu satyam [Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

"I sincerely pray to Lord that my attraction be for the servants, service of a servant, and not a friendly confidential service. I rather show my respect to that sort of service, confidential service."

The service of a sakhā, of a friend, no much labour. But sometimes to take Him on the shoulder, and sometimes to climb on His shoulder.

Sometimes equal, the Lord and the sakḥā, they're all equal, of equal platform, they're moving in such a way. But at heart they're mad for His company, but in the outside activity they're almost of equal plane, abusing each other. Sometimes they go and fetch the cows, in this way, equal.

But Dāsa Goswāmī says: “No, I don't venture to climb up on that plane to serve Kṛṣṇa. I rather want to serve from the lowest rank. My rasa, my attraction should go to that sort, and I want to respect the higher position of a sakḥā for Kṛṣṇa.”

So viddhi, as instructed in the scripture, ‘do this, this,’ we shall try to apply that sort of conduct within us. And then, by that pressure our affection will rise up and up. And the recognition will come from upper house and so much so that we will not avoid that and we will be taken up. But our tendency will always be that I'm unfit. I'm unfit. To increase my fitness. My real internal tendency will be that I am so low I am unfit for the service. That must be at the bottom of our activity, services. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

These are like [?] A small type of medicine which in particular cases gives us a grand result. Something like that. In the practical life this will be of great use, these sorts of small directions from the experts. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So I began, nitāiyer koruṇā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa, I began there. So to make our foundation invulnerable we take refuge to the feet of Nityānanda always. And the foundation will be strengthened the more the construction will be able to rise up. The foundation of devotion comes from Nityānanda Prabhu. Nitāiyer koruṇā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe. Though apparently it may seem that Nityānanda and Rādhārāṇī They're opposite. Nityānanda is, as Balarāma is with Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī can't come there. And Rādhārāṇī with Kṛṣṇa, Balarāma cannot go there. The clash in the nature of rasa, vātsalya, this sort, as a guardian, and They must be free. But still, at the background, Balarāma is there. So in Nityānanda, in the magnanimous, Mahāprabhu is distributing the highest rasa to all, graciously without any bounds, if we want to have His mercy we concentrate all our energy towards the feet of Nityānanda. And the foundation will be strengthened and it will be possible for us to have a high structure over that...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...“Sometimes emanates some sort of colour or figure and disappears. Adbhuta rasera dhāma, hena bala karaye prakāśa; īṣat vikaśi punaḥ, dekhāya nija-rūpa-guṇa. A peculiar type of colour and figure in so many charming aspects are shown as if to my eyes within. Citta hari' laya kṛṣṇa-pāśa. And forcibly takes me to surrender at the feet of that altar.

[From The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 60. Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya 6, Śaraṇāgati]

Pūrṇa vikaśita hañyā, vraje more yāya lañyā dekhāya more. And sometimes it shows itself in the full-fledged form, this Vṛndāvana, the Braja līlā, Rādhārāṇī, all these, and takes me there. I find that I am in the midst of paraphernalia, peculiar, very sweet, and very loving paraphernalia I find myself there, sometimes. Dekhāya more svarūpa-vilāsa. And shows that, 'See I have got so many things, this is your home. So many things they are also here. I am not any mere imagination. But concrete reality you will find, an environment very favourable and sweet and you also are to live here.' Vraje more yāya lañyā, dekhāya more svarūpa-vilāsa. And also I see there that He is also dealing in different ways with them, in different rasa, pastimes, so many I see. Svarūpa-vilāsa; more siddha deha diyā, kṛṣṇa-pāśe rākhe giyā. And also find that I have, as if another body has emerged from my previous one, and that is to be located, that have got a permanent place here also, as service, a new life there I find. e dehera kare sarvva-nāśa. And then I find ultimately that my previous things are all gone, consideration of my past life and experience, the whole vanished. And this is true. This is my real life here. This is proper. And that was a sham thing and that vanished. [Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya, 7]

Kṛṣṇa-nāma cintāmaṇi, akhila-rasera khani. And then also I find that to take the Name that gives new encouragement and new prospect and new hope, cintāmaṇi. And whatever we want, we have got our internal demand; that comes from that Name. If we take the Name all our internal hankerings are fulfilled. Cintāmaṇi, akhila-rasera khani, nitya-mukta śuddha-rasamaya. It is eternal. It is the purest of the pure, śuddha, and it is full of ecstasy. Nāmera balāi yata, saba lay'e hai hata, tabe mora sukhera udaya. Now I find I have been converted whole, wholesale converted. Now my innermost hankering is this. That whatever is against this sweet Name, that may vanish at all eternally from the world. Nāmera balāi yata. If anything is in any position in opposition to this sweetness, the sweet life, and if anything in opposition that may vanish, and if it is necessary I may give my life to make it disappear from the world. Then the others will be able to enjoy it and that free will. All the opposition for such attainment it may go forever and if necessary at the cost of my life, others may enjoy in such absolute joyous life in the world. No hindrance may come to their fulfilment of life. This udaya, it has got no other second, not second, so everyone may come here. And if necessary the opposition I can sacrifice myself to finish the opposition if any there. All can smoothly, peacefully, and without any opposition, any danger may enjoy such absolute sweet and blissful life.” [Śrī Nāma-Māhātmya 8]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in Śaraṇāgati, the end Śaraṇāgati song says like that.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Hare. Prabhu, feeble attempt, what can I do? It is rather aparādha, bak aparādha. The explanation is so vague, meagre, and misrepresenting that is almost offence to real explanation of the greatness of the Holy Name. What to do? Helpless! Ha, ha, ha. Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Namanta eva jīvanti.

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

We see by our experience, wherever they are that does not matter. If they submissively give their ear to the flow from the mouth of His agent that is coming towards this world, they are successful.

naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, na śobhate jñānam alaṁ

[“Knowledge of self-realisation, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible (God). What, then, is the use of fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilised for the devotional service of the Lord?”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.12]

What to speak about the gross karma, that has got connection with this mundane, this gross matter. Even this pure soul culture is also not fruitful, naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, if it is divorced, no connection with Acyuta. The soul culture, it is not matter, but soul, matter and soul, jīva soul. You are not giving indulgence in the cultivation of the material things outside, gross. But even you culture ātmārāma within your soul, you culture only with the spirit, that is also not good, will not be good, if it is disconnected with Acyuta, the Paramātmā, group. The jīvātmā group that is ātmārāma, ata, the Brahma conception the yogī and Paramātmā conception and that is not sufficient. The God conception, that is the Godhead conception, Kṛṣṇa conception, if devoid of that this mere soul conception is useless.

śreyasḥ sṛtiṁ bhaktim udasya te vibho, kliśyanti ye kevala-bodhalabdhaye [teṣāṁ asau kleśāla eva śiṣyate, nānyad yathā sthūla-tuṣāvaghātinaṁ]

[“My dear Lord, devotional service unto You is the only auspicious path. If one gives it up simply for speculative knowledge or the understanding that these living beings are spirit souls and the material world is false, he undergoes a great deal of trouble. He only gains troublesome and inauspicious activities. His endeavours are like beating a husk that is already devoid of rice. One’s labour becomes fruitless.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.4] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.22]

Avoiding the path of devotion which really brings good for us, if one engages himself completely to understand and analyse and understand what spirit is, soul, the subjective substance, what is that, object and subject, the sat is subject, the cit. Kevala-bodha-labdhaye. Only the abstraction, what is soul proper, what is caitan, what is consciousness, śreyah sṛtiṁ, leaving away the devotion, the submission to the highest entity. Kevala-bodha-labdhaye, teṣāṁ asau kleśala eva śiṣyate, nānyad yathā sthūla-tuṣāvaghātīnām. His attempt will be like one who is husking only the husk but not the paddy. It will be of such effect, only cit, but not ānanda. Ānanda is not there.

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, [durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmni baddhāḥ]

[Prahāda Mahārāja says: “Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or Guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

Prahlāda says: The inner aspiration, inner thirst is for the substance, the contents, not the container. Cit means only with a feeling, but feeling of what? Feeling of ānanda! Ānanda is not there. Only feeling can be analysed and analysed there. And what will be there? That will be just like husk. The spirit is not there. The spirit, the ānanda, sat-cit-ānandam. Ānanda is the proper thing, that is to be tackled, and not the cit, the consciousness who can feel the ānandam. There is an element within us that can feel ānandam. We are not the business to acquire the feeler without ānanda, ānanda must be there. Otherwise we shall collect only feeler. What to feel? The feeling of the ānandam, that is the main thing we are to deal.

So naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, na śobhate jñānam alaṁ nirañjanam [Bhāgavatam, 1.5.12] That jñāna, the mere consciousness has been in comparison to matter, it has been praised like anything. But if it is devoid of Acyuta connection it is fruitless. And also kevala-bodha, only if you want to go to analyse the consciousness and to understand what consciousness is, that will also be a fruitless labour, because consciousness is useful only to get ānandam. To feel ānanda feeling is necessary, and if no ānanda, what is necessity of feeling? Then it is better to become a fossil. That feeling and the good thing to feel is absent. What is there? Śreyāḥ sṛtiṁ bhaktim udasya [Bhāgavatam, 10.14.4], jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā [Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3], there are so many things, acyuta-bhāva, ānandam, sat-cit-ānandam. Nītāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, kaniṣṭha, madhyama, uttama adhikārī they all have a different conception of the Name. What is, kaniṣṭha adhikārī's conception is very vague?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, very vague, only the Name bhajana, Nāma bhajana. Mahāprabhu says, that is in the bhajana section, not in the sādhana, but in siddha-daśā. There is the gradation and Mahāprabhu has given the comparative study there.

yāñhāra darśane mukhe āise kṛṣṇa-nāma / tāñhāre jāniha tumi 'vaiṣṇava-pradhāna'

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said, “A first-class Vaiṣṇava is he whose very presence makes others chant the holy name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 16.74]

A real Name, if you hear once, you may think to be a Vaiṣṇava, you can take him. Nirantara, when you find a person who is always chanting the Name, then you will take him to be the madhyama Vaiṣṇava, the middle. And yāñhāra darśane mukhe āise kṛṣṇa-nāma / tāñhāre jāniha tumi 'vaiṣṇava-pradhāna.' And if you can find anyone by whose sight Kṛṣṇa Nāma comes within you, Kṛṣṇa Nāma enters within you and forces you to take the Name, he's the highest devotee in the world of the Name worshipper. And there is another classification.

kṛṣṇeti yasya giri taṁ manasādriyeta, [dīkṣāsti cet praṇatibhiś ca bhajantam īśam śuśrūṣayā bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya-, nindādiśūnya-hṛdam īpsita-saṅga-labdhyā]

[“One should mentally honour the devotee who chants the Holy Name of Lord Kṛṣṇa, one should offer humble obeisances to the devotee who has undergone spiritual initiation and is engaged in worshipping the Deity, and one should associate with and faithfully serve that pure devotee who is advanced in undeviated devotional service and whose heart is completely devoid of the propensity to criticise others.”] [Śrī

Upadeśāmṛta, 5]

It is also this idea, general idea given by Mahāprabhu to Rūpa Goswāmī, and Rūpa Goswāmī has given us in Sanskrit śloka in this form: kṛṣṇeti yasya giri taṁ manasādriyeta. If you find the Name of Kṛṣṇa in the mouth of anyone, in the tongue of anyone, then you will adore him mentally, not physically. ‘Yes, good, his faith will be good,’ appreciate. You will give appreciation, ‘Yes he’s doing well.’ Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he gives a commentary here, very, very important.

saṅga-doṣa-śūnya, dīkṣitādīkṣita, jadi tava nāma gāya mānase ādara, koribo tāhāre, jāni’ nija-jana tāya

[“Oh Lord, I will mentally honour and consider as my brother one who avoids bad company and sings Your Holy Name, be he formally initiated or not.”] [From The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 44. Śaraṇāgati, 5.1]

If you find the Name of Kṛṣṇa on the lip of anybody but if he has not any bad connection, company, bad association, then only you can appreciate, give appreciation. Mentally you can show some sympathy. But if he has got any direct dusaṅga, bad company in taking Name, it is of opposite nature. Just as Nitāi-Gaura Rādhē-Śyāma. They’re already wedded to some bad ideal, so that sort of name cannot produce until and unless that association gone, they cannot be adored. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Saṅga-doṣa-śūnya, dīkṣitādīkṣita. May not have proper course, admission in the line, through a proper agent, may not. But soon he may come there, come to that stage. But without having dīkṣā proper, in a proper place, if you find the Name of Kṛṣṇa in anybody you can appreciate. But, Saṅga-doṣa-śūnya, this is the particular note of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Kṛṣṇeti yasya giri, giri means in the word, in the mouth, gir means vāṇī, if one is pronouncing so many words and you find he's chanting Kṛṣṇa, then, you may adore him. Dīkṣāsti cet praṇatibhiś ca, and you will only bow down to him when he is dīkṣita, that he is accepted by the agent of the Lord. That he has got Name in his ear and heart, he's acceptable. The Divine Name has been distributed in him, dīkṣita. Already by dīkṣā Kṛṣṇa has accepted him as His devotee through His real agent. Then you will bow down, because the seed has come within his heart. Kṛṣṇa has come to capture his heart. In the temple of his heart Kṛṣṇa has descended. So you must show respect by bowing down your head. Kṛṣṇeti yasya giri taṁ manasādriyeta, dīkṣāsti cet praṇatibhiś ca, if dīkṣā in a proper place then you can show your praṇāma, prostration to him. Śuśrūṣayā bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya, and if you find exclusive devotion, he has directed the current of his whole life towards this you feel, then you will try to have his company always. Always, incessantly, whose bhajana, whose connection with the divinity is incessant, without gap, you will try to mix with him to fulfil your own purpose. [?] Then you will try to serve him who has got incessant connection. Śuśrūṣayā bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya-nindādi-śūnya-hṛdam īpsita-saṅga-labdhyā, and you will try to do anything and everything for him if you find that he has completely devoted and merged in the taste of the sweetness of the Name of the Lord and His līlā etc., he's there. And not any exertion to dismiss this world of material: no connection with this. Madhyama adhikārī, one who is always serving, he may have some consciousness of this mundane nature. But this gentleman, the paramahansa, in his view, there is nothing but Kṛṣṇa bhajana, he's engaged. And even if you fortunately find such a person who has got no relativity of non Kṛṣṇa, then you will attempt your best to be of any service to that class of devotee, no consideration. If fortunately you come across such a great man who's independent to the relativity of this mundane world and wholesale cent percent merged in the service of Kṛṣṇa, if by your fortune you meet such a rare sādhu, then you will try to do anything and everything for him. Īpsita-saṅga-labdhyā, this is the thing which is in my search, what I am searching I have got that. So with this much intensity of your earnestness you will fall, you will merge, you will throw yourself into service of him, the very rarely to be found. I have found anyhow in my life once, in this way.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: This is how we feel in your association Mahārāja. In your association we feel this way, nindādi-śūnya. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. I'm blaming so many. I'm in the relativity of the mundane world only blaming so many. What I got no trace but for blaming purpose I am very, 'This is not, this is not,' there, very expert. Ha, ha, h, ha.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ha, ha, h, ha. But you are always nirapekṣa, Mahārāja, we see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. By the grace of the Guru and Vaiṣṇava that may be, that nirapekṣa, may not have any prejudice for any mundane thing. But only the guidance of my Guru that may be like the pole star in my heart, that star that I have got from him I can move, live and give whatever only according to that. This is my aspiration. I want that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. May not be led astray by any bribe, kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, the bribe; the nirapekṣa. The attempt, by the grace of all the Vaiṣṇavas may my attempt be nirapekṣa, may not be prejudiced for any other things but the interest of Him.

sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam / hr̥ṣīkena hr̥ṣīkeśa-sevanam bhaktir ucyate [“Pure devotion is service to the Supreme Lord which is free from all relative conceptions of self interest.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 1.10]

Sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, and also viddhi bhakti, viddhi bhakti also. Seva prati hoila paravyoma deli feli [?]

[Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī says, “If you have much attraction for the viddhi bhakti, laws and rules, śāstra, then you will be thrown down into the Paravyoma in Vaikuṇṭha and you won’t be able to keep up your position in Vṛndāvana where it is spontaneous, no necessity of any scripture or direction is found.”

My transaction with Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa bhakta, what law should come and decide between them? A law will say, ‘Oh you do this much, you don’t go this way, this way.’ What is this? With whole heart as much as I command I must give it to my Lord, and to those that are running to serve Him in that nature. No law, no scripture, no good will of the environment of the social party.”

Svajanam ārya-pathaṁ ca [From Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61, the verse beginning āsā mahā]. So called relatives, and also, ārya-pathaṁ ca, the ways that have been recommended by the Vedas, śāstra, 'You should do this, you should not do that,' that may be in the case of worldly matters. But in our dealings to Kṛṣṇa 'you do this and don't do that,' we shall do with the whole of our energy, as much as we can command. That is spontaneous, that is automatic. But we must not think our self very high that we have got that spontaneous flow. So in our position we must try to give some respect.

pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge, [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura]

Always we should keep that on our head. We shall traverse, roam about in the śāstric area, but our Gurus, our superiors, our aspiration always keep in the head. And that is all automatic, all spontaneous, no law there.

But I am not raised to such a big position, so I shall have to show some respect for the scripture etc., but not all, having consistence with the raga, the command of our Guru. Certain extent somewhere looking at their aspiration we shall break the law, and sometimes told 'no.' Hereby I myself taking the undue independence from the society and from the scriptures. So I must not venture where I am concerned.

But in their case the whole of our appreciation will be for that. And they are not under these ordinary rulings. Thereby we will be able to understand what is what. Otherwise we shall think that everything is, the sahajiyā, the imitationist, ‘We are already there, and whatever we do that is all right. In the name of Kṛṣṇa we shall do anything and everything and say, ‘Oh, take it in Kṛṣṇa’s account.’ Then I shall have to go to hell. Ha, ha.

So we must be pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. I must retain my connection with the śāstra society as far as possible. And always appreciation, and reverence, and love will be that over law and social area. We shall try to appreciate that. If we may not put ourselves in that practice but our appreciation always be beyond law. Kṛṣṇa is above law. Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa bhakta, really, they are above law. But I am not yet in that category. That should be our general temper, pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge.

So one copy you may send to Astana today, in an envelope. You can put one letter also... How do you fare there, live there in that house?

Devotees: Fine. Very nice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No trouble.

Devotees: No, no. Very fine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare, Hare Rāma Hare Rāma Rāma Rāma Hare Hare. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahā-mantra also represent Kṛṣṇa or...?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, according to the realization. When one will have absolute attraction for Kṛṣṇa līlā, that is the supreme most, above law, then that Rāma, the inner meaning of the word Rāma will go to Rādhāramaṇa Rāma.

There is only one centre where the source of all the forces accommodate in one. Some say that is Brahma, some say that is Paramātmā, some say that is Nārāyaṇa, and in Bhāgavatam, Caitanya Deva School, and Nimbarka, others say, that that centre is Kṛṣṇa.

So that is the source, ultimate source, the spring of everything, all power, all beauty, all existence. The beauty is the centre, the beauty. The love is the centre, not power, not inert indifferent base of consciousness; neither the all-pervading aspect. The Paramātmā which pervades everywhere, that aspect, that aspect of the cause which we find that it is everywhere within, that is Paramātmā. And which is all-accommodating. Everything is within Him. That aspect is Brahma, Brahma which embraces all sorts of consciousness; that is Brahma. And now not only permeating aspect, or containing aspect that is the real position of the absolute cause. But absolute cause must be the object of all movements. In Hegelian philosophy, 'By Itself and for Itself.' For Itself, He exists for Him, not for others. So we exist for Him.

So Bhagavān means bhajānīya. Not only He holds us, not only He permeates through all of us, but He is to attract us, to give us fulfilment by His service. Then the ultimate cause comes in a position of Nārāyaṇa, Puruṣottama. And when the decision comes again that is there any understanding between us that this much we shall give to Him and that much we shall get ourselves? Or He is the absolute master and everything of us belongs to Him and we are in His possession. He can make or mar, or He can do anything with us. Such connection He has got that the cost of our existence He may be gratified.

When we accept that absolute position of Him and then we can find that He is love and He is beautiful and then we come to understand the prime cause of the whole. Everything ends in the conception of Kṛṣṇa. So the remotest connection of the meaning of every word takes to Him, and if we go to make any meaning in the midway that will be partial.

So all the meaning of all the words – Mahāprabhu when He came from Gaya He expressed Himself. Then He began to give explanation, even to the grammar, vyākaraṇa-sūtra, that. “Everything is Kṛṣṇa. If any scholars there be in Navadvīpa they should come and discard My explanation.”

Everything, dhātu sūtra, what is dhātu? Dhātu means potency. Whose potency? The ultimate cause! So to go, to sleep, to move, whatever, that is Kṛṣṇa śakti, the origin of that coming from Kṛṣṇa, the śabda coming from Kṛṣṇa. All words, its meaning cannot but show that its ultimate source is from the ultimate centre. So every word meanings...

... horse...rein-less, if the meaning of every word is allowed to go on this rein-less then it will go to Kṛṣṇa. Ramaṇa, Rāma, Ramaṇa, the Ramaṇa in its highest sense you will find only in Kṛṣṇa, in Vraja līlā, not so much in Rāmacandra. Rāmacandra is Ramaniya, very beautiful. When one looks at the figure of Rāmacandra they are charmed, but Kṛṣṇa is more charming. So Rāmacandra and Kṛṣṇa one and the same but only posing: Kṛṣṇa posing as Rāma, He's charming, His ways, figure, dealings, all charming, but Kṛṣṇa is more charming, the centre of the centre. In this way we are, when that Rāma, ordinarily we may take the Rāma this Ayodhyā Rāma, Dāsarāthi Rāma, but if we have got, if we are acquainted with the highest plane of life, the subtle-most plane of life and then we'll find that the centre of all charm is in Kṛṣṇa. Rāmacandra is also represented there.

Even there is differentiation in Kṛṣṇa rūpa. The Vraja Kṛṣṇa is greater than Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa. Once it is represented in śāstra that Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa when He has come to see His own portrait of Vraja Kṛṣṇa He is charmed there. “Oh, how beautiful I was. Now I am not so beautiful.”

Differences in Kṛṣṇa also, so what to speak of other incarnations of Him, in this way the gradation is there. We may think Rāma, Dāsarāthi Rāma, Hari, sometimes Nṛsiṃhadeva, but in the ultimate sense it will come that Hari, it is not Hari it is Hara. In the vocative it becomes Hari, lata becomes late, mala male in vocative case. So Hara, who can capture, who can snatch the highest position of a snatcher, that is in Rādhikā we find. Why? She can snatch the mind of Kṛṣṇa also, what to speak of others. So Hara means Rādhā. In the highest sense of Haran and stealing, snatching, attracting, Hara is Rādhā. Hare Kṛṣṇa Rādhā Kṛṣṇa. And Kṛṣṇa attracts everybody, and this Rāma who can please everybody. And Kṛṣṇa, the Rādhāramaṇa Rāma who can please even Rādhikā, He's the holder of the supreme position of attracting and pleasing everyone. In that sense we'll go to enter into Kṛṣṇa līlā then we find Rāma Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā is Hara and Kṛṣṇa will also attract us, in this way. They cannot deviate from that plane to any other plane. Plane of Rāmacandra that is mixed with morality, this prkriti ranjanam all these, but absolute transaction with lava and especially parakīya inconceivable that is found in Kṛṣṇa Avatāra. And when once can enter into that plane he is charmed there, he can't come down to see other things from other planes. This is the central and highest position. Gradually we are to come to know that.

Today we stop here. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Your book is finished, translation?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Finished, yes now the typing is going.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After typing that may be sent to Caru Swāmī

...

He wanted me to go to the west but I hesitated, ‘I won’t be able to show any success there. If you command, I must go. But as my own conception, consideration, I say that I won’t be able to show any success there. I can’t understand their words, their intonation, this is a difficulty. And another thing, I am not very open to mix with them, with their habits. So without mixing with them familiarly how can I hope any success in the activity of those persons? So consider this and order.’

Then he sent someone else, Goswāmī Mahārāja, the founder of Gauḍīya Saṅga was sent by him there.

And there was one Professor Sanyal, he told to me, “Why Prabhupāda wanted to send you there, do you know?”

“No, I don’t know.”

“Because who are going there; instead of converting them, they are being converted, and you won’t be converted.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where are these gentlemen, this Venkatta Raman, [Bhāratī Mahārāja?] _____where? Where are they?

Aranya Mahārāja: Akṣayānanda Swāmī, he's got some ear infection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he's keeping there.

Aranya Mahārāja: I think so, and Venkatta he should be coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Venkatta's brother he has gone to Māyāpur? Don't know?

Devotee: Yesterday he went to Māyāpur. He's back today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Came back?

Devotee: He's back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And today this morning you have not seen him?

Devotee: Yes, we have seen him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Who is he?

Devotees: Vṛndāvana dāsa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, tell us something about Kuntī Devī's teachings. I don't know much about.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kuntī Devī, her famous saying is this, when the Pāṇḍavas were to be reinstated in their lost property, then Kṛṣṇa was going away to Dvārakā, and the posture, the gesture of Kṛṣṇa was such that Kuntī Devī was dis ascertained [?]

“You come in the court other times always but with some tendency that You will have to come back again. But this time we are out of so many dangers in life and now we are installed in our throne, and now You are going and we'll have no other necessity of You again. With this posture You are going away, and my heart's troubled.” Kuntī Devī told. Then she told:

vipadaḥ santu tāḥ śaśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro bhavato darśanam yat syād, apunar bhava-darśanam

[Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: “I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25]

Her famous saying: “Let my dangers come always, we may be in danger always, in which we had some assurance that You will come and rescue us from such difficulties. We don't want the comfort of being the master of abused property, we don't like, can't appreciate. Rather, for eternity we want to be in danger, where, whenever necessary You came to our rescue. So that is my prayer, eternal prayer, that danger may visit, difficulty may visit us always so that we can have Your darśana, Your attention, Your sympathy, Your grace. That is far more better than these ordinary worldly difficulties of life. Vipadaḥ santu tāḥ śaśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro. In whatever position of life, and whatever difficulties may come to visit us, we won't care, we want You, not any relief from the worldly troubles, the least of that."

So the pure devotee should not put any condition with his service, that, "I want to be close to You, I want to have sufficient resources to serve You. Sāmīpya, sālōkya, I may be, may have settlement in the plane where You are, where I will be able to render my service to You." No condition. "At Your sweet will, whatever You are pleased to do with me I submit to that. The consideration to You wholesale. Nothing exists for me, no condition, just a service I want. I can't give that away. I want Your service. That is my prayer. But Your touch, Your connection, but without any interference to Your independence, Your independent decision, in whatever way. But You must accept me as Your, as one of You in Your family."

paśu-pakhī ho 'ye thāki svarge bā niroye, taba bhakti rahu bhaktivinoda-hṛdoye

["Be my life in heaven or in hell, be it as a bird or a beast, may devotion to You always remain in the heart of Bhaktivinoda."] [From The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 136. Śikṣāṣṭakam, 4.7]

"If You are pleased to send me to the hell I'm taking, I'm ready, I'm Yours. This consideration I only want that I belong to none but You. And You may like to do whatever You like, no condition. But Your connection I can't give up. That is my only prayer: Your connection."

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, [nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā]

["Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant."] [Śaraṇāgati 3.3, From The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13]

"You may keep me, You have got, just as a slave You have got right to kill me also. But I want my mental adjustment in that way that You have the right to kill me, if You please. I accept that. But to give up Your connection I won't like, I won't tolerate."

That will be the prayer of highest form of devotion, no condition. kīṭa-janma hau jathā tuwā dās, [bahir-mukha brahma-janme nāhi āś]

["Let me take birth as a worm, as Your servant. I would forsake a birth as Brahmā the creator, if that birth was devoid of Your service, O Kṛṣṇa."] [Śaraṇāgati 3.5, From The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13]

"Even I can have a birth of a worm, but only that my connection may be with the devotees, at least in the house of the devotee. There I may be placed under their foot and may die, does not matter. But Your connection, slight connection, removed connection, I may not be deprived of that. That is my only prayer."

And that praise was very close and in greatest confidence. “As much as I can give to Him, so much nearer are we to Him, by surrendering, by surrender.” The criteria of surrender is such that no condition. There are certain factions that want sālōkya, sāmīpya, sārūpya, sārṣṭi, [sāyujya], there are five kinds of liberation. Sālōkya: in the same plane with Him, Vaikuṇṭha, sālōkya. Sāmīpya, near about Him. Sārūpya, the same figure, catur-bhuja, four-handed, and that colour just like Nārāyaṇa, sārūpya. Sārṣṭi, and of equal resources also, you can handle that in your service sufficient resources, sārṣṭi. And last, sāyujya. According Māyāvādī the sāyujya is the highest for them, but for the devotees that is the worst, sāyujya. So these five kinds of liberation in Vaikuṇṭha. And there are two kinds of sāyujya, one Brahmā sāyujya, another Īśvara sāyujya. Generally the jñānī, their consideration is to get Brahmā sāyujya, “In the hazy ocean of consciousness, I may be drowned, no trace. No trace about me, anyone may have.” And Īśvara sāyujya for the yogīs, the Paramātmā.

Īśvaraḥ sarvva-bhūtānām, hṛd-deśe ‘rjjuna tiṣṭhati [bhrāmayan sarvva-bhūtāni, yantrārūḍhāni māyayā]

[“O Arjuna, I am situated in the hearts of all souls as the Supersoul, the Lord and Master of all souls. For every endeavour of the living beings in this world, the Lord (My plenary expansion, the Supersoul) awards an appropriate result. As an object mounted on a wheel is caused to revolve, the living beings are caused to revolve in the universe by the almighty power of the Lord. Incited by Him, your destiny will naturally be effected according to your endeavours.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.61]

Vasudeva. They want to merge themselves into the ray, in the lustre of the body of Vasudeva. Then according to the devotee class that is more lamentable. Why? He has come to have the conception of Īśvara, Vasudeva, without beginning to serve Him he wants to be one with Him. Getting such a higher chance, then this lamentable position, that is more deplorable.

The Vaikantik devotees: Ekanta bu vishyate [?] The kevala, kevala bhakti, those that have appreciated, they are very intelligent, they think, 'Whatever condition I shall attach I shall be looser.' He's my well-wisher cent per cent. Then should I know better than Him? Never! Leave everything to that well-meaning guardian and He will do for me whatever He thinks best and thereby I'll be most benefited. They're very intelligent. Gaura Haribol.

Once during solar eclipse ceremony Kuntī met Kṛṣṇa in Kurukṣetra, and Vasudeva also, they met Vasudeva, and asked him: "My brother, you don't keep any information of us? We are so distressed by the ill behaviour of Kāṁsa. No, by Duryodhana, he's manipulating in such a way. We are placed in and we are going to be banished, self-banishment, and eating by begging, in disguise, so many troubled conditions we are passing our days, and you don't keep any news, like to keep any connection with us."

Then Vasudeva says: "My dear sister, don't think, don't have misconception, think otherwise of us, what is our position. The belaying Kāṁsa, his ill-treatment is played to the extreme and we have not got our own choice of life. We're afraid of him; we're moving hither and thither, no normal position that I shall keep any information of you. You don't worry for that."

Parisash sarve bayam yate dishan diyan [?]

"Not only myself but so many like us, their life is hopeless, they're very much afraid of that thing and only for their own safety they're running hither thither."

There is one: Deva klivaya kama nayan [?]

"We have got no independence in our movement. We are rather dolls, play dolls in the hands of Deva klivaya kama nayan [?]

"Dolls to play at the hand of the devata dancing forces. So we have not got a normal peaceful position that we shall take information, keep regular information of you my sister. Don't think otherwise Kuntī Devī."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Jalandar is towards Pakistan, towards Amritsa, about sixty miles from Ambala further on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No train connection?

Devotee: Yes, on the main line.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Main line, going to Calcutta?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, we use, the Gauḍīya Maṭha, uses astrology for some purposes. Is this to be used by devotees, or should one avoid such things?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is mentioned in the astronomical and astrological books also that when one is out to seek his spiritual fortune, not walking in the chalked-out line of the general mental sphere, the calculation, is nothing to do with them. It is mentioned, those that have accepted the path of renunciation, or devotion, that is so powerful that the ordinary – this is the result of karma, and that can be calculated by the astrology or astronomy, the consequence of karma. But who has taken drastic measures to get out of karma, either exclusively taking the way of yoga, or jñāna, or devotion, this may not be applicable in their case. It has been told. Still, the finer brain they may have some remote connection, remote shadow, they can get from that. And that is very rare, who, on the shadow can know what is in the substance. But generally the warning is given in the books [?]

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [aham tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

One who has taken that path, karma has nothing to do with him. It is the centre control, he's connected there, so He will be all in all. Not only for the devotees, there is a saying:

Kṛṣṇa bhakta vidhi hai bhagavan vidhi kalan kadi kanka [?] If a devotee of Kṛṣṇa becomes of a little progressive condition he can cut asunder the writings of Brahmā the creator even.

Devotees: (Laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A side issue. But I could appreciate Hitler. The German nation that is my intuitive tendency. I appreciate the German nation as well as Hitler also, because he was against democracy. I'm also against democracy. The mass is ignorant and they will guide. And mine is [?] ten years, four hundred ten years.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Did our Śrīla Prabhupāda come to you first for sannyāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Huh?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Did he approach you first?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Our Swāmī Mahārāja, our Prabhupāda. Did he approach you for sannyāsa or was that first to Keśava Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't recollect it definitely, but some say he did not perhaps propose practically, but he might have come with that purpose but apprehended something, because before that Sakhī Bābu came to take bābājī-veśa from me.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Oh, Sakhī Caran.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sakhī Caran, but I refused. I told, he lived here for some time, and at that time I lived in a hut, and no latrine, no bathroom, all these things. And there was a pit and two pieces of wood given there and with some surrounding thing, and we used that as latrine, and took water from this well.

And he slipped there, and got injury. An old man and fatty body, and got some fever and he asked me, "Don't inform my family."

I told I can't. Your life is valuable, so money, the family is also very submissive to you. And here no nursing, no treatment, how you can do?

He said, "No I have come. I have left my family and I have come to remain permanently in the Maṭha. I won't go back."

But I did not allow that. Your life is valuable. You have done so many services in Vraja-maṇḍala and Gaura-maṇḍala, Prabhupāda, etc. And more you will do if you live more. I won't allow you to take bābājī-veśa and remain here and undergo so many penances, a life full of penances. He was little mortified. I informed his family men. They came and took him.

And many came to take sannyāsa from me but I didn't give consent but give sannyāsa to them, so many of my God-brothers. So perhaps he came here with that motive and hesitated to put it before me, the family concern, the business, all these, maybe, you may think something. I don't think that he put it to me practically. But I am told that he came with that view and perhaps he had some conversation with me and asked whether he will take sannyāsa or not, and what I don't remember what he said.

Then I heard once that he took sannyāsa in Mathurā from Keśava Mahārāja. And Keśava Mahārāja himself he took sannyāsa from me.

First Goswāmī Mahārāja, the founder of Gauḍīya Saṅga, he took sannyāsa from me. And the third sannyāsa from me took that Keśava Mahārāja. And then many, many big men came to take sannyāsa from me but I, my conscience would not allow, to give sannyāsa to them. I don't know. At least consciously I refused him, I can't remember. I think I didn't. But he might have supposed, conjectured that I may not be in favour of his sannyāsa life, under such circumstances. He might have supposed like that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare. Hare Rāma Hare Rāma.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sakhī Caran stayed here for how long? Sakhī Caran Prabhu he stayed here for how many days, how many months? He was here how long, Sakhī Caran?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two, three months perhaps, not more.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I saw his samādhi in Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, in Rādhāramaṇa [?] But that is a very, that was of impertinence, both for the Goswāmīs, the proprietor, the present owner, and also for his sons. By money, by bribe, they put him just near Rūpa Goswāmī. And Jīva Goswāmī could not allow that. His own samādhi is there because he has respect for Rūpa Goswāmī his Gurudeva, his samādhi is alone; also many, Kavirāja Goswāmī, Jīva Goswāmī, all outside, this side. And this man managed to pay some money and put the samādhi of Sakhī Caran in along with Rūpa Goswāmī.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And Bhugarva Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is anti spirit of Jīva Goswāmī, they have done against the will of Jīva Goswāmī. I don't – I'm a peculiar man, I don't think that they have done right, they have done wrong. Sakhī Caran was not a devotee of that type, of Rūpa Goswāmī type. Kavirāja Goswāmī and Jīva Goswāmī they are outside. They ventured, the man was bribed and his son was inconsiderate so the position was selected near Rūpa Goswāmī. That has been done wrong, according to me – and impertinence and that is offence. I have got that peculiar mentality here also. Keśava Mahārāja put a Vaiṣṇava on the outside on the gate. That is very impertinent, the Vaiṣṇava put on the gate like a doorkeeper. What is this? They should be worshipped, their figure. This is what we have learned from our Prabhupāda.

Tasmai deham tato bhajam sata pūjā yaja yaham [?]

Who we consider to be Vaiṣṇava they should be worshipped, like Him, sometimes more important than Him, He says. And we put them as gate keeper. What is this?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Therefore your name becomes Bhakti Rakṣaka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Unavoidable, there are infinite classes of species there and according to karma jīva has to, soul has to wander in the different stages of life. So many trees, creatures, stones, then insects, worms, birds, so many things, infinite, and according to karma we are to wander through them. This is the basis of general knowledge. And to acquire a human birth, that is a great thing, very rare opportunity. And within that, again the company of a real sādhu, sādhu means who is after eternity, who lives in eternity, Vaikuṇṭha, sādhu. There are so many sādhus, though they have taken the dress of a sādhu, but deals with mundane affairs. “Oh, you want the disease should be removed, take this medicine, take. The human body, the disease will be removed. Oh, you are suffering from the attack of a bad planet. Oh, I’m giving this kavach, it will be changed.” In this way, taking the robe of a sādhu but their dealing engaged in mundane achievements, they’re not sādhu proper. Sādhu-sat. Sat means which is eternal.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino ‘rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Up to Brahmaloḥka, that is only being dissolved and creation and dissolution, passing through creation and dissolution. And the world which is above creation and dissolution, eternally, a bona fide sādhu has got engagement with that plane.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

“That is My sweet abode. If one can enter there, they have not to get away from that position. That is very beautiful and very sweet place. Those that have got liking for Me and they come to live in that plane. And others they are moving, going up down, up down, ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ. Brahma means taṭasthā, that marginal, which is created by aparāśakti. And those jīva that unfortunately enter there under the clutches of that influence of exploitation, they exploit and then again they are exploited. In this way they are moving, going up and down.”

So only in human form it is possible to get out of this vicious circle. And so when one attains this human species he should not have any other business but only to try to get out of this entanglement. That will be the most intelligent and considerate step to take in his life. And to promote that, only that favourable company is necessary, favourable. It is a general reason, that to nurture a newly acquired thing, when a seed is planted then some watering and other:

[mālī hañā kare sei bīja āropaṇa,] śravaṇa-kīrttana-jale karaye secana

...to know more about the nurturing of the creeper, śravaṇa-kīrttana-jale, to listen and to reproduce, kīrtan means to reproduce. When we are engaged in reproduction, there we cannot but be all attentive because we cannot speak anomaly, irrelevant. So consciously or unconsciously we must have to be all... ..of eternal character, not lip deep something, that originating from the pressure of the flesh or any other thing in the material world. Sound must be traced as its basis, foundation, as spiritual. The inspiration must come, the waves must start from a spiritual plane, so that the sound must have, and we are to get that from Gurudeva, and then to go on cultivating that sound. Not with the help of the mind or the body but the real culture within the soul through faith, śraddhā. Śraddhā grajam. Only our faith can touch that world. Avāñ-manaso gocaraḥ, beyond the jurisdiction of our mental thinking, or our eyes, or any senses, ears, senses, but śraddhā graja, only our faith.

You see everybody mostly they have got their ear, their eyes, but they have no faith in the Śrī Mūrti or in the Divine Name. So it is beyond the area, the jurisdiction of our physical senses we can easily imagine. So one who has got faith, he runs after the sound of kīrtana, Kṛṣṇa Nāma, or the Śrī Vighraha of Kṛṣṇa. It is the faith within that asserts through the sound, through the senses, but it is not within the jurisdiction of our eye, our ear, or something like that. The interest in the depth beyond the realm of the jurisdiction of the eye, nose, ear, etc., even the mind, everyone has got a mind but they are not running to see Śrī Mūrti. Everyone has got eye.

But Mahāprabhu when He is visualising Jagannātha, tears running like a river current from His eyes. Who is seeing Jagannātha, only the eye? No! An eye we have got but not so much tears.

Why? So the seer is the faith, the ātmā whose function is faith. Faith is resting with soul, a soul's function, and not mind or reason. Reason, there are so many materials in the mind under reason, they play the part of a judge within his jurisdiction that is supplied by the mind, the world of experience. There he can pass, judge what is good or bad. That thinks that is mundane reason acting in the mundane relativity.

So buddhi jñāna buddhi is beyond that, only faith, śraddhā. When that is within us, we run to a sādhu, we are pleased to see a sādhu. We are pleased to see the Deity. We are pleased to hear the chanting of the Name. That is a deep feeling within us and not our external senses. So the main culture must be within and with the help of the sādhus who has got his faith sufficiently awakened in him. Only his company will help me. So wherever that will be available – where money is necessary, and we run to America, to England, to Iran to acquire money, to earn money. So also here spiritual progress is necessary, wherever it will be found I must run there to get that, to acquire that. A simple thing, because it is there anyhow I want that thing so I must have to go to that place where it will be found in opulence. It is dire necessity for me. So how externally I am opposed, my position is... ..wherever it will be the company of sādhu will be available, adan pradan. Guhyam ākhyāti prcchati, sat-saṅga, generally in these six ways we can make saṅga.

[dadāti pratigrhṇāti guhyam ākhyāti prcchati bhuṅkte bhojayate caiva ṣaḍ-vidham prīti lakṣaṇam]

Dadāti pratigrhṇāti, to give something for the service of a sādhu and to take his prasādam, whatever he gives, to take, accept that, to give and to take, dadāti pratigrhṇāti. Guhyam ākhyāti prcchati, and the feelings of one's innermost heart, the feeling, that should be conveyed to the sādhu. 'Yes, my feeling is now such and such.' And prcchati, guhyam ākhyāti prcchati, and also he will ask and put questions what will be necessary for me, for my good in this stage, 'Please advise,' guhyam ākhyāti prcchati. And bhuṅkte bhojayate caiva, and to help, to serve sādhu in his feeding, in his life going, what is necessary to keep up his life, to supply that, and bhojayate caiva, and to get the remnants from him and thereby to continue one's life. In these six ways generally we accompany the association with a sādhu, generally observe, or occur. Sādhu-saṅga, give and take, give and take internally, internally, externally, wherever be my position, to give and take, give and take. By taking we get higher thing from him. And raw materials we supply and we get ready made things from him. In this way I can improve my position.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[ata ātyantikam kṣemaṁ prcchāmo bhavato 'naghāḥ] saṁsāre 'smin

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.30]

Even for a moment we get the real association of a sādhu that may turn the direction of one's life, śevadhir maha-malavan, a very valuable gem, sādhu-saṅga. That is very valuable help we can get. What he gives that is far more valuable than anything in this world. This is all mortal. They have got the gem, diamond, or money, or any kingdom, it is not valuable to all. May be valuable to a particular class of human thought, thinking, particular class. There are so many things in the creation, this is nothing to them, so has got no general value. But that ānandam, śukha, such sweetness that has got a general value. It maybe it is necessary, even the tree, even the creeper, even the stone, in whatever position the seeker may be if he gets that he will highly satisfied - that general ānanda, śukha, happiness.

yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati

["By attaining to this state, he never considers any mundane acquisition as superior, and in the face of unbearable tribulation his heart never wavers."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.22]

If we get a little of that we think that no other thing but this can satisfy me! “This is the thing for which I am striving so much, lives together. Now I have found the object of my search.” Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Higher things we can get only with the connection of service, by offering ourselves... ...have to come to the association of things of lower nature. But if we want the association of things of higher type then we must offer ourselves for the service of that same. This broad thought we must keep always in mind. That cannot be utilised like a servant to me. But I shall offer to be a servant of Him if I really want His association. Only through service I can be connected with Him, for His interest I shall work. His interest will be valuable than that of mine. He was living a higher life.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' / [kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa']

[“The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

It is our fortune that we in our constitutional position we have got a position of slave to Kṛṣṇa, slavery. The freedom, the free will be astounded to hear the word slavery. Slavery – a hateful thing, slavery. But Kṛṣṇa is such that slavery is the highest attainment for us in His relation. That is not easily to be got.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Necessity of variety of service, but His connection should never be cut off. Whatever should be done in His connection whether it may be in the form of love or rupture, love and rupture must be on His account. One monkey is devastating Laṅkā and putting it on fire. Apparently it is a very cruel deed but it has got connection with the absolute necessity, so it is laudable. It is laudable, we are to understand how. This is not the party. Those that are being disturbed by such action of cruelty they cannot stand as a party against the Absolute. So they will also be benefited if they are cruelly treated. Those that are cruelly treated for the service of the Absolute they are also getting some benefit, thereby. Absolute is so perfect and so full in its characteristic, absolute good. So both love and rupture. Whatever may be the outward appearance of the work but if it has got real connection with the absolute it is the good. Anyway we must be connected with Him, connected with Him, with the absolute centre, absolute centre. We must carry out the orders of the absolute plane, the wave.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Live in the eternity; always live in eternity, not any connection with the limited idea, or fulfilment of life. There you will be able to find that the conception of the centre is that of Kṛṣṇa, the absolute love, purity, knowledge, love, everything is there, beauty there, satisfaction. And His paraphernalia also is very wholesome and favourable, eager to take us, to help us. All desirable things to be had there in Goloka, and still it is like mundane, outward similarities, rather this world has been created after the ideal of that highest thing. So it is said somewhere:

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Of all the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, this human class of pastimes is the highest. The human beings have been created after the ideal of Kṛṣṇa. That is eternal. And this is subordinate and subservient, and that is original. Not that that has been created after the ideal of this. But nothing has been created after that ideal. So it holds an advantageous position.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Hare Rāma.

Devotee: Does Yogamāyā also sometimes control Kṛṣṇa, just like Rādhārāṇī controls Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Yogamāyā’s position to manage the environment so that it will produce some favourable paraphernalia for the pastimes of the Divinity. It is managed by Baladeva. Baladeva’s potency is Yogamāyā. And it, He handles directly to manage the environment for the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, to produce a favourable atmosphere. So for the interest of Kṛṣṇa but apparently it may seem that it is independent. But really all her attempts are actuated by the motive of pleasing, creating a favourable atmosphere for the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa. In that way: Yogamāyā. Yogamāyā, sometimes to please, to intensify Their bliss, as if, sometimes she has to create separation of Both the parties, to create more earnestness. So apparently it may seem it is going against the will of Kṛṣṇa, but really it is, whatever she is planning that is for the gratification of Kṛṣṇa and nothing else. That is Yogamāyā, and generally under the direction of Baladeva, handled from behind.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is there a personality of Yogamāyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, personality, Baladeva's potency. Baladeva also meant through the Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, Svayaṁ-Rūpa, Svayaṁ-Prakaśa, Vaibhava-Prakaśa, Baladeva, the facsimile of Kṛṣṇa meant to help the pastimes of the highest will.

Just as a manager is created by the proprietor to help his activity, his power, the whole power is with the proprietor, but proprietor delegates his power to the manager, to the dewan, to the Prime Minister or someone, to help him in different form.

So Kṛṣṇa, Baladeva is nothing but Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa's delegated power of less authority than that of Kṛṣṇa, but meant to help the līlā of Kṛṣṇa pastimes, management. And Yogamāyā is the direct potency of Baladeva. Because to handle with the other potencies so feminine form was necessary, mainly to handle with the mādhyura-rasa they are all of lady temperament so Yogamāyā as the potency of Baladeva of lady temperament to help to manage them befittingly, Yogamāyā. Yogamāyā is joining everything towards Kṛṣṇa, supplying everything towards Kṛṣṇa, and Mahāmāyā is taking everything, carried in-carrying current and out-carrying current. Yogamāyā is in-carrying current, taking everything, pushing everything to the centre, the central satisfaction, the central joy or ecstasy, whatever we may call it, is always trying to contribute towards the centre, and Mahāmāyā taking away from the centre.

Ke? [?] We should be engaged for His purpose. Nothing should be left back. The wholesale action will be totalitarian war.

Devotee: I'm sure with your blessing I think it's possible.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To capture all the centres [?] kāmasya nendriya-prītir, lābho jīveta yāvatā jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ

["Life's desires should never be directed toward sense gratification. One should desire only a healthy life, or self-preservation, since a human being is meant for enquiry about the Absolute Truth. Nothing else should be the goal of one's works."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.10]

The standpoint of life under different circumstances has been dealt with here in Bhāgavatam. Dharma means duty. Hy āpavargya, it is meant to help the proper liberation. Dharma, duty, has been fixed to be discharged in such a way that automatically it leads to our liberation proper, dharmasya hy āpavargyasya. Nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate, but it is being misused for some other purpose. What is that? It is misused to earn maximum money. Duty, duty has been arranged in such a way that we can earn maximum money, artha. What is artha? To acquire some energy, to store some energy, whenever necessary I can convert into sense pleasure. That is artha. So duty should be arranged in such a way that it can work out liberation, get out of this entanglement. So śāstra has ordained in such a way our duty. But we don't do that, we misuse it for the purpose of collecting material energy. Nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate, nārthasya dharmāikāntasya. Dharma, artha, kāma, moksa, the four fold ends of life. We find it in our society, dharma, artha, kāma, moksa.

dharmasya hy āpavargyasya, nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate nārthasya
dharmāikāntasya, kāmo lābhāya hi smṛtaḥ

And nārthasya dharmaikāntasya, the money, the stored energy, that has been advised to be used to help to discharge our duty, not to purchase maximum sense pleasure. Artha it is there, true, but artha it is meant, artha should be utilised only to help our duty and not for sense pleasure, dharma, artha, kāma. Nārthasya dharmaikāntasya, the only end, only object of our money will be, energy will be to help to discharge our duty. This is the dictation of the scripture. But we don't do that. Then what is another thing? Nārthasya dharmaikāntasya, kāmo lābhāya.

Dharma, artha, kāma. What is the purpose of kāma? It has been given to us by the śāstras, dharma, artha, kāma. This is also a particular end. But its object should be to receive the help of the material energy through our senses as much as it will keep my health fit, kāmasya nendriya-prītir. The object must not be sense pleasure. Kāma means our connection with the material object through our senses, but only to keep up this body fit. This will be the object of kāma means our acceptance of the material energy, through the senses. That is the object, but not indriya-prītir, not sense pleasure. But we approach things through the senses only to enjoy sense pleasure. But that is not the purpose of the śāstra, scripture, scriptural dictation. Kāma means sense pleasure not sense pleasure but our connection to accept the help from the material world through our senses to keep our body fit. And with our good health we shall earn money. The money should be utilised to discharge our duty. And the duty should be fixed in such a way that it can get relief for us from the present atmosphere.

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...misfortune for the nation. Experts must be given their preference. And also...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] I like these three things very much. Hitler wanted to – wanted the ladies to go home and produce, give good children. He wanted that they should give up their service and go to family life. And that is according to Arya samskṛti, Vedic samskṛti. So, and the good children will fill up the nation. And also he wanted that sterilisation of the diseased person, they won't marry and they won't produce diseased children and fill up the country with disease. Only for sense pleasure one will marry and produce children: that should not be the ideal. Priya veda naivida [?] Marry only to get good child. Priya veda naivida [?] And also: [?] In Bhāgavatam – not for sense pleasure one is to marry, but the real ideal is to get good children, the good posterity. So anyone and everyone to satisfy his sense pleasure he'll be allowed to marry and they will guide and the experts will be fool to play at their hands, this cannot be the real ideal of a particular nation, or any family, or anything, country. Guidance must come from high, not democracy.

Brahmā, it is mentioned when Rāmacandra has killed Vali, and He killed it from, unseen by Vali, apparently like a coward. Vali could not see Him, but from private position He threw the weapon to Vali and Vali was dead. And Vali's wife came with curse. "You have done such and such things, in this way so many things."

And Rāmacandra gave His explanation, and that is to be noted to be a very subtle thing. Rāmacandra told, it is found in Valmiki Rāmāyaṇa, that, "The responsibility of the government of this globe as given to the Solar Dynasty by Brahmā himself. So we may consider the Solar Dynasty they are the ruler of the whole globe, because that was delegated by Brahmā himself, the creator. And now Bharata he's on the throne. And there's also a provision thereby that anyone born in the royal family he will take up the position of a policeman in his hand. Anyone born in a royal family he's a born police. And so as because I'm born in the Sūrya varṁśa, Solar family, Solar Dynasty, so I have got intrinsic power to do My duty according to the police, as a policeman. And you have committed an offence which is, which should be given capital punishment. According to your social law if you take the wife of your brother you should be punished with death. That is the law. But because you have accepted the wife of Sugriva so you are punishable by capital punishment. And once you have got that judgement you can be killed in any way the government may like, so I have killed you without notice, without any notice to you, because you are already a victim of capital punishment. This is My justification."

So the responsibility from up, and not from down; of course cooperation is allowed from the subjects. The King may consult the subjects, their opinion, and do accordingly. But the government, as Mr Abraham Lincoln told: "Government of the people, by the people, for the people." In America who declared this first?

Devotees: Abraham Lincoln.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Abraham Lincoln. That gentleman, he's very famous for this basis of democracy. The ideal democracy is based on this principal: "The government of the people, government by the people, and government for the people."

We admit, when I was in Madras, the Gandhi Movement, all these things, generally I advertised in the newspaper the subject, this subject, "The government of the people, for the people, but not by the people." What does he know what is the real interest of the people. Government of the people, for the people, and government of the people, but not by the people; but by the higher authority who knows more than the ordinary mass can expect to do. That is our idea. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Churchill was a strong man, that is of course unscrupulously strong, firm, in his resolution. Chamberlain had to go when Churchill came. And without Churchill when Bamsi [?] was to meet with Roosevelt in unknown quarter of the Atlantic then General Smarts was invited to take his position. None was found in the whole of England, his substitute was considered General Smarts who was in Africa, South Africa. He went there, he took his position, then Churchill went to have an interview with Roosevelt, important interview, and in an unknown quarter [?] Very strong man, Churchill, very strong, resolute.

At that time Gandhi declared that, “Quit India: British quit India.” That movement was started in India at that time.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] “British quit India.” That was his slogan. Churchill told that, “At this time we have got the number of our military men are in the highest degree in the history so we do not care for the Gandhi slogan.” But that was proved futile. When Achindalek [?] or Mantegomayi [?], who was in charge of the military department of the East, when he went away he told, “We have to go only for one man, Mr Gandhi, who’s so brave, and who has infused the bravery in the whole of the India, and for that we are to go away.” Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mahārāja, could you tell us something about the war, and how, what a devotee's attitude is, and how he could prepare for such devastation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. That is out of control. One may try his best to save him, and at the same time going on taking the Name of the Lord. And at the same time more than that, how to save the devotees at least higher than, holding higher position than him.

Vaisnava rakha [?] artha rakha [?] and Hari-Nāma: and also śāstra rakha [?]

We must not, while dying we must not forget to serve sādhu and śāstra, Deities, all these things, and if necessary we must give our life, that is to die in harness. You know, 'die in harness?'

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not flying away from the battle. When the danger approaches we must die fighting. And our fighting that is for the service of anything which is in connection of the Lord, Mahāprabhu.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mahārāja, many people are going out to the country and establishing farms away from the cities so they can survive the war. The devotees, they should not make such preparation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When fighting begins you must leave the country?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says devotees are going to the country, leaving the city.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! To the villages, rural quarters!

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, preparation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, if that is possible, one may do that. To avoid the dangerous spot you may go to the more safe position, with all these properties: that means the Deities, the scriptures, and devotees.

laukikī vaidikī vāpi, [yā kriyā kriyate mune / hari-sevānukūlaiva, sa kāryā bhaktim icchatā]

[“O great sage! One who aspires for devotional service should perform all activities, whether Vedic or mundane, in a way that is favourable for the service of Lord Hari.”]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Purva-vibhaga, 2.200, from Nārada-pañcarātra]

[Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 13.82] & [In Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.113, purport]

In a human way, what we do for our favourites, our nears and dears, and only retain and in place of these fleshy kinsmen we shall try to do our duty towards the Divine Connection. That will be the difference. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. We won't be very eager to give up our life. We must be in our duty. But if life goes away, it may go, how can I stop it? But we shall try to live and in the service of our respectable objects, our master. We must not desert our master, at the cost, for the fear of losing this flesh and bone.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mahārāja, some say the war is close, and others say it's not so close.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It maybe, death individual or total death, in mere quantity every day it is coming and so many are being removed. And only to prepare against that we are trying our best.

Death: Grhiti mukeshu [?] That the lord of death has caught me by the tuft of my hair and only by a jerk he will take me up from this life. Thinking this, one should attend seriously in his spiritual duties. This moment I may die. Then what steps should be taken for that? I'm doing that. I shall engage myself most intensely in the service of the Lord. And let the nature discharge his duty. I shall be attentive in my duty. I shall give all attention to my duty, discharge my duty. And the death: let him be allowed to do his duty according to the law of nature. That cannot be avoided. This is sure.

But if I can save my position in this life it will help me for increasing more intensely my spiritual wealth. So I want to live, I want live, and because the human life is valuable and here we can acquire more eternal spiritual wealth, so I shall try to live. But if it is inevitable we can't help, we shall be taken away discharging my duty. I won't allow myself to forget in any time, even by the dread of death, but I try my best not to forget Kṛṣṇa, kārṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa and His own. I won't, I'll try my best to keep up that memory during the time of my death. This body will vanish but the mental system with those wealth full with the memory of Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa, that will remain. That the atom bomb cannot destroy.

Death is inevitable we know, everyone knows that it will come, but before that as much as I can amass my desired end of life I shall try. What other alternative they may have, anything? No other alternative. I have come for the highest valuable wealth and I go on with that engagement. And let the apathetic force do their duty in their way. And if Lord wishing, desiring, I may not die: and also I may die, I do not care for that...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...jijñāsā. Who am I? Where am I? What am I? What will be my best benefit? All these discussions!

dharmasya hy āpavargyasya, nārtho 'rthāyopakalpate nārthasya
dharmaikāntasya, kāmo lābhāya hi smṛtaḥ

[“All dharmas (religions, duties, occupational positions, social functions) are certainly meant for ultimate liberation. They should never be performed for material gain. Furthermore, according to sages, one who is engaged in the ultimate occupational duty should never use material gain to cultivate sense gratification.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.9]

kāmasya nendriya-prītir, lābho jīveta yāvatā jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ

["Life's desires should never be directed toward sense gratification. One should desire only a healthy life, or self-preservation, since a human being is meant for enquiry about the Absolute Truth. Nothing else should be the goal of one's works."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.10]

We must enquire, where am I, and how I can get rid of the present limitation? How can I liberate me and what is my highest prospect? It is, this chain has been devised for such purpose in our life, but generally we find the opposite. My duty is such, not for to liberate from this unfavourable environment but it is to earn money and money is utilised for sense pleasure. And dharma, that is also generally used to distribute that sense pleasure amongst this environment: that is dharma. What is dharma? To distribute money or food, that is sense pleasure. That is the food of the physical body. And not to enquire, brahma-jijñāsā, from whom:

yato vā imāni bhūtāni jāyante, yena jātāni jīvanti yat prayanty abhiṣamviśanti, tad brahma tad vijijñāsa

["The Supreme Brahman is the origin and shelter of all living beings. When there is creation, He brings them forth from their original state, and at the time of annihilation, He devours them. After creation, everything rests in His omnipotence, and after annihilation, everything again returns to rest in Him."] [Taittirīya-Upaniṣad, 3.1]

Not that brahma-jijñāsā, who is around me, who is controlling me, my fate, where am I, and what is my highest prospect? What is the means to that highest goal? All these enquiries they are stopped going on. Earning money and acquiring sense pleasure, and maximum distributing that to our family or to the society, sense pleasure, distribution of sense pleasure. We are satisfied there, these three candidates, physically our duty is done. But no diagnosis, treatment is going on, helping others what he needs.

The patient says, "Give some bad diet, I like that."

I'm supplying that. I don't care that this will enhance his disease. I don't discriminate. I'll supply then the patient dies. That is our inconsiderate help, done by Ramakrishna Mission etc. The guṇḍās are given organised help, without changing their direction he's going to the hell. "Oh! You're too tired? I'm giving some help, oh go, be little haste to go to the hell." They don't care to change their direction, "That don't go that side. Come this side, then I'll help you, come this side. Come this side, you are soul, come towards God. I am helping you." That is discriminate help.

Indiscriminate, whatever he's doing does not matter, "I'm making social work independent of anything else." What is that? And help to whom? Who is the party, this body, or mind, or the soul within? Who is the party? Whom to help? Who is the party to receive the help? And what is the disease? To save this mortal coil, only to save the mortal coil to help the man within.

Sometimes it may come in such an acute position that by killing a man may be helped, otherwise he's going to do such a great mischief that if he commits that he'll be very badly, in very bad position, stop him before he does such nuisance.

...for the help, because soul is immortal; help the soul.

...

This body, of course human body is well and good if it is utilised.

...

Vaiṣṇava aparādha or Bhāgavat aparādha, if cannot be opposed, kill him, so he may not go to be prey of that most heinous disaster in his future life. Stop him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. By killing also we can serve a man, we can serve him really, sometimes. So this extreme view we can take to detect and to analyse who is the party, what is good, how one should be helped, what consideration should get preference. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nītāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That may be anti social.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Socially, society of the ignorant and of the dacoits, guṇḍā society, what's a society, when society there is a standard, absolute standard, and what's near to the standard of life then that society should have recognition.

There is vox populi and vox dei: some say vox populi is vox dei. We don't care for that. That is wrong. 'The voice of the people is the voice of God.' Never! Mass is ignorant. Human beings: there are other sections they may hold majority here; the trees may be majority. They will say that the human section they're losing, they're consuming oxygen. No, that is opposite. The human society that are cutting us off – all these things, making bad treatment, they should be banished from here. They're majority, the majority here is ignorant.

One German philosopher – “Mass is ignorant.”

So, even Jinnah [Muhammad Ali] told, before Lucknow Congress: “Brute majority, the brute majority; that will decide the fate of the nation.”

“The voice of populi is the voice of God.”

Never! They're ignorant, they do not know. Then what is the necessity of the leaders in the religious field? Why did Jesus come? Mohamed come?

Śaṅkara come, leading. The genius, they come and lead the masses generally and so many are their followers. What is this? Mass is ignorant. Experts should be adored in every field, and also in the field of religion, the experts, they should be adored, they should be followed. We should take their ideal. But vox dei should be vox populi, so no question of Bible, Koran, or Veda, if the voice of the people is voice of God. They differ at times and the voice of the God will also differ. No truth eternal. There cannot be any eternal truth, and no necessity of relation through the Veda, through the ṛṣi, the experts, through the mahājana, the great men, the revealed truth. This is atheism.

Society if they follow the direction of Veda, the religious experts, revelation, the revealed truth, then the society will be saved. What society? They're all fallible creatures. Every day they can find that they're committing so many mistakes. They're infallible directors of the society, and ludicrous. Dekhi diti tini avastaya [?] Three stages are found in every day in a person and he says, 'I am the leader.' Repenting his own activity, and he's a leader. What a society! Society should be guided by great men.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Caitanya-Bhāgavat. Whom we find in one day three stages, in three stages, and he says that, 'I am the leader of the society.' This is a fun. [?]

Caitanya-Bhāgavat perhaps! No stability in him, found, in three parts of day, he gives opinion of three varieties, and he says, "I am the leader. Accept me."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Here I stop. Nitāi Gaura Hari...

...

That will all be dissolved and vanish, will go away.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So in the Bengali you have:

Tomar naney amar bhagavat das nama rupa candan lek lupta hoi jale [?]
So in the name of liberation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only positive attainment. That will vanish. I shall be forced to come in the marginal position, neither this side nor that side, just in the marginal position. That is what is favourable to banish that, neither [?] mukti, the liberation. Liberation, that is imaginary line, imaginary position, not anything positive. So whatever little positive connection I have got with me I have to dissolve that, abandon that, because I'm mukta, mukta-vimukta, liberated from anything and everything. I can't participate, then I'm in bondage with that. But I have got my attraction for the prasādam, for the ornaments, for the avasesh, tvayopabhukta-srag-gandha-, vāso 'laṅkāra-carccitāḥ ucchiṣṭa-bhojino dāsās, tava māyām jayema hi

[Uddhava says: "Adorned with the articles that have been offered to You, such as garlands, fragrant clothing, and ornaments, we, Your personal servitors who partake of Your holy remnants alone, will certainly be able to conquer Your illusory energy (māyā).”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.6.46]

With the remnants that are offered to the Lord, with the help of that I shall get my bhakti devotion towards the Lord. And if I’m a follower of mukti proper then I shall have to leave all these things also. So go away, go away; don’t try to pollute me. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So when you say bhakti here you’re saying:

amar bhagavat das nama rupa candan lek lupta hoi jale [?] So this Bhāgavat here means my Lord?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Amar bhagavat das nama, that I am the servant of Kṛṣṇa. This name will go away, vanish. I have got connection; I am a servant of Kṛṣṇa. I can’t remain that because I’m mukta from every aspect. And the candan also, the stamp is there, I’m Bhāgavat dāsa. The stamp I shall have to give up, that I’m Bhāgavat dāsa. This stamp is there, the Tulasī mālā, this candan, _____ [?] all these things.

One of our God-brothers, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s disciple, Prabhupāda’s sannyāsī, Tīrtha Mahārāja, used to tell that, “If in the municipal area any dog moves hither thither without a...

Devotees: Tag. Collar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...leather collar, then that is shot. Then the servants of the municipality will shoot that dog. So with this [?] we have got this Tulasī mālā, that we are servants of Kṛṣṇa. Then no one will venture to harm us. And without this Tulasī mālā we may be shot down like the dog: who belongs to none. So I won't leave this valuable leather collar, this Tulasī mālā. [?] From Padma-Purāṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] means ordinary, other than, other than Your devotees, that is [?] Your devotees and other than that [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Of these two, devotees and non devotees.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Of those two, I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Anyhow I want Your association in any form or other, even the servant of the servant of the servant of You. And others who are not connected with You I don’t_____ [?] that ordinary people, I don’t want to be a good position even equal to that of a Brahmā, the creator. Even I’m offered to have a position like that of a Brahmā with connection of the ordinary people I don’t want that. But I want to be even the birth of an insect or worm in the room of Your devotee.”

kīṭa-janma hau jathā tuwā dās, tuwā bahir-mukha brahma-janma nāhi āś

[Śaraṇāgati 3.5, From The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's another poem, mānasa, deho, geho, yo kichu mor, [From Śaraṇāgati 3.1] there.

"I want to be, if by the course of the law of karma I in future to have any birth anywhere in Your creation, then this is my prayer that any birth I may have, even that of a worm or insect, I've no objection. But only my prayer to avoid the company of those that are apathetic to You. Even an honourable position like that of Brahmā is offered to me I don't like it." Kīṭa-janma hau jathā tuwā dās. "I prefer the birth of a worm in the room of Your, in the house of Your devotee. And: bahir-mukha brahma-janma nāhi āś, and even the position of a Brahmā I like to reject. I have no taste for that. What to speak of other higher birth. Even the man who is the creator of this mundane world, bahir-mukha brahma, I do not want his position even."

That is śuddha-bhakti. Real devotion is there. And another striking point, Yāmunācārya he was almost Guru of Rāmānujācārya. Rāmānujācārya's life perhaps you don't know? Yāmunācārya he was Guru of Rāmānuja we may say, though perhaps Rāmānuja did not meet him. Yāmunācārya was good scholar and he was continuing the study in a tol, in a school, of Gurukula.

Then at that time one King came and he gave an announcement. In the King's name some announcement was given out that, "My court paṇḍita he wants to know if there is any scholar to discuss with him about the teachings of the scriptures, Veda, etc. Then he may accept this." A golden thing was sent from door to door, a golden [?] gourd or something, a golden...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ornament?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not ornament, a fruit [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Pumpkin.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pumpkin like, that thing was sent with declaration that, “Hold this. If anyone is there who ventures to discuss about the meanings and purpose of the Vedic School.”

Then Rāmānujācārya’s Guru avoided that, “No, I won’t go.”

That Yāmunācārya was there. His name was [?] something was his name, he told, asked his Gurudeva to take the challenge. “You keep up this.”

“No, no, no, I get some money from the state. That he’s all in all in the state, he’s the appointed paṇḍita of the King. If he wants he may stop my, stop the money what I get every month to keep up the school, so I won’t like to disturb that gentleman.”

Then Yāmunācārya told... [?]

Then Yāmunācārya told, “No, I want to take the challenge. You are my Gurudeva, and when I am here you will sign that you are not fit to discuss with him, I can’t tolerate that. I must go to discuss with that raja, the scholar of the raja.”

Then he could not calm him so it was taken and Yāmunācārya went to the court. And there was already a rumour spread that a boy is coming to discuss with the court paṇḍita, so many scholars gathered also. “What’s the matter? The boy will come to such a big scholar to discuss things with him?”

Then Yāmunācārya is going, and in the harem the Queen is there and the King also there. There is a talk between them. The Queen says, “Alam bhayu [?]” “Now he has come.” And they set a bet on the future proposition that if he, if this boy be victorious, the Queen took the side of the boy Yāmunācārya that, “This boy he must be victorious in this fight.”

Then King told, “No, it is not possible. My court scholar he’s a great paṇḍita, he’s a great scholar. What this boy will do?”

Then, “Suppose if this boy he’ll be victorious, what you will give?”

Then the King told, “My daughter I shall marry with him, and half of the kingdom I shall give to him.”

“Yes, surely he will do, be victorious.”

Then the sitting for discussion. He was very much enraged that this boy has come and taken the challenge, he cannot do because he has already given announcement that whoever will come he will talk with him, so can’t avoid. But still he feels much insult that, “I have so many scholars. All are afraid of me, and this boy has come to insult me.” Then when they sat together the court paṇḍita he asked a question. “Will you be able to answer my questions?”

“Yes. I shall try.”

“I put three questions to you.”

No, the court paṇḍita told, “Have you come to discuss and to defeat me?”

“Yes I have come.”

“Put any question. I shall cut it asunder.”

“I put three questions to you. One,” then Yāmunācārya put this question.

“One question, I say that your mother is not barren, who cannot produce child, your mother is not barren. You are to prove that your mother is barren; this is one.

The second, the King I say the King is pure in character, our King is of pure character. You are to prove that he's impure.

The third, the Queen is a chaste lady, I say. You are to prove that she's adulterer."

So how he'll be able, he can't say anything, sweat came in him. Three questions put. Then after some time, and men and other scholars they're waiting with baited breath, breathless they're waiting. Then the court paṇḍita, the raja paṇḍita he came with a thunderous voice, "Can you answer these questions?"

"Yes."

Then the excitement grew to the extremity. "How he will be able to put these questions?"

Then he quoted from – their pramāṇa, that is proof, must be given from some scripture or so otherwise it won't be accepted. He quoted one that: "If the son of a lady is worthless then she may be condemned, called barren. One who has produced a son like you who is so boastful and who has got no real sense, she may be considered to be a barren lady. [?] valueless child, producing a valueless child, the mother is accused that she's barren. It is mentioned in such Purāṇa."

What to do?

"Next, the King is not pure, he's sinful."

“Can you prove?” “Yes. King is impure.” “Why?”

Again quotation from scripture: “King is receiving taxes from the subjects and thereby with these taxes their sin is going always to the King. And he performs yajña and other activities, thereby he’s becoming, he’s purifying himself. But because the tax comes always and with that sin comes to the King and so he may be considered to be impure, for the sin of the subjects.” And quotation given; can’t refuse.

Then the third and most terrible: “The Queen is not a chaste lady.” All are waiting with breathless attitude.

Then he told that, “There are so many gods always living with the Queen, er, with the King, eight gods or so they’re always living.”

Mahati devatara raja nava rupena tisthati [?]

“There are some eight gods they’re always with the King. So when the King meets his wife the gods are also there, so in that sense, in the sense of chastity what we conceive, that is disturbed.”

And that was accepted. “Yes. We can’t deny that.” So he was subdued.

Priti vadi vancar [?] Then, another title he got, priti vadi vancar [?]
Yāmunācārya.

Then there is another point. [?]

When he was asked perhaps by the King before they began the discussion, “Then you boy, will you be able to come into dispute and discussion with this big paṇḍita?”

When the King put this question to Yāmunācārya then he answered:

_____ [?]

“Oh, you lord of men, I may be a young man, a very young child, but:

_____ [?]

But my knowledge is not, my sarasvati, my voice, she's not a girl:

_____ [?]

The poison, the venom of a small serpent, is it not sufficient to kill a person?

_____ [?] A very small serpent [?] the son of a serpent, the venom of the son of a little serpent, is it not sufficient to kill a man? So I may be a boy, but my knowledge is not like that of a boy. So I think I shall be able to fight with him.”

And when the fight finished the Queen came and asked the King, “Keep your promise, I want to give my daughter to this boy, and half of the kingdom you must give to him.”

Then it was done. And for some time he was engaged in – he was in the line of Vaiṣṇava thought, some time passed he's engaged in that, in the pleasure, in the marriage, and the king royal life.

Then one old devotee, he was very fond of a particular vegetable, sak, and one follower of Rāmānuja section used to supply that vegetable every day to him, to his cook. He's now a King.

Then one day he asked the cook, “Where do you get this kind of vegetable every day? It is not found during the whole time of the year. It is rarely found.”

“One sādhu, he takes this vegetable for you. How he has known that this is very favourite vegetable to you?”

“Then please ask him, ‘What does he want?’” Then he asked the sādhu, the cook...

Devotee: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that Yāmunācārya asked his cook, “Who gives this kind of supply: my favourite vegetable?”

He told that, “One sādhu.”

“You ask him, what does he want from me?”

Then he asked. And he told, “I want to meet him once.”

And that was granted, and when that sādhu met him he began to weep, cry.

“What is this that you are such a great hope of our, future hope of our sampradāya. Now you are such a big, extraordinary scholar and you are now enjoying the kingdom, and our sampradāya sustains a great loss. The other party, that is Śāṅkara School and others, they’re encroaching on our prestige, and you are sleeping, engaged in...”

Then he gave some assurance, “I shall, yes I shall...”

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sarvabhavan [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, in a car? All right! But Caru Swāmī perhaps he’s gone to Bombay.

Then from that time Yāmunācārya he again returned to work for the Vaiṣṇava School and for śaraṇāgati we find very high thoughts from him about Kulaśekhara Āḷvār as well as Yāmunācārya.

In one poem he has written: “O Lord, now I think I’m abnormal consciousness. I pray to You that only engage me in Your service, or service in Your department, service of the servant of the servant of the servant. This is my, I’m surrendering to You. I’m writing this bond now.

And if in future, I'm in full normal conscious now, but my future may not be guaranteed. If in future I want no, no, I want something, You please won't care that. Whatever I'm praying for me this please sanction. This is eternal. This is for forever. I don't know in future. I may pray something else, but don't give that, don't give that. This is my final prayer. I'm fully in normal conscience now. And that should be considered as abnormal if in future I want anything else."

In this way many things we find, the real sign of śaraṇāgati in his writing.

And in last time in Śrī Rāṅgam when he was going to depart he asked for, called for Rāmānuja. Rāmānuja was then a rising scholar at that time, he called for Rāmānujācārya.

"I want to meet him."

But when Rāmānujācārya reached that place he'd already passed away. He could not speak...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Then he found that three fingers are closed in this way. There is a custom in that land is to count anything; we do in this way, but the fashion there, one, two, three, in this way. Then Rāmānuja found that three fingers are closed in this way, that three questions he had; “Questions means he had to tell three things to me. What he could have told me?” He conjectured, conceived, Rāmānuja. “I find that three things are necessary for our sampradāya, for our clan, indispensably for the propaganda of Vaiṣṇava religion. One, the real commentary of Vedānta: Śaṅkara has given but our sampradāya has got no commentary of our own. I shall prepare, write a commentary.” One finger: that bent finger was erected, disclosed.

Ke? Abhimaṇyu! Gaura Hari.

Then another, Rāmānuja, another thing: “Śruti, the arcana padyati, that is very necessary to keep up the sampradāya. I shall prepare one from the Veda and Purāṇa collection, compilation.” Another finger was disclosed. And the third – first the commentary of the Upaniṣads, and then that of Vedānta, and then one arcana grantha, three things, and all were astonished to see how the fingers, closed fingers were disclosed again. And then with great joy, victory, and Rāmānuja was accepted as the sole leader of the whole Vaiṣṇava sampradāya at that time, from that time.

Yāmunācārya, his poems were very authentic, and the subject of śaraṇāgati, surrender – how to surrender to the Lord, how one, what is required to surrender, what things are necessary, if one wants to surrender to the Lord? The test is there. If you can accept all these conditions in your relationship with the Lord, then of course you may be considered that you are surrendering, śaraṇāgata. The authority in śaraṇāgati’s conception: Yāmunācārya.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Rāmānujācārya took sannyāsa from Yāmunācārya at that time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not Yāmunācārya: that is another thing.

After Rāmānuja there were two Schools amongst Rāmānuja sampradāya, one Teṅkalai, another Vaḍakalai, afterwards. Up to Rāmānuja there was only one. Those that give more importance to the advices of the first Ālwār, who came from rather an untouchable section, his name was Śaṭhakopar, his sayings are considered to be of the highest importance in that School, in Tamil language. Those that have got greater reverence for them that is Teṅkalai.

And then Deśikācāryya, one of the scholars in the Rāmānuja School, he laid more stress in the Vedic School, Veda, Upaniṣads, Purāṇa, etc. And secondary in that Śaṭhakopar, so that section is known as ācārya sampradāya. During the time of Rāmānuja they both were one, then the subdivision between the two.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura premānanda Haribol! Now, what's the news? Caru Swāmī started for Bombay?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mukundamālā Prabhu, also from Los Angeles. And Kaśirāma Prabhu, he's also from Los Angeles. And especially all of them have heard your tapes very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: From Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, so they're very keen to have your darśana at your lotus feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. All right! You're coming direct from Calcutta?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You are to take anything?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, that we will take.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prasādam. And they're well? Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja and, they are coming, when they reached India?

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And today?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Today's the fourth of November.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're travelling through tīrtha or where?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Actually they specifically came to have your darśana Mahārāja, and then they will go to some other place. They'll go to Vṛndāvana for Prabhupāda's disappearance and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They will go?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. On the first of November, so they want to be here for your appearance day, for your Vyāsa-pūjā day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But they reached India, and so long where they were staying? Devotee: He's staying with Bhakti Caru Swāmī.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In Calcutta they stayed a few days and then they went to Purī Dhāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Purī. All right! Like flowers, mālā means the garlands, the garland, so many valuable flowers. That is all śaraṇāgati. They are all disciples of Swāmī Mahārāja?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śaraṇāgati. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is also expected to come here?

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

What does he say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's quoting from your talk Mahārāja. You were explaining this praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā and you were saying that the absolute knowledge is to be served. He was quoting that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. And we can't utilise that for ours, to serve us.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is the idea. Higher knowledge can't come to serve the lower knowledge. No benefit thereby. That is offence against the higher knowledge. Only we can connect with them with the spirit of service. The Hegelian philosophy, 'Reality is for Itself,' never subservient to any other thing. Then that will hold the supreme most position. The higher knowledge, higher thing, if we really want only in the spirit of service we may be connected with them and never otherwise, never otherwise.

Surrender, and the position, the relation with that also will be to the degree of surrender. Otherwise we won't be able to enter into that domain. Surrender. No prejudice should be carried from behind. All prejudices, that praṇipāta, with the attempt of praṇipāta all old prejudices should be left out. Then paripraśna the inquiry is, only will be genuine when we can give up all our past prejudices. Then the real inquiry, bona fide inquiry only will begin. Praṇipāta, the prejudices, the past experiences of life, they will be dismissed, and then pariprasna, the inquiry will be honest, paripraśna.

And then the bond; "If I get You, I am to surrender. I am to serve, and never to utilize for my base purpose of life.” That will come, take us in real connection of the higher knowledge, or love, or beauty, or anything of our inner aspiration. It is within us. Birds of the same feather flock together. Samase lavaganti [?] That sort of thing, a drop within us, so it is possible for us to venture to go that side, svarūpa, svarūpe sabāra haya, in the innermost function of our soul we may find that that is our home. That is our home, and we are wandering in the foreign land, this consciousness of the foreign ways and ultimately our illusory concoction, māyā. Only Kṛṣṇa is reality. Kṛṣṇa with His paraphernalia: that is only reality. And this is all deviated consciousness from the truth, deviated conception from the truth. And so it does not stay, it is mortal. And that is a boon indirectly, that it vanishes. Bad things which are not real, which are not good, that vanishes. That is a boon for our life. If we get chance to get reality, once attained, we are not to lose.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

The Kṛṣṇa Himself, when He says this word I think that it is so sweet that Kṛṣṇa Himself also impressed with the sweetness of His own dhāma, own paraphernalia, paramaṁ mama.

“My dhāma is param, it is honourable, and it’s desirable, and very sweet, My dhāma, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama.”

What to be in the consideration of us, Kṛṣṇa Himself feels that His dhāma is a param dhāma. His domain is very desirable and very beautiful and very sweet. Yad gatvā na nivartante - if one can enter once, no possibility of being discharged from that position, the eternal, the nature of eternity requires such. Gaura Haribol.

Then Mukundamālā Prabhu, and another?

Devotee: Kaśirāma, and Gurutama [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

...

Servitors in the br̥hat-mṛdaṅga, br̥hat pracāra, service, any lip deep chanting, that is not chanting proper if it is not surcharged with the spirit of service. Surrender is the beginning of service. We are to enter into the realm of service through the gate of surrender, then we will be advised what to do. And they will utilise us. So need of the Vaiṣṇavas, the guides there. It is a great need to have a Vaiṣṇava. Why? They will guide us. They have got experience of that field. They can guide us.

The Lord says, “Who are My servants, they are not real servants. But who are servant of My servant, they are real servants.”

That means that. In reality, we find the guidance of the Vaiṣṇava can introduce us in that new land. And that will be more fruitful for our purpose. So Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇava.

In the beginning we may think, in the crude state, “That why so much mention about the Vaiṣṇava? I want the Lord Himself. And they, the sādhus, Gurus, they always take Vaiṣṇava in the middle. Between myself and between God, the Guru, Vaiṣṇava, Guru also may be tolerated to such an extent, but Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇava, always so much importance given to the Vaiṣṇava.”

To come between us, it seems to be undesirable in the beginning. But as much as we grow we will find the stress is given for the real benefit of the newcomers. Without their guidance, we are unknown. Of course by God’s will they are appointed to guide us. But their guidance is essentially necessary for our, for every purpose of service. They are not enemy, they are not trespassers between us.

But as I gave some instances, that the glass, the glass spectacle, apparently it is a barrier between the sight and the seer, the eye and the sight. But it enhances our sight, though apparently it is a barrier between the two. And also in the telescopic system, so many apparent trespassers between the thing to be seen far away and here, but they enhance our sight, so many telescopic systems, so: tvad bhr̥tya-bhr̥tya-paricāraka-bhr̥tya-bhr̥tya. A very important thing to guide us, as many guardians I shall have over my head, the finer vision will pass through one, two, three telescopic system; that is far things which are very distant that will come near by the help of so many glasses between the two. Which is considered by the ordinary people as so many barriers, but they are to enhance the sight, so: tvad bhr̥tya-bhr̥tya-paricāraka-bhr̥tya-bhr̥tya

[maj-janmanaḥ phalam idaṁ madhu-kaiṭabhāre mat prārthanīya mad anugraha eṣa eva tvad bhr̥tya-bhr̥tya-paricāraka-bhr̥tya-bhr̥tya- bhr̥tyasya bhr̥tyam iti mām smara lokanātha]

["O Supreme Lord of all beings, O slayer of the demons Madhu and Kaiṭabha, this is the purpose of my life, this is my prayer, and this is Your grace - that You will remember me as Your servant, a servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, a servant of a servant of such a servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, and a servant of a servant of the servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava's servant's servant."] [Śrī Kulaśekhara's Mukunda-Mālā-stotra, 25]

In the land of exploitation, if there are so many servants that may not disturb me, so many servants I have got to command, but just the opposite there, so many guardians, there are so many well wishers. In this way we shall try to have view of them, so many guardians and well wishers. As many guardians I shall have there, I will be free of any fear. So many guardians, so many well wishers I have got so I don't care anybody. So in that light we are to see the Vaiṣṇavas, the sādhus. Of course in real plane, I am not talking of the sham, the imitationist, but in the real sphere, case is such there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

It will attract our service for that plane. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. The subjective plane, just as here, within the matter, now the most graphic and most original force have been invented or discovered: perhaps electric current, is it not? It is the most basic and fundamental forces. Of all forces we can find here, the most all pervading force, even it can work in the moon, in the sun, only electric current, is it not? What is that, it comes from the ethereal plane. That is the most precious and most powerful force ever discovered. So also in the subjective realm, this is in the objective. In the objective plane, the most fundamental and powerful plane of forces is discovered as electricity, atomic, something like that.

So in the subjective realm the most fundamental and deepest plane, that of beauty and sweetness and love, not of power, not of knowledge. Not of knowledge and not of power but of beauty, but of love, most extensive, most powerful, forceful, and most original plane, in the subjective realm.

And we are only a member of the subjective world, the soul. The soul is a member of the subjective world, not of the objective. And the subjective, super subjective, super super subjective, the highest plane is Goloka. Full sphere, Goloka means solid circle. Not plane circle. Hemisphere is Vaikuṇṭha and full sphere is Goloka, a solid circle, from the centre, equally distributed.

Here of course our conception of a circle is a limited thing to us, but it is infinite and the rasa is distributed in such a way – the full fledged theism, in other words. Theism means the realistic existence. Atheism, nothing, that is a pessimistic view, nothing. Our desire, the inner desire may not be fulfilled. Atheism, there is nothing to satisfy my inner thirst.

But theism, yes, theism means Om̐, Om̐kāra. The meaning of the Om̐kāra, the praṇava is yes, positive. Veda in the very seed form is Om̐. Om̐, what is the meaning of Om̐? Om̐ means yes; in one word, what is your inner inquiry, that is, in one word the Veda, the revealed truth, the seed of the revealed truth says, “Yes” in one word. What is yes? What is your innermost hankering for, that is. Then what is that? Then the revealed truth from the Upaniṣad, Veda coming, this is by stages, this is so, this is so.

tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet / samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭhaṁ

["One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source."] [Mundaka-Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati / yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati ["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."]

The gradual process to reach that goal: the innermost inquiry within your heart. It is, how it is? It is such and such, it is such and such. And in this process you are to come, you are to reach there, all these things. Theism means Om̐, yes, existence, existence, in one word, it is, it is. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Rūpa Goswāmī has described Om̐, as in three syllables, as representing Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī, and the living entity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah u ma, Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī and?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Living entities.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paraphernalia.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Paraphernalia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I forget the śloka. Do you remember the śloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah u ma when analysed.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Actually how do we relate to that Mahārāja, because Om̐ to us was always a Māyāvādī impersonal representation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Kṛṣṇa, the knowledge is there, full knowledge is there. And the aspiration of the knowledge, that is ānandam, sundaram, that is there. The potency is there.

śyāmāc chavalam̐ prapadye, śavalāc chyāmaṁ prapadye

["By the help of black (śyāmā), we shall be introduced to the service of the white (śavalā); by the help of white (śavalā), we shall be introduced to the service of black (śyāmā)."] [Candogya- Upaniṣad, 8.13.1]

Jñāna bala kriya ca. Thinking, feeling, and willing, feeling, thinking is there, Kṛṣṇa is there, feeling is there, and willing, Baladeva, the paraphernalia. Baladeva, Yogamāyā, sandhinī śakti, paraphernalia, the environment, Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī and the environment, three things necessary. And that is perverted reflection here. But in the reality, these three substances analysed, advaya-jñāna analysed, we find these three things eternally. The potency, the hlādinī, the sandhinī, is the paraphernalia, sandhinī; and hlādinī, Rādhārāṇī, She is the very perfect seed, from the taraṅga, the waves are coming. She is the root, hlādinī. And samvit, the enjoyer is there, Kṛṣṇa, in these three, ah u ma.

And here in the perverted reflection ah means Brahmā, u Viṣṇu, and then ma, Mahādeva, paraphernalia of destruction. Striti stiti pralaya, ah u ma in this perverted relation, relatively, and there in the eternal, in that way. Jñāna bala kriya ca, thinking, feeling, willing: the enjoyed, the enjoyer, and where and what for the enjoyment, Hare Kṛṣṇa, paraphernalia. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Jīva Goswāmī also gave another definition of Om̐ in Bhakti-sandarbha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura he was talking about the different devotees which appeared in Navadvīpa which are Avatāras. And he referred to Jīva Goswāmī saying that Jīva Goswāmī explained Om̐kāra as being the embodiment of all the different Avatāras. The different Avatāras, their origin is from Om̐kāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That analysis from the different layers. All the Avatāras in Om̐, guṇa Avatāras, then this śaktyāveśa, they may be classified under these three heads, ah u ma. Some are creative faculties, some sustenance, and some withdrawing, in this world, in reference to this world. They are under this jurisdiction. In all different functions, the main is this, sandhinī, hlādinī, samvit, that is the central analysed of the spiritual prime cause, advaya-jñāna. And then according to the necessity in the gradation this may be applied in different position, in different way.

All branches somehow or other from these main three branches of advaya-jñāna, in different perspective, different plane of view.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

_____ [?] When did we begin?
Eight? Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then where they will stay? In that house?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?] They have put their luggage downstairs, where Mahārāja and Venkatta Prabhu was staying, below you here, just in this room.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, they're in that house.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No. They have shifted over so we have our luggage in that room right now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where? Here?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In the previous room, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There's a patient there perhaps?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No. That is in the big room Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, if you manage, if you like you can do that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, in the big room...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, where is the example of the monkey and the cat, śaraṇāgati?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Markaṭa-nyāya and mārjjāra-nyāya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Where is that coming from, Rāmānuja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmānuja. The Rāmānuja, when they divided into two, the Teṅkalai and the Vaḍakalai. Vaḍakalai means those that give more importance in the Vedic scriptures and the Teṅkalai those that give important stress in the Tamil scriptures.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Āḷvārs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Āḷvārs, coming from, beginning, that Śaṭhakopar, Nammālwāra. So they, the Tamilians, the Tamil School, that is the Teṅkalai, they give more stress to mārjjāra-nyāya. That mārjjāra means this cat, cat's dealing with her cub, kitten. The kitten does not do anything. But where to move, what to do, the mother cat she takes, catches by the neck and moves here, there wherever she likes removes. The kitten she does not, he does not do anything, no attempt to be seen on his part. Whatever the mother does, for removal, for eating, feeding, all these things. That is mārjjāra-nyāya.

And the markaṭa-nyāya, the cub of the monkey he catches on the body of the mother. And the mother takes, removes here, there, wandering. But the duty of the cub is to catch the mother's body.

So the Vedic School of Deśikācāryya they say, “You have got free will oh jīva, you have got something to do, śaraṇāgati. You have your own part to play, it is maybe very small, but still you have some part. You are endowed with free will and you must have to utilize your free will.”

And the Teṅkalai system they say, “No, we have nothing to do. Only we think that we are His, and whatever is necessary He will do on our behalf.”

So this is the difference of the two schools.

The Deśikācāryya, the Vedic School they say that, “Some action for free will is there. Your acceptance, your consent is necessary. The rest will be done by the Lord. But your consent, your free will acceptance, something, whatever, however meagre it may be, but it must be there, your consent.”

And the Teṅkalai, “No, we have nothing to do.”

But our consideration is nearing this, Vaḍakalai School, the Vedic School, Deśikācāryya. That jīva has got something to do, the cooperation, the consent, otherwise how the jīva can have this saṁśara. Then everything is His līlā. If you have nothing to do then everything is God’s līlā, His līlā and they are all dolls to play in the hand of the Lord. This is in the highest stage in the highest realized position. That stage is to attain, but to begin to acquire that stage, he gives jīva independence. Because jīva is a part of the subjective world, so naturally he is endowed with freedom. There can be no consciousness where there is no freedom. But a very particle, the freedom is also very small. But spirit and no free will that can’t be. So in the service, the freedom is maintained, otherwise vilāsa, that cannot be maintained, in the Goloka also. Everyone, they’re mostly actuated by the feeling, by Yogamāyā, by the love, by hlādinī. But still they have got their meagre personal consideration and that is influenced by all the good environment, favourable environment they’re within. Otherwise their name, their līlā, their service, everything is their particular, how it is possible? So individuality in the atomic energy is also to be maintained all through, and we do not deny the influence of the environment also. But still the environment cannot devour the personal character or existence of anything and everything.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So now we may stop: nearly ten?

Devotee: Yes, nearly ten Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. You are to look after them on our behalf.

...

Devotee: In the west now they are using so many means to collect money for pushing on Kṛṣṇa consciousness. I wanted to know, a lot of these means seemed to be, when Śrīla Prabhupāda was on the planet, they weren't exactly being used, now there is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...preaching purpose there, the means is justified by the end. But if there is any impurity in the end, in the object, then the whole thing is wrong. Otherwise there is purity in the purpose. [?]

If anyone commits sin that crosses the moral law, but if it is for the satisfaction of the Absolute Will, it is all right, because the law has been created only to promote our attention towards the Supreme. In any way if our energy is utilised for the satisfaction of the Absolute we are benefited, knowingly or unknowingly. If it is used for the satisfaction of the Supreme Entity, then whose energy is being utilised knowingly or unknowingly he will be benefited. But if in the name of the Absolute it is not such then of course there will be some difference.

Laws are meant only to promote our faithfulness to the Supreme. Laws are not meant to discourage our affinity towards the Supreme. Lawless law, those are lawless laws which promotes, which helps us to forget the Supreme Authority and fix our attention to any other object; whether the liberation of the country, or the satisfaction of a particular society, all these things, as hospitals and other altruistic activity. Altruistic activity independent of faithfulness to the Supreme Entity may not be encouraged, that is not to their highest benefit. Only bodily service, physical service cannot be taken as service of the soul. Soul's interest may be different than the interest of the body. So body service cannot be accepted as the service of the proper party that is soul. Soul service depends on the service of the Absolute, Paramātmā. That is soul's real interest. So if that is done independent of all other necessities of life then it is justified, whether consciously or unconsciously [?] diplomatically or [?] anyhow, if it is meant for the Absolute, according to the purity of the purpose, the purity of the activity.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ [śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

All sorts of conceptions of duty, all conceptions of law, or worldliness, everything may be cancelled for His satisfaction. He's such, He's above law. Law made by Him. He's not under law. Law has been planned only for the people that are going astray, where there is possibility of going astray, the necessity of law is only there. But those who are naturally lawful, and the highest law is we should be faithful to the Supreme Authority. That is the highest law. And all other laws must be subservient to that. Other laws should be rejected. They will promote only hateful faithlessness and at the same time a sorrow, pain, misery for the people, ultimately. Am I clear? Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes. When Śrīla Prabhupāda was present, he always stressed so much that all our maintenance and temple construction should be based on the sales of his books. He gave the formula fifty per cent for publishing books, and fifty per cent for maintenance and temple construction. But now...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That's good, publishing the book and selling it and to make money thereby. That is good. But it should be used for the service of the Supreme, not for any personal name, fame, or position, or any other mal purposes. That should be the lookout and that is difficult to differentiate and understand.

Devotee: We can see that if one has faith in the order of the Guru then Kṛṣṇa will reveal to him the way and means to carry out...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You can apply to the rules of the scriptures there on and judge accordingly. We shall have to, the departmental knowledge of the scriptures, and to put to test whether the attempt of a particular man is really pure devotion or not, by his other activities we are to judge. In the Name of God he's making money, collecting money, and he's using in such and such purposes, and whether these purposes are at all connected with the services of God or not, that is to judged in particular cases. In particular cases it may be judged. The money is being spent in this matter, whether it is meant for the service of the Lord, or to satisfy the pleasure of some ordinary persons not connected with devotion. [?] particular cases to be dealt particularly. But generally this is the law; if it is meant for the service of the Lord then it is justified. If not, no risk. Whatever is done for the satisfaction:

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Whatever is sincerely done for the service of the Supreme Lord that may not have any bad effect! Sincerity of purpose is to be judged everywhere.

Devotee: If Kṛṣṇa's being satisfied then automatically the devotees also should be satisfied?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] But the devotee must attain such stage that he can appreciate the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa sañtoṣa, Kṛṣṇa is satisfied. And whether He's satisfied or not satisfied, the devotee must understand, must follow, he must attain such a stage as to perceive whether Kṛṣṇa is satisfied or dissatisfied.

Devotee: So sometimes they give this example of Rāmānujācārya employing the different thieves to collect money for the purpose of building and constructing a temple, and they utilise this example for their own purposes. Which as you stated before can be justified or not justified according to their purity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [Laughs]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, so medium was there, and when that function, that service was finished then the medium through whom their, the money of the dacoiting was engaged in the service, he did not like it, or Ranganatham did not like it. So they were killed rather. They were utilised, yes. An instance is there. Ha, ha, ha, and you feel that such things are happening now?

Devotee: Like we're thinking like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja was the connecting link between Kṛṣṇa and all these various activities that was justified. Now that anything new can come and these fellows should be drowned into the river...

...

They may come here to leave a posterity which as soon as he will leave this world will be wholly forgotten. May not be work up to the standard as he did. But at the same time we should not think that his separation has left the whole thing, they're useless and of opposing energy. May be of deviated character, of lower character, not so much purity of purpose may be there, but the wholesale is wrong and should be caste into the ocean, or fire, we need not think like that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you were once giving some very nice insight about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's tolerance, his explanation of tolerance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Explanation of?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sahiṣṇunā, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you were giving some examples about his sahiṣṇunāta in relationship to being lower than a grass in the street. Tṛṇād api sunīcena [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tṛṇād api sunīcena. If I think of myself rightly then I shall think that tṛṇā may be of very meagre and mean position, but still it is, it has got a true position, true conception. But what about me, I am negative representation, vikṛta. A man may be of small intelligence, but a madman is lower than the man of scanty intelligence. So: jara satya in the consideration of material position the tṛṇā has got a lowest conception, but what am I? I am vikṛta satya, abnormal. That has got a normal position, normal position in the lowest circle. And what about myself, I'm not normal I'm abnormal, so what I'm to do? Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mm!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vikṛta-svarūpa, abnormal. So abnormality is lower than a normal lower position. That is a negative side. It has got some positive position, lower position but positive, tṛṇā. And this is on the negative side, misguided. I've got freedom but misguided freedom, that is a cursed attainment. That sort of interpretation he has given.

Ha, ha, the necessity has no law. Almost the whole day I'm engaged, still you have come; your necessity has no law. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Ke? [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, we see that in America especially Śrīla Prabhupāda always would judge how well our movement was going on by the amount of books being distributed. But now in America book distribution is not doubled as Prabhupāda wanted it but it has become half. So how are we to understand...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... you say that it is...

Devotee: Half.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Retardation and...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Slackened.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Slackened [?] But we may try, we may contribute our quota, we may try our best, but our power is limited. Still, such aspiration is laudable. Such dissatisfaction that the progress is not made considerably as it should have been so we are unhappy: that is good meaning, good temperament. But what we can do?

utsāhān niścayād [dhairyāt, tat-tat-karma pravartanāt saṅga-tyāgāt sato vṛtteḥ, śaḍbhir bhaktiḥ prasidhyati]

["To endeavour for spiritual life with enthusiasm, to be certain that the Lord will give His Grace, and therefore to patiently continue to render devotional service. By following the practices prescribed by the saints, to give up the company of those who are averse to devotion, and to tread the path which has been chalked out by the true Vaiṣṇavas; these six practices will go a long way to help us be successful in our spiritual life."] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 3]

Our business, our endeavour should be that the progress may not be, the speed may not be lulled, may not be retarded, eventually may not come there. We shall try.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

[mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niškāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

We can make contribution in the activity, the endeavour, but the consequence is in His hand, the hand of the Lord. Adhikāra.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Entitlement. Entitle.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We have got no power in our authority over that. We are powerless there as regards to consequence. We are concerned with our quota of contribution for the cause.

...

...vetti [?] but vetti is third person singular. But in another way first person singular it may be produced by the grammarian persons. Generally it seems like it is erroneous, aham vetti, but the grammarians they have anyhow produced that word in the first person and that has got its explanation there. I forgot. Aham vedmi śuko vetti. But the śloka runs:

aham vedmi śuko vetti, vyāso vetti na vetti vā

[bhaktyā bhāgavatam grāhyaṁ na buddhyā na ca ṭikayā]

[Lord Śiva says: “I know the true purpose of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; Śukadeva, the son and disciple of Vyāsadeva, knows it thoroughly, and the author of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Śrīla Vyāsadeva may or may not know the meaning. The real purpose of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is very difficult to conceive and can only be known through bhakti.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 24.313]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

laukikī vaidikī vāpi, yā kriyā kriyate mune / hari-sevānukūlaiva, sa kāryā bhaktim icchatā

[“O great sage! One who aspires for devotional service should perform all activities, whether Vedic or mundane, in a way that is favourable for the service of Lord Hari.”]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Purva-vibhaga 1.2.200, from Nārada-pañcarātra]

[In Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.113, purport] & [Gauḍīya
Kaṇṭhahāra, 13.82]

Both the scriptural as well as the social activities and conducts, all may be included in devotional activities. Only the purpose is to be considered. The ordinary talk that may be devotion; and if misinterpretation followed then scriptural discussions may not be devotion. So where real devotion is we are to trace very minutely. The only criterion, whether it is meant for the satisfaction of the centre or not: the criteria, Kṛṣṇa priti, Kṛṣṇa saṁtoṣa, that is the only criterion. And form may be sacrificed.

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena [yam
evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

[“One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him.”] [Kathopaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

Pravacanena, expert in explanations of the different meanings of the scriptures, na medhayā, sharp memory can catch the meaning of the words very closely, correctly. Bahunā śrutena, vast study even of the revealed scriptures. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute, all right reserved. Whomever He'll select I shall go to him. His sweet will. His sweet will, that is the criteria, to satisfy Him, to satisfy Him by anything and everything, and then by His consent you may come. He has not got objective existence. We shall be very careful always. It's subjective, subjective, but we as subject we shall lead Him and bring him within our clutch: never. Never!

Our position will be always as the bird cātaka, who does not take a drop of water from the ground. Only they drink water with their face up, the drop coming from the cloud, and they won't take any water whatsoever [?] always with their mouth towards the sky and praying for a drop of water. But drop of water, rush of rain may come to satisfy him, or a thunder may come to perish him, to finish him. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ, Rūpa Goswāmī says.

viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, gatiḥ iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti [nīpatatu śata-koṭiḥ nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena]

[“O friend of the needy, whether You chastise me or reward me, in the whole wide world I have no other shelter but You. Whether the thunderbolt strikes or torrents of fresh waters shower down, the Cātaka bird (who drinks only the falling rainwater) perpetually goes on singing the glories of the rain cloud.”] [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p 118]

This is the sign of the ananya-bhakti, exclusive devotion, the standard. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ. “It is Your pleasure, sweet will. You may punish me, or, dayāṁ vā, You may grace me. But whatever You do I have no other alternative but to come at Your feet and pray for my good, for Your grace. No other alternative I have got. Whatever You’ll like you’ll do with me. But all the same to me, only to come to You and pray for Your grace, dayāṁ vā. Gatir iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti, nipatatu śata-koṭir, the thunder may come instead of a drop of water, nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, or opulence of rain may come to satisfy me.”

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha Prabhu, after a long time. Where did you go? Nepal or Bangladesh or any other place, Malaysia _____

...

nipatatu śata-koṭir nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena

But the Cātaka, that particular kind of bird has no other alternative but to go on praying, praying, praying. This is just a parallel śloka or poem, that of Mahāprabhu, the last śloka of the eight śloka of Mahāprabhu, Śikṣāṣṭakam. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ, this is that:

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu mām, [adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampaṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ] ["Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

"You may embrace me, or if I try to catch Your feet You may reject me,
You may throw me down. But whatever You like You may do, pinaṣṭu mām. More than that You may do even. Marma-hatām karotu vā, adarśanān. You may be indifferent to me. To punish, to throw me by the kick, that is rather better. But Your indifference is more dangerous. That also You can do. Adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā. Even more You can do. Yathā tathā vā vidadhātu. On my eyes You may adore another, showing me, showing me You may adore another person. That will be more intolerable. You can do it, whatever You like You can do." Yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampaṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ, Mahāprabhu says, Rādhārāṇī says, "Still, You are My only master. You are all in all in Me, whatever You do or You think of Me, make arrangement, but I have no other alternative."

Yes! The standard is here. All ananya bhakti, vaikantic bhakti: what is vaikantic bhakti ananya bhakti; I'm a drop of such type of bhakti, bhakti of such quality, it moves Kṛṣṇa, the heart, His heart, like anything, the earthquake in His heart, can create earthquake. This type of bhakti this is from Rādhārāṇī: Mahāprabhu's last śloka. And the parallel śloka by Rūpa Goswāmī: the cātaka, a particular bird – either lightning, thunder, or a drop of water: "I won't go to take water. There may be flood, still, the water it is poison to me."

Ananya bhakti; that is what is necessary for the infinitesimal for the Infinite. Infinite and infinitesimal, the relation should be such where near about the Absolute Himself. Just as the intensity of heat just near the Sun how much, and the intensity of heat here, it is inconceivable for us! So near about Kṛṣṇa the intensity of love, the nature, the quality, is of such sort, such sort. And our aspiration, our ideal, will be guided by such feeling that our goal, our destination is that side. That side our destination lies. We shall prepare us for the same. Die to live! Hegel. Die to live. Don't be afraid of giving yourself, distributing yourself. You can live only if you die as you are at present in your gross constitution. That is mukti proper. That is mukti the positive, salvation, liberation, that is real liberation. Svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ. There is also Hegel: "Self determination." What is necessary the end of our life: self determination.

In the words of our Guru Mahārāja: "Proper adjustment: religion is proper adjustment." We are to be adjusted with such idea and ideal about the Absolute Good, about the Absolute Sweetness, the Absolute Knowledge, Absolute Beauty. Our attitude we shall cultivate ourselves to such way as to achieve that end. We are not subservient to this or that ABCD, the valuation of that X or whatever that thing it means like this. Then we can expect to come to Kṛṣṇa, to Mahāprabhu, to Bhāgavatam. With such capital we must approach.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. The misers have got no place, ha, ha, ha. The capital must be brought out, ha, ha, ha, wholesale, ha, ha, ha, not partial, ha, ha, ha. The wholesale demand, ha, ha, ha, wholesale demand, Kṛṣṇa. Nārāyaṇa may be satisfied with a part, but Kṛṣṇa is very clever, not part but wholesale thing. "Wholesale I want." The beauty, the charm of the beauty is of the type of wholesale. It charms every natha, the whole system it attracts, draws. Power cannot do so, ganga cannot do so, reverence cannot do so, but beauty, the innermost thing, He can attract. The whole thing can capture, the charm of beauty, nothing remains. So Reality the Beautiful, Reality the Beautiful.

Gaura Hari. Mahāprabhu came: "I want to take you all to that domain of the land of beauty. Nothing will remain to get. I have devised the means, I have discovered. Or you may think I am He. I have come to take you in My own abode. I'm not alone. We Two have come." Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa-milita-tanu. We Both of Us have come to take you in Our harem."

Something like that. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de [rādhāra mahimā, prema-rasa-sīmā jagate jānāta ke madhura vṛndā vipina mādhurī praveśa cāturī sāra baraja yuvatī bhāvera bhakati śakati hoita kāra]

Vāsudeva Datta Ṭhākura says: "Oh! After I have got a taste of that wonderful thing, now I feel if I could not have that thing then how I could live, how could I sustain my life? It would have been simply impossible to live. Such things are there wonderful and I am deceived out of that. It's a horrible life. My fulfilment is there and I'm roaming about hither and thither. A horrible deception of māyā, that is."

Union in separation, prema-vaicittya, in another kind of separation. He's there, and also, oh, something, something else comes between the imagination then I'm nowhere. My anti party has captured Him, prema-vaicittya. None is there, only concoction, and that horrible separation feeling aroused, in different types. And that is only meant, only defined, devised, or designed, to make ever new, always new, to keep up the novelty that is necessary by Yogamāyā, the intervention of Yogamāyā. It is managed in such way, the separation.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca,
yūnor māna udañcati]

["Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."] [Ujjvala-nīlamanī]

Just as the serpent's course is zigzag, not straight, a natural movement of the serpent is in a crooked way, not straight way. So the ways of love is such. So we may not have to think that there is some misdeed in the part of the one or both. It is the very nature. It is Yogamāyā, it is effected to think ever new. Without separation union may not be very sweet, so it is intervened in that way.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

When have you reached Māyāpur?

...

Mahāprabhu. Die to live: a sweet death. Ha, ha.

Vidagdha Mādhava: I have some question Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Question?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, you may put it.

Vidagdha Mādhava: I was reading some of Śrīla Bhaktivinoda's Jaiva Dharma...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written Jaiva Dharma, and in Jaiva Dharma he's recommending in the Kali-yuga all the devotees become householder devotees. So I've heard it is useful, and I've also heard it is a waste of time, simply a waste of time. But now in Jaiva Dharma Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says it is useful, it is something like a school. Is that possible?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, if we study deeply we find that he laid stress on gr̥hastha dharma, because to keep up the purity of character in the life of renunciation it is very difficult, in a general sense. So he told that gr̥hastha, you adjust yourself in such a way that you may not have to go to undesirable life in the sense of morality. That will be, create a discredit to the followers of the sampradāya of Mahāprabhu. And especially the bābājī class after taking the robe of a tyāgī, a renunciationist, he keeps women with them. So he has cautioned against those. Instead of keeping the purity of the life of renunciation he will enter Vaiṣṇavism and keep some woman in a plea of religion and spoil the whole thing, and even it will be detrimental for the posterities for the good men to enter into the sampradāya. So rather, be married and keep a healthy life there and try your best to make progress towards the ways of Rūpa, Sanātana, and Mahāprabhu, and others, tyāgīs. Don't create any havoc of disturbance in the name of Mahāprabhu.

And our Guru Mahārāja – that is the constitutional method – but our Guru Mahārāja he came with a call of a revolutionary movement. He managed to open different centres and by the association of the sādhus everything may be possible. Centres of so many associates under the guidance of a bona fide person, he will get the chance of wholesale dedication, because this chance of sādhu-saṅga and engage oneself wholesale for this purpose is very rarely to be found. First, the human life is very rare. Then our real taste to the Vraja līlā, Mahāprabhu līlā, that is also very rare. And when those that have come to nurture that and to guide that without losing any time and any energy you must try to devote yourself, you take the risk, take the risk. Just as in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam we find Devaṛṣi Nārada he's telling to Vyāsadeva:

tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ, kālena sarvatra gabhīraraṁhasā

[“Persons who are actually intelligent and philosophically inclined should endeavour only for that purposeful end which is not obtainable even by wandering from the topmost planet [Brahmaloka] down to the lowest planet [Pātāla]. As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18]

And before that:

tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha patet tato yadi yatra kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ, ko vārtha āpto

'bhajatām sva-dharmataḥ

[“One who has forsaken his material occupations to engage in the devotional service of the Lord may sometimes fall down while in an immature stage, yet there is no danger of his being unsuccessful. On the other hand, a non devotee, though fully engaged in occupational duties, does not gain anything.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.17]

This śloka, Devarṣi Nārada says to Vyāsadeva, ten ślokas, Devarṣi Nārada gave ten ślokas, the outlines. “Think it and elucidate into Bhāgavatam.” The outlines, ten ślokas he gave to Vyāsadeva. Then there is one śloka and very minutely you are to notice this. There you will find the explanation, and the meaning of what Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, and our Prabhupāda, the difference.

Tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha patet tato yadi. Man is moving in this cycle, cyclic order, going up, down. Tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ. By previous activity as the result of the works of his previous life he has occupied a particular place in this, going up and down, this circle, circular movement. Exploitation means getting loan, and then we have to come to be exploited, to clear the debt, in this way.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Going up and down, up and down: now Devarṣi Nārada says, tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha patet tato. Sva-dharma means present duty. He took the risk, little bold, and left his present position, the discharging of the present duty he left for higher life, but he could not maintain his higher position, he fell down.

Devarṣi says; Nārada says, “What is the loss of him? No loss! Tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ, the present safe position he left and took risk for better position, but could not maintain that better position he fell down.” Devarṣi says: “What is the harm there?”

Why? Tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ leaving one's own present duty, caraṇāmbujam harer bhajann, he risked himself for exclusive service of the Lord, bhajann apakvo, but without attaining, before attaining a safe position he fell down. 'Tha patet tato yadi, yatra, in that case, kva, where is the yatra kva vābhadra, what is the, ābhadra means undesirable, unholy things there? What are the things we can expect there in that, from that position from his fall? After he took a position risked him and he could not maintain and he fell down. Then what is the bad there? No loss. Why?

End of 81.10.04.B_81.10.05.B

81.10.05.C

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... position. No risk, no gain, no risk. This varṇāśrama dharma... after married life one may be saved in the naitic vichar [?] from the standpoint of the moral judgement maybe there. But from that position you must live to get the, try to get the service of Kṛṣṇa. You must risk. Svadharma, by attending his own duty from his own position: that is a stereotype thing. He'll get a better position and again he'll go up to Brahmaloḥa and then he's to come down in that cakṛa, that vicious circle. He must try his best to come out of that vicious circle.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

So, no risk, no gain, for sādhu-saṅga, for exclusively he has engaged himself, but he could not maintain, he falls down, for the time being. Some sort of bad name came to him, society rejected him and he had to undergo some painful situation and position. But whatever he has done, that:

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate [svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt]

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

That thing is accumulated there, and he will get the chance again there. By observing the moral rules we can hope to get happiness, a happy position in the course of going up and down, it may be a favourable position, or a little happy position. But: then the next śloka: kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ, ko vārtha āpto ‘bhajatām. That nothing we can get by maintaining that position, we must take risk. And then, just as a child, when he begins to walk, he must take the risk. But sometimes he will fall down, but if he does not take the risk of walking for fear of falling down, then no time he will be able to learn walking. He will be only flat. So take some risk. And if you fall down and get some pain in the limb, it cannot but be avoided. So:

tyaktvā sva-dharmam caraṇāmbujam harer, bhajann apakvo ‘tha patet
tato yadi yatra kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ, ko vārtha āpto
‘bhajatām sva-dharmataḥ

[“One who has forsaken his material occupations to engage in the devotional service of the Lord may sometimes fall down while in an immature stage, yet there is no danger of his being unsuccessful. On the other hand, a non devotee, though fully engaged in occupational duties, does not gain anything.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.17]

Then: tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, the next śloka, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ, upary and adhaḥ.

[tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ, kālena sarvatra gabhīra-ramhasā]

Tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ. Crores of times, from infinite, time immemorial, I am only moving, going up and down. So that is a futile thing. What is - to maintain position in that sort of vicious circle, what is the benefit there? So we must take a leap, we try to come out of that circle, circular movement. Hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ, tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ. For only temporary happiness that comes automatically, we do not want any pain or misery but still it comes. So happiness also, pleasure also will come automatically as the pain and misery comes. In course of time it is so set that we do not want pain, still pain comes. So we may not want happiness, still happiness will come in course. It is arranged in such a way. The law of life is wandering in such a way. Up and down, and pleasure and pain, they're moving like that. So for pleasure or happiness for the mundane, we must not care for that. We must take risk. We must take leap. And if something in the consideration of the worldly good or bad, I am abused, does not matter. So what is necessary, to take the leap for the nirguṇa from saguṇa movement, we must come out to the nirguṇa world, association, to take the advantage of the sādhu-saṅga.

So our Guru Mahārāja managed, established a centre where sādhu-saṅga, śāstra-saṅga, what is necessary for a life of a devotee to take him towards the highest goal, he has made arrangement and called everyone, “Join here; try.”

But if like a child you have to fall for few times maybe, does not matter. Don't be afraid. Like a child learning to walk, one or two falls may occur, you don't be afraid of that. Whatever you will acquire for the time being that is a very high, valuable thing. That cannot be had here and there. So for name and fame, good name, and for a peaceful life, don't lose the chance. That was revolutionary. When people cannot earn freedom of the country in a constitutional method, they take the revolutionary path. They are prepared to incur a loss, a risk. Still they want to go towards the goal, the freedom.

Our Guru Mahārāja created such, so many centres to give chance for rare things, the sādhu-saṅga. Without sādhu-saṅga, sādhu-sevā, one cannot go there. So he created so many places where sādhu-saṅga, Vaiṣṇava anugata sevā, what is indispensable to march towards that and gave a call to the general public. “Come, whatever little you can acquire there that is incomparable with any acquisition of this mundane world. So for sādhu-saṅga and for this sort of advantage of so much facility, we must take risk. And how many days, what period of time we can utilize, that is of infinite value, it will fetch something, some coin of the infinite character. And this mundane flickering, this to be king, this is nothing.” For this purpose the justification of the renunciation:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

"In whatever position, svanisthita, in whatever position you are, come towards Me. I shall protect you, in some way or other."

api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāḥ sādhuḥ eva sa
mantavyaḥ, samyag vyavasito hi saḥ

["If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

"When one comes exclusively to My feet, I look after him. For the time being, on the eyes of the ordinary person he may hold a lower position. But that does not matter. I am there. I take care of them, and I assure them that they must come to Me, after some disturbance on the way."

So no risk, no gain. I am getting sādhu-saṅga. I am getting whole time cultivation about the Lord, knowledge of scripture, then I must run. Otherwise what is mere renunciation, what is the value? After renouncing:

[ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa] vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddhabuddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padam tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥tayuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

So moral purity has got no eternal stability, so we must take risk for this.

śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme
nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

Cowed down by this sort of advice, but sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja, [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66], just the opposite advice, and that also comes from the Lord and that is in the conclusion of Gītā. "Come on, I shall see." This sound will enter whose ear and touch the heart. They'll come out, with risk, will be able to take the risk.

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya
dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

Karnani sadhya sangati sādhu sanga sādhu sanga [?]

So give benefit of the association of the holy persons which is very, very rare to be found here. By the strength of that our Prabhupāda invited all to come and join, to get the most rarely found gem, sevādhi, sat-saṅga, sevā, the direct association and service of the sādhu.

“Without that, no possibility of going that side, so I’m making arrangement of that sādhu-saṅga which is the very key to the door. So give up everything and take this chance. It does not matter if for some time you are still and then again you will, and in this way also only progress is possible towards that. So whose heart will be brave enough to take this opportunity, they will come without caring, without anything. The gṛhastha life, that is a waste of time, they will think, that will be waste of time. The energy will be wasted for maintaining the children and the wife and so many practices with the relatives, all these things. I have come wholesale, to give wholesale to Kṛṣṇa only under the guidance of devotee. If Kṛṣṇa is necessary then why should we lose such a great chance, great opportunity? So direct approach towards Kṛṣṇa. Die to live. Learn to die if you want to live a real life.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I won’t care. In future whether I cannot maintain my position in the future, for thus I shall lose the present, so valuable present. I shall lose in apprehension of my uncertain future. Then I shall engage it in wasting for maintaining this and that; for the society, for the wife, for the children, for so many things. Why should I go to lose my energy? I shall try my best. The Lord is there, the sādhus are there. They will look after. I must have confidence in them.

Guru Mahārāja he made so many centres. And what is very rarely to be found, that is necessary, what is indispensably necessary, sādhu-saṅga, he made arrangement for that. Whatever you'll do, the whole thing will be utilized in the service of Kṛṣṇa, under the guidance of a bona fide sādhu. Whatever you'll do, the whole thing will be converted, and you'll get the value of everything because under His guidance. You'll be a gatekeeper, only a gatekeeper, then also you'll fetch some money of Goloka, you will earn. Whatever you'll do, you'll serve the cows, you will do some vegetable, that sort of energy that will go to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. Evolve such a policy and such place giving chance. Every part of your energy may be utilized for the purpose of Kṛṣṇa. Such a great advantage of going there you will lose. So, this is revolutionary way.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, [mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

“Pāp may come, the sin may come, by chance; but, I am there, If you have some practical faith in Me. I am not a dead thing.” Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. “Those that are risking for Me and I will be cold for them, towards them. Don't think My nature to be of that type. The little gratitude that you find in the human society, or even in the animal society, the feeling of gratitude, thankfulness, that is also wanting in Me?” Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid,

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Swāmī Mahārāja, Śrīla Prabhupāda, he mentions that in the sixth canto in the story of Ajāmila when he is delivered by the Viṣṇu-dūtas, Prabhupāda mentions that Kṛṣṇa He is seeing, or hearing, that this man called upon My name so how can I neglect him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not a very serious case and not very apt, that nāmābhāsa. In his previous life he had some remote connection with Nārāyaṇa. Then after that, of course, he had a fall, in that ordinary stage of life of varṇāśrama. And also in his last time he got some help from that. But this is more intensive and more useful, more direct relationship with Kṛṣṇa. That is a very remote connection that Ajāmila had, ordinary thing. He got nāmābhāsa and attained liberation. Then after that he went to Haridvar and began sādhana in a positive direction and then he attained Vaikuṇṭha, by sādhana. Nāmābhāsa affected only liberation in him.

But that is not desirable in our camp. We want to avoid both nāmāparādha and nāmābhāsa also, in coming in connection with the positive devotion with the help of the devotees of that world. This is handling, interfering the negative aspect so that we can get out of it. But here our Prabhupāda, Swāmī Mahārāja, they are trying to give something of the positive and calling for that, to accept that, by sādhu-saṅga. Sādhu-saṅga is the most valuable thing, that association with the sādhu.

'sādhu saṅga,' 'sādhu saṅga,' - sarva śāstre kaya / lava-mātra sādhu-saṅge sarva-siddhi haya

["The verdict of all revealed scriptures is that by even a moment's association with a pure devotee, one can attain all success."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.54]

[ata ātyantikam kṣemam, prcchāmo bhavato 'naghāḥ] saṁsāre 'smin kṣaṇārdho 'pi, sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām

["O sinless ones! We therefore inquire from you about that which is supremely auspicious for all living beings, for in this world association with saints – even for a half a moment – is the most valuable treasure in human society."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.30]

In so many places the importance, the stress is given in sādhu-saṅga, the association. We are wandering, uncared for from eternal time. And to get the slightest connection with the positive that is of the greatest value in our life engaged in negative movement. If any positive connection is most valuable thing, even it may be a speck, it will aggrandize itself, accumulate, it will develop itself gradually and will take me forcibly, that source, the association with the sādhu. And through sādhu I shall come in association with the scriptures and then I will surely go towards the positive land. The most important thing in one's life is to get association of the Vaiṣṇava, the agent, to come in contact with a real agent. To find out a real agent and then through him we are to negotiate about our higher life, spiritual life.

Devotee: So we have come here to find a real agent – so we are coming here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, anywhere. You have come to Swāmī Mahārāja. He has given you the first start, first connection, touch. And then it is possible for you to come here. First acquaintance, first news, and in a very big magnitude, great magnitude, he has spread throughout the length and breadth of the world. Whatever small but of the highest type of the ideal: that came from Vyāsadeva in his last day, in his last advice. And for which Mahāprabhu came here. That thing he has spread length and width of the whole globe. And also in a powerful way, not in garb of a dazzling and desirable thing of the worldly sense, but in pure type, in a naked way. Not dressed by any worldly garment he has delivered it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. A wonderful thing that Kṛṣṇa has done through him. He's the owner, He's the proprietor, He's the absolute giver.

[Caitanya-Bhāgavat]

“My so favourite Name: that will be given to all, every nook and corner of this world one day.” And it is His will; king’s will, king’s desire, sweet will, he wants to give Him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Love and beauty!

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mahārāja, our Swāmī Mahārāja gave us token austerity for cāturmāsya, yoghurt fast, spinach fast, milk fast, for four months, token fast. So I am noticing this month...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is of less important thing.

Vidagdha Mādhava: That’s my question that it’s not the real thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The real importance should be given that is self giving. These are so many methods to promote that self giving. Ātmā-ruci, ātma-nivedanam. That is the real thing, the real capital, and all these, they are devised only to help ātma-nivedanam. Svātmārpaṇaṁ nigamasya saran [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.6.26] Prahlāda Mahārāja says in his advice. So many advices are given in so many places by so many scriptures. But the very gist of them is svātmārpaṇaṁ, give yourself. Only to effect that all these advices have been devised in different ways suiting to different environment, but the very substance for everything svātmārpaṇaṁ. Just as the ghee is poured into the fire, so put yourself into the fire, Kṛṣṇa kārṣṇa. Un- grudgingly give yourself into the hands of the sādhu, and Mahāprabhu, Gaurāṅga.

“Only doing some penances, this and that, this is all less important thing. The meaning is you must bring out your capital, the whole capital, yourself. Not satisfied by any part contribution of you, this or that. The wholesale I want, transaction of such things, give and take. Prema, love; that is not satisfied with penances, or this thing or that thing. I want your heart, wholesale; the transaction of the heart, wholesale transaction. Not any like a miser to spare one paisa, or two paisa, or ten paisa; not question of that, the wholesale business. If you give the heart, you’ll get the heart in exchange, the transaction in such way.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu says in Sanātana Goswāmī’s case: “If body is necessary in a second I am ready to give My body crores of times. Even a body is also nothing.”

sanātana, deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye, koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāiye, [deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa nā paī, pāiye bhajane, kṛṣṇa-prāptyera upāya kona nāhi 'bhakti' vine]

[“My dear Sanātana,” He said: “If I could attain Kṛṣṇa by committing suicide, I would certainly give up millions of bodies without a moment’s hesitation.”] [“You should know that one cannot attain Kṛṣṇa simply by giving up the body. Kṛṣṇa is attainable by devotional service. There is no other means to attain Him.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.55-56]

“I am ready to sacrifice My body crores of times in a second. But that is futile. This body is nothing, a lump of flesh. Only bhajan, svātmārpaṇam, that is what is necessary to get Kṛṣṇa, the grace of Kṛṣṇa; not this body even, what to speak of other things.”

Penances, a little bodily pain or some mental pain, that is nothing. The wholesale, as you are. It is His, already it is His, and it has been snatched from Him for your infinite trouble, for folly, you have snatched it from Him. So with repentance you are to give back His own thing to Him with much penance, and much repentance. ‘What have I done? I am Yours. I could not find that. And I have gone to acquire some benefit in a foreign land. Wholly I belong to You, Your slave. That is my position. And I revolted. And I am punished for my revolt, in sufficient way. Now I come back. Forgive me for my treachery, for my folly, and accept me Prabhu.’ In this way! Advaya-jñāna, unlimited ecstasy, and we are all beggars of ecstasy of that quality. And I must come to ecstasy personified – with that, ‘That I went to wander in the foreign land for higher ecstasy. But I have been punished very properly, proper punishment.’

Vidagdha Mādhava: Artha, kāma, dharma, mokṣa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Artha, kāma, dharma?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa. Yes!

Vidagdha Mādhava: So I read somewhere these are legitimate desires and that our Swāmī Mahārāja's father saw fit to see him become gr̥hastha. So he made some arrangement for Prabhupāda, our Swāmī Mahārāja. But on the strength, according to this writer he said according to Hindu psychology one becomes sick of body and mind if one does not attempt to fulfil these legitimate desires in some way. Is that correct? Is that false?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is the general way that has been recommended in the scriptures. loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, nityā hi jan̥tor na hi tatra codanā vyavasthitis teṣu vivāha-yajña,-surā-grahair āsu nivṛttir iṣṭā

[“Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat, and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one’s lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramani sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make one abstain from these activities.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

[“Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.”]
[Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

Veda and mahājana has generally accepted the path that according to ones capacity he'll be given the way of truth - according to his capacity he'll be asked to contribute his duty. That policy has been adopted in the Vedas and by the ṛṣis. That considering his present position he will ask him to do a portion of duty. Otherwise he will not be able to do anything. His progress will be marred. So, loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, generally the Veda has come to ordain, to make rules for different stages.

It will say to the lowest part, “You cannot but take fish, meat, etc, so don't take all kinds of fish, all kinds of meat, but confine yourself only to certain.” Gradually, taking him into restriction: in a gradual process.

Then, “And also you cannot but keep yourself alone without the help of a woman, otherwise you will create some disturbance in the society. So keep one in a particular process and you will satisfy your carnal desires and within particular rulings and restrictions. And gradually you will come up. If not allowed then a disturbance in the society it will create havoc.” So it is providing that you may take a woman.

And then, vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, and more, wine, wine also, you cannot but take wine, intoxication. You cannot think of your life without intoxication; so only in some yajña, some particular process, you'll take wine.

And also meat in such a way, you give it, you sacrifice it to a particular god or goddess and distribute it amongst so many in society with particular mantram and then it will not be much harmful to you. Accept this process.

In the case of taking a wife, and in the case of taking the meat, do in particular way then it will be less injurious to you. How? Just as in the case of meat eating they say that you have sacrificed to a particular god and with particular mantram. The ṛṣi is there, you and distribute to the society. And in this process, accepting this process of mantram, ṛṣi, etc., if you do then your merit will be distributed, will be, the merits of all that are taking the meat their merit will be given to that animal. His body you are taking and your merit will be given, transferred to him. And he will get a lift. So the killing question will not be very big. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in this process if you cannot but live without meat, come through this process. Then you will be less damaged, your cause. So also keep a woman and supply her food, lodging etc., and also only for the purpose of creating a child and certain with restrictions you go on. And then it will be less injurious to your cause. So also in wine also. Offer it to the deity. The deity will also have to be concerned in connection, and the merit will be; whatever bad effect, that will be distributed amongst many. So you'll be less injured. So this process has been utilised in the ordinary course. But there is a special case, in the case of nirguṇa bhakti even.

nīca-jāti nahe kṛṣṇa-bhajane ayogya, sat-kula-vipra nahe bhajanera yei bhaje sei baḍa abhakta – hīna, chāra, [kṛṣṇa-bhajane nāhi jāti-kulādi-

[“Birth in a low family is no disqualification for the execution of devotional service. And birth in a family of brāhmaṇas is no good qualification. Anyone who takes to devotional service is exalted, whereas a non devotee is always condemned and abominable. Therefore in the discharge of devotional service to the Lord, there is no consideration of the status of one’s family.”] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.66-67]

But this is another, that only through sādhu-saṅga the nirguṇa may be distributed. It is a special line, that is varṇāśrama you can come after mukti. Dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa, vimukta-māninas. And again you may have to go back. In this happy course in sattva-guṇa if you cannot catch the company of a real sādhu, nirguṇa, Kṛṣṇa bhakta, then you are to go back. You may come in sattva guṇa, in ordinary sense, in a good life, but goodness of the mundane world is not to be compared with nirguṇa. A goodness in the negative side, sattva, raja, tama, it is a good position in the lowest matter, relative good. But absolute good is separate thing and that is recruited only through the sādhu. Not by this sort of dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa, only with the company of sādhu. From a lowest position one may go. The dharma vāda, coming in contact with Nārada he achieved the end, whereas so many brāhmaṇas of the highest type they could not do anything. So this is good and bad in the relative and negative side, good and bad. This sort of...

Next moment it will come in the bad position, no guarantee of any good, and that good also in guṇa māyā within the miscalculation area, misconception, māyā.

'dvaite bhadṛābhadrā-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' ['ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama']

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

Only they feel like that, this is not real good, but nirguṇa is real good and to get its connection and to be improved, get development, that way is another. A worst man of this guṇa may have connection with that nirguṇa. A bad... can be... any qualification for the wholesale truthful area. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what was your question? Dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa: without that? That is all saṁguṇa. And mukta, that liberation, from the relativity of this misconception, that is also in the relativity there, until and unless it has any positive connection with the positive world. Mere liberation does not mean to attainment...

...says, definition of mukti... is not mere liberation from the negative side but fullest participation in the positive service...

...in the ordinary scripture, that is to get out of the negative side only, vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32] After mukti then we are to enter into the positive life. So muktānām, all the muktas they may not have any connection with Nārāyaṇaloka.

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.5]

Crores, millions of mukta one may have entrance of the service world of Nārāyaṇa. So don't plod within the ordinary karma-kāṇḍiya scriptures and advices of the dharma śāstra. In Bhāgavat, Prahlāda Mahārāja says:

prāyeṇa veda tad idaṁ na mahājano 'yaṁ, devyā vimohita-matir bata māyayālam trayāṁ jaḍī-kṛta-matir madhu-puṣpitāyāṁ, vaitānike mahati
karmaṇi yujyamānaḥ

[“Because they are bewildered by the illusory energy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Yājñavalkya and Jaimini and other compilers of the religious scriptures cannot understand the transcendental value of performing devotional service or chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Because their minds are attracted to the ritualistic ceremonies mentioned in the Vedas – especially the Yajur Veda, Sāma Veda, and Ṛg Veda – their intelligence has become dull. Thus they are busy collecting the ingredients for ritualistic ceremonies that yield only temporary benefits, such as elevation to Svargaloka for material happiness. They are not attracted to the saṅkīrtana movement; instead, they are interested in dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.3.25]

Prāyeṇa veda tad idaṁ, the Bhāgavat dharma, Prahlāda Mahārāja says, “What I say, this Bhāgavat dharma it is unknown to the great personages of the religion giving world, who are mahājano ‘yaṁ, who are mahājanas, the great personages, great leaders of the karma-kāṇḍa world, they are not aware of this fact, this Bhāgavat dharma, na mahājano ‘yaṁ, devyā vimohita. Manyadhi manu atri visnu hari yajnavalkya [?]

The founders of all these siddhi śāstras, karma-kāṇḍa, they are not aware of this Bhāgavat dharma, nirguṇa dharma. So what to speak of ordinary persons. Karma-kāṇḍa, the wholesale within māyā, all misconceptions...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

prāyeṇa veda tad idaṁ na mahājano ‘yaṁ, [devyā vimohita-matir bata
māyayālam trayāṁ jaḍī-kṛta-matir madhu-puṣpitāyāṁ, vaitānike mahati

karmaṇi yujyamānaḥ]

[“Because they are bewildered by the illusory energy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Yājñavalkya and Jaimini and other compilers of the religious scriptures cannot understand the transcendental value of performing devotional service or chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Because their minds are attracted to the ritualistic ceremonies mentioned in the Vedas – especially the Yajur Veda, Sāma Veda, and Ṛg Veda – their intelligence has become dull. Thus they are busy collecting the ingredients for ritualistic ceremonies that yield only temporary benefits, such as elevation to Svargaloka for material happiness. They are not attracted to the saṅkīrtana movement; instead, they are interested in dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.3.25]

Mahājana means manyadi. Manu, Atri, Manyati, Viṣṇu, Hari, Yājñavalkya, they’re the founders of so many Śrūti Schools. They do not know anything about this Bhāgavat, that is nirguṇa dharma, pure bhakti dharma, śuddha bhakti dharma, what to speak of ordinary persons. Devyā vimohita-matir, the Māyā Devī has benumbed them, their understanding, bata māyayālam. Trayāṁ jaḍī-kṛta-matir, the three guṇas, sattya, raja, tama, tri guṇa; tied tight by these three ropes of sattya, raja, tama. Madhu-puṣpitāyāṁ, and they utter so many sweet words to the unfortunate people, good or bad, pāpa, puṇya, all these, everything is futile. In the long run, no value they have got; no eternal value. What is the time now?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Five minutes to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So I may stop today here. Do you follow? Not clear?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, and taken again. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

One Govinda dāsa, Vaiṣṇava kavi, when Mahāprabhu is walking through the banks of Ganges, and wonderful golden kalpa-taru means the tree which can give us whatever we desire, that is kalpa-taru. Whatever is wanted from it, it gives away immediately. The golden kalpa-taru He's wandering as if on the banks of the Ganges and the whole environment has been enlightened. There is a flow of lustre around. Kavi nama hema kalpa taru [?] When looking at Him it seems, it appears in the heart of the devotees, "Who is moving here?" Infinite magnanimity, kalpa-taru, whatever is wanted He gives at once, infinite magnanimity. And throwing His lustre all around He's moving here on the banks of the Ganges. Kavi nama hema kalpa taru sancaru sula duni teja yo [?] Ke? Who is he?

Devotee: Kaśirāma dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaśirāma. Kaśirāma dāsa kahe suni punya vada [?] The author of Bengali Mahābhārata is Kaśirāma dāsa. He is the famous Kaśirāma. Only on the way to Katwa there is a village named Singi; there was his birth place, Kaśirāma.

Rabi, Rabindranath eulogises him. he kasi kavi su kuli tomi punya van [?]

“You have got a good prestige in the line of the poets of Bengal.”
Kaśirāma dāsa.

Kaśi is a noted place for Śiva, Śiva worshippers. And Śiva himself, he’s a devotee of Rāmacandra. And it is mentioned in the Purāṇa that whenever anyone dies there Śiva comes himself to him and puts the Name of Rāmacandra in his ear, helps him to go towards the feet of Rāmacandra. Śiva himself gives the Name of Rāma.

At Rāmeśvara in the south, two sorts of interpretation!

Rāmacandra says, “You are My Lord, Rāmeśvara Śiva you are My Lord.”
And Mahādeva says, Śiva, says, “No, no. You are my Lord.”

Rāmeśvara Īśvara so Rāmeśvara.

That is the interpretation of the Sanskrit word. Rāmeśvara means Rāma is the Lord of whom, He’s Rāmeśvara.

“No, no. Rāmeśvara Īśvara, Rāma’s Lord.” Rāmacandra says, “Rāma’s Lord you are.”

“No, no, no. Rāma is the Lord to him, he is Rāmeśvara. You are my master, my Lord, Rāmeśvara.”

Rāmacandra came here to play the part of unknown self, externally, without self consciousness.

In Nṛsimha Avatāra, at the time of Prahlāda, some, when He came out from the pillar with a violent sound, at that time, perhaps one brāhmaṇa lady she was with full grown child in her womb, the child slipped away suddenly from that sound He did. That roaring sound, she could not tolerate and some convulsion in her body and the child came out. So the brāhmaṇa gave a curse, “Whoever is the cause of this untimely birth of my child must lose self consciousness.” That was, and Nṛsiṃha.

Then next came Rāmacandra as without self consciousness. The inner heart He knew, whatever, but He played the part of a self unknown man, so Rāmacandra, nara-līlā, as if He does not know that He is the Supreme Entity. That consciousness set aside to give respect to the words of the brāhmaṇa. So here He worshipped Devī and worshipped Śiva, all these things, we see from in His character, conduct.

So Rāmeśvara, Śiva is very fond of Rāma Nāma, Mahādeva. And in his jurisdiction whenever anyone dies he comes there himself and puts the Name of Rāma to his ear. And of course he attains Vaikuṇṭha, Ayodhyā, Rāmacandra.

Kaśi Rāma, Kasiśvara Rāma. [?] Kaśirāma. Guruttama, another, to whom Guru is the uttama of Krista, excellent, uttama krstanam, tama, superlatively. Guru is the highest to whom, he’s Guruttama. Not that he himself is the highest type of Guru, not that meaning, that ordinary comes that. Guru nama uttama. There are so many Gurus and he is the best amongst them. Gurutama dāsa it is all right, the most superior Guru who gives Kṛṣṇa bhakti or Mahāprabhu bhakti. Of all the different types of Gurus that Guru holds the supreme most position. And he’s dāsa, he’s servant. Guruttama dāsa. Guru is uttama. To him he is Guruttama. Guru is all in all, holds the best position. The supreme position in his heart is Guru, he’s Guruttama dāsa.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Then, who has got any question?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: There's question from Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam. In the fourth chapter there is a śloka by Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī. After the śloka you have also given a Bengali verse. Maybe that is by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura?

kṛṣṇa-vārttā vina āna, 'asad-vārttā' bali' jāna, sei veśyā ati bhayaṅkari [śrī-kṛṣṇa-viṣaya mati, jīvera durllabha ati, sei veśyā mati laya hari]

[Anything but Kṛṣṇa's message, know as falsehood such a passage, such a harlot is so very dangerous:

devotion to the Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, rarely gotten by the jīva - that harlot steals away this consciousness.]

[Bengali poem by Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura]

[Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 4.27, p 73-74]

Is this Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writing, poem?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What is other than kṛṣṇa-vārttā, not in connection with Kṛṣṇa, you know it for certain that that is asat and that is unnecessary to you. You know it for certain that what has no connection with Kṛṣṇa, that is bad, asat, non existent. Know it for certain. That is the criterion of asat, to you, to a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, whatever has no connection with Kṛṣṇa that is bad. And she has been given the name as veśyā, the prostitute. What is the function of the prostitute? She entices away the mind towards her direction. By her charm she wants to entice one's mind towards her, so that is like veśyā, she wants to keep away from Kṛṣṇa. So don't, hate him, learn to hate him, whatever is not in connection with Kṛṣṇa. We are concerned exclusively with Kṛṣṇa, cent percent. So any deviation you consider like the hateful prostitute. 'Asad-vārttā' bali' jāna, sei veśyā ati bhayaṅkari. And she has her dreadful aspect. You must be aware. I warn you, ati bhayaṅkari. Then, mukti-nāme śārddulinī.

[śuna mana, bali he tomāya, mukti-nāme śārddulinī, tāra kathā yadi śuni, sarvvātma-sampatti gili' khāya]

[O dear mind, please hear my prayer:

And if you hear the presentation of the tigress liberation, all the soul's good prospect she'll devour.]

[Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 4.27, p 73-74]

And there is another tiger, that is called mukti. She will devour you like a tiger; your self consciousness, your individual consciousness will be dissolved in coming in his connection. He will devour you.

Mahāprabhu already told in Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find, jagara like a big serpent. What is the name? Python, he will come with his mouth open, mukti, and will devour you wholesale, that mukti, sāyujya-mukti. Don't go that side. And here is mukti background. The tiger will come and eat you up, so bhukti-mukti and asad-vārttā, both sides being full of danger and you must be careful very much about them.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Then he says, tad ubhaya tyāga kara, mukti-kathā parihara, [lakṣmī-pati-rati rākha dūre se rati prabala ha'le, paravyome deya phele, nāhi deya vāsa vraja-pure]

[Both temptations please abandon, and not to speak of liberation, curb attraction for the Lord Nārāyaṇa; by attraction to that plane, to Vaiṣṇava you'll be hurled down - denied the chance to live in Śrī Vṛndāvana.]

[Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 4.27, p 73-74]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukti? So both sides, both aspects, both alternatives and give it up altogether. Then?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Lakṣmī-pati-rati rākha dūre.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! And another warning! First this charm of the transient world, asad-vārttā, and the second - first the charm of exploitation - and the second the charm of renunciation, and the third charm yet remains for Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa; for inclination towards viddhi-bhakti, towards scriptural devotion, law, power, reverence, awe, all these things, gauram, maryādā, respect. Give up all these also, you will have to if you want to come to Kṛṣṇa bhakti, only spontaneous, automatic; no consideration of any law, or any society, or any power thing, or anything else of that type. Spontaneous, automatic, innate, actuated by love: no law. The source, the propensity comes, the fountain of energy is only love and nothing else. If you like that Kṛṣṇa bhakti is of that type. Even Nārāyaṇa bhakti you are to set aside. Because there is that viddhi, the scriptural dictation, and there is awe, reverence, power, grandeur, all these things. Don't seek any grandeur. It is very plain. It is the jungle, the flower, the tails of the peacock, and some other homely and which is available in the forest, simple things. Be trained to adore them and not allow yourself to be attracted by any grandeur, the diamond, the gold, that respectful situation, all these things. The homely, simple, almost a jungle life, so plain; plain, plain living, try to adore, and that of Vṛndāvana, very simple and plain. No show of grandeur or anything like that, splendour, or anything like that, aiśvarya. Lakṣmī-pati-rati rākha dūre, se rati prabala ha'le, paravyome deya phele. You have got least attraction for the grandeur and pleasure, then you will be cast down into the plane of Paravyoma in the sphere of Nārāyaṇa. You won't be able to maintain your high position in the plain thinking and of the land of simplicity and homely atmosphere, paravyome deya phele. Then?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Then:

vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-rati, amūlya dhanada ati, tāi tumi bhaja cīra-dina rūpa-raghunātha-pāya, sei rati prārthanāya, e bhaktivinoda dīna-hīna

[Love for Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa in Vraja, bestows the most precious treasure; adore Them in your heart eternally;

Rūpa-Raghunātha's feet, for such devotion, does entreat this Bhaktivinoda, bereft, in all humility.]

[Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 4.27, p 73-74]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “My earnest request if you want to keep your mind really in the service of the Holy Feet of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa then these are your necessities, the cautions. The cautions are given in this way. Don’t misunderstand it.” And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says: “This we can get only by the grace of Rūpa-Raghunātha. So I pray fervently for the grace of Rūpa-Raghunātha. Keep me steady, fixed in this idea of simplicity and grandeur-less service to that of Rādhā-Govinda, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. And the awe, reverence, or the mukti, or the exploiting tendency may not divert my attention any day. This is my prayer to Rūpa-Raghunātha, my Gurudeva.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. This is the highest attainment of our object of our life. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

se rati prabala ha’le, paravyome deya phele, nāhi deya vāsa vraja-pure Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Ke?

Devotees: Kaśirāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaśirāma, and there?

Devotees: Guruttama.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guruttama, and he?

Devotee: Mukundamālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukundamālā dāsa. Mukundamālā. What is the meaning of Mukunda? Mu ku da. Mu means mukti, the seed of mukti – the words not coming in my mind. Mu represents mukti, ku – kutzit [?], which makes the mukti look awkward. Ku means bad, a particular thing which can show the liberation as awkward thing, mu ku. And that thing, who can give that thing He's Mukunda. Mu ku dadadi ya, Mukunda dadi. What is mu ku, that thing which can blame, which can show the awkwardness of mukti. That thing is prema. And who gives that He's Mukunda. And Mukundamālā, Mukunda-mālā stotra, that Kulaśekhara's stotra, that is known as Mukunda-mālā stotra. Mukunda mālā: Mukunda keeps as His garland that stotra mālā. So many gems in the garland, and Mukunda adored that. He set it around His neck, Mukunda-mālā stotra. And the devotees are very happy to see the Lord with this Mukunda-mālā stotra.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Who is he?

Devotees: Same. Ha, ha, ha, ha. He moved a little closer. Guruttama: coming a little closer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Come from there to here. Changed your position? Ha, ha, ha.

See how helpless am I, ha, ha, ha, disturbing you in causeless manner.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaurasundar.

Devotee: I always understood that renunciation means to utilize everything in the service of Kṛṣṇa. So especially in the western countries there is very much opulence, so many times this opulence is utilized in Kṛṣṇa's service to attract the living entities or people to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So in the midst of all this opulence it seems almost like a paradox to live a very simple life because this opulence in the west especially brings a lot of complexities, a lot of entanglement with this material world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is individual case. What is vairāgya? Vairāgya, though there is a general law, but still it must be applied in individual cases in different ways. What is vairāgya to another, what is vairāgya to Rāmānanda Rāya that may not be vairāgya to Raghunātha Dāsa. Rāmānanda Rāya, he can handle the most tempting things for the service of Kṛṣṇa. He has showed his ideal in that way. But that is not to be accepted as general direction. And Raghunātha Dāsa he has showed the extreme vairāgya abnegation, very strict. That is not possible for an ordinary soul. So the general rule to renounce everything that is not vairāgya. Real vairāgya is to handle everything for Kṛṣṇa. But in a particular case where that is not possible, that will tempt his own self towards that, he'll try to be aloof and indifferent from that sort of family, as much as he can manage, he'll do.

Suppose rich food is necessary for great labour for the service, some sort of rich food, some ghee, and milk may be necessary, if we are to labour much for the service of the mission of Kṛṣṇa. But if one is a patient he cannot digest milk, what should he do? Then he'll do accordingly and he must be satisfied with that sort of service.

So general law as well as special law for the individual, we are to adjust according to our capacity. The general, the highest law is that don't leave everything, anything, but try to utilize everything for His service. That is the highest law. You are a servant. You are to serve. And so many objects through which you are to serve. And it does not behove, look well that you will be tempted; what is to be offered to Kṛṣṇa, seeing that you'll be tempted to use it for your own pleasure. If it is so, you are not a standard servant, servitor.

The highest type of servant, he will handle everything for Kṛṣṇa. But he won't feel any tendency to exploit that, to enjoy that. That is the highest standard. Then, but if one is not in that highest plane, then he will adjust accordingly so that he may not have to be entangled in the land of exploitation. At the same time we should be careful that we may not enter into the group of renunciationists, that this is bad, that is bad, everything is bad. But because I cannot utilize them in the service of Kṛṣṇa, I am disturbed. So I think that is bad, that is bad. That hateful temperament, that is also dangerous. So renunciation is bad, exploitation is bad. To use everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is the highest model, but we must adjust ourselves so that I may not be entangled into that, accordingly. Am I clear? No?

Devotees: Yes, very clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Individual case should be different, according to his own capacity. But the highest ideal, to utilise everything, nothing is bad. Everything may be utilized in the service of Kṛṣṇa. If we can do that, we are the real servant, real servitor. But if we are unfit, and either the enjoying spirit comes in the way, that will be bad. I shall try to avoid that. And at the same time I shall think that there is nothing bad in that thing, the bad thing is in me. So that is not hateful, the environment is not to be hated. The hated thing is within me. And that must be eliminated. Then I'll be viśvam purna sukhāyate.

I shall see everything is meant for Kṛṣṇa and I am also meant for Kṛṣṇa's service. Until and unless I realize that sort of position I must be careful in discharging my duty towards my Lord, that I may not tamper on the way, may not be a thief. So carefully I should handle, thinking that it is meant for the service of Kṛṣṇa. And when that day will come when I'll feel enjoyment that seeing that everything is for Kṛṣṇa and my inner enjoyment lies only in that stage, in that feeling, that everything is mine.

Just as a mother she may not eat a thing but she feels pleasure feeding her child. Feeding her child she feels pleasure. So one who loves another he'd rather give a thing to him or her and find pleasure, rather than taking it himself. So it is possible.

Kṛṣṇa sukhe śuka, by seeing the pleasure in Kṛṣṇa we will be happy. That should be our model, that we do not want any independent pleasure for us, but our quest will be always to draw pleasure from the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa. Serve Kṛṣṇa and I shall find that He is happy, then I will be happy. My happiness will be dependent on the happiness of Kṛṣṇa or kārṣṇa, Vaiṣṇava, Kṛṣṇa or Kṛṣṇa's servitors. That should be our ideal. Our happiness will always try to have its source in the happiness of the Vaiṣṇava and Kṛṣṇa and not independent. That should be the position, safe position, happy position, and that is normal. And this is abnormal, to exploit a thing, to try to enjoy a particular thing and otherwise to cast it off, hatefully, that it will cause injury to me. Both these are artificial. Only natural, that the happiness of my master will sustain me, my happiness. That should be the normal position.

Kṛṣṇa sukhe śuka, Guru sukhe, Vaiṣṇava sukhe śuka. We should be happy looking, tracing the happiness of Guru, Vaiṣṇava, Kṛṣṇa. That happiness will be purest happiness, pleasure, that pleasure. Kṛṣṇa sukhe śuka - the happiness that depends on the happiness of Kṛṣṇa and His own; we are safe there, and we have attained our best position, otherwise independent search for gratification that is condemned for a Vaiṣṇava. Always in an organic whole and the centre will be our life of attention. Everything, the centre and the near connected with the centre. That will be the quest of our all goodness.

Devotee: I have another question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your points satisfied, no?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We may hear, but we hear and hear, and then we shall realise, come to realise.

Devotee: The standard set by Caitanya Mahāprabhu as a sannyāsī we see that in the Caitanya- caritāmṛta Lord Caitanya would not even associate with Mahārāja Pratāparudra because he was a king, someone who is involved with women and wealth. So we see, this is along the same lines, that these things are great obstacles on the path of advancement, associating with people who are very much entangled with women and wealth. So also again in the West, there are many people who are very much wealthy who we are making an endeavour to preach to. To what extent should we preach to these people?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[niṣkiñcanasya bhagavad-bhajanonmukhasya, pāram] pāram jigamiṣor bhava-sāgarasya sandarśanam viṣayiṇām atha yoṣitāñ ca, hā hanta

hanta viṣa-bhakṣaṇato 'py asādhū

[“Alas, for a renunciate who desires to completely cross over the ocean of mundanity and engage in the divine loving service of the Supreme Lord, to ogle a materialist and a woman is more wicked than drinking poison.”]
[Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 4.11]

That is the problem. And we are asked to wander door to door, and even to see the prostitutes also and try to help her, the risky position. What is the justification? Is it?

Devotee: That's the question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This you want? That's the question? That is also that individual case. If one is continuing his own bhajana individually in a secluded life, he'll be very careful of that. But this is, as I told just beforehand - give up the danger, avoid the danger to keep it distant, but no solution. The final solution will be to handle everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa. The highest type of vairāgya is there. But that also will depend upon the individual capacity. You will meet, you have to be sincere first, then you'll go to give something to others, Kṛṣṇa kīrtana. Kṛṣṇa will be with you, and your earnest desire will be always to give Kṛṣṇa to him and not to take his worldly things in return. That will be the main bhajan. You won't accept it. But still the money and other things, what you will take on behalf of Kṛṣṇa you will connect with your Gurudeva, sādhu, and Kṛṣṇa, and you will be the mediator, generally.

For the final solution, these things are necessary, that the soldiers will not always be kept within the fort. To be posted within the fort, that is very safe. But soldiers must come out and work, wander, toward the length and breadth of the country. And then the safety of the land will be proved.

So for solitary sādhana, that is when one is a sādhanaka, when he's leading his individual life, he'll be very careful of that. But when under the guidance of a great propounder of the Lord who is empowered, and has delegation, delegated power to give something to the world, and as his agent we can approach one and all.

And there also individual question, if one says, "I feel much disturbed to approach the women, approach the sick," then he should inform it to his master and ask, "What should I do? Should I approach them? I feel so much weakness."

There are so many diseased patients. And the nurse and the doctor should approach them for their healing, for the help of those patients. But if any particular soul, he has got some weakness that, "Should I venture to nurse a TB patient? I am so weak in health."

Then perhaps the agent, the master will say, "No. You are so weak, you should not go to attend that particular type of patient. Another man will go. I will send there."

Such arrangement may be made in particular cases, individual cases. But generally the solution is only there; to approach everyone and also to be able to pass all sorts of variegated temptation. That I must have to see that it is not for me. It is for Kṛṣṇa. This practice should be effected in any and every corner of temptation. Without that the solution is not complete. The complete solution requires that we shall try every point of temptation and try to find out that this is not a ghost but this is my friend. The apprehension that is a ghost, he'll come to attack me; that must be cleared. He's my friend, he's not the ghost. So I feel some individual temptation, by weak points there, so that must be solved. Until and unless that is solved I am incomplete. But that must be solved. That the highest point of temptation; that should not tempt me. It is for Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise I am imperfect. I am not a reliable servant. I am a traitor. I have come to serve Kṛṣṇa but in the meantime I take it in the path midway. So in order to become a bona fide servant of Kṛṣṇa, it requires that I shall handle everything and I shall feel pleasure.

“O it will, it is so good it will produce pleasure in Kṛṣṇa, in Gurudeva, in Vaiṣṇava.” Such faithfulness we must have to acquire. And only for fear of...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I shall remain; being a soldier I shall always try to remain within the fort. Then I am not a soldier. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But still we shall be careful as I told. That I am a weak man before going to attend the TB patient, or a serious patient, if I feel some weakness I shall intimate to my master that, ‘For the time being you may change my field of working, of service!’ But I shall have to keep it in mind. I must have to be sufficiently strong that I shall be able to attend that serious patient also. He may be a prostitute, he may be a dacoit, he may be a wealthy man. I shall approach him for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Must be bold enough, healthy enough, and I must not be a trespasser in the middle, on the way, taking things to Kṛṣṇa on the way I shall take it, and I shall become a traitor, unfaithful servant.

[“If lust is not controlled, then it becomes the breeding ground for a host of vices and checks one’s advancement on the path of devotional service. However, if one stays in the association of the saintly devotees, then that association will carry him beyond the influence of lust, anger, and their friends.”] [Śrī Prema-bhakti-candrikā]

Narottama [Dāsa] Ṭhākura says, the negative side, the temptation side, and the positive side the guardians. Narottama Ṭhākura says if we have got the favour of a great personage then what can these trifle temptations can do to me? Can’t do anything! If my guardian is very careful, very strong, very judicious, and I am working under him then no temptations can do any harm to us. That is the key of life, success. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Generally, according to our capacity we shall try to move. That is the general thing. But at the same time we shall keep in our mind that to attain our highest position it is necessary that I shall, I should be able to deal with all these serious things also, the most serious. Otherwise some defect within. The wholesale conversion must come within me, that I am a servitor and not master. That is not only in this case, in the case of fame also, name and fame. That is the subtle most dangerous enemy; name and fame, pratiṣṭhā. That highest enemy, the highest and subtle at the same time, the pratiṣṭhā, to take the name, the credit, to one's own self and without giving it to Gurudeva. The greatest enemy is there. And it is very difficult to detect it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Profit. Beginning with f, wealth beginning with f.

Devotee: Fortune?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fortune is a comprehensive that includes everything, not money only.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, pratiṣṭhā, how do we detect that within ourselves?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is internal perception. Our continuous thankfulness to Gurudeva, that is coming from upward, I have got nothing. I have got no position. My present position depends always on the mercy of my Gurudeva, to be able to remain on that plane of thinking. It may be withdrawn any moment from me, may be withdrawn. It is not a fixed thing in me. Not as a matter of right, but only extended grace in me. The moment it is withdrawn, I am nowhere. It is all His svarūpa-śakti. I am taṭasthā-śakti, no capital. I am working on the capital of my master. I have got no capital of my own, to realize that. Without his help, without his grace, I am in darkness. My fate is dark. As long as he extends his grace in me I can see. Light is withdrawn, the eye is helpless. It is the position to realize such a position that by my birth, it is my birthright that I am taṭasthā-śakti, a marginal potency. And whatever I found that the gracious extension of svarūpa-śakti in me. It is their wealth. The wealth, the property belongs to them, to my Guru, Vaiṣṇava, their property. But at the same time, those that are faithful that never occurs, such cruel activity can never be seen anywhere. They are rather busy to extend their circle. And they never withdraw. That is our solace, our consolation. But not as a matter of right I can demand, no demand, no challenge. Challenging spirit towards the Vaiṣṇava must be eliminated forever. We are living on their grace. Prasād ubaje [?] Ucchiṣṭa-bhojino dāsās, we are entitled only to taste the remnants left by the Vaiṣṇava.

tvayopabhukta-srag-gandha-, vāso 'laṅkāra-carcitāḥ

[Uddhava says: “Adorned with the articles that have been offered to You, such as garlands, fragrant clothing, and ornaments, we, Your personal servitors who partake of Your holy remnants alone, will certainly be able to conquer Your illusory energy.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.6.46]

And in Gītā:

yajña-śiṣṭāśinaḥ santo, mucyante sarva-kilbiṣaiḥ [bhuñjate te tv agham pāpā, ye pacanty ātma-kāraṇāt]

[“Saintly persons who partake of the remnants of sacrifice become liberated from all the sins arising from the five kinds of violence to living beings. But those who cook for their own consumption, those sinners eat only sin.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.13]

Only remnants we are to take and live on that. Para bargo jivevi [?]

Just as the custom and the law of the Hindu law, bhaja, sanskriti [?] the position of the females, no right is given to them. The whole right with the man, nothing with the women. But by their affection and serving spirit, they hold the key to the whole respect, the respect of the son, the affection of the husband, they enjoy like anything. But externally no right is given to them in the law or in the society. But the ladies they hold a peculiar and very venerable position in the eyes of the society. The mother, the wife, the daughter, but no right has been given to them by law.

pitā rakṣati kaumāre, bhartā rakṣati yauvane baddha ke suto ruke nāstri satan meyatmyat

Manu says, in early age the father will protect them, in youth the husband will protect them, and in old age the son will protect them. More than gods they draw respect from the society; more than goddess, but externally, no right.

This whole potency holds such a position to Kṛṣṇa. It is His but by the power of affection, not any external right. They do not care for that. But only through affection and loving service they command the whole family, the potency side, aspect of Kṛṣṇa. They don't want any right; no force, no power. But the subtle most power, the power of affection, power of love, the power of service, that is considered to be the highest power ever known to the world. Give up your legal power, or any physical power, won't care for that. So śakti is such.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Very laudable is it, very tasteful? I feel proud when I say all these things.

Asutos Mukerji was wanted by the government to go to England several times but his mother did not allow. So he told, repeated, “My mother does not allow me to go to foreign lands, I can’t go there.” So many instances here, the mother controls the son. Taking the feet dust of the mother, they can do anything and everything; they feel like that, the affection, the love, where power fails.

So Mahāprabhu says, “To give this and that to God that is self deception. Give love, love of Kṛṣṇa prema. That is anything and everything; that is all in all. Instead of spending money, giving your physical force, all these things, love is the real essence of any existence and offer that to the Lord, and through that come to the plane of love. The plane of love that God has around Him, Kṛṣṇa has around Him, God is there, Kṛṣṇa. God takes the form of Kṛṣṇa in the plane of love and that is the most fundamental and most subtle plane, behind all this apparent creation of different nature. So come to that plane. Try to penetrate into that plane, where God is Kṛṣṇa and the paraphernalia is Vṛndāvana. Anyhow try to have admission there in that plane. The most happiest form of life you will find there.”

Mercy is more beautiful than justice. We cannot blame justice. Justice is justice. How we can move? We cannot think of blaming the spirit of justice. How can we blame? But there is mercy over justice, we can’t deny that. But who can extend mercy over justice, He must have such power that He can compensate, has power of compensation, then He can give mercy. So such aspect of the Lord, that is through love, affection. There we want to live anyhow. Mahāprabhu came to show that is the plane for which you try to live.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told that, “In no time the intelligentsia of the world will come to understand that this is the highest conception of our attainment, of all humans, even for other creation also. The intelligentsia cannot be misguided for long by so many other propositions of the highest attainment of man, of partial attainment. This Christianity, this Islam, this Buddhism, and so many things are going on in the name of religion, in the name of the highest solution of our life. But what Mahāprabhu has given, very soon it will be detected by the intelligentsia of the world. And all will flock under the banner of Śrī Caitanyadeva and they will sing the glory of Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa.” What do you think?

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And Prabhupāda began that. And Swāmī Mahārāja has actually, that well begun. And you are all to complete that mission. We are almost finished, our generation.

Devotee: Mahārāja, can you tell us how you happened to meet Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For my case I may say when I was a student of fourth year class suddenly I met a boy, I was in the fourth year and he was in the first year. My inclination was of twofold nature, when I came in association of the college students in the hostel. Before that I heard about some appreciation of the East Bengal students, their sacrifice for the country, etc. That was told to me by one of my cousins. So the hostel where generally the East Bengal students lived, we also took our seat there. And I found two sections of students. One section, when there is any patient and other physical needs, they run to meet that. Another section who are engaged in meditation and taking names, sandhya, etc., but they hate to attend the patient, etc. But one boy I found he is engaged in two departments. He engages himself in meditation, in sandhya, etc., taking the Name, singing the praise of the Lord; as well as if any patient is there he forgets his class and study and attends the patient. That attracted me towards him. And I tried to mix with him. When one morning we were going to the jungle for cleansing mouth, you take brush from the branches or so, in course of talk he told suddenly about his father, “That that gentleman was of this type.”

I protested. “That gentleman,” you use for your respectable father, you say, “that gentleman.” [?]

Then he told, “Yes, I should not have mentioned in that way, in your presence. But ultimately it is really so. Only in this life I have come to him. Where I was in previous lives? Only he is a gentleman to me, I came in his house and in this life only.”

That anyhow touched the fine chord in me and I began to think, yes it is right thought. Everyone almost stranger, the father, mother, brother, in this house, everything has temporary connection and I am wandering in the eternity. That sort of impression came in a very intense form, and the whole world was just like empty, fully empty.

At that time, that boy anyhow connected me with the life of Mahāprabhu. The Amiya Nimai Charit and Lord Gaurāṅga, the writer of Lord Gaurāṅga and Amiya Nimai Charit in Bengali and Lord Gaurāṅga in English, Śiśir Kumār Ghose, the founder of the Amṛta Bāzzār Patrikā, he gave me them and with my empty mind I drank fully the life of Mahāprabhu with much pleasure and my attraction came towards Mahāprabhu therein.

Before that of course, I think that on previous life, also some attraction. My mother's connection, we found there was connection with Mahāprabhu. But father's family, they were anti Gaurāṅga. Smārta, śakta, nyāyic, this logician, and they were goddess worshippers, śakti worshippers and strictly smārta; that is the good sat-karmī smārta means. But anyhow I had the connection with Gaurāṅga. Then I wanted a good connection with the devotees of Gaurāṅga later on. I searched also for such a sādhu to accept as my Gurudeva but I was not satisfied. Anyhow then I went to study law at Calcutta, then joined the non cooperation on movement of Gandhi, leaving the college. Then after about six years, the movement lulled, temporarily stopped. I of course joined only temporarily, because my fate I thought that it is already tied with Mahāprabhu, so I cannot give anyone my whole life energy. So temporarily I did that. And I was in search of a Gurudeva.

The Founder of Bharat Sevā Āśrama, Pranananda, of same age, that boy was in his connection so I met him also, but he was a karmī. He tried his best to take me within his fold. I asked him, no, my head is already sold to Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu.

He told that, "Yes, I also recognize Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu to be the highest. First the vairāgya, the indifference, renunciation of Buddha, and then the discussion of the Vedānta of Śaṅkara, the jñāna acana, and the highest is prema of Śrī Caitanyadeva. Otherwise that prema will be misunderstood by the ordinary section." That he told.

I of course was very much pleased to hear that, but I put him this question. You say that first Buddha, and then Śaṅkara, and then Caitanyadeva. But Caitanyadeva did not say that if you want to come to Me, come through Buddha and Śaṅkara and then to Me. He has not said. He said wherever you are take the Name, with the company of the sādhū, and you will come to Me. He does not say you first become Buddhist and then become Śāṅkarite, and then you'll come to Me. He did not say so.

So he was silenced.

I asked him if you have some siddhi, you please say where my Gurudeva is. Then he gave some idea, "Go to that gentleman."

By his request I went there but I did not find him present, that Haranath.

Then one day I found there is a placard and there will be a one month festival in Gauḍīya Maṭha, at number one Ulṭā Ḍāṅgā Junction Road, near Parisnath temple. I went to visit that place. Gauḍīya, they must have some connection with Śrī Caitanyadeva. And found yes, they are very educated men and gentlemen's association, well studied in scripture, and also very good practices. In our family of course no intoxication, and so many pure practices were there. I found it there also. And also what attracted me most, deep knowledge of scripture. I had some study, but still I felt that I'm in lower position about the knowledge, as the knowledge is concerned about the Gītā, Bhāgavat, and Mahāprabhu etc. That attracted me. I began to go there gradually and to hear. And gradually I'm inspired. There were some objections in the beginning. And after I found that they are true, my conception is wrong. In this way by hearing, hearing, hearing. I had in the meantime some opportunity came to my life, family, and I entered exclusively in the Maṭha.

The śāstra, whenever anything is told to them if it is in the scriptures, very carefully they come to listen to it. But if it is coming from Arovinḍa, Vivekānanda, Ramakrishna, Gandhi, Brahmo, summarily rejected. "No, no, no time to lose. No time to waste to hear all these things." But any reference to any scripture, "Yes, what do you say? You tell it." That attracted me most; found that they're devout appreciation in them for the scripture, for the ṛṣi what was in me perhaps in sleeping position and that has come thereby. Gradually I found real meaning of Bhagavad-gītā, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, for which already I had great appreciation and reverence. I found that they are not outside this. And Caitanyadeva is the highest authority, and Caitanya-caritāmṛta, all these things. Then I entered into. And what misunderstanding I had gradually cleared and I was converted.

So much so that even the senior men used to tell me, “What Prabhupāda has said, please repeat it.” And I repeated, reproduced what I heard from Prabhupāda to them. And they were satisfied. In this way I came to such a position that generally the educated section began to say that, “Śrīdhara Mahārāja can represent the things very well.”

And when [Herr] Schulze [Sadānanda dāsa] came, he also repeated the same thing. “In very concise form, the very substance he can represent without any excitement. There are some when they say something they show signs of excitement. But in a sober temperament he can deliver the very substance with less words.”

That was, my appreciation generally came from others. But I was not very pushing, not forward, rather, hanging behind. That was my nature. Not to go ahead. But like a play from the back, not in the front. That was my nature, I’m keeping back. And I am more busy for my own realization, what are the meanings of the different ślokaś of Bhāgavatam, Caitanya-caritāmṛta. I may remain here but generally I meditate on the meanings of the śāstra ślokaś and get some new illumination also sometimes and understand the meaning of the higher things. In this way I am passing my days.

Swāmī Mahārāja, I first came across him in Allahabad when he was the agent of Kartick Bosh and Bengal Chemicals, and then in Bombay Maṭha also I had his company for long time. But real company of him I had in Calcutta after departure of our Guru Mahārāja. I opened a centre there. And he was living in a building and on the ground there was a laboratory. And on the first floor, four rooms, I took, sublease from him and stayed there for some time. And he used to come almost every day and we had discussions about the meanings, teachings of Bhagavad-gītā generally. And surrounding other things also, but mainly on the basis of Bhagavad-gītā he had discussions with me.

And this Govinda Mahārāja was there all along. And Hari Charan for some time also, a newcomer at that time. Govinda Mahārāja was very much liked by Swāmī Mahārāja. As he mentioned that, “I saw him as my child.” Ha, ha.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is my connection, entrance and the living in Gauḍīya Maṭha.

After forty three years once I went back to my native place, stayed there for four nights, then came back. Now of course they are constructing a building there in commemoration.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

The Śrīmad-Bhāgavat is the last gift of Vedavyāsa who is generally the master of the givers of all the scriptures, including the compilation of the Vedas, systematically to classify them. The whole thing generally comes from him. But his last gift is Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. And Mahāprabhu took the teaching of that Bhāgavatam and distributed to the length and breadth of this humanity, human kind. And fortunately we have come within the fold of Him. And in our own meagre ways we are trying to live a life thereby, waiting our death. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So many illustrious persons that we found as our friends in this circle, one by one they have departed and very few remnants we are still continuing. In the last moment you are so many newcomers of so many variegated nature are present here. It is a miracle to me.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, yesterday you were going to tell us what 'thank you' means.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, thanking! Then, have you explained that, my viewpoint to them?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Not really.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Thanking, when you express such feeling to any other that, 'thank you,' what is at the bottom, what is at the root of such expression as, 'thank you?' Expression of gratitude, 'thank you,' it presupposes a background of the person who gives thanks, his separate interest. My interest is helped in a particular way, so I feel gratitude, I thank you. I have got my separate interest, separate position.

But that should not be the nature of a devotee. I have got no separate interest. I hear if I can receive anything as grace, or a ray of knowledge, anything, that rather I shall try to absorb me in that one whole interest. So I have no words. I only feel that I am being one with the person whom presently I am going to thank.

I have got my separate interests, separate individuality, separate position, and I gain something from the other party, I thank them. So thank God. There is in Christianity, perhaps in the Bible thank God, such a word is to be found there, thank God. It is current with the Brahmo School here, Rabindranath and others. He has given so many benefits to us, this air, the earth, to live on the food, so we are bound to thank Him. Thanking means maintenance and development of some individual case of life.

But we don't want to have any individual position. We want to merge, in another sense, in the interest of the Lord. So thanking - when I hear, get some knowledge from a Vaiṣṇava Guru if I say thanks for that - No, rather I want that you will attract me more to be one in your family. Engage me. I shall be fortunate if you absorb me as one of your servants, in the section of your servitors. I want that. Our mentality should be that. I am receiving some benefit and showing my gratitude to him, I am a separate entity - No, I rather want I may be one, feet dust - please make me the dust of Your lotus feet. We must go down to that position; instead of expressing our feeling of gratitude with our head erect.

That's what I told the other day to some of you. Thanking, it does not hear well, at least in our ear, thanking. What gratitude I may show in exchange of what I receive from the agent. No magnitude of gratitude can be ever found in the world, so no question of thanking. Rather it will increase our inner earnestness to become, as I told, the feet dust, the dust of the holy feet. That should be our hankering. Hearing the news of my home, I shall be eager to go to the home like a madman. Not separate interest, one interest, common interest. It hears such in my ear, but I do not know really what is the derivative meaning of the word 'thank.' As I generally come to know the spirit, on that basis I am talking with you, thank.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. In our childhood we read in perhaps thirteenth year or so:

ekam api akaram yas tu guru sisyenivedaye [?] From Hitopadesa or some quotation: though we find that only one word the Guru gives to his disciple, ekam api akaram, one word, one lettered word, a word of one letter, ekam api akaram yas tu guru sisyenivedaye, confers that to the disciple. [?] In this broad, and this wide world, there is nothing by giving which he may clear that debt.

He can clear the debt of that, only one word, one lettered word. That I read in fifth class.

ekam api akaram yas tu guru sisyenivedaye [?] It can liberate from that loan, so such valuable one word may be there. All the resources of the world can't be compared with that. There is such possibility of life, such prospect we may have in this world. And that comes from the revealed truth. The whole system is saying that you are...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... all enemy, but take this mantram and everything will be converted into your friend. Ha, ha. Such a change will come. One lettered, ekam api akaram yasta guru sisyena [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. What's the time?

Devotee: Nine twenty five.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine twenty five. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahārāja, can you tell us something about Dvārakā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dvārakā is a position of Kṛṣṇa, is above Ayodhyā, and between Ayodhyā and Mathurā. Vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī [Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa is in Vaikuṇṭha, in the plane of worshipping with splendour and grandeur, Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa. Ayodhyā is better than that Vaikuṇṭha Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa. Why? In Vaikuṇṭha no father, no mother, neither of Nārāyaṇa nor of Lakṣmī Devī, They are at the extremity, not in the centre. The vātsalya rasa service, sākhyā rasa, mādhyura rasa in the real sense may not be found there. So half type of rasa is to be experienced there. Raso vai saḥ, rasāmṛta-murtiḥ, rasa svarūpa bhagavān, sat-cit-ānandam, ānanda murtiḥ man. But this variegated nature of ānanda is not to be found in Vaikuṇṭha.

So if we go to Rāmacandra in Ayodhyā we find vātsalya rasa there, but mādhyura rasa is not distributed there extensively. Eka patni, Sītā only, Rāmacandra's affectionate wife. And niti the pressure of law is there, Rāmacandra under the pressure of law, narrowed down.

So from there we'll have to go to Dvārakā, there also we find that Kṛṣṇa in different rasa is being worshipped. The devotees have got a broader chance of serving Him in different ways. And He is more free, not a play in the hand of the laws of the world. Raja prakṛti ranjana. That He is to sacrifice even His heart and truth, to the false opinion of His subjects. So He's more free there in Dvārakā. And we can serve that free master. And the prospects are also of variegated nature and extensive.

From there we are to come to Mathurā maṇḍala Vṛndāvana. The Kṛṣṇa there we find more comprehensive, more free, autocrat, and free from the contamination of the grandeur of politics, all these things. Vidagdha-Mādhava and Lalitā-Mādhava, more given to conjugal life than the state politician we find Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, and more accessible. And intense transaction of love and affection predominating in that place and the full five rasas can be sought and got, of course of a serving attitude there. And there is a very extensive distribution of that. And He is in full youth, and rising youth. That is the highest position of energy of any type and that of free love.

And something is added there as parakīya, parakīya, “That not in my possession, not belonging to me.” Couched with this sentiment. “My son, but there is some doubt.” Some say, “No. He’s not your son,” to Yaśodā.

And as the consorhood also not their own lawful husband but, patim patinam paramam parastat, the husband of the husband, the master of the master, master of all. To have connection with that and still a shadow is maintained that He’s not your lawful master. So the meeting will be very rare and pressed by so many unfavourable circumstances. Only heart’s connection whenever meeting the most intensified because their meeting is very rare, very rare and also blameable by the society and also by the scripture. Still can’t help, so, most intense and the purest of the pure affection, only affection, only love, even crossing all the existing opinions of the higher, lower, everyone.

So Bhāgavata says, Mahāprabhu says, Goswāmī grantha, they with scientific arguments they are proving that this sort: the love is most intensified only under this condition and if that is connected with the Lord we may be the gainer in the highest sense, highest degree, that is in this way. In Vṛndāvana also there is gradation. In mādhyura rasa there are many, in rasa līlā etc; that is also a general position.

Then selected group in Govardhana: that is greater, their wider expression of the heart to heart in Govardhana. And in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, that is the highest position, when only Rādhārāṇī with Her own confidential group She approaches to serve Kṛṣṇa. And Kṛṣṇa in His full fledged love comes to cooperate with Her service.

In this way the development in the theistic area has been shown to us, and we are fortunate enough that we can appreciate in our gradual process these things, given by Mahāprabhu in Bhāgavatam, and in Goswāmī śāstra. If one has got śraddhā, faith, sincere, then they can appreciate and understand and feel and hope for realization of such acme of one's prospect. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udārapāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevām vivekī na kaḥ

[“The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”] [Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

This śloka is there, the gradation, hierarchy, how things are developing. Sat-cit-ānanda, then ānanda, ānanda also develops in this way. Self-giving, according to the degree of self surrendering one can hope to attain the highest quality of taste of the love in Kṛṣṇa; in the absolute rasa, according to the degree of surrendering. The surrendering reaches the highest quality when it crosses all the opposition that comes out of the environment and even from the ordinary objection of the so called good association. Just like śāstra, and samaj, the guardians, the family well wisher; they also cannot appreciate their support, rather they are of inimical nature crossing all those to surrender to whom? Not to any ordinary member but to the centre of the centre. Adherence, crossing all sorts of considerations of laws and rules, free surrender to the highest centre. To show faithfulness to the king even crossing the laws of the country. There is law, but if anyone crossing the law, existing law, does some service to the king then he is considered to be in the highest confidential circle.

ājñajaiva guṇān doṣān, mayādiṣṭān api svakān dharmmān saṁtyajya yaḥ sarvvān, myām bhajet sa ca sattamaḥ

[“In the scriptures of religion, I, the Supreme Lord, have instructed men of all statuses of life in their duties. Duly comprehending the purificatory virtue of executing those prescribed duties as well as the vice of neglecting them, one who abandons all allegiance to such dutifulness in order to engage in My devotional service is the best of honest men (sādhū).”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.11.32]

“He is the best of the devotee who - the laws in the śāstra I have given for general persons but who can cross so called laws that are meant only for the general public and comes to Me at the risk of being a violator of the law, comes to My service, he is considered to be the highest type of servitor.”

The king is above law. The Supreme Lord is above law. The law is meant only for the ordinary type of people, law is necessary. When there is normal thinking there is no necessity of law. In a family there is generally no law, but when the unity of the family decays, then necessity of law. So also, law means in a vitiated plane, law is necessary; in the plane of affection no necessity of any law. So after crossing, without caring for any law - law only binds us so that we may not be lead astray. But when I want to go to the good side, then the law should help me. And law has also got its limit of jurisdiction, and even crossing that I shall go to my Lord, to my master. Why should come, any law? Law will come to excite me in my service, to impress me in the service of my Lord. That is hateful to them, automatic attraction; the innermost attraction for the highest purity. That is the highest qualification, automatic qualification, does not want any recognition from the outside people; that is its own reward. The internal highest attraction, the most intense attraction for the truth, for the absolute good, that is its own certificate. It does not want any certificate from the outsiders, so independent. But it must be for the absolute good. That is to be warned all along from the lower, whether progress is good, but progress in the wrong direction is not good. Progress in the right direction, that is appreciable, that is good, that is wholesome, and our progress towards the absolute, that should be of absolute nature. Not dependent on anything else. That is quite fitting.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma Hare Rāma.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.
Any question?

Devotee: I had one question about Jaya and Vijaya. Because they are outside...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They are taṭasthā, that vaikunṭha dhara [gate keepers] That is a vulnerable position in itself already, one thing. And more than that even in Goloka we find they are casting curse to one another and coming down here. It is mentioned in Purāṇa as a play; that should be taken as a play.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, [svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet / ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

[“Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.”] [Ujjvala-nīlamanī]

But there is no venom. Just as in a drama, in a play, one is abusing another, another is killing, but it is all show, only līlā. It is like that, in the highest plane, these things but no venom, all enjoyment. Like a drama. Drama is meant to produce enjoyment, and the feeling of misery that also may be enjoyable. You see our sweetest songs are those that tell of the saddest things. So we can enjoy the painfulness also. Some was innocently but falling, suffering from some pain. We enjoy, because it is backed by morality or goodness, then we enjoy. So much painfulness, so much misery, but the background is a religious one, suffering for the truth. Suffering for the country's cause, as we generally think we appreciate. So much suffering for the good of the many, for the good of the country we enjoy. And sometimes we are enticed to take that position, that that sort of suffering I want. Suffering for such a good cause I want that suffering, I want to partake in that, to share that. So there is some underlying happiness otherwise why one feels the tendency to share the joy of a suffering person, because it is backed by truth.

So whatever is to be found in the plane of Vaikuṇṭha, the joy is there because it is the perfect plane where everything is a show. Just as a drama is shown for the gratification of all, so also that automatic, dynamic movement in the līlā only producing happiness of different types, varieties. Not always eliminate-able; just a little pungent, we want to taste, sometimes it seems a little more, but still we can't leave it. Similar things! But ultimately it produces happiness, happiness, so painful sceneries can produce happiness, here. There, no question; all happiness.

In the question of Jaya and Vijaya they're just on the verge of the gate of Vaikuṇṭha. But they came, and their re-installation was guaranteed. That is also a part of līlā. No harm. We may have no apprehension that our safety is in danger that if from the gate of Vaikuṇṭha one may be enticed, there is some room for retaliation so how that can be a prospect for us all. No such apprehension is to be made there. The guardian's vigilant eye is there. So to endanger oneself under the vigilant eye, guide of the guardian, eye of the guardian is not painful. That comes within the jurisdiction of līlā, and not karma, not action. Not enjoying or suffering, above that. There is a stage of feeling which is above enjoyment and suffering, nirguṇa. Just as in a drama. That is līlā. Not for necessity but automatic.

All right, we may stop here today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...with much repentance and to accept another. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then other considerations there may be, that pressed by, influenced by friends I had to do for tactful propaganda, made me to submit to such a place. I could not get sufficient time to judge for my own benefit; abruptly, anyhow it happened. There may be so many things to consider. But on the whole it is not a very happy thing. And I should be blamed for that. My fate, my previous karma, sukṛti, or anything, that took me to a place to give the highest respect and now I find that he should not be given any respect. He will not be held responsible but the disciple will be mainly responsible, his fate, his fortune, he is exploited in such a wrong way. He should have to repent for that. And not to believe his own self, so abruptly, why I was lead to such a position? That is very unfortunate, most unfortunate that I was mislead. It is to be considered like that. The very subtle and very delicate point is concerned, the most delicate point rather there in the progress of one's spiritual life. Such a great disaster may not come anywhere and everywhere.

Ṭhākura mentioned about to give up one's present Guru and to take up, to select another. Do you know that, have you come across that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you got Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi with you?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I have it, but it is not here with me. It's at the place where we are staying. I can bring that sometime.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have to show it to him. He was asking a question in connection with that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Rāma.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Jayadvaita Mahārāja also he feels very warm, he has a very warm compassionate attitude towards all the devotees and he speaks very highly of you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How has he come to know about me?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Well, I played some tapes in Vṛndāvana to him and also Bhakti Caru Mahārāja brought him here, this past festival. Mahārāja, was this Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam published by our Śrīla Prabhupāda previous to his going to America?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam long before it was published. I can't remember exactly, but it was [nineteen] forty three or forty four perhaps. And Madhāv's mother she paid out the money for that, Pisima paid for that, the whole payment was made by her.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, our Śrīla Prabhupāda he helped print it in Calcutta? What part did he play in having it printed? How did he help in printing the book?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In which way did Swāmī Mahārāja participate to print your book?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This book?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, he had no connection at that time with the book.

I was living in a hut there, where at present the cooking room, the kitchen, there was a hut, cottage. I was living there. And one boy came from Kulna District, he helped me a great deal for the compilation of this book. And mostly I had to labour to publish this book. There were two or three more gentlemen lived at that time with me, one Nṛsimānanda Brahmācārī, and another, Āśrama Mahārāja. It was published in [nineteen] forty three or four, and they left me by [nineteen] forty nine. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Collection, compilation by myself and that boy helped me in copying the ślokaś. And for the printing matters that Nṛsimānanda Brahmācārī he took some pain to print, the press work and proof reading. Śrauti Mahārāja also helped him proof read. He was a good proof reader this Śrauti Mahārāja. He is still living in [?] He's a good scholar in Sanskrit also. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Books, all Sanskrit, pure, Śrī Kṛṣṇa-saṁhita, Tattva-sūtram, Amṇaya-sūtram, but not with tika, commentary! Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: I have one question. We read that a devotee who is not perfectly pure he can attain the pole star or Dhruva-loka planet. It is stated in Bhāgavatam that Dhruva Mahārāja became the perfect devotee and that the Dhruva-loka is supposed to be a spiritual planet within the material universe. So I want to know, what is the nature of the devotional service, what level of purity or what level of devotional service is there in the Dhruva-loka planet?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his question?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That cannot be the service of a very higher type. What stage of devotion we find in Dhruva we may expect that that sort of service is being rendered there in Dhruva-loka. But when we have to calculate, according to degree of intensity, or from this standpoint of quality, the bhakti of Dhruva that was considered to be lower in comparison with that of Prahlāda. Dhruva, he had some object when ordinary aspiration for worldly things, or when he enters into bhajana. But that filth was eliminated at last. But that is the stage of a beginner in śuddha bhakti, not of the very highest stage.

Sthana vilasi tapasi sthito ham tam prapta van deva mohindra gucham [?] Carcha vichinyam adhivinya ratnam svamin cadatcho smin varam no vatchi [?]

When he began his penances to satisfy Nārāyaṇa according to the advice of Devarṣi Nārada his motive was to get back the kingdom of his father.

But Dhruva says: “When I found You just before me I feel such a charm of Your personality that no longer I have got any aspiration for any kingdom etc. Because I came to search for some glass and now I have fortunately got some gem, some diamond, so I no longer want that glass for which I began my penances.”

So he was reckoned as a devotee of Nārāyaṇa, but may be classed to that of śanta-rasa, no trace of service of any clear type is seen in his life.

Prahlāda also says that, “I am also engaged in śanta-rasa.”

The next higher is manifested from Hanumān Ji, dāsya-rasa, and then sākhyā-rasa and others upwards. So Dhruva Mahārāja he is a novel devotee of śanta-rasa, the beginner class. So there, under his influence the bhakti, unalloyed devotion’s first stage is to be found there. We can expect such thing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you once said that if we accept Kṛṣṇa then automatically we must accept Balarāma, we must accept Rādhārāṇī, and so many other personalities. So if we accept our Guru Śrīla Prabhupāda, then it seems very natural that we would accept his close associates also. I was hoping maybe that you could elaborate on that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But the associates may be of different classes, eternal associates, and also beginners from this life. So degree of affinity towards him, accordingly, they will be classified. The associates should be considered to be associates so long as he is within the bound of his attraction and affection, and when his associates they are seen to deviate from that position they should be helped. And in spite of that if they go away, they should be rejected. It is a living thing, not a dead one, stereotype. But generally we should try to maintain this, that he has got his associates and he is full, one with them. That should be our nature of thinking. But if we find unfortunately that associates are being disassociated in quality, then to maintain the real high position of Guru as well as the purity of our faith we have to deal accordingly, the principle.

He is great; he has come with a mission, and that mission that is the centre to measure him. That test should be put here and there. And those that pass that test they'll be thought, otherwise the whole thing may be rotten. The eternal associates, no deviation can be expected there. But temporary associates, the newcomers, there may be some defects and we shall do justice to that, looking at the real ideal for which Guru Mahārāja came here to save us. That should be our position. Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru Mahārāja means something; he came what for, what to give? And if we can realize his gift for which we have all come around him, then according to the degree of that gift, the greatness of the gift, we shall regulate our behaviour amongst us. Whom to be kind and whom to show devotion, veneration, affection, in these ways we will be adjusted amongst his paraphernalia. Someone we are to revere, some we have to be kind, with some we are of the same rank, in this way we shall mix. The standard will be his advice, his words, his instructions and his idea. That will be the standard of our behaviour. It is a living thing, not a dead one. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. He came to open our eyes, to see things for our own.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, it seems that you had described once before that as the quality increases then the quantity will decrease.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is a general law. Denotation increases and connotation decreases. Connotation increases, denotation decreases.

[“O Arjuna, I am situated in the hearts of all souls as the Supersoul, the Lord and Master of all souls. For every endeavour of the living beings in this world, the Lord (My plenary expansion, the Supersoul) awards an appropriate result. As an object mounted on a wheel is caused to revolve, the living beings are caused to revolve in the universe by the almighty power of the Lord. Incited by Him, your destiny will naturally be effected according to your endeavours.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.61]

His representation in a passive form is present everywhere. But that is indifferent, watching, sākṣi, a witness of his deeds, watching. Not left exclusively, but does not interfere with his free will. And another arrangement He’s coming Himself and sending sādhus and so many things as in the śāstra has been posted here and there anyhow to attract his attention back to God back to home.

“Come home My boys, come home. So many placards are there like śāstra and so many agents are also moving. Come home.”

But the free will is there and that is the rub. Some say in disappointment, “What? Why He has given such dangerous free will to us, by misusing which we are under eternal suffering? Why He has given? He’s omniscient, all knowing, then knowingly that we can misuse, why He has given such a thing in us. Then the misuse of which why the guardian has given the dagger in the hand of an infant that he may stab himself?”

But the question is that without, devoid of free will then it is a material thing, matter. Free will has got, free will is a very valuable thing and with the help of that he can taste the rasa. The tongue has given to taste sweet also, not only to bitter things. If tongue is devoid of tastefulness then the sweetness also he'll not be able in any time to enjoy. And because we are only touching bitter things into the tongue we are abusing the creator. "Why he has given the tongue and we are tasting these bitter things?" But at the same time we must be - to taste the sweet things the tongue is necessary.

So in the service free will is necessary for the serving purpose of the Lord. And temporarily only coming in connection with bitter things we shall abuse the creator. "Why he has given?" Some bad things are disturbing my ears, so we should not think that the ear should be abolished. The eye should be abolished because I have to see some undesirable sight. Because eyes are given the prospect is that we shall have to see such a charming beauty – for that purpose eyes are given to us. If eyesight is withdrawn then we are left like a stone. So free will is the very gist of everything, the eye, the ear, so many things, that our free will, soul, free will, and that is snatched away then we are reduced to stone. That is not desirable to anyone. Everything has got its bright side and for that it has been created, it has been given to us, and by misuse we suffer and by good use we thrive. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

And it is there and now we are to solve on this basis, and trying to find out the bright side of things, then we shall find that everything is good. Everything is good, cent per cent good. We are only to be taken in that plane where from we can find the real harmony, the real adjustment, the advaya-jñāna. The whole thing is a happy one. Finite is to prove the infinite. Bad is necessary to prove the good. In this way, finite, infinite, both existing, the māyā, the false, and the truth. Truth and falsehood: falsehood exists only to prove the value ability of the truth, to prove that, falsehood is necessary. Something like that! Conditioned, unconditioned! Darkness is there to prove light. So ignorance is there to prove knowledge.

Although the tongue of one afflicted by the jaundice of avidyā (ignorance) cannot taste anything sweet, it is wonderful that simply by carefully chanting these sweet Names every day, a natural relish awakens within his tongue, and his disease is gradually destroyed at the root.”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 7]

Syāt kṛṣṇa-nāma-caritādi-sitāpy avidyā, the Name, His conduct, His every connection is really very sweet like sugar candy, sitāpy avidyā-, pittopatapta. But they may not be felt sweet in our present tongue, or present ear, or present eye, because it is polluted by the effect of bile, pittopatapta. If influenced by bile then if you put sugar into the tongue it will taste bitter. But the sugar candy but the application of sugar candy only is the greatest relief of their disease of bile, attack from bile. No other medicine.

Devotee: Jaundice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaundice. [?]

But that sugar candy tastes bitter, but that sugar candy is also the only medicine. If you take that sugar candy, in the beginning it will taste bitter, and gradually by its gradual application the bile will be removed and it will taste sweet. So Kṛṣṇa’s connection seems to be bitter in our present stage attacked with māyā, but that is the only medicine, that Kṛṣṇa’s connection anyhow to apply. Then gradually when the disease will be removed we shall feel the sweetness of the thing. Syāt kṛṣṇa-nāma-caritādi-sitāpy avidyā-, pittopatapta-rasanasya na rocikā nu, kintv ādarād, with regard, with śraddhā, with faith we shall go on applying that though apparently though for the time being it is bitter, still to suck that and then gradually find now it becomes sweeter and sweeter gradually. Kintv ādarād anudinaṁ khalu saiva juṣṭā, svādvī kramād bhavati tad-gadamūla-hantrī, it will remove the very root of the disease, it is such. By the help of the doctors, or by well-wishers, nurses, it is applied, through affection, and then we get out of the disease.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Tabi jadi ei rup gatana kabu hoi asat sange guro
yogyata hoi koi [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! The madhyama Guru, madhyama-adhikārī, the Guru of middle stage, when he comes in connection with bad association, the association with the atheists, or some Māyāvādī scholars, or strī saṅga asat sādhu, anyone, by bad association he may come down.

And so many things are to be traced in him and gradually he will come down to such a stage. In that case of course the śiṣya who has got sufficient sukṛti he can save him. Very rarely such things happen and it is most unfortunate. But still we may consider it to be fortunate when he gets out of that and comes to the real source again. Then forgetting all his past history he's to begin with new life. To save one's own self, necessity is the mother of invention. Necessity has no law. We may be misguided in the worldly sense also, in many places we may be misguided, and to awake from that association and to help us in a proper way. Of course this possibility is at every step. We are living beings, we are independent, we are endowed with free will, so free action, free decision is necessary at every step. And that is also uncertain what step I should take that it may be guaranteed that it will take me towards the right goal, right destination.

So it is necessary to select a guide. And sometimes if the – in the selection of the guide there is also some error, that is also misfortune. But again our internal, innate fortune helps us, comes out to help us again to be aware of the guide when you are walking to some tīrtha or some holy place. So if the guide on my way he may be influenced by bad motive then I'm to save in that case also. Of course which is very risky, still, self protection, self saving is indispensable so we are to do that. Before, previously I put my whole faith to one and I'm to withdraw from that and to take another independent guide. But still if necessity arises we cannot but do that: in this way. I shall consult it to be doubly sure. We must consult it whether – because I may be fallible – I am fallible rather, the śiṣya, the disciple considers himself to be fallible, and so he will consult with another expert guide.

“What to do? I am perplexed. I think that I should not keep any faith in my present guide. Perhaps he has become otherwise, his mentality has changed. Anyway I can't, I'm seeing so many signs around that I'm not able to put faith in that guide any longer. Please advise me what to do.”

In this way the intimate friends should be consulted. We may not put much faith within us. After consultation with so many intimate friends whom I can put confidence in, then by their assurance and with also my internal voice, inner voice, my conscience, with all sincerity praying to the Lord that, “Please save me and give me another guide.” With the help of our friends we shall again try to cast ourselves. Confidence is necessary, śraddhā is necessary, guide is necessary. It is inevitable. Once I'm deprived of confidence, I'm betrayed, that does not mean that my whole life is to suffer from that betrayal. There must be good sense all around and the main power around, the higher power around is always eager to help us. So with all sincerity we must accept to our best understanding any other guide and to go on. Progress cannot be checked, and that is not desirable also, so we must go onward, even if necessary changing our guide on the way. From the practical life also we can gather such experience.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Any other question within this?

Devotee: Yes. Some devotees in America they would say on this point that they cannot understand how if the Guru is sākṣād-dhari, then he no longer be sākṣād-dhari. How can he stray? Then he was never Guru to begin with. They are saying like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When we adjust in this way that Guru is within also, caitya Guru, and outside the mahanta Guru. But in our worldly life we also meet such things. In Bhāgavat also warning is given already:

gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mṛtyum

[Rṣabhadeva says: “Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

One who cannot save me from the greatest danger of the association of this mortal life, they apparently, ostentatiously, they may be in a position of our best regard in their own departments. But still my eternal life and the interest of eternal life there may be many dangers...

Gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, so from here we can detect the underground possibility of changing Guru, and that may not be attributed to that side. We may try to apply it to my own weak side. It is due to my defect I have been connected with a mala fide idea. Anyhow by my sukṛti it is a test, we may take it as a test of sincerity in my progress towards the Divinity. So we may rather try to accuse our own fate, our own self, and that side there is a test of the Lord. So the gurur na sa syāt, when, this is admitted in Bhāgavatam and in many places, then there may be such instances in the practical affairs. So our faith in Guru also in this position it is clear that our faith in Guru should not be blind. Faith, the śraddhā, faith is not intrinsically a blind faith. Faith may be awake. It may be wakeful to its interest always, making progress.

In Bhāgavatam it is mentioned in another place. Just how should we measure my progress towards the divine world? They say: bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo anyatra viraktir, these three things must remain with me always while I’m making progress towards the divine soil. What are they? Bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo anyatra viraktir, and an example is given of the mundane world. When we are hungry we take food, and when we take food three things occur simultaneously. What are they? Prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo... Nimāi [?]

Tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo, when we are hungry we feel uneasiness, so by every morsel we take the uneasiness is removed, tuṣṭiḥ. Puṣṭiḥ, then when hungry we feel weakness. By every morsel gradually that weakness is removed. And kṣudapāyo, when hungry we feel a pain like something for eating more, and that earnestness for eating that also disappears, by step by step by every morsel.

So also when ordinarily we are in the progress of our spiritual life on the way we shall have three things experienced by every step, and carefully we are to measure. We are to feel for ourselves that whether we are making progress or not. This is the criterion. What are they? Bhakti, our attraction will, should increase with acceleration, bhakti. Pareśānubhavo, and we must get a sort of conception towards which I am approaching. First hazy then more clear, more clear, more clear, a sort of conception towards which I have more and more finer and accurate conception. I must receive as much as I shall progress, pareśānubhavo.

Anyatra viraktir, and withdrawal from the environment what was very tasteful to me, that won't have any taste for me, anyatra viraktir. My attraction for non God, for the world, that will decrease. That won't come to – if that sort of topics comes in I shall feel disturbed. No! So: bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, three things there must be when we are making journey. So these are tests and we must be wakeful, so sākṣād-dharitvena though, but still there is such possibility. We must not make too much faith in my experience, my knowledge which is gathered by the worldly experience. We must be alert always. So when some shock comes to me from the unexpected quarter, if we are wakeful to our real internal interest we must be awakened.

And then we shall consult with others. So many passengers are there, walking, so many companions, we may consult with them, that, “I have got that little, no confidence in the leader. What do you think? Am I wrong or am I right? You please also look at this.”

In this way we are to examine us and to do the necessary. The Guru within, the caitya Guru, he also cannot be neglected. And if one is sincere the caitya Guru must come in time to make him careful, give him warning. It is possible because the transaction of so many that are all free. And because the Gītā says:

“I am everywhere. I am nowhere. Everything is in Me. Nothing is in Me. Please mark the inconceivable mystic position of Mine with this world. I can be there, I can withdraw also.”

Such is the saying of His position anywhere and everywhere. So the free choice, the possibility of free choice not gone forever, but though we submit to Gurudeva that must be a conscious and healthy submission. Otherwise there may be so many misguided sorts, in different departments there are leaders, and in that particular jurisdiction they are seen to put much faith in the leader, political, social, and in other bad activity also. So everywhere there is leader. So this broad idea we must have and that is to our own interest and there is also so many sayings in the śāstra to give us caution that our progress may not be blind. Our own self is dearer than every connection with the environment for my interest. And ultimately the all-seer, all-omniscient Lord is there.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

“O my Lord, You may do anything. You have come to test this little servant.” Thus I am very much afraid, so consultation with the friends and other Vaiṣṇavas that we are to fix our future path of our journey. Ke? [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. [?] Any more question on the point?

Devotee: I remember one thing I noted that by listening to your tapes that you will – on this one tape you were saying that Śukadeva Goswāmī he had this conception of this, he saw the universe in the way that he described in the Bhāgavatam. Yet the materialist he sees subjectively the way the material scientists do. So in the same way if one tries to see the spiritual plane as it’s described in the Bhāgavatam then it’s to be understood that he comes to that platform even if he sees the faults...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: If there’s one question at a time. It’s too complicated.

Devotee: Is that a complicated question?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. You have to ask one very clear question.

Devotee: In other words, there’s so much, it seems that it’s so subjective to only see the fault in a Vaiṣṇava, to reject the Guru, it’s so subjective. So many people who have the same conception they will come together...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say? Finished? What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally, the sign of deviation may be of three classes. First thing, if I can detect that my Gurudeva he's losing gradually his attraction for his own Guru, one.

And śāstra upadeśa, what he previously what he expressed, his advices, quoting the scriptures, and quoting the advices, words of his own Guru, that is becoming gradually absent in him, his attraction, his feeling on the higher aspect, then that is pratiṣṭhā. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, these are the three tests to be put everywhere, whether one is a sādhu or not, or what degree of sādhu he is, the measurement will be pratiṣṭhā, kāmīnī, kanak, three, grossly. The first, the deviation of his higher Gurus, that should be detected, then, that is pratiṣṭhā. Then, more tendency to amass money, and not to spend the money. Money may be collected but that must be distributed for the service of the sampradāya, for the Lord, for propaganda, but not much attention to – for distribution, to utilise it in the service of the Guru and sampradāya, Vaiṣṇava but amassing money, second.

Third, attraction towards the ladies. Of course he may come in connection with money and women and also with pratiṣṭhā. Pratiṣṭhā means his own, the honour to him from the disciples; that is also necessary. But only to, for the purpose of divine object, divine Name, not for himself. But if we can detect that for his personal cause, interest, and not for the cause of the sampradāya he's utilising these things, then we can be, we should be careful. In the beginning we may neglect some occasions, some instances we may ignore. But if we find that more – then we are to inspect that carefully. And we are to put to persons similar to my position and after consultation and we can put it to the higher sources, other Ācārya also, who are reliable. Then if we find that, 'Yes, what appeared to me first in a very small way, yes that is really, that is real and that is injurious and of big magnitude and he's going down.' Then to save myself I must try to take steps which may save me from that epidemic contamination. I shall try to save me. And also I can try to save others who fell prey to such exploitation like me. That will be with all sincerity.

But there is possibility and it is mentioned in the śāstra and also practical examples are also there. So we must not make progress in a slumber. But we must go forward with our eyes opened always opened, because we must be confident that eyes more and more will be able to appreciate higher things, not only to finding faults with him. We shall keep our eyes towards the Vaiṣṇava, towards the Guru, not only for fault finding tendency there be, but new things must come to astonish us about the ways, their astonishing ways. There will be many things will be in that:

āścaryavat paśyati kaścid enam, āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, [śrutvāpy enam veda na caiva kaścit]

["Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29]

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...new wonder, ever new. Even it is written in Gītā only for the human soul. “You are, diving deep in the material experience of material things, but you come in contact with the slight conception of your own soul you’ll be astounded. “Oh! Such sweet and such wonderful things may exist, and I am such, my soul, myself, is of such higher standard creation. Then what to speak about Paramātmā, Bhagavān, Kṛṣṇa and His paraphernalia? Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we are not thieves, we must with our eyes open we must make progress. We won’t allow ourselves to be closed eye, making progress, not like that. Because where I am going, I’m approaching, that is above all test, all doubts.

Just as the other days I told I heard from Guru Mahārāja, that one boy is born in a dungeon within the prison house, and another man from outside coming to him and asking him, “Oh, come out to see the sun.”

He will take the light from there; that place. “Oh, you want to see the sun?”

“Yes, and let us take the light.”

“No, no! Light is not necessary to see the sun.”

“Eh? Am I a fool? That you will say and I will put confidence in that word. Nothing can be seen without the help of the light.”

Then he will take him forcibly out: “See the sun!” He’ll be astonished. “Oh!”

So we are making progress towards that direction, why we should not make progress with not closed eye. So much wonder to come in contact of that we cannot conjecture, we cannot suppose even, surpassing all our feelings of wonder, stranger, more stranger, more strange, it will come. Not only the adbhuta rasa, not only strange, this is its character, but sweeter, powerful, more powerful, more sweeter, more beautiful. In this way we are to appreciate, so with open eye, with open mind, we shall go. Not like a thief. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anything? Clear, am I clear?

Devotee: Very clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: I have a question, in regard to – what is the most important qualification for one who's attempting to write transcendental literature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In every case it is prayojana, to be sincerely linked, to have the link with the upper story. To set aside one's own experience. Experience also may be used as example, but our faithful adherence to the higher source, that should be the attitude. We should pray, just as when we go to read any scripture I show respect, we worship the books, then we open the book and begin to read.

Praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā, if we want to come in connection of the higher zone then our attitude should be that of praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. Praṇipāta, that is surrender, and paripraśna the keen understanding, our utmost earnestness to catch the thing, paripraśna. And sevā, I am doing it not to glorify myself but as a duty to my Gurudeva and the sampradāya and the Lord. That sort of temperament will keep connection; will connect with the higher sphere. Self abnegation and earnestness to know, praśna, that living earnestness for new things, and also to be utilised for Him, and not to fulfil any purpose of this mundane zone.

So with that mentality one should try to write, that we may be an agent only. Through Him the power we'll get, that knowledge will descend. He will try to make a hateful agent a mediator of the two, not black marketing. From this real source to take and to distribute, not black marketing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That should be the attitude of a writer, of a speaker, in every transaction of the higher sphere, our attitude of a mediator, transparent mediator.

“The Guru is opaque and transparent,” it has been said by our Guru Mahārāja, “Opaque Guru and transparent Guru.” Opaque Guru the trader: the Yati Goswāmī and varṁśa paramparā, opaque Gurus continuing a trade in the name of becoming a transmitter. [?]

... Kṛṣṇa is nowhere, it is in Gītā:

mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, [jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ]

[“In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.4]

“I am everywhere.” Mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā, mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni. “Everything in Me.” Mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā, mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ. Paśya me yogam aiśvaram [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.5]. “Your ordinary intelligence cannot understand; acintya.”

So Mahāprabhu kept the word acintya-bhedābheda because the connection depends on His sweet will. He’s free of the free. Absolute freedom is only with Him.

Vidagdha Mādhava: But Mahārāja, if someone is trying to develop śāstric vision he wants to see Kṛṣṇa everywhere. Kṛṣṇa has entered into every atom and He’s also pervading in the Brahman aspect. So how do we see that He is not in everything?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] He’s adhokṣaja and you are being a finite of the finite you cannot comprehend, you cannot have the audacity to comprehend everything within your fist. The first condition is this, that you are going; the finite is going to measure the infinite. There should be a limit, up to nth term, mathematics going many steps finished, then up to nth term, recurring, something like that. As much as He will, His existence is of such nature that when He selects you to make any part to be known by you, then you can know, otherwise you are helpless. That is your position, or that is our position. Such things exist and if you have such faith in you then you have got śraddhā and only through that faith you can connect with Him, otherwise we are atheist. Atheist means self deceived. Do you follow?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You can't finish, that you can know the whole thing. The first condition, He's adhokṣaja and you are finite, I am, we are finite, and how can we be bold that we shall know every detail of Him, bold enough. It is audacity. That is foolishness. That is suicidal, to think like that. So Bhāgavat has given warning in many places.

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā [namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām
bhavadīya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vāñ-manobhir, ye
prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

The curiosity you have to banish that you will know so many things and you will make Him the object of your trade, that whenever you want He will come and he will help your trading. Trade in God is not possible. Only when He makes Him to distribute Him through you, through me, then that is possible, otherwise not. The whole thing is within His fist, the whole independent. And that is desirable. And any innocent person should admit that. Should admit that, “Yes, we are finite, and the infinite, so I must have some limit and my hankering for Him, my faith, and His independent step towards me, everything depends on that.”

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, [tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

[“One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone’s heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him.”] [Kāṭha Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

Such things exist in our infinitely higher position with higher merits infinitely. And we can connect only through faith, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, and not reason, not knowledge drawn from experience of worldly things. Adhokṣaja. If we can have some faith for that higher unknown and unknowable transcendental, then we shall come to have enquiry how we can be utilised for His purpose and get out of this non faithful environment contamination.

My master is Absolute. That should encourage my campaign about my quest, my search, my service, give me impetus to my serving attitude that He’s Absolute, He’s infinite. And I must try to avoid any connection with all the finite matters. I should rather hate the finite things.

Enough, enough done of finite things from so many births in the past, enough done with this, with our association with things that are mortal, that can come in our control. We have become king, we have become Indra, the king of the whole world, Brahmā, so many positions we have already experienced we are told. So masters of this mundane world, that position we also experienced and again we are here, and again we may have to go to the life of a worm or an insect. In such uncertain possibility of our degraded position we are in the midst of.

So our all attention should be to remain in the connection with the highest, which is invulnerable, immeasurable, whose sweetness, knowledge, everything is immeasurable. To keep connection in the association of such centre we shall try to maintain our position, unknown and unknowable. But with some comprehension that is good and beneficial.

Paripraśna, honest enquiry, which is really necessary for my present spiritual purpose. And also when I'm in the sampradāya I shall have to educate others with that, about that, so with honest sincerity we may enquire into the meaning of the scripture.

But u-jñāna [?] and ati-jñāna [?] in Upaniṣad [?] That our attempt to make Him the [?] criminal, prisoner, we won't try to make Him prisoner of our own particular cell of knowledge in the brain. We should not attempt like that. All we shall know and all we shall – the more we know, the more we'll know about His infinite character, so our attitude should be that of:

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

"I'm smaller than smaller." The conception of the bigger relativity will necessarily help us to think ourselves to be the smallest of the small. And only through faith we can connect with Him, nothing else, no knowledge. Karma, jñāna, futile, yoga, any ascending attempt is sure to meet with failure, ascending method. So:

bhaktyāham ekayā grāhyaḥ [śraddhayātmā priyaḥ satām bhaktiḥ punāti man-niṣṭhā śvapākān api sambhavāt]

["I, who am dear to the sādhus, can be reached only by devotion born of unalloyed faith. Even a dog flesh eating out caste who dedicates himself to exclusive devotion for Me is delivered from the influence of the wretched circumstances of his birth."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.21]

Only through devotion, only through dedication, and dedication; that 'die to live.' Śrīdhara Swāmī has given the important explanation.

śravaṇam kīrtanam viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇam pāda-sevanam arcanam
vandanam dāsyam, sakhyam ātma-nivedanam. iti puṁsārpitā viṣṇau, bhaktiś cen nava-lakṣaṇā

[kriyeta bhagavatya addhā tan manye 'dhītam uttamam]

["Hearing about Kṛṣṇa, chanting Kṛṣṇa's glories, remembering Kṛṣṇa, serving Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet, worshipping Kṛṣṇa's transcendental form, offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa, becoming Kṛṣṇa's servant, considering Kṛṣṇa as one's best friend, and surrendering everything to Kṛṣṇa - these nine processes are accepted as pure devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.23-24]

I'm listening to Hari kathā, about Him, but my attitude will be that what benefit I shall draw from such listening, who will be the owner of that? Who will be the beneficiary? Not myself but my Lord. I am a slave. I'm in no position of beneficiary in me. Then it will be bhakti, devotion, a part of devotion. It will have recognition to be devotion that whatever I receive I'm not beneficiary. He will be beneficiary. The good or bad it will go to Him, the śravaṇa, kīrtana, every action for His satisfaction. I may die, I may live, it does not matter. And the highest risk we find that when gopīs were asked to give their feet dust for the head of Kṛṣṇa when He played with some tactics.

"That take some feet dust of a devotee and that will cure My headache."

So such self abnegation and such degree of self surrendering, we have nothing, a slave to such a degree. If we accept such creed then we may be allowed to enter into that higher domain. Otherwise we shall enter and we shall loot, begin looting there. So such degree of slavery is to be, that bond should be signed within the heart. We must mind it, we must be reminded at every step.

So dedication and dedication of such degree is necessary, and not by calculation that is in the beginning and spontaneous in Braja. We have come in connection with such noble life, conception of such nobility, self abnegation of such degree, such news, so noble a life, selfless life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And there we gain most, ha, ha, ha. There, in that position we are the highest gainer, we are told by the experts of the world, of that world. Ha, ha, ha. Gaura Hari.

So not only direct dāśya to Kṛṣṇa – those that can dedicate to such a degree, to make them beneficiary, that is another, that kiṅkarā, Rādhā-kiṅkarā, higher than that, Kṛṣṇa-kiṅkarā. Rādhā-kiṅkarā is higher than Kṛṣṇa-kiṅkarā, because who has dedicated most to the Kṛṣṇa to dedicate they're not in direct contact with Kṛṣṇa, that fetches us the highest valuation, we are told by our masters. Rādhikā Madhavaśan. Our aspiration is there, tied there in their feet, of their Guru. Servitor of the servitor of the servitor of the servitor; in this way the progress comes.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de rādhāra mahimā,
prema-rasa-sīmā jagate jānāta ke [madhura vṛndā vipina mādhurī praveśa cāturī sāra baraja yuvatī bhāvera bhakati śakati hoita kāra]
[Vāsudeva Datta/Ghosh]

The dignity, such dignity in life to such a degree of self abnegation, self surrendering, self dedication, of different degree, classification, quality, all these things, Mahāprabhu has taken down from that highest quarter of the globe to here. And those who have got inner appreciation for this they say: “Oh! If Mahāprabhu did not come with the news of all these things, how could we live?” He’s a child of that soil, so says: “Without this how could I live?” Just as a fish will say: “Without water how can I live?” So a child of that soil he says: “How could we live if Śrī Caitanyadeva graciously did not bring the news about the real sustaining point, sustaining drop of our inner life? Wonderful!”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: We have heard it said by our Guru Mahārāja that yourself and himself were the only two people qualified to translate the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, and give commentary on the Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he had such confidence in me. He was my intimate association and we had many discussions, when I lived at Calcutta just as his next door neighbour, so much discussion, he had such faith in me, by the grace of the Absolute finishing such a great work: now he's above. I'm left here.

Devotee: That's our fortune. That he had such faith it's only right that we should have such faith also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he had some faith in me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I can't deny that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. And in his last days also he expressed that, "Two quarters side by side will be built there, and you will live in one and in the next I shall live."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Birds of the same feather flock together.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A common interest has drawn us near. Our common attraction has brought us nearer, closer. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: So there's still a lot of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam to translate and purport on. [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My Guru Mahārāja told, his remark to me: "Ease lover." You are extorting things from me.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is deposited perhaps with me. You have come. Perhaps it was meant for you all, don't know. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. What's the time?

Devotee: Five past nine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Five past nine.

Devotee: Could you tell us something about service, doing sixteen rounds in a day, and selling some books, is that enough to achieve Lord?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow to try to increase our inner affinity towards the cause. So when external services are absent we can go even more counting. And when very busy in the service may be less, that does not matter much. But serving, service is necessary and which may increase our serving tendency. The Name is advised in a general way, “Take the Name.” Name, to count Name:

[aghaccit-smaranam visnor-bahvayasena sadhyate] austhaspandana-matrena kirtanatu tato varam

[“The remembrance of Viṣṇu certainly cuts sin to pieces, but it is very difficult to attain perfection through remembering Viṣṇu. Only after great effort is such remembrance possible. However, simply by moving the lips, there is the kīrtana of the Holy Name of Viṣṇu, and therefore kīrtana is the topmost process of devotional service.”] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 11.453] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.19]

To take the Name within, that is less important. And if our, the vibration is in the lips then it will be more, of higher type, that is utilisation, the vibration created around, more useful. And then, chanting in high sound, that will be more helpful to help the environment, so many, the vibration. And in the form of the book, that is Nāma-mahāta. Counting Name that is a difficult thing, that is cultivation about the Name, about the sound. Through the sound means which is one with substance, the meaning of the sound, to cultivate about that, anuśilana. That may be in the beads, that may be in preaching, and even by medium of the distribution of the books. That is also, that is preaching the noble position, the unique, purifying position of the Name. When I’m delivering lecture, or when I’m writing an article, enhancing the nobility of the Name, the higher purifying tendency of the Name, that is also kīrtana, Nāma-kīrtana. It is going to propagate the greatness of the Holy Name. So that is also chanting, chanting, though the purpose, the real object is to be marked, and where I am engaged. If I'm very busy in other services of the Name, the counting may be reduced to, in a lower position, that it won't be of any bad effect there. Anyhow to engage Nāma-kīrtana, taking Name, to keep me engaged with the Divine Sound. Through Divine Sound we can easily enter into the domain of the transcendental realm, passing knowledge, then worship, love, etc.

Namna namnasya anta kala sudha tama vekam suri teja nama rupa sash
bhuva tas bhavati Tato rupa sash bhuvane [?]

Then:

Gunanam suranam suriteja gunay parikar vaisistham jayate tato līlā atat paro lilayam pravesha [?]

So for a beginner that sort of rules that you must take. You are engaged in the worldly affairs you must take at least so many rounds. You must make time at least for this. But when one's fully engaged in the purpose of the truth, to spread the greatness, the purpose of the Name, the scripture, only this formal counting may not have any great importance in his life. He's the wholesale here within the Name, they're doing service of the Name. And the counting also must be of a serving tendency there must be, otherwise there will be aparādha, there will be ābhāsa, so many possibilities there. Anyhow to go on deep into the service of the Divine Sound, to spread the Divine Sound, and to stop this mundane sound which is the medium of so many busy activities of this mundane world.

The mundane sound flow waves should be, transformed, should be, not transformed, should be replaced with the waves of Divine Sound. They're full of mundane sound, but Divine Sound must take place throwing them off, the mundane sound, and the benefit will get everywhere where there is animation and with little faith.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mahārāja, isn't the purpose of the process to chant the Name purely? Doesn't that mean that we should chant a prescribed number of rounds or endeavour to chant as much as possible the Holy Name?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No! Not to increase the number of counting in the beads. That is a stereotype dead thing. But the living counting and so many other signs will be shown. It is not limited within the physical sound that my lips produce. It has an extensive and infinite innate acquaintance of that Name. Only that counting, and that bead, and that particular sound that my tongue produces, it is not limited there. It holds within it the whole transcendental world we may see. It will give us connection with that. The medium sound we shall try to go in, to enter, into the domain, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, so many...

...

Devotee: Only problem is, this you see, I'm not that much qualified to read the scripture or Sanskrit words, you know, so I thought maybe this chanting is more important for a illiterate man like me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Chanting, and gradually it must have life; a living counting will take us closer to the substance, not only the external sound in the cover. The substance within, the Name, nāma, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, within the sound, and we must be acquainted with, introduced with all the full Name. Eh?

Devotee: We are not to increase the quantity, but to increase quality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! Quality!

Devotee: And if at the same time quantity and quality we can feel, that is all well and good, isn't it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No! That depends upon the sweet will of the Lord, on the direction from the up. Haridāsa Ṭhākura he concentrated to the counting more, but Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, not so much concentrated to the counting. As directed by the above it will be of such importance. Not equal in all cases. To show example to different types of men, different ideas have been set here. But we appreciate more the services of Rūpa Sanātana than that of Haridāsa Ṭhākura. But Haridāsa Ṭhākura's example is also necessary for a particular group.

Devotee: For the conditioned souls.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And we do not think that the gopī's in Vṛndāvana they're always counting the Name of Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One Name is sufficient to make them mad.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More than that!

Devotee: That's the difference between goṣṭhyānandī and bhajanānandī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Goṣṭhyānandī and bhajanānandī, that is in the sādhana stage. Then after entering there as type and nature of service is distributed then to go on with that. To discharge one's own quota of duty, that is full in itself in different departments there. Different departments of service, and particular departments also, there are so many sub divisions. Now to be posted in a particular serving office, there he gets the most, he or she, meant for him. Different groups, śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā, and there are divisions of divisions, so many. And may want much water, but my thirst for one glass, that is, I do not need more, then there'll be disease, reaction. Akarsananta yajaya śakti [?] The infinite boundless sky and the birds are flying according to their capacity. According to their heart's necessity they can fly, and then take rest. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Eka-bindu jagat dubāya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19]. Mahāprabhu says to Rūpa Goswāmī, "The boundless ocean of nectar divine, and one drop I am giving to you." Then He says, "This one drop is sufficient to inundate, overflow the whole of the universe."

So the point of infinite is infinite. It is of such nature. An atom of infinite is also infinite. The quality is such, transcendental quality is such, the autonomy is such.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No Mahārāja, actually they came late last night.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So any new news with them?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Any news to report about [?]

Devotee: They're coming from San Francisco.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: San Francisco. And that is the zone of?

Devotees: Atreya Ṛṣi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Atreya Ṛṣi. Is he an Ācārya or GBC?

Devotee: GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: GBC. In whose jurisdiction: who is the Ācārya of the zone?

Devotee: There is no particular Ācārya in his zone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No Ācārya only GBC.

Devotee: Only GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Atreya Ṛṣi, that is that Persian gentleman?

Devotee: Persian, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And is it he who translated Bhagavad-gītā?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Arabic language or in Farsi?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Arabic it was translated, who translated?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any fresh news of the place? How long you are from there?

Devotee: Just about one week.

Devotee: They're all well, yes. Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja he's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! You have connection with Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja?

Devotee: Yes. I'm very much good friends with him. I've listened to eighteen of your first tapes, then nineteen, then I listened to eight of the second group of tapes. And then I had to come so I couldn't finish listening to them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja's śiṣya?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Ah! Swāmī Mahārāja's śiṣya. Isn't it? You've taken from Prabhupāda?

Devotee: Yes, both initiations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] [Group laughter]

Devotee: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja has found a very nice – they're buying a temple, they're getting a new temple where they can preach. Many devotees are going to come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] What is his name?

Devotee: This is Raghavendra.

Devotee: Raghavindu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raghavindu. That is another gentleman.

Swāmī Mahārāja?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he has started one independent centre for preaching, the Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, is it?

Devotee: He's going to start. He's in the process of getting a building. He has a very big building in mind, very big building.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Dayādhara Gaurāṅga is here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has come?

Devotee: Yes, just arrived.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, let him take seat also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gradual development in the lower direction.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So this is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The beginning, first beginning is with the, tabi?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Tabi jadi ei rup gatana kabu hoi asat sange guro
yogyata hoi koi [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! The madhyama Guru, madhyama-adhikārī, the Guru of middle stage, when he comes in connection with bad association, the association with the atheists, or some Māyāvādī scholars, or strī saṅga asat sādhu, anyone, by bad association he may come down. And so many things are to be traced in him and gradually he will come down to such a stage. In that case of course the śiṣya who has got sufficient sukṛti he can save him. Very rarely such things happen and it is most unfortunate. But still we may consider it to be fortunate when he gets out of that and comes to the real source again. Then forgetting all his past history he's to begin with new life, to save one's own self.

Necessity is the mother of invention. Necessity has no law. We may be misguided in the worldly sense also, in many places we may be misguided, and to awake from that association and to help us in a proper way. Of course this possibility is at every step. We are living beings, we are independent, we are endowed with free will, so free action, free decision is necessary at every step. And that is also uncertain what step I should take that it may be guaranteed that it will take me towards the right goal, right destination.

So it is necessary to select a guide. And sometimes if the – in the selection of the guide there is also some error, that is also misfortune. But again our internal, innate fortune helps us, comes out to help us again to be aware of the guide when you are walking to some tīrtha or some holy place. So if the guide on my way he may be influenced by bad motive then I'm to save in that case also. Of course which is very risky, still, self protection, self saving is indispensable so we are to do that. Before, previously I put my whole faith to one and I'm to withdraw from that and to take another independent guide. But still if necessity arises we cannot but do that: in this way. I shall consult it to be doubly sure. We must consult it whether – because I may be fallible – I am fallible rather, the śiṣya, the disciple considers himself to be fallible, and so he will consult with another expert guide.

“What to do? I am perplexed. I think that I should not keep any faith in my present guide. Perhaps he has become otherwise, his mentality has changed. Anyway I can't, I'm seeing so many signs around that I'm not able to put faith in that guide any longer. Please advise me what to do.”

In this way the intimate friends should be consulted. We may not put much faith within us. After consultation with so many intimate friends whom I can put confidence in, then by their assurance, and with also my internal voice, inner voice, my conscience, with all sincerity praying to the Lord that, “Please save me and give me another guide.” By the help of our friends we shall again try to cast ourselves. Confidence is necessary, śraddhā is necessary, guide is necessary. It is inevitable. Once I’m deprived of confidence, I’m betrayed, that does not mean that my whole life is to suffer from that betrayal. There must be good sense all around and the main power around, the higher power around is always eager to help us. So with all sincerity we must accept to our best understanding any other guide and to go on. Progress cannot be checked, and that is not desirable also, so we must go onward, even if necessary changing our guide on the way. From the practical life also we can gather such experience. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Any other question within this?

Devotee: Yes. Some devotees in America they would say on this point that they cannot understand how if the Guru is sākṣād-dhārī, then he no longer be sākṣād-dhārī. How can he stray? Then he was never Guru to begin with. They are saying like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When we adjust in this way, that Guru is within also, caitya Guru, and outside the mahanta Guru. But in our worldly life we also meet such things. In Bhāgavat also warning is given already:

gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt
daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta
mr̥tyum

[R̥ṣabhadeva says: “Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

Gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, so from here we can detect the underground possibility of changing Guru, and that may not be attributed to that side. We may try to apply it to my own weak side. It is due to my defect I have been connected with a mala fide idea. Anyhow by my sukṛti it is a test, we may take it as a test of sincerity in my progress towards the Divinity. So we may rather try to accuse our own fate, our own self, and that side there is a test of the Lord. So the gurur na sa syāt, when, this is admitted in Bhāgavatam and in many places, then there may be such instances in the practical affairs. So our faith in Guru also in this position it is clear that our faith in Guru should not be blind. Faith, the śraddhā, faith is not intrinsically a blind faith. Faith may be awake. It may be wakeful to its interest always, making progress.

bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra caiṣa trika eka-kālah prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo 'nughāsam

[“As with every mouthful an eater feels the threefold effects of his satisfaction, his stomach being filled, and his hunger being dispelled, in the same way when a surrendered soul serves the Lord he realises devotion of three natures simultaneously: devotion in love, the personal appearance of the Lord who is the abode of love, and detachment from all other things.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]

Tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo, when we are hungry we feel uneasiness, so by every morsel we take the uneasiness is removed, tuṣṭiḥ. Puṣṭiḥ, then when hungry we feel weakness. By every morsel gradually that weakness is removed. And kṣudapāyo, when hungry we feel a pain like something for eating more, and that earnestness for eating that also disappears, by step by step by every morsel.

So also when ordinarily we are in the progress of our spiritual life on the way we shall have three things experienced by every step, and carefully we are to measure. We are to feel for ourselves that whether we are making progress or not. This is the criterion. What are they? Bhakti, our attraction will, should increase with acceleration, bhakti. Pareśānubhavo, and we must get a sort of conception towards which I am approaching. First hazy then more clear, more clear, more clear, a sort of conception towards which I have more and more finer and accurate conception. I must receive as much as I shall progress, pareśānubhavo.

Anyatra viraktir, and withdrawal from the environment what was very tasteful to me, that won't have any taste for me, anyatra viraktir. My attraction for non God, for the world, that will decrease. That won't come to – if that sort of topics comes in I shall feel disturbed. No! So: bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, three things there must be when we are making journey. So these are tests and we must be wakeful, so sākṣād-dharitvena though, but still there is such possibility. We must not make too much faith in my experience, my knowledge which is gathered by the worldly experience. We must be alert always. So when some shock comes to me from the unexpected quarter, if we are wakeful to our real internal interest we must be awakened.

And then we shall consult with others. So many passengers are there, walking, so many companions, we may consult with them, that, “I have got that little, no confidence in the leader. What do you think? Am I wrong or am I right? You please also look at this.”

In this way we are to examine us and to do the necessary. The Guru within, the caitya Guru, he also cannot be neglected. And if one is sincere the caitya Guru must come in time to make him careful, give him warning. It is possible because the transaction of so many that are all free. And because the Gītā says:

“I am everywhere. I am nowhere. Everything is in Me. Nothing is in Me. Please mark the inconceivable mystic position of Mine with this world. I can be there, I can withdraw also.”

Such is the saying of His position anywhere and everywhere. So the free choice, the possibility of free choice not gone forever, but though we submit to Gurudeva that must be a conscious and healthy submission. Otherwise there may be so many misguided sorts, in different departments there are leaders, and in that particular jurisdiction they are seen to put much faith in the leader, political, social, and in other bad activity also. So everywhere there is leader. So this broad idea we must have and that is to our own interest and there is also so many sayings in the śāstra to give us caution that our progress may not be blind. Our own self is dearer than every connection with the environment for my interest. And ultimately the all-seer, all-omniscient Lord is there.

_____ [?] Any more question on the point?

Devotee: I remember one thing I noted that by listening to your tapes that you will – on this one tape you were saying that Śukadeva Goswāmī he had this conception of this, he saw the universe in the way that he described in the Bhāgavatam. Yet the materialist he sees subjectively the way the material scientists do. So in the same way if one tries to see the spiritual plane as it's described in the Bhāgavatam then it's to be understood that he comes to that platform even if he sees the faults...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: If there's one question at a time. It's too complicated.

Devotee: Is that a complicated question?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. You have to ask one very clear question.

Devotee: In other words, there's so much, it seems that it's so subjective to see the fault in a Vaiṣṇava, to reject the Guru, it's so much subjective. So many people who have the same conception they will come together and agree.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say? Finished? What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Devotees: Just simplify it.

Devotee: How do we know when we're being so much subjective, how can, is there any real objectivity in making decisions like this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally, the sign of deviation may be of three classes. First thing, if I can detect that my Gurudeva he's losing gradually his attraction for his own Guru, one.

And śāstra upadeśa, what he previously, what he expressed, his advices, quoting the scriptures, and quoting the advices, words of his own Guru, that is becoming gradually absent in him, his attraction, his feeling on the higher aspect, then that is pratiṣṭhā. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, these are the three tests to be put everywhere, whether one is a sādhu or not, or what degree of sādhu he is, the measurement will be pratiṣṭhā, kāmīnī, kanak, three, grossly. The first, the deviation of his higher Gurus, that should be detected, then, that is pratiṣṭhā. Then, more tendency to amass money, and not to spend the money. Money may be collected but that must be distributed for the service of the sampradāya, for the Lord, for propaganda, but not much attention to – for distribution, to utilise it in the service of the Guru and sampradāya, Vaiṣṇava but amassing money, second.

Third, attraction towards the ladies. Of course he may come in connection with money and women and also with pratiṣṭhā. Pratiṣṭhā means his own, the honour to him from the disciples; that is also necessary. But only to, for the purpose of divine object, divine Name, not for himself. But if we can detect that for his personal cause, interest, and not for the cause of the sampradāya he's utilising these things, then we can be, we should be careful. In the beginning we may neglect some occasions, some instances we may ignore. But if we find that more – then we are to inspect that carefully. And we are to put to persons similar to my position and after consultation and we can put it to the higher sources, other Ācārya also, who are reliable. Then when if we find that, 'Yes, what appeared to me first in a very small way, yes that is really, that is real and that is injurious and of big magnitude and he's going down.' Then to save myself I must try to take steps which may save me from that epidemic contamination. I shall try to save me. And also I can try to save others who fell prey to such exploitation like me. That will be with all sincerity.

But there is possibility and it is mentioned in the śāstra, and also practical examples are also there. So we must not make progress in a slumber.

But we must go forward with our eyes opened always opened. Because we must be confident that eyes more and more will be able to appreciate higher things, not only to finding faults with him. We shall keep our eyes towards the Vaiṣṇava, towards the Guru, not only for fault finding tendency there be, but new things must come to astonish us about the ways, their astonishing ways. There will be many things will be in that:

āścaryavat paśyati kaścīd enam, āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enam veda na caiva kaścīd

[“Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29]

[End of transcript dated 81.10.07.B_81.10.08.A] [Continuing with transcript dated 81.10.08.C] [Also found at the beginning of 81.10.08.B]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At every step it will show wonder, new wonder, ever new. Even it is written in Gītā only for the human soul. “You are, diving deep in the material experience of material things but you come in contact with the slight conception of your own soul you’ll be astounded. “Oh! Such sweet and such wonderful things may exist, and I am such, my soul, myself, is of such higher standard creation. Then what to speak about Paramātmā, Bhagavān, Kṛṣṇa and His paraphernalia?” Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we are not thieves, we must with our eyes open we must make progress. We won’t allow ourselves to be closed eye, making progress, not like that. Because where I am going, I’m approaching, that is above all test, all doubts.

Just as the other days I told I heard from Guru Mahārāja, that one boy is born in a dungeon within the prison house, and another man from outside coming to him and asking him, “Oh, come out to see the sun.”

He will take the light from there; that place. “Oh, you want to see the sun?”

“Yes, and let us take the light.”

“No, no! Light is not necessary to see the sun.”

“Eh? Am I a fool? That you will say and I will put confidence in that word. Nothing can be seen without the help of the light.”

Then he will take him forcibly out: “See the sun!” He’ll be astonished. “Oh!”

So we are making progress towards that direction, why we should not make progress with not closed eye. So much wonder to come in contact of that we cannot conjecture, we cannot suppose even, surpassing all our feelings of wonder, stranger, more stranger, more strange, it will come. Not only the adbhuta rasa, not only strange, naturally it’s character, but sweeter, more powerful, more powerful, more sweeter, more beautiful. In this way we are to appreciate. So with open eye, with open mind, we shall go. Not like a thief. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anything? Clear, am I clear?

Devotee: Very clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: I have a question, in regard to – what is the most important qualification for one who's attempting to write transcendental literature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In every case it is prayojana, to be sincerely linked, to have the link with the upper story. To set aside one's own experience, experience may also be used as example, but our faithful adherence to the higher source, that should be the attitude. We should pray, just as when we go to read any scripture I show respect, we worship the books, then we open the book and begin to read.

Prañipāta, paripraśna, sevā, if we want to come in connection of the higher zone then our attitude should be that of prañipāta, paripraśna, sevā. Prañipāta, that is surrender, and paripraśna, the keen understanding, our utmost earnestness to catch the thing, paripraśna. And sevā, I am doing it not to glorify myself but as a duty to my Gurudeva and the sampradāya and the Lord. That sort of temperament will keep connection; will connect with the higher sphere, self abnegation and earnestness to know, praśna, that living earnestness for new things, and also to be utilised for Him, and not to fulfil any purpose of this mundane zone.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...make a hateful agent mediator of the truth. Not black marketing. From this real source to take and to distribute, not black marketing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That should be the attitude of a writer, of a speaker, in every transaction of the higher sphere, our attitude of a mediator, transparent mediator. “The Guru is opaque and transparent,” it has been said by our Guru Mahārāja, “Opaque Guru and transparent Guru.” Opaque Guru the trader: the Yati Goswāmī and the vaṁśa paramparā, opaque Gurus continuing a trade in the name of becoming a transmitter. [?]

Vidagdha Mādhava: Vidagdha dāsa!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Vidagdha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Anything?

Vidagdha Mādhava: In yesterday’s Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam the verse stated – Kṛṣṇa: “Everything is within Kṛṣṇa, but Kṛṣṇa is not in everything.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! “Nothing in Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa is nowhere!” It is in Gītā: mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, [jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ]

[“In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9. 4]

“I am everywhere.” Mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā, mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni. “Everything in Me.” Mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā, mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ. Paśya me yogam aiśvaram [Bhagavad-gītā, 9. 5]. “Your ordinary intelligence cannot understand; acintya.”

So Mahāprabhu kept the word acintya-bhedābheda because the connection depends on His sweet will. He’s free of the free. Absolute freedom is only with Him.

Vidagdha Mādhava: But Mahārāja, if someone is trying to develop śāstric vision he wants to see Kṛṣṇa everywhere. Kṛṣṇa has entered into every atom and He’s also pervading in the Brahman aspect. So how do we see that He is not in everything?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] He's adhokṣaja and you are being a finite of the finite you cannot comprehend, you cannot have the audacity to comprehend everything within your fist. The first condition is this that you are going; the finite is going to measure the infinite. There should be a limit, up to nth term, mathematics going many steps finished, then up to nth term, recurring, something like that. As much as He will, His existence is of such nature that when He selects you to make any part to be known by you then you can know, otherwise you are helpless. That is your position, or that is our position. Such things exist and if you have such faith in you then you have got śraddhā and only through that faith you can connect with Him, otherwise we are atheist. Atheist means self deceived. Do you follow?

Vidagdha Mādhava: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You can't finish, that you can know the whole thing. The first condition, He's adhokṣaja and you are finite, I am, we are finite, and how can we be bold that we shall know every detail of Him, bold enough. It is audacity. That is foolishness. That is suicidal, to think like that. So Bhāgavat has given warning in many places.

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā [namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām
bhavadīya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vāñ-manobhir, ye
prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

The curiosity you have to banish that you will know so many things and you will make Him the object of your trade, that whenever you want and He will come and He will help your trading. Trade in God is not possible. Only when He makes Him to distribute Him through you, through me, then that is possible, otherwise not. The whole thing is within His fist, the whole independent. And that is desirable. And any innocent person should admit that. Should admit that, “Yes, we are finite, and the infinite, so I must have some limit and my hankering for Him, my faith, and His independent step towards me, everything depends on that.”

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, [tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

[“One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone’s heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him.”] [Kāṭha Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

Such things exist in our infinitely higher position with higher merits infinitely. And we can connect only through faith, śraddhāmayo 'yam loka, and not reason, not knowledge drawn from experience of worldly things. Adhokṣaja. If we can have some faith for that higher unknown and unknowable transcendental, then we shall come to have enquiry how we can be utilised for His purpose and get out of this non faithful environment contamination.

My master is Absolute. That should encourage my campaign about my quest, my search, my service, give impetus to my serving attitude that He's Absolute, He's infinite. And I must try to avoid any connection with all the finite matters. I should rather hate the finite things. Enough, enough done of finite things from so many births in the past, enough done with this – with our association with things that are mortal, that can come in our control. We have become king, we have become Indra, the king of the whole world, Brahmā, so many positions we have already experienced we are told. So masters of this mundane world, that position also we experienced and again we are here, and again we may have to go to the life of a worm or an insect. In such uncertain possibility of our degraded position we are in the midst of, so our all attention should be to remain in connection with the highest, which is invulnerable, immeasurable, whose sweetness, knowledge, everything is immeasurable. To keep connection in the association of such centre we shall try to maintain our position, unknown and unknowable. But with some comprehension that is good and beneficial.

Paripraśna, honest enquiry, which is really necessary for my present spiritual purpose. And also when I'm in the sampradāya I shall have to educate others with that, about that, so with honest sincerity we may enquire into the meaning of the scripture. But u-jñāna and ati-jñāna in Upaniṣad [?] That our attempt to make Him the criminal, prisoner, we won't try to make Him prisoner of our own particular cell of knowledge in the brain. We should not attempt like that. All we shall know and all we shall – the more we know, the more we'll know about His infinite character, so our attitude should be that of:

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

I'm smaller and smaller. The conception of the bigger relativity will necessarily help us to think ourselves to be the smallest of the small. And only through faith we can connect with Him, nothing else, no knowledge.
Karma, jñāna, futile, yoga, any ascending attempt is sure to meet with failure, ascending method. So:

bhaktyāham ekayā grāhyaḥ [śraddhayātmā priyaḥ satām bhaktiḥ punāti man-niṣṭhā śvapākān api sambhavāt]

["I, who am dear to the sādhus, can be reached only by devotion born of unalloyed faith. Even a dog flesh-eating out caste who dedicates himself to exclusive devotion for Me is delivered from the influence of the wretched circumstances of his birth."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.21]

Only through devotion, only through dedication, and dedication; that 'die to live.'

Śrīdhara Swāmī has given the important explanation.

śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇaṁ pāda-sevanam arcanam vandanam dāsyam, sakhyam ātma-nivedanam. iti puṁsārpitā viṣṇau,
bhaktiś cen nava-lakṣaṇā

[kriyeta bhagavaty addhā tan manye 'dhītam uttamam]

["Hearing about Kṛṣṇa, chanting Kṛṣṇa's glories, remembering Kṛṣṇa, serving Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet, worshipping Kṛṣṇa's transcendental form, offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa, becoming Kṛṣṇa's servant, considering Kṛṣṇa as one's best friend, and surrendering everything to Kṛṣṇa - these nine processes are accepted as pure devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.23-24]

I'm listening to Hari kathā, about Him, but my attitude will be that what benefit I shall draw from such listening, who will be the owner of that? Who will be the beneficiary? Not myself but my Lord. I am a slave. I'm in no position of beneficiary in me. Then it will be bhakti, devotion, a part of devotion. It will have recognition to be devotion that whatever I receive I'm not beneficiary. He will be beneficiary. The good or bad it will go to Him, the śravaṇa, kīrtana, every action for His satisfaction. I may die, I may live, it does not matter. And the highest risk we find that when gopīs were asked to give their feet dust for the head of Kṛṣṇa when He played with some tactics.

"That take some feet dust of a devotee and that will cure My headache."

So such self abnegation and such degree of self surrendering, we have nothing, a slave to such a degree. If we accept such creed then we may be allowed to enter into that higher domain. Otherwise we shall enter and we shall loot, begin looting there. So such degree of slavery is to be, that bond should be signed within the heart. We must mind it, we must be reminded at every step. So dedication and dedication of such degree is necessary, and not by calculation that is in the beginning and spontaneous in Braja. We have come in connection with such noble life, conception of such nobility, self abnegation of such degree, such news, so noble a life, selfless life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And there we gain most, ha, ha, ha. There, in that position we are the highest gainer, we are told by the experts of the world, of that world. Ha, ha, ha. Gaura Hari. So not only direct dāsyā to Kṛṣṇa – those that can dedicate to such a degree, to make them beneficiary, that is another, kiṅkarā, Rādhā-kiṅkarā, higher than that, Kṛṣṇa kiṅkarā. Rādhā kiṅkarā is higher than Kṛṣṇa kiṅkarā, because who has dedicated most to the Kṛṣṇa to dedicate they're not in direct contact with Kṛṣṇa. That fetches us the highest valuation, we are told by our masters. Rādhikā Madhavaśan. Our aspiration is there, tied there in their feet, of their Guru. Servitor of the servitor of the servitor of the servitor; in this way the progress comes.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de rādhāra mahimā, praveśa cāturī sāra baraja yuvatī bhāvera bhakati śakati hoita kārā]

[Vāsudeva Datta/Ghosh]

The dignity, such dignity in life to such a degree of self abnegation, self surrendering, self dedication, of different degree, classification, quality, all these things, Mahāprabhu has taken down from that highest quarter of the globe to here. And those who have got inner appreciation for this they say: “Oh! If Mahāprabhu did not come with the news of all these things, how could we live?” He’s a child of that soil, so says: “Without this how could I live?” Just as a fish will say, “Without water how can I live?” So a child of that soil he says: “How could we live if Śrī Caitanyadeva graciously did not bring the news about the real sustaining point, sustaining drop of our inner life? Wonderful!”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: We have heard it said by our Guru Mahārāja that yourself and himself were the only two people qualified to translate the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, and give commentary on the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he had such confidence in me. He was my intimate association and we had many discussions, when I lived at Calcutta just as his next door neighbour, so much discussion, he had such faith in me. By the grace of the Absolute finishing such a great work: now he's above. I'm left here.

Devotee: So we are feeling, if he had such faith then it's only right that we have such faith also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he had some faith in me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I can't deny that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. And in his last days also he expressed that, “Two quarters side by side will be built there, and you will live in one and in the next I shall live.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Birds of the same feather flock together.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A common interest has drawn us near. Our common attraction has brought us nearer, closer. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: So there's still a lot of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam to translate and purport on.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?] [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My Guru Mahārāja told, his remark to me: “Ease lover.” You are extorting things from me.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deposited perhaps with me. You have come. Perhaps it was meant for you all, don't know. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. What's the time?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Five past nine.

Devotee: Mahārāja, could you tell us something about service, doing sixteen rounds in a day, and selling some books, is that enough to achieve Lord?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow to try to increase our inner affinity towards the cause. So when external services are absent we can go even more counting, and when very busy in the service, may be less, that does not matter much. But serving, service is necessary and which may increase our serving tendency. The Name is advised in a general way, “Take the Name.” Name, to count Name:

[aghaccit-smaranam visnor-bahvayasena sadhyate] austhaspandana-matrena kirtanatu tato varam

[“The remembrance of Viṣṇu certainly cuts sin to pieces, but it is very difficult to attain perfection through remembering Viṣṇu. Only after great effort is such remembrance possible. However, simply by moving the lips, there is the kīrtana of the Holy Name of Viṣṇu, and therefore kīrtana is the topmost process of devotional service.”] [Hari-bhakti-vilasa, 11.453] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 17.19]

To take the Name within, that is less important. And if our, the vibration is in the lips then it will be more, of higher type, that is utilisation, the vibration created around, more useful. And then, chanting in high sound, that will be more helpful to help the environment, so many, the vibration. And in the form of the book, that is Nāma-mahāta. Counting Name that is a difficult thing, that is cultivation about the Name, about the sound. Through the sound means which is one with substance, the meaning of the sound, to cultivate about that, anuśilana. That may be in the beads, that may be in preaching, and even by medium of the distribution of the books. That is also, that is preaching the noble position, the unique, purifying position of the Name. When I'm delivering lecture, or when I'm writing an article, enhancing the nobility of the Name, the higher purifying tendency of the Name, that is also kīrtana, Nāma-kīrtana. It is going to propagate the greatness of the Holy Name, so that is also chanting, chanting. Though the purpose, the real object is to be marked, and where I am engaged. If I'm very busy in other services of the Name, the counting may be reduced to in a lower position that it won't be of any bad effect there. Anyhow to engage Nāma-kīrtana, taking Name, to keep me engaged with the Divine Sound. Through Divine Sound we can easily enter into the domain of the transcendental realm, passing knowledge, then worship, love, etc.

Namna namnasya anta kala sudha tama vekam suri teja nama rupa sash
bhuva tas bhavati Tato rupa sash bhuvane [?]

Then:

Gunanam suranam suriteja gunay parikar vaisistham jayate tato līlā atat
param lilayam pravesha [?]

So for a beginner that sort of rule that you must take. You are engaged in the worldly affairs you must take at least so many rounds. You must make time at least for this. But when one's fully engaged in the purpose of the truth, to spread the greatness, the purpose of the Name, the scripture, only this formal counting may not have any great importance in his life. He's the wholesale here within the Name, they're doing service of the Name, and the counting also must be of a serving tendency there must be. Otherwise there will be aparādhā, there will be ābhāsa, so many possibilities there. Anyhow to go on deep into the service of the Divine Sound, to spread the Divine Sound, and to stop this mundane sound which is the medium of so many busy activities of this mundane world. The mundane sound flow waves should be, transformed, should be, not transformed, should be replaced with the waves of Divine Sound. They're full of mundane sound but Divine Sound must take place throwing them off the mundane sound, and the benefit will get everywhere where there is animation and with little faith. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Vidagdha Mādhava: Mahārāja, isn't the purpose of the process to chant the Name purely? Doesn't that mean that we should chant a prescribed number of rounds or endeavour to chant as much as possible the Holy Name?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No! Not to increase the number of counting in the beads. That is a stereotype dead thing. But the living counting and so many other signs will be shown. It is not limited within the physical sound that my lips produce. It has an extensive and infinite innate acquaintance of that Name. Only that counting and that bead and that particular sound that my tongue produces, it is not limited there. It holds within it the whole transcendental world we may see. It will give us connection with that. The medium sound we shall try to go in, to enter, into the domain, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, so many...

...

I'm not clear, sufficiently?

Devotee: Only problem is, this you see, I'm not that much qualified to read the scripture or Sanskrit words, you know, so I thought maybe this chanting is more important for a illiterate man like me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And gradually it must have life. A living counting will take us closer to the substance, not only the external sound in the cover. The substance within, the Name, nāma, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, within the sound, and we must be acquainted with, introduced with all the full Name. Eh?

Devotee: We are not to increase the quantity, but to increase quality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! Quality!

Devotee: And if at the same time quantity and quality we can please that is all well and good, isn't it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No! That depends upon the sweet will of the Lord on the direction from the up. Haridāsa Ṭhākura he concentrated to the counting more, but Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, not so much concentrated to the counting. As directed by the above it will be of such importance. Not equal in all cases. To show example to different types of men, different ideas have been set here. But we appreciate more the services of Rūpa Sanātana than that of Haridāsa Ṭhākura. But Haridāsa Ṭhākura's example is also necessary for a particular group.

Devotee: For the conditioned souls.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And we do not think that the gopī's in Vṛndāvana they're always counting the Name of Kṛṣṇa. [Group laughter] One Name is sufficient to make them mad. [Group laughter] More than that!

Devotee: That's the difference between goṣṭhyānandī and bhajanānandī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Goṣṭhyānandī and bhajanānandī, that is in the sādhana stage. Then after entering there as type and nature of service is distributed then to go on with that. To discharge one's own quota of duty, that is full in itself. In different departments there, different departments of service, and in particular departments also there are so many sub divisions. Now to be posted in a particular serving office, there he gets the most, he or she, meant for him. Different groups, śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā, and there are divisions of divisions, so many. And may want much water, but my thirst for one glass, that is, I do not need more, then there'll be disease, reaction. Akarsa nanta yajaya śakti [?] The infinite boundless sky and the birds are flying according to their capacity, according to their heart's necessity they can fly, then take rest.

Mahāprabhu says to Rūpa Goswāmī, "The boundless ocean of nectar divine, and one drop I am giving to you." Then He says, "This one drop is sufficient to inundate, over flood the whole of the universe."

So the point of infinite is infinite. It is of such nature. An atom of infinite is also infinite. The quality is such, transcendental quality is such, the autonomy is such.

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. So Venkatta Prabhu were... and?

Devotee: Kaśirāma dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaśirāma.

Devotee: Vṛndāvana dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vṛndāvana.

Devotee: Mukundamālā dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukundamālā.

Devotee: Raghavindu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raghavindu.

Devotee: Garuttama dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So come nearer. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.
Who will begin?

Devotee: I have a question. I'd like to know, it's said that everything...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Gaura Haribol. So, what's your question?

Devotee: We try to accept everything that our Śrīla Prabhupāda has told us...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Very slow!

Devotee: And we understand that Guru, śāstra, and sādhu, but some things when the Guru speaks, sometimes he's not speaking of spiritual topics. Sometimes he's making a comment about politics or history, something like that. Then is it required to accept everything that the Guru says verbatim, literally?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You'll have to represent.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both, sādhu, śāstra, Guru, all, they deal purely in spiritual matters, and to make us understand that spirituality they sometimes give examples concerning political and social and other instances, to help us to understand. So that sort of value we must take from his social and political talks. Only to make us intelligible they come to say about politics. But politics actually is also included, sociology also included, within the religion. Independent of spiritual conception nothing may remain, in the Kṛṣṇa consciousness at least, it includes everything. And whatever is favourable to Kṛṣṇa consciousness it is true to that degree. And in higher stage it will be seen that the whole thing is true. In the middle stage it may seem that it is different. We are to differentiate the spiritual side from the material side. But in the higher stage we shall see that whatever is contributing anything to the spiritual truth that is true all in response. You can't follow?

Devotee: I understand what you're saying.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: During Ratha-yatra Mahāprabhu dancing before Jagannātha and He was singing an ordinary poem from a particular epic. The meaning of that poem is that there is one lady who before her marriage she met one boy and enjoyed him on the banks of some river and there was some jungle. But that lady is again married to that same man. And the lady says, "That in my, before marriage I met the person and he's my husband now. And the night is also beautiful with full moon, and so many flowers scents also around. But my mind is always being attracted to that child play with my husband before our marriage, attracting me to the bank in the jungle of that river.” This is the meaning of the poem. And Mahāprabhu singing that when chanting that poem when dancing madly before Jagannātha. Only Svarūpa Dāmodara understood the real purpose of His chanting. Rūpa Goswāmī came there that year and he took the gist of the poem and then he composed another poem with the meaning of that poem, the abstract of that poem, the parallel, the real thought he took from the reflection and he composed a śloka. And that runs in this way:

priyaḥ so 'yaṁ kṛṣṇaḥ saḥacari kuru-kṣetra-militas [tathāhaṁ sā rādhā tad idam ubhayoḥ saṅgama-sukham tathāpy antaḥ-khelan-madhura-muralī-pañcama-juṣe mano me kālindī-pulina-vipināya sprhayati]

[Upon arriving in Kurukṣetra, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī said: “O My dear friend, now I am at last reunited with My most beloved Kṛṣṇa in Kurukṣetra. I am the same Rādhārāṇī, and He is the same Kṛṣṇa. We are enjoying Our meeting, but still I wish to return to the banks of the Kālindī, where I could hear the sweet melody of His flute sounding the fifth note beneath the trees of the Vṛndāvana forest.”] [Padyāvalī, 383]

That Mahāprabhu though outwardly He’s chanting that ordinary śloka, in an epic, but His meaning is towards this, that when Rādhārāṇī has come in contact in Kurukṣetra for the time being with Kṛṣṇa, She thought, it is Her thought, priyaḥ so 'yaṁ kṛṣṇaḥ saḥacari kuru-kṣetra- militas. “O My friends, in this Kurukṣetra I have met My beloved. Tathāhaṁ sā rādhā tad idam. I am that same Rādhā and He is the same Kṛṣṇa. But My mind is always snatching Me to the environment of Vṛndāvana. I can’t enjoy My beloved here. Antaḥ-khelan-madhura-muralī- pañcama-juṣe, mano me kālindī-pulina-vipināya sprhayati. At the banks in the jungle on the banks of Yamunā My mind is always running towards that. Though Kṛṣṇa is there, I am also here, and We can see one another, but still I don’t feel – I feel very much uneasiness. My mind is always taking, running towards that.”

This was the real purpose Mahāprabhu felt and He danced madly. But outwardly He was using only as a show a poem which is found in the ordinary epic book. Do you follow? So:

vana dekhi’ bhrama haya – ei ‘vṛndāvana’, [śaila dekhi’ mane haya – ei ‘govardhana’]

[“When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu passed through the Jhārikhaṇḍa forest, He took it for granted that it was Vṛndāvana. When He passed over the hills, He took it for granted that they were Govardhana.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 17.55]

When one is completely established in his spiritual svarūpa then whatever he sees here in the external environment that only takes him forcibly to the spiritual consciousness, this only gives some sort of excitement. Any forest, Vṛndāvana comes in his memory. Any hillock, Govardhana comes, and at once that loving pasture pastimes of the Rādhā-Govinda. Only a hint is suffice to take him, the whole līlā to him.

So, we may take the help of these worldly things, but our mind should be directed with the slight help that we’ll get there from example. It should be pushed towards the spiritual realm. To make it clear they give some examples of this material world. So it is necessary, and really, this has got such value, the pure spiritualist no other value he sees in anything but in connection with Kṛṣṇa. All things are nothing to him. It is giving some excitement, some hint, and that is the real value. No other value it has got for him. It is only meant, it is only created to give some hint to the truth, and all else, misconception. The conception of the exploitationist and of the renunciationist, their estimation about the environment all false! Can’t you follow?

They're misunderstanding. Only Kṛṣṇa consciousness, one who is established in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, his perception, his surveying about the environment is true cent per cent. And others, standing in the land of exploitation, or in the principle of renunciation, their estimation about the environment, their looking, their knowledge, everything is false, because that is misunderstanding of a particular thing which is not real. Īśāvāsyam, everything is meant to serve Kṛṣṇa. That is the full truth. Any deviation from that, misunderstanding! Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you all? Do you understand?

Devotees: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The fullest estimation of the whole must be, or cannot but be in the interest of Kṛṣṇa and His līlā. All others, thrust on them, they're not meant for that. Bhāgavata [1.1.1] says: artheṣu abhijñāḥ svarāt. The meaning of every incident, every existence, He knows only fully well. What we estimate that is false, partial, not full estimation, full knowledge of anything, even of a dust, of a grass, a blade of grass, all misconception because calculated for our interest as individuals or group. Everything calculated in the interest of Kṛṣṇa; that is it's true.

Īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat tena tyaktena [bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam]

[“Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong.”] [Śrī Īsopaniṣad, 1]

And we are to conceive anything and everything in accordance with that. How Kṛṣṇa, what is the, how Kṛṣṇa has tasted the thing I must follow that, pursue that. Not I am tasting as a master of anything, whether sweet or bitter, anything else. Everything, come in consonance with the real conception. That Hegel said, “For Itself, the Reality is for Itself.” Kṛṣṇa is for Himself. Everything is for Him, to fulfil His purpose, and that of none else. But to have such conception, and also, prasādam means in accordance with that conception the local conception they are true. Subtle points, but it is not unreasonable, quite reasonable. The partial conception must be in consonance with the universal conception. I can’t go against that. I can’t clash, have any clash. So the conception of the devotee: suppose Kṛṣṇa has taken some prasādam and we must not have any independent taste of that prasādam. We shall think how Kṛṣṇa has tasted it, accordingly, with that memory, that remembrance, we shall take the taste of a curry or anything else. Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So every, all our attempts should be regulated, should be contained in this way, tena tyaktena bhuñjīthā, whatever I shall do, just having consent, and consonance, and submission. In this way our position should always be in every respect our attitude will be such, not independently, not to neglect. Independent exploitation or whimsical renunciation, both artificial and bad, injurious for our selfish end: good, individual goodness.

Tyajya sishtasana santo musyanti [?] Only by having a look, a mind of estimation, estimating in such a way about the environment, that Autocrat Absolute, His position, and we are His slave. With the eye of a slave we must look at anything and everything. That should be the proper estimation of the environment. “I am independent. I can enjoy. I can dismiss.” These are all artificial forms of life, disconnected with the absolute will and administration. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Yes, any more?

Devotee: If somebody accepts that everything is for Kṛṣṇa but they have this, many people have different conceptions of Kṛṣṇa, even if they accept Bhagavān realisation as the topmost, still they have different realisations of Kṛṣṇa. And, how does one get the proper realisation of Kṛṣṇa? Just like when people read our Śrīla Prabhupāda’s books they come up with so many different things. It’s hard to know which devotees are on track and which are not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he? I forgot his name.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Raghavindu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raghavindu. What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Leaving aside the question of the devotee, then outside that, how you’ll explain them, about the different considerations and realisations of different persons? How are you to explain, setting aside the question of the devotee?

Devotee: Setting aside the question of the devotee?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Independent variety, variegatedness.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: Right! They say to do different things [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Amongst atheists also there is classification. Classification and high and low that is everywhere we are to see. And that is eternal. Eternal difference there will be, one thing. And the – how the Kṛṣṇa consciousness originates? What do you think about that? God consciousness, theism, how it comes to a jīva soul, how does it come?

Devotee: Descending process.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The general feeling, general consideration of theism, how does it come to a man? What do you think about that?

Devotee: It comes from up to down.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I've explained here many a time that sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā, then sādhu-saṅga, then bhajana-kriya. In this way it develops. The first stage of development coming in contact with devotion proper, by this nirguṇa we are wandering in saguṇa, in the land of misconception we are wandering. And proper conception may come to me through a proper agent, by chance coincidence, when any agent of the nirguṇa world. But Kṛṣṇa consciousness is the cent per cent proper consciousness, true consciousness. And we are labouring under misconception. And when any agent from that plane comes to contact with me and I'm utilised by him, thereby I gather a sort of, a drop of that land of that nirguṇa, that is transcendental. And that is accumulated and then produces śraddhā in me. Then with consciousness comes over the surface and finds, captures him, 'that I have got some particular regard for the Supreme, Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa, thereby.'

When a patient has no knowledge he cannot cooperate with the doctor. But doctor should try him independent of his cooperation. Then when his knowledge comes back, then the patient can cooperate with the doctor. But when he has lost his consciousness, everything depends on the doctor.

So when we are completely devoid of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, at that time the Vaiṣṇavas there, the agents of the transcendental realm they're moving hither thither [?] And by their connection we get some injection, unknowingly. And that supplies the subconscious help. And when that is sufficiently accumulated it takes us to the surface and we search after sādhu. And generally, according to the nature of the injected medicine I will have to love the servitors of particular school. And this is general.

And also it is seen that, suppose when I was, I had no knowledge and a doctor came and gave some wrong injection, not proper injection, then I may develop a sort of knowledge but that is flickering, not durable. Then again a good doctor may come and give some other injection. There I may come in the normal health and cooperate. It is also possible.

So from the beginning one may, a soul may have sukr̥ti towards Kṛṣṇa and otherwise when moving hither thither in the wrong way then also by the company of the sādhu he may change his direction for other direction towards Kṛṣṇa, on the way.

Bilvamaṅgala we find he first went to a Māyāvādī sādhu [?] took initiation there, but by the special grace of Kṛṣṇa he was converted into Kṛṣṇa consciousness fully. Śukadeva also had some tendency towards nirviśeṣa Brahman, but by the grace of Vedavyāsa he was taken in towards Kṛṣṇa līlā.

And there may be many such type, and there may be so many karmīs, they also may be turned by the help of some sādhu on the way. And from the beginning some may have their particular kind of sukr̥ti that came from the Kṛṣṇa bhakta. They will straightly go to Kṛṣṇa eliminating other ideas which are non Kṛṣṇa. In many ways it may happen, it may be effected. But sukr̥ti, ādau śraddhā, śraddhā just on the surface, that we search after a thing by getting which I can get everything, by knowing which I may know everything. If I've got such a faith in me then I've got śraddhā, I get śraddhā. And then I shall search for such company, favourable company where if I get a particular one thing the whole thing is known, if I know one whole thing known, get one whole got. Such faith occurs within us we find, then it is śraddhā, and with the help of that śraddhā we go to particular camp and there gradually we get help to go on, advance, ādau śraddhā. And before that:

[bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate]

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukr̥taiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ

[“Actually we can recognise a sādhu by sukṛti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhu, and the sādhu gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhu and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhu holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhu, but to know who is Guru, who is sādhu, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhu, both of the Guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads.”]
[Bṛhan-Nāradya Purāṇa]

Previous sukṛti, that unconscious help from the agents of Kṛṣṇa that are moving all around to help jīva soul, this is the arrangement of Kṛṣṇa. “Move, go there and try to help those that are wandering in the wilderness, in darkness.” So independent of us we get some help by the grace of the Vaiṣṇava and then we gather some subconscious capacity and we come in a stage to judge what is wrong and right. Then consciously we keep company with the sādhu and then we develop our bhajan and gradually we attain the [?] that is the real course.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Devotee: I have one question. In the Caitanya-caritāmṛta it is said that the Vedas describe three things, abhidheya, sambandha and prayojana. And it says also that there are three Deities presiding over these different aspects of knowledge, Govindaji, Madana-mohana and Gopīnāthaji. I was hoping that you could explain this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where do you come from?

Devotee: Where do I come from?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Devotee: Los Angeles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Los Angeles. Why I can understand your voice clearly? But generally I can't, I fail to understand the intonation of so many. Have you received dīkṣā?

Devotee: Yes. I took first initiation from Swāmī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Devotee: Then I took second initiation from Rāmeśvara Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmeśvara Swāmī. Oh! You are Mukundamālā dāsa?

Devotee: Yes. I'm Mukundamālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu took initiation from Īśvara Purī and in his, that mantram that dīkṣā mantram, only the last portion was there, that Gopīnātha, gopī-jana-vallabha, last portion.

But Mahāprabhu advised Sanātana Goswāmī, when He advised to prepare a book, Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, for all these affairs, He told that aṣṭa-dvādaśakam mantra, this is twelve lettered. And Mahāprabhu Himself asked Sanātana Goswāmī to describe the greatness more magnanimous and clear type of mantra, aṣṭa-dvādaśakam, composed of eighteen letters. And Sanātana Goswāmī has given, recommended that to us.

And our Guru Mahārāja he's following that, though in the lineage of some of the Yati Goswāmī, still it is found that they're following that Mahāprabhu mantra, that twelve lettered.

Here Sanātana Goswāmī has given us the detailed necessity, analysed and given us the detailed necessity. Sambandha, that is Kṛṣṇa and Madana-mohana synonymous, only attraction, mainly attraction. And then in the next stage to fulfil the purpose of all his sensibility, to capture, hold it, cooperate, that is the second. First to attract and then to cooperate with all sorts of faculties within the jīva by Kṛṣṇa, and the third stage, not only that temporarily but to keep him under His care for eternity. It has been differentiated in three parts.

The sambandha, first to come in the recognition, recognised as a relationship with Kṛṣṇa, that is the first stage, sambandha-jñāna, that Madana-mohana or Kṛṣṇa. In that stage we are to look at Him like that. And the second, Govinda, go means indriya, and vinda, all the senses, all the knowing faculties of us, they search after their fulfilment. And that fulfilment of all the knowing faculties is supplied by whom? Wholesale, nothing left. And the Govinda, go, indriya, indriya means senses require something for their satisfaction in the spiritual aspect of our life, and that is done by Govinda. Ke?

Devotee: Śaṅkara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śaṅkara [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That aspect of the Lord is Govinda [?] Who takes possession of our enjoying and satisfying, that aspect of the Lord. And also go means Veda. We find from the Veda the positive answer of our internal search. We want to be satisfied. We are dissatisfied, want to be satisfied wholesale, and Veda says, “Yes. That sort of arrangement there is.” From Veda and from indriya, go vinda.

And the third is gopī-jana-vallabha, we are converted into the ego of gopī and attracted by Kṛṣṇa. In its highest stage we may feel that we are similar temperament with the gopī and then we are permanently taken, accepted in that relationship forever, gopī-jana-vallabha, as eternal friend of the gopīs. In that way we can feel Him, eternal shelter under His holy feet.

So three aspects expresses three types of developed stage of bhajan! Do you understand?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sambandha, abhidheya, prayojana. Sambandha means general who is who, come in conclusion of the settlement of that affair. Then abhidheya, the transaction between the two parties, fulfiller and fulfilled, of the internal search. And third, to have a permanent abode under His care. It is divided into three parts, sambandha, abhidheya, prayojana. What is prayojana? The highest necessity to secure a quarter under His guardianship forever: that is our prayojana. And bhakti, sambandha, abhidheya, and prayojana; that love, to get secure that sort of love of Kṛṣṇa that we may have a permanent shelter under His care there forever.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, could you relate one story about Viśvanātha Cakravartī. He was not able to understand the Gāyatrī mantra, one half aksha [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kāma Gāyatrī, yes. What is that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I think he had performed some tapasya at Govinda-kuṇḍa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-kuṇḍa. What is the point you want to mention?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: If you could relate the story clearly, the incident.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you remember that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No, I do not remember that. No one's ever...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But remember the story?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I've read it but never heard it spoken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I also can't recollect it at present. It will take time to recollect. I have also read, gone through that Kāma Gāyatrī [?] Kāma Gāyatrī.

So, that may be an external grammarian problem. It is mentioned that the number of the words will be such, fixed, but if you say I find that it crosses the limit of the number. How it can be? Kavirāja Goswāmī has given, mentioned about the number of letters in the mantram. But when ordinarily we are reading that mantra we find that one is, one letter super... it's more in that. Then he, that it cannot be that Kavirāja Goswāmī has given false representation, but we find actually the letters number is more than that, what he has written. Then he was, in a dream, he got inspiration that according to the particular grammar, Sanskrit grammar, the law after such a letter that is silent. Something like that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: One half more.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be silent, considered not to be pronounced, something like that, a question of grammar. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gadādhara.

Devotee: You mentioned before about the twelve letter mantra, that Caitanya Mahāprabhu, Caitanya mantra, and then you said that there was an eighteen letter mantra that Sanātana Goswāmī gave. I'm not exactly clear on which mantra that was, they were.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eighteen lettered, aṣṭa-dvādaśaka mantra recommended by Sanātana Goswāmī, inspired by Mahāprabhu. But Mahāprabhu Himself got only twelve lettered mantram from Īśvara Purīpāda, only latter portion, eliminating the first two, the conclusion. But it presupposes the first two parts; that is presupposed. But Mahāprabhu advised Sanātana Goswāmī to clearly mention about the first two parts also of general devotees, and Sanātana Goswāmī did so. And we follow that path. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: So that mantra...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is mentioned in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa.

81.10.10.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Devotee: ...God brothers or God sisters by hearing spiritual instructions from someone other than their spiritual master, dīkṣā spiritual master, and what should be the attitude of the dīkṣā giving spiritual master when he sees his disciples are advancing by hearing instructions from a śikṣā Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his name?

Devotee: Guruttama dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guruttama. That will be of two kinds, taṭa-stha, absolute, or apekhi, or relative. Absolute will have the better hand everywhere, that absolute consideration. But there is a relative position also and formally and generally we come in contact with that. The general consideration is the brother and son, brother nephew, as we find in the external world, so such respect should be given, such differences should be maintained. That the brother of my Gurudeva, so he should be given some respect, the brother of Gurudeva, Guru's God brother of one's own Guru, he should be given such respect. And he also in his turn should show some affection to help him in a general way so that he may un prejudicially whether he may have exclusive devotion towards his Guru: won't try to take him away, to attract more attention towards him than his Guru. These things should not be done by the God brother of the Guru. Fair dealings generally should be maintained, the difference, respect. But the special consideration, the absolute consideration: wherever there the intense pure devotee is to be traced, he's Guru. That is the absolute consideration. That is of course dangerous. Even a śiṣya may hold a greater position than Guru; it may also be seen like that. He has come to accept for formal purpose.

īśvara-purīke dhanya, korilen śrī-caitanya, jagad-guru gaura mahāprabhu [Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, the spiritual preceptor of all the worlds, made īśvara Purī greatly fortunate by accepting him as His spiritual master]

[From Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura's Śrī Guru-paramparā, 5]
[Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 90]

Mahāprabhu took initiation from Īśvara Purī. But who is Mahāprabhu and who is Īśvara Purī? The Lord Himself, Kṛṣṇa accepted Guru as Sandīpanī. Mahāprabhu accepted sannnyāsa Guru as Keśava Bhāratī. Formal things we are shown. Then we should give some respect to Īśvara Purī but not more than Mahāprabhu. We may show some respect to Keśava Bhāratī but not more than Mahāprabhu: to Sandīpanī but not more than Kṛṣṇa.

The absolute consideration and the formal, both there, and so absolute consideration even... We find that after the departure of Mahāprabhu the Purī Rādhā-Kānta Matha where Mahāprabhu resided for long time, twenty four years, that was given to Vakreśvara Paṇḍita, and his disciple was Dhyānacandra, disciple of Vakreśvara Paṇḍita. After Vakreśvara, Dhyānacandra, he was the Ācārya of that place. He had one disciple whose name was Gopāla. But Dhyānacandra used to take Hare Kṛṣṇa always, incessantly, only when he entered the latrine he stopped.

Then one day Gopāla, his disciple, asked his Gurudeva, “What is this? You take, repeat mantram always, but when you enter the latrine you stop it. Then do you think that it will be impure while you are in the bathroom, in the latrine? What is that?”

Then excited, and the meaning in Dhyānacandra, “Oh! What you have told it is all right, that my saṁskāra, that my understanding was not proper.” [?]

“No regulation to take any Name. Always we can take. Suchi asuchi no vicara, purity, impurity. So you are my Guru from today. I receive instructions from you.”

So Gopālaguru, the name Gopāla was transformed into that of Gopālaguru.

So the Guru takes some hint from the disciples, so many instances may be there.

So that is the, but we must have such eye, then we can, a formal respect must be given until and unless he's expressly against Vaiṣṇava, commits Vaiṣṇava aparādha, otherwise formal respect. But real heart's regard should be given according, though it is very difficult but if one can find according to the intensity of the pure devotion in the heart of that person, whoever he may be, whoever he may be. But generally we shall follow some protocol, spiritual protocol.

Mahāprabhu, when He had that famous talk with Rāmānanda, then he said: "Who are You and what am I? I am a man, a governor, viṣayī, dealing with politics, and śūdra in the caste, and You are brāhmaṇa-sannyāsī. And You are enquiring and I am answering. This is a fun. So many great things are being dealt and You have given me the post of answering there as an Ācārya, and You are playing the part of a disciple. What a fun it is."

In that connection Mahāprabhu told:

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

["Whether a person is a brāhmaṇa, a sannyāsī, or a śūdra, if he knows the science of Kṛṣṇa, he is to be accepted as Guru."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

What is the wrong here? Who has got proper knowledge, who possesses that knowledge, the love of Kṛṣṇa, he's Guru. Ostentatiously he may hold any position. He may be a gr̥hastha, may be a śūdra, or may be a brāhmaṇa or sannyāsī, whatever position he may hold, but he has got that fire, that wealth in him, in his heart, he's Guru. He can deliver the real goods. He's Guru. Guru should be located there where Kṛṣṇa consciousness is in intense form to be seen. There we shall try to see the throne of Guru. Kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya. The quality and quantity of Kṛṣṇa consciousness wherever found, there is my Guru, the absolute consideration, taṭasthā-vicāra.

In the case of different rasa also, permanent, śanta, dāsyā, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā, there also everyone in a particular class thinks that his is the highest. But still there is a possibility of decision that mādhyā rasa is the highest, next vātsalya, next friends, sakhā, sākhyā rasa, then dāsyā rasa, then śanta rasa. The gradation is there, but everyone in his position he's fully satisfied: "I have got the highest attainment, fully satisfied."

[kintu yānra] yei rasa, sei sarvottama, taṭa-stha hañā vicāriḷe, āche tara-tama

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya līlā, 8.83]

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Our Guru paramparā is that of śikṣā Guru paramparā, realistic position, eliminating the formal one. Wherever, according to the degree of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, the intensity of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, the line coming in zig zag way. Narottama Ṭhākura is there. His Guru Lokanātha Goswāmī is not there. He's connected with Kṛṣṇa dāsa, the kīrtana Guru paramparā, śikṣā Guru paramparā. Our Guru Mahārāja accepted that. The hearing necessary not with a beautiful ear, or beautiful eye, but sight is necessary, all important is the sight not the eye. Something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: One thing that many of the western devotees seem confused about is that they think that if one receives the Hari-Nāma mantra from a lesser Guru that that mantra has less effect or potency. They sometimes say, “How can you receive love of God from someone who does not possess love of God?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but what is love of God we must have the eye to see that. We must not, may not commit error there. Some may think where there is weeping, shivering, there is devotion. Some may say where there is scholarship and can explain every question, answer rightly, properly satisfying us, there is proper Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Some may say, O, in eating, moving, and our spiritual etiquette, very strictly observing, there is Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So it should be detected rightly. Everywhere it may be. Some may be negligent of the outer forms, more attention may be given to the scriptures, more attention to the practices – may also differ in this way. But the internal fire to be detected very carefully and [?] We must be sure.

yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānāṃ, yena sarvvaṃ idaṃ tatam svakarmmaṇā tam
abhyarccya, siddhiṃ vindati mānavaḥ

[“A man achieves perfection by the performance of the appropriate duties prescribed for him according to his qualification. By the execution of his duties, he worships the Supreme Lord from whom the generation and impetus of all beings arises, and who permeates and pervades this entire universe (exercising His Supreme qualification of Lordship over one and all.”) [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.46]

“Don’t leave your position. Retain your position, present position and go on fighting with the environment.” Then says, “Leave your position, jump, come to Me. There may be some danger, I am there, protector, I am there, so take risk.”

So both kinds [?] sacrifice, constitutional method and revolutionary method. The absolute consideration, that teaches us to depend on revolutionary method. Time is short, human birth is uncertain. Association with the sādhu I have got, come near. I must take the risk. That may be consideration to some. And some may say no, to take risk, I’m doing well with the present peacefully, slowly but surely I’m moving towards higher direction. I should not venture to risk much more. Who knows that I may be misguided if I leave my present safe position, consolidated position? That also may be, it will come to a particular clan to be applied in particular cases according to internal resources acquired in his previous life. That will guide us. At the same time:

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt [kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati]

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If we are sincere then of course we'll be victorious. No risk no gain, that is also there. And don't be hurried and over ambitious. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Devotee: What does it mean to be over ambitious?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When one is captured by pratiṣṭhā, over ambition. Fame, name, that sort of, generally that is over ambitious. Something else: not the call of the real development in the divine Lord, not sometimes. Position: that may seduce us to be over ambitious. We must be cautious about that, very, very cautious. That is the greatest enemy, it is told, it can snatch, take away the position of [?] most heinous thing.

When one will discharge duty of an Ācārya he will do it the spirit of serving his Gurudeva. "I'm fulfilling his orders. I'm serving." He will be in the service, he'll not be, he'll tolerate the worship of the śiṣya but he won't keep it, the money, he'll at once transmit to his Guru. "It is his due. It is not due to me." Such transparent Guru, and that is the nature of the Vaikuṇṭha substance, that is all transparent. [?] humility there, receiving much but not tampered.

Just as the collector of the money of the king, the king's collector, he collects money from the subjects but he does not keep with him, for sometime he may keep but it is meant for that transmission.

The honour is due to Gurudeva, Baladeva, Nityānanda Prabhu, main Guru, Rādhārāṇī, it is His due, Her due, not mine, I am servant working on His behalf. Not only conscious of the lower side but he will be more conscious of the higher side, fully awake to the interest of the service of his Gurudeva. That will be the healthy thing. Then no pratiṣṭhā can enter there.

tomāra kinkara apana jani guru nahi mani tahi [?]

tomara ucchistha bhada jada renu sada uskar bati badi [?]

The Gurudeva's attitude, his ideal, his attitude towards his own Guru will be the example to teach the conduct to the śiṣya, "That I'm dealing in this way to my Gurudeva and you will also learn to do that." And he will omit the higher portion and only receive the worship of the lower. That will be bad, pratiṣṭhā. That is pratiṣṭhā.

Once, the Vyāsa pūjā of our Guru Mahārāja took place in Kattack Maṭha. There Mr Sanyal, one senior professor, he had many educated friends. And many educated persons of high rank got invited in that assembly and they all came, including perhaps the father of Subash Bosh, Janaka Bhosh, he was a leading pleader of the place, that Kattack.

Then the worship of the holy feet of Guru Mahārāja began, and after it's finished our Guru Mahārāja gave a speech and he mentioned: "There are so many gentlemen here, and just on their face, I'm taking the venerable worship of a particular section, they're worshipping my feet. Even an animal of the forest feels ashamed to do such things. So many gentlemen and in their midst, that particular section is worshipping my feet. I'm not ashamed. A paśu, even a beast also may feel ashamed in such behaviour, conduct. But am I holding a lower position than a beast of the jungle? No. Why should I then be receiving all this honour and digesting it, silently. I am to state, I believe firmly that the holy feet of my Gurudeva should be worshipped in this way. That is my justification, that the whole honour must be given to the holy feet of my Gurudeva. He deserves, he's in such position in the relativity of this world that he deserves. And if people come to worship his feet they will be benefited to the extreme. I'm only receiving them to show that my Gurudeva holds really such position to worship in the whole world public. I have got that faith that he's so great, so big, so noble, by worshipping his feet all this honour should go to his feet. I'm only an agent working on his behalf. It may be taken in this way." So he told that, "A beast of the jungle that also may feel shame by what is being done in this assembly. I'm taking their worship and they're worshipping, what is this? Have I no sense? I'm crossing the bounds of general courtesy, social courtesy, I'm taking, as so many are seeing that, and they're men of position in the society?"

The internal adjustment and the Gurudeva with the higher sphere, that is worth accepting. Externally the honour must have higher attention, higher attention drawing by the honour. By contributing their pratiṣṭhā, their individual prestige, honouring, worshipping, and contributing their individual prestige or pratiṣṭhā to the pratiṣṭhā of Gurudeva. And he's all good, sending it to his Gurudeva through the line, that Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And that may thrive by feeding more all this small pratiṣṭhā. Pratiṣṭhā of Guru who distributes Kṛṣṇa consciousness, he should be gloriously propagated in the whole of the world for his benefit. That he told. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, how should the Guru treat his disciples in the presence of his own God brothers? How should his disciples be instructed to act towards his own...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He'll ask the disciple to give general respect to his God brothers. But if one is, if Guru is in a right path and if any of the God brothers preach against him then he will try to avoid him. Be indifferent first and then to actively for the good of the disciples he will dissociate with him. Not only for his own prestige or fame, but for the interest of the disciples, for the interest of the real cause, if any disturbing element, jealous of the position of Guru's position he cannot tolerate. He thinks of his physical prestige. Always we must – it depends on the intrinsic inner reality. All sorts of external behaviours depend on the inner reality, inner purpose, purity of purpose, and understanding the real thing. Ke?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, it is very difficult to distinguish between when the Guru is defending his, the spiritual position of his disciples and when he's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it will be judicious to wait and see, not to take any hurried step. Difficult of course. We must be sure as to the best of our understanding, then we are to take such step. Must be sure: to the best of our sincere understanding. Very subtle and very fine plane of understanding to decide. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So in the beginning whenever any gentlemen came to me saying against the present administration of ISKCON I advised them wait and see. Wait and see. Now when it is more conspicuous then I have advised them to start with a relief work, but not to come in clash with the present administration, to avoid it as much as possible. But at the same time to start a relief work for those that are going away from under the banner of Mahāprabhu and Swāmī Mahārāja. They should be helped. But in the line of relief work, not coming, as far as possible, avoiding any clash with the present administration thereby. That is my general advice. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Must be constructive, if any programme independent we have that must be constructive always. It's not desirable to be destructive in any way. We must try to avoid the destructive line, and only in the constructive line if we can do some good to those that are being disappointed, we may go on with that sort of practice.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: In the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam Pūru Mahārāja had four sons, Pūru Mahārāja he had four sons, and it is compared to the four types of disciples that the spiritual master has. Could you explain these four different types of disciples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be, but I have not come in direct contact with that passage. What sort of example is written there I don't know.

Devotee: The first disciple, it's said of the four types of disciple, the first...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Druhyu, Anu, Pūru, Śarmiṣṭhā, Turvasu. Five sons, two by his first wife Devayānī – who, Pūru Mahārāja?

Devotee: Pūru.

Devotee: No, it was Yayāti Prabhu, Mahārāja Yayāti and Devayānī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yayāti, Yayāti had...

Devotee: Mahārāja Yayāti, he was cursed and became old, so he wanted his sons to take his old age, so he went to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So all rejected, Pūru came forward...

Devotee: Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...to take his infirmity...

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...his old age. And he, after some time he installed Pūru in the throne and went away for penances in the forest, that is. Then you say that Pūru had four sons?

Devotee: No. There is one śloka that describes the different kinds of sons because of the four sons only Pūru would take...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The last son was, youngest was Pūru ...

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and he came forward to obey his father's order.

Devotee: But the others disobeyed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But amongst them Yadu is also there, in whose line Kṛṣṇa Himself came, the Yadu. Yadu was his eldest son.

yaduṁ ca turvasuṁ caiva, devayānī vyajāyata druhyuṁ cānuṁ ca pūruṁ ca, śarmiṣṭhā vārṣaparvaṇī

[“Devayānī gave birth to Yadu and Turvasu, and Śarmiṣṭhā gave birth to Druhyu, Anu and Pūru.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.18.33]

By second wife three sons, and by first wife two sons, the eldest was Yadu in whose line Kṛṣṇa has come. And the Pūru, last son, youngest, in whose line Dusanta come, Bharata has come, son Bharata, Dusanta son, Kaurava, Yadava and Kaurava. But what is mentioned...

Devotee: But Pūru he was lamenting that he had not acted sooner, because he said, “A good son he will do the will of the father even before the father asks.” So like that his question is he wanted some understanding.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is in the general, moral, and social way, of this life, not spiritual. Spiritual Prahlaḍa left his father, did not obey.

gurur na sa syāt sva jano [na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt
daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta

[R̥ṣabhadeva says: “Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

The extreme advice is there for a student of spirituality. But that is a general, social fashion, social custom, that son must obey his father. Rāmacandra did without caring what, whether it was just or unjust. He thought, “I am, when My father wanted to give Me his throne I was prepared to accept. But now instead of that he’s incurred some loan, some obligation to My mother, and My father must satisfy that, he must keep his own promise, and I’m concerned there, I must carry out the order of My father.” And He went to the forest. Instead of taking forcible possession of the throne He went to the forest. “And I must obey the will of My father. When it will give Me the throne I shall welcome that order, and when it requires that some loan should be cleared I won’t take that; that cannot be.” His obligation also was not satisfied, as his son, successor. Successor’s duty when it will inherit the curse and move the loan, both curse and the loan He must inherit. So Rāmacandra thought rightly, “That I must go to satisfy the obligation of My father to My stepmother,” and went straight to the forest.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.
Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura

Devotee: I had one question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Much may be said on both sides.” There is one saying of Sir Rodger in Adison, an Englishman. So when we consider the rare quality of our gain then we must be very urgent in our decisions in life. At the same time when, I’m not, I’m fallible, I may commit mistake, thereby I shall have to wait and see. At the same time we must be conscious, what chances there are really in my life, so we must not sleep over our interest. So both sides should be considered, and according to the sincere internal decision one will do the choice of his heart. Gaura Haribol.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ [tāta gacchati]

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

He may not have some ulterior purpose, whatever step we take, may not have consciously any ulterior purpose. But for our inner most sincere satisfaction we shall accept that, may be fallible for the present, but ultimately I shall be satisfied if I’m sincere. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati.

Devotee: Where is that śloka from that you just quoted?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavad-gītā. “If you are good the environment cannot deceive you. I am there.” Lord says.

Devotee: I had one question. In the Brahma-saṁhitā there is one śloka: goloka-nāmnī nija-dhāmnī tale ca tasya, devī maheśa-hari-dhāmasu teṣu teṣu

[First there is Devī-dhāma, then Maheśa-dhāma, and above Maheśa-dhāma is Hari-dhāma; and above all is His own home, Goloka.] [Brahma-saṁhitā, 43]

So I was wondering if maybe you could explain the position of Maheśa-dhāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devī-dhāma, the dense portion of ignorance, of misconception, that is Devī-dhāma. And the vague misconception, that is Maheśa-dhāma, not fully liberated from misconception, but not so much dense ignorance is there, that Brahman-dhāma. A little portion of this mundane, the misconception, and then nirviśeṣa, no misconception, then vague conception of the Vaikuṇṭha, that is on the whole marginal position, that is Śiva-dhāma. And the highest portion of Śiva-dhāma is Sadāśiva. He’s a devotee of Nārāyaṇa, Rāma. Maheśa-dhāma, and then Nārāyaṇa, Vaikuṇṭha-dhāma. Just below Vaikuṇṭha-dhāma Maheśa-dhāma. Maheśa-dhāma twofold. On the Vaikuṇṭha side there is devotee, devotee Maheśavara; and in the lower, this misunderstanding, the māyāic side the Rudra, he’s the, he challenges the authority of Nārāyaṇa sometimes.

Devotee: So that is taṭasthā position? So Maheśa-dhāma the lower part, that is taṭasthā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taṭasthā. Yes. The sum total of the misguided souls is represented by Maheśavara. Dvītīyābhiniveśa [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37], the starting from Maheśavara of dvītīyābhiniveśa, separate interest, conception of separate interest begins from Maheśavara. The sum total of those that possess separate interest, Śiva is the emblem of that, Maheśavara. And that in its higher realisation he tries his best to serve, show serving attitude to Nārāyaṇa, Maheśavara. Between the two, the marginal position, Mahādeva, nearer the Vaikuṇṭha touch of devotion, or influence of devotion, and far from Vaikuṇṭha this side the master of this world of misunderstanding. Dvītīyābhiniveśa, sometimes goes to fight with Nārāyaṇa in favour of his disciples who are demons. Opposing Nārāyaṇa, fighting in favour of his own disciples sometimes, and then he comes and repents: “Why have You created me like that, that I can’t retain my own position as Your servant, and some challenging spirit comes within me and I go against You? You have given me some peculiar position my Lord. It is very untenable...”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... “attending the cows.”

Devotee: Looking after that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Looking after that.”

Devotee: Kata bane chuṭāchuṭi bane khāi luṭāpuṭi, sei din kabe habe mor.

[“Running and frolicking in the many forests of Vraja, I will roll on the ground in spiritual ecstasy. Oh, when will that day be mine?”] [From Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Prabhupāda’s Prayer to the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa, 8, written on board the ship Jaladuta] [From Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 27-28]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kata bane, that he’s remembering and just giving description of that līlā in sākhyā rasa running hither thither in the jungle and chuṭāchuṭi bane khāi luṭāpuṭi...

Devotee: Bane khāi luṭāpuṭi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And sometimes kissing the ground and rolling hither thither, in this way all these things meant.

Devotee: Sei din kabe habe mor.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “And I aspire after that day when I shall again be along with You all.” Then?

Devotee: Āji se subidhāne tomāra smaraṇa bhelo, boro āśā ḍākilām tāi.

[“Today that remembrance of You came to me in a very nice way. Because I have a great longing I called You.”] [From Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 27-28]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Āji se subidhāne, “Now today in this favourable line the course of līlā has come in such a position that I’ve got this opportunity to call for You so fervently. This arrangement, by the arrangement of the provident I have come to such a position. And I again fervently appeal to You for the success of my – this mission. But I have got the direction from my Guru Mahārāja – hopefully, I hope that he must fulfil my desire.”

Devotee: Āmi tomāra nitya-dāsa tāi kori eta āśā, tumi binā anya gati nāi.

[“I am Your eternal servant and therefore I desire Your association so much. O Lord Kṛṣṇa, except for You there is no other means of success.”] [From Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 27-28]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “I have demand on You because I am eternally a slave to You, so I have got the demand and with that demand I put this petition to You my Lord.”

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “And I have no other alternative than to secure Your help to discharge the order of my Gurudeva which is at present imminent, urgent on me to satisfy.”

[From Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Prabhupāda's Prayer to the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa, written on board the ship Jaladuta, in 1965] [From Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 26-28]

So here I detected that after finishing his duties he aspires after the eternal life, and he expresses his highest choice to mix Kṛṣṇa with sākhyā rasa. Highly he's appreciating that sort of rasa in Vṛndāvana with Kṛṣṇa and playing with Him in such a free and enjoying sort of way.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] So it may be this. I cannot think that but his inner-most aspiration what he has expressed in such a beautiful way that that sort of pastimes in the sākhyā rasa and he's partaking in sākhyā rasa in Vṛndāvana in such a peculiar way, sweet way, again I shall get that. It gives some hint that he likes this most. That I wrote, have given, I told that his aspiration is for sākhyā rasa, maybe. And again that he has mentioned his Gurudeva as Rādhārāṇī and by his will he has come, it may be that he has suppressed for some purpose his mādhyāsa rasa participation. For some purpose, that it is very, very rare and very valuable. It should not be disclosed to the ordinary public newcomers. So he took the pose of giving this sākhyā līlā general to the disciples. It also may be. But anyhow, for the temporary we may think that he may be there and we can go ahead with that idea, keeping the mādhyāsa rasa passing on the highest above our head, we can go. And also, I do not want to discourage those that have got internal affinity towards mādhyāsa rasa that their Gurudeva was – cannot satisfy their mādhyāsa rasa thirst. It cannot be said like that. Whenever there is hunger for that mādhyāsa rasa particularly been awake they will, Kṛṣṇa is there and He will manage, give solution for that. And so it has been said that:

sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, [uktas tathā bhāvyata eva sadbhiḥ
kintu prabhor yaḥ priya eva tasya, vande guroḥ śrī-caraṇāravindam]

["In the revealed scriptures it is declared that the spiritual master should be worshipped like the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and this injunction is obeyed by pure devotees of the Lord. The spiritual master is the most confidential servant of the Lord. Thus let us offer our respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of our spiritual master."] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 7]

"It is Me who is your Guru, who is your Guru is this common thread, don't miss, don't forget that I am there, in whatever form, in delegated form, in different rasa, but don't forget that sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, in different rasa. First, My internal direction as the finest thread within, My direction, My grace is being distributed to different types of agents. My hand is there. And it is safe to think Guru of any stages as My presence is there."

You must be alert and awake to this fact that the highest divine hand is to be traced here formally. His ordination – and direction – is to be traced there. He is there, and with any modification. The dāsya rasa Guru is there also, the Guru is He. And sākhyā rasa, mādhyāsa rasa, all rasa, He's there, but with different modified position with, association with different potency, but He is within. So this has been, in different lives also the direction:

ācāryam māṁ vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta [karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

Don't deviate from this thought, nāvamanyeta karhicit, na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, even you may find many mortal practices in him, worldly practices in him, still you must not disregard him. Na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ. You'll try to find that all the good qualities of all the gods ever known to you are present there in any form or other. So we must have some look about, try to have such an estimation, look towards the view. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Who was the...

Devotee: Raghavindu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So this is my position I explain to you. Now, any sub issue?

Devotee: That's a very wonderful answer Mahārāja, great answer, relishable.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in the United States there's a paper circulating by some devotees and they're saying that the Guru, the Ācārya, must be established, or at least aware of his rasa with Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: In whose zone?

Devotee: Is this paper being circulated? Well, we saw it in Los Angeles but that's not the origin.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is the Ācārya of that zone?

Devotee: Rāmeśvara Swāmī.

Devotee: But that paper is being circulated throughout America, in many zones.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And your name is Mukundamālā?

Devotee: No, mine is Raghavindu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You come from that zone?

Devotee: Recently, yes.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Of course, theoretically, of this question, it is right. But from the practical standpoint the question will come in this way. That the awkward realisation of one's own inner self, that is of infinite character, and the realisation, as I already told, three classes of Guru. One class comes down from that realm to this plane to take for recruitment. Another class, second class, one leg here another leg there, and he takes persons from this plane to that plane. And the third class, both legs here and only the eyes are fixed on that place and taking them to that plane. So the third class Gurudeva his eyes are fixed to his proper place but not yet realised.

In other words, in the stage of realisation of a devotee we are to discriminate, and he will also do. All Gurus, or one who speaks about the greatness of God around, he's Guru in one form or other. You see, the most spacious form, Guru is he who talks about Kṛṣṇa, and especially with a desire to help the environment he's doing knowingly, unknowingly. So Guru he begins from, the position of Guru begins from there. Only who has realised that Kṛṣṇa is all in all in us, we should love Him, and he's talking that to his environment outside, he's doing unknowingly, unconsciously, he's doing the work of... So we may be if we consider, that if we trace ontologically then Kṛṣṇa is there and he has begun the work in the lowest level by such people. And then gradually they recruit them for his own Guru, for a real sādhu, vartma-pradarśaka Guru. And then that Guru he may be, according to the fortune of the newcomers, he may be one of those three types.

And the last type he's fixed, eyes fixed on the real plane and he wants to take them home to that plane. There, if he's sincere, not making any trade in Guru-ism, then he's also a real Guru, and sincerely helps, and he's bona fide in his attempt. He's not a hypocrite. He's studying himself and at the same time making, giving training to other students also.

So, if we like to, three things in fairness, then we shall have to understand in this way with sincere heart we are to – who is who? Who is transmitting the news of Kṛṣṇa to me, he's Guru, he began from there.

Only, not only I want, but others may be benefited. This tendency when comes with our attraction towards Kṛṣṇa the Guru-ism is there, begins there. And that gradually develops and comes to the highest form.

Sincerity is necessary and no tradery Guru. And the Guru sincerely of the lower stage, if we can say so, eliminating the, overlooking the thread within, that of Kṛṣṇa's will, he will take them to the higher person, to go there. It is also mentioned in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa that when a higher Guru is available, if anyone makes disciples without taking him to that higher Guru, then he commits offence. It is mentioned there.

When brāhmaṇa is available, of course in the real sense, then non brāhmaṇa if he goes on with disciple making, then he'll be, he'll commit offence against the devotion interest.

So, the bīja means seed, higher seed. If seed of higher type is available and the lower type of seed is sown in the ground, that is bad economy. Higher type of seed, higher potency of seed for medicine is available, and for some selfish purpose I'm selling this bad type of medicine, that is offending thing.

This may be applied in such case. He always, selflessly, without any selfish view, this narrow and filthy view of predominating and getting one's own glory, fame, or any other purpose, if one goes on insincerely with this business, makes it a business, that is bad. And sincerely helping to take anyone to the holy feet of Kṛṣṇa...

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

...he’s doing the right thing. And whenever he’s open, always open, he himself is also a disciple. A real Vaiṣṇava he’s always a disciple. He wants to learn more and more. No limit, infinite, no limit. He poses himself to be a disciple of his Guru. So he, whatever good things he gets, he should give it for the service of his Guru, or higher type of Guru. In this way that will be_____ and not.

But one question in the practical position will come, that if one has got sincere and firm faith in his own Guru he may think that, “I’m not fit. As there are so many signs of Guru in the śāstra, I’m not fit. But still my Gurudeva has ordered me to do this service for his satisfaction.” And if he in the name of his Guru if he recruits, and he gives mantram, but he’s firm and sincere to discharge the order, obey the order of his Guru he will be justified.

But if there is hypocrisy then he’ll be lost. For his selfish purpose if he does such a, wants to go to begin business, the business of such a great, holy, valuable property, valuable wealth, he wants to make play with fire, he’ll be doomed.

But if he’s sincere that, “I do not know much, but I do it only by the order of my Guru,” his relation with his Guru is proper and sincere. But such cases are very rarely to be found.

One brāhmaṇa used to read out Bhagavad-gītā in Śrī Rāngam and he did not know to, knowledge of Sanskrit, or pronunciation rightly, nothing, and people ridiculed all around. But he did not leave. By the order of his Guru he went on reading, though so many persons ridiculing him.

Mahāprabhu asked him: “These so many men are showing ridiculous attitude towards you but you go on chanting the poems of Bhagavad-gītā. What's the matter?"

"I do it thereby I carry out the order of my Gurudeva, simply. He has ordered me and I discharge my duty. And as long as I do I can see that Kṛṣṇa is a charioteer in the chariot of Arjuna, He's there, chariot driver. It's wonderful to see."

"Yes, you are doing rightly."

So sincerity there must be. Knowledge is infinite. Everything is infinite. But still some workable sincerity we must have when we are discharging the duty of the agents of the Divinity, of the purity. Our attempt must be pure, sincere, and of divine character.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, I just wanted to clarify something you were saying. I was wondering, you said that it would be dishonest for someone to not take someone to a higher sādhu, and that would be spreading a lower seed which you said is not good economy. Then you...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is in general case, but when that is practically not possible then he comes to help him. But generally this is the law.

Devotee: But what if he's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And it is quite reasonable, like I have given an example that good seed is available to get good crops, but I know that so many seeds are there, but bad seed for my own special interest I distribute to them. If I do that, I do wrong to the society. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes. But what if I feel that I've been ordered?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is general.

Devotee: The order is there to be Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But when good seed is there I know but it is not possible to get that seed here or to take him to that position. So for temporary purpose he may engage him so because he may not go astray. For the time being to keep up in the line he may do. The sincerity and purity of purpose should always be considered in this direction. We must go on, not with selfish view, but with the – with some pure and healthy and practical divine direction. In good faith we shall do anything and everything, to help him, and not to make any trade. To come to preach means to take people towards Kṛṣṇa. That will be the only interest. The point of interest will be there, and not to, on the way to make some business. That should not be, to get some self interest other than the interest of Kṛṣṇa and Vaiṣṇava. That should not be practised, or even imagined, even planned, we must not plan also such things. Always keep us clear that I'm not going to make any trade, base trading, mundane trading, but the purity of purpose is necessary that, 'I want to help him, taking him to Kṛṣṇa bhakti as pure as possible.'

Devotee: Mahārāja, I have a question. Prabhupāda has spoken. Śrīla Prabhupāda has spoken in his books: "By transcendental knowledge one can remain..."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Question by whom?

Devotees: Kaśirāma.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Requires proper guidance for the proper object. Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, generally people go to study scriptures, but according to their own prejudice they collect meaning thereby.

Devānanda Paṇḍita was here, one scholar, good scholar, and he used to teach Bhāgavatam to many students, but he did not know for himself the real standard of knowledge given to...

So Mahāprabhu once told: “I shall tear up his books.”

And He also advised Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa Goswāmī, son of Tapan Miśra, who was, Tapan Miśra met Him in Paridpur District in his early life. Then he went to Benares with his family to live there permanently, and his only son, Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa, came to see Him in Purī, to see Mahāprabhu. And Mahāprabhu asked him: Ya'o paḍa bhāgavata vaiṣṇavera sthane, [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 5.131] “Go and study the Bhāgavatam from a Vaiṣṇava who knows the real standpoint of the advice that is given in Bhāgavatam.”

So, it is very difficult to have the standpoint. According to the Māyāvādīs they also explain Bhāgavatam. The Bhagavad-gītā has got many kinds of appreciators, even from the revolutionist, and up to the Vaiṣṇava, all revere Bhagavad-gītā, but with different types of interpretation. So our real guidance is our sukṛti, the quality of our śraddhā. Our śraddhā within, that guides me, independent of my consciousness. And then when my consciousness rises, is raised to a certain plane, then we can use our free decision and can differentiate from right and wrong, and in the right also different degrees of rightness. All these things possible, not only what is right and wrong, and what is right also there is gradation. And the higher form of right, type of right, we are to understand according to our internal capacity and fortune, and it is created by the quality of sukṛti from which my spiritual life has begun.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva / guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya [bhakti-latā-bīja] [“Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

Many sections have got reverence and they also worship Kṛṣṇa, but in different ways. But Mahāprabhu gave, He also gave so many types of Kṛṣṇa service, śanta, dāsya, etc. And there are so many who openly profess to admit and follow the Kṛṣṇa consciousness principle. But there are very few who can appreciate rightly and follow in the strict sense demanded by the śāstra and sādhu. The gradation there different there must be always distinction. It is in the whole system. Distinction is a natural thing, and when the distinction is not of equal order, of equal position, there must, differentiation there is and there is qualitative difference, we must have to admit. And that is by our sincerity of purpose.

On the other hand the sanction of the Supreme we are to go up and higher. We cannot eliminate gradation, in every place, and every creed, everywhere, the distinction, the superiority, inferiority, they're always in any form of life, in any circumstance. We are to admit that. And our eagerness should be always to appreciate the superior, and to be kind to the inferior. In the infinite, it's a journey of infinite, it's a journey towards infinite. And our attitude will be to regard the higher advance and to help the lower, be kind there. That should be our temperament always. And gradation, distinction, we'll have to admit always, and without any jealousy. And that is the nature, and that is for our good. Think it in this way. There are so many guardians, so many superiors, so I am safe. They're all selfless, always ready to help others. So we must not be jealous of any superior position held by so many. So many guardians, so many masters, they're all eager to take care about spiritual life. So in this way we must regard, our heart broader and broader as much as we advance in our higher stage. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Am I clear?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More clearance is necessary? Repeat the question again.

Devotee: The question was, by mere academic knowledge one is sometimes confused by...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the standpoint must come. Academic, the ascending method is fallible. The descending method we are to accept. The whole thing in a nutshell is represented like this, avaroha-panthā, the revealed line, the truth coming through the process of revelation. So one man who is posted in that position, that current, one must go to him. In the ascending method various interpretations there may be, but they thrust their own standpoint on the books. So we shall have to accept that Guru paramparā so the paramparā is there to help us to certain extent. The association is there to help us and we are to accept that process of the revealed truth, line of the revealed truth, succession, proper channel that is coming through and I am to go there for my fulfilment of life. So: Ya'o paḍa bhāgavata vaiṣṇavera sthane, sādhu-saṅga, sādhu-śāstra, we must have to read the scriptures only from a sādhu who is established in the truth which is given in the śāstra. Śābde pare ca niṣṇātam.

[tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam

śābde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

[“Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

He will have knowledge of the scriptures as well as he has got some conception, perception, of what is in the śāstra, some realisation of the meaning of the śāstra. It may be partial but still some right in his realisation of the meaning of the śāstra proper. Only he can be Guru. And intellectual knowledge cannot guide us, not a practical life, practical life and in the proper line. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The Guru paramparā, the signs of the Guru wherever, in Upaniṣad.

tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭhaṁ

[“One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source.”] [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

In Bhāgavatam: śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ. [tasmād gurum prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

[“Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21] In Bhagavad-gītā:

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

You must go to him and to find out what is the proper meaning we shall try to know from him, a bona fide person who is able to explain śāstra. Not anyone and everyone. He's already in the way, has got some knowledge of the reality which is explained in the śāstra. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anything in this connection: more?

Devotee: Some devotees they say that Swāmī Mahārāja, Śrīla Prabhupāda's books, that they are more than śāstra, they are Guru, śāstra, and sādhu combined. Is that so? Swāmī Mahārāja's books, the books of Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There may be degree and gradation, but the whole character of the Guru should be like that. The śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati, yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati ["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."]

By knowing which we can know anything, by getting which we can get anything. What is that, you please try to know that. That is the main, that is the backbone of our spiritual quest. So when he's in the proper line he has come to know something by knowing which he can know everything. The example also has been given, just as water is poured in the root, the whole tree fed. Food put into the stomach, the whole body is fed. So the general cause of the whole universe is Brahman, is Kṛṣṇa, and if you know Him you can know everything. If you get Him you'll get everything. This is the general characteristic of the spiritual knowledge. And when one's really on that path he has got knowledge of that quality, that type, but there may be gradation. So any Ācārya he's expected to know anything and everything because his transaction with the central thing, central principle of the whole existence of the world. So he's expected to know anything, even the scripture, the purpose of the scripture. But there may be according to their vigour there may be gradation. But they're supposed to know anything and everything. They're out to culture, to cultivate only about that thing, by knowing one, many things known. That is the backbone of the spiritual knowledge. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yasmin vijñāte sarvam, to have faith in such principle that is śraddhā, faith means that. The very definition of faith, śraddhā, requires this sort of faith. There is one Centre by knowing Him I can know everything. By getting Him I can get everything. If one has got such faith, others will say that this is madness, this is ignorance, this is insanity; the other so called sane men of the world will say like that. By knowing one thing everything is known; is it possible to think? This comes only from the section of insanity. But really who has got such faith, that knowing the centre we can know everything, by getting Him we can: yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam priṇite priṇito jagat. And the example is given, if I put food into the stomach the whole body is fed. So the Lord holds such position to this infinite world. And to know about Him is to know about all. But no finish, and His experience also has no finish, only rising up, up, up. Gradation! Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Any other question?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Sometimes it seems that Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura would consider Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura more as his Guru than Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī. Why is that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was all in all in him. Under his direction he came to accept Gaura Kīśora Bābājī Mahārāja as his dīkṣā Guru. But he considered Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as śikṣā Guru; the formal and informal. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was all in all with his whole life. He had more attraction for Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's order he came to take dīkṣā from Gaura Kīśora Bābājī. And he used to see Gaura Kīśora Bābājī non different from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. By his order he came to accept him, and also at the same time, he looked with that respect that came from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and that must be of that order, of that highest degree. So with that respect he used to see him so not in deviated position.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Why Śrīla Bhaktivinoda did not initiate him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There's a general custom that one should not take initiation from the father. That sort of custom is here in the spiritual line.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu says:

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128]

So we have to understand that order as though everyone should become Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru of that degree who cannot take the whole responsibility, and giving some clue, some news, good news to you, distributing good news to you. Then when he has found in practical way then you may go there, and there you will be, have real thing. I'm only an agent, to carry the news to you. If I have got good taste in him, with this medicine I'm feeling that I'm in the process of curing. You are also suffering from that particular disease, and the medicine I used and I feel well, and I want to give this medicine there. In this way: medicine is there. and if you want, can prepare the medicine, I say yes come to me I shall give you the medicine.

So according to their capacity. Everyone will carry the news of Kṛṣṇa towards anybody and everybody, but when he appreciates that this is good, this is a duty, if he's sincere he'll say. But he may not be bold enough to take the charge of curing the patient and say go to that doctor. I'm using his medicine and I'm feeling well. So I say to you, recommend, go there. That will be his attitude in the lowest position. But when he's in the position to make the medicine himself, and original advice, then he may take the responsibility of curing him.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal.

Devotee: There's one śloka:

ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam [rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptr̥tve varaṇam tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatiḥ evam paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]

[“The six limbs of surrender are as follows: 1 - To accept everything favourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 2 - To reject everything unfavourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 3 - To be confident that Kṛṣṇa will grant His protection. 4 - To embrace Kṛṣṇa's guardianship. 5 - To offer oneself unto Him. 6 - To consider oneself lowly and bereft.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100]

So prātikūlya-vivarjjanam, that we reject what is unfavourable, but you've also said that on the Absolute platform everything is good.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Prātikūlya-vivarjjanam, this is in the stage of a sādhaka. The prātikūlya-vivarjjanam, when that is in the highest stage of realisation, when the prātikūl is also harmonised we say we can see some contribution, a sort of contribution from that. In some way or other it is helping the cause.

Just as the opposition party helps the party in power to reach into the proper conception, but by opposition, to make us more attentive and to analyse the thing from different standpoints and find out if any defect is there or not.

But, just as a weak health may find anything and everything to be disturbing his health, but more and more one is healthy he finds from the environment less resistant powers. Many things, there may be many kinds of germs: in a healthy body they cannot produce any bad result, but in a weak body easily they can produce some bad result.

If it develops to the extreme he can find that one who is in perfect position nothing can dissuade him from his strongest purpose or principle of going. No effect they can have. The opposition cannot have any effect, but comes to examine, to test, and to give the glory passing the examination. The examination is undesirable to those who have possibility of failing. But who won't fail any examination he will welcome to acquire more glory. So the final adjustment that within the harmony of His devotees, he has got connection with Kṛṣṇa, farthest it may be, but still it is connected with Him. It will help.

To a patient some – to a patient perhaps the ghee may do some harm, but when healthy that ghee will contribute to his health. Something may harm when in our weak position. The stronger position, that will contribute to our growth. It is possible.

So Infinite accommodates everything in Him. Kṛṣṇa is stealing, but stealing is bad, but when Kṛṣṇa is stealing food from the room of His mother Yaśodā the devotees think it very sweet. Why? Everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa. He's stealing His own thing. It is not stealing at all but only in a posing of stealing. So it is not stealing, it is also harmonised by satisfying so many, satisfying, but it is not real stealing in His case. In His case it is not stealing, not breaking the law of morality, no encroachment on others property, because everything belongs to Him. This is only a play, only a show, so it is harmless. And also it gives pleasure to the heart of the devotees, "that which belongs to Him, He's only showing a fashion of stealing as if of others property.” That is līlā, pastimes.

A madhyama-adhikāra when we’re in the middle stage, the elimination and acceptance, he’ll go; but when we reach the final goal no elimination or acceptance. I’m in such a particular place and there no elimination is necessary. Acceptance of everything is helping me. But on the way so many things to eliminate and so many things to accept; something like that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Not clear?

Devotee: Clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Somewhat. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So today we may stop here. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Jaya Oṃ Viṣṇu-Pāda...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the Divine Dispensation. In this way we are to take it.

When finally Kṛṣṇa in His last Dvārakā līlā when everything is divorced, the withdrawal of Yadu varṁśa, then so many disasters together. Baladeva one side, He's in meditation. One serpent came out of the mountainside into the ocean. Yadus winding one another, they began to kill each other. And all wailing, the ladies are wailing like anything. The husbands at one stroke wholesale by mutual fighting they disappeared. Vasudeva, Ugrasena, the old section, they are also benumbed seeing the matter.

But Kṛṣṇa is running hither and thither and giving consolation, keeping His temperament all right. Running hither, "O, don't do this. Try to take it as His Divine Dispensation. Don't break down." In the highest degree of separation - in cool brain He's running to help this side, that side, that side. So in whatever...

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm, it may come, even it may come they may engage themselves fighting with one another. In the way they're moving I think that that time may also come. But you do not try to express, that also untimely, and also, don't leave them. Don't leave them. The policy should be to make the best of a bad bargain, to make the best of a bad bargain. It may be that evil may come out, but still we shall try to keep our temperament, and also to help the going also. Our attitude should be like that. To the last moment when a body, when a man is dying we must not leave them knowing fully well that he will die. No leaving, try my best to give my help.

So those that are seen to divert from the standard point, still we shall try our best to help them. Spiritual death: I'm not talking of the physical also, if spiritually they seem to deviate from Swāmī Mahārāja's ideal, our attitude will be that to go on helping them, then purity will again come. But we shall try to hold the ideal with firm hands, the banner with firm hands, for which we have come out. We have not come out for any organisation, or opulence of money, etc. The ideal has attracted me and I shall follow the ideal, at any, under any circumstances. We are out for the beauty of the thought, for the beauty of the ideal, for the beauty of the fulfilment of life. And we must not give it up at the cost of death, poverty, anything else. That should be our guiding star. Then we shall try to help the others for the same, for the same, but the inevitable will come. I can't help.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

You can't sit idle. You try your best for the best fulfilment. But the inevitable will come, to happen. I shall try my best to the last moment to help them, cooperate, constructive. I must not be, must not allow myself to be a party to some destructive element. I'm constructive, helping. So that should be the normal ideal of a standard spiritualist, I think.

Mādhava Mahārāja: So then your advice is that we should try to form a group so we can execute our devotional service...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: of same temperament, sajātī-yāśye snigdhe: [śrīmad-bhāgavatārthānām āsvādo rasikaiḥ saha sajātī-yāśye snigdhe sādhanau saṅgaḥ svato vare]

[“One should taste the meaning of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam in the association of pure devotees, and one should associate with the devotees who are more advanced than oneself and endowed with a similar type of affection for the Lord. Those that are in our line, who have the same high spiritual aspirations as we do, and who hold a superior position, to associate with such saintly persons will help us the most to progress towards the ultimate goal.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.91] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.131]

...whom we can talk with confidentially, and by mutual help, by mutual cooperation we can live and thrive.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. As long as it's possible you try to keep up the connection. Don't take the responsibility of separating yourself. You try to cooperate as much as you can, as long you can.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And when it will be impossible it will be better that they will reject it, but I don't ask you to leave the ideal. The purity of purpose, that has attracted me, what has attracted me to Swāmī Mahārāja, the ideal. If I leave that I shall die. I shall commit suicide. The light, the finer light that has attracted me, that star I cannot leave. And I can also try my best to keep connection with my fellow brothers who came also for the quest of that light. But if he deviates I won't. At the same time I won't be very eager to cut off their connection. I try my best, but my first thing is my ideal of life, and the second, those that came for the same ideal, not otherwise. We have got connection, so many connections we had in our previous life, but this company means for the ideal, and if one deviates from the ideal I must do my duty towards him, according to that, that I may not deviate.

Mādhava Mahārāja: We have been trying for the past four years...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And we should keep in mind, [pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

He's there, omniscient, He's to help me so we must be sincere.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What did you say?

Mādhava Mahārāja: I said we have been trying for the past four years, since Prabhupāda disappeared from our presence, we've been trying to make some compromise. But now we see their minds are not changing. They're becoming more determined.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, I can't advise you to give up the ideal for which you and they also came, but of different mentality.

Kṛṣṇa says in reasonable way, that in the beginning, when Uddhava asked Him: "So many differences in the conception of religion, from where it has come? Are they equally true alternately, or they are great and small?"

So Kṛṣṇa told: "In the beginning it was one, and I told it to Brahmā the creator, and the subject matter was Myself. But when Brahmā told his disciples, according to their capacity they received, and when they gave delivery of that advice, instruction, in turn, there some modification, not same thing. Same thing went to the ear of ten persons, and when they reproduced it their difference was found. So prakṛti-vaicitryāt, according to the capacity of the hearer, listener, some modification, and then from generation to generation more modification, then so many differences in the religious world."

So differentiation must come to effects, to effect, happen, it is inevitable. Differentiation, difference, is inevitable, we can't avoid it. But still, in that stage we shall try, that some of equal temperament, nearer temperament, nearer mentality, we shall make a group, then we'll be, our life will be easy, and our work will also be smoothly done. So company is necessary, but company must be suiting the purpose, the ideal. Ideal is all in all, Kṛṣṇa, Gurudeva, what he said, by which he attracted me that is my first thing. And the group that are following that ideal strictly they're my own friends; close intimate friends. And those that are deviating we want good for them but we can't take them, or everything as it is. We shall try to help them, not to desert them: that should be our policy. Ke?

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Guru and the ideal, what I heard, what attracted me to him, that is my first concern. And next, who are nearer [?] in that level [?] and as one deviates from him, as much he's so much far away from me. Still I should try to be sympathetic towards that. This should be the underlying principle of all our conduct, individual or general. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, there's another question that comes. Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, he has the same idea, we should all cooperate. We may have some differences but everyone should cooperate. And he also has a lot of respect for yourself. He respects you in his heart I'm sure. But he's under some political pressures, so for that reason he's not so open to come here and see you for Hari kathā. We know that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Whoever will come to me I'll say the same thing. I have got a great and bitter experience also after the departure of our Guru Mahārāja. Forty four years I'm passing through that experience, long experience amongst the dealings of the God brothers and also disciples of the God brothers. I've got some experience. And also I've got some idea about the principle for which Guru Mahārāja came here to preach: so the experience, from his words, and after his departure.

So, two things necessary, the ideal as well as the organisation, but the ideal has the first and importance, and the organisation the next. That is relative and Absolute, the same thing which is, when there will be a clash between the Absolute and relative we must serve the Absolute, we must take side of the Absolute. I can't be a traitor to myself, which attracted me I can't be traitor to that idea. If I feel that I'm committing wrong that is another thing. But as long as I think that yes, this is the ideal, I shall try to keep up, the nearest distance from the ideal. And organisation is for that, and not at the sacrifice of the ideal we shall lick at the feet of the organisation. But organisation for higher purpose then it is well and good, otherwise it will do some disservice to the world. We shall try our best to keep the organisation under the principle – under the principle, under the truth of our conception, try our best always. And through that organisation we shall be able to do good to the public and with facility. But if organisation deviated from the ideal that organisation will be [?] The ideal is the first thing and the organisation the second. Organisation must be faithful to the ideal.

Kṛṣṇa jñāna, Kṛṣṇa and His knowledgeable thing is one and same. Kṛṣṇa Nāma and Kṛṣṇa is same. Kṛṣṇa jñāna and Kṛṣṇa is one and same. Kṛṣṇa līlā and Kṛṣṇa one and same.

Devotees, even crossing brāhmaṇas, so many kṣatriya, vaiśyas, any devotee of Kṛṣṇa he should honoured, he should be respected, irrespective of any other position, independent of any other function. According to the intensity of the connection with anyone with Kṛṣṇa he should be respected. That should be the Absolute consideration of things. Not that one is a big scholar, or a big organiser, or big diplomat, or a big financier, they will be ostentatiously some honour, but not at the cost of the ideal, of the high ideal. They should be all, must be subservient to the ideal, ideal of Kṛṣṇa. They should be servant not master.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, Bhakti Caru, he has spoken with Bhāvānanda Mahārāja at length the last few days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāvānanda Mahārāja is very simple man.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has tendency of speaking the truth, an open man.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Bhāvānanda Mahārāja had asked Bhakti Caru Mahārāja...

...to have the visiting devotees from America stay in Māyāpur, because he felt that it would be better for the Society – relative consideration – it would be better for the Society if the devotees stay in Māyāpur, when visiting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Bhakti Caru Mahārāja... [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] That you stay here, but because about Swāmī Mahārāja, our Guru Mahārāja had some reverence for Śrīdhara Mahārāja so you can go and hear from him, but you stay here. And your problem will be; if not yours, but some others also, that if we stay with them in their association, then our hearing will not be very, of perfect nature. The contamination of that place that will arrest our progress.” So you may take, some may think to take extreme step, those very lovers of the ideal, and if they think, “I think Dhīra Kṛṣṇa’s position is such. He has got so much confidence here that he’s a desperate man now. He could not...

He told that: “If I’m allowed to remain with your association I must be allowed to speak the truth. But if you come to interfere there I leave your association. I like my ideal the best, open, it is open. At the cost of anything I shall try to follow the highest ideal. That is the be all and end all of my life.”

So in that case we don’t want, from his position we say that I don’t want to abandon your company, but I want to keep the standard. You come to the standard, I with you one and same, but if you deviate from the standard what I realise I can’t indulge in that. It is a question of adjustment, personal adjustment; individual adjustment.

Once in our Maṭha, Gauḍīya Maṭha, it so happened, I was one side and the Governing Body anyhow by the majority they passed a resolution. And the Secretary told me, whom I had some reverence, told me, “You are compelled to obey the decision of the Governing Body.”

I told, a little harshly, and offensively, to that remark, “That I, ha, ha, ha, I pass urine to your Governing Body.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I want to have the service of the Lord whose direction I shall be able to go further to that higher destination. That is the only aim in my life. And what I shall do with your Governing Body and so many properties under the management of Governing Body? I don't want them at all. Why do you show to me the Governing Body, the majority of the resolution of the majority of the Governing Body? I don't care a fig for that. That was my remark. And still I am there, still I am there. Even, so many friends wanted me to become Ācārya. I thought, there were many senior brothers...

...service of Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa. Governing Body has control over so many centres, under it. I have got not least temptation for that. I don't want so many centres or wealth, permanence and the properties that are under Governing Body. My only earnestness is to go towards Mahāprabhu under the guidance of a Vaiṣṇava. What Governing Body will help me for that? Only true Vaiṣṇava I want. That is my only necessity. Under whose direction I shall be able to go further to that higher soil. That is the only aim of my life. And what I shall do with your Governing Body and so many properties under the management of Governing Body? I don't want them at all. Why do you show to me the resolution of the majority of the Governing Body? I don't care a fig for that. That was my remark. And still I am there, still I am there. Even, so many friends wanted me to become Ācārya. I thought, there were many senior brothers amongst them who selects me to be the Ācārya, but it will be difficult for me to manage with them, and I won't be able to do work under their majority rule, so I refused.

One Mādhava Mahārāja's group, Yājñavara Mahārāja, another Keśava Mahārāja's group; I gave up their proposal. No. I won't go to be Ācārya of your group. So many senior God brothers were there in both the groups. But I'm an idealist all through my life, and I'm out for that and I shall try my best up to my last breath to maintain that inner most sincere seeking purity for the same. That is my, this is my nature, acquaintance. So I'm an extremist in this matter, not to give up the ideal at any cost, at any cost, at any price. I must not go to sell them, to make trade on my ideal fulfilment. I'm that extreme type.

So you consider yourself what to do personally. Because I'm not going to experience the personal difficulties what you will have to do in future, near. So at your own risk you are to, you must look to your own heart, the depth of your heart, what you are to do, or not do. To be or not to be? Hamlet! That is the question. To be or not to be? The challenge is there.

And it is clear to me, we are out for which, not for a, as I told several times, when we joined Gauḍīya Maṭha it was not so very organised richness. But we were not attracted by any glamour of the Maṭha but only the ideal, the highest ideal that attracted. And to be sincere to our own self, to be true to our own self, we must stick to that, to that sort of mentality and boldness and desperate consideration.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Any trouble, the relief will come from above, otherwise we are to suffer.

We are ready, we are out for suffering and putting our hope on the above. Our help from other parts we don't want to take, any pity, any kindness, we are not out to beg, but the grace from above. If I have a drop of grace from that quarter I shall consider myself to be fulfilled like anything. And if so many offerings come from other places I won't accept, I shall be indifferent to them. Not loss or gain of this world I'm to adore. But I shall hope that my guidance which came from above, that may not abandon me in any, under any circumstances. We should try to take our stand there. That is my ideal, my dream, my everything. [?] I can say so only to all, that not at the sacrifice of the high ideal. Few and far between, not, it is not very easy, it is not available to have in every birth, everywhere. Very rarely such connection we may have and it may not be disconnected at any cost. That is our understanding. And for individual case you are to apply for your own self what you are to do. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Organisation, organisation for what? Of course, when many persons assemble all may not be of equal standard, so some sort of deviating tendency may be found there. But the leaders, the stalwarts, they will, their nature should be always to give more value for the ideal. And it will take them up, to draw them upward, the ordinary masses. They may fall down. All may not come for the high spiritual purpose. Some glamour, some...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Grandeur?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not grandeur. As the principle of the hippie, by which they're attracted, by, without principle, by external temporary or accidental glamour you may say. Without consideration, without sober deliberation, whatever he finds he jumps to swallow, that sort of temperament. Many may come with that idea also, that idea.

So, there is a story – Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. There is a story, one sādhu he anyhow secured a disciple. “Come to me, within one year I shall show you God.” Then he took along the man with him and he gave laddhu, puri, etc, many things.

Then one year past, the disciple asking his so called guru, “Gurudeva, you told that after a year you will show God to me. But more than a year past and you are not showing God to me. What’s the matter? I hesitated to put this question to you, but now I can’t tolerate.”

“You fool, you are eating laddhus and puris and so many palatable things, so much and for so long a period. Do you think that God is more tasteful than this? This laddhu, puri, is He more than that, you fool?” That was the answer.

So, we are to deal with substance, substance. The glamour also, external temptation, that may be also utilised for the truth. It may be utilised, but if the real thing is absent the whole thing will begin to rot, will be rotten. Material, this Sai Bābā and so many things are going on, Maheśa Bābā, all these things.

Gauḍīya Maṭha has something that’s standing alone to refute all different traits of religious principles. And we are to understand that, its real position, where it transcends from other proposals of spiritual nature. That adjustment, our Gurudeva used to tell many a time, “Religion is proper adjustment.” We shall meet different conceptions of spirituality, and where, how far they come for the common ground, and where to pass over them. With different proposals there are of so many religious conceptions.

Mahāprabhu Lord Caitanya, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the last book, holy book of Vyāsadeva, Bhāgavatam, surpassing all different conceptions of religion. And where and how, that we are to imbibe and accommodate within us and do accordingly. I may not lose, I shall try to keep others up, but not to take me down.

[“One who has taken his birth as a human being in the land of India [Bhārata-varṣa] should make his life successful and work for the benefit of all other people.”] [Caitanya-caritamṛta, Adi- lila, 9.41]

Mahāprabhu says: “Fortunately you have got a birth in this land of Bhārata-varṣa, the land of highest culture, ancient, eternal. First fulfil your life, your hankering, and then go to help others.”

Hayam asidya katham anyam sadayet [?] One who has not seen the truth, how can he venture to show others to see the truth? So fulfil your own life and at the same time with the help of the higher, keeping your connection with the higher, go to help others. Otherwise the both of you – one is drowning in the water, and if not well equipped to go to rescue him, both of you will die, going down, drowned. Hayam asidya katham anyam sadayet [?] You have it first and then you give it to others. That must be in the connection of Gurudeva. [?]

Birhandiy [?] was a great doctor, Birhandiy was a genius. He was such a genius we are told, he was [?] or something, in England when he went to study, and at the time of his examination he was presented a patient covered, body covered. And the professor asked, “What sort of patient is this? You say.”

He told that, “It is a case of pox.”

So he was in the diagnosis cases he was considered as failed. Then when Birhandiy heard that he came to the professor. “Why sir I don’t get the pass mark?”

“Oh, you committed mistake. That was a case of influenza. It was taken from the hospital for your test and covered.”

“No, no sir. I don’t commit any mistake in diagnosis. That must be a case of pox.”

Then the professor phoned the hospital, that influenza ward. “Oh, how that patient suffering from influenza is doing now?”

The nurse answered, “No, no, sir, the pox has come out. He’s removed in that department.” Then the professor, “How did you detect?”

“I get a scent. Through scent I can understand the patient, the disease.” He was astonished.

And that Birhan Raya [?] once also went to – this is side issue – to see Gandhi when he was taking a fast of twenty one days, after fifteen or so days fast he went to visit him, and after examining he passed a remark, that Birhan Raya. “The physicians of the future time will have to admit that the cause of vitality is not within the body always, but can be without the body. Outside the body the cause may remain to make a body live.” That was one of his remarks.

And another time when so many refugees from Bangladesh came in a very extraordinary flow and the government was not able to manage them, they’re all...

81.10.19.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the government was not able to manage them. They're all sitting here, there, lying, suffering from heat disease, infectious disease." In this way Birhan Raya told. "This is the land of Śrī Caitanyadeva. Is there none who can get relief to these suffering and dying persons, so many? The government has failed to console them in such days of their extreme misery."

That Birhan. And when he was dying, he was heart specialist, and perhaps up to eighty years he lived. When he was dying Radhakrishnan came to see him. Jawaharlal [Nehru] was aching at that time, he could not come. They loved him much. Birhan Raya told, he consulted doctors with full consciousness, they told, "For certain, this injection perhaps will be fittest at this stage."

"Yes," Birhan Raya told, "Yes, that is the medicine and you may inject, but who will receive the injection he's not present. The medicine, there must be some vitality within who will receive the medicine and apply it in its work: he's absent. So who will utilise your medicine, he's absent, he's no longer." Injection was given but succumbed.

So this example from where – what I was talking, that this example was necessary? The receiver is not here.

Mādhava Mahārāja: You were talking about the refugees from Bangladesh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. That is side issue. Before that. I came to Birhan Raya only for that, then as a side issue two incidents were mentioned by me.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Para-upakāra, helping others, bhārata-bhūmite.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

bhārata-bhūmite haila manuṣya-janma yāra [janma sārthaka kari' kara para-upakāra]

[“One who has taken his birth as a human being in the land of India [Bhārata-varṣa] should make his life successful and work for the benefit of all other people.”] [Caitanya-caritamṛta, Adi-līla, 9.41]

...

Proper recipient must be, the well doer must be there, then he can do good to others: something like that perhaps. To utilise the organisation, the organisation is there but to utilise the organisation some spiritual hand must be there to utilise it, the inner man to utilise, or all is useless. Useless: utilisation for what purpose?

Once, while in Vṛndāvana parikramā, in Kamavana, so many volunteers also drawn to help the parikramā organisation and there was some quarrel between the volunteers. Prabhupāda was in a solitary camp, and we are three, four, sitting around him. And Bon Mahārāja he was delivering lectures to minimise the quarrel amongst the volunteers.

And there he was saying: “Many good organisations are there in the world. We don’t claim that as an organiser we are of best quality. But that organisation they’re serving very lower causes. And you have got the chance to serve the cause of the very higher order. That is the speciality here, you have got chance. But mere organisation – organic perfection may be seen anywhere, but the speciality of the organisation that the highest truth is being imparted through this organisation. This is its fortune. This is the thing to be proud of, the quality.”

Quality is very rare. Quantity we are in the midst of, that is ample all around, quantity of many things. But our progress means quality not quantity. Quantity to be eliminated and quality to be searched and to earn to have, quality. We are all out for quality. And wherever we are quantity is everywhere.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

It will be good, and to keep up the prestige of Swāmī Mahārāja also if you work harmoniously: prestige. But at the same time, what for he came to you, that should not be ignored. That is my... cooperation, work together that is well and good, but not at the cost of the principle. That is my last word to you all, and you are to do according to your own individual judgement, you are to take step.

Hitch, clash, quarrel, that is not desirable, not desirable, but if it is unavoidable at all for the upkeep of one’s own proper life we can’t avoid.

Ātmā sei prati vintare [?] There is a saying of Cāṇakya [Paṇḍita], the renowned politician of ancient India. He was living during the time of Alexander [the Great], and Candragupta [Mahārāja].

Tad adekam kula sharte [?] A general education for the society: “We shall reject one to save our family.”

Grama sharte kulan tad ete [?] “For the interest of the whole village I may even give up my own family.”

Desha sharte tadit gramam [?] “And if necessary for the good of the country I shall leave my village.”

Ātmā sei prati vintaret [?] “But to save one’s own self one should even sacrifice even, leave the whole of the world to save one’s own self.” Ātmā tei prati vintaret [?] “The whole world may be left if it comes into clash with one’s own selfish realisation of selfish purpose.”

So I’m greater to me than the environment. I want greater environment only for my improvement, and to eliminate previous environment.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

That is the motto. “The present environment may not have any fascination for you. Go ahead, go onward, onward, towards My direction.” No risk no gain.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

“Yes, my judgement is on the whole, yes, I’m, we’re very eager and we like it also to work together with our God brothers, but my friend not at the sacrifice of the high ideal for which we have come out.” That idea should be kept. Some elimination if necessary we may tolerate. But if for the organised unity so many high cultured souls they become indifferent to the organising people, then what good should we derive out of our special love for the organisation? Let us come and see.

I asked that consult the so many stalwarts that are dissatisfied with the present administration and then you meet together and you form some resolution, put that to the administering party, ‘that so many important persons are being indifferent and going away from the organisation, and they’re all good. So modify your administration in such and such way and accommodate all the higher personalities of sincere hankering for the truth.’

And if they do not do, then you can form a separate organisation and go on with the teachings of the truth as you have heard from Swāmī Mahārāja: a separate organisation. You should not neglect though the stalwarts that came.

“And more recruitment at the cost of the so many stalwarts sincere that came to serve Swāmī Mahārāja, and to have some man power or money power, that is not the desired thing for our mission. It came by the word, by the beauty of the instruction, the men and money came, and we shall try to keep up that standard. It will automatically come, not at the sacrifice of the highest principle. We can’t tolerate that. That is our vitality. That is our vitality. We can’t live without that. So with folded palms we pray to you, consider this and keep us along with you. We’ll be so much happy. But our heart is burning seeing so many things that are going against the ultimate desire of our Guru Mahārāja. How can we see with our own eyes such deviation, and still indulge in encouraging that going away from, flying away from the principle. We can't tolerate that."

With all sincerity you talk with Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, "You come to save us. We're not eager to erect some anti movement or anti organisation to fight with you. That's not at all within us. We can't tolerate to look that the body is going down from the ideal. That is our inner pain. So you are also a man, though chairman of the organisation, but as a sincere devotee we appeal to your heart. And if we are misguided, help me, instruct me. If we are misguided we are to mend us, eager to mend us. We have got no other ulterior motive to stand against you or to cut off your connection, no. If for the principle which is necessary we can't help so we're indifferent because we can't help."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. You can approach in a body also. Bhāvānanda Mahārāja is the present chairman.

"You come to our relief. We're a particular group and our ideals are such and such. You consider. We have not come here to play the part of enemy of Swāmī Mahārāja's organisation. Not come to stand against the organisation created by our Guru Mahārāja, not come for that purpose. But the present circumstances forcing us, and if we commit mistake please correct us. We are not very eager for our personal prestige, or power seeker we are, never. We want sincerely to make, continue our search after Kṛṣṇa, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, we want to search where is Kṛṣṇa. Kāhān kṛṣṇa prāna nātha vrajendra.

[kāhān mora prāna nātha muralī-vadana / kāhān karoṇ kāhān pān
vrajendra-nandana]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "Where is my beloved Kṛṣṇa? I can't tolerate His separation. Where is the Lord of My life, who is playing His flute? What shall I do now? Where should I go to find the son of Mahārāja Nanda?”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.15]

The life of our life, the existence of our existence, the aspiration, the object of the highest aspiration where is He? We are eager to go towards that path, that way, if possible to find Him, or very nearer friend of Him.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The nose and the breath, the breath is more important than the nose. With the nose if we take the breath it is well and good, but breath is indispensable. If we are to spare one, the nose may be rejected, but breath we can't leave. Such, the organisation is good, but the breath, taking of breath, that chance must be there.

[?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have not taken your breakfast? Is it not?

Mādhava Mahārāja: I'm taking so much breakfast.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Many things are ānukūl to stay in the society because of facility. There is facility for extensive preaching. And then other things are prātikūl.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you calculate and this is the capital and this is the balance, plus, minus.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Debit, credit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So much credit and so much debit, and considering the two, what will be. You must want some gain. You do like that, that so much benefit I get if I stay with the organisation, and so much loss I have to incur if I stay with the organisation. And what will be the balance? According to the balance you are to do, take your action. That is common sense.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Mahārāja, where should one place the emphasis? Should the emphasis be more on preaching, or more on personal development?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Preaching is necessary, indispensable for personal development. Preaching is not another thing. Mahāprabhu told, Bhāgavat told, that preaching is the highest help to one's self realisation. Kīrtanam means the reproduction, to receive and to reproduce, kīrtana. A sincere man when he's reproducing he will get something new, push from inside, inspiration, also. So kīrtana has been considered to be the highest method because you cannot but be all attentive when you are reproducing something to others. Within when you are trying meditation, even when attending some lecture, śravaṇa, you may be absent minded. But when you're talking to someone you cannot be absent minded. All attentive otherwise you cannot talk irrelevant. So the internal culture reaches the extreme when you are reproducing. And you already heard, received, you are to reproduce that if you are properly making, taking to kīrtana, you can't talk at random. You must be all attentive. And every fibres of your body and mind will be engaged unconsciously. So the cultivation is the most advanced stage in kīrtana. And also the environment which would have come to attack you, that is also being disinfected by kīrtana, and many others also being fed, not only feeding yourself, but at the same time they're also being fed.

Offensive for offensive: the last stage in Russia perhaps, Hitler and Russia war, the defensive could not give the desired result, the defensive. So offensive for offensive, that method was taken up in the last period of the war, offensive. So Kali, the environment is offensive and if you are passive they will try to enter you and you may not be, utilise your full energy for meditation, may be absent minded. And offensive for offensive, the environment is unfavourable and you try to make your surroundings also, create things that will fight with one another. The offensive for offensive, and you will be all attentive, that is the best opportunity automatically we get in kīrtana.

So kīrtana, is not for the, the greatest enemy is pratiṣṭhā, that is one's own prestige, one's good name, fame. We shall be careful about that. Kīrtana, all our activity if we want that it will be bhakti proper, devotion proper, then the recipient will be, the result of my activity will go to my Lord and not to me. That should be the tenor, the very life of all our activity. Whatever I'm doing, the gain what I, the benefit what I derive from my activity, my Lord will get that and not myself under any circumstances. That is the thread that must be there. That is bhakti proper, not individual recipient character should be maintained, to make it devotional activity. We shall always be awake to that fact.

[mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr,] mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

The result, ha, ha, that is that Hegel, “Reality is For Itself.” Not only He’s omniscient but He’s all enjoyer. We are to accommodate that with that ideal, He’s all enjoyer, only all enjoyer is He. And we are all materials to promote enjoyment to Him. That is our constitutional position, and that is our liberated self, otherwise we’re under illusion, labouring under illusion. We are to tolerate this, that He’s the only enjoyer, everything to satisfy Him everything is meant. And we are all making encroachment of different ways and so we suffer. His position is such that He’s the enjoyer of everything. Everything exists to satisfy Him, and we are also. Our existence also to satisfy Him, then it is advaya-jñāna, then it is Absolute One. There are so many share holders – no! Ha, ha. Not separate person to get enjoyment, it must be connected, that is the highest, most important thing. “For Itself, Reality is For Itself.” So die to live, die to live, self determination, that is to die as we are at present, we are to die, and the golden friend from within will come out, that of a cent per cent servitor of the Lord. He’s the only enjoyer. We are to realise that fact, to swallow that bitter however that may be that bitter pill, that He’s the enjoyer, wholly. Otherwise only lip deep admittance that, ‘Yes, He’s all in all, He’s the Absolute.’ Only intellectual confession won’t do. From the heart we must accept the fact that He’s the all enjoyer and we are all fodders to fulfil His desire, and we must find our satisfaction in that position of us. Die to live. And He’s for Himself, He’s not subservient to any other thing in the world. Then He’s God, then He’s Kṛṣṇa. So we are out for the greatest fight ever one can have and think and dream of. We are soldiers to fight out that cause. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Mādhava Mahārāja: So one has to make a certain amount of preparation before he can preach. One has to prepare himself to a certain degree before he can preach.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. To maintain his position, right position, then he can distribute, so śravaṇa kīrtana. And if one is sincere the caitya Guru is there. The mahanta Guru may not be present always, so caitya Guru is there to help him, only he will have such sincerity of heart, proper seeking, proper search for the Truth Absolute. Then wherever in scripture, in the words, instructions of a sādhu he will just catch that and keep it, the highest jewel in his heart. “Oh. He’s such. I shall consider myself most successful and helpful if I get the chance of dying in this battle.” Ha, ha, ha. But really I do not die. A good soldier he will not care about the circumstances, but if call comes he will jump to give his life. Die to live. So wholesale death, what we are.

Edei kori sarbanas [?] Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, “The new body will spring up from the fire of service.” Edei kori sarbanas [?]

And what we consider at present to be our very nearer enclosure that will all vanish. I shall have a new life in that domain, back to home, back to God, svarūpa-sundarn, and that is like a minor sleeping within the heart. That is also here within me, that is now, with morphine injection we swoon. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare. Hare Rāma.

So this is fight, fight for invisible, are you prepared for that? And whether I will have the chance of seeing Him very soon that is also uncertain. But still His news is such things there are and if I live at all I must live for that, otherwise life has no charm for me. The alternative dismissed in this way. If I have Kṛṣṇa I want to live, if not, or Kṛṣṇa bhakta, Guru, devotee, I shall live, otherwise life is tasteless. I don’t want to live any more.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare. Hare Rāma Hare Rāma. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, it is said, nikuñja-yūno rati-keli-siddhyai, [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 6], that the spiritual master is engaged in the most confidential service of the gopīs. Is that true for every Guru, or is it in special cases?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the Guru tattva has been given to us to be seen that, “I am there. I am there.”

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

The highest thing present there without your consciousness. The guidance comes from Kṛṣṇa. He’s in the back, so everything is true there. So we are told that Kṛṣṇa’s will, delegation, we are not to forget, that Kṛṣṇa’s delegation, His will is at the back of this relief work for us. So as much as I’ll be awakened I’ll be able to trace the inner wealth and the inner gradation, progress, in Him. And He may even change this external figure, but the internal thread of distributing Kṛṣṇa bhakti, that will remain all along.

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

Why this has been given to us, though we find a devotee? Always by the devotee He does the work. Still He says in śāstra, “I am there giving respect for Me.”

In Ekādaśī general devotees they’re not offered this anna-prasāda, but we can offer that to Gurudeva only. We can bow down to Gurudeva, even in the front of the Deity, but we do not do so to ordinary Vaiṣṇava. This is the special characteristic of Gurudeva. Because in śāstra it is told that, “When My delegated power descends to take the devotees to Me, like a thread within.” And externally He may – a primary teacher, or an ordinary teacher, or a specialist doctor – according to my development He will adjust accordingly. It is His business. None can give Him without He Himself, so His will is there. He can only give Him, no other, but the devotees. So devotees they come to take me up. And wherever there’s Guru, duty of Guru, we are told to give respect to that form, the Supreme. Then as much – there is another secret – as much as we make progress we are going to be located properly, then according to His order we see a particular group of servitors and there finally we are adjusted to have the eternal serving order.

First negotiation with Him, and this He sends Guru, and gradually, in the conclusion also, He puts up with His confidential servitor group. “Go on serving Me with the help of them.” The last posting is like that.

Talking about the highest attainment of rasa, mādhyura-rasa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Bhāgavatam it is also said: ‘rudro ‘dvijaṁ viṣam. If one is not Mahādeva, if he drinks poison, he’s sure to die. But Mahādeva took the poison and ultimately it came like an ornament in his throat, Nīlakaṇṭha, that ornament, ‘rudro ‘dvijaṁ viṣam.

[“One should never imitate the behaviour of great personalities. One who foolishly does so, even mentally, is doomed, just as one who imitates Lord Śiva drinking poison.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.33.30]

After giving description of the rasa-līlā Śukadeva gives a warning: “That what I told, this is the higher attainment, but one must be, must make himself fit to accept it, otherwise they misunderstand, he will mistake, and they will have to die. Samācarej jātu manasāpi. Even mentally, by imagination one must not venture to approach such things, manasāpi. Anīśvaraḥ, who is not master of his own, who is slave of his senses, they must not venture to come to such degree of confidential pastimes of the Lord. Then: mauḍhyād, and if out of foolishness, ignorance, if they come in contact they will have to die. Vinaśyaty ācaran mauḍhyād yathā. If due to ignorance they anyhow come to partake in it, even mentally, they will have to die, a spiritual death. Vinaśyaty ācaran mauḍhyād. How? Yathā ‘rudro ‘dvijaṁ viṣam. If one is not Śiva and he takes poison, he’s sure to die. But Śiva after drinking so much poison only he was ornamented, Nīlakaṇṭha.

Once, when the first starting of Bengal Chemicals here in Bengal, in India also first, P.C. Raya, the famous chemist, and Kartik Bose, a good doctor and organiser, they started Bengal Chemicals: that was the first medicine factory in India. Now Bombay and Madras, so many places, but then that was first. And according to their book knowledge they went to prepare some medicine. But to their astonishment they found that it is only smoke it is producing, but none of the desired medicine. Then, stopping that, Kartik Bose he ran to Kunava [?], the British firm, near Calcutta, with motor. I heard it from Swāmī Mahārāja. He ran to Kunava [?], and there was the British firm. He took him to their own factory, and with their help they came to produce the desired medicine. Otherwise only smoking – that was produced. So practical knowledge is necessary, is very urgently necessary, that can help us, the practical knowledge. They were scholars. P.C. Raya, he was a renowned chemist. He had some research also, Dr. P.C. Raya. And that was in Allahabad, through Swāmī Mahārāja they opened the...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...very shortly he will get that thing. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61] The Vedas are only searching for Him. Yogendra durgama gati [?] And the great yogīs cannot have any trace where He’s residing. So: Sastavi navastar [?] sudurlabha bhagavata hi loke, the real devotees are very rarely to be found in this world.

[O Vaisnava! To see you is the perfection of the eyes. To touch your holy feet is the perfection of the body. To vibrate your holy qualities is the perfection of the tongue, for it is very rare to find a pure devotee within this world.] [Hari-bhakti-sudhodaya, 13.2] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 3.47]

We may not contact with a sham thing, we must be very much cautious. We may not make real progress but we may not take anything for something, one thing for another thing. That is tama guṇa. In tama guṇa, the nature of tama guṇa is said in Bhagavad-gītā, he takes something instead of another thing. That is the sign of tama guṇa. There is selection but wrong selection. Wrong selection is the nature of tama guṇa. And the raja guṇa, little higher, it cannot ascertain. And sattya guṇa can hit the right thing. That is the distinction. So this tama guṇa influence that urges us for wrong selection. Selection, we can’t wait for any selection, selection must be done:

very asahiṣṇunā, unforbearing, so wrong selection comes out of that temperament without giving the real value to the real thing. That’s the greatest enemy. We should wait and we should get, we should have a mind to – proper price for the proper thing. That sort of attitude we must have.

who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

That is also, teaches us, wait and see, taror api sahiṣṇunā, not like a voracious eater, whatever I shall get I shall swallow it, whatever it may be, without considering what is. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That impatient patient: a

We feel that you are protecting us – our future.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We depend on you, on your grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whatever topics are coming I am going on to say something according to my knowledge and my experience. Śāstric knowledge, knowledge drawn from, we have heard from our Guru Mahārāja, and experience I have got during his stay and after his departure. I'm sincerely trying to put that for your consideration, so much, nothing more.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And I feel always that what Guru Mahārāja wanted from me I did not mind much for that. In my last days he's rather exacting from me some sort of use, from his side. That is my reward. I consider that to be my reward, that in old age, very feeble condition, but still I'm utilised by him, unexpectedly surrounded and snatched from the, what little experience I have got in my life coming in connection with that divine master. That is my own reward. I'll be satisfied with that. Gaura Hari. Just before my demise I'm forcibly engaged in kīrtana.

He was very fond of kīrtana our Guru Mahārāja. We saw he couldn't, can't speak, still if anyone came he cannot but speak. I saw, we saw it with our own eyes, if anyone comes.

Once in Bombay one Marati [?] gentleman came to hear from him. "Who is sādhu?" That was his question.

He was very tired and he asked me to answer. I began with this śloka of Bhāgavatam:

["My pure devotees are always in My heart, and I am always in their heart. My devotees know nothing but Me, and I know nothing but them."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.68]

I began with this śloka but he was not satisfied. He took it from me and began to talk about sādhu. But I thought that I was misunderstood. I...

Devotee: The following is a darśana of His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī recorded on October thirtieth, nineteen eighty one.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaladhi means seven, jaladhi means sagar, sapta sagar, so the emblem – ishū [?] means five, panca van, ishū means van, ishū represents five, and jaladhi seven, seven, five. Then the Veda, four. And conquesta vana gadhi [?] it is a custom that will be just opposite. The four will come, jaladhi seven, ishū means five, and veda means four. Cari veda, panca van, sapta samudra. And that will be best opposite, it is a custom. So the four, five, seven, four hundred fifty seven, this is the custom.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: All right. Venkatta could not understand this, and I also of course couldn't.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everywhere in Sanskrit, not in figure but in this sign, the sound, representing...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In every śloka you find that is the custom.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, very nice.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three eyes of the, Mahādeva and...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Indicates four, five is vana [?] panca sad [?], then six is etoo [?] the seasons, seven, samudra. Also same thing, eight, vasu, asta vasu, nine, nidi, nava nidi, ten, direction. Indra, Ekadas, Rudra...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Different signs there are. Yuga also four, Veda four, Yuga, Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali, that is also accepted as four. Guṇa also as three, sattya, raja, tama: guṇa may be used for three. In this way there are different words which carry the meaning of that...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who are you?

Devotees: Kaśirāma dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaśirāma.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So another question: different subject.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Imlitalā I wrote a few ślokaś there in the stone, it is put there. Then there was one thing, none can explain the meaning in that place.

And one Sakhī Bābu who reconstructed that position, that present temple, he told that when Mahāprabhu visited this place, when Govinda Mahārāja from Badarikāśrama he halted in Vṛndāvana, he asked, “What year Mahāprabhu visited this place?”

And Govinda Mahārāja told, “Gurudeva has, or, Mahārāja has composed these Sanskrit ślokaś – it must be mentioned there.” Then he pointed out, this is the time. Ratnesu vedaneti [?]

There it was mentioned, ratnesu vedani, what is the meaning of this ratnesu? So many paṇḍitaś they also come; can’t understand ratnesu vedaneti. Ratnesu generally they take the seventh vivakti [?] in plural number, devasu, narasu, ratnesu, but ratna and esu, ratnesu, they can’t follow that. Ratnesu vedanite [?]

The four, five, and ratna means nine, nava ratna. Then he pointed out that this is it, this is the time when Mahāprabhu visited here, ratnesu vedanite.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Same principle here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the – always generally this custom – in Rāmānanda Rāya, Godāvarī, there is: Goravadhi yadi yuga āśrama yuge gauri yuga āśrama yuge [?]

Yuga means four, āśrama means four, āśrama - catur āśrama, brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannnyāsī, four āśramas there are four, yuga there are also four, Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali. Yuga āśrama yuge, four, four, four. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This, in the translation of Caitanya-caritāmṛta by our Guru Mahārāja, on the verse:

śikṣā-guruke ta' jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa, antaryāmī, bhakta-śreṣṭha, - ei dui rūpa

[“One should know the instructing spiritual master (śikṣā guru) to be Kṛṣṇa Himself. As Guru, Kṛṣṇa manifests as the Supersoul and as the best of devotees.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi- līlā, 1.47]

In the tattvarja he has written that: “There are two kinds is śikṣā guru, one is the liberated person fully absorbed in meditation in devotional service: and the other is he who invokes the disciple’s spiritual consciousness by means of relevant instructions.” Two types, one who’s absorbed in meditation in devotion – another who gives instruction; that means we can...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Within and without – from within who guides, that is also śikṣā Guru, by comparative study etc, dictates, dictation from within, for proper guidance, that is caitya Guru, the Guru that has got his position in our citya, in our heart. And śikṣā Guru, this is one, and another, second, the mahanta Guru who is fully established services of the Lord, he may be entrusted to take our direction of services from him: śikṣā Guru, dīkṣā Guru, they also represent Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has mentioned in his Vāṇī Vaibhava, antaraṅga and bahiraṅga Guru, that is the same?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Antaraṅga and bahiraṅga?

Devotee: Hmm, antaraṅga Guru and bahiraṅga Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Antaraṅga Guru and bahiraṅga Guru, I want to, little more further step, what does he mean to understand, to follow. It may be another conception also, antaraṅga and bahiraṅga. Inner dictator and dictator from the outside, but that may include not even that śikṣā Guru, in the case of that avadhūta, fourteen [24?] Gurus. Everyone gives suggestion to him as a Guru. “I learn this thing from that bird. I learn this thing from that beast. I learn this thing from the ant.” That is chavishh [?] fourteen Gurus, the avadhūta, in Bhāgavatam [beginning at 11.7.25] it is mentioned. He receives instruction from the nature also, suggesting something.

Suppose the bird cātaka who does not take water from the ground, but always expecting a drop from the cloud. This will give suggestion to us that we won’t take anything but what is given by the Guru, Vaiṣṇava, I must take that and nothing from anywhere else. And so many things when the mind is: māyā santuṣṭa-manasaḥ, sarvāḥ śivamayā.

[sadā santuṣṭa-manasaḥ, sarvāḥ śivamayā diśaḥ śarkarā-kaṇṭakādibhyo, yathopānat-padaḥ śivam]

[“For a person who has suitable shoes on his feet, there is no danger even when he walks on pebbles and thorns. For him, everything is auspicious. Similarly, for one who is always self satisfied there is no distress; indeed, he feels happiness everywhere.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.15.17]

When He’s within he says everything is helping him to direct him towards the final end. He can read in a particular position, the sādḥaka, almost a siddha, they find that everything is conducting him towards his desired end, whatever.

Mahāprabhu when dancing madly in the front of Jagannātha Deva, He was chanting an ordinary śloka, or ordinary poem, epic, but the suggestion there He’s taking and becoming mad in devotion. So all the reading of the environment – there is a particular stage when all will show towards Kṛṣṇa, ‘go towards this.’

Just as here in the land of exploitation whatever we see we try to get some sort of service from him, even a tree, even a beast, whatever we see, how to exact something from him. That is our lookout always, how to get some benefit from whatever I come across: exploitation, exploitation. And renunciation means everything is apathetic, everything is disgusting. Whatever I come across I become disgusted, that is bad, that is bad, that is bad. Everything is bad, uncongenial. That is the basis of the spirit of renunciation. We feel disturbed by anything and everything. And exploitation, we want to get some benefit, derive some sort of benefit from whatever we see.

And when established in the realm of service everything is helping him, ‘go, do this service, do this. I’m doing, you also do.’ That is in Vṛndāvana – that is really to live in Vṛndāvana, in Navadvīpa, where everything is – ‘I’m serving Kṛṣṇa, you also do your duty.’ That sort of instruction, that sort of wave will come to my plane of heart. ‘We are doing, you do. We are doing, you do,’ giving suggestion, a push towards my serving temperament. To be in Goloka, to be in Vaikuṇṭha, that means subtle plane has come there, atmosphere, their attraction, they’re all carrying to the centre.

In a mob, if I stand, by the push I can go, I have to go, go forward. Sometimes in a crowd, if I stand in the midst of a crowd I’m bound to go ahead because the whole crowd is moving forwards, I have no other alternative but to move forward.

So that current towards Kṛṣṇa, to the service, everyone will help me. ‘Come along with me, we are doing.’

And here, the land of exploitation, everything, everyone is exploiting tendency, whatever he’ll find. Even the Deities also, that is also being exploited. ‘Give something. I’m giving some one rupee bhoga to You, You give me a thousand rupees to favour me that I may get a good business. I’m giving something,’ the trading even with the Deity, with Nārāyaṇa. Because this is the land of exploitation we do not know anything but exploitation.

So exploitation, renunciation, and service, - there are also submission in them, in all these, mainly three stages. The exploitation, moral exploitation, and immoral exploitation: and the serving that is also according to some śāstric order, and spontaneous, automatic in Goloka. There is generally two divisions there. But exploitation, renunciation or abnegation, and then service, dedication, devotion, three planes of life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So bahiraṅga Guru that are coming to help me from outside, Guru, they’re, Guru means guide, they also help me to go towards my desired end. They’re also doing the duty of Guru to me. They’re exciting me, ‘go, do this, do this. We are doing, you also do. Come with us.’ Bahiraṅga Guru, and from within also, my urge from within, ‘you are still, sitting idle, do your duty. It’s high time.’ That is inner Guru. ‘And this is all transient. Try for the eternal good,’ that internal inspiration. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, here also it’s stated that the dīkṣā Guru is representative of Śrī Madana-mohana Vighraha, and śikṣā Guru is representative of Śrī Govindadeva Vighraha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where do you find?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This is in the purport, tatparyā, by our Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is mentioned so far as I know that Madana-mohana sambandha, Govinda abhidheya, and Gopīnātha prayojana. Sambandha tattva Sanātana Goswāmī and his Lord of worship is Madana-mohana; that gives us sambandha. And Govinda, that is, that worship was given by Rūpa Goswāmī, and he’s the Ācārya of abhidheya, the means to end. And Gopīnātha, that is also reckoned as the, amongst one of the three Deities to be worshipped by the Gauḍīya. Gopīnātha, that is, gives us assurance to, and shelter for our whole life as gopī. So he’s prayojana Ācārya, prayojana tattva. It’s mentioned in that way. But here, where do you, read it out. I shall say.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Here it says, “The initiating spiritual master is a personal manifestation...”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Initiating and who gives the Name, that is also included in initiation, bhāgavati dīkṣā?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So bhāgavati dīkṣā, Harināma and mantra, both?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Initiating master, he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is a personal manifestation of Śrīla Madana-mohana Vighraha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Whereas the instructing spiritual master is a personal representative of Śrīla Govindadeva Vighraha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where have you found it? What is the source?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That's not given.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is he saying this?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This is in the tatpariya to that śikṣā-guruke ta' jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa. In the tatpariya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śikṣā-guruke ta' jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa, antaryāmī, bhakta-śreṣṭha, - ei dui rūpa. Then: anything else there, no other?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes there is, a long tatpariya. The translation: “One should know the instructing spiritual master to be the personality of Kṛṣṇa. Lord Kṛṣṇa manifests Himself as the Supersoul and as the greatest devotee of the Lord.” [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Kṛṣṇa and Madana-mohana one and the same. Śikṣā-guruke ta' jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa. Dīkṣā Guru means Madana-mohana. And the abhidheya, what is that? Govinda? What is that?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says [in the purport of Ādi-līlā, 1.47]: “Śrīla Sanātana Goswāmī is the ideal spiritual master, for he delivers [one] the shelter of the lotus feet of Madana-mohana. [Even though] one may be unable to travel on the field of Vṛndāvana due to forgetfulness of his relationship with the Supreme [Personality of Godhead] Lord, he can get an adequate opportunity to stay in Vṛndāvana and derive all spiritual benefits by the mercy of Sanātana Goswāmī.”

Then he says: “Śrī Govindajī acts [exactly] like the śikṣā-guru by teaching Arjuna Bhagavad-gītā. He is the original preceptor, for He gives us instructions and an opportunity to serve Him.”

Then he says: “The initiating spiritual master is a [personal] manifestation of Śrīla Madana-mohana Vighraha, whereas [the] instructing spiritual master is a personal representative of Śrīla Govindadeva Vighraha. Both of these Deities are worshipped at Vṛndāvana. Śrīla Gopīnātha is the ultimate attraction in spiritual realisation.” Then he says...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it comes to that line.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sambandha, abhidheya, and prayojana.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Gopīnātha ultimate; and instruction in the middle how to go on with our service that is from Govinda; and Madana-mohana you get a general conception of the whole and to attract, direct, where should I be, gathered, what is our ultimate connection with whom – that from Madana-mohana.

That means the highest power in the world discovered ever is charm, charming beauty. And Madana-mohana Who can even charm the Madana, here in the land of exploitation the principal cause of the whole movement is the principle of lust. To be united, the men and women will be united, and that is the object of the highest conception of pleasure. And we all undergo so many variegated nature, the remote aim is to have some of that sort of enjoyment. That is the engine which is moving this whole structure, to be united. Men and women will be united and thereby some different sort sense pleasure. All the pleasure is intensifiedly collected there, and anyone who is taking pain of doing so many things, the object is to that pleasure. That is the perverted reflection of the above.

So there also in Rādhā-Govinda milan and that sort of pleasure just the opposite, the Kṛṣṇa kāma, Madana-mohana, Who is charming even this Cupid, Cupid of this world. This is the lowest kāmāṇḍa tama, the extremely opposite thing here, the dense darkness; and that is the dense light, the nirmala bhaskara, that is the purest. To dedicate for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, the centre, the love; and this is the opposite for sense pleasure. So ultimately the highest force is the charm. The charm of loving nature and beauty: that is there, and here also the opposite.

Now that sort of attraction in a vague way, that is the cause of attracting, taking us to that land to be united with Kṛṣṇa in that mādhyura rasa, the kāma, the aprākṛta kāma and the prākṛta kāma. Then, we cannot feel or not, the main attraction of the two poles, south and north pole, the attraction. So when we cross the marginal line and put in the area of Vaikuṇṭha, that sort of attraction, knowing consciously or unconsciously, draws us that side: that is sambandha. That makes us – that is the very basis of the calculation of all other relations around. That is the main attraction for which we adjust and readjust and this way we move that side: sambandha jñāna. The cause of the relationship with that land is that main attractive power, Madana-mohana. Madana-mohana, His name is Madana-mohana. Kṛṣṇa means attraction, absolute attraction. And what is that absolute attraction? That is Madana in the nature of the last of this natha Madana-mohana, that is prema. Madana-mohana represents the prema. So that main attraction, consciously or unconsciously we are drawing towards that. That is sambandha. And I'm adjusted and readjusted in that while making advancement on that way. So the main thing is that Madana-mohana.

Then Govinda comes to be the presiding Deity of our duties. 'Do this, do this, do this, then you'll make progress,' abhidheya. Abhidheya means 'means to end.' How you will make progress? Utilise your senses for His satisfaction, in this way, that way, that way, in details and go ahead. And that attraction, Madana-mohana, that is the beginning. And Govinda will help you to go ahead, eliminating something and receiving something, in this way utilising your senses, your brain, your intelligence, your body, mind, word, and utilising in this way go ahead. This is Govinda's position.

And Gopīnātha, when you have reached your desired position, to give you shelter within His camp, to keep you for eternity. There with Gopīnātha you are a gopī and He's your eternal master, and He gives you permanent shelter. That is prayojana. He will take the charge of you for eternity, look after you as a guardian, and you will be under His care forever. That is Gopīnātha. Prayojana.

In these three aspects the Lord approaches us, or accepts us. So we find special characteristic in three phases. Though one, but in three phases He comes to our help: so Madana-mohana, Govinda and Gopīnātha. And in our mantram also we find Kṛṣṇa, Govinda and Gopīnātha. Kṛṣṇa represents Madana-mohana in the mantram. The mantram which we get from Gurudeva, there also Kṛṣṇa, Govinda and Gopīnātha, and Kṛṣṇa represents Madana-mohana. And Govinda is there and Gopīnātha is also there in the mantram. Kṛṣṇa, Govinda, Madana-mohana. And Madana-mohana is not mentioned but Kṛṣṇa representing Madana-mohana in the mantram, so Kṛṣṇa and Madana-mohana one and the same. That is, attractor, simple attraction. And then the detailed action how we can adjust us with the attraction, and we can make progress. That is Govinda. And when reached our goal for permanent guidance, shelter, the arrangement is made by Gopīnātha. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta told that Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī was a mañjarī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Guṇa Mañjarī.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What mañjarī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guṇa Mañjarī.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And that he also saw Rādhārāṇī in his Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he told. Did you find it anywhere?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, but you told Pradyumna once.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but that is, he told just in this way: “If we can look at it with higher angle of vision we see him Rādhārāṇī.” Because he’s Guru:

ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

“He’s my Guru. Guru’s function in the nearest way I find him this Gaura Kīśora Bābājī. But if I with mādhyura rasa touch I enter into her heart, into his heart, we find he’s worshipping in the mood of Guṇa Mañjarī in the camp of Rādhārāṇī. Then if we want to take it in a broader light, ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, the connection coming from the up, then we can see the full mādhyura rasa. Mañjarī is a partial representation, but by the arrangement, by the law of Kṛṣṇa that Guru is myself, so with that said, if I follow that sort of outlook then we can have the mādhyura rasa in full fledge it is there for me. For me, the whole, the perfect rasa, not part representation: ostentatiously he's a part representation of mādhyura rasa, but as the śāstra says, ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān, so you don't think that your Guru is partial representation, but the representation of the whole. But in this particular mood I look on her that he's not a mañjarī. In the most ordinary he's Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja. Then more internal vision I find Guṇa Mañjarī. Then again with the consonance of the śāstric order that he's not partial representation but for me he's full representation within him, in his inner, I can find Guru's full, perfect. Whatever my want, it is not wanted there, it will come from Him, because at the background Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa means mādhyura rasa, the highest, the most magnanimous position is that of Rādhārāṇī. So if I look with a high expectation then I can find Rādhārāṇī in her."

That was his explanation, we took in that way.

He told, plainly, "If I look with a head a little higher standard I find Rādhārāṇī. That full eight rasas, naiyika. Rādhārāṇī represents all the aspects of eight naiyikas in Her, and all else more or less partial representations. And if I try with a broader look I want towards Her I find that the whole of the eight kinds of naiyika rasa is present there for me, by the special grant of Lord Himself."

The Guru to the śiṣya is a full thing not any partial mediator, though as a mediator he's concise, but mediation may come through him as the will of the Supreme. The full may come at His will. So subjective cause we shall always remember.

Paśya me yogam aiśvaram [Bhagavad-gītā, 9. 5] "Arjuna, what am I? Look at Me! I'm not that Kṛṣṇa of you, your friend. Now you see so big."

It is His will. So no under law, we can't bring Him, we can't bring the Infinite in a cage, however big, bigger it may be. You see, no bigger cage can accommodate Infinite. As our habit we want to know everything with boundary line: 'This is this, this cannot be that, this cannot be that, this is this.' We're habituated to think like that. But in the case of Infinite, no boundary, no circumference, all centre. Everywhere there is centre, nowhere circumference. We're approaching that, we must not forget that. So in an atom He can show Himself the full, full representation in an atom, through an atom He may see.

The vijñānī, the scientists, they're going to analyse the atom, a very limited thing...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...going towards Infinite, no end. No end of analysis. Then they're faced with Infinite knowledge, even when they're going to analyse an atom. They're forced to face the infinite aspect of the thing, beginning with an atom analysis. That is connected with Infinite. They will be surprised. The relativity of the atom the Infinite is backing. Something like that.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura divides the brahma-bhūtaḥ stage into two platforms: the svarūpa gatar and the vastu gatar. Could you explain the difference between these two?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa gata relating to himself and vastu gatar relating to the environment, svarūpa gatar and vastu gatar?. And that is also vastu siddhi and svarūpa siddhi. Svarūpa siddhi to realise the ideal in full, and vastu siddhi actual realisation with the environment: one more or less theoretical, another more or less practical. One by determination, by plan, ideal: another actual participation there.

Suppose some I.C.S. Officer he has passed practical examinations, everything he's passed, he has attained the position of an I.C.S. Officer in full. Then he's given a particular post and comes into practical experience. The theoretical qualification he has attained by passing the examination, then he's given a post to act in that way. When he's acting in his position in the service practically he's doing those duties what he got in his training time to the fullest extent. Something like that.

That theoretical realisation to the full and then to be utilised in the practical life, that is svarūpa siddhi and vastu siddhi. Vastu siddhi by sādhana, by his śravaṇa, kīrtana, all the methods he has just reached the highest point of his life. Then it has been seen vastu siddhi, a process, when his realisation is full. Then where Kṛṣṇa in particular brahmāṇḍa having His bhauma līlā he gets a birth there, in the gopī section, and comes in the prapañca līlā of Kṛṣṇa. And then he gets recognition in the eternal līlā of Kṛṣṇa.

Some theoretical qualification attained, engaged in practical participation of the service. And it has been explained to us that this begins in this plane when Kṛṣṇa has descended and performing His līlā, and he gets a chance there. Suppose a select committee of selection: something like that, and then he's put in the service in fact and he goes and gets engaged himself.

Final, theoretical realisation, then beginning practical life. That is in both, in svarūpa siddhi and vastu siddhi; that means something like that.

But your, in every rasa, in sākhyā rasa, vātsalya rasa, śanta, in every rasa it is like that, not only in mādhyama rasa but every rasa. When first svarūpa siddhi, theoretical realisation finished, and then practical engagement in the līlā. A little difference, appointment of the service, to make fit oneself and then get the appointment: this is the difference.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, since Kṛṣṇa's descending through the Guru, as revealed to the disciple through the Guru... um...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Guru means sad-guru we shall say, not trader, not opaque Guru, transparent, real Guru.

Devotee: Is it, will the disciple of a madhyama-adhikārī Guru achieve the same result as a disciple of an uttama-adhikārī Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. There may be a little difference, but according to his previous sukṛti we may recover the differences. Sincerity – that may be compensated gradually if we are sincere – just as the connection of Guru we may have by the arrangement of the Absolute, so also, after – in my case that madhyama-adhikārī Guru will give this instruction rightly. And also he may retire and I can have – just as in a birth I may have, I may meet one Guru, in another birth I may meet another Guru, but in substantial measurement it is all and same, may be some difference in form. So even in this life also it may be that after some instruction from a particular Guru I may get another śikṣā Guru where I can learn more. Ke? [?] It may not be impossible, because that Guru is one, ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]. Our sincerity and His grace, that is one and the same thing. His grace, simultaneously there may be Guru, we see. Simultaneously many Gurus are doing the work of the Ācārya, duty of the Ācārya. But He's within, everywhere.

In Mahāprabhu's time also, so many Ācāryas, they had their disciples, but everyone is to look at his own Guru as he's the Supreme. He's the most well wisher of mine, my guardian. But everywhere there is ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān.

So many mothers may simultaneously exist to represent their own good of their own sons, own children, and that every mother is the centre, the highest centre of affection to every child. Ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān. His grace may be deposited in that manner. But still there may be some difference though the maximum – not all mothers not equal, and the accomplishment of all the mothers are not equal. But still, generally we expect the maximum affection of the child is within his mother. That is the general way. But there may be taṭasthā-vicāra, this is relative, but the taṭasthā-vicāra from the absolute standpoint there are so many differences in the qualities of the mothers, in training, in intelligence, in affection, there may be. But according to their previous sukṛti they will come to particular mothers.

Always we are faced with these two things, relative and absolute consideration. Relative also necessary and absolute is also there devouring the whole, accommodating whole. All comprehensive, the absolute consideration, but still we cannot ignore the relative position and nature of things distributed. This is general common sense.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Would it be considered an aparādha if a disciple sees his initiating Guru as a madhyama-adhikārī and wants to seek an uttama-adhikārī as śikṣā Guru? Would that be considered an aparādha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, “If we see our Guru as madhyama and we want to find another, uttama-adhikārī, will that be Guru aparādha?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, there are so many who takes, so many – Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, the Guru of our Guru Mahārāja, he took initiation from, as gr̥hastha, from Advaita Goswāmī. But when, as if he surpassed his own Guru, his Guru was a gr̥hastha, but he felt urge that he must devote himself fully for the service. Went to Vṛndāvana and took bābājī-veśa from another Guru of that type. In the strict sense he left this Guru by taking another Guru. There is a contest among the Goswāmīns that gr̥hastha Guru can give his tyāgī Guru, a gr̥hastha Guru, a Goswāmī, he can give the dress of renunciation to one’s own disciple, gr̥hastha disciple. Gr̥hastha Guru gr̥hastha disciple, and the disciple wants to take the dress of renunciation, bābājī-veśa, vaikantic bhajan, the gr̥hastha Guru when he’s representative of God he may give, otherwise it will be Guru tyāga. But the Bābājī class they don’t recognise that, “No. You are gr̥hastha. How can you be the Guru of the tyāgī, bābājī?” So they’re forced to leave this Guru and go to bābājī Guru, tyāgī Guru, and there take that bābājī mantram. These things can go on under their guidance. So this is also a custom, Guru tyāga, it is not Guru tyāga because the real purpose is there.

Sometimes, as Jayatīrtha Mahārāja recommends, in the case of Mukundamālā, “I shall ask Rāmeśvara that he himself will send this Mukundamālā to you. I shall ask him to do this path; that he cannot put śraddhā in him, so it will be, it will look well if he sends himself to you. I shall try for that.”

So sometimes the gr̥hastha Guru will say, “You want to take tyāgī you go and take initiation of the sannyāsa mantra there.” That is well and good. But sometimes they oppose, but still the custom is like that. The Bābājī and the Goswāmī they have got a difference to certain extent in this affair. So if by previous, as the result of previous karma one first comes to a Guru, just as this vartma-pradarśaka, he gets something like ṛtvika, and canvasses and makes him fit to a certain extent, and carries him to his own Guru, “Take initiation here.” But that is also a function of Guru, that function of recruiting. And Guru has also come to recruit. So recruitment, the service of recruitment may be distributed to certain – when parties are sincere there is no difficulty. But there is possibility of differences, and there’s the rub.

Devotee: There was one proposal that the ISKCON initiating Gurus that they’re madhyama- adhikārī so one may take initiation, dīkṣā, from madhyama-adhikārī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, that is also, trouble, many things. Suppose in ISKCON, in general big geographical zone, but in a particular zone he cannot have his respect for the zonal Ācārya but for another Ācārya. His inner tendency he can’t check, inner choice, he has got choice by hearing the words of an Ācārya of another zone. From one zone a man sincerely has liking for the Ācārya of another zone. Then if he’s forced to take this Ācārya of his own zone then some difficult position with the disciple. So free choice, that will be good in one sense, and zonal administration that will be disturbed. So these are the practical difficulties in the management, with relative and absolute, free choice and custom, law, custom and free choice. Free choice and social law come in clash in every stage. They are to meet that difficulty, artificial life to be rejected, to be abolished, then free choice will be given amongst them. But that cannot be allowed for the geographical zonal, but in the mental sphere if we independent of the geography we consider the mental, we give superiority to the mental system, then it comes in clash. So there is facility of the administration, of the constitution, and difficulties also there.

So in their own system such difficulty is there, and so one must be of wide thinking, to deal as much as natural he should be allowed to take. Take the part of more natural, that will be healthy. And much more of laws, regulations, committee, all these things, that will be artificial, more or less artificial, and idolatry. Form worshipper, making too much of that. That is also necessary to certain extent but not to the extreme, not to the extreme.

One and different, acintya bhedaḥbheda, bhedaḥbheda, always this motto to be respected, bheda, bhedaḥbheda, and acintya, not within hard and fast rules, then it is again a machine. Natural and mechanic machine, rules and law, must go side by side. And it should be applied with a skill, with more understanding, and widely with more understanding and intelligence. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Artificial, laboured, and natural. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, yesterday you were saying that the time and space can expand and contract.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, ha, ha.

Devotee: So that is experienced by more advanced devotees, but the sādḥaka he may also experience this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is for particular cases, maybe. There is the sweet will of the Lord. The most needy, sometimes His attention is drawn to that, and sometimes some qualified also may be ignored. We cannot interfere with His independence.

“Why You have shown mercy in his case and not in the case of mine?”

We can't take Him under law. That is not śaraṇāgati. When we put such question before Him then we deviate from the position of śaraṇāgati: not even we can be enlisted into the primary class. So what is the spirit of śaraṇāgati?

“If You come to consider, calculate, I have no hope. I'm such a mean fellow. If You come to calculate right and wrong I have no hope. So I have come to that school of You where only the mercy will be my hope. Only I want Your mercy, but You come to examine me I've got no hope.”

That is the primary necessity in our śaraṇāgati, in our surrendering. Surrender means that. Surrender does not allow you to think that, “Why You have shown grace on him and not on me?” That is anti surrendering temperament. No calculation! “If You come to calculate I have no hope. So some causeless mercy, if You can show some grace to me then I have that hope. I have come to that department of You all by surrendering. So anyone may have His voluntary mercy, I may not have. If I hesitate but think about the justice then I'm already cancelled from the list, my name will be struck out from the register, book.” Do you follow? No?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is very hard, very disappointing.

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One of the finest points in śaraṇāgati, what is surrender, what should be the quality of surrender.

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, [nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā]

["Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant."] [From Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Ātma-nivedana, 3.3]

So with this sort of understanding, this basis, we shall go to surrender. The surrender, calculation is not allowed in that department. Causeless mercy, the department is that of causeless mercy. May be extended to one and not extended to me, A.B.C. I have nothing to complain of the same. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Then what more, the thunder, bolt from the blue. To become śaraṇāgata, to surrender means to give all, leave all the prospects, to be so emptied, no prospect, to be fully emptied, and then to surrender. Not a least application, a least mention in the petition; clean slate surrendering means, surrender. Complete dependence, to make or mar, to admit the right to make or mar. To admit that right in my master that, "I'm slave. I want be a slave."

Mahāprabhu says: Jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 20.108] "That is your constitutional position."

Will you go to, have you got that boldness to admit that, that you have got a full right of your master on you, so much boldness? “Yes, my master has got fullest right on me. I’m ready to go to the eternal hell, if a little pleasure in him.” This tale we see is very sweet to your ear, but to accept I suspect is harder, horrible. Jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa.' No risk no gain, whole risk whole gain. Such confidence, free, clear, bold choice; are you ready for that? Kṛṣṇa is not like a sweetmeat! Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So cheap, so dear! Everywhere, nowhere!

“You all belong to Me.”

We don’t care for you. We are inhabitant of that land now. But really, we have got every right of Him, by constitution. We must be bold enough to call a spade a spade. That is the truth, and Mahāprabhu says that to us. That you are a spade, then don’t say that it an axe. It is a spade, a spade. What is what!

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in Goloka Vṛndāvana there are some personalities, as I understand it, engaged in neutrality or śanta rasa. But Lord Caitanya says that unless one – He did not consider devotional service to begin until dāsyā rasa. So how is it that śanta rasa can be present in Goloka Vṛndāvana?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śanta rasa and dāsyā rasa?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. How...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śanta rasa is passive and dāsyā rasa a little active in a particular way, active, and śanta rasa is passive.

Devotee: Lord Caitanya did not accept devotional service to begin until the stage of dāsyā rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, until we come to dāsyā, then there is no bhakti, there's no sevā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is also passive, in passive way, the taru, the creeper, the tree, the sand, the water, in Vṛndāvana, that is all cinmaya, caitan, that is all spiritual substance, but posing in that way.

vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

Caitan means endowed with – that is conscious and endowed with freedom.

The siṁhāsana, the throne, they're all vaibhava of Baladeva. The throne, this camara, this umbrella, serving in a passive way, extension of Baladeva, the potency of Baladeva they are. Whatever is necessary there in Vaikuṇṭha as materials, the servitors of different types, all conscious units, and extensions of Baladeva, in Vṛndāvana, Nityānanda here.

Devotee: Didn't Lord Caitanya say that devotional service began with dāsyā rasa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A little better, the śanta, the dāsyā is a little better, and then confidential service that is more better than the servant's service. And vātsalya rasa, filial service, that is better than this friendly service. And mādhyura rasa sevā that includes everything and that is considered to be the highest because the service of every element is present there, and in quality also it becomes superior to all.

When the servant brings a glass of water to his master, and wife she brings a glass of water to her husband – externally the same thing, but internally it gives more pleasure to the husband, than the, the wife's service is better than the servant's service. But externally only water affair!

So in mādhyura rasa – the vātsalya rasa prepares food to offer to the son, and mādhyura rasa also prepares food for the husband, but the mādhyura rasa service is more sweet. So all the service of all the rasa in the touch of mādhyura rasa becomes more qualified, it is samaha, all the rasas are within it, and also more sweet. So it is madhura, means sweet. Ke?

Our Atreya Rsi he asked me not to deal with these things, to disturb the ISKCON Movement.

Devotee: Śrīla Prabhupāda has also dealt with these things in his books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But our Akṣayānanda Mahārāja said that though you say these with much caution you say. Not without caution, necessary caution. But our way is such, the mantram, the Guru paramparā, all so much show that this is the way to our destination. But when we shall grow more and more in our experience, in our purity, we shall have to go though by this path to that temple, in this way we shall.

I'm very strict, than other God brothers. I do not exhibit any julan yatra or rasa yatra in the temple, but so many temples they do that.

Our Guru Mahārāja also, in kārtika-mas in Rādhā-kuṇḍa and Vṛndāvana, he chanted that aṣṭa-kālīya-līlā composed by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, but I do not do that. Instead of that I Kṛṣṇa satanam, Gaura satanam, and also only eight ślokaś of Mahāprabhu, and that Damodara stotra, and that Rādhē jaya jaya, that one Rūpa Goswāmī śloka. I'm very strictly confined to lower level, than even Guru Mahārāja gave a little higher, but I'm very strict about that.

But still he asked me to be more sober and more considerate. Not to inaugurate the mādhyura rasa into the field of ISKCON and disturb them, because it is clearly in the Guru paramparā and in the mantra, so can't avoid. So he mildly asked me not to give attention to that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If we only sit – if you do not speak, if we only sit here, still we consider ourselves most fortunate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The most fortunate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Caitanya Mahāprabhu. Dhāma Govardhana especially. Kuliyā prakāśe prabhu śrī kṛṣṇa caitanya ami nahi jani kahe te.

[kuliyā-grāmete āsi' śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya, hena nāhi, yā 're prabhu nā karilā dhanya]

[“At Koladvīpa - the Govardhana Hill of Vṛndāvana, concealed in Śrī Navadvīpa Dhāma - the Most Generous Absolute expressed Himself in His maximum generosity. Without considering any crime, He absolved whoever He found. He accepted them all.”] [Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Antya, 3.541]

The most merciful place Mahāprabhu appeared here. All the sinners of the highest type they were absolved of their sin, offences here in Kuliya prakāśe, after sannyāsa when He came once to give a visit here. At that time whoever approached they got forgiveness. So I've selected this place, this Govardhana Kuliya, the most magnanimous to the extreme one, and Nityānanda Prabhu also passing along both sides of the Ganges.

"Come under the flag of Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu. The least, by spending least energy the maximum gain you can hope, coming under His flag, and most natural and highest attainment, that you can't dream of even." He's wandering from door to door, Nityānanda Prabhu, and with request and entreaty, heartfelt request, "Come." Shedding tears, "You don't know what things are going," from door to door, "what valuable things and in what little price, small price, high things are going away." From door to door, "to accept, take it, take it, very cheap but high, highly valuable." Nityānanda Prabhu, from door to door. The prema, the love, the highest charm of the Lord, the land of beauty, the highest realisation of all the conscious world, and that has come to visit from door to door. "Accept it, accept Gaurāṅga, and I give admission card, I'm distributing admission card to you. Keep it, keep it, you will find the benefit to the utmost gain to you."

What's the time?

Devotee: Nine thirty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Then, should we retire here, or any question? From whom: or all in thinking mood?

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That qualification of surrender that has shaken our brain?

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Shaken head: surrender.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

Can you accept that you are eternal servant, you are slave of Kṛṣṇa? And Kṛṣṇa is so dignified that even slave has got the highest position and He's such that it is not, He does not shrink to serve His slaves also. So great, so magnanimous!

aham bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra iva dvija [sādhubhir grasta-hṛdaya, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: “I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

“As if I am not independent, I feel My tendency to serve My devotees in such a way that I’m not independent, I’m under their direction. I feel like that.”

This is known as bhakti, devotion, śrī-kṛṣṇākaraṣiṇī ca sā. Bhakti, the dedication, the devotion, is such wonderful type, thing, than jñāna, that knowledge. Knowing everything that is very charming, to know everything. ‘I’m master of everything, I know everything. That means I’m almost master of everything.’ But this consciousness, slavery, is highly above that. The real knowledge becomes as if servant to you, if you follow this path of surrender, śaraṇāgati. The Infinite comes within the fist of the finite. Can you imagine? Is it imaginable? That has been given by Mahāprabhu in Bhāgavatam. The plane is of such type. The biggest general in the clutch of a beautiful, loving girl – the paramount king commanding whole force may be in the clutch of a girl. We are told that someone was, dictator Napoleon, Julius or some lady.

Devotee: Bonaparte.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bonaparte, he was, I forgot the name of the lady.

Devotees: Caesar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no.

Devotee: No, the girl of Napoleon, wife of Napoleon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One lady, not Julius, not, some lady she had some influence over Napoleon. [Josephine?] So prema, love is a thing of such superiority, can control the whole...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...to the world of the highest value is love, charm, charm. So if you want that, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā [Bhakti-rasamrita-sindhu, Purva, 1.17], the Kṛṣṇa, the Autocrat, is controlled by love and by nothing else. Love is such, prema is such, it can control the Autocrat, the Absolute Autocrat. He also can be controlled. This is the clue. And that has been, Mahāprabhu came with that idea, to distribute that. He may be Master of the Master, come in this way, this path will lead you somewhere, from where you'll be able to control the Master of the Masters; a little of that, that quality, prema. ["O mind please listen. You have nothing else to be attached to except Śrī Gaurāṅga. Never in the past, nor in the future, will there be such a benevolent incarnation who has presented the matchless divine love ecstasy of God so generously. He poured into this world that ambrosial wealth which is ever cherished and hankered for even by great powerful personalities like Śiva and Viriñci (Brahmā). By His merciful grant, even the most common destitute persons were blessed with the chance to imbibe that nectar with great delight. Overwhelmed by spiritual ecstasy they began to sing the glory of the Lord and dance accompanied by the concert of rhythmic drums and sweet karatālas. Frightened by the power of such holy sañkīrtana, the inauspicious atheists who were slaves to their mortal ego, ran away and hid in locked rooms to protect themselves from such purifying effect. All three worlds of existence (svarga, martya and patala) became blessed by receiving transcendental bliss and reverberated that auspicious sound. Premānanda says: "I can never have enough devotion to my beloved Gaurāṅga."]

Jaya om viṣṇupāda śrīla bhaktisiddhānta saraswatī goswāmī prabhupāda kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sevā vṛnda kī jaya!

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...comes to the physical plane, and then as a reaction comes to the human body: that is karma-phala.

Took the idea from radio, that there was one lama who is a refugee in India from Nepal, the Dalai Lama, he's delivering lectures in Darjeeling or speaking somewhere else, saying that: "The misery does not fall from the sky, nor it grows from the earth, but it is our own karma."

Buddhist Lama, may be depending on nature, karma, automatic. But there is some autocratic authority above that they do not admit. The Buddhists cannot accommodate; everything within this nature, the law of nature. But transcendental power absolute, which can design and destine, it is above, that is not admitted there. But law of karma, transmigration of soul, that is admitted.

Indian atheism admits mostly transmigration of soul, and the individual consciousness in every creature, even in the animal and vegetable world. Everywhere there is soul and transmigration: two things, though they're atheists but they admit these two things.

And though theist, still Christianity and Islam, they do not believe in transmigration, nor in individuality in the animals and the trees and vegetable kingdom. Even that is better in the eye of the theism, theistic view.

Devotee: Kaśirāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaśirāma. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ke?

Devotee: In Bhāgavatam, first canto, this verse:

tat sarvaṁ naḥ samācakṣva, prṣṭo yad iha kiñcana manye tvāṁ viṣaye vācāṁ, snātam anyatra chāndasāt

[“We know that you are expert in the meaning of all subjects, except some portions of the Vedas, and thus you can clearly explain the answers to all the questions we have just put to you.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.4.13]

It explains that Sūta Goswāmī was very learned in the Vedas, but there were some portions of the Vedas that he was not familiar with. Could you explain that, how he was qualified to speak, but he was not familiar with some portions of the Vedas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is told by Śaunaka – who, who is the – whose version? Śaunaka Ṛṣi? The statement of whom?

Devotee: Yes, I think Śaunaka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śaunaka, yes. They're orthodox brāhmaṇas, they're of the opinion that other than the brāhmaṇas – brāhmaṇas, kṣatriya, vaiśya – these three sections are allowed to read the Veda, to study Vedas. The śūdra section they're unfit to understand the real purpose of the Vedas, so they're barred from studying, study of Veda.

So he's saying that, "We want to hear from you the Purāṇic tales, Purāṇa, Mahābhārata, that is approachable by everyone, even a śūdra. So we admit you to be the authority of the knowledge of Purāṇa. We won't hear from you any Vedic doctrine. You have no – that is beyond your jurisdiction. So chāṇḍasāt rte, only accept that of Veda, we consider you to be the well-versed in the knowledge of everything. So we ardently like to hear from you."

That is the purpose. The Bengali is there, no? That is, the Veda, the Śruti, is to be understandable only by the dvija, those who get sacred thread, dvija, brāhmaṇa saṁskāra, brāhmaṇa saṁskāra is necessary before one is given admission in the study of Veda. That was the custom. Śūdra and antyaja, the out-caste, the last caste and the out-caste, they're not considered eligible for the study of Veda. That meaning is mentioned here. They can't understand the real purpose. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes. Was Śaunaka considered from the lower caste?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śaunaka never comes from the brāhmaṇa family so he's not to hear any reference of the Veda from Sūta Goswāmī because he did not belong to any dvija section, brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya. These three are allowed to study Veda, not the śūdra. And the underlying principle, the śūdra that are too much engaged in the mortal world, they cannot understand the real spiritual purpose of things, because they're very deeply engaged with mortal things, śoka, the reaction of which is to lament. Lamentation is the reaction of our too much attraction of the mortal wealth. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: Sūta Goswāmī was not of the dvija class?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. His father, Romaharṣaṇa [Sūta], he was Ugraśravā, his father was Romaharṣaṇa, he was a direct disciple of Vedavyāsa. And Vedavyāsa only gave him the right of the Purāṇa. The Purāṇa was entrusted to Romaharṣaṇa Sūta. Romaharṣaṇa Sūta, the father of this Ugraśravā [Sūta Goswāmī]. It is also mentioned there that the Purāṇa section was entrusted to Romaharṣaṇa, the father of Sūta.

Devotee: There are eighteen Purāṇas, six in the mode of goodness, six in tama, six in raja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Mainly divided into three, but really, Bhāgavata is not sattya, above that, nirguṇa, but still it is generally reckoned among the sattvica Purāṇa.

Devotee: I've heard that Gaṇeśa promised Vyāsadeva that he would write as long as Vyāsadeva spoke.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: Gaṇeśa would write about...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahābhārata.

Devotee: That is Mahābhārata only?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, in the case of Mahābhārata. There a special writer was necessary, expert was necessary. Ordinary books many could record, write. And that was sixty lākhs of śloka, so a specialist was necessary for that purpose to write. And he was going like automatic, he will say and one will write, in this way the revelation will come to be recorded. In the form of impulse it was reserved in the mind of Vedavyāsa, pushing to come out. And to record some specialist was necessary and Gaṇeśa was offered and he accepted that. It is told that Gaṇeśa had less memory, so the writing was invented only for him and in his time. Before this, the sharp memory, they could carry everything in their brain, memory. But Gaṇeśa, being elephant headed, less memory, man, god: and so it was necessary to evolve the writing system, and he was expert in that, writing.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja: in the fourth canto of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam in the chapter about Mahārāja Purañjana it is stated there that when the spiritual master leaves the planet, the Supersoul, the Paramātmā, manifests Himself before the sincere disciple to give him instruction. Could you explain that!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, Paramātmā means caitya Guru. Mahanta Guru and caitya, two, mahanta Guru external and caitya Guru inside, and Paramātmā instruction and caitya Guru:

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

So the process of revelation to the qualified disciple comes from above. From outside, there is also that link, and inside also there is link. Only yesterday or day before we were talking about those things:

śikṣā-guruke ta’ jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa, antaryāmī, bhakta-śreṣṭha, - ei dui rūpa

[“One should know the instructing spiritual master (śikṣā guru) to be Kṛṣṇa Himself. As Guru, Kṛṣṇa manifests as the Supersoul and as the best of devotees.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi- līlā, 1.47]

And Swāmī Mahārāja's quotation in that connection one read out. There, Guru external and internal Guru. It was discussed the other day in details. Paramātmā means internal dictator, and if Guru is God Himself, then no harm, with a little deeper vision we see that it is coming from Him. Caitya Guru and Paramātmā, we may take as one and same. Inner voice; according to the purity of our consciousness we can detect inner voice, caitya Guru. More grossly, covered, mahanta Guru is indispensable. In developed condition, the caitya Guru, one can catch the dictation of caitya Guru, inner voice, may be of Paramātmā, and even from above. Sometimes, perhaps in dream, or in some trance, or otherwise, another Vaiṣṇava, previous Gurudeva, Mahāprabhu, they can also appear and give some instruction. It is also not impossible.

Devotee: One time, one of the present...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja told: “If I die here don't be disappointed. Your grandfather is there.” He told, is it not? Have you heard?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I have heard that he gave consolation to his disciples in America when he was seriously ill there. “Your grandfather is there. Don't be disappointed. He will help you. He will come and help you.” That is in that way from internal push. “What I'm doing it is not only – don't limit it to my duty, but it has got its root higher above, and they're conscious of the fact that the truth is being distributed in the length and breadth of this world. And it has got design, higher, and so I go away and then some other help will come surely to you, won't be stopped." That was his idea. That was his idea that, "I did not come, it is not an accidental event that I have come to you. Just as when fighting goes on the front fighters they may fall down, but at the back there is supply. So also, it is designed, not an accident for which I have come to you."

Devotee: One time, one of the present ISKCON Ācārya's had one disciple who had a dream that his Guru came and gave him some instruction in the dream, but the Guru himself was not conscious of this event. Is this the Supersoul working?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon the condition of the two – particular position of the disciple. All dreams are not true. And in dream his own Guru appeared and gave something, and Guru refuses, 'No, I did not.'

Devotee: Guru said he was not conscious of that. But he understood it to be the working of the Supersoul because the dictation in the dream...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So circumstances, we must be aware of the circumstance and then we can pass any opinion, otherwise not. What sort of dictation, and under what condition, and what is the subject of that dream? These things should be supplied; then we can say something, give some opinion; though it is not impossible. It was necessary for the higher agent to give something from the form of the Guru, it also may be necessary. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: ...explain how the pursuit of music is an impediment in one's advancement of devotional service.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say? What does he mean?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, sangeet is impediment, obstacle, baddha in bhakti, he wants to know why.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is, it can help, but it is difficult to utilise in devotion. Generally, that tempts us to this physical pleasure, sense pleasure, so it is baddha, obstacle. Because it has got more power to attract the heart, the inner: the inner self is attracted by the music, the sound. Sound is most effective and it can enter into the very subtle plane. So if it carries poison it can do a great harm. At the same time if it can carry nectar it will also help us in that extent. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You?

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: Because our Swāmī Mahārāja was...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Most effective it comes from Goloka, Kṛṣṇa's flute, the origin, most powerful. If that is misused, a great offence: and if it is for utilisation it will also help us to a great deal, the sound.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Religion is proper adjustment. Things are there, only adjustment and readjustment, that is what we are to do according to our general conception of the whole, sambandha jñāna. Details should be explained by the general consciousness, general knowledge. According to formula we are to explain the branches, the details, so that it may not clash with others existing, it must come in the system, in harmony with the system, current system. It may not clash with any other courses that are already current, it may not clash. If new laws are to be introduced it must be done with this consciousness that it may not clash with other existing laws. So you are to look out with a broad view and a perspective of the environment, and then to go on to solve the problem; may not be antagonistic with the laws existing in the environment, by-laws. Sambandha jñāna: that is the source of all replies of all questions.

Once, one of my senior God brothers, our Guru Mahārāja was living at that time, he asked me to explain the beginning, somewhere, "You explain this śloka; few ślokas."

He gave it to me. I asked him, I want if consultation with dictionary is necessary I should be allowed with?

"Yes."

Then I gave, once consulted dictionary and I gave the explanation.

Then he told, “Nowhere in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam there will be anything that you won’t be able to explain. You’ll be able to give meaning to any passage in any place of Bhāgavatam.” He remarked.

So central knowledge, universal knowledge we must be well known to be. So details you’ll be able to reach from the conclusion if the general principals you have in your hand. You’ll be able to deduce the true things because this cannot be that. The Method of Residue – Method of Residue do you know? One who knows the movements of the planets but suddenly finds that one planet he should move in this line but little deviation in the path. How? According to the law, according to the calculation based on that law it can’t, it must come through this line, but little deviation. What’s the reason? Then with powerful telescope found there is another planet and that is attracting it for the time being, so the little deviation.

So in this way new things are discovered. It should go in this line, but why this – that general view, this vyatikram, this exception only can come keeping the real interest, this advaya jñāna, the bhedābheda, all these things, the general laws should be kept there, and keeping them intact you are to evolve. What the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, the law of the prema, the division, all these things must be in the background when we’ll have to come to a new conclusion. This cannot but be this. And if it is that then you are to verify with no disturbance to the existing environment. It will be deduced from the environment. The general knowledge about the thing and that is clear, should be clear and infallible.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. In other words, that is the grace from upwards, in reality, His will, divine will, ultimately... Ke?

_____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Kṛṣṇa has three individual separate energies, saṁvīt, sandhīnī and hlādinī. I’ve been told that those are divided into three further divisions, cit, jaiva and jara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaiva is taṭasthā, the margin of the two: jara, misconceived cit: misconception cit is the original: jara is the misconception of the same: and jīva is the margin between the two, cit, acit, margin, but mainly very weak cit.

Devotee: So saṁvīt, that is represented as jñāna.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: So jaiva jñāna: what is an example of jaiva jñāna?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaiva jñāna is a vulnerable knowledge, very small quantity and quality, defective. Proper conception and misconception, between the two this jaiva jñāna. Taṭasthā, bheda-bheda prakāśa. Kṛṣṇera taṭasthā-śakti, bheda-bheda prakāśa. In a nutshell the definition is this.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bheda-bheda-prakāśa']

[“The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

The universal standpoint it comes that he's a subordinate of the centre, the cit jagat, of the truth, but kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti', the last point of cit jagat, cid means right conception, wrong conception of the cit. So the last verge of the proper conception of the cit jagat, and just near the misconception: that is jara. So it is very weak, the cit is very weak. The proper conception is very weak, before he comes he's transformed into misconception, a vague conception. Proper conception is being converted into misconception, and the last point is jīva. And coming into details some are nearer to misconception. There are so many dust consciousness, and some nearer to misconception, some nearer to proper conception, to detect, to come into details in that.

If we want to be very fond of analysis, but without going to that knowing the thing through śraddhā we can get, "Oh, we can get that intuition within us. It need not go into the analysis of so many things." The practical knowledge – when we take some food, or it is not possible always how much protein, how much carbohydrates, how much this or that, we generally take, we'll get the fruit. So though śraddhā we can pass all these scrutinising. We'll be tempted that we want sweetness, we want ānanda, we want beauty.

Only the main question, whether we want to be a monarch or a servant of the higher? To master in the hell or to serve in heaven, we are to make choice between these two.

Milton says, from the mouth of Satan, "It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven." But ours is the opposite, "It is better to serve in heaven than to reign in hell."

And the Satanic idea, "It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven." That is coming from the mouth of Satan.

But the opposite we are to deal with. The reign has got reaction, and the service has got its nectarine reaction. So the fools will select to reign what is almost impossible, what is suicidal, no foresight. But to serve in heaven, service in form, but really it will get highly qualified things as its own, association, but always all master and he's servant. But they're allowed to enter into the higher and higher sphere as a servant, what one cannot think when he's reigning. He's reigning on the plane of stools [?] And maybe a worm but in nectar.

Devotees: [In the background, downstairs possibly] [?]

...

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, there's symptoms, pure devotee exhibits symptoms like when he hears Kṛṣṇa's Name he may have standing of hairs on the body, shivering, so forth, but these external symptoms...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is of two kinds, one artificial another real. The artificial to be avoided: that we acquire only through the hankering for fame, we want that imitation, to get pratiṣṭhā, fame from these foolish people that I'm a devotee. Nisarga piscila sante tada viyasa pare vicara [?] The sham signs are of two kinds. Generally acquired by previous karma, some have got that type of temperament, natural temperament, easily can shed tears, and easily can astonish, or something like that. And there is another class that by – they can learn. Advyasa pare vicara [?] By practising we can acquire that sort of physical signs. Nisarga piscila [?] Naturally – piscila means very soft hearted. piscila sante tada vyasa pare vicara [?] An artificial practice by two methods we can show such signs in the body. That is imitation. That is bad. That must be avoided. It is mentioned in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu by Rūpa Goswāmī. So we are to, as much as possible we are to avoid that, the external signs.

Devotee: But generally...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From your section also the complaint came against Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, that he shows so many signs and he preaches himself to be of the highest plane. Jayapataka came and wrote letter also. I discarded all these things. That can never be. That is high and high. Mahāprabhu showed that. There was one, this Rāmadāsa Bābājī, very miraculously he could imitate all those things, discarded very hatefully by Prabhupāda, Guru Mahārāja. And we know, and so many mistakes in the siddhānta and the character-less-ness there, all are showing such feats. That is all imitation and that should be considered as direct offence to the higher Vaiṣṇava, nitya puruṣa. That the highest thing I'm imitating here to exploit their good name, then I'm a blasphemer in the society, sampradāya. That should not be encouraged in any way. When, that stage is very high and when that will come it will be irresistible, and generally that does not come in the human section, baddha-mukta...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...sign when one attains bhāva bhakti. Then sneha, mana, pranaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva – very little bhāva generally in mādhyura rasa, it is mainly within the right of, within the existence of Rādhārāṇī, and to distribute it to some others, of higher nature. In sākhyā rasa only Subal and others that have got some connection with mādhyura rasa, they get this bhāva. It is mentioned in the scripture what sort of bhāva may come to what stage. In other stages, dāsya, sākhyā, ordinary sākhyā, ordinary vātsalya it cannot be found. Generally it comes in mādhyura rasa in high standard, and to certain extent vātsalya rasa, and rarely in the sākhyā rasa, only with few. And in dāsya rasa, bhāva may not be traced, won't have any bhāva, get those expressions. Not to that degree the intensity of love comes as to produce bhāva. It has been mentioned in details in the books in the science of devotion. So it should not be indulged in. We cannot purchase it from the market. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: But since the Vaiṣṇava does not want to exhibit those symptoms then how does one detect the pure Vaiṣṇava? How does one detect who is on the highest platform?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The judgement, the decision, not by the physical feats. They're all deception of imitation. How other things we can recognise? There must be some intrinsic:

bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra [caiṣa trika eka-kālah prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo
'nughāsam]

[“As with every mouthful an eater feels the threefold effects of his satisfaction, his stomach being filled, and his hunger being dispelled, in the same way when a surrendered soul serves the Lord he realises devotion of three natures simultaneously: devotion in love, the personal appearance of the Lord who is the abode of love, and detachment from all other things.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]

By this: anyatra, viraktir, and some real conception about the Absolute, and also earnestness for the service. When one enters a particular science then he can know who is an expert of that science or not. An artist cannot know the progress of science. So as a bona fide student of a particular school he'll be able to understand what is what in that department. He must be bona fide student and his study must be with – from a Vaiṣṇava, true Vaiṣṇava. The standpoint must come from that side. And it is eligibility, that is faith, bhagya, that sukṛti:

kona bhāgye kona jīvera 'śraddhā' yadi haya, [tābe sei jīva 'sādhū-saṅga' ye karaya]

["If, by good fortune, a living entity develops faith in Kṛṣṇa, he begins to associate with devotees."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 23.9]

To come to wild goose chase, the concrete things, as you have done, concrete things, prospects you have left, and you have come to know which is almost unknowable. You can spare sufficient time for this, what is so vague, so abstract, so unknowable; leaving these concrete things of enjoyment in the world. Why? How? And that also to be examined, to be tested and rejected: so many students may send their application, but all – their general examination and by the elimination, selected few, of particular study. So also the faith, generally you have left your attachment for the concrete thing and come for the abstract. And again, what sort of abstract, and what mundane touch you have in your mind, in your aspiration, that is to be examined. In this way selection is always selection of the purity of purpose.

So to become slave, are you ready to become slave to your ideal, highest ideal? How much you are to sacrifice? Eternal slavery: have you got so much faith for your ideal to make it high? That show will be the test thereby. How far, what is the intensity of your reverence for the ideal? What is your price, eternal slavery, are you ready to pay such money to purchase your ideal?

How bold, how sacrificing, dedication addiction degree? The men of that plane they will come and examine, and will give you visa from door to door from different zone. “With this desire you can go up to Vaikuṇṭha. Then with this you can come with more sacrifice to Ayodhyā, Dvārakā, Mathurā, Vṛndāvana.” In this way the zonal visa will be granted to you by examining how far you can be able to render service in that intensity which is demanded from that quarter.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu says: “If for the devotion of Kṛṣṇa it is demanded that in a second you are to undergo crores of times killing, you may kill crores of times in a second, or in a minute, that is not proper price. Deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye, koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāiye.”

[sanātana, deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye, koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāiye,

deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa nā paī, pāiye bhajane, kṛṣṇa-prāptyera upāya kona nāhi 'bhakti' vine]

[“My dear Sanātana,” He said: “If I could attain Kṛṣṇa by committing suicide, I would certainly give up millions of bodies without a moment’s hesitation.”] [“You should know that one cannot attain Kṛṣṇa simply by giving up the body. Kṛṣṇa is attainable by devotional service. There is no other means to attain Him.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.55-56]

To give our life, unity of sacrifice, says if it is demanded that for Kṛṣṇa it is necessary that you will have to give your life crore times I'm ready for that. But that is not the line. All our attraction is only considered in this body, our attraction for enjoyment depends on this body. And our attraction in this mortal world centred in this body and this may be sacrificed crores of times. One is ready. But that also does not take us to that domain. This standard we are to think in the beginning that what sort of sacrifice is real sacrifice. Not to dismiss our attraction for the mundane wholesale, but our positive appreciation for the serving life. Go slow, but sure. Śravaṇa kīrtana; that has been recommended from that quarter: "This is the only path to come here, not by showing your heroism of a mortal type."

So surrender; that has been told the lowest is surrender for the positive. Sham surrender for material end we find in the soldiers. They also do not care for physical death, but, what for? In any form or other some mundane, most for fame, in the relativity of the mundane world! Or mad – when he's mad he can also – does not know what is good or bad, they do anything and die. Ignorance and necessity of the mundane, master-ship or fame, but connecting with this mundane world. But our aspiration and the purity of the aspiration, for the ideal, our higher ideal in the land of dedication, that should be considered to be the unit which is required from us for our ambition. Śraddhā, adau śraddhā, and that comes from sukṛti, independent of us, ajñāta sukṛti, by the grace of the other world. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

Bhakti cannot be produced by anything mundane. Bhakti only can produce bhakti. It is ahaitukī, it is causeless. None can produce bhakti, but bhakti himself can extend. So the cause is in the upper world, not here: and cannot but be. So we are to utilise that. Smallest free will: that can try to utilise their grace. So very cautiously and relying on the Vaiṣṇava from our inner most sanction of heart we are to surrender to the Vaiṣṇava. Vaisnava ran kai kari kori [?]

Professor Sanyal he took this point so much that won't do anything without the order of a Vaiṣṇava. Once in, that was sometimes thought too much, but he was so strict. Train from one place accompanied by the Vaiṣṇava if he'll have to go to another place: all got up in the train, he's standing, because no Vaiṣṇava has ordered him to come in the carriage, he's standing there. Too much! But anyhow he had such, that Professor Sanyal he was a good scholar, head of the examination of a particular university, but he had so much adherence to that, 'without the order of Vaiṣṇava I won't move an inch.' That was his general motto of life: the Vaiṣṇava.

When from the hired house in Calcutta, Maṭha was transferred in the present own house by bhajan, May, the Deity was carried in the chariot and it was placed in the new temple. Then the utsav, the feeding of the devotees and the public, till at least one o'clock at night we went to take our bed. Mine, newly entered that night, so anywhere anyone spread his bedding and slept: my bedding was just near the side of the bedding of Nisikanta Sanyal, the writer of Krishna Caitanya, and Editor of Harmonist. Anyhow, at night he felt some time that he's dying.

In the morning he told me, very slowly, "Last night I felt just my heart is failing. And I thought that I should awake you, arouse you. But I thought that very much tired you are, I should not disturb a Vaiṣṇava from his rest. The whole day and night, half night, he worked and he's so tired and sleeping. I should not disturb him. Let me see whether this crisis goes away. But anyhow it went away, but I'm feeling very weak."

I knew that man is very serious, not an ordinary man. Immediately I told to Prabhupāda Guru Mahārāja that Professor Sanyal was saying this. They also knew that he won't say anything in colour. Immediately doctors were arranged. So going, dying, still he won't like to disturb, an ordinary person, disturb his sleep, rest, so acute, serious man, and won't do anything if not ordered by a Vaiṣṇava.

And he also told me, he was my senior, a little senior, he told me particularly once that, "If I read Bhāgavatam or Caitanya-caritāmṛtam of my own accord, it won't be bhakti, it will be karma or jñāna. But if Vaiṣṇava orders you to read, to go on with the reading, that will be devotion."

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise you are reading to acquire knowledge. To acquire knowledge, it is not service. To acquire knowledge to keep our position high, it will help you to deliver lecture, and you will have appreciation – this is all mundane. But strictly the whole of your energy will be spent only by the direction of the up, then it is service, then it will be service. Not for your interest, that you will be the judge of your own crime. You won't go to occupy the position of a judge in your own case. You are to practice, that you may not take part in giving the order in what way you will utilise your energy. It must come – quite disinterested you will be – and it must come from above and you are to serve. In this way you are to practice within. It must be for other's interest. And when you will be judge of your own offence you will always give judgement in your own favour. That possibility is there.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Self abnegation, to the extreme, and it should be weighed not according to my consciousness but it should be judged – the judgement must come from the other side. Whether I'm dedicating or in the form of dedicating I'm enjoying, going to exploit, the very subtle point, because exploitation in the higher plane may not seem in the gross plane to be exploitation at all.

In the beginning this karma-kāṇḍa, the capitalists they give much money but with the far sight that they will – more than that money they will draw. In the beginning capitalist are distributing money, taking out the money from their own path. But the object is that in future thousand times more money he will draw from the zone. So ostentatious self distribution is no self distribution at all. So it should be judged from another quarter. So it is difficult.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 2.45]

The standard where Mahāprabhu Himself says: “I’m crying, shedding tears so much, it’s only for the fame, ‘Oh, you see I have got Kṛṣṇa prema, love for Kṛṣṇa. To attract people towards me I’m shedding tears. This is all artificial.’” Mahāprabhu Himself says to raise the standard where for us – ‘Don’t be make believe, meaning, I’m a devotee.’

Always live in the relativity of my Master, Vaiṣṇava dāsa. I can do anything and everything, but by the order of Vaiṣṇava. Superior, always connect you with some higher dictator. This way you go, safe, you are safe with this principle that I’m doing under the guidance of a Vaiṣṇava, and never independent. That sort of attitude we shall develop within us. Our independent thinking, original thinking, must be buried for all.

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If I do not deceive myself none can deceive me.

Purity, quality not quantity, quality in the surrender, the way of surrender, surrender more, more, to the – that is, ‘Die to live.’ Self determination, and the way of self determination is to die to live. Everything for Him, otherwise He cannot be Absolute. Everything. I’m searching for the Absolute and everything is for Him, For Itself. It is His. And I must submit to that law faithfully that everything is for Him. We are for Him, not He’s for us. Everything for Him, I’m also for Him.

The Māyāvādīs they cannot flourish here in their foresight when they find that we can’t flourish here and they enter into a cell of suicide. But they can’t tolerate that everything is for Him. We are also for Him. We are for Him, this is not for us, they can find that out, that all we survey it is not for us, we can’t thrive here, in their campaign that, ‘everything is for me, for us.’ They can find that clearly that, ‘nothing for me so I must go and enter into suicidal self.’

But there is something, ‘Everything for Him, I’m also for Him,’ they can’t take in their brain that broad idea. That is the difference between the Vaiṣṇava and the jñānī. Jñānī can realise that we cannot thrive in the mortal environment: this much, the negative side. But the positive side, the optimistic side, that there is something and everything is for Him, not for me, and there I thrive, in that land, that plane. And, ‘Die to Live,’ this is selfish admonition, svarūpa siddhi, this is mukti, liberation proper is there, ‘Die to Live,’ self determination. By death, as much, not only this flesh, the internal body of different layers, sukṣma deha, we are to give up everything. And also in the cit, this Vaikuṇṭha conception, then also there are differences, this Rāmacandra conception, Dvārakā conception, we’re to pass through those layers also in the purely spiritual plane, to enter, to sacrifice more. To risk more, and character of wholesale and it finds path in the mādhyura rasa, twenty four hours engagement. That is the highest. Even vātsalya rasa cannot give twenty four hours. Only in mādhyura rasa it is possible, twenty four hours engagement. It may be harsh, it may be very cruel, but it is there mentioned in the śāstra. And we also get some conjecture, idea. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

In mādhyura rasa also, in Dvārakā and svakīya there is also not fully present, but only in Vṛndāvana. And it is peculiar that in parakīya which is not possible, not available always, but internal intensity is so great that in separation there is union. So drawn, heart is so drawn, that union in separation cannot dismiss union. So thick, so intense, and so mixed, inter mixing, that even separation cannot do away with union. So inter mixing in the fullest sense. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

[Vāsudeva Datta has said: "If Mahāprabhu had not appeared then how could we sustain our lives? How could we live? What type of ecstatic rasa has He imbibed that we have been able to have a little taste? Without this our lives would be impossible. Who else could take us to the acme of realisation of the position of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She holds the highest position. She is the greatest victim to the consuming capacity of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. She stands as the greatest sacrifice before Kṛṣṇa's infinite consuming power. Rasarāj-Mahābhav - the rasa is there, and She is the drawer of that rasa from the storehouse. She has such negative capacity that She can draw out the rasa to the highest degree both in quality and quantity."]

Devotion means love, and love means highest sacrifice, self forgetfulness. Self forgetfulness in the service of Kṛṣṇa Who can draw most, attract most. There, to reach that plane, that plane of self sacrifice, of self forgetfulness in the service of the Divinity. Die to live. Everything is for Him. He's the cause of everything. It is by Itself and it is for Itself. Very small words, very small sounds: By Itself, Reality must be by Itself and for Itself. The Infinite meaning is within, this is the, By Itself and for Itself.

And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

“I’m not a cruel king, but I’m friendly to you. I’m all in all but I’m friendly to you all. Don’t forget this, and you are to adjust with this fact. Then only you can get peace proper. You come to the fact and adjust with the fact, truth, and then you’ll get peace.”

“Oh, my interest is represented in the Absolute control of everything in this world. Why should I bother? Why should I bother?”

“And I shall go to promote, to make his hand strong if it is necessary.”

If we get that chance to help His work, His service: that is service if He utilises me in any sort of service. This is the Absolute current of the world: the current, the progress, whatever, the Absolute current. We’re in the opposition party: as an independent unit we form opposition party of the Absolute current. We want to create our separate current in our separate kingdom, and also combined, or maybe engage us in a clash with different current and different units here. But to join in the Absolute current, to be agent of that current, that is what is necessary for us, for the peace and harmony, and for the fulfilment of our life.

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, in our preaching we have to preach that one should accept a Spiritual Master, a Guru. So should we recommend someone specifically or just preach about the principle of taking initiation from Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, “When we do pracāra we have to, with newcomers...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are fortunate if we get guidance, direct guidance of a Vaiṣṇava, in every step. In every step we should consider to be our highest interest and to seek and get the opportunity of practising that I’m a servant. I’m not dictator. To take the position of a dictator is very risky. Always we shall be eager to get the position of a servant. But at the same time, as much as we can tend the purity of whose – about the dictator, that my own judgement of course cannot but be absolute in that position. Selection of my Master, that is voluntary, that depends on me, as much as I can do according to purity I must be sincere to select my Master. As much as I can detect devotion proper in him, not any designing for any mundane purpose; to whom I cast my fate. And it is a fortune if I can get such under whose direction I will continue all my energy, I’ll engage my whole energy under his dictation. Let me have a fine touch with the higher entity. I shall consider to be blessed if I get a real guide. The whole fortune is concentrated there, and utmost sincerity in getting that, such higher dictation. Service, but service of Kṛṣṇa, service, these two things: first thing service, and service of Kṛṣṇa, not of Satan, or any other mediator.

So internal purity of purpose and selection out of that. The conscience that took me to my present Master whom we appreciate so much, I cannot neglect that conscience, summarily reject his dictation. At the same time I must not put too much faith in my own judgement. I shall try to verify in anyhow sincerity will guide me, my sincerity.

Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40] Because my Guardian is fully awake, is looking after everything. None can deceive me if I'm sincere towards Him. We must have such sort of faith in us. His eye, Guardian's eye is over me. So if I sincerely select some Master under whom I'm working, and if He's wrong then very soon that will be set aside, because the Absolute Guardian's eye is always over us to protect from misguidance. Acceptance of the Masters: at the same time, purity of the purpose, two things. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Is acceptance of sannyāsa Guru on the same level as dīkṣā Guru, or śikṣā Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon the Absolute consideration. A relative question; anyone may be greater than another, but a relative question. Nāma Guru is principal, Name, and then dīkṣā Guru to help him. And sannyāsa Guru for preaching purpose. And this is the general calculation from the limited standpoint. But from Absolute consideration, who holds the higher position in the Absolute consideration, he's bigger, he's greater, higher.

The vartma-pradarśaka Guru, the Nāma Guru, the mantra Guru, sannyāsa Guru, and the śikṣā Guru, independent of them as my friend also may give some instruction. And that is also not to be eliminated, śikṣā Guru. No mantra connection but giving and taking. What defect is in me I am informing him and he's also giving some instructions: 'Do this.' That is also a sort of Guru, helping, helps us, of different type. And our gratitude will also be proportionate. I'll be able to understand when I can feel that plane, that what sort of help, and what type, and what magnitude I got from what agent, I'll be able to feel that, that this much benefit I got in my progress from that quarter. Full attention you try to give to the duty and not to the after effect of what the result, the duty will acquire. Duty cannot acquire any result, any consequence, any fruit. But it is graced, grace, prasādam. Whatever comes from the Infinite wave that should be considered as grace. And what we should do, that with the spirit of service, not with the result of tradery, trade, na sa bhṛtyaḥ sa vai vaṇik.

[nānyathā te 'khila-guro, ghaṭeta karuṇātmanah yas ta āśiṣa āśāste, na sa bhṛtyaḥ sa vai vaṇik]

[Prahlaḍa Mahārāja states: “Otherwise, O my Lord, O supreme instructor of the entire world, You are so kind to Your devotee that You could not induce him to do something unbeneficial for him. On the other hand, one who desires some material benefit in exchange for devotional service cannot be Your pure devotee. Indeed, he is no better than a merchant who wants profit in exchange for service.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.10.4]

We shall do anything and everything with the aim of serving the Infinite. With clean hands we shall go on doing work, with clean hands. Not contaminated by any consequence. Service and prasāda corresponding: what comes from the infinite environment that is prasāda, grace. I have no claim in that. And what I am doing also with no claim, no application with that. No expectation even. Simply, it has been attached to me as my duty. I am doing. No future fixing. That will be māyā. We shall try to live under the sky. Free. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then heart will find a relief.

Asankalpa jayit kamam [?] Sankalpa means parikalpana, this pancana parikalpana, five years plan. And also sometimes we may be allowed to make plan, but with this provision, full knowledge that whether it will reach its goal, that depends wholly on the Divine Will. With that we may plan. Suppose a meeting is organised, we shall try and we shall in the press also, notices are also circulated, there will be a meeting and some persons will deliver lectures. We will go on, but with openness that any hindrance may come and may stop. Still, we shall go on with the sense of duty. It is my duty I am doing. And God willing it will be successful, so God overhead. Try to live in the eternity, in the relativity of eternity, Vaikuṇṭha vās.

So misconceptions come from the Māyāvādī School. 'When everything depends on Him then where is our quota, our duty?' The Vaiṣṇava School they gave that work, the conception of service. That is the nature of the service. Without any definite result one can work with full energy, fullest energy. It is possible. The future is uncertain, still, the work is earnest. Rather the opposite, the whole concentration in the work, not in the future result.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

Don't be discouraged because you have no demand, no right in the result, so don't be discouraged. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. A great warning, necessary warning, or everyone will be discouraged, that when we have no part to take in the consequence, why should we labour? That is not a very small point, not insignificant. So immediate warning is there. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. This misfortune may not come down in you, to stop the work. Go on working. In the cooperative system, so many labourers are engaged, they will do their duty and things are going, the production going hither thither. Then in time the remuneration is coming to him, in coin. He is giving in the form of energy and when it is coming to him as coin, in time, proper time it comes to him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So don't be miser to devote your energy for the system, where you are at present. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana. “Here it is omitted. The result, that is under My disposal. Only the negative side has been told here, not the positive. It is Mine.”

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca [na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

[“-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

“It is Mine. Ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca. This selfless work I enjoy, for My enjoyment. And proportionately it is distributed to any and every point, separately existing all over the universe. But it is better for you to think that it is wholly Mine, wholly Mine. And when I distribute the result to you, you cannot have any claim. It is pure distribution. That is grace. No reason, no justice you should try to bring in there. But mercy you may think. It is so free that you may consider it to be mercy. Don’t expect any justice: ‘that I am giving so much labour and I must get that, the law of justice that will ordain in this way.’ Never! You engage your energy; you give your energy free. And what I shall give in return that will be free, not under the consideration of justice.”

Service and grace, mercy! Open, clear, the account is always clear. No demand, mutual demand. Such transaction, that is freedom proper, the conception of real freedom is there, real freedom. A dynamic selflessness: not a static selflessness like Māyāvādī. Selflessness means sound sleep or something like that, self effacement. Selflessness does not naturally come to self effacement, but it is of dynamic character, selflessness. Self giving, self surrendering, selflessness and self giving: towards what? Giving to the centre, to the Absolute, that sort of selflessness is what is demanded from every point, from every worker, every labourer. Only there the happiness of freedom can exist, freedom. Happiness of freedom can only exist there. Labour, energy utilized by intelligence that can produce something. Foolish labour may not flourish. So, dedication of our labour freely to the highest intelligence: that will fetch more. So without any miserly habit we can dedicate. We shall in get in ample quality, which cannot be imagined by us even so.

'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. “Please accept me as Your slave, and give my salary in terms of love, that I can acquire real love for You and Your own and everything that belongs to You, so love, that more and more I can dedicate. Give me salary in form of love. Love means more giving spirit, self distributing spirit, spirit of self distributing. Intense inspiration of self distribution: that I want as my salary. Not seeking any comfort, but to be more dynamic, not static. To become more dynamic, such salary I want. The capacity of my giving may be increased. That should be my salary.” 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. Prema means self giving, self distribution, the tendency to distribute oneself. Self distribution, self surrender and self distribution with self surrender. With the basis of self surrender, self distribution begins. 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. So to pray to get love, prema, what does it mean? Oh. You want something. But what is that something, if analysed, that is more intense inspiration to give, so defeats its own object.

Mā phaleṣu kadācana. But that phala, that fruit has been transformed into love, with the more interest to serve. That is not ordinary fruit. The Vaiṣṇavas they want service, more hankering for service. And the salary, more worth and more earnestness for service. They want that sort of salary. So this is the universe the Vaiṣṇavas have discovered. But it has been given down to the experience of the senses of the Vaiṣṇavas from above through revelation. There is a domain of such conception. And if you like you can come by this, such and such way, you may come; so much self abnegation. There is a domain, a country where such persons live. If you would like to be a resident of that land, then come; then come. Calculative in the lower portion, Paravyoma, and beyond calculation, automatic, that is Goloka. Gaura Haribol. And it cannot calculate how much one can sacrifice.

We are circumambulating Them to see that not the least pain can enter this domain to trouble Them. But how without our notice has this perspiration appeared? Perspiration, perspiration!” So she is furiously chastising herself, and wants to immediately take birth one lākh (100,000) times - with that force she comes to remove that drop of perspiration from the lotus feet of either of the Divine Couple. If the least difficulty is seen in the serving area, the Lord’s Associates can’t tolerate it in any way, and such eagerness, self abuse and earnestness is found in them.] [Lalitāṣṭakam, 1]

The hint of a particular standard has been given. When Lalitā Devī finds a drop of sweat on the foot of Rādhā-Govinda, she furiously engages herself to remove that sweat. “How it has come there? We are circumambulating Them that no, least pain can enter into this domain to trouble Them. But how without our notice this sweat has come? There must have been some plane, sweat, sweat, gharmmabindu.” So she’s furiously chastising herself and wants to take at once, gharmmabindu, nirmmañcanopakaraṇe kṛta-deha-lakṣyām, one lākh of bodies. With that force she comes to remove that drop of sweat on the foot of any one of Them.

Such eagerness and such self abusing: and earnestness. The least difficulty seen in the serving area they can’t tolerate it in any way. With so much earnestness they run.

[sanātana,] deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye, koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāiye,

[“My dear Sanātana, if I could attain Kṛṣṇa by committing suicide, I would certainly give up millions of bodies without a moment’s hesitation.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.55]

Mahāprabhu said: “To attain the service of Kṛṣṇa, crores times just now I want to die, to embrace death.”

This sort of unit is used there, in that domain. Earnestness, eagerness for service, self dedication, self distribution of such high type, such noble type: inconceivable. So self sacrifice is nothing, that is only a unit, and on a developed plane the structure is built there. Sacrifice, for the country, for the society.

Some years ago I found in a newspaper that: “What is the difference between an ordinary thief and a congressman?” In the paper that gentleman told that, “Thieves first steal then go to jail, prison house: and the congressman just the opposite. In the time they were freedom fighters first and then went to jail, put to jail by the British government in the prison house. And now they are stealing. Stealing first and prison next: and that is general. But here so called patrons, they first finish their prison life and now they are looting, that is the difference.” Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I asked him, the Indian man.

Devotee: Yes, yes.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So our patriotism, sacrifice for the country, comes to such a reactionary position, social service, service for the country, service for humanity.

Devotee: In Vaiṣṇava rāja what is the duty of a citizen Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Duty if a citizen? To work under the guidance of a proper Vaiṣṇava. That should be the duty. The guidance must come from such high level, higher plane. Such aspiration, this is the conception of Vaiṣṇavism proper. If we can understand then we shall try to be guided under such high conception. The dictation should come. And then we may hope that we may reach one day that plane, taking up that thread. If we have real eagerness for such life, if we consider that this is the highest form of life, the noblest form of life, it is what is found in Braja, this aspiration will gradually take me there. Lobhita janme pai ucchistha vadi yar [?] The greed, the earnestness, the taste, that will give the real birth, and gradually take me that side.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Lobha, śraddhā means lobha in other words. Śraddhā when a little grown it is considered laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ.

["Pure devotional service to Kṛṣṇa cannot be obtained by performing pious activities even for millions of births. It can be purchased only by paying one price: intense eagerness. Wherever it is available, one must purchase it immediately."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.70]

"I want that sincerely." That is the price, my earnest desire for the thing, sincere earnest desire for the thing, that is the price. No other price it can be purchased by. Earnest desire! "Yes, I want that. I can't live without that. I cannot live in such plane. If it is possible there is such a plane, noble plane of life, I must go there. I can't tolerate this atmosphere where everyone is exploiting his brother, environment, in any way or other. I want to get rid of that life.”

The candan is dissipating itself and distributing sweet scent. You know candan? When rubbing, disappearing, self dissipation, and in the form of scent it is mixing itself in the atmosphere. That sort of risk every member is ready to take. Whatever, for the least happiness, pleasure of Kṛṣṇa we are ready to contract for eternal life to go to hell: that sort of reactionary conception there. The indirect is also helping the direct in such a way. It is possibility, any eventuality, any possibility for my future risk. Not only present I am taking the risk but I am taking my future also in this way, under the risk, and want to go more rapidly.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, did the gopī’s husbands know that their wives were meeting with Kṛṣṇa? And if so, were they disturbed by that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The gopī’s husbands, did they know that the gopīs meet with Kṛṣṇa? Are they in knowledge the gopīs are meeting with Kṛṣṇa? And if so, if they have got knowledge, do they feel any trouble?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Coming to details, that is too much for us. But still, sometimes they get such information and also try to punish his wife or anyone, his wife or sister or anything. But ultimately that vanishes in some way or other. It is managed by Kṛṣṇa’s special will in some way.

Sometimes with some fight and hitch and sometimes by illusory energy that doubt is cleared.

Kṛṣṇa-Kali: once Rādhārāṇī's sister-in-law, Kūtila, she called her brother, "You don't care, you don't believe me? But now come, I shall just show you, you can see with your own eyes that your wife is with that boy."

And he went there, and at that time Kṛṣṇa became Kali. And Rādhārāṇī used to worship Kṛṣṇa. And the husband saw and then he chastised his sister. "What do you say? I see that she is worshipping Kali."

Then that lady, his sister, what could she say? Kṛṣṇa-Kali: in this way.

And some other way, also it is mentioned that He had to kill in Kordvan [?] the husband of Tulasī perhaps. In Kordvan, Kṛṣṇa killed him, that āsura. Anyhow, it is managed, it is something illusory, like a dreamy consciousness. Any shape, as just in a dream, anything can take any shape, any time, free. So it is sometimes like that we have heard. But we may not venture to enter that plane very boldly. When we shall be able to live in that plane it will be clear to us. But it is said like that. Many ways it may be used, in different ways. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I'd like to enquire about when the Lord is saṁguṇa or nirguṇa. What is the difference between nirguṇa and saṁguṇa? When He's saṁguṇa or when He's nirguṇa - in form and without form?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Saṁguṇa means misconceived ideas. That is saṁguṇa, of different stages. A gross misconception, and slight, more slight, but it is under misconception. And nirguṇa, what is true, under all circumstances, and all the times, past, future, present: that is nirguṇa, that unassailable wave. Absolute means that can't be changed: can't be challenged or changed, Absolute wave. The Absolute Good He's having His play in a particular way. And all other non absolute individual waves if come into clash with that will be broke into pieces and it will be nowhere, evaporate.

Suppose a big storm is coming and you want to create some opposite current of the air, by any machine or your That will be carried on nowhere. Nothing can oppose that. So Absolute power's playing is like that. And that is not ordinary force but the highest type of force, the noblest type of force: highest good. So, only to mix in that harmony, to dance with the harmony of that higher wave, that is what is necessary. And that is really pleasing. And to come in clash with that Absolute plane, wave, that will be fruitless and that will bring misery to us. Something like that you may think.

The Absolute will is playing, and it is Absolute will and Absolute good. That is playing in His own way. And if you come in contact you cannot but come. If in that harmony if you can you can dance, it is all right. You will find pleasure, highest pleasure. Otherwise if you can create any wave against that Supreme wave that will be finished in no time and you will feel pain.

Any challenging wave cannot be tolerated or cannot release that Absolute wave. That is going on. And that is the ecstasy itself you may think, līlā, ānandam, the charm, the beauty. The highest thing we can conceive, it is of that type. The highest good of our aspiration is that type. Not undesirable: it's desirable. And it is our diseased eye that cannot see that, our diseased mind that cannot appreciate that. That is the conception.

So not only give up your own individual creation of any selfish wave, but come in consonance of that wave. Adjust yourself fully with the movement of that wave. That is what is necessary. Then you will find that is a happy wave and you'll merge in that happy wave. That is what is necessary.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is nirguṇa. The guṇa that can never be opposed. With so much force, in every way. So much goodness, so much force, so much intellect, in any way, it is the supreme. It can never be challenged. To challenge is to misconceive. The whole basis of any challenge of that wave, that is mere misconception. Because consciously none ventures to oppose that and lose his everything. So it is misconception of one's selfish nature. Ke? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Can a devotee be a yogī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A yogī comes to be devotee. When a devotee wants to become a yogī, he's not proper devotee. But a yogī when he's leaving the yoga and trying to enter into devotion, at that point may be seen. But then a devotee comes to be a yogī, then he's coming down. He's falling. What is the difference between a yogī and a devotee? What do you think, the difference?

yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmānā [śraddhāvān bhajate yo māṁ, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ]

["In My opinion, of all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is he who surrenders his heart to Me and serves Me in devotion with sincere, internal faith."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

...

The highest acme of knowledge is to self surrender. Surrender to the Supreme. And in a yogī, tapasvibhyo 'dhiko yogī, jñānibhyo 'pi mato 'dhikaḥ karmibhyaś cādhiko yogī, tasmād yogī bhavārjuna

["The yogī who is a worshipper of the Supersoul is superior to persons engrossed in severe austerities such as the cāndrāyaṇa, superior to the worshippers of Brahman, and superior to the fruitive workers. Know this certainly to be My conclusion. Therefore, O Arjuna, be a yogī."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46]

But: yoginām api sarveṣāṃ, mad-gatenāntarātmānā, śraddhāvān. Ādau śraddhā. In the devotional school the primary necessity is śraddhā. And these yogīs ultimately after so many feats, they have come to that plane of that śraddhā. Śraddhāvān bhajate yo mām, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ. Then he is recognized as to be the highest. Otherwise not.

nāhaṃ vedair na tapasā, na dānena na cejyayā śakya evaṃ-vidho draṣṭum, dṛṣṭavān asi yan mama

["Neither by study of the Vedas, nor by austerity, charity, or sacrifice, can anyone behold My human like form of Supreme Absolute Truth (Parabrahman) which you are now seeing before you."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.53]

Devaṛṣi also says, yamātibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, kāma-lobha-hato muhuḥ mukunda-sevayā yadvat, tathāddhātmā na śāmyati

[“The agitated mind, repeatedly taken captive by its enemy in the form of depravity rooted in lust and greed, is directly mastered by serving the Supreme Lord, Mukunda. It can never be likewise checked or pacified by practising the eight-fold yogic discipline, which is generally based on sensual and mental repression (yama, niyama, etc).”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.6.35]

We generally consider the negative side, that by yama, niyama, all these practices we can stop, we can get relief from the hands of our enemies, that kāma, krodha, lobha, moha. But that is only temporary. Devaṛṣi Nārada says in Bhāgavatam, yamātibhir yoga-pathaiḥ. By prāṇāyāma and other processes we can acquire temporary control over our senses, but not permanent. And by bhakti, whatever we get, that is permanent, kāma-lobha-hato muhuḥ, mukunda-sevayā yadvat, tathāddhātmā na śāmyati. And also in Ajāmila [?]

kecit kevalayā bhaktyā, vāsudeva-parāyaṇāḥ

aghaṁ dhunvanti kārtsnyena, nīhāram iva bhāskaraḥ

[“Only a rare person who has adopted complete, unalloyed devotional service to Kṛṣṇa can uproot the weeds of sinful actions with no possibility that they will revive. He can do this simply by discharging devotional service, just as the sun can immediately dissipate fog by its rays.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.1.15]

Only by a very drop of devotion, one can do away with all that is necessary for penances, to get out of the mood of doing mischief to the environment. But the yoga, or the repentance, and other processes of getting out of this sinful mentality, that is all temporary. For the time being it may do, it may help in controlling the negative propensities, not permanently. But what we acquire from the higher plane, that is śraddhā, that is permanent progress, that never:

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya
dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

This karma-yoga, the proper basis of devotion, karma-yoga, to give up the phala and as a duty to take up the work. That is the basis of bhakti.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu [kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

Only it is not karma-yoga, it goes, yukta āsīta mat-parah. [tāni sarvāṇi saṁnyamya, yukta āsīta mat-parah]

vaśe hi yasyendriyāṇi, tasya prajñā pratiṣṭhitā]

["By the practice of perfect devotion to Me, the bhakti-yogīs bring their senses under proper control. One whose senses are controlled is truly intelligent."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.61]

"It is meant for Me. Don't go to capture the result of your duty. That is meant for Me. It is Mine. And you are also Mine. So what you can produce that is also Mine. And don't try to escape from that happy consideration, happy prospect of you, this way, that way. Think that I am Absolute Good. No apprehension will be there. Absolute Good, I am autocrat but I am good."

A good guardian can rule the subordinate child, or minors. He knows my best interest more than myself, more than I know. So such sort of noble thinking must come within us. Not only we must disbelieve ourselves, but at the same time we have to put faith in some higher object. Then we can go to the line of Vaiṣṇava. Helplessness in ones own self, but no faith to be put anywhere, that is Māyāvādā. No faith in our present life, and at the same time no faith outside also. But the Vaiṣṇava, they have no faith in their own present self, but they cannot leave away the faith in such a holy and noble thing. They seek where to put faith, and find, 'Yes, we can put faith with the Absolute. It is reality, it is not concoction, not a dream.' That he comes to realize, coming in connection with sādhu, first by sukṛti, then by śraddhā. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: In order to develop śraddhā among the public...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If one has got developed faith in Him, then he will be in a position to develop it amongst the public, according to his capacity. He does not know what is faith, how can he spread it to others?

Asida katha majam sadayet [?] When one is plodding under ignorance, how will he be able to remove other's ignorance? But he can do with considerable faith under the guidance of higher persons. If he has got partial faith, with partial faith he can begin work under the guidance of a faith of a grown up faith.

Devotee: Mahāprabhu was doing in some places something like that. Mahāprabhu He shown to Murārī Gupta the form of Rāmacandra. So many ways, some places...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Rāmacandra, Kṛṣṇacandra, very akin, in the same plane, of different type, but the plane is the same, almost.

Devotee: But by showing only Murārī Gupta got more faith on Him, Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but still he could not remove himself from the circle of service to Rāmacandra, there. But some connection he got about Mahāprabhu. But still he's sticking to the service of Rāmacandra.

And the father of Jīva Goswāmī, Anupama, he had also a similar case. Sanātana Goswāmī and Rūpa Goswāmī tried their best to take their brother in the service of Kṛṣṇa.

Parama madhu brajendra kumar [?]

But he prayed to them, “No, if you have grace in me, please grace me that I can engage myself more and more closely towards the side of Rāmacandra. I can't come away from that.”

Sri nathi janaki nathi abhedi paramatmi_kama locana [?]

Not only here but in Kṛṣṇa līlā also. The vātsalya-rasa people, they can't come from there, to join mādhyura-rasa. Or the friend section they cannot come out of there, to join vātsalya-rasa. In this way, yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

[kintu yāñra yei rasa, sei sarvottama / taṭa-stha hañā vicāṛile, āche tara-tama]

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya līlā, 8.83]

But that is the differentiation in the positive world. Not much harm, but they are in the positive, but there is gradation amongst the servitors in the positive. But still that is something. That is not nothing, or that is not illusory something. But that is something. That is nirguṇa, but nirguṇa has got also different intensities in the wave. And according to the intensity, different types of rasa, quality also may differentiate, intensity, not only quantity there is quality also.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, there are yogīs and jñānīs also there in the Absolute, in nirguṇa, in Goloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. Yogīs, jñānīs not nirguṇa. Yogīs, jñānīs, they naturally may come to Brahmāloka, not further. That is within the passport area, yogīs, jñānīs. But when it comes in connection with devotion then the visa begins. It is this side, yogī and jñānī. It is higher, up to Tapa, Jana, Satyaloka. And their highest end is to get nirvana. Some brahma nirvana, yogī, Paramātmā nirvana, sāyujya. Paramātmā, jīvātmā, one and the same. The jñānī nirvana rather the oneness with the all accommodating conception. And the yogī nirvana with the all pervading conception, Paramātmā, aṇor aṇīyān. As much as we shall analyse, within that the Lord is there. Whatever small, within that the Lord is there. He's everywhere. He's accommodating everything and He is residing in everything. The yogīs, they enquire after the Paramātmā, Who is within everything, that side, that aspect. And the jñānī, the all accommodating sphere, everything coming from the circumference: and yogīs, the centre. Something like that. But that is within this māyāic area. Sāyujya, when they reach their highest goal they think themselves one with them, sāyujya mukti. But with śraddhā we can cross that land and enter into the land of devotion. That is more subtle and more tasteful and more..... what is in your hand? That mālā? Do you follow. They are reaching Brahmaloaka. That is āroha-panthā, climbing up by gist of the own force, own power. Climbing up, ascending method. The yogīs, jñānīs, ascending method. He's the subject and all around is objective world. He's the subject. And with śraddhā we are to enter into the super subjective world with the spirit of service. New life begins there. And that comes from within. That is more subtle than the yogīs and jñānīs can expect them or can feel them to be.

Devotee: Are there any yogīs and jñānīs who have acquired visa to enter?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If they feel in any - generally it is not possible to dissuade them from their object. They are firm there. but if they meet a powerful devotee, then they can. Just as Śukadeva. Anyhow, coming in contact with his devotee father Vyāsadeva, he was taken in from the jungle with some śloka, infused the new idea. And he says, "From nirguṇa I have come to saguṇa, brahma-jñāna. In the case of Bilvamaṅgala, we find, in anyway with some wonderful interference they come back from that plane to the plane of the devotee. That is very particular and special case, but generally the current they catch takes them to nirvana.

Devotee: What about Durvāsā Muni?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā nirvana, and the Paramātmā this brahma-nirvana and Paramātmā nirvana. Durvāsā yes.

Devotee: Durvāsā Muni, he was a yogī, but he had entrance to Vaikuṇṭha, he could go there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not that Vaikuṇṭha. Just as an Indian can see American Consul in Delhi. Like that. In brahmāṇḍa there is Kṣīrodakaśāyī Avatāra. And he met there, and not Vaikuṇṭha proper. Bhu Vaikuṇṭha rather, that is known as Bhu Vaikuṇṭha. There is an American Ambassador house here in India. You can meet, American means there. Something like that. Bhu Vaikuṇṭha. Vaikuṇṭha extended here in a particular place. Like Kṣīrodakaśāyī samudra [?] There under the guidance of Brahmā and Śiva, the gods are also meeting there Nārāyaṇa. And they are making petition, “That by the cruel dealings of the demons we are driven from the heaven and we are undergoing so many pains. You come to relieve us.” In this way they are going to Viṣṇu. That is in Bhu Vaikuṇṭha, not Vaikuṇṭha proper. The Catuḥsana they can go, they are śanta-rasa bhaktas, from Satyaloka. Sometimes they can go to have darśana of Nārāyaṇa and then come to Satyaloka. No attraction for this world, but small attraction for Vaikuṇṭha. From that borderline they have some passport to cross the borderline to go some and then to come back. That sort of passport the Catuḥsana has got, some.

Devotee: Is Jesus Christ considered a Vaiṣṇava or a yogī. Would you consider him a great yogī, because He performed many mystical yoga tricks, like walking on water.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is another thing. He was a devotee. But He performed only to attract some attraction of the public. He showed some miracles.

Mahāprabhu also did some at some times. He embraced Sanātana Goswāmī, the body was purified like anything. The whole troubles over his body, so many itches and oozing, the pus oozing, that was immediately cured.

There was one Kustha Vipra in Śrī Kurmam, a devotee, he was with leprosy of the extreme type. And he was very eager to have darśana of Mahāprabhu, but Mahāprabhu went away. And that man fell senseless, “Oh, Mahāprabhu came and He did not give me darśana.” And Mahāprabhu went away about a mile, he ran from that place and embraced that Kustha Vipra Vasudeva, and his leprosy was cured. Not only, but a good figure, beautiful figure, immediately. That is another. Then also when this Amogha was dying of cholera, and Mahāprabhu touched him.

_____ [?] In this way.

Then Advaita Prabhu’s son, Gopāla, also.

One Bhod Ācārya, Bhoda scholar. He was an Acarya and had many disciples in Andhradesh. He had a great discussion with Mahāprabhu, and they managed to offer some mahā-prasāda to Mahāprabhu, but really there was some meat or other filthy things. But a big bird suddenly came and took the plate. Then that plate was thrown down onto the head of the Ācārya, and he fell. And the disciples surrounding him began to wail.

Then Mahāprabhu said, “You say, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa and your Ācārya will come up.” And they did so, and the Ācārya came up.

All these things, many things Mahāprabhu showed. That is from that plane to attract ordinary people. Sometimes they show to the foolish people that sort of, something like miracles.

Devotee: I heard that the gopīs were previously Ṛṣis who got the desire to become gopīs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The original gopīs are always eternal, but some foreigners are also allowed to join there, the subordinate group. The Śruti, the Daṇḍakaranya Ṛṣis, by their special prayer they are taken in. When they accepted that gopī mentality, gopī bhajan with most earnestness, they were allowed. They got siddhi by the grace of the Lord and were allowed to enter there. By the grace of Rāmacandra the munis. And the Śruti also by their prayer which was heard by Kṛṣṇa and taken in, they joined. At the same time Lakṣmī Devī from Vaikuṇṭha, she can't enter into that area. So, only through a particular process one can attain, and not taken his own particular position he can enter, but he must accept the change, the process. He must accept the change. And anyone may be changed.

The inner self is there and the outer encasement must vanish, and then one will find that he is gopī and he will find necessarily I am in that plane, and her duty also, her or his duty. The inner type of him may be a sakhā or sakhī, or vātsalya rasa, or servant, in many stages of service. And according to his inner acquaintance he will go there.

Devotee: That's in eternal Goloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eternal Goloka, Vaikuṇṭha Goloka, some may be stopped in Vaikuṇṭha also, in the service of Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa. And some may be stopped in Ayodhyā as servitors of Rāmacandra. Some may, as within, some may reach up to Dvārakā, some to Mathurā, some to Vṛndāvana. And there very different orders of servitors. Gradation is there.

Devotee: What is the difference between Satyaloka and Tapaloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tapaloka the penance is principle, then that is Tapaloka. And Satyaloka, the sattva guṇa in its highest form, self abnegation it the highest form, Satyaloka. And then above Satyaloka, on the other side of Brahmaloḥa, there is Śivaloka and Vaiḥuṇṭhaloka. Subtler and subtler and more subtle conception. From misconception to proper conception. These are all stages, when one is avoiding misconception and going to proper conception. And in the proper conception area there is also different gradations. According to the degree of sacrifice he can accommodate within him, quality and quantity, both. Just as here according to ones knowledge and ones energy: ignorance and science and nescience, and then energy more or less. So many variegated creations we find, but ultimately some knowledge and some ignorance, so variegated. So there also service of different quality, both quantity and quality. According to that classification, according to quality, classification, gradation, infinite.

Devotee: Are Brahmaloḥa and Satyaloka the same?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmaloḥa proper, that is the abscissa, no man's land, sāyujya mukti, sound sleep. When one looses his own individual identification, that stage, such stage of the soul for some long time. But it is not permanent, but for a long time he will have to sleep a sound slumber, Brahmaloḥa. Vimukta-māninas, they think that, 'We are in the highest stage of life,' vimukta-māninas. Tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ. But because they do find any attraction for the higher thing, they will have to come back ultimately again in this world. He cannot catch the opposite current, then this current will again bring him down. But for the time being for a long period, he will, if you may say so, enjoy the sound sleep.

[ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādrṭa-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Swāmī, in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, in the twentieth chapter, Sanātana Goswāmī is speaking with Caitanya Mahāprabhu. And Caitanya Mahāprabhu says, ei-mata brahmāṇḍa-madhye sabāra 'parakāśa', sapta-dvīpe nava-khaṇḍe yāñhāra vilāsa

["Within the universe the Lord is situated in different spiritual manifestations. These are situated on seven islands in nine sections. Thus Their pastimes are going on."] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.218]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I've already told that Kṣīrodakaśāyī, this mandar in Badrinārāyaṇa, and about the American Consul, in Delhi, in Calcutta, in provinces, in this way here and there. So here also God sends His representation of different type in different places. In Mandari Madhusudan. Somewhere this, somewhere that Avatāra, somewhere another Avatāra, in this way perhaps it is mentioned.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when our Guru Mahārāja was translating Bhāgavata there was some conversation with yourself regarding the sun and moon. The moon is closer or the sun is closer?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I showed one direction that is not in consideration of physical distance, but I think it will be better, the distance of influence. Influence. Just as we may see in the political, Russia is nearer to India than America, err, than Pakistan. Pakistan is very near, close by, but we may say that Russia is nearer to India than Pakistan. So how? The nearness, calculation of the friendly relations or influence. So I like say that we may take in that way, not in physical distance. Sun's influence over the Earth is first, next that of Moon, next that of Mars. In this way perhaps we may proceed. I gave some hint in that direction. So if we are challenged we may take this course. But my ultimate basis of argument is that it is subjective. It is like a hypnotist. As the Lord showed Śukadeva at that time, it is described like that. He might have showed that sort to anyone and everyone. And sometimes, one in particular, and it is in His hands. Subjective control: not the objective will control us to see a thing, but the subject as He likes can make a show like a hypnotist. That is my view. So everything can be explained. The higher seer is controlling us to see anything. A man here, "Oh you see Me, I and this." Another man won't see. The subjective control, like that of a hypnotist. Viśvarūpa darśana in Bhagavad-gītā. What is it? "Arjuna you see this. I am so and so." And Arjuna is seeing that. "I can't see it more." "Yes, I am." Closing. So it's not that the object is controlling the experience of the subject, but the super subject is controlling the experience of the lower subject. That is my understanding. Everything is controlled by the higher.

ūrdhva-mūlam adhaḥ-śākham, aśvatthaṁ prāhur avyāyam [chandāṁsi
yasya parṇāni, yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit]

["The holy scriptures proclaim that this material world is like an unchangeable Banyan tree with its roots facing upwards and its branches down, known as an Aśvattha (transitory) tree. Its nutriments are the Vedic aphorisms, which are represented by its leaves. Whoever knows this tree in this way is a genuine knower of the Vedas."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1]

The root is above, not from the fossil. The fossil will control me to see him as fossil always, no such base law, such a mean law I am ready to accept.

Devotee: If some argument comes, how do we describe that the moon is nearer?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Moon, not in the physical measurement of distance, but influence. The greatest influence, in the line of influence, Sun is the nearest to Earth. And in the line of influence Moon is the next, and so on. Otherwise, Swāmī Mahārāja he pointed out to the west that in every nation we find Sunday, Monday, this that order, why that? Why that? The Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, in this way the order, it is found in every nationality almost. There must be something.

Devotee: They say that it's because God created the world in seven days. The Christians say that the reason why it's Sunday then Monday is because God created the world in six days and then He had to rest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Still, why Sun first?

Devotee: They have no answer to that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Sun has got most intimate connection with Earth, near, but near in what respect? Nearest from the standpoint of influence. The greatest influence Sun has got, the Sun, the ray, heat, that is nearest to the Earth in intensity, that is in influence. It has got greatest hold over this Earth, the Sun. So Sun is nearest. Sun means not that lump, but Sun means Sun's rays, Sun's heat, light. So nearest, that is more influence the Sun has got over the Earth first, and next the Moon. That also we can experience, nearest. The second influence over the Earth the Moon has got. And in mass we are told in the physical also sense nearest to the Earth. Some sort of influence that must imbibe, have to imbibe.

Devotee: That means when we talk about influence whether we won't take up like Māyāvādī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? What's Māyāvādī?

Devotee: Because we're not giving much importance for the Deity, only influence we are getting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The influence is also matter, it is also material, the light, heat, that is material thing. And here I'm not talking about the spiritual. But it is material, only subtle or electricity, more powerful than any force ever found. But that is far away, hitherto, now it is found that is very near.

Devotee: Our Swāmī Mahārāja said that, “The astronauts they did not go to the Moon but they might have gone to the planet Rahu.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may not be always. It may be that they are misguided in their way of calculation, the method of calculation. Not that Moon, the Moon which has got the influence over the Earth, not that Moon.

Devotee: There’s more than one Moon?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be, many Moons there may be, in different: infinite number of Moons there may be. There is some pinda what is getting light from the Sun and focussing that to another material body, that is a Moon. Earth has got this Moon and there is another method of calculation. It is all relative. If we consider the Sun to be fixed, then Moon and other planets moving in a particular way. But if we don’t consider the Sun to be the centre, if I consider the Pole Star to be the centre, and then how the progress of moving? We take a photo. Then what will be the effect. Sun moving, this moving, this moving, and then, from that consideration, that this Moon may not be some planet to this Earth. Its movement, describing the path, that will be another thing. The Earth’s way another, Sun’s way another. But because we fix the Sun as the centre we take the picture, we find that this is moving around, this is moving around. But if the centre is changed, and the movement accordingly, then a new picture of chaotic order will come in the calculation. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. What do you say? Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So then what is the original point?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The relative and dynamic also, we have to learn of all these things, dynamic. Suppose, there is an example also, that one ship moving, and there is the mast. And one ant is climbing up the mast. What is the resultant of the mast, of that ant? It is moving, the Earth is moving, and the ship also moving, and the ant is also moving. So what will be the real part, locus, of the ant? So in this way, in relation to the Earth, or relation to the Sun, so it will vary. No location. So according to the centre, so many moving, and according to centre we can chalk out some way. If the centre is removed, then the photo, the line of movement will be different. Remove the centre then your photo of the path described by them cannot but be different. So the Sun with this, the whole solar system is moving around the Polar Star, Dhruvaloka. Because Dhruva and Prasini, Dhruva and this Earth, Polar Star and the Earth almost continue in the same position. So if Polar Star we take as the centre, the Earth will seem to be stand still. And the Sun and other planets are moving. So if one says the Earth is not moving, we can't discard it. Because if we take the Polar Star, Earth maintaining same position always, the Earth is fixed. Though moving, everything is moving, but in that relativity.

Two trains parallel, going, and that window man and this window man, equal speed, their position is unchanged, not moving. So all relative, no end, only standpoint varies. So Sun, not only, but globe what is, we don't know, but Sun's rays, Sun's heat, that is very nearer, having the most influence over the Earth. So Sun is described as nearer to the Earth. And next the Moons influence on the Earth. Then the Mars, in this way. Let them calculate in what respect they have more influence accordingly over the Earth. Let the scientists invent, discover and then to come to challenge to us. And this is somewhat relative, mundane. But my stand is in the extreme cause, that the subject, He's controlling to see, this lower subject. Higher subject is regulating the lower subject, what to see, what to not see. And not the fixed objective world, that is controlling the seer.

I heard that recently one French scientist discovered that the colour is not outside but it is in the eye. In ours also creation, sāṅkhya philosophy, that it is coming, the pañca tan-mātra, then it is bifurcated as eye, as light, and as colour. The Sun, the light...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...one thing divided in three ways. And so also, ear to receive, and sound, that is tama guṇa, and this is raja guṇa, and ether, sound, and ether is tama guṇa, and sound raja guṇa, and sattya guṇa, this ear. In this way, eye, light, and colour. Without light we can't see the colour, the rūpa, figure. So coming from the same source in these three ways, so also, ether, sound and ear, coming from the same source: just as branch off, viṣaya-pravālāḥ, in Bhagavad-gītā [15.2]. From the seed, sprout is coming, then the trunk, then branches, then leaves, in this way, ūrdhva-mūlam [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1], the root is above and it is coming, creating things coming down, and the cause is above. So Bhagavad-gītā says, who gets such conception he knows properly Veda. Yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit, he's veda-vit, he knows the real purpose of Veda who knows it well that the cause of this world is above, not down.

Do you understand? Partially! Something!

Devotee: Something!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you? Here?

Devotee: Partially.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] That is my satisfaction. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, the scientists they’re trying to send different vehicles to other planets. Is that possible that they can by some space ship or by some physical means go to another planet?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is it possible to reach other planets by the space ship or the machine?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The yogīs may go visit there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: By machine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By machine? I don't know that. You ask the scientists.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whether by machine one can, by mental body one can reach anywhere by the process of yoga.

Devotee: When they ask...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Russians came some five or six years ago, some scientists came to India to find out from the yogīs that, "With more speed of electricity that mind can go, the speed of the thought can go most fast. And in that process if I want to go to Moon or any other stars, we are sending our sputnik, that word, a mechanic, through the mind can we contact with that process?" But they told now we failed to understand. It's not possible, never, point blank. Some eight Russian scientists came to visit India. Mano javit [?] Mind is the most fast traveller. Nothing can go with more speed than mind. So with the possibility of the help of the mental speed we can reach to any star object of our need or anything. That was their point of investigation, but anyhow they failed, I was told in newspaper. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, after the Śukadeva Goswāmī spoke Bhāgavatam, what did he do then?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not mentioned. Yadami vikrama sartam [?] He came from unknown quarter and again mixed in the unknown. When he came from unknown direction, and also when that function was finished he mixed himself with the beggars that gathered there in great number. Entered into the mob and hid himself there. The father was there, his Guru, and the Nārada Goswāmī was also there. But he came only to finish some function to give the Bhāgavata truth, as interpolated by the Divine. It was inaugurated you must take name in the middle yadivar, such a highest thing. That is devotion percolated by knowledge, cid-vilāsa. Transcendental cosmos was percolated by spiritual, by consciousness spirituality that he came.

Devotee: When Dakṣa had his head cut off and got the head of a goat, he still maintained his same mentality. So is it understood that the mind is simply a reflection of the heart: from that example?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But by the law of miracle when a goat's head can be put into the human body then other things also may be managed from that subtle power. Not only Dakṣa, but Gaṇeśa had the same fate, not only Gaṇeśa but Hayagrīva, Nārāyaṇa, that also fits in. But subtle power may transfer quality of this to that and manage. Not only that, when Nārāyaṇa comes in the shape of Varāha He's not limited in Varāha, mastiska [?] Or as fish, Matsya Avatāra, Nṛsimha Avatāra, but supernatural knowledge can exist, can come down in any instrument. He can work through any instrument, the Matsya, Kūrma, because that is not in the physical, in the case of Nārāyaṇa. And here also that Supreme Will may work and can show wonder. Higher will is the cause, not the material. That shows the efficacy of the higher existence. Subtle powers are master of the gross, and not gross is master of the subtle. Supreme Will may do it.

Gandhi used to live in a cottage, and big men wants to see him he comes to live in that thereby. The superior intellect or superior morality or all other which is big, just as human intellect that can control the lion, the elephant, the mammoth, so finer thing can control the gross lower thing.

So in the Supreme Will, by law, by the special power reserved in Mahādeva, can, that made it possible, in the case of Dakṣa. Exceptional, there may be exceptional in the law of creation, that is also wonderful. Why B should be after A, not C? That is the first arithmetic arrangement we are accustomed to accept. But the officer, organiser, higher will can organise things otherwise. We are accustomed to write from left to right, but Arabian system just the opposite. So organisation may be affecting in various ways.

The will, the penance, after all, sweet will of the Lord is above all, can make or mar, and do anything and everything. The cause is given as such, and as much as that is transferred in a particular way they can use that sort of power there. Only distribution of power, distribution of power in nature there is. The judge can pass order of hanging a person, and the magistrate may not do so, but he can keep and he can punish him by laws, so distribution of power. Everything is possible with the Absolute Will and that is distributed according to the gradation, and so anything may happen anywhere.

But that all proves that spirit is above matter, spirit is guiding, not the matter. Forcing, matter has produced spirit so matter is controlling spirit, not that conception. Spirit is always above matter, over and above matter in all consideration. So the miracles may come. What is not according to the general law of the matter, when we see that to be effected then we think, 'what is it, how is it?' But sweet will is above. Then we, our expectation will be wide, 'Yes, anything may happen. Some sort of necessity was there and the highest dispensation has done it. Everything is possible.' A dead man is again, may have life: so many miracles.

Devotee: One time someone asked Swāmī Mahārāja, "Why do you not perform miracles?" And Swāmī Mahārāja said that, "Actually, changing these persons..."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To show miracles means to deceive people: a deception for deception. When sometimes it is necessary one may take to that course, deception, "I'm a higher deceiver than you, so submit to me."

Devotee: Like that Sai Bābā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sai Bābā: and another hypnotist, P.C. Shakar [?] I exposed him, 'That you are a hypnotist and no spiritual background. You are a great deceiver.' Exposed him!

Devotee: What if influence are just growing [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. After that it is falling away I heard, after P.C. Sakhar I exposed him.

Devotee: I have gone just one year before, his place, I have seen very shoes near about ten square kilometre whole of āśrama. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be, not impossible, because the purchasers of that quality, what he's distributing the purchasers are also self deceivers.

Devotee: But even the scientist are rushing [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Self cheater, the cheaters they're making crowd around them. They like to know something of cheating the people by some offering of this mundane. So people should be educated what to desire. That is the first thing, what to desire, the siddhi, or to give up all the siddhi, to be master of siddhi or to be saved from the hands of siddhi, what is desirable? One wants to establish a kingdom, and another like Bharata they're very busy to leave, to get away from the influence of a kingdom. There are different strata. One is busy to acquire some, someone wants to purchase some poison, perhaps to kill some bird or insect, or sometimes to kill him, wants poison. Another he will avoid the shop of poison. Why? Different aim of life; one purchases poison, another avoids poison. Why: type of different layer. So besides this the mastership over the globe, that is poison. Bhāgavata says:

Na narka pristham na ca para nistham na sarvabhauma na rasadi patram

Any relation with matter, that is dangerous, whether as a master or as a servant; anyhow to be, to remain in the relativity of mortal things that is dangerous, we must dismiss that wholesale, that will be, then they are also Māyāvādī. But not this mean fellow. But Vaiṣṇava's not only wants to get out of this mortal area but to enter into a safe and healthy position. That is another thing, as a servant. 'It is better to,' Satan says, 'it is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven.' But Vaiṣṇava says, 'It is better to serve in heaven than to reign in hell.' The opposite! Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As a yogī you want to make master of this material thing, transient, mortal, what will disappear wholesale in the time of pralaya. Then where will be the position of that Sai Baba when this whole globe will vanish, the whole solar system, the whole creation will vanish? Then what effect this Sai Baba will be able to produce? Benefit to the...

Devotee: But he's also making people chant the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Sai Baba, in his āśrama this Hari Nāma is going on twenty four hours.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But Hari Nāma, what sort of Hari Nāma? That imitation Hari Nāma! Hari is not there, only this illusory imitation of sound.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Namaskāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The spirit is not – namaskāra bahiray, only imitating sound, but Hari is not the sound. Sound is a stage which is produced by ether, ordinary sound. But the Name is not the sound that can be produced by two lips or tongue. A machine also can produce sound. The Hare Kṛṣṇa can be produced by the gramophone also. The physical sound, but spirit, life, ātmā, Paramātmā, above that: that sort of thing must be present there. Only the bottle and the label, that is not all the thing, but the contained, the substance contained there may be a poison or may be honey. But honey is all in all and not the bottle.

Devotee: Achar. A preacher when he has to see other category of life other than Sai Baba or a Māyāvādī, a Vaiṣṇava can go and see them, or Vaiṣṇava can go only for preaching?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaiṣṇava will go, can visit anyone and everyone, but according to his capacity. Vaiṣṇava may visit Sai Baba not to become his disciple, but if he can make himself his disciple or the disciple of his Guru he can visit.

Mahāprabhu met Sārvabhauma to conquer him, Prakāśānanda to conquer him, and not to become disciple of them.

Our Swāmī Mahārāja sometimes encouraged me: “Let us go to see Gandhi, Jawaharlal [Paṇḍita Nehru] and convert them.” Now and then he used to encourage me, “Let us go.” Of course when he was in business, at that time, many a time he’d try to provoke me, “Let us go, why not? We must capture, break down.”

So, with the object of capturing them, to convert them, we can meet anyone according to our own capacity. But not to be converted by them, not with so weak a man that may be converted he will avoid that bad association, that the māyā may capture him through that agent, a weak must not go. But a strong man he will go.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then he will try to have good company. By their association to increase his own strength, where he is, so that he may destroy and demolish the anti party. That sort of capacity he must develop in him sufficiently.

Devotee: It's like our Akṣayānanda Mahārāja he drove out Rajneesh from Poona.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he's so powerful. Who is that Rajneesh? I did not know much about him. Now I hear his name. The other day I found in the paper that the real Rajneesh was killed two years or three years ago, and imitation Rajneesh was there, and now he's driven to America. There was an article found in Ānanda Bazaar Patrikā within a month or so there was an article. The real Rajneesh he was murdered two or three years back, before, and the imitation now he has been driven away to America.

Devotee: Yes. Maybe it's possible.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And what is his creed? He tried to utilise the sense experience for the higher realisation, is it?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The sum total? The sahajiyā, the baula, they're also almost of same opinion.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He wrote a book, Sambhoga Sei Samādhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What samādhi?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sambhoga Sei Samādhi.

Devotee: From Sex to Super Consciousness.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sex to Samādhi. Number one rākṣasa!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is a school of that type not only that, this baula, the tantric also. The tantric they also try to utilise all these mundane purpose to such an end that it will take me above.

But Kṛṣṇa, the reality is dead to them. By this empirical method, ascending method, they can go. The grace may not come, that will come down, Kṛṣṇa's grace will come down in Guru pāramparyeṇa, it is not admitted by these fellows. Not by devising any method, or tactics, dexterity, they will be able to catch the sarvatantra satantra, Who is independent of the independent, the Absolute, by some jugglery! Just as one man told that, "Śaṅkara's philosophy is intellectual jugglery, fruitless jugglery." Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam tusarva artamam [?]

[śreyāḥ sṛtiṁ bhaktim udasya te vibho, kliśyanti ye] kevala-bodha-labdhaye teṣāṁ asau kleśāla eva śiṣyate, nānyad yathā sthūla-tuṣāvaghātinām

[“My dear Lord, devotional service unto You is the only auspicious path. If one gives it up simply for speculative knowledge or the understanding that these living beings are spirit souls and the material world is false, he undergoes a great deal of trouble. He only gains troublesome and inauspicious activities. His endeavours are like beating a husk that is already devoid of rice. One’s labour becomes fruitless.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.4] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.22]

So their finding means, devising means of different types to reach to the highest goal. And the highest goal is something else, mundane, where the jīva soul can become master. He must come down, adhokṣaja, without His permission, without His recommended process, none can enter there. So that should be the clear, high road towards that, by submission to that sweet will, that will be the only way to go to. He’s independent. None can force Him to come within his laboratory. He’s independent, Absolute Independent. And the only method sanctioned by Him can take him there towards Him. When He wants to make Himself known, only through that process He can be approached. Otherwise without giving importance to His will anyone can go and see and take Him within his fist, what is this? Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So śrauta-panthā, avaroha-panthā; that must be accepted. His Sweet Will, will come and accept who will go there with His consent only, that is the road to go to Adhokṣaja, to the Absolute Good, Absolute Will. Not any means devised by any brain that can control Him to accept them as His servant or anything else. This avaroha-panthā, this yoga, avaroha-panthā, all these are avaroha-panthā, inductive method. But deductive method, descending method, adhokṣaja:

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam
evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, [tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

["One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Supersoul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."] [Katha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23]

Whomever He will accept he can go in there in His land, not anyone at their free will. He's such, yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, super subject, when He allows others, lower subject to approach in His own sphere they can go, with the spirit of service; with no other object. Only with the spirit surrendering wholesale, recruitment and disarmed, wholesale disarmed, and when taken the faith of absolute surrender they can be allowed to enter that domain, and never otherwise. Not to explore, not to become monarch in a particular higher island to colonise. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ,
jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

...

Never otherwise! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then I retire here.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We think you are always in Divinity. That is why we came because we're not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In different sphere, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The vyāsāsana, a particular type of mood, to talk from vyāsāsana, to be in a surrendered position where the proper inspiration, dictation may come: particular mood. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Our Guru Mahārāja told once, “When, from vyāsāsana one is faced with the śloka of Bhāgavatam:

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

Ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, should he pronounce this śloka, or being afraid, frightened, he will go, he will fly away? Or he will have to face to explain the real meaning of this śloka? Ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān. “I am Ācārya. I am God. I am ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān. You know your Ācārya as God Himself. So I am in the position of the Ācārya, so am I God? Should we face this problem of explanation or fly away? Ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, a relative position.”

In another time he told in Varṣāṇā, when circumambulation of the whole of Vraja maṇḍala. “Our relative position of a disciple requires that the paramparā up to my Gurudeva it is not kaniṣṭha adhikārī but that the whole thing down intact up to this.” We are asked to have such notion about Guru.

Then by the line of descent, not diminished, gradually! The highest Guru, Brahmā, then another, Nārada, little diminished śiṣya, disciple, so a little inferior to his Guru. So the third also inferior to the second, fourth also inferior to the third, this should not be thought. Ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, this thread within, that good will of the Supreme backing the whole thing. So to the disciple, relatively, they will have such perspective consideration. He will try his best, ‘That I have come to the highest intensity.’ That will help him to imbibe the faith, encourage his faith. Fault finding with Guru, that will be suicidal, suicidal for the disciple. This is the general thing; that generally we should have such faith to develop, because as much as I am eager, sincerely to come to God, the cooperation from His side is not defective. To the fullest extent He has come down to cooperate with me, my sincere hankering. No defect can be there. I want Him and He also comes to meet me. If I’m sincere He’s also more than that. I’m eager, He’s also more eager to meet me. There cannot be anything wrong in His part. He’s omniscient. He’s omnipotent. I’m approaching not to a blind thing, and not a tinge of ingratitude may be there. So seeing that He’s come to the fullest extent to sympathise with me I’m guided to a particular Guru and by his internal direction, and also he has come to cooperate with me. With best sincerity he has come. That should be our attitude.

But from, this is relative, we shall try to take the benefit of this, but for my previous offensive activity if any disaster may come in my way, and then it is mentioned everywhere, especially in Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi – the greatest misfortune ever we can conceive is to find fault in Gurudeva, is actually due to my ill fate, my ill fortune it has occurred before me. And that is also, and that offence gone, that period finished, I may feel by my previous sukṛti another sort of light, another sort of light by previous sukṛti, that I have done wrong. I have done wrong. And at the guidance there is also Guru, that śikṣā Guru, or in any way, that is also a branch of the current of the Lord, same Lord. Helping me to detect some sort of defect whom I previously took to be perfect, such disaster, it may not occur, we shall wish that such disaster may not occur in anyone's fate. But still, if it is the fact, then with the help of another Guru we may seek the judgement of the present Guru. It is mention in Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi. With the help of another Vaiṣṇava if such light awakes in my mind that I'm so tolerant, forbearing. Still I find anyhow the Guru is showing, that may be a test to me also, he's showing his practice does not harmonise, is not in proper adjustment with his own voice and the voice of the śāstra, and the voice of other Vaiṣṇava, or other Ācāryas. If such sort of new suspicion and awakening we find, we are to verify from the Vaiṣṇava. And then when it should be clear I shall have to replace me in some other line. But that is not desirable, and that is very rarely found in anyone's case. And that is sometimes the result of some inconsiderate and almost hurried faced selection, with some hesitating mind, with some pressure from outside also, ulterior purpose. That sort of ill choice, wrong choice, might have occurred. In that way we are to take it, because I cannot march on blind. The scriptures, the Vaiṣṇavas, other, they're in broad daylight and I cannot march with my eyes blind, or closed. Gaura Haribol. It is real, and it is not supposition, on the way and the goal what I'm desired to make advance towards, that is not the way of suspicion. The broad daylight as if we shall march seeing everything more clear, thousand times clear than we live and move here in this plane. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30] it must untie all different forms of desires ever fostered and placed in my heart, within my mental system, that the whole ties will be untied. I don't want anything, so untie, I don't want it. I want nothing. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, all my doubts must be cleared. This is the, and that cannot but be this, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. At least I'm in the line of progress that my doubts are being cleared gradually, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. All suspicion clearing light I'm getting gradually. Kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi. [?]

In ekadas again this śloka occurs, bhidyate hr̥daya, it is in the first canto and also in the eleventh. Jāto-śraddho mat kathāsu. “One who has got some faith in Me, mat kathāsu, nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu, and in wholesale dealing he does not want any connection of the world, no charm, nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu, in the general sense. The general resolution of his mind to leave them and come ahead, go ahead. Veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān, he knows fully well that if I indulge myself into exploiting habit, veda-duḥkha, it will produce some misery, some reaction sure to come. Tato bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dr̥ḍha-niścayaḥ. With more firmness and more perseverance he will try to follow the same course. That is the only way. No other alternative. Proktena bhakti-yogena bhajato mā 'sakṛṇ muneḥ, kāmā hr̥dayyā naśyanti sarvve mayi. Then gradually the day will dawn, he will find one day that they're retiring, that after trying their utmost, now they have failed and they're going back. Proktena bhakti-yogena bhajato mām 'sakṛn muneḥ, kāmā hṛdayyā naśyanti sarvve mayi hṛdi sthite. "Gradually I shall come down in the plane of his heart and everything will be pleasure. The night of the hail and storm that will go away, and the dawn will be clear, sun will rise. That is seen."

This is in one's own case. But if he finds such a case in the Vaiṣṇava, superior than he, then Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has told that there may be some misconception also. In one's own case he will deal with himself with this idea, and in another case, especially if he's considered to be a higher Vaiṣṇava, he's advised that there may be another thing, another outlook. What is it? Sometimes in a Vaiṣṇava of higher realisation some anartha abruptly is seen to come, to appear, but that is to increase the speed of his progress. Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some undesirable things, events, take place, and repentant fire of great intensity came there and push him towards the higher: more higher region. Just as a rocket is thrown, the background gets a very great push. Is it not? Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Correct. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you want to take a lift, some pressure in the back side, so sometimes in the case of Vaiṣṇava, it also may be seen, that something, little wrong anyhow appeared in his heart and a great fire of reactionary type made him help to a great progress. "What am I? How this came to me?” From that sometimes is seen in a Vaiṣṇava of higher type, so we may not misread that, misread that. That is not really – that is really a part of progress. By the Lord’s wish for greater promotion sometimes apparently it comes there. But that should not be reckoned as setback. That should be included in the improving line. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has mentioned this. Be careful about to judge Vaiṣṇava character. There may be by the wish of Lord such event also.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Mahāprabhu. Gaura Mahāprabhu.

And sometimes it is also possible that we can’t understand his ways. We think it otherwise.

So we are warned not to venture to discuss about the practices of a Vaiṣṇava.

dr̥ṣṭaiḥ svabhāva-janitair vapuṣaś ca doṣair na prākṛtatvam iha bhakta-janasya paśyet gaṅgāmbhasāṁ na khalu budbuda-phena-paṅkair brahma-dravatvam apagacchati nīra-dharmaiḥ

[“Being situated in his original Kṛṣṇa conscious position, a pure devotee does not identify with the body. Such a devotee should not be seen from a materialistic point of view. Indeed, one should overlook a devotee’s having a body born in a low family, a body with a bad complexion, a deformed body, or a diseased or infirm body. According to ordinary vision, such imperfections may seem prominent in the body of a pure devotee, but despite such seeming defects, the body of a pure devotee cannot be polluted. It is exactly like the waters of the Ganges, which sometimes during the rainy season are full of bubbles, foam and mud. The Ganges waters do not become polluted. Those who are advanced in spiritual understanding will bathe in the Ganges without considering the condition of the water.”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 6]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Upadeśāmṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Upadeśāmṛta. Drṣṭaiḥ svabhāva-janitair vapuṣaś ca doṣair. If we find a Vaiṣṇava he has got a disease, why? He’s a perfect man, the Gurudeva’s considered to be perfect. Why he suffers from disease? One Vaiṣṇava, why he’s blind? Why he’s lame? Why he’s not perfect if he’s favourite of the Lord Supreme? Then why this sort of defect shall be? Svabhāva-janitair vapuṣaś ca. And also easily irritated and chastising giving strictures to the disciples. Or one has got particular taste for particular food. Why these things should be? These trifles may disturb our mind. That Rūpa Goswāmī gives us warning. Drṣṭaiḥ svabhāva-janitair vapuṣaś ca doṣair. Physical or mental, doṣair, any defect if you detect in a Vaiṣṇava, don’t reckon it as this mundane defect. Don’t consider those things to be mundane, polluting.

gaṅgāmbhasāṁ, prākṛtatvam iha bhakta-janasya paśyet, gaṅgāmbhasāṁ na khalu budbuda-phena-paṅkair, brahma-dravatvam apagacchati nīra-dharmaiḥ.

The example is given of this Ganges water. The Ganges water if we touch it we are purified by the order of the creator. It is told that if we touch we’re purified; we need not take bath, nīra-dharmaiḥ. But if we find that there is some dirt there, budbuda, the fermentation, foam, budbuda-phena, and paṅkair, and mixed with mud, then that water can’t pure you, if you think, but it is not so. The dirty Ganges water can purify you. That purification what will be effect to you that is not of mundane type. That is of another type. So the dirty character cannot force the Ganges water to lose its purifying, that purifying in another plane. So this trifling thing that Vaiṣṇava is little ill, he is fond of a particular food, or he's engaged with a particular man, he cannot do his duty properly, by these things a Vaiṣṇava cannot be judged. In another plane his activity, his purifying tendency is being spread and transmitted in another plane, in the highest plane, in the plane of the causal region. So we are to take that, not the external feature should be identified with the internal things. In an earthen pot the pure water may be. In a golden pot a poisonous water may be, may stay. So by the external activity we can't judge the internal man. Internal signs must be found to judge him: defect in that plane must be found and not defect in this plane. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So many parṣada bhakta were gr̥hastha with Mahāprabhu and others, and they were giving birth to child, so they came in connection with the women, so they're suffering under the lust propensity. We should not take like that. We are so low in our nature that we cannot conceive that without lustfulness one cannot produce child. The ideal is high. Bhajami gr̥ha mediyam [?] Bhāgavatam says, oh, Gītā says: Prajanaś cāsmi kandarpaḥ.

[āyudhānām ahaṁ vajraṁ, dhenūnām asmi kāmadhuk prajanaś cāsmi kandarpaḥ, sarpāṇām asmi vāsukiḥ]

["Of weapons I am the thunderbolt, and of cows I am the heavenly desire-fulfilling cow. Of cupids I am he who ensures progeny, and among the single-headed venomous snakes I am Vāsuki, the king of all snakes."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 10.28]

“Where only production is necessary, as kāma, I am there. Not hrte, not for sense pleasure. When for sense pleasure two united I’m not there. Only necessity of producing child I’m there.”

That is as pure as anything. The attitude is to be blamed. The exploiting tendency is to be blamed, not the activity.

karmaṇy akarma yaḥ paśyed, akarmaṇi ca karma yaḥ sa buddhimān manuṣyeṣu, sa yuktaḥ kṛtsna-karma-kṛt

[“One who realises that the selfless action performed by the man of pure knowledge is never subject to bondage and is therefore in fact inaction whereas the abnegation practised by a renunciate of impure heart is the ill-fated cause of bondage he is, among men, the intelligent yogī and factual executor of all works.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.18]

When one can detect no action in action, and in absence of action there is action, who can detect in such a way, he’s really a man of reason or proper intelligence. Do you follow? No?

Devotees: Yes. Yes. No; very hard to understand that verse of the Gītā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Gītā, anaśakta, if we’re anaśakta, if we have not special exploiting tendency then I’m an agent cent per cent of the main power.

[yasya nāhaṅkr̥to bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate] hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān, na hanti na nibadhyate

[“He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer’s consequences.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

He may be an agent to kill the whole universe but he does not do anything. Cent per cent agent of the Absolute Force, that Absolute Wave, playing in the Absolute Wave cent per cent: it is possible. Faultless activity is possible.

Kant said; the German philosopher Kant, “That no action can be completely pure, only good will.”

But we shall say, so called good will is also impure here in the mundane world.

So any action, the standpoint of service, and standpoint of renunciation, and standpoint of exploitation should be judged. Anything may be, every action may take place from the plane of exploitation, and plane of renunciation for retiring purpose and gradually it will vanish. And the highest plane only by the, to carry out the Divine Will of the Lord whatever he’s doing, nirguṇa. That is nirguṇa. Everything may happen, but not only selfless, but from self surrendered plane, any inspiration comes carrying out His order. It is difficult but still it exists. It may be difficult but it is there, and that is our highest thing of attainment. Not this vilāsa, not movement should be rejected; movement, dynamic character, it may seem to be equal with the exploiting energy, but it is not so. The current coming from the Absolute Centre and obeying the order, that is automatic, that is nirguṇa: colourless, faultless of any selfishness. Any crookedness is not to be found there. The clear, automatic, purest wave, all good, Absolute Good, the origin is Absolute Good, the wave coming and you are a unit of that plane. So that is the land desired, desirable, our most desirable thing is that. Nothing is bad but the attitude, the poison within. That poison should be driven – everything may remain – the poison should be removed from within.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

To serve the Vaiṣṇava, to serve Guru, to serve the Lord, we will be up for anything, even we shall take the risk of going to hell, ha, ha, and contacting for eternity. So much risk, but the whole concentration for the centre. So it is nothing, it is safe, no apprehension practically, but so much risk gives us promotion to the highest quarter of the servitors.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja he wanted to hear, very fond of hearing from me. But I told him, śravaṇa and kīrtana, not only śravaṇa, śravaṇa-kīrtana-jale karaye secana. [mālī hañā kare sei bīja āropaṇa, śravaṇa-kīrtana-jale karaye secana]

[“When a person receives the seed of devotional service, he should take care of it by becoming a gardener and sowing the seed in his heart. If he waters the seed gradually by the process of śravaṇa and kīrtana, the seed will begin to sprout.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.152]

To receive and to reproduce, that is what is naturally necessary, śravaṇa kīrtana, to receive, to hear, and to chant, to receive and to reproduce, to distribute; two things together. Only taking goods from the higher capitalist and stock it, that was not Mahāprabhu’s idea. Distribute it. Your goods shed must be vacant, so get supply and give supply. The current, that will be more helpful for one’s progress, will be acquainted with the market, and to face different type of demands, and accordingly to get selected goods from, that this is the demand of the market. I want such things. So the stale character will be eliminated thereby, up to that living Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Droṇācārya, he was a brāhmaṇa, but he held a grudge against Mahārāja Drupada. So how is that possible, that a brāhmaṇa can hold a grudge?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brāhmaṇas are not free from grudge. You see in the Purāṇa so many brāhmaṇas they are throwing curse to this man, that man. So that higher type of brāhmaṇa he may not have. Durvāsā, he's also throwing curse to a Vaiṣṇava like Ambarīṣa Mahārāja. So brāhmaṇas are not free from – they're approaching to the renunciation, to the plane of renunciation, but not fully attained that.

What to speak of them, even Catuḥsana, they went to visit Vaikuṇṭha - Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa, and when Jaya Vijaya, the gatekeepers, they opposed, and they threw curse upon them. And Nārāyaṇa came out, but they acquired some power so curse must take effect. But Nārāyaṇa He gave stricture, mild stricture to the Catuḥsana, to the brāhmaṇas, who were brāhmaṇas of higher type, and in the tinge of devotion; there also it came. But sometimes it is required to help some līlā of Nārāyaṇa. In the Vaiṣṇava School... Ke?

That may be of two types. Somewhere they're utilised as instruments of the Supreme Will, there they're faultless. And sometimes that previous tendency is still pursuing that man. So particular cases should be judged in particular way, individually, cases should be judged individually. Sometimes for universal play it may be necessary, and sometimes the past tendency of exploiting the environment is not yet finished. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Droṇācārya was insulted by Drupada perhaps in his previous life so he took the advantage. Droṇācārya was a poor brāhmaṇa – I don't remember completely, but as much as I remember, Aśvatthāmā, his son, for some milk, he had no milk to give to Aśvatthāmā, and some rice powder with water prepared like milk was given to Aśvatthāmā and very satisfied began to dance, "That I have drunk milk."

And that caused some pain in the heart of Droṇācārya, and he approached his classmate Drupada, "That I'm very poor. My son can't drink a little milk. So if you help me to certain extent."

But Drupada anyhow dismissed him.

And he had that grudge. "A poor brāhmaṇa, I approached my kṣatriya friend, he's a king, but he dismissed me without considering the least. He could not understand my inner pain."

So when, after, when he came to Bhīṣma for some engagement, service, and Bhīṣma knew him previously. Droṇācārya was a disciple student of Paraśurāma and Bhīṣma also got training of weapons from Paraśurāma. They knew one another. So Bhīṣma kept him as the training master of the Kaurava Pāṇḍava, gave engagement. And when both the Pāṇḍava Kaurava they acquired satisfactory knowledge in fighting then they offered, "We want to give some Guru dakṣiṇa."

Then Droṇācārya, "How I'm to utilise this then, this Guru dakṣiṇa?" The memory of the misdeed, misbehaviour of his former classmate Drupada came in his mind, and he ordered them, "Just go and capture the kingdom of Drupada for me." And they went and captured successfully. Arjuna was there so they were successful. And perhaps – as much as I remember, took Drupada as captive to Droṇācārya.

Then Droṇācārya told: "What is this? You did not spare a farthing to purchase a little milk for my son, and today I'm the king and you are ousted. What's the fun? Anyhow, as a brāhmaṇa I don't want your kingdom, you go and take it. I have given you some lesson, I've taught you a lesson."

Perhaps that's the story. [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi

Devotee: Many devotees in the west are interested in astrology. Can you say something about the benefit of astrology for devotees, or whether that's not beneficial?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Astrology has nothing to do with devotion, but one who has already acquired that knowledge he may utilise it for preaching purpose, that is to capture people with that, just as yoga siddhi. So people may be attracted by them and then he will – just as Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is going to China to open a hostel for the students, and gradually to enter into the mind of the people. So through the astrology one can enter into a particular mind with the plea of astrological knowledge, otherwise astrology has nothing to do with the pure devotion, or any other knowledge. But that may be utilised for the purpose of recruitment – if it is already there.

Vaiṣṇava of lower order, that may be a temptation also, it may be harmful. By the knowledge of astrology he may come to such association that may lead him astray, to money, or women, or fame, take me away. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, by exercise of that too much if it's not controlled to serve the Vaiṣṇava, the sampradāya, then it may snatch him away from the path of devotion if in preliminary stage. That is, if I ride on a horse and can't control, then the horse may take me away, here, there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Is it of any use for a devotee to know what his future holds through astrology?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Vaiṣṇava transaction is independent of astrology. The astrological calculation cannot always cover the Vaiṣṇava life, their dependent, their movement, their fortune, cannot reflect. With the previous karma the future prospect drawn in the astrology that also may be cancelled, by that wonderful new development. They do not care for the astrology because the previous karma, it is according to the calculation of the previous karma, but that may be ignored. So there is a saying, kṛṣṇa bhakta haya yadi balavāna, bidhīra kalama kāṭhi kore khān khān

[Lord Brahmā says: “If a devotee of Śrī Kṛṣṇa is very powerful, he can easily cut into pieces that which is written down as his destiny.”]

If a strong devotion appears in a devotee then he can cut asunder the laws and rules of the creator even. The favour on the person of a king may take him independent of the law in the administration. The law always does not apply always on a person who is a favourite of the king himself. That is another way. That casts a shade in the future that such nature, such class of past can produce this future. The calculation is of the previous activity. That casts some shade, shadow, on his future – that is astrology. But that past wholesale can be removed and demolished in a particular case of a Vaiṣṇava life – life of a Vaiṣṇava, can be ignored. Kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, mayi drṣṭe 'khilātmani.

[bhidyate hr̥daya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ] kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, mayi drṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

Previous karma that vanishes, diminishes, according to the degree of devotion. No new karma of those and previous karma also destroyed by the power of dedication. When the karma itself is removed then its forecast, its future production, is also removed with it. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: At the time of initiation, dīkṣā, the spiritual master, does he not take all the karma, the past karma of the śiṣya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He takes like – court of wards state [?] Do you know it? State when incumbent it is given to the government. Do you know this? No?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When, suppose, a province, United States, a particular province that is not working smoothly, properly, in debt, or in miss-management, then the centre captures it.

Devotee: Oh yes, I understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Takes it, the responsibility, and the responsibility is taken by the centre and the previous staff allowed to work on, the basis. The whole management, the whole administration staff not cancelled, only the leaders. The managing capacity of new nature passed through them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who? Kuntī?

Devotee: Kuntī! Excuse me! When Kuntī first saw Karna...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some intuition, intuitive impression.

Devotee: But she didn't approach him to reveal. Can you – is there some reason why?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some social difficulty. Ha, ha, ha. [?]

You see, nirguṇa things, what is nirguṇa, we cannot find fault with them measuring from the standard of this mundane world. It may come in any form, in the lowest form, in the lowest standard. A devotee may take birth in the lowest section, even may take birth in the animal section, but still it may be nirguṇa. So they're all parṣada, the Kuntī, Pāṇḍava, they're taken down here from Goloka. They're in the relativity of the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa Himself, so their activities should not be judged. That is jñāna-sunya-bhakti. They come to play – suppose a king's son he's selected by the drama party to play the part...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...like that. And the Kuntī, Pāṇḍava, they're all eternally related to Kṛṣṇa līlā, so their practices and activities, though it seems to fit the lower standard of the society, but it is not so. Kuntī showed that before her marriage – of course, you know the fact about the birth of Karṇa?

Devotee: Yes, about the boon, and Viśvasvān coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kuntī Devī she got – it is shown as līlā of this mundane type that she got some mantram that with pronouncing that mantram, whomever she will invite he will come to her. Then in her curiosity, to satisfy curiosity, to test whether the mantram is real or not, she invited the Sun [god], and the Sun came.

But Sun told that, “You have invited me so I want to enjoy you.”

And Kuntī Devī was afraid, but she could not avoid because she invited by the mantram. So they were united and Kuntī gave birth of a child, and he was Karṇa. But before her marriage the Sun came. Anyhow she managed to give his birth and privately managed through her maidservant to put him in a safe position, she floated him in the Ganges water. She did not kill the child, the baby, took him for prestige, but left for fate. Left the child to live on his fate, by chance he may live, so she left him.

And the child in that pot floating came to a particular place and he was taken up by one lady who was the wife of a charioteer. She took it and found that beautiful child and she kept and nurtured, and then boy was grown, the Karṇa-suta, suta-putra.

And now, Kuntī Devī generally did not know whether that child is living or not. But when she found Karṇa she felt some sort of intuitive attraction, and there were some signs also similar to her body.

Once Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja also told, when after the death of Karṇa when Kuntī Devī asked his son, “You offer some śrāddha ceremony, something for Karṇa, he was your eldest brother.”

Then Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja told: “What is this mother? You did not say it previously. Then we should not kill our elder brother. Rather, we shall ask him to take the throne, and I did not take the throne. I won’t. He should have been the king, our elder brother. And I throw a curse in the dynasty that hence they won’t be able to keep any secret in their mind.” It ended there. And Yudhiṣṭhira expressed at that time, “When I marked the foot of Karṇa it looked to me similar to that of my mother, your foot and Karṇa's foot almost similar. I had some sort of doubt, suspicion, but I thought no, it may be chance coincidence."

Queen Kuntī also privately once met Karṇa and told, "Don't go against my son. You are my first child. And in such occasion I could not keep you with me, I had to leave you. But the fact is this."

Karṇa knew it, he refused her request, "No. When you were so cruel to me as to leave me and float me to the Ganges, you have done such wrong towards me so I won't accept your proposal. Especially I have given hope to Duryodhana and I must side with him in the battle, and he's also fostering that same hope, "The Karṇa is on my side." I can't frustrate him, disappoint him at this moment. So I promise to you that now you are mother of five children, five sons, and you will always remain the mother of five sons. I shall have to fight with Arjuna – I may die or Arjuna will die, I shall kill Arjuna or Arjuna will kill me. So anyhow, five sons will remain. That much I can say. I won't attempt for killing other four sons of you."

There it was in that way.

Kṛṣṇa also privately met Karṇa when He went for peace to Duryodhana. That, "Karṇa, perhaps you may know or may not know, I know, that you are the eldest brother of the Pāṇḍava, so don't side with Duryodhana. You come this side and the fight may be avoided and you'll be the king in that party. Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja he will forsake throne for you, he's so religious, so virtuous, you come."

Karṇa told, "No. I can't be a coward. I have encouraged Duryodhana for this fight and perhaps mostly he depends on me for his success. In the last moment I can't frustrate him. Don't entreat me in that way. Don't try to tempt me." Karṇa answered.

Then anyhow, that birth in her girl stage forced her for the considering the social position of the day to leave this child. And what is your answer, your question now? Why Kuntī?

Devotee: Why she didn't approach Karṇa at that time, at that particular time when she first saw him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Karṇa was performing penances in a particular place, Karṇa Prayaga, on the way to Badrinātha, Kuntī met there Karṇa and requested, but Karṇa refused. And Kṛṣṇa also approached, Karṇa refused. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But we're not to judge the objectionable characteristic in these events of Karṇa or Draupadī.

ahaila draupadi kunti tara mandara tari tata panca karna sanitya parta mahasana [?]

From ordinary standard the life of these five ladies are objectionable in character. But the guardians of the society they are giving the circular to the social persons, "That don't go to find fault with these five ladies by their external activity. They're as pure as anything. If you rather take their name you will be purified. The external activity is far from their inner mentality. They have come here to play the part."

As I told previously, the prince is playing the part of a sweeper, by the will of the Supreme Master. This is Ahaila. In her case, perhaps you do not know, Ahaila was the wife of Gottam, the Guru of the deva Indra. Anyhow Indra approached her. Ahaila was innocent, in the garb of Gottama, Ahaila was innocent, but she was cursed by her husband to become a stone, and she had no other alternative but to accept that misfortune, fate. But she was pure, cent per cent. But she had to suffer for fault of others, of higher agents.

Or like Draupadī, five husbands she had to accept, but as the dispensation of the higher authority, not by her choice. It was her sacrifice to accept such order. That in sacrifice the purity is not hampered in any way but it is increased. Draupadī, Kuntī.

And Kuntī's case to – by the order of Pāṇḍu, her husband, and also to verify the influence of the mantram of Durvāsā she did so. So she's not to be contaminated in taking her in connection with the filthy exploiting lustful environment. Kuntī.

Tara, Tara was the wife of Bali, but she, when Bali died she was, as the social custom, she had to marry Bali's brother Sugrīva. But Tara, she's not responsible for that, accepting second husband. It is the social custom of the day. She was as pure as, chaste as previously, life.

Mandadari also in a similar condition after the death of Rāvaṇa as their social custom she was, as the custom, she was accepted by Vibhiṣana to be his queen. So that does not harm the purity of, chastity of Mandadari. She was as pure, as chaste as before.

So though ostentatiously these five ladies are seen to accept a second husband but they are as pure of the highest type as we can ever conceive. So much so that if one can take their name after leaving their bed they will be purified by coming in contact with. So they're internally pure, but they had to accept the life of apparent impurity by the order of higher sanction, higher authority, but at heart they're more than ordinary purity.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitai.

Devotee: Is there some karma left to go through all these things, for these ladies? They came from Goloka Vṛndāvana and still they have to go through these things. There was some karma left, from previous?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No karma, the līlā pertaining to Kṛṣṇa that is considered as nitya-līlā, eternal thing going on that way come here. That is one thing. And sometimes, not in these cases, but in similar cases we find that some souls under the influence of karma they also enter there and absorbed. Avatāras, there's the function when the governor comes to see and visit a district, the function of the magistrate is absorbed in him. Whatever he will order the magistrate he's compelled to carry that. No independence there for the magistrate. Something like that, the power is absorbed.

So when the paṣāda they descend, so many, they, it is said in scriptures that some prostitutes of heaven they were absorbed in the gopīs. And different order of Avatāra was absorbed in Kṛṣṇa. The Yuga Avatāra Kṛṣṇa was absorbed in Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa. Mahāprabhu as Yuga Avatāra Mahāprabhu absorbed in Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Mahāprabhu. Sometimes it has been described in the Purāṇa in such a way, they absorbed.

So, there was a question in Kṛṣṇa Balarāma līlā that once Brahmā when the Earth intolerant of the burden of sin went to Brahmā, "Absolve me, save me, I can't tolerate so much sinfulness on my surface. Just give some relief. The demons must be done away with."

So Brahmā tore out from his head two hairs, and he gave, showed that, "The two Avatāras are going to take birth on your surface and They will do away with the demons, Bhū-bhāra- haraṇakāri, Keśāvatāra."

And some say that the birth of Kṛṣṇa Balarama is only from Brahmā's hair, so how They can be Svayaṁ-Bhagavān or Nārāyaṇa? But that is apparent thing. It is absorbed in that. In this way some things are absorbed there.

So the Moon had to come down for sixteen years in this Earth and that entered Abhimanu the parṣada of Kṛṣṇa, entered there. And other things were also of that type. When Svayaṁ- Bhagavān with His own group comes to show the pastimes here, some other incidents also put to enter that program, and that is finished there. The Purāṇic experts have dealt with things in this way.

Some say that Kṛṣṇa is always playful, but when He's seen to kill the demons it's the function of Nārāyaṇa to deal with the demons. Kṛṣṇa is always a playful and singing personality, undisturbed by any violence. But the different functions of Nārāyaṇa They have to do this, to remove the difficulties of highest type when it's to be done, by Them.

When the king goes to visit a particular place he's at ease, at least he shows like that. But the police or military, it is their duty to keep up the peaceful atmosphere and remove the disturbing element. It is their function. And the king, he does not care for his safety. The others, of lower existence, that is to manage for the safety of the free movement of the king, free play of the king.

Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The definition of a sādhu is given in Padma-Purāṇa, that one who has dedicated him and his whole paraphernalia to Kṛṣṇa, and he finds pleasure in the singing and talking about Kṛṣṇa, hearing about Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And whatever apparently belongs to him that is all surrendered_____ not only a sādhu is a surrendered soul. But sometimes he may be seen that he has not surrendered himself but whole of his paraphernalia surrendered by him. “Whatever Kṛṣṇa may think He may do anything. If He takes my son: yes, it is His will.” He’s not affected. Takes his money, wealth, “Yes, it is His will: He has taken.” In this way apparently he may be in possession of many things, but everything is dedicated, and he himself also. And his real nature is always to hear and to chant about Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There his whole attraction is kṛṣṇānusiḷāna, to hear and to chant and to do anything for Him, His bidding, but he has got his paraphernalia, but whole thing dedicated to Kṛṣṇa, in his free judgement. No special attraction for anyone, any member of the paraphernalia, either house, the money, the son, the wife, or fame - if some ill-fame comes to him, “Yes, it is given by Kṛṣṇa.” Everything he takes it is surrendered to Kṛṣṇa – he’s sādhu. Not that only with a kaupīna he’s moving through the world, on the surface. The external renunciation: that is not the real sign of a sādhu.

With a kingdom, like Ambarīṣa, with whole kingdom he was a surrendered soul to Kṛṣṇa. When Durvāsā went to burn him he did not shrink back. “Yes, if I’m an offender I must be burned.” He took that firm position there, faced opposition unhesitatingly he stood there. “If it’s Kṛṣṇa’s will to burn me He may burn.” Na chacar pandandī par [?] But when Sudarśana came to burn Durvāsā he fled like anything, here, there, this, that, but Ambarīṣa the surrendered soul. “If it is the Divine Will let it be done.” So with whole kingdom he’s a devotee. And the sannyāsī with only his kaupīna not surrendered he’s flying here there.

[“Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipping deity and as his very life and soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

He’s afraid. He’s a prey of fear.

Devotee: So there’s no room for politics in religion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Politics: that may be ostentatiously diplomacy, yes, may be. Politics but must be interest cent per cent for Kṛṣṇa. Whatever you can utilise in the service of Kṛṣṇa that is devotion. It may be politics, it may be thieving, stealing, it may be dacoiting, it may be murder also.

Devotee: Love and rapture.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whatever, but one condition, wholesale cent per cent for the interest of Kṛṣṇa. The criterion only that. He's requesting Yudhiṣṭhira, "Tell lie." Yudhiṣṭhira hesitating. "Tell lie." So above law, His will, His play, sweet will, and because He's the Absolute Good everything is justified. Because we're ignorant we cannot see the beauty, the goodness, in His behaviour or His play, His movement. [?] All right, I may stop here today.

Devotees: Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...more than wonder, it is almost impossible. So I say, I like to say rather, that śaktyāveśa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, about that yesterday's paper in Russia. There was one line in yesterday's paper that in Moscow they were chanting in a square, I don't know the name of the square. They were chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! It entered in Moscow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. It says, "Taken by storm."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja told me that when he visited Moscow, and perhaps he had an interview with Brezhnev or [?] or some gentleman, "That they told that we don't want that any conception of religion should be dealt with here.”

Swāmī Mahārāja told, “I told them that – they told that we don’t to honour any instruction of any gentleman – but Swāmī Mahara told, “You are following the instruction of Lenin, you do, and I want simply to say what Kṛṣṇa has asked us to do. So when you are taking Lenin you may hear what Kṛṣṇa has said.”

“No, no, no. You will talk about religion. Lenin will talk about our value.”

In this way, anyhow after his visit I find with wonder that they have taken away that law, ‘that none will be able to lead any religious life.’ That law withdrawn and now everyone is free to go on with his religious principle, that after Swāmī Mahārāja visited the place the law was overturned against religion there. And now I first hear that kīrtana is also allowed, Hare Kṛṣṇa. In the paper perhaps I also heard, saw, that a tendency towards Hare Kṛṣṇa Movement in Russia. And they’re trying how to check that. That was out in a paper I think. They want to check, of course with all other tendencies, there some other tendencies also they found in the youngsters, and one of them is towards Hare Kṛṣṇa Movement inclination. The reaction is sure to come – today or tomorrow. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Everyone is moving in a circle, in a circle, even, laya pralaya, sṛṣṭi-sthiti-pralaya [Brahma-saṁhitā, 44] All circular movement, short or long, either short circle or longer, bigger circle, in a circular movement, everything we find. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

34:00 to 36:25, Bengali [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everyone wants to come to it, to serve, to enhance, with the spirit of enhancement, enhancing, not to enjoy. Enjoying mood is very lower, animal consciousness. You must rise above animal consciousness. And renunciation is destructive. And dedication is really constructive world.

Devotee: Renunciation destructive?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Renunciation destructive, that is mukti, ultimately to renounce everything, then to be resolved in a zero. Why? Renunciation means, tyageti mukti. “I renounce everything.” No relativity, nothing to see, nothing to hear, all the connections of the environment cut off, suṣupti, just like suṣupti, sound sleep. Samādhi is like that, no consciousness of the environment, “Then I’ll be polluted in the company of that.”

Drśya-darśana-drāṣṭā – tripuṭi-vināśa, [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p xix], the seer, sight, and seen. The seen enters into the seer, and seeing so tripuṭi-vināśa, the object, the subject, and the transaction between them, both comes to one point, sāyujya mukti, so complete renunciation, it is destructive.

Renunciation of the abscissa, of the negative side, comes to abscissa, a marginal point. Then we must make advancement towards the positive, but with opposite temperament. We shall withdraw from the negative and come to abscissa, and then we are to make – begin our progress towards the positive. What is positive? Which is more valuable than my own self, super subjective realm – I’m subject, I’m taṭasthā śakti, cetana, very lower subject, subject that has got very lower capacity, and there is higher capacity, subjective world, adhokṣaja.

Why do you stop? From fossil you are coming to the mental, to the consciousness, and don’t stop, you must produce other side towards the Infinite, ātmā, jīvātmā, Paramātmā, then Nārāyaṇa conception of Kṛṣṇa. In this way it is going to the Infinite. So jīvātmā is sprung up from the taṭasthā śakti, marginal potency is jīva. Then the positive world is left there from Vaikuṇṭha, from Śivaloka proper, from Śivaloka, Vaikuṇṭhaloka, and upward. We are to enter into that domain. That is the positive, eternal, that has got no death. This is mortal side, it is illusion, misconception, māyā means misconception, so we must withdraw from the misconception totally, and then proper knowledge, what is what, there we are to enter into, adhokṣaja. Adhakarṭa indriya jñanam yena. The substance which has, adhakarṭa indriya, who is existing above the knowledge of sense experience: our senses, eye, nose, etc, my mind, they have got experience of a particular thing, that is mortal world, that is a substance which transcending this world of experience is existing. In Bhagavad-gītā you might have found:

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ param manaḥ manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ

["The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

And in Upaniṣad a parallel passage [?] Leading towards ātmā, Upaniṣad, [?] It is common, Gītā and Upaniṣad, indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ param manaḥmanasas tu parā buddhir. Then Gītā says, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ, you are that. And Upaniṣad says, buddher ātmā parantapa. The great ātmā is above your reasoning faculty. So if we march that way, then the ātmā, above intelligence, the ātmā, and then Paramātmā, in this way the unexplored area is towards that direction, higher, subjective. That is super subjective area, and jīva is taṭasthā, between the two. So withdrawal from the negative side, that is not the wholesale attainment, the fulfilment of life, and that is renunciation, complete withdrawal from the negative side and to take position in the abscissa, that is renunciation complete, sāyujya mukti.

And then everything will be different by that of a servitor and we may be allowed to enter into the positive realm of service where every unit is a dedicating principle. Here, every unit is consuming, consumer, enjoying unit. And there, every unit is a dedicating one, wholesale. Without that no existence is possible in that land, that plane, all dedicating, giving but do not take, in this way. Here, always want to consume, all consumer, jīvo jīvasya jīvanam [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47]. All consumer here, want to consume, wants to live at the cost of others. “I’m king of all I survey. I want to live, and I want that everything will be at my beck and call.” But there, the opposite, so many guardians, all guardians. I’m servant, and everyone considers him to be so.

Here, the combination of all enjoying principle, and there, all serving principle, everyone. And there is a gradation in quality, quantity. So without serving attitude none can enter into that domain. Just the opposite camp! That is in carrying current, the current is carrying Yogamāyā, carrying towards the Lord, and here, out carrying current, taking us away from the God, from the God conception of the centre. But there the whole current is tending towards the centre, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And all the units there, they’re very eager to catch under the influence, with the help of that current to make their advance towards the centre. Another peculiar land where everything is a dedicating unit, and none wants any absorption from the environment, all giving.

Putting, saving money in the bank, and no cheque, no withdrawal, always giving, giving, that is, our ātmā means that. Ātmā is an atom whose very nature is such, to give and not to take. And with that atom from Vaikuṇṭha the whole land is constructed. Everything is there. Cetana, that consciousness, plus service – and here, consciousness plus exploitation, enjoyment, everyone is busy to enjoy. And there, everyone is busy to serve, the Divinity, nobility, the land of nobleness, and dignified land. None wants to take anything. And they think that is their highest end, to become a slave, of the beautiful Absolute, the competition for that, to become a slave.

Who can dedicate: Hegelian theory, “Die to live,” Hegel’s another thing, “Die to live. If you want to live properly, you will have to die as you are at present.”

And that will really be the member in that sphere, that Vaikuṇṭha Goloka. In Vaikuṇṭha there is some calculation, the grandeur, awe, reverence, power. And in Goloka it is spontaneous and very plain, simple, beautiful, and sacrifice, the degree of sacrifice is in its highest reach there in Goloka. Competition is there, but just opposite competition there: Yogamāyā, and this is Mahāmāyā, the out carrying current and the in carrying current. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Where is that chaddar? That turiya? Now catching cold! [Laughter] When young in age are also swimming in this pool, continuously [Laughter] for hours together, swimming, even in winter season, and now? [Laughter]

The Wordsworth's poem is there: Old man plundered by fair and shinning wealth, something will be spared what is needed not. Miser's pensioner. Youth is prodigals favourite and old age is miser's pensioner. Perhaps in his poem Daffodils or something like that, or Lesser Celandine? There is a flower which generally when hail and storm comes it closes itself and when sun shines it opens. But once Wordsworth was passing by the street where on the side that lesser celandine or perhaps a type of flower, he found there, and hail and storm came but the flower is exposed to the nature, not closed.

Then he says, "I found that flower and muttered within myself, what is this? When hail and storm it closes and any amount of hail and storm it can tolerate, forbear. But now it is exposed, it won't close. What's the matter? Then it came to my mind that, Oh, it is old and it has got no capacity of closing, exposed to the nature."

And that came to draw this moral, that young, many superfluous energy which may not be necessary at that time. Their favourite prodigal, who gives anything to anyone without caring for any, whether it will be finished or not, but whatever comes it will be prodigal. And miser who generally does not want to give anything to anybody, his pension, no work, still he is to pay. So his condition is very peculiar, helpless. So old age is miser's pensioner. He won't get anything. But young age prodigals favourite. So the conclusion: "Old man from your fair and shinning youth if something could be spared that is needed not and if that may be added in your old age it will help, be better."

[The Lesser Celandine]

17) There is a flower, the lesser celandine,

That shrinks, like many more, from cold and rain; And, the first moment that the sun may shine, Bright as the sun himself, 'tis out again!

18) When hailstones have been falling, swarm on swarm, Or blasts the green field and the trees distressed,

Oft have I seen it muffled up from harm, In close self-shelter, like a thing at rest.

19) But lately, one rough day, this flower I passed, And recognized it, though an altered form,

Now standing forth an offering to the blast, And buffeted at will by rain and storm.

20) I stopped, and said, with inly-muttered voice, "It doth not love the shower, nor seek the cold: This neither is its courage nor its choice,

But its necessity in being old.

21) "The sunshine may not cheer it, nor the dew; It cannot help itself in its decay;

Stiff in its members, withered, changed of hue." And, in my spleen, I smiled that it was grey.

22) To be a prodigals favourite - then, worse truth, A miser's pensioner - behold our lot!

O man, that from thy fair and shining youth

Age might but take the things youth needed not!]

Devotee: Mahārāja, when should a devotee accept disciples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When he feels that it is necessary for the service of his Guru; and upward, the Lord, Guru, Vaiṣṇava, sampradāya. When he feels bona fide urge within him that, 'you are to do that, on behalf, for the satisfaction of your higher agencies.' Not to satisfy his own whim, to get fame, name, money etc., kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā. The highest is pratiṣṭhā, fame, position, prestige. Not for that, but for the service of the upper Guru. Urge, if he feels within him, he may do sometimes even reluctantly he has to begin. And gradually of course he becomes accustomed to do that. But the starting must be with this sincere and fair motive. Not for himself, but for the service of his Guru, and for the benefit of the public. If he is confident for the benefit of the public he feels an urge from within him that they should be helped, for the satisfaction of my Gurudeva, to continue his ways.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. And also in the background he will find, 'I was a patient, I have used this medicine, diet, and I feel better, out of disease gradually, and I'm sincerely confident that this will help him as it did myself,' that sort of background, and then that urge.

Mahāprabhu.

Devotee: Mahārāja, can women become Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, if she sincerely feels that she can help others, she may be. There are so many. Jāhnavā Devī, wife of Nityānanda Prabhu, she began extensively this spiritual movement. And there are many of them, can become.

Devotee: She must be in the renounced order of life?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course somewhat, a gr̥hastha, when gr̥hastha she may initiate gr̥hasthas. But generally it is not found that the ladies will take the robe of renunciation; that is red cloth or something. But they deal with, they may have respect even of the sannyāsīns but they remain as gr̥hasthas and may continue gr̥hastha śiṣya.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, did Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta give that bābājī-veśa to anyone?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, some, but that was, we find, that was considered something like vānaprastha. Who were bona fide in their life of renunciation, but not very fit to preach, but bhajan could go on with, such people got bābājī-veśa from him. In Vṛndāvana, no bad tendency, good character and good earnestness for speaking the Name, but not fitness to preach, to approach the public, generally, such few persons were given bābājī-veśa in old age. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Did Bhaktisiddhānta Mahārāja use a vyāsāsana? Did he have a vyāsāsana in his temples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not permanent, the day of vyāsa-pūjā of course. Not permanent vyāsāsana as I hear the present Ācāryas of ISKCON they have introduced. I don't know whether in Swāmī Mahārāja's time that fixed vyāsāsana was there.

Devotees: Yes: generally. Most established temples had one fixed vyāsāsana for Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So they are following in that order. But our Gurudeva did not have any vyāsāsana, fixed thing. But whenever he would come everyone must go and offer some flowers for worship, this fashion also was not present that time. Of course he has come from a particular place, those who are not engaged in the service outside they will gather and have daṇḍavats. And he will retire into his bedroom in chair. They would have one special room and there the bedding and the chair and the floor – there offered our obeisances. And sometimes one may sit there for some time and after offering obeisances would come back. No permanent establishment to show any respect.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There was one of our God brothers, he was a gr̥hastha, and he was told by doctors that he will die very soon, within one or two years, so our Guru Mahārāja gave him this bābājī-veśa. He was an American and he was the only person he gave this dress. Then later he was told by other doctors that he would live. So he went back to his family.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Back to his family!

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. He came to Māyāpur or Vṛndāvana and he was told, ordered by Guru Mahārāja to chant one crore and all this, eat only once, and so on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Make the best of a bad bargain. The standard will be lowered, but still considering his future he can't follow up that standard. So don't go astray completely, as much as you can do you do. Sometimes that is a discouraging incident in the organization. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Lord Rāmacandra He took the vow of ekapatni vrata. So we see in society that there are generally more women than men. And it is a fact that every woman should be protected, either by first her father, then husband, then eldest son. So how are we to compensate for the excess amount of women who won't be protected if each man is only to take one wife?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is general recommendation for the good of the society. In Manu it is: pitā rakṣati kaumāre, bhartā rakṣati yauvane – bhartta ke so ko loke nastre [?]

Ladies should never be allowed to live an independent life. The father will be her guardian in her childhood, and the husband in her youthful life, and in old age the son will protect her, give protection. This was the law in Manu in the Hindu society, in general. And we appreciate that.

Where's the rub? Where is the difficulty? Generally they need protection; otherwise if the society has no such control then they will be prey to any man and every man. That would be chaotic and free play of sensuality. Is that – can be adored, or respected? What is this? This is the life of the jungle. So, and constitutionally they're such that they can't protect them. Man is the aggressor, woman aggressed party. So if both let lose then the man can control the woman easily. So special protection must come from the – if civilised, the men will come to protect their chastity, otherwise let lose it will be like a jungle, there will be free play of sensuality. Is it desirable at all for any society, respectable society? The reality needs this, that free choice, that no protection of the women, the men and women they will be prey to sensuality. To check that the guardian's strong hand should control them. They're weaker section. Sometimes against their will they're forced to accept their lot, fate. So protection is necessary.

Not only so it is mentioned in some Yajnavalka or Seti [?] the social law that when the test whether a country has got good government, the test will be this, that if a young lady decorated by the ornaments, jewels, can live under a tree at the night, and none attacks her, then we shall say that the country's governed well. You see? Passing the night under the shade of a tree, a young lady well ornamented, well decorated, if she can pass her night safely under a tree, then real good government is in that land. That is the test of a good government. Such standard was in India.

Devotee: But we see that the women in the west they do not want protection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One, because they do not give much value in their chastity, they do not attach so much importance.

Devotee: So then should polygamy be allowed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Polygamy, generally it is allowed and explained in this way. That a good son, good child we want, independent of sensual pleasure. So the ladies they will have general inclination to get a good child. So good seed is necessary for the land, cultivated land, and good seeds good crops, and bad seed bad crop. So unqualified persons should not be allowed only for sense satisfaction to marry and produce diseased child. Qualified children the country will aspire after, and so men of good health and good mind, they should be allowed to produce many children by many wives. It is for the good of the country. And only that union object only should be to produce good child, and not for sensual pleasure. That is the idea. Prajana na ratae [?] In Gītā: prajanaś cāsmi kandarpaḥ.

[“Of weapons I am the thunderbolt, and of cows I am the heavenly desire-fulfilling cow. Of cupids I am he who ensures progeny, and among the single-headed venomous snakes I am Vāsuki, the king of all snakes.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 10. 28]

“I am lust there only when there is necessity to produce a child, good child, not for sense pleasure.”

In Bhāgavata: Prajaya na rote [?] For child and not for – rote means sense pleasure. It is a degraded position of the mind to lose one’s power, vigour. Sense pleasure, there’s a reaction for both the parties, their health, mind, intellect, everything is lost. So that cannot be promoted, cannot be encouraged, that sort of union for pleasure. It has got no far fetching good consequence, it is rather degrading to hanker for what is carnal desire. That is even found in the lower section of animals. Higher section like lions and others they are not prey to that sort of sense pleasure. So that cannot be encouraged in any way, for physically, mentally, morally, religiously, that should be avoided as much as possible.

And only when there is necessity Vyāsadeva is coming and producing a child. The purity of purpose even it may not care for marriage, as it was in ancient times. That marriage ceremony also was not necessary if the mass has got such a degree of control, they won't misuse. If such time is possible that none will misuse his energy, and no spirit of aggression, no law is necessary, no protection is necessary. The movement is free, just as it was found in Tapovan generally, in the circle of the ṛṣis, it was they may be free, everyone had self control. And undesirable, only when some inspiration comes to produce a child then only they will – prajānaś cāsmi. Otherwise they're all brahmacārī, intact, only to do the duty, as if to discharge the duty they will do it with the spirit of doing some duty, and not for sense pleasure. That may not be practicable but this ideal is there, the full self control. And waste of energy and sense pleasure, to become a victim of sense pleasure like a beast, is that a life?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Where is that Tapovan?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Scattered here and there in the bed of Himalaya and so.

Devotee: So we see now that the society is so over-run with varṇa-saṅkara, so what would a Kṛṣṇa conscious government do to rid itself of this varṇa-saṅkara? How would they control it, or I mean rid themselves of it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is more wide view, from more wide view, anyone come to, this is sattya guṇa arrangement, in the guṇa mātā jagat. And Mahāprabhu said: “None is disqualified, even an antyaja is qualified, a brāhmaṇa unqualified, another, nirguṇa movement.” All vitiated here from top to bottom, the whole thing is sinful, more or less. From the consideration of the nirguṇa plane the brāhmaṇa holding the highest position, highest control, the master of his own senses, but if devoid of devotion to Kṛṣṇa he’s also a worst rebel. From broader view these differences are neglected, and anyone who has got śraddhā, real śraddhā while wandering through these cycles of different birth and death, wherever we find a little śraddhā in the lowest or in the highest, we accept them. So not much importance is given on this sattvica guṇa, in the relativity of good and bad: sattvica, the morality, the purity of exploitation in the world, that is good, but if it’s not connected with Kṛṣṇa consciousness, then the good bad, everything is bad. Because the man on the top, holding the position in the top place he will again have to go to the lowest position. Do you see?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No permanent position: temporary good position, but that will lead him again to the lower position. So when the consideration comes for the eternal relief, with low and up, no much considered difference. Sometimes the lower may have greater chance.

[32:20 - 33:10 [?]] ...then, sādhana-daśā, to go on with the sādhana, the processes, for realisation, śravaṇa- kīrtana, sādhu-saṅga, śravaṇa-kīrtana [?] etc., then āpana-daśā, then he can feel within himself that he has reached the desired position, āpana-daśā. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did you not meet Acyūtānanda at that time?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Acyūtānanda is expected I heard here.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not certain – a rumour.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One brahmaratri was entered into that night. Time and space can be controlled by handling the consciousness. Normal time, when one goes, the unit also varies, if one goes to Satyaloka, a moment there when he comes back a yuga finished. It is unit, the human hour, in one hour there may be worms or insects where a thousand generations finished within one hour of human life. The unit of time is/can be measured very meagrely and be the standard, or like hypnotism, the control from the subjective centre, the big and small, all relative. According to the longevity the division of the time, bigger and smaller. What is small to Brahmā it is big to us.

One brahmaratri was entered in rasa līlā. In one night it was managed that one brahmaratri was entered there, still, for the gopīs it seemed that within a moment the whole night finished, this life. The intensity of happiness was of such a degree that start and finished, “When we began just now and it’s finished. What is this?”

But from the absolute measurement Śukadeva says one brahmaratra was entered within. Still the relative consciousness dismissed that. “No: the smallest period of time this night.” So all control, like hypnotiser, subjective control. Do you understand? Fossil is not the controller, object is not the controller of experience, but just like hypnotism the Super Subject is controlling the whole thing, what to see, what to feel, what to hear. Not anything fixed from the objective world. But as the Super Subject wants me to see, I cannot but see that, to hear them, to experience them.

ūrdhva-mūlam adhaḥ-śākham, aśvatthaṁ prāhur avyayam chandāṁsi

[“The Supreme Lord said: The holy scriptures proclaim that this material world is like an unchangeable Banyan tree with its roots facing upwards and its branches down, known as an Aśvattha (transitory) tree. Its nutriments are the Vedic aphorisms, which are represented by its leaves. Whoever knows this tree in this way is a genuine knower of the Vedas.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1]

The veda-vit, Veda means the knowledge transmitted from above to the lower, the revelation, the knowledge of revelation. That is the truth. The knowledge of experience has no value; it is all concoction, or illusion, misunderstanding, plane of misunderstanding, misjudgement. So no knowledge of experience can be relied on for – in connection when we are to judge anything in the connection of reality. In the connection of reality, no knowledge drawn from our experience can be utilised because it is all misconception. Only real knowledge can come down from the quarter of normal understanding that is through the Veda. So śrauta siddhānta, śruti, and all these pramāṇa evidences cancelled. Do you follow?

Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja, and aprakṛta. Amala-pramāṇa, āmnāyaḥ, anumāṇa, pramāṇa, śabda-paramāṇa. All cancelled when the śabda-paramāṇa stands, in the case of understanding about the reality, consideration about reality, all these are cancelled, because it is drawn from the world of misconception, māyā. Mā – yā, ‘what is not that.’ Māyā means mā – yā, yā means ye and mā means no.

Devotee: Could you please explain the māyā Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Mahā-māyā, one of the greatest hoax.

_____ [?] Measured knowledge: Infinite characteristic.

_____ [?]
[?] Iron, what is this?

_____ [?]
We are given some stand on the environment and in our vocabulary we continue that sort of knowledge in that place.

_____ [?]

The conception of a particular thing what is true in my society that is not true in another society. What is poison to me that is nectar to another! The oxygen is our life and the oxygen is poison to tree. So about oxygen we have recorded something, but the tree world they will record something else. In this way this thrust, stamp on the environment that is not a reality. That is all relative calculation interest, so miyate anayat, the knowledge by which we measure things, but everything has got infinite capacity, quality, direction; inconceivable position, that is reality. And we put some partial interested opinion in them that they're such, but they're not such. Independent of my selfish interest they have got their independent value. What is that? So miyate, this māyāic knowledge experience of this world all cancelled, does not stand in the plane of reality, real calculation. That is śabda. That means the infallible region, their record of their acquaintance and when that is extended to us we must rely on that, and won't rely on knowledge of our own experience.

In another case - gradation of knowledge: pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja, and aprakṛta, five stages of knowledge coming. Pratyakṣa, some direct sense perception: parokṣa, experienced by others, not by me; that is parokṣa: aparokṣa, has been told as being like sound sleep, samādhi – we have got a sort of experience [?] I slept a good sleep, I slept happily. But at that time I have got no knowledge, but when we come down I say, I assert that I slept very happily. So a sort of particular knowledge was there, otherwise how can when I come I can assert, that has been told as aparokṣa buddhi by Śāṅkara School and others.

Then the Rāmānuja comes and says that the fourth stage of knowledge and that is adhokṣaja. Adhakarṭa indriya jñanam. There is a transcendental knowledge which supersedes all knowledge of experiences. In other words, super subjective knowledge. When that fine and subtle knowledge comes down in the plane of my existence, my soul, I can trace it, I can feel it, I can understand. And when it withdraws I'm nowhere. Finer knowledge can descend in my gross consciousness and when that withdraws itself I can't have it, adhokṣaja. Adhakarṭa indriya jñanam yena. Sense experience knowledge...

That’s withdrawn.” That is adhokṣaja, Vaikuṇṭha. Then, next higher stage...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adha means lower [?] Sense experience, which is higher than sense experience knowledge: Jīva Goswāmī: Adhakṛtam indriyam jñāna yena. The particular knowledge which can make this knowledge of experience lower to it, adhokṣaja, adhakṛtam indriyam jñāna, the knowledge of experience has been pushed down. That is in superior position. There is a knowledge that is more independent, that can connect this knowledge, but this knowledge cannot connect that without His sanction, adhokṣaja. And the highest portion, Mahāprabhu says, Bhāgavatam: kevala jñāna or aprakṛta, means to give us warning, that don’t accept that as this mundane: similar to mundane but not same, meaning Kṛṣṇa Goloka līlā, nara-līlā, Bhagavān. Four-handed, fifteen-legged, that this is we have not experienced which is easy for us to accept that as higher knowledge.

Devotee: Vaikuṇṭha rasa līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Vaikuṇṭha, but in Goloka we find only human form of experience, life, everything. That is very near to this mundane conception, but it is the supreme-most.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

["Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Nara-līlā, this is so perfect that He comes within this lower experience, but still, it is not of that type. His extension, His capacity, His control, is so powerful that it can take the shape of this mundane, but not mundane, but play as mundane.

avajānanti mām̐ mūḍhā, mānuṣīm̐ tanum āśritam param̐ bhāvam
ajānanto, mama bhūta-maheśvaram

["Unable to comprehend My super-excellent divine form of human features, ignorant men blaspheme Me - the Supreme Lord of all beings - by considering Me a mere human being."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.11]

"I'm the Master of everything, but still when I come down, ordinary people can't understand Me. They take Me as one of them."

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aprakṛta – prakṛta vāt na tu prakṛtam, like mundane but not mundane, so un-mundane, something like that, non-mundane, there is every chance of reckoning it as mundane, but it is not so. Aprakṛta not prakṛta. And Bhāgavata also told, kevala, kevala means the wholesale knowledge.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caitanya-caritāmṛta and Mahāprabhu mentioned aprakṛta, prakṛta vāt _____ [?] Not mundane, is non mundane.

Devotee: Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja, and aprakṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adhokṣaja and aprakṛta, fifth stage of knowledge. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Today I stop here. Gaura Haribol.

...

Devotee: ...the conception of Puruṣa prakṛti, just like.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Puruṣa prakṛti. Misunderstanding, that is the cause, direct cause of the world of creation, and the background is supplied by the Puruṣa. What is seen, that is not, that is wrong, so real conception is not to be had here. Illusion, the background is real but the angle of vision is wrong. Angle of vision is wrong, that is māyā – the māyā exists, the error exists in the angle of vision, but the background is all right, it is not nothing, only misconception. Misconception means the knowledge drawn that is false but something in the background that is real. Mistaken, one thing taken for another thing; a rope taken for a serpent...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But there is [?] the mirage, we think water, the background is there, that is all right, but only the judgement that is wrong, conception, angle of vision is wrong. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Māyā nimitta kārana. This can be applied only in the case of the worldly experience. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Māyā nimitta kārana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimitta kārana, māyā withdrawn, then the right things will come to your vision.

Devotee: [?] When you're making a pot, where is that ultimate nimitta kārana?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the conception [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimitta kāraṇa It can be pushed then the necessity of the human beings. Though it is stated that the kumbaka [?] and the rods, all these things, cakṛa, they're also helping, and upādānā coming, earth coming, that is upādānā, coming from another quarter. But really if we trace it more exhaustively then we shall find the necessity of the human beings. That is the reason, the nimitta kāraṇa, why it's created, constructed, because the human society feels the necessity of such form.

Devotee: But if the māyā is nimitta cause, what is the upādānā cause?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Upādānā from which the – that being created, or that being drawn – which is used for the purpose.

Devotee: Achar. How far the God, God is the upādānā cause, that I can't understand. Why God is upādānā cause?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because He exists only truly.

Devotee: Achar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His existence is the fact, and what we think to be the world, that is the concoction of our mistake, misconception. The other day, yesterday I told that we thrust our necessity on the environment and abuse that. Māyā, miyate mā - yā, what is not, that is, we are in the midst of a particular conception of the environment which is not really so. For our special interest we thrust on the environment that sort of needy misleading...

Devotee: Māyā also a creation of God!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, everything created by God, or we may think coexisting with Him.

Devotee: But what is the need of māyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is automatically the effect of the outcome, or the vulnerable free will of the jīva. The world exists, just as the prison houses exist on the evil desire for the encroachment on other's property. If that misdeed is absent, prison house is absent. If disease is absent, hospitals are absent. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No disease, no hospital. No sin, no crime, no prison house. And why, what is the reason of the crime? The vulnerability of the free thinkers. Why free thinking is vulnerable? Because it is very meagre, small, aṇu cetana, aṇu sadinaka, limited freedom, limited free will limited, limitation of free will. That is the cause of this world. No misuse of free will, no world.

Devotee: The world is also māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, this is māyā. Prison houses are necessary. Kala kuti, Durgā Devī is kala kuti, in Brahma-saṁhitā [44] it is mentioned: chāyeva yasya bhuvanāni vibharti durgā. Kala kuti, prison keeper. Why prison? Because there is vulnerability in the choice of freedom, encroachment on other's property. Otherwise no world is necessary. But because it is possible so prison houses are there.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ

na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

[“Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

The circumstance needs it. Circumstance of what type: the vulnerable free will are encroaching on another's life. And conceived as another; and that is māyā. Māyā means mā yā, self interest independent of absolute interest. That is the cause, self seeking, and that also in a manner which can encroach other's interest. That is desperate self seeking, that is the exploiting nature, just the opposite, exploitation means under māyā.

Devotee: Exploitation means under māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. No māyā no exploitation. Exploitation, and if we go ahead a little more and renunciation also, both exploitation and renunciation is under māyā, that is self seeking. That is to separate one's self from the organic whole. That is a revolt against the organic whole.

[?]
Jīva enters into – say, he may start out of curiosity and then comes in the factor of time and space in this mundane world.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The time and space, factor of our thought – beginning then enters into this space of physical time and factor. Beginning means first rebel, revolt and captivated. Very fine things!

Once in Purī one gentleman he was the honorary secretary, honorary president of, the honorary officer in insurance company or so, he came to Prabhupāda, our Guru Mahārāja and put such question, this question. “Why, what, how, the life in bondage began: how first started? Who is responsible, either God, or māyā, or jīva? Three factors, God is, His power, His paramount power, and the māyā is there which takes, comes to capture the jīva, and the jīva is independent, so we are told. Then how it was begun? Why the first cause of such beginning that jīva's contact with the world? Jīva is told free, God of course is Absolutely Free, and the māyā is there and the māyā is playing with us, but when first start, who is responsible?”

And Prabhupāda answered him, and that gentleman can't understand, follow, and in various ways he's pushing on. Prabhupāda was very much, apparently, feeling disturbance and he was very weak, heart trouble. Then I, and a few other persons of our Maṭha including Professor Prabhu Nisikanta Sanyal, writer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Chaitanya, Vasudeva Prabhu, who was made Ācārya. Then Mādhava Mahārāja, Hayagrīva Prabhu, and many others were present. I was also there. I could not tolerate this. I offered obeisance to Prabhupāda and asked his permission: "That he can't follow your arguments, statements. Please order me to answer his questions."

Prabhupāda did happily he did, "Yes, you may talk with him."

I caught that man. Proof by exhaustion, in philosophy, is it not? Have you gone? Proof by exhaustion, do you know? Are you not acquainted?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That method I took up. That one by one let us try. Suppose if by the pleasure of God, God is the cause, then what is the next step? What it will be? The jīva is suffering from misery and God He's the cause of the suffering of the jīva: do you adjust it that He's omniscient, He's omnipotent, and He's all benevolent, and He's the God, and He's seeing the fun when so many jīva souls they're under misery, they're suffering like anything. And He can also deliver them but He does not do seeing the fun. Can you accept that conception with Godhead?

"No, I can't."

Then, He may not be the cause of the suffering of the jīva. "Yes."

And that if māyā – I can't give the statement exactly what I gave there, but with my faint memory whatever...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If māyā is the cause then so many other questions come. The māyā is more powerful than jīva and God. Māyā is torturing the jīva and omniscient God He's seeing the fun. No justice in the world. God is aloof, and māyā is attacking and torturing the jīva. Is that the position of the God? Is that God perfect one? Then, few other steps also I explained. After this, this will be this, this will be this.

“No, that cannot be accepted.”

The sufferer, he's responsible for his own suffering, and this happens in this way. I explained to him that if we leave the responsibility on the shoulder of māyā, these are the difficulties. On the shoulder of God, these are the difficulties. The cause of the suffering of the jīva, of the soul, must be within him, and how it begins in this way, first start of free will. In the beginning it is like that of curiosity, and then when you connect once with māyā then māyā gets some influence over it. In this way, God does not come to interfere with the freedom of the soul. Consciousness means endowed with freedom. But jīva is a particle of consciousness so his freedom is also a particle, vulnerable. So vulnerability of the free will of jīva soul, that is the cause, the first starting, and then māyā comes. Just as when one begins any intoxication, first starting is something like curiosity, and then the intoxication gets some position, some impulse is created, momentum. And then his freedom is not, he loses his freedom. The free will of the jīva gradually comes into the clutches of māyā, losing its own free choice.

That man admitted that.

And this is in the clear introspection of the sādhaka it can be seen, the very subtle-most thing, the starting that cannot be detected by ordinary consciousness. So they have given:

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ

na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

[“Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

It is by nature of the existence of things they happen to come in this way automatic: encroachment and consequence.

Devotee: But this question – I cannot understand. When māyā surrounds the jīva, and also God, jīva is now independent, the māyā surrounds jīva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīva is independent, yes. at the side of jīva. Jīva is taṭasthā śakti, kṛṣṇera taṭasthā śakti, marginal potency. In carrying, out carrying, and the meeting point is jīva, buffer state, taṭasthā śakti, meeting point, meeting plane, of both the opposite potencies, that is taṭasthā, there lies...

Devotee: Jīva never dependent?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dependent? No. That is because it is a part of consciousness it is endowed with free will.

Devotee: Is endowed with?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Free will! Free will eliminated it will be matter, the iron, stone, no consciousness. Consciousness means endowed with free will. Devoid of free will no consciousness there can be.

Devotee: Is it possible for jīva to be dependent?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dependent? Dependent, he's always independent. Independent sometimes subdued. Independence is always there otherwise he cannot return from one side to another side. His salvation, liberation, would have been impossible if he had lost the independence forever. Independence is there but it is surrounded with other power, another foreign force. When in intoxication it is overpowered by some other force, but still independence within, otherwise he cannot get out any time.

Devotee: Māyā is also the intoxication of jīva, just like...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, like intoxication, misunderstanding. Intoxication, that is the spirit of exploitation, want to exploit, want to enjoy. To want to enjoy and want to service and between the two complete renunciation.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We tend to exploit, miscalculation leads us for exploitation, miscalculation. ‘That we shall be able to thrive there on the soil, let us go and establish a colony there. I shall thrive thereby.’ This miscalculation, misunderstanding is the cause.

Devotee: So jīvan mukta then is not out of this māyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, jīvan mukta means of different types there may be. Vastava buddhi śuddha nahi kṛṣṇa bhakti vineer [?]

Real devotion is, real liberation is within the area of Yogamāyā, that is after mukti. Mukti proper only to withdraw from the negative side: that cannot be mukti proper. Self determination, the positive side, to be reinstated in its highest possible prospect in the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is the perfect conception of mukti, or liberation. Only withdrawal from the area of māyā, that is not enough. That cannot give us the real position of a liberated soul.

muktir hitvān-yathā-rūpaṁ svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ

[“Liberation is the permanent situation of the form of the living entity after he gives up the changeable gross and subtle material bodies.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6]

The definition of mukti given by Bhāgavatam, svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti, to be reinstated in the proper function in relation to the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is mukti, a positive attainment.

Just as when there is a disease temperature, temperature gone, but that does not mean that full health has been recovered. So he's out of disease, but to get the healthy position that is something more, positive attainment.

So mukti proper means something positive, not only withdrawn from the negative side. That is not proper mukti. Self determination, mukti means self determination, to be reinstated in the function in the eternity which is designed for me. To be active in the serving system, that is mukti proper, the positive actual meaning of the mukti, to get, to be reinstated in proper health, not only absence of temperature. There it may begin, but then positive progress and to attend to the highest position possible for highest prospect, to be reinstated in the highest prospect which is possible for him in his constitutional position. But these are not the things which are very important for our real progress of life. [?] Śraddhā, faith, in the Absolute Good, faith in the bright side of the life, that is bright side of the life, to have the faith, and to work for that. [?] Only who is well versed in the law of the country, he can give up crime, it is not true. Criminal mentality is another thing, independent of the knowledge of the law of the country. Knows the law fully well, but still he's a criminal, he can't but commit crime. So this knowledge cannot save us. That is something else. What do you say?

Devotees: Yes. It's fact!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Some of the best criminals are the most knowledgeable of the laws, therefore they know how to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They know how they can utilise the law in their favour of exploitation. The capitalists they also maintain many lawyers to support their exploitation. So knowledge of the law has nothing to do with the purity of our life and achievement. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So real thing is sukṛti, it is traced in this way, first ajñāta-sukṛti, ādau śraddhā, when it is the good faith comes over the surface of our mind, consciousness, that of this type:

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati / yasmin prāpte sarvam
idam prāptam bhavati tad vijyī jnasa tad eva brahma

There is a particular thing, if I can know that I shall know everything. If I get that I shall get everything. It is possible. It is not impossible, it is possible.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati / yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati This central faith or central achievement is true.

yathā taror mula niṣecanena, tṛpyanti tat-skandha bhujopasākhāḥ prānopahārāc ca yathendriyānām, tathaiva sarvārhaṇam acyutejyā

["Just as if you pour water onto the root of a tree, the whole tree is fed, and just as when you supply food to the stomach, the whole body is fed, so if you can gain knowledge of the prime cause, Brahman, then you can know anything and everything."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.31.14]

If we pour water into the root of the tree, whole tree is fed. If we put food into the stomach, whole body is fed. Such things are possible in our achievement of knowledge. If we can know the central truth, the whole is known. To get that I have some good relation with Him, I can have good relation with all. This central existence is possible. When such knowledge awakens in one's mind he gets faith, śraddhā.

'śraddhā' - sabde - viśvāsa kahe sudṛḍha niścaya / kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya ["Śraddhā is confident, firm faith that by rendering transcendental loving service to Kṛṣṇa one automatically performs all subsidiary activities. Such faith is favourable to the discharge of devotional service."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.62]

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam priṇite priṇito jagat

[By satisfying Kṛṣṇa, the whole universe becomes satisfied, for one who is dear to Kṛṣṇa is dear to the whole universe.]

However wonderful this may be but this is true. This is possible. When such awakening of faith comes within one's mind then he gets śraddhā. And what is the cause of the śraddhā that can produce such faith? Sukṛti.

bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukr̥taiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ

[“Actually we can recognise a sādhu by sukr̥ti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhu, and the sādhu gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhu and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhu holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhu, but to know who is guru, who is sādhu, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhu, both of the guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads.”]
[Bṛhan-Nāradya-Purāṇa]

Generally such faith comes when we come in contact with a real sādhu, a bona fide sādhu. And how such connection is effected? That pūrvva sukr̥ti, what is that sukr̥ti? That is divided into two sections, ajñāta, jñāta. In the first stage ajñāta sukr̥ti, unconsciously I get my energy utilised for the service of the Supreme. I do not know, but my energy is utilised, and as reaction gets something from nirguṇa, from the cent per cent truth conception, the conception of cent per cent truth. My energy is connected there with that without my consciousness by the sādhus. I have created, constructed a garden, flowers utilised by a sādhu for the service of Kṛṣṇa. I do not know anything but because my energy was utilised... [?]

...

...a patient unconscious, then outsiders come, some injection, some sort of medicine applied, then he gets his consciousness. Then the doctor will consult, “What is the matter? How is your pain? Where is it?”

Cooperation, before cooperation unconscious help necessary for the patient who has lost his consciousness, and then, partial consciousness with his cooperation the treatment continues.

So in the first stage unconsciously some connection comes to him from the nirguṇa. Nirguṇa means guṇatita, satya, raja, tama, triguṇa – this is negative side, this is diseased, satya, raja, tama, triguṇa. Nirguṇa means nirbadi, guṇa means badi, māyā, satya, raja, tama, three divisions, stages of māyā, that is disease. Normal, healthy, that is nirguṇa, nirbadi, from that perfect harmonised world, from there some agent comes and utilises my energy without my consciousness, and that as a reaction I get something.

And when that thing's accumulated to certain degree then comes jñāta sukṛti, or with half consciousness we cooperate with the sādhu and acquire more. Then when that sukṛti is collected to a particular stage, it is named as śraddhā. That is, there is something, if we can get that, all my want will be removed. My real fulfilment I shall achieve. This sort of consciousness arises, awakens in one's mind, and that is śraddhā. And when that śraddhā, that sort of faith arises in one's mind he then tries his best to connect him with so many...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... they're trying in that line to improve their lot, approaching towards that.

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, mayi dr̥ṣṭe 'khilātmani

[“The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

There is such a thing if we can come in connection with Him, then bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, so many ties within us, karmana-vasana, ‘I want this, I want that’ and I tie myself with a particular desire. Then all the ties are all untied, released. ‘I do not want anything.’ All the ties, so many ties with so many things all cleared. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, thousands, lākhs of granthiś there in the heart all untied. ‘I don’t want anything.’ Then, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, suspicions, doubts, are innumerable, all cleared. All the doubts cleared, it is impossible almost, but it is true, doubts cleared, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. Kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, and the sufferings, good or bad in this world which was in store for me, I must have to undergo, that also finished. Mayi dr̥ṣṭe 'khilātmani, when that truthful aspect of the thing we come in connection with.

Just as dara, we see, I take, there is a tree, I may take it as a ghost, and so many plans, purposes, how to get relief of that and these things, how to get. But when that is found, ‘No, that is a tree, that is my father standing there,’ the whole thing vanishes, plan, purpose, design, activity spirit, gone. So the whole necessity, engagement, calculation, vanishes, when we can see that the environment I’m not to fight for but I’m to embrace as my friend. It is not my foe, it is my friend. The whole management: that is my friend, friendly management, and only my apprehension from the friend as foe. And that clears everything vanishes.

So, ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅga:

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

When that śraddhā, there is a, one if they can connect with Him, nothing will be necessary any more, it will be of utmost satisfaction. Then I go to the sādhu who are after such searching, and with their influence I begin my life of searching, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, athāto brahma-jijñāsā. In Jaimini, dharma-jijñāsā, what is our real duty. And Vedānta, brahma-jijñāsā, who is the most accommodating thing, my biggest thing? Who? Why? What is the characteristic of the all accommodating thing, this brahma-jijñāsā, brhata?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bṛhata, who can accommodate everything in it, that is Brahman. And Paramātmā Who is present everywhere, aṇor aṇīyān, minutest of the minute, Paramātmā within, searching within Antaryāmī, the subtle most existence within, within atom, within electron, and most accommodating Brahman. From where I came to here: Brahman? Yasmin vijnante sarvam idam.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! Dharma-jijñāsā, duty, what is my duty. Vedavyāsa Vedānta is brahma-jijñāsā, Who is the all comprehensive entity, brahma-jijñāsā. And Mahāprabhu's kṛṣṇānusandhāna: Kaha jal kaha tan_____ [?] Then the searching, Kṛṣṇa means searching who is the enjoyer, not accommodating element, nor all permeating, nor all accommodating aspect of the environment. But who is my owner, who is my enjoyer, for whom I am created, who will fulfil my whole aspiration? For Itself, in the words of Hegel. For whom I am created, who can fulfil my existence, to search, the development towards that. He's all in all, not the all accommodating space, nor the all permeating atom. But my highest need is to fulfil whose satisfaction I am created. I can get the corresponding satisfaction only in that plane. Bhokta ami bhoga ama bhokta ke [?] Who is my enjoyer, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, Kṛṣṇa conception of the ultimate reality is who can enjoy. The rasa, raso vai saḥ, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ, rasa is in the enjoyment, not in the enquiry who is the ultimate, vidura kashaya. Most accommodating or most subtle permeating, Paramātmā and Brahman, but the transaction in the fulfilment of taking and giving bhoga, in that we as a sisti karta, generally we go to Nārāyaṇa, and as the enjoyer if we want for the fulfilment of our everything.

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, jñātvā māṁ śāntim ṛcchati

["I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipping Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

"Everything for Me, you are for Me, you are My own."

And He's my friend. To seek for a friend, not for the geographical expression of the environment, but to find a friend, find a friend of universal interest in this world.

Mahāprabhu taught that. "Search after friend, not for duty, and nor for knowledge, not for karma, nor for knowledge, but for your friend you search."

Bhāgavata teaches us that. Purāṇa generally teaches us that. Search for a real friend. The search of your heart, not for brain, brain's satisfaction, nor for the satisfaction of the muscle, karma, or brain, but heart, the most important. And try to satisfy your heart, search for the heart for heart. There is heart, noble heart, and try to search for the higher heart to help your tiny heart. Your inner most necessity is to satisfy your heart, not brain.

So science cannot satisfy you. Without this civilisation, scientific civilisation of grand characteristic one can find satisfaction in a hut, in plain living fully satisfied. Science means exploitation of the nature, and to get a loan from the nature, and they will have to clear the debt. To every action there is equal and opposite reaction. So this civilisation that is incurring loan, debt, no contribution, all negative contribution: movement in the negative, progress in the negative side, this civilisation.

So plain living, high thinking, as it was in the yuga of the ṛṣi, in the day of the ṛṣis in India, plain living. Ṛṣis, they tried to search something grand and beautiful, but beauty was not so much laid stress on. But when Bhāgavata came by the instruction of Nārada Goswāmī, and from Bhāgavatam, Mahāprabhu took it to be the highest goal of all animation.

“You don’t know you are searching after love, loving heart. Loving heart can satisfy you: affection and not knowledge.”

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

Give up hatefully the quest after knowing things of your environment. But try to fulfil your thirst, your heart, your hankering for rasa, for ānandam, for beauty, for love, for charm, for harmony.

Westerners have used the word harmony, some philosophers, in place of beauty and love. They say harmony is beauty, harmony is love. And discord is the opposite, undesirable. So beauty, reality the beautiful. Martineau, the European scholar Martineau, who has written the Ethics, one book Ethics written by Martineau.

The reality the beautiful. Satyam, śivam, sundaram, we want sundaram. Mahāprabhu says jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā, knowledge is not necessary at all for the fulfilment of our life. Only through śraddhā we can attain everything, our earnest hankering desire for rasa. Rasa is the only thing for which, knowingly or unknowingly, every one of us are earnestly praying. That is rasa, not knowledge, not energy. Neither energy nor knowledge, neither power nor knowledge, but the rasa, satisfaction, ecstasy. That is our...

Prahāda Mahārāja says, bahir-artha-māninaḥ, we’re making much of the cover, and not which is within the cover, sas, substance within the cover. We are enchanted by the glamour of the cover only, of everything, but we must penetrate into the substance which is contained in the cover. That is Viṣṇu Who is permeating everything. What is His nature? How loving and affectionate He is for us? His sympathy, His love, His sacrifice, all these things we shall try to discover, and accordingly to fix our path what way we should select and make progress on.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. So jñāne prayāsam udapāśya, jñāna-sunya-bhakti, Eho bahya. When the, independent of knowledge, our devotion which has eliminated any calculation, only through faith, Mahāprabhu was, “Yes, it is here.” Faith is not frustrated, because the all consciousness atmosphere is present.

This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If you are sincere the all consciousness is ready to help you. You may not be afraid. So śraddhā, jñāna-sunya-bhakti, śraddhā, go on with...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, jñāne prayāsam udapāśya, when he, that is, jñāna-sunya-bhakti means he wants to offer himself, not to take the advantage of his knowledge of the environment, as a subject. Jñāna means he is laying stress on his subjective position, and bhakti is anti jñāna. Become object, to be a doll in His hand. He will handle you. You try to become a doll in the hand of the Supreme Power, objective, become passive, no active attainment, 'that I shall gather what is really useful to me. I know everything.' Don't indulge in that sort of attitude within you. Surrender to the Absolute Knowledge, Absolute Affection. Then, you as a subject you cannot come in touch with Him. He's adhokṣaja, He can come to you but you cannot go up to Him. You are very gross consciousness, you cannot make the subtle consciousness as the object of your sense; but finite...

Once in Karachi one Ārya Samāji leader came to me while preaching that side: "If finite can know Infinite He's no Infinite."

I answered, 'If Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite He's not Infinite.'

Just opposite, so He can come but I cannot go to Him. This is the fact. I'm of lower stuff. So to attract Him towards me, that is surrender, devotion, negative side, to increase the negative side of our aspect so that the positive feels attraction and comes down to embrace me, to accept me. That is the path of devotion, to invite Him.

"Come to my lower level. I can't go to the higher level where You are." So the search of the higher for the lower will be of such nature. "I am very low. I hold the lower position. And You are so high. You can come, You can purify, You can take me, You can utilise me for Your higher purpose. I am otherwise, I am helpless, neglected. Be pleased."

That is the path of bhakti and that can help us really to come in connection with the Superior Existence, and not by knowledge, 'That I can bring everything within and make prison within my area of knowledge.' We can't make Him prisoner, to keep, to catch, and to keep within the cage of our knowledge. It is not possible at all. So the path of devotion can only help us. He's so high and so infinite in every respect, so great, and we are so small. So the mercy, sympathy, love, grace, that is the only plane through which we both can come together.

What do you say Akṣayānanda Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, very nicely put, beautiful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu came with such news to us, so take His Name and think you're most meanest of the mean. You desire immediate help otherwise I'm gone. Try, not artificially but sincerely feel your helpless position, and also try to intimate it to the centre Who is Infinite Love, sympathy. That is the most plain way to attain our fulfilment, most simple, no artificiality. No science is necessary here. Heart's earnestness! "Help me."

Devotee: Heart's earnestness! A beautiful concept, heart's earnestness!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Earnestness of the heart, automatic, spontaneous, and you will be taken within His family life.

"No, no, My boy, you are not so low. You are My own. You are My own."
Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[“At the time of initiation, when a devotee fully surrenders unto the service of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa accepts him to be as good as Himself.”] – [“When the devotee’s body is thus transformed into spiritual existence, the devotee, in that transcendental body, renders service to the lotus feet of the Lord.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.192-3]

Brahma bhūyāya kalpate, ātmā bhūyāya kalpate, “I accept him as My family member.”

The gopīs also in Kurukṣetra: “We are not jñānīs, we are not yogīs, we are not karmī, that You give consolation that we may take that path and pass our time, kill our time. We are not to be dismissed by that sort of cunning attempt of You. We have already lived a life as Your family member, and nothing less than that can satisfy us. Your feet are worshipped and meditated upon by great mystic yogīs and highly learned philosophers. We wish that these lotus feet may also be awakened within our hearts, although we are only ordinary persons engaged in household affairs.'"]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.48] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.136]

"Our demand is fixed, and we want You as a family member in Vṛndāvana. Nothing less can satisfy us, we are such and such. We are in Vṛndāvana. We are plain thinking persons, half savage, but we understand this as the highest point of our interest, to have You amongst us as a family member. And neither an abstract meditation and nor the temporary relief worker in the mundane activity of self elevation; neither karmī nor jñānī. We have got the taste of getting You within our family life. We can't forget that any time."

And Kṛṣṇa says: "That rest assured I am yours, because the whole world of different sections, saints, they think that they're fortunate if they can come in My connection. Everyone thinks that he's fortunate if anyhow he may come in connection with My affection. And that man, or that person, or that entity I am, I think it My fortune that I came in your connection. I consider Myself to be fortunate because I came in connection with you, so simple, so surrendering, so loving, so self forgetful, you are. I can't forget you. I thought that I'm really fortunate that I came in your connection. The world thinks if they come in My connection they're fortunate, and such am I that I think that I'm fortunate that I got your connection. So I'm always yours. My appreciation for you is to such intensity, so rest assured. Only to minimise or remove some trouble in the earthly affairs I am waiting here. I am always with you."

That was His secret advice or response to the gopīs. And they came back: Se śloka suni radha kandila sakha baddha krsne prapte priti te haila [?]

Rādhārāṇī could understand this purpose of the saying of Kṛṣṇa and She thought that, "Kṛṣṇa is fully Mine. He's within My affectionate zone. I need not bother Myself for any imaginary despair or disappointment. He's Mine, wherever He is He's Mine."

With this faith, Rādhārāṇī came back from Kurukṣetra to Vṛndāvana.

And Mahāprabhu in Jagannātha taking from Kurukṣetra to Nava-Vṛndāvana, to Guṇḍicā Mandeer with that spirit, taking Kṛṣṇa from Dvārakā, "Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa we take Him to Vṛndāvana."

that was built in the model of Vṛndāvana. To find His internal peace He used to walk in that Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Caitanya Mahāprabhu told Vāsudeva Datta, “That by your desire anyone can get Kṛṣṇa prema.” So can we also become as powerful as Vāsudeva Datta? Is it possible for us to become as powerful as...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Powerful?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Śakti shali, as Vāsudeva Datta, that by our desire others will also get Kṛṣṇa prema, is it possible? He's enquiring.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It depends on the intensity of devotion of a devotee.

Mahāprabhu told, "You can sell Me anywhere if you like. You have tied Me with your door of affection so much that like ordinary property of sale you can sell Me here and there. I'm so much indebted to you through your serving attitude. I'm your own. Whatever you like you may do with Me."

That type of devotion was found in Vāsudeva Datta. And that is also, there are also superior type of devotion we can understand of Caitanyadeva. But that was a peculiar type of devotion in Vāsudeva. We can trace his special desire, sympathy, for so many suffering souls at large.

And Haridāsa Ṭhākura also came to help Him.

Mahāprabhu told that, "Vāsudeva, if the whole world is released, then do you mean that the world will be non existent forever?"

Then, it was told that previously Rāmacandra also took the whole of Ayodhyā with Him, but again Ayodhyā was filled up by the supply from the Causal Play.

So Haridāsa Ṭhākura says, “When You have chanted Kṛṣṇa Nāma,” Haridāsa Ṭhākura says to Mahāprabhu, “You Yourself are chanting the Name of Kṛṣṇa and whoever is fortunate to hear that, that sound enters in the ear of whatever the man be, however sinful, and he may be conscious or unconscious, stone, trees, and so many, everyone will be released. And then again the supply will come from the sukṣma, this Brahmaloḥa, the taṭasthā plane, it will come to take place, to fill up the vacuum.”

Mahāprabhu told then, “Kṛṣṇa is not bankrupt. When a devotee of your type has sincerely filed a petition to Kṛṣṇa to release all the existing souls, they must have to be released. He fulfils the desire of His devotee. It is His nature. And you offer that you’ll have to go to eternal hell for their relief, but He’s not so bankrupt that for this little grace He will have to show He will take help from you as reaction by sending you to hell He will have to release all these souls. It is not such.

A finite within infinite, what is its position? Nothing! A drop in the ocean – one drop taken up, we can’t understand from where it is again filled up. So the Infinite will is such. When you want it, they’ve already been released. But still, the surrounding has again filling it up instantaneously. Instantaneously the vacuum is filled up. It is the manner of the Infinite. So what we finite will go to calculate by applying our logic or mathematics? Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?]

The standard of realisation, the quality, that is all important, that should be kept. Not only the magnitude of preaching, but what we are preaching. The quality cannot be ignored. It must be kept up, the standard high, and true as much as possible. The true conception, the clear conception for the thing, that must be kept up. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol!

Once, during the time of Akbar, a Mogul king, very generous, many Hindus also joined him but only Pratap Singha the Nawab Niwar [?], he did not submit to the Mogul. Then one day Pratap Singha was single handed fighting out of, Akbar was very powerful, extensive kingdom, and Pratap Singha only a chief in Raja Putana. Mamsingh and other chiefs of Raja Putana also joined, even Pratap Singha's own brother, he also sided Akbar. But Pratap Singha with single handed fight he fought with Akbar.

One day it happened so that when he was, he had his camp in a hill and his wife prepared some bread, and one, this forest cat came and took away the bread, forest cat living in the forest, forest cat came and took away the bread. And the prince, the son of Pratap Singh had to fast that day. Pratap Singh was away in the, with the soldiers here and there, and when this news reached him, 'that my son is fasting because his bread is taken away by some forest cat, and no other food stuffs remained in the house, within the camp.' Then he felt some weakness in him.

Akbar, he's offering to make peace, truce, to make truce, time to time. He was generous man, but his paraphernalia was very vindictive to Pratap Singh. But at this moment Pratap Singh felt a little weakness and he wrote a letter to Akbar. "I am ready for truce, or peace."

Then, when the letter reached the hand of Akbar, Akbar, "Should we believe that this is his letter? He's such a fighting man of independent spirit, indomitable."

Then one of his ministers, Mohammedan ministers, Haydi [?], he told that, "It must be planned by any of his enemies. He can't write this letter for peace, so it's not him, an enemy has sent this letter to defame him."

In the meantime that Mohammedan gentleman he wrote a private letter to Pratap Singh that, “Such a letter has come in your name. I do not believe. But still if it’s really yours, I advise you to withdraw, to deny, that this letter is yours if any weak moment you might have written this. Because the future Raja Putana will have to come to you for the seed to sow in the soil of Raja Putana. Other chiefs are all polluted, they’re below the standard. And you have kept the standard up with your, single handed with the flag.”

That letter he wrote to Pratap Singh and he recovered. From the temporary depression he recovered. And again with the roaring of a lion he began. We find in history.

So the quality, the quality, there are different classes, someone, they aspire after quantity more, their nature is that, the quantity. But hankering after quality, the improvement, that is more desirable, svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt:

Higher things, very small, can give us more, small things can give more. As much higher as it is it is accommodating in another way. The gold in small quantity can give many things. So the platinum perhaps, the most precious thing in the world at present is platinum. A small dust or speck of it is worth much gold. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. We appreciate quality more than quantity. Connotation not denotation, connotation increases denotation decreases. Denotation increases, connotation cannot but diminish. [?] Substance, when you say substance, everything is included. Then living bodies, stones, earth, eliminated. Then animals, then trees etc, eliminated, then rational animal, only human beings, animals, insects, worms eliminated. Then wise men, ordinary rational men eliminated. Connotation increases denotation decreases. Quantity decreases quality increases, and if quantity is to increase then you are to sacrifice the quality.

Gaura Haribol! Hare Kṛṣṇa. My thirst is always for quality, quality, peculiar Devotee: So you're like that moon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol! Nitāi Gaura Haribol!

I rather hate, or feel beneath my dignity to stand against Swāmī Mahārāja's campaign. I'm very [?] Susceptible, or something like that.

Devotee: Sentimental.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not sentimental [?] Sensitiveness, I'm very sensitive. Feel distressed that Swāmī Mahārāja's campaign that will be affected in any way by me. My sentiment is that. At the same time I find it my duty if anyone comes for real help, if I have that capacity then I cannot but help him. And especially those that cannot stand the present administrative system of the ISKCON, if necessary to help them, that is my idea.

Swāmī Mahārāja himself also requested me, not only once but several times that, “You are to look after.” I did not think at that time that I shall survive him, so I did not give any, much attention to his words then. Repeatedly he told, “You are to look after them. I have taken them this side.” And his plan was also that, “I shall, they’re constructing one quarter here, suitably, and I have asked them, another quarter just side by side for yourself and you will have to stay there. When I shall go abroad you are to take care.”

I told, it’s not possible always but sometimes I shall go and stay there with you.

Anyhow, our Guru Mahārāja wanted me, and it is natural that what we have got in us to help the newcomers with that. That should be our duty, and only fair duty, not like that I shall become an anti centre. I’m afraid of that. That is my nature always. That is my very nature through childhood. Still I maintain that nature. Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol!

So I have asked anyone who came with that sort of object that my work will be, help will be of a relieving nature, to start a relief work, not a fighting campaign. Those that are disappointed, going away dejected, depressed, try to help them. Come so far, nearer, near Mahāprabhu and Gurudeva, his teachings, Bhāgavatam, and they will go away? In that case I shall try to come to take them back. “Don’t go. Come under the banner of Mahāprabhu.” In such position, relief work. And they should also try. At the same time consciously or unconsciously their standard cannot but improve. What do you think?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They say, “Some of us are going, are disassociating with us, what for? They're not satisfied. Their enquiry is not satisfied within us." So if we are to take them back then you must improve our quality also. They'll have to try to keep up the quality, and the internal feud they avoid. Anyhow, His will, will be done. What do you say Aksayānanda Mahārāja?

Aksayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, by your grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His will, will be done, God's will, Kṛṣṇa's will. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I'm an old man, infirm, can't see, can't see, can't sing more. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow passing my days, waiting for my last day. What do you say?

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha, ha. You're encouraging us.

Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

"Even take the risk of the responsibility of a position of a Guru for Me to help others."

So begin and continue the relief work here. Amṛta, śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ. Of what standard you are created for? And where you are plodding in the mud?

If Mahāprabhu did not come, who could show the highest standard of realisation and the greatness and nobility of Rādhārāṇī? What can be the standard of sacrifice? Love means sacrifice. The very gist, the very life of love is sacrifice, and sacrifice becomes so intense and so sweet it takes the shape of prema, love. By sacrifice we thrive. By enjoying we lose.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tyāga [?] Tyāga will be destructive and withdrawal from the negative side, but participation in the positive, what is life for something, or everything only created for renunciation? Or the whole existence is hateful, that we shall dismiss the whole paraphernalia and I am the purest and everything is hateful, to be hated? If I come in connection with the environment I will be polluted: this is a negative side. But in the higher life the circumstance, the environment will purify me. All Guru, all liberated, all noble. And I am only an insignificant man. And they will all, the whole environment will feed me, will come to feed me. There is such a soil. I want to live in that as a servant. To serve in heaven, is better than to reign in hell. And the no reigning, no serving, that is an abscisa, a stage of death. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Bhoga, tyāga, sevā, synthesis, three planes of life, that of enjoyment, that of renunciation, and that of service. Enjoyment also karma, vikarma, immoral activity and moral activity. And sevā also, calculative service and automatic, spontaneous service, the highest. Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, adhokṣaja and aprakṛta, or kevala.

In Madras, I have told them perhaps, one Satyavan Tīrtha of Madhva School, big Ācārya. Myself, Bon Mahārāja and Hayagrīva Prabhu [known later as] Mādhava Mahārāja. Mādhava Mahārāja was white clad brahmacāri, we went to meet that gentleman Satyavan Tīrtha, mahanta of Utaradhi [?] Maṭha. In the course of our conversation it came that Śrī Mūrti, he told that, “Within Śrī Mūrti there is God.” We told that Śrī Mūrti wholesale is God.

devi vigraha grayam nesyari vidyate kacit [?]

That He, the possessor of the body, and the body possessed, no distinction can be maintained there in the case of Śrī Mūrti.

But then he maintained, “No!” And unfortunately he gave out that, “The Śālagrāma is there and if we strike it with a club then it becomes, it is reduced to powder.”

Then we put our hands into the ear, covered our ears with our palms. Then there was a current of wonder we experienced.

There are so many Barristers, Advocates, Professors, especially those that are within their Madhva School. And they suddenly found, “What is this? Our Gurudeva has uttered such expressions that these gentlemen they cannot forbear that, they are stopping their ear, covering their ear. What filthy talk, expression, might have been uttered by him?” So astonished.

And this man was also puzzled. Then the discussion began. He told that, “Madhvācārya himself has told like that, this that.”

Then I could remember one śloka of Bhāgavatam and I thought that meaning in the favour of such argument that śloka can be utilised.

[ādi-madhyāvasāneṣu, vairāgyākhyāna-saṁyutam hari-līlā-kathā-vrātā-, mṛtānandita-sat-suram]

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ
tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam

[“From beginning to end, the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is full of narrations that encourage renunciation of material life, as well as nectarine accounts of Lord Hari’s transcendental pastimes, which give ecstasy to the saintly devotees and demigods. This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non-different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.11-12]

Apparently it seems that Bhāgavatam is supporting the conclusion of Vedānta, so called Māyāvādī Vedānta. Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad. Here in the conclusive śloka Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says, Vyāsadeva, “What is the gist of all Vedānta? Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad. What is that? Brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam. Apparently it seems ātmā means jīvātmā and brahma, so ham. Brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam, ātmā and brahma of equal sign, equal nature, equal status. And that is the very gist, very substance of the whole of Vedānta. Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ. And that is one absolute whole, vastv advitī. Tan-niṣṭhaṁ, pertaining to that, kaivalyam, the, kaivalyam means oneness, the consciousness of oneness, kaivalyaika, that is the very prayojana, prayojana means, prayojana, that is necessity, that is, that sort of continuous one whole conception, that is what is real need of us.” Apparently, this is the śloka.

And once, I’d only joined recently Gauḍīya Maṭha, and then Prabhupāda was, one gentleman, one old gentleman came with this śloka to Prabhupāda. With this śloka, this supposed Śaṅkara philosophy, with the conclusive śloka of Bhāgavatam that supports Śaṅkara philosophy. I was, I had joined Gauḍīya Maṭha perhaps, but I had some Sanskrit knowledge, I could understand. That man, with the basis of this śloka came to argue that the Bhāgavat also supposed so ham. Brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ.

Then Prabhupāda suddenly told, “Oh, you are not that man, that man, who criticised Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his Śrī-Kṛṣṇa-Saṁhita?”

Then he was a little perplexed. “No, no. I said only this. I said only this. You please take seat I’m coming just.”

Prabhupāda went up and took Bhāgavatam, a piece of Jīva Goswāmī’s tika. “You please attend. I am explaining. It is not mine. What Jīva Goswāmī says you please hear.” Prabhupāda began explaining.

I found two things different here. Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmāhmaikatva-lakṣaṇam.

Brahmāhmaikatva-lakṣaṇam. Ātmā means Paramātmā.

Prabhupāda, “Jīva Goswāmī says it is not jīvātmā it is Paramātmā.” atma devi vidu viresh sadar paramatmani [?]

The meaning of ātmā is Paramātmā also. Why Paramātmā? In the beginning Bhāgavat has already promised: brahmeti paramātmēti bhagavān iti śabdyate:

[vadanti tat tattva-vidas-tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam brahmeti paramātmēti bhagavān iti śabdyate]

[“Great seers of the truth understanding the nature of Supreme Knowledge have described that non dual truth in three ways: as Brahman, Paramātmā and Bhagavān.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

The conception of advaya-jñāna, of one whole, the jñānīs, they take it a Brahman conception, all accommodating aspect. The yogīs, they take that the prime cause is the all pervading thing, Paramātmā. And the devotees, they take Him as the enjoyer, Bhagavān, aisadya maysisthi gata [?] Advaya-jñāna is conceived by these three different sections like in three different ways, so really it is not ātmā. Brahman, Paramātmā, Bhagavān. This Bhagavān is proved perfect and He’s embracing the true conception of Brahma and Paramātmā, all accommodating and all permeating. With this, that is advaya-jñāna, Absolute, finite and infinite plus Absolute. Conditioned and unconditioned both combined, Absolute.
It is said like this. And it is not my version, it is, you see Jīva Goswāmī has written. And you appeal to your common sense in the beginning that was the data and that has been established and Bhāgavatam says in the conclusion, “I have established this, the Brahman, Paramātmā, Bhagavān, three aspects of the one whole.” And Bhagavān is the superior conception which includes the two other functions.

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ
tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam

[This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non-different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.12]

Then there is another word, niṣṭha. This is advaya-jñāna, one whole, and tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyam, and the spontaneous and continuous knowledge pertaining to that, niṣṭha. Niṣṭha means adherence, adherence to such conception of the reality, tan-niṣṭhaṁ. Kaivalyam means continuous, not tampered or ...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Uncorrupted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Uninterrupted, continuous, to remain in continuous consciousness of such, about the consciousness of such real absolute, tan-niṣṭhaṁ, pertaining to that. So a second thing is existing, who will be, who will get that niṣṭha to such, he’s separate, that is one thing. Then with the basis of this śloka I challenged him. But he did not admit, he’s this side that side. Then I gave him one example.

When Kṛṣṇa disappeared and the blood through the arrow and that entered into His sole, any blood oozing?

He said, “Yes.”

But what is that blood? We saw with our eyes that blood oozing. Is that blood a material blood?

He said, “No.”

Then why, why? If that blood is not material but I experience with my fleshy eye that it is material blood. So what we say about Śālagrāma that when broken it comes to pieces? That is also my material vision. That is not real. I won't allow me to understand, to deviate from that higher conception of things. devo dehi vidha puram [?]

Into the material standard, to see that there are so many particles of stone, that is my offensive vision. He was stopped there. That kaivalyaika-prayojanam, I won't allow me to deviate from my continuous faith that this cannot be pertaining to the Supreme Nature of the Absolute: that cannot be. My sense is deceiving me, just as in the case of the blood oozing from the sole of Kṛṣṇa. That man could not say anything. So kaivalyaika-prayojanam, we don't believe our mundane senses. Always we should keep the standard in our faith that this cannot be this, this is this. This māyā is coming, intervening, trying to disturb my faith, of Kṛṣṇa. It may bring this, this, that, that, but we must not allow our standard to be lowered. Keep up the faith. This cannot be. It is śāstra.

Just as the Muslims they don't admit, the orthodox Muslims, that the Russia and America is going to the Moon. And the Moon is held in very venerable position by the Muslims. “No, no, we don't believe that, that they have gone to that Moon.”

Swāmiji Mahārāja also disallowed. So faith, this is local experience, local experience. We have got the world of our experience, and a worm and an insect it has got also the world of theirs, from generation to generation that civilisation is going down. Every section they have got their own civilisation, and coming down. So what value that civilisation has got to human civilisation, scientific, non scientific, so many conceptions in different civilisations. We must not allow to deviate, to come down from the faith, because:

[“O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cowherds men; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kaṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

Kṛṣṇa is entering the arena of Kaṁsa for the fighting, and different sections are having different impressions of Him. One says that a thunder is approaching, “Oh, paraṁ tattvaṁ yoginām.” The maternal devotees say, “Oh, here is my child, very affectionate child.” In this way, only one thing is estimated in different ways there. It is His will, yam evaiṣa vṛnute.

[nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam
evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

[“One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone’s heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him.”]

[Katha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23]

One man can see, another man cannot see. When Kṛṣṇa is showing Viśvarūpa to Arjuna, all others could not see that. Sanjaya could see by the inspiration of Vyāsadeva and he is describing the thing. But others, they’re all blind to that thing. So it depends upon the subjective sweet will what to show, what to not show. So we must keep our faith up in a standard that His sweet will can express Him and the world in any way He likes. Subjective control, that of a hypnotiser, that all experiences depends on a hypnotist, the key is in his hands. What to see, what to not see, “See this, no, no, you are seeing this.” “Yes, I am seeing that.” So the whole experience is of that type.

Then when coming in contact with Mahāprabhu, the leader of the Māyāvādī sannyāsīns, Prakāśānanda, he had, he could not but sympathise towards Mahāprabhu, seeing His open figure. "There is nothing artificial in Him, so simple, unseen simplicity found there, and great, magnanimous, noble feeling within the body."

He could not un detect it, so impressed by that he came to His place and taking by His hand, “Why do you take Your seat here? You come and take Your seat along with us.”

Then with much earnestness and respect, he put the question. “You are here in Benares. We belong to the same rank. You have taken sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī. He’s our section. But You don’t meet us. What’s the matter?”

“I am, that Bhāratī School is considered to be a lower one so it does not look well that I shall take My seat along with you, so I am a little far.”

“No, no, no, another thing I put,” he put, “We don’t think that you are a crooked or hypocrite seeking something else. But very plain, simple, dignified and nobleness in Your appearance we find. One question I want to ask. Why do You leave Vedānta, the study and discussion of Vedānta? And You indulge in singing and dancing. What are these things? Please explain. You are not a trader. In this way, “Now, when I found Me to be besides Myself I went to My Guru again, ‘What is this that these thing are coming irresistibly in Me? I can’t contain My sober temperament. Then Prakāśānanda put some questions concerning Vedānta.

Then Mahāprabhu came out with His real colour. “The Vyāsadeva, only to give a successful opposition to the non Vedic, so many logician’s books, logical books, to meet with that, to face with that danger of the atheism He composed this Vedānta-sutra. This is full of devotional meaning.” In this way He began to explain. “The Vyāsadeva, Nārāyaṇa Himself, He has given us, to take us to the school of devotion. But it has been, the Śaṅkara, the great scholar Śaṅkara by the order of Nārāyaṇa, he gave some misconceived commentary, not proper.” In this way He began to explain the Upaniṣad and the Vedānta-sutra. All the exposition of Śaṅkara was cancelled and the positive meaning was supplied therein.

Only seventeen lākhs income of the Jaipur state and he has already committed one lākh to pay to Andra University, as requested by Radhakrishna. Radhakrishna was not rastra puti [?] at that time he was Vice Chancellor. First I met Radhakrishna with Bon Mahārāja when he was in Calcutta University, a Professor of English. Then he became Vice Chancellor after Asutosh he left Calcutta University and the Andra University when separated from Madras. Radhakrishna he was an Andra brāhmaṇa so they requested him to take the charge of that new University in Andra. And Radhakrishna could influence this Jaipur Raj to contribute one lākh of rupees every year. And he was a very benevolent man of great type, good type, and he agreed.

That new dewan he was a young man, newcomer just from London, he was in charge of the whole state.

When Jaipur Raj he signed in our cheque that: “I want to contribute what is necessary for the construction of the Gauḍīya Maṭha temple at Madras, I want to supply the money.”

And at the same time he requested me to meet the dewan. I tried to avoid but he repeatedly requested. “The money is in his hands, he’s in direct connection with the revenue, so he will have to manage to pay. I can only theoretically give some order.”

Then I had to meet him when I could not avoid. When I faced him he opposed outright. “What do you say Swāmījī? We are poor people, ādivāsī, half fed, half clad, and if anything remains after the expense of the administration then I shall, I like to spend it for their help, those poor men. And I shall have to give money for Madras fund? If you could construct a temple here then also somewhat I can, I could consider. That he will find a place of recreation, it may be utilised for them. You will construct a temple in Madras town and these people will be exploited for that. I’m the last man to pay for this. This Raja, what does he know about this state management? The other day he was wandering in the street, that Radhakrishna. And some other men made a conspiracy, and the real owner was the queen of that late Raja, and she was anyhow managed to go back to her father’s house in Lucknow. And this man, a puppet, has been selected as king, declared by the government, they managed to do this. And he does not know anything about the state management. I can’t hear. Rather I am very much perturbed that I shall have to pay one lākh of rupees from seventeen lākhs for the University. I feel much disturbance for that.”

He flatly refused. Then I thought, what I thought I have faced the right thing. Now what to do? Internally I am praying very fervently to Gurudeva. I am a worthless creature. I am spoiling the whole thing. The Raja has donated and the dewan is opposing. What is this? Praying internally, and outwardly I caught him. As it came to my mind I quoted this śloka of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

varṇayed yaḥ bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmāṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ

[“One who hears with firm faith the supra-mundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

I started with this śloka and put this argument: that you want to help them, we also are very eager to help the same persons. But your way of approach is different, and ours also, in another way we want to help. This, the power of aspiration, achievement, greed for things, this has been diagnosed in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam by Śukadeva Goswāmī as heart disease, kāmāṁ, “I want this, I want that, I want this.”

sahasra nityati sata sastra laksana sate [?]

In this increasing succession it goes up. So it is the heart disease, it has been diagnosed as that by the great author of Bhāgavatam, exponent of Bhāgavatam, Śukadeva, heart disease. When I was a hog I devoured, swallowed, a hillock of stools, but hunger not appeased. When a birth of an elephant I devoured a whole jungle, but my hunger is not appeased. So many persons have amassed money, buildings, in great, but their hunger is more and more increasing to exploit to get more. So it is heart disease. And when, the only cure, is when we can conceive that everything for the service, meant, created for the service of Kṛṣṇa, the whole, to the highest degree. The vraja-vadhū, the damsels of Vṛndāvana and their nature of service to the highest intensity of dedication, if one can learn and adjust, then he may be cured eternally, finally, for this aspiration - “I want this, I want that, I want that,” for this terrible disease. I put so fervently and internally I was praying for my ineligibility that, “My Gurudeva I fail here.”

So anyhow that man was moved and somewhat his eyes were wet with tears. He told, “Swāmījī, I believe in God.”

I told, your eyes are evidence to that. “Yes, I shall pay your money.”

Then I told to Mahārājah that yes, your dewan is prepared to pay the money. He was also very cheerful. And then when he sent the first cheque, I was not in Madras, I was in Bombay. His cheque to my name went to Madras Maṭha, and from that it was directed to Bombay Maṭha, where I was staying at that time. I got the cheque and others also wondered that, “What is this? Five thousand cheque: that is running after you?” Ha, ha, ha, ha. Then with one of my God brothers through him I sent a cheque to Guru Mahārāja, and then Madras Temple was begun. In this way things went on really. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

That is a notable thing that it came to me that strongly I put forward. Of course, taking in my name that when I had the birth of a hog, or birth of an elephant I devoured jungles and hills of stools, but hunger is not appeased. It is, the way to appease the hunger, it has been called the disease, heart disease. And to cure the heart disease - “That everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa.” And with such intensity and eagerness we are to render service to Him. And a little bit of that will cure our heart disease. Vraja-vadhūbhir idam ca viṣṇoḥ, unqualified surrender, and most intense type of service, like homoeopathic dose, one drop is sufficient to quench all the thirst in a man for anything in this world. High degree of self dedication towards Kṛṣṇa. The central man of acceptance, he’s of such type, and the jīvas also of same nature. And that transaction if for a moment one can give his touch in his heart, he’s cured of the disease of devouring this and that and anything, forever. That is the medicine. Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The only medicine. One drop, one drop of that high type of serving attitude, if any jīva comes in connection with our heart, the whole heart is transformed into another. Śukadeva Goswāmī says, heart disease, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty, very easily and very soon, apahinoty, hatefully he can reject that this is a disease, not to be first origin had, “I want more, I want more food, grow more food.”

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! The consumer, to be in the position of a consumer. We are a child of the soil of infinite, Vaikuṇṭha, not grow and then eat. Ha, ha. Ample, infinite resources, and when that land is a land of dedication everyone is giving, none is consuming, taking. The spirit is such. And what he's taking, that is also as prasādam, a different type of acceptance of taking, not a life drawn from ideas of this world. There one gives to get back more, alasa, alakanka, and there, gets clear, never to have any claim with that gift. That is service, and done thankfully, not only thankfully but with heart's inner most satisfaction, thinking himself so much graced.

Service is their own property, natural property, service, not enjoying, service. Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. The idea we are to enquire after. What is this? Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana: the remuneration in terms of love. What is love? That more intense tendency to serve: that is prema, intense tendency, inner most intense tendency to serve and serve. Increase the degree of serving spirit. That is my remuneration. That is my remuneration for my service. That is prema. Die to live, Hegelian words, die to live. And He's for Itself. You are for Him, everything for Him, not for any other but Him, for Him, and, die to live.

[?] Suitable, die to live, and He's by Itself and for Itself. Revolutionary, only few words, but most revolutionary.

Devotee: Die to live.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādhana mane, you are to die as you are at present. The ahaṅkāra, the ego, must be dissolved to the final. What you are at present that must be dissolved, the ego, die. As you are you have to die, and a new self will emerge from within. The golden self will emerge from within, and the external coating, or dirty coating, that will be finished. If you want to have a life of proper living, or for want of proper living, you will have to give up the mode of your present living. Die to live. And He is by itself and for itself. [?] Now we disperse the meeting today. We want to close. Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Nitāi Caitanya.

bahiraṅga saṅga godhi nāma-saṅkīrtana antaraṅga saṅga koraḥ rasa sadan. [A poem from Śrī Caitanya Bhāgavata]

The culmination of saṅkīrtana! ...extensive necessity is represented in rasa and ecstasy, in anāṁdam, beauty. Everything is seeking for that, in every stage of our life. None can deny that I don't want happiness, pleasure, but only difference of classification, a difference in quality. Connotation increases, denotation decreases. Connotation to be increased and elimination at the same time, of the lower order. In this way the progress culminates in mukhya rasam, which is the gist of all rasa, the highest standard of all rasa. Complete self surrender, complete self surrender can only take place in mādhyama-rasa. In other stages, partial, for the object of our fulfilment must be only there. Otherwise we must be satisfied with partial attainment or fulfilment, though we may think there that this is the best relative position.

The difficulty is always to adjust between relative and absolute knowledge, and relative and absolute achievement. All through, the relative, provincial, local, and central, and the central must have the better hand. Central knowledge, achievement, otherwise we'll miss the hit. What for? Die to live. Ha, ha. We will have to die at every step for better living. And Reality is for Itself, the Hegelian philosophy and basis. Reality is by Itself and for Itself. He is, Hegel told, 'it,' but we like to tell it, 'He.' He is for Himself. Otherwise He's not absolute reality. He'll be subservient to another, and he will be more important. It must be, here lies the spirit in Vaiṣṇavism. Reality is always for Itself, for Himself.

["Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

"Everything culminates in Me, for My enjoyment."

And that enjoyment must be complete and perfect, with dedication. Dedication is not wrong, because 'die to live.' You will have to die, with all our evil tendencies we are to die. Then only we can expect to reach that highest standard of sacrifice, wholesale sacrifice, nothing less. And that is only possible in mādhyura rasa. And we are told that twenty four hours engagement with the Supreme Lord is only possible in mādhyura rasa, nowhere else, not even vātsalya rasa or friendly rasa. That is the rasa, adi rasa, mukhya rasa, principal, including all rasa. Not only quantitatively but qualitatively included. A servant is serving...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...so it is such.

pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge, [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range] ["The path of divine love is worshippingable to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."]

_____ Guru Mahārāja, always to show reverence to the plane of love, highest love, we don't find trespasser there, that is but our aim will be there, and we should consider ourselves to be in the lower always, and here always showing respect to that highest peak. The summon bonum is there. We are not fit but we must have our attention fixed there, fixed there, what is what, sambandha jñāna. Who am I? [?] That does not mean that I shall run at the peak and I devour and finish everything. That is not to be, in any time. It is infinite. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. So much so Dāsa Goswāmī himself says that:

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso
'stu raso 'stu satyam

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, the greatest exponent of the faith of servitude to Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, Rādhā-dāsyam, wrote: "I won't allow myself to become fascinated by the proposal of the higher level service as a friend, sākhyā. Rather, I shall tend always to do the lower service, dāsya, the service of the servant. I shall not consider myself to be a high-class servitor and I shall always tend to go towards the lower class of service. But He may forcibly take me to a higher service - “No, you are no longer to serve there; now you must serve in this higher category.”]

[Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

What to speak of mādhyāsa, he says that, “Even the sākhyā rasa I want to show my reverence. And I shall try my best to stick to the dāsya rasa, the layer of service. I’m a servant. Kṛṣṇa always gives first regard to the raga. But the servants, servitors, they will always show their earnest for law, for viddhi. I’m not fit for working in the way of pure love. I must, according to śāstra, I must go on.” That will be the tendency of individuals who is – but my Gurudeva he’s in the highest position. He’s there. And for his service I must venture to enter that domain. And after service I come down and I must place myself in a position befitting me. But my Guru is there, and I can’t be disconnected with him. Anyhow I shall have to go and serve him. And he’s serving in the highest position. And to serve him, Gurudeva, Vaiṣṇava, I shall have to enter there, awe-fully, with awe and reverence, anyhow, and then I shall come down and stay in my own place.

That was the ideal of our Guru Mahārāja. “They will stay in Rādhā-kuṇḍa but we must come a step lower to take our shelter in Govardhana, and where from we can every day go have the service finished and then come back to Govardhana, a little lower position.”

And that spirit will save me. That sort of tendency will keep me fit and safe. Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. The spirit of loving service, that should be kept always on the head, and a little lower I must take my position, because I cannot leave off my connection with that highest position. My Gurudeva is there. In this way this is the strategy of high spiritual life.

_____ [?] I may be posted in nearby for his closer service. Tai śiṣya tava thakur sarva da nara eva pūjā ka [?] This strategy was given by our Gurudeva. Always remain under the guidance of Gurudeva, Vaiṣṇava; you'll be safe. Otherwise any, you may go to the lowest position, you are not safe. His connection is indispensable, the connection of your Guru. At the same time your Guru holds the highest position, supreme position, you must keep that in your mind always. He does not hold any lower position. He's the best of the servitors. His position is unique.

Devotee: That is very clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And I am a servant. He has accepted me. It is indispensable for me to serve him...

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

Don't you know where to enter there, that bhajan, how the highest position it is? The land is more valuable than the stuff you are made of, the land of Guru, and no servant. Nothing under your foot: this is not so easy a thing, but still it is, there is. We are theistic not atheistic. It is there. It is with our Guru Mahārāja. According to our capacity he's giving us by instalment. As much as we'll be able to improve our condition he'll give more and more higher things. We are in diseased condition so rich dishes is not fit for us. As much as we shall improve ourselves then rich dishes may come to us. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. I may be in hell and suffering, but within, the link, and don’t disconnect there. That is my vitality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] The animal saw, detected, that any poison enters the body, the body itself constitutionally is of such nature that it tries to remove the poison. The body, the constitution itself, tries its best to remove the poison. Now, to do that in that process, what does it want, the body wants? It is expressed by his symptoms. So such things should be, such help should be given to it that can produce such system in the body. Sama saman samayate [?] That is the line of his thinking. Sama saman samayate [?] The body itself is trying its best to remove, and to do that in that process he’s showing some symptoms, and that, accordingly can produce that symptom, that should be dealt with, applied. Devotee: So Mahārāja, I find, at least in my own case, I have no conception of the goal, and I have no emotional connection. I'm coming from an atheistic background, non believing, and my only connection is my Guru Mahārāja, and with him I have some little bit, although insincere...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you got any aspiration, that is rasa, sukha...

Devotee: Yes. The aspiration is also coming from...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: None can say that I do not want happiness. But what is happiness proper? You are to start from there – what is happiness proper, which is controlling the whole, His position must be superior to all.

Devotee: I have some understanding of that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I'm coming to that, that why the happiness is not to be traced in the objective side, and why it is in the subjective side? I only want to make it clear to you, who is demanded by every atom in the world, happiness, raso vai saḥ. Everyone wants, from atheist to a theist, always, everyone wants maximum happiness. We can't deny that. Now, what will be the position of that happiness? Everyone wants Him so is it an objective thing, or its position is superior than all the seekers? What does your common sense say?

Devotee: It must be superior.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It must be superior.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then if we are person then He's super person.

Devotee: Yes. It is common sense.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Super-person and rasa, if those two things, super-personality and embodiment of rasa, that is reality the beautiful, charm, and it is given by Bhāgavatam. Not force, not power, nor awe, reverence, but beauty controlling the whole. Attraction gives cohesion, shape, among the molecules, atoms, the attraction combines them and gives the colour, the figure, all these, only this fine force of attraction. So also that akāṣṇa, kāṣṇa, that attraction when living, that is love, attraction endowed with life, vitality, living, that is love. And love attracting everything and giving movement of dynamic character. His dancing, līlā, and He's all-attractor, so go towards Him. That is as a scientific calculation we must be nearer the centre of attraction, the centre of beauty and love. That is a scientific thing, not unscientific.

Devotee: Yes. Scientific, it is common sense, there is some understanding, but what is the emotional connection? Emotional connection is not there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Emotional connection we should try to...

Devotee: It is there with the Spiritual Master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Emotion may be misleading. Mostly emotionality is misleading, so we must be careful and guard against the emotionality to enter into the domain. As duty we should try to discharge our services in the colour of duty, and if emotion comes we shall keep it aside.

Devotee: But isn't love emotional?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, love is emotion, but emotion won't be allowed to lose the sense of duty, service.

There is an occasion, the Dārūka once was fanning Kṛṣṇa, and then he considered his fortune – “How fortunate am I that I have got this facility of fanning my Lord.” And some tears came and sentiment came and some sort of paralysis in his hand and the fanning was disturbed, then he's cursing himself. “What is this sentiment that is discouraging my service, stands in the way of my service.” He's cursing his own sentiment.

So sentiment may come, but we won't encourage them, we should discourage that; that we shall mind to the duty, to the service. And automatically those sentiments should be in such way handled they will come under our leg and give a push upwards. The sentiments will give push upwards and they won't be allowed to come and cover and dissuade from our duty and service. In that way they should be used.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

We can find there is a list of the mantram. The mantram we get from the Guru Mahārāja there is a list, gradual process. We may not be immediately fit to reach that goal, but the goal is there, at least distant view we must foster in our mind that we are to go so high, so far. A seed of that I must foster that my line is there, my fate, my fortune, is connected with so high. With that idea we shall go and we shall not try to hurry, go make progress hurriedly and fall and die.

Devotee: So chanting of the mantram has to be beyond...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, with much self control, that I do not understand. It is given to me. That is, when grown up I shall be able to. So many documents, I'm a minor, father gives so many documents, when I shall grow up then I shall look at the documents and find out where is what, something like that. I'm a minor but my father has given me so many things in documents and I must verify according to the document I must discover my property, in that way, I'm now a minor. But I must have some intuitive knowledge within me that in these documents I have got property. When I shall be major I shall have them. That sort of faith must be within us, though minor, must be conscious of my high future only through the documents, something like that. The mantra, the Guru paramparā, we must not be cowed down our self. Gaura Haribol. At the same time we must think that I'm a minor, but still with this hope, the prospect is there, and I may be somewhat conscious of the fact in these documents. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. What about that Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu?

Devotee: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, he's well. He went for bringing some of his goods from Los Angeles, and he's planning to open a new centre.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Independent of ISKCON?

Devotee: Not necessarily, I'm not sure how independent, but he wants to cooperate with me, he's saying, and he wants to start his centre in, near San Francisco. We discussed it, I offered...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: San Francisco is in whose zone?

Devotee: My zone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are President?

Devotee: I am GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ācārya or President?

Devotees: I am – GBC Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: GBC [?]

Devotee: Not all GBC is Ācārya.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No Ācārya? Then if anyone...

Devotee: I am the serving GBC, not Ācārya GBC, a dog.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then if anyone comes to be initiated then who takes that duty, in your zone?

Devotee: We recommend, so many God brothers are there, they are qualified, we recommend someone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! They're vartma-pradarśaka.

Devotee: For example, in Iran I have ten, fifteen men, we're recommending Kīrtanānanda Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You're open, always?

Devotee: Yes. This is easier. Because I'm not qualified it's safer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Devotee: So, it is actually much more comfortable in this way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: Not so much risk.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is risky and with great responsibility.

Devotee: Yes. Of course the service is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.
[Group laughter] But by the order of the master we are to embrace death even in the fight. The order of the General...

Devotee: Yes. But the Generals, there are some qualified God brothers...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Devotee: ... so as long as they are there there's no need...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The both, relative and absolute question always. The relative position and the absolute consideration, both must be combined to give judgement in every incident. Man is but the guinea stamp, rank is but the guinea stamp, man is the goal for that. There may be many kings, many generals, but Napoleon, Hannibal, then Julius Caesar, they have got, but the generals there have been many in number. Rank is but the guinea stamp, kings also there have been many.

Devotee: Mahārāja, on this point, my realisation is that Prabhupāda's creation is a new creation, it's brand new. It was talked about, it was discussed by previous Ācāryas, but he created International Society for Kṛṣṇa Consciousness. And he told us that if we cooperate we will be successful. So to me, more important than carrying on this disciplic succession the next Ācārya-ship, it is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes... told him in that way when they wanted to oust this Hamsadūta, Tamal Kṛṣṇa, then Jayatīrtha, and when they came to me I told it is direct appointment of your Prabhupāda...

Devotee: Yes. Together. Stay.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Don't minimise their position so easily.

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you find any fault, in a friendly line you try to have through your discussion have to come to a peaceful settlement. Otherwise in another day you'll be in the same position.

Devotee: Yes, correct. This has been my position. [Background laughter]
This is not funny.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the faith of the people in ISKCON in general will vanish.

Devotee: That is correct. This is very sad.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And direct appointment is vulnerable, then all may be vulnerable, so the whole faith on the ISKCON will be destroyed.

Devotee: Yes. I never, you may wish to know Mahārāja that I have in GBC I have always been opposed to disposing anyone, to any of this. I stood up against every one of those cases.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Elimination.

Devotee: Elimination. That I see that the most crucial thing is that not so much important that we each become independently qualified but that it is more important to stay together.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: This is Prabhupāda's desire.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. United we stand and divided we fall.

Devotee: Yes. And this unity for this purpose I offered Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja complete, I even told him I will leave this building, you be in charge. You be the spiritual father of this community. We will take all spiritual instruction from you, but stay with us. But he considered and he appreciated that, but he said that there is some independent thinking and therefore he would feel that it is best that he be associated, but not in the same house.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So absolute and relative, taṭasthā and apeksik, these two things very disturbing element. The administration, the body is well and good for the activity, but the body is devoid of the spirit of its purpose, then it will be idolatry.

Devotee: Exactly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The worshipping of the form.

Devotee: Idols.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the spirit should always be given the high importance.

Devotee: Preference, exactly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We must be able to stand up to mark with the spirit.

Devotee: Spirit, meaning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise it has got no meaning, that may be anti meaning.

Devotee: Exactly. This is my position in San Francisco also. This is how I started and why I started that programme because I said always emphasis has been on form, no meaning, no content, no spirit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here once when Gandhi was challenged by the C.R. Das [?], Motilal the father of Jawaharlal [Nehru], they captured the Congress, Gandhi withdrawn silently. “You were my friends the other day helping so much in my programme. Now when you have lost your faith in my programme I retire from the Constitution, that National Congress. You occupy it and you through the Constitution you work in your own way.” And he withdrew.

So much so that he even gave up to be a member of Four Annas. Anyone paying four annas he may be recognised as a member of the National Congress. But he withdrew from that position also, that four anna paying membership. “That is my inner voice. I see it clearly that your programme is sure to meet failure, so I don’t like to be a party to that.” The whole Congress he left.

Then after few years hither thither moving, in Lucknow Congress again they met to take out Gandhi back otherwise it is lifeless. Then in Lucknow Congress they again invited the Gandhiji: “A living programme you will have to give to the Congress otherwise we are all tired, we are tired with our programme.”

Then it was left to Gandhiji. Gandhiji he took the responsibility and he told: once Rabindranath met Gandhi: “What do you do now, now the whole Congress has given the burden on you?”

“I’m thinking furiously.” Gandhi told.

Rabindranath very little slightly he remarked this that, “I asked him what you are doing, the burden, the responsibility of the whole National Congress on you now?” ‘I’m thinking furiously,’ with a little ridiculous way Rabindranath put it.

But I knew somewhat Gandhi. I thought that, really he’s thinking furiously because he’s going to take a furious one, taking so many lives to risk to accept voluntary death, so it cannot but be furious, in spite of such remark from Rabindranath.

Then Gandhi came and he began, the result of his furious thinking came the salt disobedience, then within no time he only with seventy members from his own āśrama he started towards some sea shore, Gandhi, where to prepare salt without giving tax. Before that he put a petition to the then Viceroy, perhaps Lord Irwin: “Please take off the salt law. The poor men’s salt if you tax there they are also disturbed. So please withdraw your salt tax law.”

But Irwin did not give much importance to that.

Then he began that salt law breaking, civil disobedience. First he started with chatting and very lightly talking in this way. Then he began the war. So many lives he began to sacrifice. The ten circles [?] He told at that time that, “I’m going very easily and simply to start, but very soon a time is coming when the whole India will be shaking with the waves of this power which cannot be detected now.”

That we saw. At that time I’m here, Gauḍīya Maṭha. In first movement I was with him, and the second movement I already came to Gauḍīya Maṭha and I had to fight with the Congressmen at that time. “You are fighting for extended selfishness. Selfishness of a person, even worship to the family members, then it’s extended to the family, then to the village, to the province, to the country. But in the relation of infinite it is extended selfishness. Better fight – fighting with country and country, but in consideration with the infinite it is a point, extended selfishness. And fighting this you are fighting for the freedom of the senses, not fighting from the senses – freedom for the senses or freedom from the senses. Internal fight should be begun, the freedom from the senses, that should be our aim, and you are fighting for the senses, to give fodder to the senses more, depriving others.”

Devotee: So the life of ISKCON, the spirit of ISKCON, is Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Inner voice, what I told by Gandhi’s example.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is inner voice.

Devotee: Yes. Inner voice standard...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the committee, the Indian Congress and one man differed for his inner voice. So inner voice that is something...

Devotee: The inner voice is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is antaryāmī, mahanta Guru or caitya Guru, caitya Guru, inner voice, but that is very difficult to detect and to feel, to trace, it is difficult, what is what.

Devotee: But Prabhupāda has given us instructions. His instructions are our standards.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In America also that Abraham declared, “Government of the people, government for the people, and by the people.” We differ that ‘by the people.’ Of the people, for the people, but not by the people – by someone greater, so the committee, it is administration for the people, and of the people, but not by the people. The committee must have a source of inspiration from higher level.

There is a common saying, “The voice of the people is the voice of God. Vox populi is vox dei.” But we don’t admit that, not always. So the voice of the committee may not always be the voice of God, or Guru. So the superior stalwarts there must be to guide the committee. The committee should follow these maxims: how far we’ve been able to catch the very purpose of the advice of Guru Mahārāja?

The lower section we shall take, as Newton told, “I’m only collecting a pebble in the shore near the ocean of knowledge.” But the lower section than Newton has reached the high position, so always holding relative position. Aspiration must be for the higher, and we must try to give help according to our capacity to the lower, jīva-doya, as much as I know.

Ṛṣi ṛṇī, pitṛi ṛṇī, we are born with five debts, loans, from the father, mother, then from the society, even from the environment, the vegetables, the cows, etc., and Ṛṣi ṛṇī, the previous scholars, they have given their research, given many things, we are taking the advantage of that, electric fan, light, heat, all these things, research scholars, we're indebted to them, Ṛṣi ṛṇī. So

Devotee: So these five debts are there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, progress is possible, we shall always be looking after for new researchers, new ṛṣis, so we shall try to help them, though are of lower order, at the same time we try to become real disciple of the higher entities and to indent more, then that will be living organic whole. The father is the son not only inherit his father but he will try his best to develop the estate left by his father...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...only accept from his disciple and his son, Parajan, the son may defeat me.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The disciple may defeat me, so we shall try to enhance the property left to us by our father.

Atreya Ṛṣi: That is only possible...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... and not allow ourselves to go down, in this way...

Atreya Ṛṣi: This is only possible if we ISKCON devotees can say that our God brother can also defeat me. That is also all right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ISKCON, you will try to be sincere. There is possibility, there is possibility also that the power makes us mad.

Atreya Ṛṣi: That is correct. That's possible. It's an exception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We should save ourselves from that. Sometimes our friends they will come and remind one another. Anyhow it must be a living body not dying. Living, growing body.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes, exactly. And even if some parts of the body are dying we must go on with the living body, and correct.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, and to invite vitality whenever it gets, of course in the right line. Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. Exactly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eliminating all: anyābhilāṣitā-sūnyam, the books, the documents are there.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. Instructions are there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The books, the Swāmī Mahārājaji's documents, the Bhāgavatam, the documents are there and reading the documents we shall recover the properties unknown to me.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. Exactly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this way the śāstra is there, the Gurus are there, they are not envious to us, all liberal.

Atreya Ṛṣi: You're here also, you're giving us good advice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We must have to have closer connection with them, and to keep up the vitality of the machinery. There we can take the advantage of the machinery. But at the same time to keep up the vitality of the machinery we shall be always alert to keeping with the living connection with the living thing.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: There is another consideration, I was just thinking, that is to look at it from Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's point of view also, that he's starting something new. Now ISKCON leaders should accept him or what he's doing...

Atreya Ṛṣi: Of course, of course.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Like then only they'll be able to cooperate...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They should be open for that.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. They are open. I mean they may not be, but I'm open.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They should be open otherwise they will be rotten. If they are apathetic towards that, that new light, new light, ever new light, that connection, then it is sure that they will have to go down, the committee. So the, in the trade also, this indent and...

Atreya Ṛṣi: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Export and import.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Export and import.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes, give and take, exactly, balanced.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is dynamic, export and import must be careful of both the sides, exporting and importing.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes, give and take.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise bankrupt.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. Definitely. His intentions are very good. He's very sincere, he's very sincere.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That way Atreya Ṛṣi Prabhu is very broad minded. He always gives...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And also very cautious and very affectionate.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But he's very outspoken also. He's not very popular among the GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Impartial. Impartial and unprejudiced, one who can conquer his prejudice he can stand in the line of...

Atreya Ṛṣi: I'm only prejudiced for sense gratification.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And to detect that, the eye is with you. Ha, ha, ha. That is your wealth: that is your wealth that you have got the eye.

Atreya Ṛṣi: That's your mercy, and my Guru Mahārāja's mercy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You're given the eye to see. That is the most important, what is good and bad, and then to accept and reject. First the eye is necessary. Nitāi. Eye, then there is justice: above there is mercy. In the plane of mercy, justice is the standard, but above that...

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. That is what is lacking Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is mercy, land of mercy, compassion, grace.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes, compassion. How to get that Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To aspire after śraddhā, faith, faith aspiration, earnestness, then the negative, to increase the quality of our negativity, that we are so mean: the positive will be automatically attracted. Try to increase the power of your position as a negative one, tṛṇād api sunīcena, dainyam, ātma-nivedanam, surrender, hankering, that is our wealth. We are śakti, potency means negative side, increase your negative side and the positive will automatically be attracted towards you.

Atreya Ṛṣi: I had, I was in Purī for two nights I dreamed of the same concept. By Lord Jagannātha's mercy I was dreaming that I was surrendering...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu inundated the place with tendency and emotion divine.

Atreya Ṛṣi: It was wonderful, but when I am awake I am a rascal. I am not surrendered. In my sleep, a little bit...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have been allowed to see your future, your future plane of activity.

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes I hope that it is true. I hope it is true.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes, that is the land of mercy.

Atreya Ṛṣi: I was crying.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. So you are fortunate, you are fortunate. In previous life you have done enough. As a result of that you are in such a position. Wherever we are born in whatever nationality, that is external stages of civilization. But independent of this outer civilization there is another plane within us and outside, and that is of that characteristic, most fundamental, spacious. Kola kasta [?] Kola [?] means the developed thing and the kasta means background. In the background there are so many pictures and so many models may be constructed, but the kasta, the background, the extreme walls, the plenary thing which accommodates so many kola of developed substance on that background, on that plane, the plenary position is acquaintance, nature, we are to imbibe. We have to look for the plane of highest good, beauty. All developed in two sides, in the way of misunderstanding and the way of proper understanding. Yogamāyā, centre carrying, carrying towards the centre, carrying away from the centre, two ways and two sorts of development. This māyik development, this is said to be the perverted reflection of the original. By tracing in the shadow we can have some knowledge of the original, by analysing the shadow, the shape and other things. We can have some idea of the original. So the rasa, rasa vibhag, differentiation in the existence of rasa. That has been detected in that way as it is given to us by the scriptural authorities.

Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa’s rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

[“There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord’s loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places.”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

How the development is to be traced in the spiritual side, in the divinity. This has been given by direct inspiration of Mahāprabhu by Rūpa Goswāmī, karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas. Among millions of knowers of Vedānta, one who is a devotee of Viṣṇu is best. And among thousands of devotees of Viṣṇu, one who is an unalloyed Vaiṣṇava is best."] [Garuḍa-Purāṇa] & [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 10.117] & [Bhakti- Sandarbha, 117]

In Garuḍa-Purāṇa - how to trace the development in the right way: way of truthfulness. Life means adjustment, readjustment, life means, can't stop still, life does allow us to be stand still. Progressing, and that sort of temperament must be kept, must be created if it is possible. That I shall make progress, progress, I shall increase the property of my paternal inheritance. That should be our attitude.

It was simply impossible for me to go on with my life. Yadi gaura nā hoita, kemone hoita, the whole thing seems to be like a...

The quality of culture should be considered. That is the important thing, culture.

Gandhi told, “That Jawaharlal [Pandit Nehru] by birth Hindu, and by culture he’s British, and by creed he was a Mohammedan.” Gandhi.

But Swāmī Mahārāja told that, “We have heard, that by birth he may not be a Hindu.”

In close connection with this Motilal family, and another Kashmeeri, Muslim family. A very close friend, very intimate. One gentleman who was the editor of the paper named Independent.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kesi Damona, yesterday he came also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! With another gentleman?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. He’s staying in Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He’s there, and you have come alone. Gaura Hari. He comes from?

Devotee: London.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is expected there?

Devotee: Yes, he is coming about eleven thirty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Along with, his own disciples?

Devotee: Just one servant.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And no news of that gentleman, Haṁsadūta?

Devotee: I saw him in Delhi, about three days ago, he was leaving India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I had told him go to visit Laṅkā, Śrī Laṅkā.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. What was your point yesterday?

Devotee: I was trying to understand...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: I have another question, a philosophical question. The jīva in māyā, in the material energy before he meets a sādhu, before he meets a sādhu, when he gets the human form, does he have free will in how he engages in māyā or is he completely dominated? And what is the relationship between his destiny and the actions he performs, how much he can choose or is he just completely driven...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: How much independence does the jīva have, to serve māyā or to serve Kṛṣṇa?

Devotee: No [?] Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: You have to make the question a little clearer.

Devotee: He wants to know, before the jīva meets the sādhu, before he's in the material energy, how much free will does he have, how much choice does he have?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Before he meets the sādhu when wandering through the different positions when he meets the sādhu that depends on the sukṛti, ajñāta and jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā. And according to the quality and quantity of the śraddhā then he will be able to cooperate with the sādhu.

Devotee: But before he meets the sādhu, in the human body how much free will does he have, is he completely dominated by māyā, or can he choose what form of sinful activities...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Free will at that time is secondary, it is there, but the sukṛti, śraddhā that has taken the primary position, it guides it. Before that māyā was principle thing and free will suppressed, and now we have accommodated śraddhā, then free will is predominated by that śraddhā, free will follows śraddhā.

Devotee: How can a person engage in, or accumulate sukṛti if he has no knowledge of these matters?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is passive, independent of him, some sādhu by his free will he takes, utilises some of his energy without his consciousness, ajñāta-sukṛti. And then that develops to a stage, then he feels some inner tendency to do, to help something, sādhu, without knowing what benefit he may get or not, subconscious region, intuitively. Then when śraddhā comes on the surface then he finds himself tempted, why he should meet sādhu. Then comes and talks with the sādhu, and thereby the comparative study of good and bad, all these things expressed in consciousness, in the conscious area.

Devotee: So ultimately it is dependent on Kṛṣṇa. It's ultimately dependent on Kṛṣṇa to send the sādhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not always, the sādhu, the nature of sukṛti, the sukṛti, the śraddhā created by sukṛti that will help him to select sādhu. The red robe does not mean a sādhu. The sādhu according to his faith, śraddhā means faith. Birds of the same feather flock together, so sādhu-saṅga. Who is sādhu? He eliminates other sādhus and selects Kṛṣṇa bhakta as sādhu. The śraddhā lies in sukṛti, the type of faith, the quality of faith. It may be of different types, but real faith, real śraddhā, that will guide. So sādhu, some Brahman darśana, some Paramātmā darśana, some Bhāgavat darśana, some Kṛṣṇa darśana, differentiate. The nature of sukṛti that should be the primary cause: the quality. The sukṛti that he got came from a Kṛṣṇa bhakta, or a Nārāyaṇa bhakta, or a Māyāvādī sādhu, it will depend on it. So, on the whole it is:

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva [guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja]

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

That is in the infinite, not in finite calculation.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

So Mahāprabhu laid stress in jñāna-sunya-bhakti. If we approach this side, no end, analysis, analysis, analysis - atom, electron, proton, neutron, we'll go on. And bigger also, the ether, then something else, something else, that is all, no end. Aṇor aṇīyān mahato mahīyān [The Paramātmā aspect and the Brahman aspect, Kaṭha Upaniṣad, 1.2.20] So middle point, middle side, Bhagavān madhyama akar, in the centre. So don't try to find Him in the last extremity, nor in the nearness, but in the middle sphere, to try to find Him where you are, and similar to you.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101)

Your necessity will be removed, satisfied by Him. Not by the circumference, and nor by the smallest part of the material conception. But only by surrender you can connect with Him. And in what way He will, He best treating to you, He will decide, let Him to decide. Hare Kṛṣṇa, no prayer, only address, Hare Kṛṣṇa. ‘I want you.’ No petition of any colour. ‘You decide what will suit me, You consider. Only I want You. I’m in danger. I want Your protection. How to do? That is decided by You. It is not my decision.’ There we get most from His consideration. So only to try to increase, if possible, the degree of surrender, that is what is necessary really in us: surrender, ātma-nikṣepaḥ. The śaraṇāgati has been analysed in six ways.

ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptr̥tve varaṇaṁ tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, [ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatiḥ evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]

[“The six limbs of surrender are as follows: 1-To accept everything favourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 2-To reject everything unfavourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 3-To be confident that Kṛṣṇa will grant His protection. 4-To embrace Kṛṣṇa’s guardianship. 5-To offer oneself unto Him. 6-To consider oneself lowly and bereft.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100]

Śrī Jīva Goswāmī says that goptr̥tve varaṇaṁ, that is the central, centre of śaraṇāgati, goptr̥tve varaṇaṁ, to call Him, to give protection, ‘protect me,’ prayer for protection, goptr̥tve. Gopta [?] means rakta tattva palankatva [?]. ‘Take my charge.’ There is the gist of śaraṇāgati. ‘Please take my charge. I’m unable. I’m unfit. I’m undone. Please take my charge.’ That is the very life of śaraṇāgati, according to Jīva Gosvami. That is the centre, and what is favourable to accept that, what is opposite to reject that. And trying to caste one’s own self at His feet. ‘I’m the meanest of the mean. I’m the most helpless. So I want your shelter. You please take charge. I’m unfit to take the responsibility for my own good management.’ So the central attempt should be of that type. ‘I can’t tolerate any longer any independent life, my Lord. I’m disgusted to go on with a life independent. I can’t, that is, I want slavery.’

Jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

‘I want to be Your slave. Others may be, but I do not think myself to be developed enough to take my own charge, my own responsibility. I’m so reckless, so mean, so worthless, so useless, so useless, so please accept me. Any service of Your feet, anyhow give me shelter. I don't rely on me. I have come to take shelter under Your holy feet. You are my guardian.'

That is śaraṇāgati. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Goptr̥tve varaṇam, to accept Him as guardian, absolute guardian, goptr̥tve varaṇam. It is difficult for the finite to stand with head erect. In the clash that is going on between the so many souls, the competition. Everywhere there is competition, so it is really the most intelligent way to have the Supreme Power as guardian.

'I can't stand this competition in this world. So I want really to have a guardian, a protector. I want protection. I'm disgusted with this continuous battle, fighting with the environment. I don't find any rest, always in competition.' Sa-tulyātiśaya-dhvaṁsam, yathā maṇḍala-vartinām.

["One cannot find perfect happiness even on the heavenly planets, which one can attain in the next life by ritualistic ceremonies and sacrifices. Even in material heaven the living entity is disturbed by rivalry with his equals and envy of those superior to him. And since one's residence in heaven is finished with the exhaustion of pious fruitive activities, the denizens of heaven are afflicted by fear, anticipating the destruction of their heavenly life. Thus they resemble kings who, though enviously admired by ordinary citizens, are constantly harassed by enemy kings and who therefore never attain actual happiness."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.20]

Thus they constantly make material endeavours to eliminate their unhappiness and unlimitedly increase their pleasure. But one should see that they inevitably achieve the opposite result. In other words, their happiness inevitably vanishes, and as they grow older their material discomfort increases.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.18]

The soul, jīva soul, to kill the misery and to achieve happiness, pleasure. But first he begins with karma. Karmāṇy ārabhamāṇānām, duḥkha-hatyai sukhāya ca, duḥkha-hatyai, to kill misery, to do away with the misery and to get pleasure. For this purpose he takes up the way of karma, trying to elevate one’s own self to acquire some energy. And to consume something, and to distribute to the friends, and to deceive the enemies, in this way he wants to achieve some sort of pleasure in life.

[nityārtidena vittena, durlabhenātma-mṛtyunā] grhāpatyāpta-paśubhiḥ, kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś calaiḥ

[“Wealth is a perpetual source of distress, it is most difficult to acquire, and it is virtual death for the soul. What satisfaction does one actually gain from his wealth? Similarly, how can one gain ultimate or permanent happiness from one’s so-called home, children, relatives and domestic animals, which are all maintained by one’s hard-earned money?”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.19]

When he begins a married life to make himself happy, but gradually comes to face the adverse circumstance, grhāpatyāpta-paśubhiḥ, kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś calaiḥ. Then after accepting a wife he finds that a permanent quarter is necessary, what was already unnecessary, he could take rest in any place. But after entering into the conjugal life a fixed house is necessary, a home is necessary, grhā. Then āpatyā, next the issue [children] come, appears āpatyā. Paśubhiḥ, then either the cow, or horse, or dog, something, some help from the animals also necessary. Grhāpatyāpta-paśubhiḥ, kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś. Then he becomes to face the stern reality, one by one vanishing, to repair the building, then for the upkeep of the family some doctors, medicines, food, etc. And the cows or horses they are also dying, and to fill up the gap. In this way more and more energy and instead of pleasure, the labour, misery, that is capturing the major position. Grhāpatyāpta-paśubhiḥ, kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś. And then after all everything is vanishing, changing, so we cannot rely for ever for our happiness, for pleasure, on any mortal thing: that becomes the conclusion. I am taking by one hand, another hand is passing away, he’s always in the want. So in the company of mortal wealth, elements, we can’t find real happiness, happiness proper. This conclusion he comes to, kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś calaiḥ. Grhāpatyāpta-paśubhiḥ, kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś.

Evam lokam param vidyān, naśvaram karma-nirmitam. In this way he comes to calculate, that not only this life but in after life in heaven also we are told that Indra after his term is over but he had to come down.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

So by giving some gift I get it untroubled in my afterlife in a higher plane, but that is also finished, that has got also a finishing, end, so: kā prītiḥ sādhitaiś calaiḥ, and evam lokam param, this life and the afterlife in the relativity of the mortality. Param vidyān, naśvaram karma- nirmitam, and karma-nirmitam lokam, which is earned by material energy, the pleasure that we shall try to earn by exercising many here in the material energy, is kayshna, is always diminishing, changing, going, naśvaram karma.

Sa-tulyātiśaya-dhvaṁsaṁ, there is another trouble there, sa-tulyātiśaya-dhvaṁsaṁ. A life when living in this way, we're in the midst of these troubling circles, different circles of life, sa-tulyu. Generally we are in competition with the same class. I am merchant, I have got competition with another merchant of a similar nature. I am a student, I have competition with another student. In this wherever I shall go I have to face this field of competition. Combination, sa-tulyu, atiśaya, dhvaṁsaṁ. Sa-tulyātiśaya-dhvaṁsaṁ, yathā maṇḍala-vartinām. There is competition amongst the co-workers. Sa-tulyātiśaya-dhvaṁsaṁ, yathā maṇḍala-vartinām.

That is, I missed the link. Anyhow, the meaning goes this way: I want to cross him. I cannot be pleased if I can't defeat my equals. And I had...

Ah! In a circle of my life, of elevationists, we find three classes, some equals, some superiors, holding superior position, and some of lower position. So, who are holding the equal position, they fight them, and the jealousy for the upper. And when I improve my condition, again, I have got thousand rupees income and my competition with the persons of that income, I want to cross them. When I just cross them and go up, then the ten thousand income, they come within my competition, and wherever I go I find I am always in the circle of competition, wherever I go. There I find there is equalled positioned men, and always in that competition. In this way, always living in the life of competition, then finally I have to go, disappointed. Yathā maṇḍala-vartinām. And always we find ourselves in the, in a circle, maṇḍala-varti and always some lower, some equal, and some higher. So always in competition we find ourselves and ultimately everything vanishes. Yathā maṇḍala-vartinām, up to Brahmā, this amangala, this death, death extends its jurisdiction up to Brahmā. Sa-tulyātiśaya-dhvaṁsaṁ, yathā maṇḍala-vartinām.

durlabho mānuṣo deho, dehinām kṣaṇa-bhaṅguraḥ tatrāpi durlabhaṁ manye, vaikunṭha-priya-darśanam

[“For the conditioned souls, the human body is most difficult to achieve, and it can be lost at any moment. But I think that even those who have achieved human life rarely gain the association of pure devotees, who are very dear to the Lord of Vaikuṇṭha.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.29]

A little after: then anyhow he comes across a sādhu then his life proper begins in this way. Durlabho mānuṣo deho, dehinām kṣaṇa-bhaṅguraḥ. He comes to realize that this human life is very, very rarely found. Dehinām kṣaṇa-bhaṅguraḥ. But it is very brittle, any moment it may be dropped down, and we may be deceived of this position. We can’t say for certain that I shall live so long, clearly can’t say. Dehinām kṣaṇa-bhaṅguraḥ, tatrāpi durlabhaṁ manye, vaikunṭha-priya-darśanam.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...precious and more rare, our connection with the sādhu, vaikunṭha priya rasa. Those that are favourite to Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa, to find their company, that is also very, very rare in our life. So whenever it occurs in any auspicious moment we shall try to take benefit of that.

When Nimi Mahārāja arranged for a broad type of yajña[?] Suddenly the Nava Yogendra, nine Yogendra, the masters of yogīs appeared in that yajña sthal, in that area. And Nimi Mahārāja, disconnecting him with yajña that was going on there, without offering any seat for them began the enquiry. And the introduction is this way.

“You have come. You may go away. Any moment you may go. Immediately you may disappear. You have appeared, by my fortune, and to my misfortune you may disappear this moment.”

So without losing a single second he began his enquiry, Nimi Mahārāja, to the Nava Yogendra. One by one he put nine questions, and each one of them answered his question. Kavi, Havir, Antarīkṣa, Prabuddha, Pippalāyana, Āvirhotra, Drumila, Camasa and Karabhājana, the nine, they're sons of Ṛṣabhadeva, born yogīs, Nava Yogendra. In the sayings of Karabhājana we find about Yuga-Avatāra, reference about Yuga-Avatāra, and about Kṛṣṇa and Mahāprabhu also, this Karabhājana: in Dvāpara-yuga the Yuga-Avatāra.

kṛta śuklaś catur-bāhu [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.21] [In Satya-yuga the Lord is white and four-armed] tretāyām rakta-varṇo 'sau [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.24] [In Tretā-yuga the Lord appears with a red complexion]

dvāpare bhagavāñ śyāmaḥ pīta-vāsā nijāyudhaḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.27]

[In Dvāpara-yuga the Supreme Personality of Godhead appears with a dark blue complexion, wearing yellow garments]

In this way after the description he comes to Kali and says:

iti dvāpara urv-īśa, stuvanti jagad-īśvaram / nānā-tantra-vidhānena, kalāv api tathā śṛṇu

[“O King, up to Dvāpara-yuga, I have finished describing the incarnations for different ages who come to remind the people of the most appropriate duty for their age. They come to tell us, ‘If you do this, you will get the greatest benefit.’ O king, after the Dvāpara age is finished, the age of Kali comes. The incarnation for the age of Kali has been mentioned in many places in the scriptures, and now I am just going to explain that information to you.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.31]

“O king, up Dvāpara-yuga I have finished mentioning about the Yuga-Avatāra. They come to remind the people that this is the most appropriate duty for the least span of time, yuga, you do this, you do and you’ll get more benefit. So iti dvāpara urv-īśa, O king, up to Dvāpara I have finished. Now, nānā-tantra-vidhānena, kalāv api tathā śṛṇu, by many Tantra, Purāṇa it has been mentioned about the Yuga-Avatāra of Kali, and I’m just going to forward to you that.”

kr̥ṣṇa-varṇam tviṣā ‘kr̥ṣṇam sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ

[“In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the Names of Kṛṣṇa. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Kṛṣṇa Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.32] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 3.52]

“Very shortly and in suppressed expression: only this śloka.” kr̥ṣṇa-varṇam tviṣā ‘kr̥ṣṇam sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ

“The ordinary meaning kr̥ṣṇa-varṇam, of black colour, tviṣā ‘kr̥ṣṇam, but by lustre He’s not black, tviṣā ‘kr̥ṣṇam. Sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam, and with Him similar companion will come also. Yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair, and He is mainly worshipped by the process of saṅkīrtana. Saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ, and very sharp intellect, the sumedhasaḥ, the persons of good intellect, proper intellect, they will perform this, not ordinary.”

That was his, it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam. Jīva Goswāmī gives the explanation: kṛṣṇa-varṇam, His colour is really blue or black. Tviṣā ‘kṛṣṇam, the parallel passage also Jīva Goswāmī, parallel śloka here composed, kṛṣṇa-varṇam tviṣā ‘kṛṣṇam sāṅgopāṅgāstra, Jīva Goswāmī says:

antaḥ kṛṣṇam bahir gauram, darśitāṅgādi-vaibhavam kalau saṅkīrtanādyai sma, kṛṣṇa-caitanyam āśritāḥ

[“I take shelter of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is outwardly of a golden complexion, but is inwardly Kṛṣṇa Himself. In this age of Kali, He displays His expansions while performing congregational chanting of the Holy Names of Kṛṣṇa. That He is blackish within means that internally He is Kṛṣṇa; that He is golden without means that He has accepted the mood of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. In the age of Kali, that Golden Lord is seen accompanied by His expansions, associates, and intimate devotees performing saṅkīrtana.”] [Tattva-Sandarbha, 2] & [Krama-Sandarbha]

This is parallel śloka composed by Jīva Goswāmī. Antaḥ kṛṣṇam bahir gauram – kṛṣṇa-varṇam tviṣā ‘kṛṣṇam. Generally His colour is black, and tviṣā kanta, Kṛṣṇa: that is lustre also black, generally. Then how it is possible? Then tviṣā ‘akṛṣṇam, the sandhi is there. His colour is kṛṣṇa but His colour, the lustre is akṛṣṇa, not kṛṣṇa, not black. Then not black does not mean pita, gaura; that is golden. Then, where do you get that akṛṣṇa? You may say the kṛṣṇa-varṇam, colour is kṛṣṇa, and also the lustre, the halo is kṛṣṇa, this is redundant. So you say the lustre is akṛṣṇa. Akṛṣṇa means non black, but non black does not mean yellow. Where do you get this yellow?

[āsan varṇās trayo hy asya, gr̥hṇato 'nuyugam tanūḥ]

śuklo raktas tathā pīta, idānīm kṛṣṇatām gataḥ

["In past incarnations, this boy has appeared with different complexions: white, red, and gold, according to the particular age in which He appeared. Now He has assumed this blackish colour."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.8.13] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.331]

We find when Garga Ṛṣi came to Vṛndāvana, Vasudeva sent him for the particular function of Nāma-karaṇa [Name-giving ceremony] of Kṛṣṇa. Then Garga came to the house of Nanda, and proposed, "Vasudeva has sent me. Your child is grown up and now some particular function to be made. And the Nāma-karaṇa will bear the same, śuklo raktas, you don't take Him as an ordinary child. He's a child of peculiar acquaintance, śuklo raktas tathā pīta, idānīm kṛṣṇatām gataḥ. He comes as white in Satya-yuga, red in Tretā-yuga, and also He comes in yellow. Now He has come as black."

So the pīta [yellow colour] is here, left for Kali-yuga. Do you follow? Śuklo raktas tathā pīta, idānīm kṛṣṇatām gataḥ. But in other ages there's white, red, and yellow, and now in Dvāpara He has become black. So pīta comes to Kali. And there is another also in rukma varṇam, in Upaniṣad:

yadā paśya paśyate rukma-varṇam, kartāram īśam puruṣam brahma-yonim tada vidyan punya-pape vidhuya, niranjanah paramam samyam upaiti

[“When one realizes the golden form of Lord Gaurāṅga, Who is the ultimate actor and the source of the Supreme Brahman, he attains the highest knowledge. He transcends both pious and impious activities, becomes free from worldly bondage, and enters the divine abode of the Lord.”]

[Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 3.3]

Rukma varṇam means yellow, and here also the pīta comes to akṛṣṇa, non black means yellow. So antaḥ kṛṣṇam bahir gauram, the black colour is emitting out, as if, through the yellow lustre, antaḥ kṛṣṇam bahir gauram.

In other words, the fact is that Kṛṣṇa wanted to come as incarnation of Kali – this Kali-yuga, and to fulfil His promise in Vṛndāvana that, “I shall chant the glory of the gopīs, and especially of Rādhārāṇī. I shall take, chant Her Name, Her glory, and roll on the earth, on the dust of the earth.”

But Rādhārāṇī told: “I won’t allow Your body to roll on the earth, on the dust of the earth. I shall cover You. I shall cover You.”

So: antaḥ kṛṣṇam bahir gauram, bhāva, kānti, so both mood, as well as lustre, the colour of Rādhārāṇī captured Kṛṣṇa when He came here in Kali. Not in all Kali but on special Kali, the twenty eighth day of Brahmā. In all the days of Brahmā, every yuga, every Yuga-Avatāra comes, but only on the twenty eighth day of Brahmā – astavim satachu yuge [?] Svayaṁ-Bhagavān in Vṛndāvana, and Svayaṁ-Bhagavān in Navadvīpa, these are both Yuga-Avatāra, absorbed there. So antaḥ kṛṣṇam, kṛṣṇa-varṇam tviṣā, ‘akṛṣṇam means... antaḥ kṛṣṇam bahir gauram, darśitāṅgādi-vaibhavam. He does not come alone. He comes with His paraphernalia, suitable companions, to do His duty. And this Kali, double function. First to preach the Nāma-saṅkīrtana, and most important, the second is the special of this age is rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalita, to, Kṛṣṇa posing Himself in the mood of Rādhārāṇī wants to taste His own rasa. He's raso vai saḥ.

"I am rasa Himself, but how, and what intensity of finest rasa in Me I like to taste only devotees can taste."

So He took the posing of Rādhārāṇī to taste Himself, His own self as Kṛṣṇa, the central and final perfection, abode of rasa. Only Rādhārāṇī can taste that rasa maximum, and He had to take that nature, that mood, that temperament, to taste His own intrinsic ecstasy. So for that He came down. And the first duty to spread Nāma-saṅkīrtana and the secondary internal private duty was to – bhajana vibhajana prayojana avatārī, to taste His own intrinsic ecstasy in the mood of Rādhārāṇī.

So in Purī, with Rāya Rāmānanda, Svarūpa, and others similar, that great union in separation. The ocean of separation, union in separation, that sort of life continuously twelve years, the last twelve years He past His time only in the process of tasting.

Sāṅgopāṅgāstra-pārṣadam, yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ. And that incarnation is generally worshipped by saṅkīrtana. Without saṅkīrtana Gaurāṅga and His paraphernalia cannot be worshipped. He's satisfied with the type of worship mainly where His saṅkīrtana. He's propounder of saṅkīrtana. He loves saṅkīrtana, and He gets satisfaction only by saṅkīrtana, Nāma-saṅkīrtana, yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ.

And only the sukr̥ti-van, not all, the common mob cannot join this campaign. The sukr̥ti-van, who has good guidance internally, good fortune, fortunate persons that can catch the very gist of truth, that what should be the highest ideal, the criterion of the ideal. That is love, that is the supreme thing, the most rare as well as the most precious thing is love, and nothing else, bhāgavata-prema, love, beauty, charm. This is the highest thing ever known to the world, and those that can catch this they are really sumedhasaḥ, good intellect: well intellect. Otherwise rubbish brain can't detect what is right, what is wrong, or how much it is precious, more precious, than what, they cannot understand, can't follow. Sumedhasaḥ, their intellect is good, who can detect, by the end, by the plan, by the object of a man, he should be judged from his aspiration, or how valuable a thing, his ideal. Man is, should be judged by his ideal. If ideal is great the man is great. The ideal – one who possesses the highest ideal, he should be considered to be the man of higher order. So sumedhasaḥ, they can only understand, and they generally practice this sort:

Kalau nama matye bhagavan idyate hari [?] They take to this path, this process, of satisfying the supreme Nāma-yajña. In Bhāgavatam this is mentioned, in Mahābhārata also and different places. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So Karabhājana Ṛṣi, the last of the Nava-Yogendra, he gave us the clue about the Yuga-Avatāra and that of Mahāprabhu, the Yuga-Avatāra of this Kali-yuga, and in a very mystic way. Why not very plainly? It must come to our mind. So many Avatāra's are clearly described, and here, when he came to say about Caitanyadeva, Yuga-Avatāra of Kali, in a mystic form he cast it. What's the matter? It is found in Prahlāda's sayings, channaḥ kalau yad abhavas tri-yugo 'tha sa tvam.

[itthaṁ nṛ-tiryag-ṛṣi-deva-jhaṣāvatārair, lokān vibhāvayasi haṁsi jagat pratīpān dharmam mahā-puruṣa pāsi yugānuvṛttaṁ, channaḥ kalau yad abhavas

tri-yugo 'tha sa tvam]

[“In this way, my Lord, You appear in various incarnations as a human being, an animal, a great saint, a demigod, a fish or a tortoise, thus maintaining the entire creation in different planetary systems and killing the demoniac principles. According to the age, O my Lord, You protect the principles of religion. In the Age of Kali, however, You do not assert Yourself as the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and therefore You are known as Triyuga, or the Lord who appears in three yugas.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.9.38]

“O Lord, one of Your Names is Triyuga. Triyuga means one who incarnates in three of the yugas - Satya, Treta, and Dvāpara - and not in Kali. And why? Channaḥ - because the incarnation in Kali is in disguise.”

There we find the key to this mystic way of representing Mahāprabhu to the sumedhasaḥ, that particular circle, so that ordinary people may not have any clue, sumedhasaḥ. So channaḥ kalau, it is the...

Sārvabhauma put this question to Gopīnātha Ācārya, before he met Mahāprabhu, er, after meeting Mahāprabhu, then Gopīnātha Ācārya, his brother-in-law, he was residing in Navadvīpa and he was in favour of Mahāprabhu – both of them had a talk about Mahāprabhu Caitanyadeva.

Then Sārvabhauma began to praise Mahāprabhu in his own line as a beautiful man, and big scholar also. “I have got much attraction for Him, but the one thing I can’t find very judicious in Him that in young age He has taken sannyāsa. Long life left, how will He be able to keep up the dignity of the life of a young sannyāsī? I like Him, but I can’t sit idle. I must help Him. I like that boy very much. I shall have to help Him as a guardian, so that He may not lose His prestige by giving up sannyāsa, attracted by the fascination of the worldly pleasures.”

Gopīnātha could not tolerate all these guardian-like advises. “What do you think about Him? He’s a young man, very beautiful, very charming, and very scholarly, and so He has attracted your attention and you want to become His guardian to keep up the purity of His life, and you’ll have to help Him. What do you mean saying all these things? Don’t you know that He’s really the Āvatāra of Kali-yuga. He inaugurated saṅkīrtana in Navadvīpa, and it is found in the śāstra.”

[Sārvabhauma replied:] “No, no. You have not come to an ordinary person, that you will say and I will take. This is a hard nut to crack. What do you say? No Kali-yuga Āvatāra. It is in one of the Names that Viṣṇu is Triyuga, in Viṣṇu-sahasra-nāma, in Mahābhārata. That means He has got no Āvatāra in Kali, except that Dās Āvatāra, Kalki Āvatāra, in the last stage of Kali, so not Yuga-Āvatāra, so Triyuga.”

Then Gopīnātha also put: “You think yourself very proud that you know all the, you have gone through all the śāstras. But Mahābhārata and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatā they’re the principal śāstra of the sanātānists, and you have got no particular knowledge about that. So from Bhāgavatam and Mahābhārata:

suvarṇa-varṇo hemāṅgo, varāṅgaś candanāṅgadī sannyāsa-kṛc chamaḥ śānto, niṣṭhā-śānti-parāyaṇaḥ

[“Appearing in a handsome golden form with limbs smeared with sandalwood paste, He looks like a figure of beauty made of molten gold. He accepts the sannyāsa order and always remains equipoised and peaceful. He is the highest resort of peace and devotion.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādī-līlā, 3.49]

He quoted this passage from Mahābhārata, Bhāgavatam, and pushed that: “Here we find that direct Āvatāra in Kali, and Nāma-saṅkīrtana to spread and He has done it. He’s not a man but He’s the Lord Himself.”

[Sārvabhauma replied:] “No, no. Go away. Mind your own business. Then you will come to teach me.”

In this way, about Mahāprabhu – I can’t remember, some other point...

But anyhow, Sārvabhauma asked Śrī Caitanyadeva: “I’d like to teach Vedānta so that You can keep up the standard of Your mind that this world is nothing, so no charm You may feel hereafter to enter again into mundane life.”

[Śrī Caitanyadeva said] “Yes, you are My guardian. Whatever you’ll say I must do that. I must come, and at your suitable time I must learn Vedānta from you.”

Then, another thing, Gopīnātha told to Śrī Caitanyadeva that: “Sārvabhauma was saying like this. He does not know Your real acquaintances.”

[Śrī Caitanyadeva said] “No, no. Why do you say against him? He’s My guardian. He’s My father’s class mate. So he has got much affection for Me from that, so he poses himself as My guardian and he’s looking after My welfare. I don’t see any fault there.”

Then Mahāprabhu is hearing and Sārvabhauma speaking Vedānta. Mahāprabhu keeping silent; only like a good boy in a submissive attitude, giving hearing. But Sārvabhauma after seven days of teaching, then he had some doubt in his mind: “What’s the matter? I’m such a scholar in Vedānta, and nyāya darśana, and I’m trying my best with all my intelligence I’m coming to put before Him the inner meaning of the Vedānta, but no response from Him. Only like a dumb and deaf as if He’s only attending, sitting quietly. But I can’t say that He can’t understand. He has a sharp intellect. That I’m sure He possesses. But still, no appreciation, no response whatsoever. No question, whether He understands or not, nothing of the kind. Then what am I doing?” He could not keep himself and put the question straight to Him. “That more than perhaps seven days I have been explaining the inner meaning of Vedānta. And so many sannyāsīns come to me to be taught about the Vedānta. But You don’t find any enquiry in my talk, in my explanation. You keep silent, a wonderful silence, a strange silence.”

Then Mahāprabhu came out: “Sārvabhauma, what you explain, that is on the basis of Śaṅkara philosophy. But I heard that Śaṅkarācārya has rather covered the real purpose of Vedānta. Vyāsadeva is a theistic person, cent per cent. He has prepared this Vedānta. And what you say that is all atheistic colour. And I heard that Śaṅkarācārya, by the order of Nārāyaṇa, he just put a screen over the real meaning, purpose of Vedānta.”

Then, Sārvabhauma was an intelligent man, he realised, “That in a very soft way He wants to say that what I'm explaining that is all false. What does He say? I'm labouring diligently explaining for seven days with my earnest capacity, utmost capacity, and now He comes out with His own colour to say that what I'm explaining is all false. What does He say?"
